NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish forces may have started a drive to extend their lines along the northwest coast of Cyprus in violation of the cease-fire.

The Greek Cypriot national guard charged that Turkish forces at Lefka advanced two miles Wednesday to capture the Greek Cypriot village of Galini. The Greeks claimed the Turks attacked the national guard detachment in the village with mortars and machine guns. Danish troops of the United Nations peace force in Lefka said they heard about 300 shots and two explosions, but the Turkish commander refused to let them investigate.

Turkish Cypriots in Lefka believed the Turks would advance 12 miles along the coast road to Kokkita, a Turkish enclave. This would bring several Turkish Cypriot villages into the Turkish zone and would also give the Turks control of the rest of the coast of Morphou Bay, from which the Cyprus Mines Corp., an American company, exports the island's copper.

The statement also said the Greek Cypriots will not join in talks on the political future of the island until all Cypriots displaced by the war are allowed to return to their homes. The total number of refugees is now estimated at 234,000.

Raiders May Hit Vienna

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A former home for nuns has been turned into a heavily guarded transit camp for Soviet Jews on their way to Israel, making its Viennese neighbors fearful of Arab terrorist attacks.

"I know the Jews have to be housed somewhere," said one woman. "But why do they have to come next door to us?" She and others in the housing development in Vienna's Smirmering district said they were kept unaware until a week ago that the emigre camp was to be established in their neighborhood.

Workmen on the building would not say what they were doing. Some of the people thought the place would be an orphan's home.

"But then last week all of a sudden they started building a wall around the house," said one woman. "Next thing the barbed wire was there, and one morning by the end of the week Red Cross signs were painted on the roof."

Guards armed with submachine guns protect the camp, which is operated by the Austrian Red Cross, and police patrols in the area have been increased. One resident said checks are made on people moving about the area at night.

Austrian officials said precautions are being taken to protect the neighborhood, but many residents still aren't satisfied.

Beginning in 1964, Jewish emigrants leaving the Soviet Union by train were taken for processing to the isolated Schoenau Castle 70 miles south of Vienna. It was ruled by the Jewish Agency, and 70,000 Jews went through there.

Then last September a group of Arab terrorists took three Jewish refugees and an Austrian border guard hostage, and the Austrian government ransomed them by closing Schoenau.

In November, the government set up a temporary transit camp at the Weilerodorf Barracks, on the outskirts of Vienna. But neighbors there also complained that they were being exposed to possible terrorist attacks.

WINDER, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia Bureau of Investigation says a Florida man accused of being a pilot of a four-engine aircraft seized at Winder with a load of marijuana has turned himself in to Barrow County Sheriff John Robert Austin.

The FBI said Drug Enforcement Administration agents had issued a warrant for the arrest of Dallas Norman House, 45, of Sarasota, Fla., on charges of importing and possessing narcotics.

House told officers of the sheriff's department in Winder Wednesday he didn't know he was being sought until he read a newspaper account of the case, the FBI said. House, a former Winder resident, said he was visiting the area.

DEA agents charged that House was a crewmember of the Lockheed Constellation that landed at the Winder airport two weeks ago with 15,000 pounds of Colombian marijuana aboard. The plane was forced down with a broken oil line after a 1,885-mile flight from Barranquilla, Colombia, according to Phillip Perry, assistant agent in charge of the DEA in Atlanta.

Perry said the plane was traced from a Miami rental firm to Aruba.

Democrats Offer Help On Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has launched his public search for a way out of the nation's economic woes and has received assurances from the Democratic Congress that it will stay in session as long as he has proposals for it to consider.

"We have got to instill confidence in the public and if remaining in Washington will do it, then we have to stay," Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., concurred, with the observation that Congress alone cannot act on the economic program.

At the end of the day-long, televised session, about half of which he attended in person, Ford told the economists, "I couldn't agree more that we have to act... on sound and responsible recommendations."

He made no commitments on the suggestion that the Federal Reserve Board be urged to ease its tight money policy on other specifics.

These included suggestions from individual economists for renewal of mandatory wage-price controls, for avoiding even the suggestion of such control and for intermediate steps such as giving the new Council on Wage Price Stability standby rollback powers or concentrating on big industries and big unions whose policies were relatively immune from competition.

But Ford dropped a hint that he would avoid extreme measures. "As in the political arena, there is a wide area of agreement, and a few in both parties, and a few in the American people fall in the middle, and they want us to take those actions, I believe, that fall within the middle ground of the spectrum."

While they differed widely on particular proposals, the economists generally agreed that the way out of what has been called stagflation — simultaneous inflation and sluggishness in the economy — would not be simple, quick or painless.

Speakers emphasized that the economic malady has no single cause but a variety, both national and international, that would have to be attacked separately.

And, Arthur M. Okun, a former presidential economic adviser now on the staff of the Brookings Institution, said his colleagues, while not agreeing on a number, generally saw inflation, now running higher than 10 per cent a year, dropping below 10 per cent next year and falling somewhat more in 1976.

Medical Care 'Profits' Charge Denied Locally

By SEAN CODE, Herald Staff Writer
Local health care authorities denied today the increasing cost of medical care represents pure profit for physicians and hospitals as charged Thursday by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

Weinberger speaking to the American Association of Medical Clinics in Washington, said medical costs are increasing 50 per cent faster than prices in the rest of the economy and are fueling inflation. Specifically he pointed to physicians fees which he said have jumped 19.1 per cent and hospital charges 17.7 per cent since wage and price controls were lifted April 30.

Both Donald Bradley, administrator of Florida Hospital North in Altamonte Springs, and Dr. Julian J. Fried, director of the Seminole County Health Department, agreed the cost of health care is increasing.

However, both pointed to increased operating costs for the rise in the price of health services to the patient.

Bradley explained, "Our latest increase, as far as the cost to the patient, is around 10 per cent. There has been an increase to the employees since the controls were lifted."

He explained the one month jump of $16,000 in the combined electric bills for the hospitals' two facilities (the other is located in Orlando), the skyrocketing cost of food, and the increasing number of uncollectible bills add to the cost.

As far as rising physicians fees are concerned, Dr. Fried said, "That's true, but it does not necessarily represent a simple profit. The inflationary cost for medical care is partly due to the increasing labor cost in the physician's office, the increasing cost of physicians' equipment, drugs, and utilities."

Florida Utility Fuel Charges Up, Down

By The Associated Press
Three Florida utilities have boosted their fuel pass-on charges for September while two others have announced slight decreases in the cost of generating electricity.

The biggest increase came from Gulf Power Co. of Pensacola, which said it must charge $4.93 per 1,000 kilowatt hours to recover higher coal costs. That's a 22-cent boost.

But Gulf Power's 10-county area still has the cheapest electric rate in the state, $26.40 per 1,000 kilowatt hours, a 51-cent increase over August.

Lakeland Power Co. said its September fuel pass-on will be $10.49 per 1,000 kilowatt hours, a $1.22 increase over August.

Florida Power Corp. in St. Petersburg hiked its fuel adjustment charge 35 cents, to $15.05.

County Library Tax Straw Vote Nov. 5

The possibility of a tax-financed county library system will be put to a straw vote on the November ballot, the Seminole County Commission has decided.

The board refused to fund the volunteer library committee's $575,000 request to contract with the Orlando Public Library for the present budget year.

Committee spokesperson Helen Smith expressed disappointment at the straw ballot decision, telling commissioners the move will delay a any library system progress for at least a year.

A state-financed library study this year recommended the Orlando contract as the most economical way of starting full Seminole service, including bookmobiles, books by mail, and store front mini-libraries.

agreed to a one-half mill tax for a county-wide library system, the earliest such a system could be funded would be the Oct. 1, 1975 fiscal year.

Carmen Heads North

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Carmen, with sustained winds of 90 miles an hour, was moving sluggishly north from the southern Gulf of Mexico today. Forecasters advised residents of a wide section of the Gulf Coast to keep aware of the storm's movements.

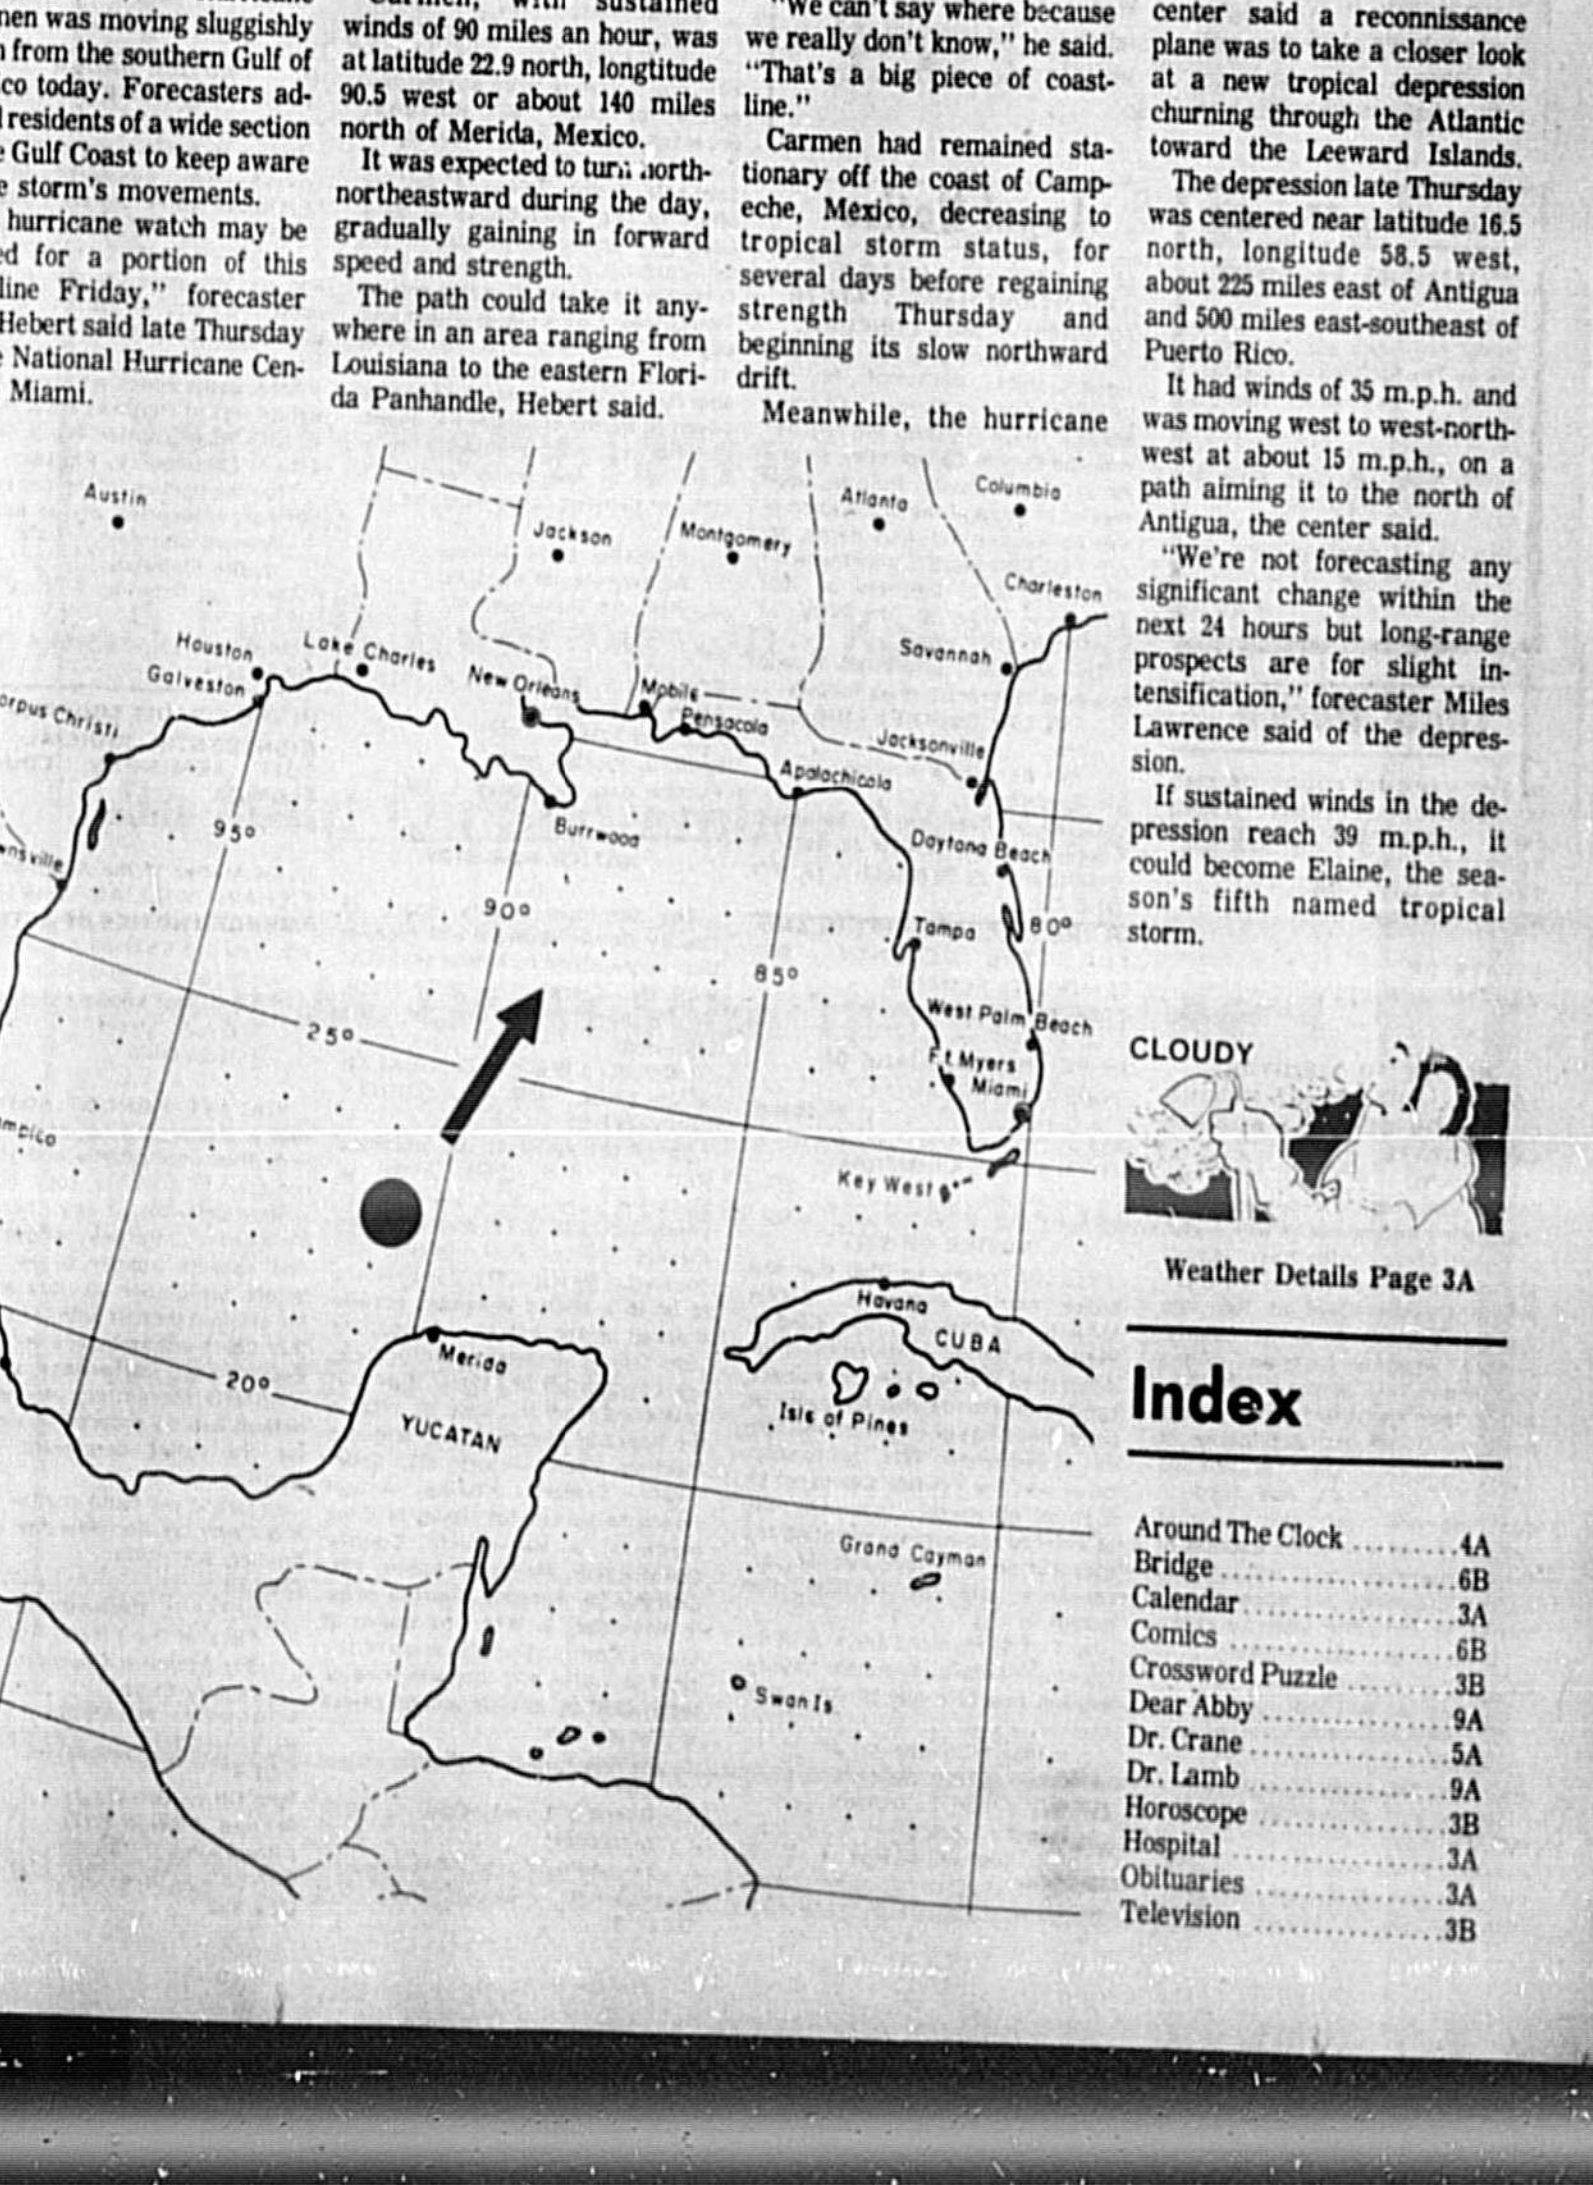

"A hurricane watch may be needed for a portion of this coastline by gradually gaining in forward speed and strength.

The path could take it anywhere in an area ranging from Louisiana to the eastern Florida Panhandle, Hebert said.

Meanwhile, the hurricane was moving west to west-northwest at about 15 m.p.h., on a path aiming to the north of Antigua, the center said.

"We're not forecasting any significant change within the next 24 hours but long-range prospects are for slight intensification," forecaster Miles Lawrence said of the depression.

If sustained winds in the depression reach 39 m.p.h., it could become Elaine, the season's fifth named tropical storm.

Employment Picture Worse Than Thought

The popular notion that Florida's economy is in much better shape than the nation as a whole has been shut down by the state's Department of Commerce.

Unfortunately it was the same department which fostered the false notion in the first place.

It now develops that a lot of people who weren't working in the past weren't counted, and a 2.9 per cent unemployment rate for Jacksonville was in reality 4 per cent and, quite possibly, higher.

A new method of calculating the unemployment figures raises the state figure from 3.5 in July to 5 per cent which rounds out to about 50,000 people who were "lost" under the old method of calculating the figures.

John Wesley White, employment security director for the Department of Commerce, isn't even sure that the new method which brings Florida in line with the national figure of 5.3 per cent is itself a real reflection of the nation's jobless total.

The old method of tabulating unemployment in Florida used a 70-step statistical procedure based on the insured unemployment rate — reflecting the percentage of workers in industries covered by the state's unemployment compensation program, described by White as "one of the harshest and most restrictive in the country."

The new method broadens the base of reference by adding persons actually unemployed but not previously counted, including those not covered by unemployment compensation programs and seasonal farm workers.

Pot Smokers Hail Senator Eastland

WASHINGTON — James Eastland of Southern Mississippi, one of the Senate's crassest conservatives, is walking proud that an old dog can learn new tricks.

The veteran Judiciary Committee chairman is working quietly to relax marijuana laws so young students and workers and other "pot" smokers will not be jailed for simple possession of the drug.

Eastland, whose closest contact with drugs is a good cigar and a lot of whiskey, has become convinced that jailing those caught with a few "joints" is not the way to stop marijuana traffic.

The contumacious senator underwent his metamorphosis after his old friend, ex-Marine Commandant Lewis Walt, conducted a world survey on drugs for Eastland's Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

After talking earnestly with Walt and listening to dozens of witnesses at various hearings, the senator came to the conclusion that "pot" may cause genetic, brain, lung and other damage. He also decided that traffickers still deserve stiff penalties and that even possession should not be completely "decriminalized."

But the possibility of a year in jail and a $5,000 fine for a youth caught by federal agents with a single marijuana cigarette is excessive in Eastland's view. As a result, his Internal Security staff is conferring regularly with the Drug Enforcement Agency on possible legislation. Shortly after Labor Day, Senate staffers will meet with DEA's legal office to hammer out a formal draft.

Eastland has not made up his mind entirely, but he is toying with the idea of setting a fine for a first "possession" offense, and explicitly banning the use of the word "marijuana" in the statute. A second offense would bring a stiffer fine.

Since state laws tend to follow federal statutes, and since Eastland's Judiciary committee writes federal laws, it may be that a whole generation of marijuana dabblers will praise Jim Eastland's name.

Blair, an Agnew pal and aide who was given a lifetime judgeship by President Nixon at Agnew's bidding. The other was Judge Herbert Murray, personally cleared for his job in 1971 after a 30-minute interview with Agnew.

Claiming Banzhaf was in "apparent violation of the Code of Professional Responsibility," the Baltimore judges urged legal disciplinary authorities in Washington to investigate Banzhaf. After much waffling, the Washington disciplinary unit threw the judges' request out.

Book Picks: "The Palace Guard" by CBS newsmen Dan Rather and Gary Paul Gades expertly catches the piranha quality of the Nixon White House. There, H. R. Haldeman manipulates Spiro Agnew, John Ehrlichman, Saegert at honorable men like Bob Finch as "the Pasadena Hamlet" and Pat Moynihan as "our Oscar Wilde," and a Secret Service man loathingly confesses that "We say... come the revolution, be sure and save two bullets: one from subpoenaing reporters and to force appointment of a special Agnew prosecutor."

The target of their unsuccessful action was John Banzhaf III, a prominent consumer advocate and law professor in Washington. The Baltimore judges were incensed because Banzhaf had announced in a press release that he had filed suit to block then-Vice President Agnew from subpoenaing reporters and to force appointment of a special Agnew prosecutor.

One of the ringleaders in the unusual effort to punish Banzhaf was Federal Judge C. Stanley Blair, an Agnew pal and aide who was given a lifetime judgeship by President Nixon at Agnew's bidding. The other was Judge Herbert Murray, personally cleared for his job in 1971 after a 30-minute interview with Agnew.

Claiming Banzhaf was in "apparent violation of the Code of Professional Responsibility," the Baltimore judges urged legal disciplinary authorities in Washington to investigate Banzhaf. After much waffling, the Washington disciplinary unit threw the judges' request out.

Book Picks: "The Palace Guard" by CBS newsmen Dan Rather and Gary Paul Gades expertly catches the piranha quality of the Nixon White House. There, H. R. Haldeman manipulates Spiro Agnew, John Ehrlichman, Saegert at honorable men like Bob Finch as "the Pasadena Hamlet" and Pat Moynihan as "our Oscar Wilde," and a Secret Service man loathingly confesses that "We say... come the revolution, be sure and save two bullets: one from subpoenaing reporters and to force appointment of a special Agnew prosecutor."

Citrus Growers Reject Juice Pool

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A proposal to withhold orange juice from the market in an effort to boost prices has been defeated in a referendum of citrus growers and processors.

The Florida Department of Citrus said Thursday that the pooling plan, authorized by the 1974 Legislature, was rejected by a 7,000-member vote.

The set-aside pool, in turn, would have been sold at below-market prices in so-called undeveloped secondary markets, including sales to foreign countries and school-lunch programs.

Rejection of the plan represented a victory for United Growers, a citrus association of about 500 members. United Growers opposed the plan in a challenge to the endorsement of the Florida Citrus Marketing Cooperative with more than 15,000 members.

Wilson McGee, United Growers general manager, said growers realized that the plan was nothing more than a "cold and greasy hush puppy."

"It failed because it wasn't workable or economically sound pooling order that would have benefited growers by leveling out peaks and valleys of supply and pricing extremes," said McGee.

The plan, McGee said, would have destroyed the capacity of growers by giving the Department of Citrus a lien on their crops as a way to guarantee compliance.

He said growers were never given evidence or assurance that the diversion of their crops would increase prices.

"We always have favored a workable pooling order," McGee said. "But one of the tragedies of the endorsement of this plan was that it may have destroyed the chances to get a good one."

Tom Osborne, executive director of the Florida Citrus Mutual, said the cooperative was not abandoning its efforts.

He said the Citrus Commission would be asked to revise the pooling plan "in order to clarify some of the provisions that appeared objectionable to those who opposed the program."

Meanwhile, Osborne said, the cooperative will "have to work even harder in applying ourselves to using sales techniques in making realistic marketing decisions in the selling of our crops."

"We must continue to work on demand, sales advertising and merchandising to insure a fair return to the grower."

He said that if a qualified person had declared for his seat, he might not have sought re-election.

Boyd said the discrediting effort came after he dissented in the Dade County "Market Connection" case, contending that two circuit judges indicted on bribery charges should have been suspended.

Boyd also dissented in the court's opinion upholding Adkins' probe to delay any grand jury probe of political candidates until after the Nov. 6 elections. Adkins later rescinded the order.

And Boyd dissented in the court's ruling that newspapers had to give political candidates their criticized space for replies. The U.S. Supreme Court later tossed out that ruling.

"I dissented so many times apparently some people would like for me to leave the court," Boyd said.

Boyd Claims Trickery By Colleagues

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) Florida Supreme Court Justice Joseph Boyd claims he's been the target of trickery and backstabbing by court colleagues who want him to lose next Tuesday's election.

Boyd said in a news conference Thursday that he had been tricked into going to a New Orleans clinic for a routine physical checkup while rumors were circulated in Tallahassee that he was undergoing psychiatric examination.

Suntan Fan To Test Topless Ban

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If Cocoa Beach city commissioners pass an ordinance banning topless sunbathing on the city's public beaches, at least one woman will test it.

"If they pass an ordinance, I will plan to test it," said Cindy Mills, 22, of Cocoa Beach. "If I go to jail, that's all right too. Someone has to test it," she said.

Mrs. Mills was one of several persons who presented resolutions during the jammed meeting of the commissioners.

"How can you tell me what is right and wrong for me?" she asked. "If I want to go to the Winn-Dixie nude, I'll plan on going there — but it usually is too cold."

Mayor Carol said the wording of an ordinance was going to be a big problem.

"If you are going to completely cover the breast, it would allow 90 per cent of the bikinis. Who's going to go out and measure the covering on the beach?"

The mayor said that although a number of cities in Florida have ordinances against topless sunbathing, he has not been able to find a single conviction.

Proposals were again made that the matter be put on the ballot and for an ordinance.

Common Sense Evaluation Used In Tracking Storms

MIAMI (AP) — Accurate tracking of a hurricane takes about as much common sense as it does sophisticated scientific equipment, says Dr. Neil Frank, the man in charge of the keeping up with the storms.

"We have access to lots of equipment, but everything we do has to have that personal touch," Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said Thursday.

"Somebody has to evaluate all that information."

Frank has a staff of 85 but most of the evaluation is by five hurricane specialists who work in what they call the "war room" of the center, located on the University of Miami campus.

The war room staff is surrounded by satellite pictures of half the world, plus charts, maps, graphs and several television screens capable of providing satellite pictures of almost any place in the world.

Late Thursday, they were tracking Hurricane Carmen. It was moving north from the southern Gulf of Mexico and the forecasters said it posed a potential threat to Gulf Coast areas.

"The satellite is backbone of our whole information-gathering operation," Frank says. "With our present ability to take pictures of these storm systems, day or night, we stand a better chance of predicting where they're likely to go."

But satellite pictures aren't enough, he said, just like seeing smoke doesn't give a clear indication of how big a fire is. That's where information gathered by airplanes which fly into the storms becomes essential.

Keep It Simple

The House of Representatives is in a dither over the success of practical jokers in getting "remarks" published in the Congressional Record attributed to congressmen who never made them. This would be a good time to reconsider the procedure which allows material to be inserted in the record simply by handing it to the clerk.

If senators and representatives actually had to stand up in the chamber and read some of the long speeches and articles they now submit in writing, they would probably be less impressed with the value of all that verbiage. They could practice how to get a point across with a few well-chosen words — and help beat the paper shortage, too.

Do you believe in superstitions? Johnny Cameron came by the paper and shared the following on the subject with me.

"If the right side of your nose itches, a female is coming to see you. If the left side itches, a man is coming. If the crown of the nose itches, the whole darn family is coming."

People Are Ones Making System Work

"Our long national nightmare is over," said Gerald R. Ford, as he prepared to pick up the reins of the presidency, "our Constitution works."

As the world watched with admiration, the Constitution did work. Though it was the first time in the nation's history that a president had been forced to resign before the end of his term and another who had not been elected took office, the transition was smooth, immediate and unquestioned.

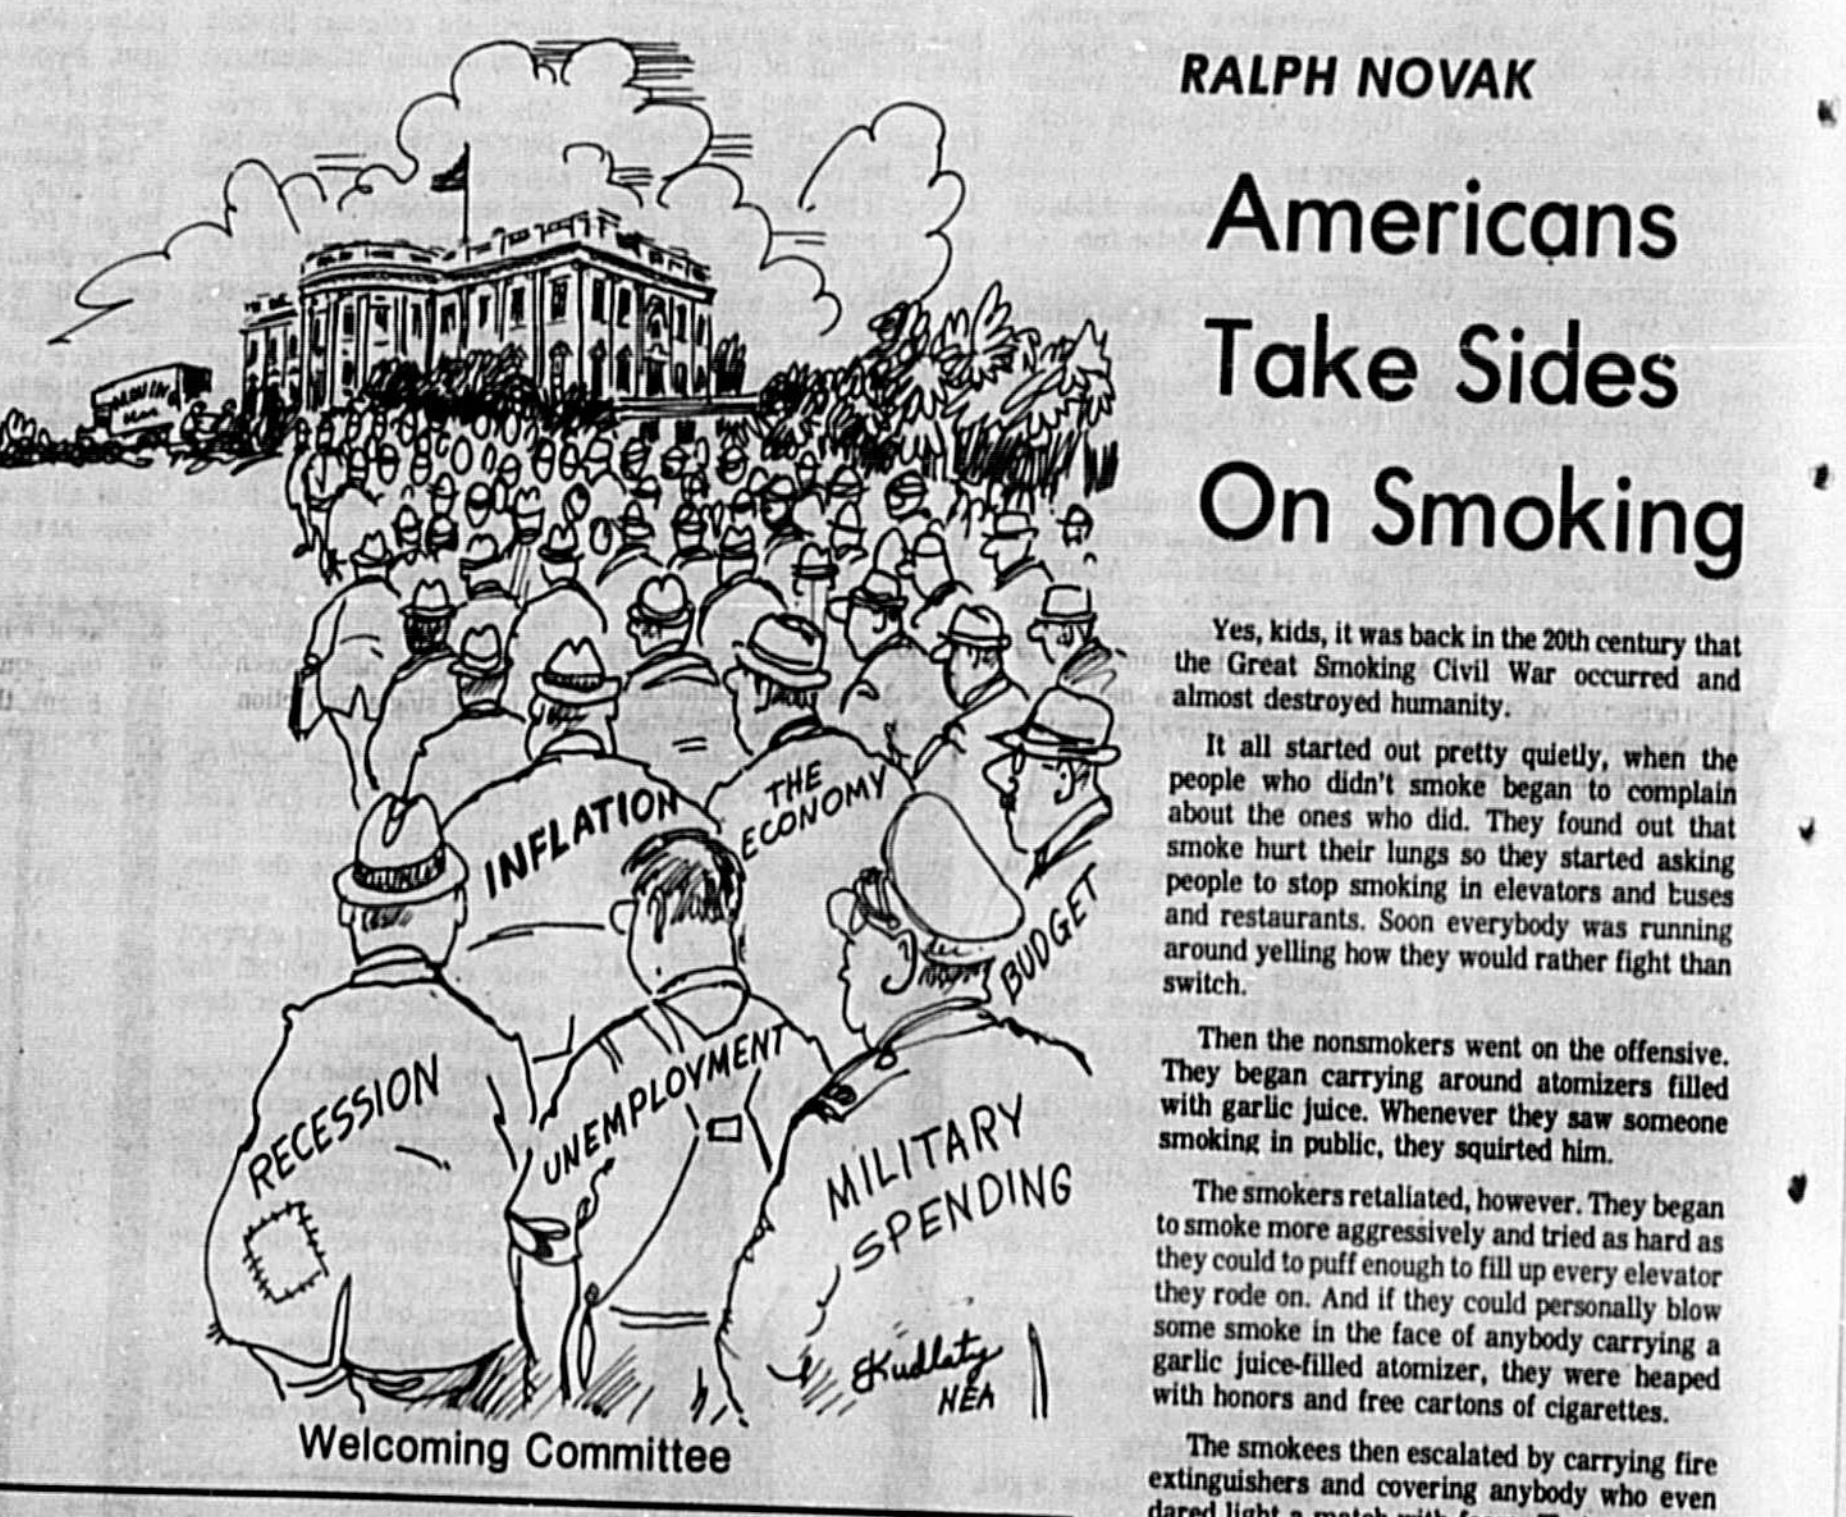

But why did the Constitution — the "system" — work? It worked because we, the people, from an ordinary citizen all the way up to highest government official, made it work. Because we pride ourselves on being a nation of laws, not men.

There is nothing magical about the Constitution, which, after all, is only words printed on what abolitionist Wendell Phillips once scornfully dismissed as a "scrap of paper," because words were excluded from its protection. The words themselves guarantee nothing. What counts is the willingness of the people to breathe life into them and give them practical meaning.

The constitution of Soviet Russia provides for free speech and press, freedom of religion, etc. In practice, these rights are meaningless because the Soviet system cannot tolerate them.

At the other extreme, Great Britain has no written constitution. Yet it is a democracy whose system works because individual Britons make it work. Tradition, fair play and a generally agreed upon way of doing things are more important guarantors of British freedom than formal statute law.

Nor is there anything immutable about the Constitution. In the 185 years that Americans have lived under it, where it has proved to be unsatisfactory or where it has been overtaken by changing social realities, they have amended it — usually peacefully but once in the forge of a terrible war.

Letter To The Editor

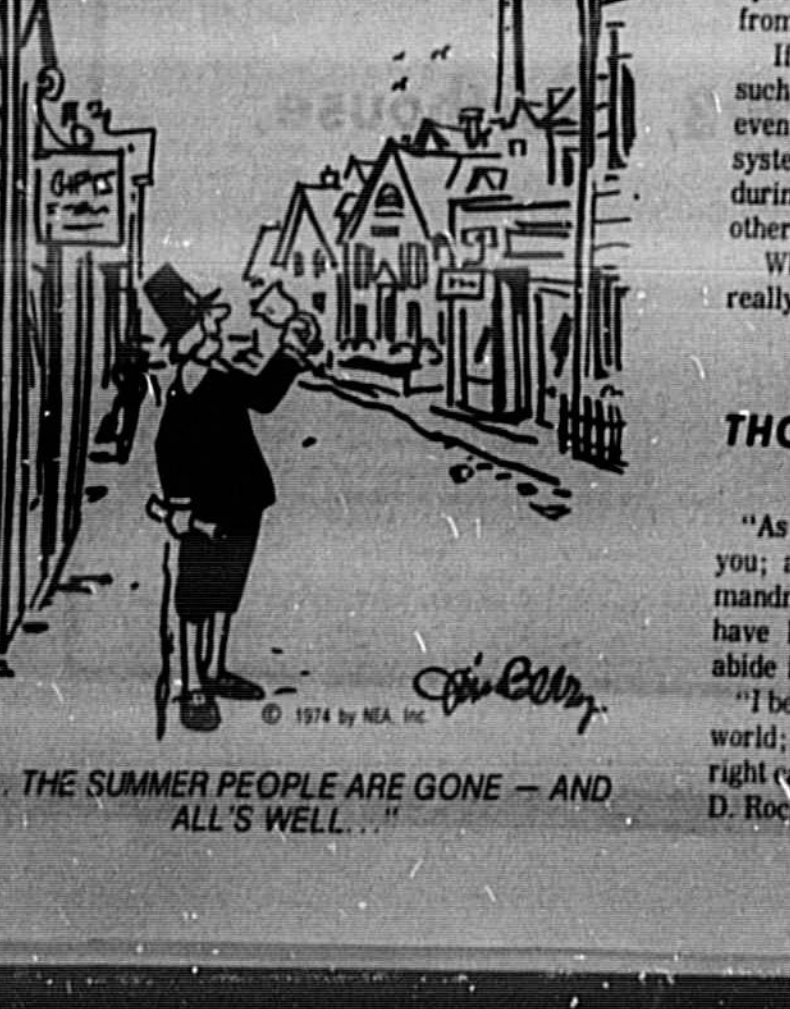

Editor, Evening Herald, Sanford, Fla. Dear Sir: This is in reference to your Aug. 29, 1974 article concerning the death of Mr. James A. Russ. You referred to the late Mr. Russ as a "ham operator," and later in the article, noted that he went by the name of "Peegleg."

Ham Radio operators have assigned call letters which MUST be used. Hamms must also pass a fairly rigid examination including Morse Code, radio theory, and regulations.

A Citizens Radio operator, on the other hand merely sends in his money with his application. Each type of radio operator, i.e. Ham and C.B. does have a purpose.

However, they have NO CONNECTION with special elections to prevent this kind of situation from arising again.

Women's Liberation: How It Affects You

By JEAN PATESON
Women's Editor

Questions about the Women's Liberation movement are as abundant as ever. How does it affect you? How do you feel about it? How do you want to combine a career and family? What does the liberated woman achieve? And how is the movement relative to your life? Seminoole county women are wondering.

First, in a county where the population is made up of 52 percent females, a world-wide movement concerning women is obviously relevant. The 21st Century Woman is a new program being sponsored this year by Seminole Junior College (SJC) which aims at showing how the quality of every woman's life can be enriched by the changes in opportunities for and attitudes towards women.

Coordinator of the 21st Century Woman program is Mrs. June Gordon, mother of six, who celebrated her 20th wedding anniversary and graduation anniversary simultaneously.

Mrs. Gordon, a tiny brunette, brings enormous enthusiasm and wide experience to her new position.

"I'm not about to burn my brassiere, and I'm not promoting any one point of view," she explains. "I've been collecting a lot of thoughts about women in my head and on file for ages. It's an area I've been interested in since the day I got married."

A couple of years after her sixth child was born, Mrs. Gordon returned to the University of Wisconsin to continue the degree in art, education and biology which she started before marriage. When the family decided to move to Central Florida six years ago and buy a home in oylwikle, near Sanford, Mrs. Gordon picked up several credits at SJC, and then completed her final BS year at Rollins College. In May this year she graduated with a Masters in Education.

Mrs. Gordon brings experience of classroom teaching and of working as a volunteer counselor at Valencia Community College to her post at SJC.

Project 21st Century Coordinator June Gordon

The 21st Century Woman course was prompted by the realization of where women stand at this point in history," she explains. "We're on the increase and a whole new way of life, yet women still have very little responsibility for the economy's politics or economics."

Fair Offers Seminars, Films

Project 21st Century Woman will sponsor a Women's Fair, Monday through Friday, on campus at Seminole Junior College.

Some of Central Florida's well-known women artists will be displaying their work in the open area located in the science building. Exhibiting their art works will be Helen Bennett, ceramics; Dorothy Cannon, graphic art; Delaney Cannon, painting; Nancy McGee, weaving; Mary Lou Mullins, art jewelry; Helen Hickey,

The third mini-seminar, Law for Women, will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in Room L 208. Lawrence Litus of the Titusville State Attorney's office and Ms. Phyllis Hamm from the University of South Florida, Tampa, will present the program.

State Universities including, F.T.U.; F.U.; F.S.U.; U.F.; U.S.F. and U.S.F. will be represented at the Women's Fair and information concerning women's opportunities at each university will be available to fair visitors, during September 10 to 12.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Marked Up Doll Needs Cleaning

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — Do any of the readers know how to remove crayon marks from a doll's face? My Amy loves her "baby" no less but I am sure she would look better without those blue "bruses" on her face. Thank you. — JUANITA.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the makers of rain boots that do not even have the shape of a shoe. It seems they could make nice looking, neat and sturdy ones that do not leak after the first few wearings. I do a lot of walking so this is quite important to me. — K.C.

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Marsha who dyed a uniform purple but is still not satisfied with its appearance that when my wife needed a new dress in a hurry but had little time to shop she bought a uniform similar to the one Marsha described. She removed the sleeves and faced the armholes. A turquoise scarf was worn with it and later, when she had time, she added long fair sleeves. Here is no way resembles a uniform. — NORMAN.

DEAR POLLY — Marsha can make her dyed uniform look even more like a regular dress by the addition of appliques or just sewing a decorative trim around the collar and pockets. — JUDY.

DEAR POLLY — I keep a list of the names of my family and friends close at hand. When I hear any one of them express a wish for something I make a note of this by his or her name. By doing this I am never at a loss for an idea for birthday, Christmas or anniversary gifts and am always sure my gift will be welcome. — PHYLIS.

DEAR POLLY — For several years my husband has used the following car care idea for all our cars and we like it so well we want to share it with others. Using a hand-operated label making tool he makes separate strips showing vital car care information such as brand and size number of the oil filter, fuel filter and air filter, type and weight of motor oil, air pressure for the tires, etc. He sticks these informative strips on a flat piece of metal under the hood near the radiator. It is so reassuring to have this information conveniently at hand. It is convenient for us or anyone working on a car. — AVID READERS, JIM and MARTHA.

DEAR POLLY — If facial tissues are in a box you particularly like when the box is empty carefully trim off the bottom and then use this as a lid over the next box of tissues you buy. — RODNEY.

DEAR POLLY — We have been married for 33 years and have been to many, many weddings and showers and always sent gifts. Now our son is being married next year. I wonder how far to go in sending invitations from our side of the family. The girl my son is marrying says her list will be shorter because our son has many friends and has been in four weddings and asked to be in a fifth. I want to do what is right but do not know where to stop. Are the married children of one's friends invited? When we have received such invitations they have been addressed to us and to our son. I wonder if I should stop with the parents? Some friends have two or more married children and I do not know what to do about them. I have read bride's books but they have not been much help. — DOROTHY.

'The Pill' Celebrates Its 20th Birthday

Dr. Gregory Pincus listened attentively as Chang explained that his hormone work with rabbits and rats was inconclusive. Chang had hoped the hormones would increase fertilization, but instead they only seemed to stop ovulation.

"I was not pleased but Pincus was rather excited," Chang remembers. "He told me not to worry and to go on with my work. He was a man of vision."

"Pincus' vision" came in part from friends who had begun talking about population control and the need for improved contraceptives. What for Chang was failure, for Pincus seemed opportunity — the opportunity to develop a hormone compound that stopped ovulation and therefore acted as a contraceptive.

By 1964, Chang and Pincus had found two progesterone hormone compounds that female animals could take orally to stop ovulation, preventing pregnancy.

The birth control pill was born.

It wasn't the first hormone preparation that inhibited ovulation. The first was developed in the 1930s by researchers working with steroids. But these hormones were scarce then, and they couldn't be taken orally. The great achievement of Dr. Chang and Dr. Pincus was the development of a birth control compound taken by mouth.

Twenty years later, "The Pill" is a term synonymous with contraception. About 60 million women throughout the world use it, international government studies say.

Today's pill basically is either of two female hormones called estrogen combined with one of six different proges-gens. The progestogens are sex hormones that can also be used alone as contraceptives. Combinations of these hormones in various strengths and dosages give users in many countries a choice among 25 to 30 brands.

It is an irony of science that sex hormones occur naturally in the body to set up and aid in pregnancy, but when given in increased doses on certain schedules, prevent it.

Today's pills work largely by preventing ovulation — the production of eggs ready for fertilization — or by changing the lining of the uterus so that a fertilized egg cannot attach to the womb's side.

But scientists discovered that they do not know in fine detail what birth control pills do to a woman's body to prevent pregnancy. No one understands all the effects of tipping the delicate hormone balance.

The side effects throw a long shadow over oral contraceptives. Studies show that pill users run a greater risk than non-users of thrombosis — blood clotting in the veins that can be fatal — stroke, high blood pressure, gallbladder dis-

DEAR ABBY She Is Hostess To Foreign VIPs

Solve Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

TSGT. WANA ARCHER

DEAR ABBY: A reader signed "Ms W." requests a non-sexist salutation for business letters.

Why is a salutation necessary at all? It should have been discarded years ago with such useless phrases as, "Beg leave to reply to your favor of the 15th instance," and "your most obedient servant."

"Dear Anybody" is both redundant and archaic, along with the traditional "Very truly yours," which, as a business letter, is the ultimate in hypocrisy. No?

MISS BRANIGAN

DEAR MISS B.: Yes. Many non-exist salutations for business letters were submitted. For example: "Gentleperson," "Others suggested the bright and cheery, "Good morning!" (How about those who don't get around to reading their mail until 4 P.M.?)

Try, "Dear Person." (That's too impersonal, like "Occupant.")

Also, "Hi there," or would you believe, "Howdy!"

Come to think of it, "Dear Mr. Madam," or "To whom it may concern" are beginning to look better to me.

DEAR ABBY: After 13 years of marriage, my husband and I were divorced for legal reasons. Another woman, we have two children, 10 and 12, which made it a very painful ordeal for me.

My husband married the "other woman." He has visitation rights, which are fair enough, but when he comes to pick up the children, he and his wife and her eight-year-old son come right to my door. I feel I have to invite them in, and then I have to ask them to sit down. Once they are seated they stay and stay until I feel compelled to offer them some refreshments.

Meanwhile, making small talk with them is sheer torture because I feel so uncomfortable in this woman's presence. I can hardly look at her at my husband's side without wanting to burst into tears.

It seems an eternity until they take my children and leave. They sometimes come back "early," and again they are all at my door, expecting to be invited in. These visits are a terrible strain for me.

I can't help how I feel, Abby. Am I wrong? How should I handle this?

STILL HURTING

DEAR STILL: Ask your lawyer to write your husband a letter suggesting that he either pick up the children alone, or leave his wife and stepchild in the car. You're not wrong. There's no reason why you should be cast in the role of an unwilling hostess.

DEAR ABBY: I was pleased to see that you view reading a spouse's mail as a violation of privacy, and place it in the same class with reading a child's diary or listening in on the extension telephone. These are exactly my sentiments.

I don't want to see my wife's mail, and that means even after it has been opened and is in plain view. When my wife has had a telephone conversation I never ask: "Who was that, dear?" I figure if she wants to tell me, she will volunteer the information.

I offer you free of charge my father's philosophy: "Don't eavesdrop on another person in the position of having to live with you."

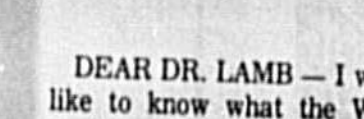

VALUES PRIVACY

DEAR VALUES: We agree — to a point. But no one "has to" lie. Simply say: "I prefer not to answer that question."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 49700, L.A., Calif. 90049. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 123 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

DR. L. E. LAMB Attacks Anny More Than Harm

More Than Harm

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know what the Wolff-Parkinson-White syndrome is? My heart specialist said that is what is wrong with me. I have been having a lot of heart palpitation.

I'm a 36-year-old woman, and last winter I was under a great strain. One night I felt extra tired, suddenly my whole body went numb. I felt like I was dying. The only thing I could feel was my heart. It was beating so loud and fast I couldn't keep count. It slowed down and then before they got me to the hospital I had seven more spells. There was no pain. My heart went back to normal six hours later.

Since then I have had about eight spells not as bad though. The spells are quite frightening. Dr. Lamb, any advice or light you can lend on this situation would be appreciated. I stay afraid that my heart is going to stop when I have one of these spells.

DEAR READER — As bad as those attacks are, you can relax about them. They are unlikely to cause you any serious harm. A number of years ago my colleagues and I collected 100 cases of this problem from pilots in the U.S. Air Force. We followed all of them for five years. They did as well as the pilots of equal age who had nothing wrong with them at all. Ours was a selected population since pilots were in better health than the general population, but it does indicate that it is frequently more of an annoyance than a danger to your health.

Those attacks of rapid heart action are part of the general picture; although many people have the same defect you have and never have them at all. You may be surprised to know that you have had this same defect

Prime Minister Elected

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—The ruling Labor party's members in Parliament elected Finance Minister Wallace E. Rowling today to be New Zealand's new prime minister. Rowling, known generally as Bill, is the youngest member of the cabinet in history at 45. He succeeded Norman E. Kirk, 51, who died last Saturday and was buried on Thursday.

Vietnam Airpower Weak

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Vietnam reportedly has moved MIG jet fighters close to the South Vietnamese border in what U.S. intelligence calls the most active air threat so far.

Meanwhile, reports to the Pentagon indicate South Vietnam's air defenses are in poor shape. U.S. officials say one of the basic problems is that the South Vietnamese air force was designed by the United States mostly to bomb and strafe ground targets in support of South Vietnamese troops.

Its pilots have virtually no experience in air-to-air combat. The North Vietnamese air force has seen action against U.S. bombers and fighters during the years of American strikes into the North.

To make the air defense situation worse, South Vietnamese radar at the key Da Nang base often is not in working order, Pentagon sources say.

Some U.S. experts estimate that MIGs could reach within a few miles of Da Nang without being spotted.

Chou's Health Uncertain

Reports that a Chinese official had told Americans visiting Peking that the condition of Premier Chou En-lai has worsened in the last two months caused a flurry of concern for the 76-year-old leader. But one of the Americans was quoted today as saying the reports were inaccurate.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., was quoted in a Mutual Broadcasting System interview as saying, "The vice premier told us Chou's condition was worse."

The New York Times said today that Humphrey said in a telephone interview from Peking that Deputy Premier Teng Hsiao-ping had told the visiting seven-member congressional group that "Chou's condition was worse than it was when Sen. Jackson saw him."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., met with Chou while on a trip to Peking in early July. It was disclosed at that time that the Chinese premier had suffered a heart attack.

Bob Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Hope, who portrayed former Mayor Jimmy Walker in a movie, has been honored by New York's present mayor, Mayor Abraham D. Beame, presented Hope on Tuesday with a scroll for distinguished service for dedication to the armed forces and as "an international ambassador of good will."

Hope portrayed Walker in the movie "Beau James."

Kurt Waldheim

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has returned to his office for the first time in 18 days, following a tour of eight countries and a bout with a stomach ailment.

The 55-year-old Austrian statesman came down with gastric enteritis when he returned home from the 11-day trip. He spent a week convalescing in a New York hospital and at home.

Returning to his office Wednesday, he met with U.S. Ambassador John Scali and Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik to discuss his visits last month to Cyprus, Greece and Turkey.

Richard Lawson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford's chief military aide, Richard Lawson, has been promoted to major general by his boss.

Lawson, a 44-year-old native of Fairfield, Iowa, has been military assistant at the White House for the past year. An Air Force officer, he has operational control of military support for the President, including the military aircraft used by the chief executive.

Phillipe Petit

NEW YORK (AP)—High wire artist Phillippe Petit, whose feats have dazzled residents of New York area for the past month, has been officially cleared of any wrongdoing.

Why Terrorists Are Bolder—Israel

JERUSALEM (AP)—A new wave of Arab violence emanating from within and outside Israel is sweeping across the Jewish state.

By Israeli count, at least five bands of guerrillas bound on terror missions were intercepted since Aug. 21 after crossing neighboring Arab borders.

Bombs have exploded—or been discovered before going off—in Jerusalem and two other large Jewish towns—Netanya and Kiryat Sava.

Suspected terrorists have been rounded up in Netanya and Jerusalem. The Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem, Hilarion Capudji, is under arrest, accused of gun-running for Al Fatah guerrillas.

Israeli authorities concede that what concerns them most is that unlike past upsurges in terrorist activity, some of the latest wave seems deeply rooted in the west bank, which Israel has occupied for more than seven years.

Past bombing waves have usually been traceable to guerrilla groups based in Beirut and Damascus. But now a new crop called the Palestine National Front—PNF—has surfaced. It is a Communist-affiliated movement, and native to the west bank, say Arab affairs experts.

Judging by figures provided by Israel's prison authority, at least 300 Arabs have been arrested in the west bank since the Mideast war of 1973.

Refugee Topic Today Despite Cypriot Fight

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Machete guns and mortars blazed across the cease-fire line in Nicosia on Thursday night, but there was no indication the shooting would block Greek and Turkish Cypriot talks scheduled for today.

The Greek Cypriot government reported an "intense exchange of fire" for an hour and a half at three points along the so-called Green Line dividing the Greek and Turkish Cypriot sectors of the capital.

It was the heaviest firing in Nicosia since the cease-fire Aug. 15. The government said the shooting stopped after United Nations peace forces arranged a truce.

Thousands of Greek Cypriots fled from the city again in panic, filling the roads to the south with cars and tractors piled high with luggage.

Earlier on Thursday, Vice President Rauf Denktaş, the leader of the Turkish Cypriots, announced that he and President Glafcos Clerides, the head of the Greek Cypriots, would meet today to discuss ways to alleviate the plight of the estimated 234,000 refugees driven from their homes.

CARL VANZURA Local Drag, Stock Racing Due For Biggest Week

This week promises to be one of the biggest for the Central Florida racing fan as Championship Drag Racing and stock cars are on tap at our local racing tracks.

Lakeland Raceway will start off tonight on their 1/4 mile asphalt oval. They run more classes than any other track on one night at the run Late Models, Hobby, Bomber and Mini Stocks.

Tom Ferrel and Smoker Smith, operators of the track tell me each night they have full pits and that the only thing they need is a lot more spectators.

On Saturday the action moves over to the popular NASCAR sanctioned Volusia County Speedway. Bernie Corbin puts on one of the wildest dirt track shows in the South as his 1/4 mile high banked oval beats being the fastest in this region.

Every race event will see close to 30 NASCAR Late Model Sportsman and 30 or more Hobby cars running in the two heats each and the action packed features.

Seminole County is well represented at the VCS, located near Barberville. Just little over an hour half drive from Sanford. The Late Models have Harold Sargent building a new 1969 Chevrolet to replace his old one and should see action very soon.

Chris Dellarco had his 1966 Chevrolet back in action Saturday after a long absence due to a blown motor. Sargent lent his motor to Dellarco until he finishes his car, and Dellarco went out and set one of the fastest times of the race. Only a broken fuel pump prevented a top finish for Dellarco. Buster McCully has his car just about ready to return to the already fine field of cars.

Roy Mopie debuted his new car with a win in the first hobby heat and shows much promise in the future in this Longwood based Chevy. Mike Morgan back this year after a long lay off is now driving John Green's 1962 Ford and should improve with each week's running. Sanford fireman Billy Price sure doesn't look like a rookie driver as he puts his 1966 Chevy around the track with a lot of confidence and skill usually seen in a veteran. I feel with a well handling car and a little more motor, Price could be taking the checker flag quite regular.

Racing starts at 8:30 with the gates opening at 6 p.m. The action Sunday will move over to the new track in Bithlo located on Highway 50. Speed World the new project of Billy Herndon will hold its third race on the 1/4 mile asphalt high banked oval with some of the finest cars in the South on hand.

Dan Daughtry who runs the big NASCAR Grand National races in Daytona, Atlanta and Talladega plans to be a regular at this fine facility. Late Models and Limited Stocks will be run with two heats and a feature for both.

Going back to Lakeland Raceway, Championship Drag Racing will return to Florida as the East Coast Super Charged Funny Car Point Championship Final will be held on Saturday and Sunday nights. Sixteen 200 mph Fuel Funny Cars will be on hand for the final point race of the year for their class. Jerry Gywnn will be there going after his second big win in a row at Lakeland in his "Baby Huey" Vega.

Gywnn from Miami, will have the home advantage as the expected record crowd will undoubtedly root him on during every run as they did during the March meet. It will not be easy every run as they did during the March meet. It will not be easy every run as they did during the March meet.

He will have 4 eliminator brackets running with plenty of cash for the winners and round winners. They will also run 8 E.T. brackets and an over-all race with trophies and cash for almost every round winner. About the only way not to win something at this two day meet is not to go or break unloading off the trailer.

The gate will open 3 p.m. Saturday with racing at 8:30 p.m. The gate will open at 3 p.m. Sunday with racing starting at 7:30 p.m. Rain date will be Monday night.

For the racers who cannot make it to Lakeland on Saturday, Central Fla. Dragway will hold E.T. racing at their Bithlo track starting at 8:30 p.m. This should give everybody a chance to get tuned up for the big NHRA Points Championship coming up the 14th and 15th of this month at Gainesville.

The remainder of Saturday's schedule:

East Tennessee State at Appalachian State, night; Dayton at Drake; Cal Poly, Pomona at Fresno State, night; Kent State at Central Michigan; Memphis State at Louisville, night; Mississippi at Tulane, night; William & Mary at Mississippi State, night; Northern Illinois at McNeese State, night; Oregon State at Syracuse; Sacramento State at Pacific, night; Villanova at Richmond; San Jose State at Santa Clara, night; Arkansas State at Southwestern Louisiana, night; Tampa at UT-Chattanooga, night, and Texas-Arlington at Western Michigan.

Notre Dame's biggest concern is the secondary, where only Reggie Barnett returns. Bob Zanot and Tim Simon were lost with knee injuries in practice while Luther Bradley, one of last year's sensational freshmen, was one of six players suspended from school for breaking dormitory rules.

Two other 1973 freshmen, defensive end Ross Browner and Willie Fry, also were suspended, along with speedy running back Al Hunter, Eric Penick, a starting halfback, suffering a severe ankle injury in spring practice while guard Steve Quehl was injured in a Saturday night midget race.

Rookie Likes Fenway's Wall

By DAVE O'HARA AP Sports Writer

Gorman Thomas checked in with the Milwaukee Brewers, took one look at Fenway Park's famed left field wall and thought he was back in Sacramento.

Just recalled from the Pacific Coast League where he capitalized on Sacramento's 233-foot left field fence for 51 homers, the 25-year-old slugger took aim on Fenway's "Green Monster."

With the score tied 2-2 and one out in the ninth, he became another of Fenway's long list of fence-breakers, belting a two-run homer to provide the Brewers with a 4-3 victory over the reeling Red Sox.

In handing Boston its seventh consecutive defeat, the Brewers knocked the Red Sox from the American League East lead for the first time since July 14. The idle New York Yankees moved one-half game in front. Thirdplace Baltimore, also idle, remained two games off the pace.

In the other American League games, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Kansas City Royals 4-1, the Oakland A's blanked the Texas Rangers 3-0 and the Chicago White Sox nipped the California Angels 1-0. The Philadelphia Phillies nudged the Chicago Cubs 6-5 in 11 innings in the only National League game Thursday.

After watching Mike Hegan and Pedro Garcia hit solo homers in the seventh, tying the score, Thomas got the idea. With Darrell Porter on first with a walk, he looked at two balls thrown by Boston reliever Diego Segui. Then he unloaded. Twins 4, Royals 1

Steve Busby's throwing error on a bases-loaded pickoff attempt in the sixth inning let in two runs and triggered Minnesota over slumping Kansas City.

It was the eighth straight loss for the Royals, who now have dropped 10 of 11 on the current homestand.

A's 3, Rangers 0

White Sox 1, Angels 0

Ken Henderson's sixth-inning double drove in Jorge Orta with the only run of the game as Milwaukee beat California.

Losers Ed Figueroa, 2-7, permitted only three hits but two of them came in the decisive sixth—a lead-off single by Orta, who had two of the Chicago hits, and Henderson's onout double.

Phillies 6, Cubs 5

Bob Boone's bases-loaded single in the top of the 11th inning delivered two runs as Philadelphia defeated Chicago.

The Cubs had tied the score 4-4 in the eighth on triples by Jose Cardenal and Peter Laocak.

Storm Coach Positive

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

Coaches are by birth and nature an optimistic lot. But Portland Storm Coach Dick Coury appears near the head of the class.

Portland is 3 1/2 games behind the first-place Southern California Sun and the guaranteed playoff spot in the Western Division, but Coury thinks his team "may not be out of the West Division race by any means."

In other WFL action tonight, the New York Stars, 6-3, and Florida Blazers, 6-3, share the bill and the billing, but one club is almost assured of second billing when their Eastern Division tangle is over.

And in Detroit, Southern California, 5-4, gets its chance to spin the Wheels, 6-9.

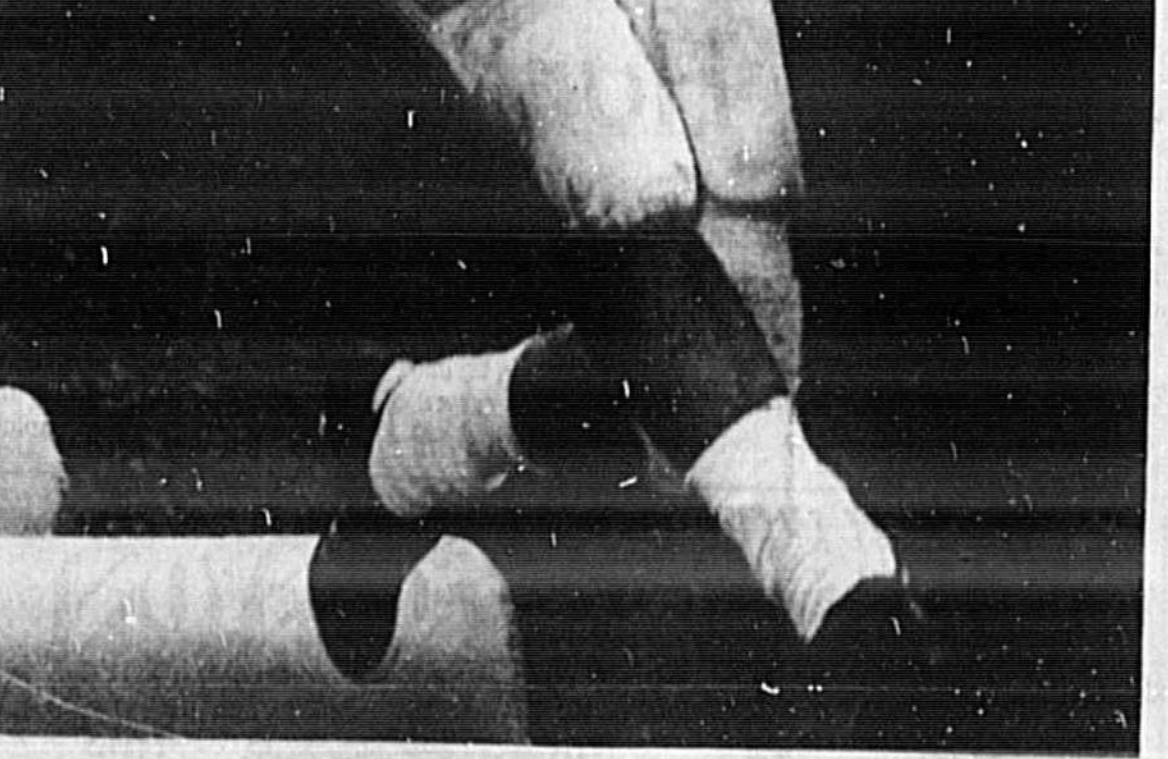

The Jacksonville Sharks started this week's WFL football bouncing Thursday night when rookie quarterback Reggie Oliver outmanned flamboyant King Corcoran to beat the Philadelphia Bell 34-30. Oliver passed for 321 yards and two touchdowns.

On Saturday night, the Chicago Fire, 7-2, attempts to give the undefeated Birmingham spot," said Coury, whose optimism got a powerful injection last week when the Storm broke into the victory column by topping the still-winless Detroit Wheels.

Coury's positive thinking meets a big test tonight when the Storm, 1-7-1, can move up a notch in the standings by beating the third-place Hawaiians, 2-7, as the 10th week of the World Football League continues.

If we put together a strong finish in the last 10 or 11 games, we have a chance for a playoff
