Lost infant found with family dog

MOBILE. Ala. - A man who lost track of his 3-month-old son while high on cocaine started an all-night search that ended Friday when the child was found in the woods being guarded by the family dog.

Donnie Chastang, 26, ran through his neighborhood Thursday night screaming that he could not find his son, said Gardner Wilcox of the Mobile County Sheriff's Department.

Chastang first told authorities he left home for about 30 minutes and returned to find the baby. Micah Robert Chastang, missing. But he later admitted he was high on cocaine and could not remember where he left the baby.

A group of about 40 neighbors and deputies fanned out for an all-night search. Early Friday, Chastang remembered being in the woods with the baby, who was found being watched over by the family dog, a Chow named Bear. Chastang and the baby's mother, 28-year-old Robyn Stack, were jailed on charges of growing marijuana in their back yard. Wilcox said. Chastang also was charged with endangering a child, a misdemeanor.

The baby suffered only a few bug bites. He was placed in the custody of grandparents.

Tests prove no pollution in Lake Mary

By MCK PPEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY - Initial laboratory tests of the water in big Lake Mary indicate the lake is not polluted. On the contrary, it is in almost perfect condition. Results of the tests were revealed by Flower's Labrotory in Orlando Friday afternoon.

Late last week, it had been suspected that because of a problem connected with the Lake Mary Boulevard widening project, water running into the lake east of Country Club Road. was being contaminated from raw sewage eminating from Lake Mary Elementary School. The school is located on the southwest side of the County Club Road and Lake Mary Boulevard intersection.

Other areas of concern included a stormwater drainage pond near the school and a trabidity filter, near the lake. The filter contains a combination of fabric and sand to protect any water flow from moving contaminated products into the lake.

Sanford men immortalized

Last Sunday we wrote about the Peter Schaal Trophy awarded each year to Seminole High School's most valuable football player. It has been presented annually since 1928. It is one of the oldest gridiron awards for football excellence in the United States - even older than the Helsman.

But there are two other sports trophies awarded each year to SHS athletes and we want you to know

The first is the Leonard L. McLucas Trophy. This has been given for some 30 years to the best all-around athlete at SHS. The winner is usually a youngster who participates in at least three sports.

McLucas was a star SHS athlete in the early 1920's. In 1922 and 1923 he played football, basketball and baseball at Seminole. He was coached by Judge S.A.B. Wilkinson. a Sanford jurist and a former football coach at the University of Florida, McLucas, upon graduation from SHS, went on to Florida where he played football. After getting his college degree in physical education he returned to Seminole High as its coach for football, basketball. baseball and track, succeeding Hugh Whelchel - a former college great at Georgia. That was in 1927, And, by the way, he never had an assistant until 1936 when he was given not one but two assistant coaches.

Sanford to hold the line on taxes in new budget

By MICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - While the City of Sanford will not call for any increase in the millage rate for the new fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, it is not going to approve the millage roll back rate which would have reduced taxes.

In preparing his budget recommendations. Sanford City Manager Bill Simmons suggested the city not approve the roll back millage rate which would have dropped the rate from 6.8759 of this present year, to 6.1225 for next year.

"It would have provided the city with the same income," he said. "but we needed an increase in order to continue providing our level of service to the citizens of Sanford." "In legal terms." he said, "if the city rejects the roll back rate, which is lower than our millage, we are, in effect, legally increasing taxes." He said many people become confused over the use of the term "increased taxes" when it is used in this form. "When we carry over last year's rate into the next fiscal year, the taxes paid become higher in most cases. This isn't because of the millage, it's because of an increased property value. Simmons said the city will con-

The budget submitted by Simmons for the general fund was submitted and approved in balanced form. "We did recommend that the roll back millage of 6.1225 not be adopted." he said. "In order for us to receive the same amount of tax dollars we received last year. considering the increase in population and higher property taxes, the millage rate would automatically be lower. We will be needing additional. income, and therefore we are asking that the roll back rate not be adopted, but rather have the millage remain at the same level it was last year, 6.8759.

Following a series of work sessions on the budget, almost all of the proposals advanced by City Manager Bill Simmons have been accepted. The total budget is for $25.4 million, and is almost a direct

TALLAHASSEE - In the past six weeks. Ann Mason has spent 26 days camped out in parks near her Sarasota home to avoid the vapor from pesticides used on lawns in her neighborhood.

Site is one of 18 people across Florida lated on a new registry designed to give people who are "chemically sensitive" a chance to escape them.

The idea that some people have an extra sensitivity to chemicals and become ill from exposure to them is one that has gained credence in recent years but is still disputed in the medical community, says Roger inman, Florida's state toxicologist. But 23 states have created some kind of notification program for non-farm pesticide use, according to Jane Kochersperger, a spokeswoman for the National Coalition Against the Misuse of Pesticides, a non-Profit network based in Washington.

About half of those, like Florids, include notice to neighbors. Mrs. Mason, 57, fought for three years to get Florida's law, which was first im-plemented in January, on the books. The statute mandates that lawn pesticide companies give 24-hour notice to the people on the list before spraying property next to the homes of those people.

Homeowners, agricultural interests and golf courses are not covered by the law.

"In my opinion it's a very unfair law right now." John Mulrennan, chief of entomology services for the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services, said recently, "Just about anything that

Europeans ventured into Florida before Ponce de Leon?

By BILL KACZOR
Associated Press Writer

PENSACOLA - Most history books credit Juan Ponce de Leon with discovering Florida, but a University of West Florida historian says he is convinced other Europeans preceded the Spanish

Bill Coker, chairman of the university's History Department. says the evidence is on maps made before Ponce de Leon's 1513 discovery and in the reaction of Florida Indians to his first

In a book on Florida history Coker is co-authoring he calls Ponce de Leon the "official discoverer" but not the first European in Florida.

Then, who was first?

"We can't prove who. That's the problem." Coker said. "There's no doubt in my mind somebody was there before Ponce de Leon, but I couldn't prove it to save my life.

John Cabot, an Italian whose real name was Caboto, may have been the first European to sight Florida in 1496 or 1499 while leading an English expedition. However, Coker said no one is sure whether that voyage really took place and, if so, how much of North America he visited.

Coker's theory is that slave traders, looking for Indian slaves to sell in Puerto Rico and Hispaniola, probably were Florida's first European visitors but kept quiet about it.

'They were not about to tell anybody else where they are getting their slaves," Coker said. The slavers were afraid competitors would cut into their business if they found out about Florida.

The hostile reception Indians gave Ponce de Leon on his first expedition is a good indication they already had encountered Europeans. Coker said Indians invariably were friendly on their first contact with Europeans but hostile on their second meeting.

"Obviously, the conduct of the Europeans in their first en-counter such as demanding food and women and carrying away numbers of their people caused the natives to be hostile the next time Europeans arrived." Coker wrote in a manuscript for the book, tentatively titled "Florida: 1492-1992."

It is scheduled for publication early next year in conjuction with the quincentennial of Christopher Columbus's first voyage to the western hemisphere. Coker is collaborating on the book for Pioneer Publications with Gerald Shofner, chairman of the History Department at the University of Central Florida in Orlando.

At least six maps of the Caribbean area made before Ponce de Leon's first voyage depict a large land mass north of Cuba about where Florida should be. Coker said.

Fight over grasshoppers has war plan, no weapon

By JAMES MARTINEZ Associated Press Writer

DADE CITY - Florida's worst grasshopper plague in four decades has ravaged thousands of acres of farmland while scientists search for a weapon to combat the swarming, thumbsized terminators.

Tve sprayed everything and they just keep on eating. You kill one and 10,000 more show up for the funeral." said citrus grower Bill Jordan, who's watched a grove of his leafy, young orange trees reduced to naked sticks.

First seen swarming here a month and a half ago. the hardy strain of American grasshoppers - kissing cousins to the African desert locust - have moved into citrus, corn, pecan and hay lands in 10 west-central Florida counties covering a total of 52,000 acres. And as the winged invaders have grown to adulthood. they've taken on a rock-hard exoskeleton and the ability to make football field-length flights that's made them seemingly pesticide-invincible.

Nowhere are they thicker than in this bucolic town 40 miles northeast of Tampa, heart of the 10,000 most heavily infested acres, where every crunchy walk through the fields becomes an adventure of Biblical propor-

Not a cent more

The U.S. Postal Service says it will be unable to balance its books this year unless stamp prices are increased another penny, to 30 cents. The agency's board of governors has asked the independent Postal Rate Commission to reconsider its ruling of six months ago, which limited the Postal Service to a 4-cent increase in first-class postage, from 25 cents to the current 29 cents.

If the rate commission refuses to back away from its original decision — which it should not — the board of governors can raise postage rates unilaterally by a unanimous board vote. It has done this on one previous occasion. In 1961, when the commission approved a increase in first-class postage from 15 cents to 18 cents, the Postal Service board upped the rate to 20 cents.

A penny is not a huge sum, of course, but it is very symbolic in this case. The rate increase the Postal Service seeks amounts to another attempt to force consumers to absorb the escalating costs of the Postal Service's continued inefficiency.

As it is, labor costs will account for a whopping 83 percent of the Postal Service's $39 billion operating budget this year. Few private enterprises could balance their books if wages and benefits consumed such a substantial proportion of their operating budgets. This figure also helps explain why the Postal Service is confronted by a $1.5 billion deficit that it wants to cover with the 1-cent postage hike.

Meanwhile, the Postal Service finds itself facing increasing competition from more efficient rivals in the private sector.

Consequently, it is trying to implement measures that will reduce costs and improve productivity. Don the var disnous non elemina

Sheila Sawyer deserves support

On June 30th you printed a letter from Grace Hauck of Lake Mary entitled "Who does she think

I was appalled when I read that negative, malicious and misleading letter. In her letter Mrs. Hauck says that Mrs. Sheila Sawyer only had 475 signatures on a petition to change the Lake Mary charter, and there are 5000 residents. So what! There are 2800 registered voters in Lake Mary and that means at least 17 percent of the voters agree with Mrs. Sawyer that the charter amendment change is an important enough issue to be put on the ballot and that we the people have the constitutional right to vote on that issue. State law only requires 10 percent of voters signatures to put an issue on our voting ballots. Mrs. Hauck claims our commission isn't made up of politicians; inferring our good fortune. I'll remind Mrs. Hauck that our mayor is a state registered lobbyist and a professional campaign consultant running over five political campaigns last year. That's a politician Mrs. Hauck.

Mr. Hauck would have us think that once our elected officials take office we should keep our mouths shut, as though once in office they have won the right to decide, for us, which issues we shall have the right to vote on, and which issues they won't allow us to vote upon. I, for one, want the right to vote on deficit spending and I believe in our constitutional right of referendum as do many others. If Mrs. Hauck thinks people shouldn't speak out then perhaps she should have followed her own advice before she decided to attack those

What has Mrs. Sawyer done to draw such deep seated antagonism from Mrs. Hauck. The Haucks received the citizen of the year award presented to them from our current mayor and I doubt they need worry about losing it to Mrs. Sawyer. I admire Mrs. Sawyer's tenacity, in the face of intimidation and personal attack. I believe, she is standing up for her belief in our constitutional right to vote, and more importantly she has taken action for all of our benefit in this community. Not everyone's community goodwill is self-serving and solely for the purpose of running for office. Has Mrs. Hauck been hanging around politicians too long?

I applaud Mrs. Sawyer's efforts and countless hours spent to do what's right for all Lake Mary citizens, by fighting for our constitutional right to have an issue put on the ballot, thereby, allowing us to vote on that issue. I feel very fortunate to have someone like Mrs. Sheila Sawyer living in my community. She is raising her family here and showing against the odds, that she truly has Lake Mary's Interest at heart. Shame to the Sanford Herald for allowing their paper to be used as a vehicle for a personal attack by one citizen on another private citizen. # Economic plight of the Reagan years

Kevin Phillips book published by Random House entitled "The Politics of Rich and Poor" chronicles the economic changes that occurred in America during the Reagan years. He proposes that the American dream of unlimited opportunity and home ownership may be a casualty of domestic and global economic realignment. Will time reveal a direct correlation between foreign ownership of American real estate and industry and the decline of the American dream? American dream?

According to Phillips, it was a three-pronged economic assault that contributed to America's current fiscal status. They were: reduction or elimination of federal income tax for the top 1-5% of the population; reordering domestic priorities favoring the military-industrial complex at the expense of the most needy segment of the population and lastly, deregulation of economic activity.

The Wall Street Journal's March 31, 1989

issue reported that statistical evidence already suggested the American dream was fading.

Economic power and riches were realigned worldwide during the 1980's. The economic groups that have evidenced the most growth are at opposite extremes of the economic spectrum, the ten and the bettern the top and the bottom.

Never before, in the history of this beautiful and bountiful land has America faced foreign ownership of its real estate and industry to this degree. Phillips attributes our current economic LURLENE WEETING

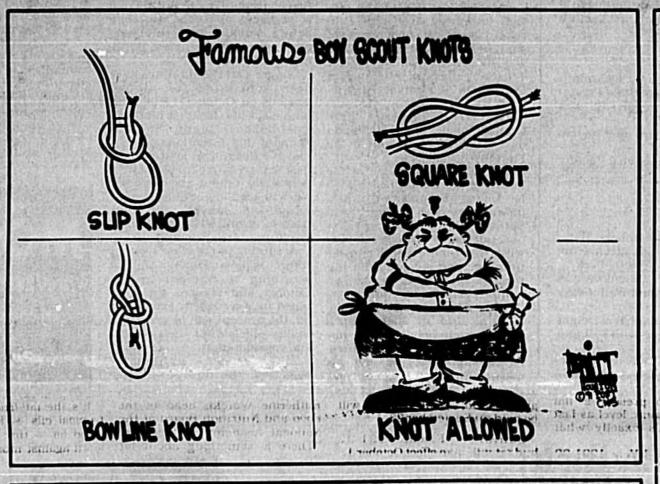

thit to the Reagan presidency and the policies

8, takeovers of United States corporate In 1908, (alteovers of United States corporate assets by foreign investors totaled $233 billion and had climbed to $40 billion by 1987. Merrill Lynch international economists estimated the figure at $60 billion in 1968. Dun's Business Month (11/87) proclaimed "Britain Buys Back the Colonies." This assertion was prompted by the fact that two months earlier a British firm had paid $1.5 billion and gained control of Hilton international and the international network of Holiday linns. By this action Britain replaced the United States as the world's largest owner of quality hotels. In 1988, Coldwell Banker Real Estate groups reported the following foreign Estate groups reported the following foreign ownership of commercial real estate in downtown America: 46% of Los Angeles, 39% of Houston, 32% of Minneapolis and 21% of

The United States Federal Reserve Board and Japan's Economic Planning Agency concurred (1967) that Japan surpassed the United States in national assets with $43.7 trillion worth of land, factories, stocks and other wealth to $36.2 trillion for the United States.

Lester Thurow, Dean of Messachusetts In-Lester Thurow, Dean of Massachusetts Institute of Technology Sloan School; asserted that when Reagan became president, the United States was the world's largest creditor nation. At the close of Reagan's tenure, the United States was the world's largest debtor nation. America had a trade surplus of $16.6 billion in 1980, by contrast, America's indebtedness to foreigners was $340 billion (1988).

Economic woes have been plaguing some Americans for some time. Fortunes in oil and agriculture have been lost. Wages have fallen. For example, in 1986, they declined in 47% of Illinois' manufacturing jobs. It has been estimated that 1.5 million mid-level management jobs were lost during the 1960's. Downward mobility has become a real spectre for blue and white collar Americans aline. Data supplied by the Congressional Budget office concluded that since 1977 the average after-tax income for the lowest 10% of the population declined 10.5%, while the average income for the top 10% increased 24.4%. For the top 1%, the increase was 74.2%.

Marshall eyes the irony of it all

BOSTON - What must Justice Marshall think as he sits, stewing, over the nomination of Clarence Thomas: That if you live long enough, the last sense you need is a keen sense

How ironic to spend a lifetime opening doors for American blacks and to see a successor coming through those doors who disagrees with much that you hold dear. How ironic that your seat may be taken by a man who profited from remedies that you support and that he

What was it Justice Marshall said in his cranky farewell press conference? Don't use race as a ploy or an excuse for "doing wrong." he advised the president. Many assume that he had Thomas - that front-runner of conservative black candidates - in mind.

Without Justice Marshall, would Judge Thomas have stood Tuesday on a lawn in Kennebunkport and heard the president say that "the fact that he is a black and a minority has nothing to do with this ... " Without a hard-won consensus that the nation's diversity should be reflected in the court, could Thomas have been chosen as "the best qualified"?

Harvard Law School's Christopher Edley Jr. ticks off this nominee's "modest" legal talents during eight years as the controversial head of Reagan's Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and during a year and a half on the U.S. Court of Appeals. "No one can look at Clarence Thomas' record and find the claim he was the best qualified person remotely credible." concludes Edley. "He's certainly qualified but to say more than that requires heroic efforts to keep a straight face."

With Cambridge understatement, he adds "This isn't like putting Colin Powell on the

Of course, there is enough irony here for Justice Marshall to pass around. Some must be shared with Thomas himself. This proponent of bootstrap conservatism, this fervent opponent of racial preference and quotas must have had his own thoughts on the president's lawn.

The first half-dozen questions from the press were directed at him as an Affirmative Action Candidate, the filler of a quota of one on the Supreme Court. Did this reinforce Thomas' belief in the debilitating side effects of affirmative action? Did he worry at all about benefiting from what he abhors?

Only David Souter made Thomas' appointment seem less glaringly racial. Because of Souter, it can be claimed that the Bush administration is an equal opportunity employer of mediocre legal minds of all races.

For conservatives the ironies multiply. Diversity has become such a mainstream idea that even those who favor race-blindness can't be blind to race. Indeed, the runners-up qualify for a Supreme Court Diversity sweepstakes: Edith Jones, the perennial bridesmaid, and Emilio Garza, the Hispanic contender.

But what of liberals, especially the civil rights groups at odds with Thomas in his years as a Reagan official? Thomas' life story resonates eloquently with them. A dirt-poor Southern boy, he was deserted by his father and raised in the segregated South by his grandparents. "As a child," he said, "I could not dare dream that I would ever see the Supreme Court. not to mention be nominated to it."

This is the life experlence, the pluralism of background, that liberals want to see reflected in the court. It is hard for civil rights groups to turn away from a black man who has made it in America. It will also be hard to support a man who took a familiar route to an opposing position.

long enough, the last sense you need is a keen sense of Irony.

If you live

"There are going to be a lot of blacks and many progressives who will want to swallow hard and accept Thomas precisely because they believe in the pursuit of diversity, when the irony is that Thomas doesn't believe in that," says Edley, who adds, "I think it's a really bitter pill."

Civil rights are not all that is at stake in this appointment. We know little about Thomas' other views. But this confirmation hearing promises to be an historic exercise in racial Conservative opponents of racial preferences will do contortions to deny that they are promoting a black man to a black seat. Liberals committed to the advancement of minorities, will express unease about advancing this member of a minority.

Someone will suggest that true diversity is promoting a black conservative. Someone else wil claim that blacks have arrived when they can oppose "one of their own."- Before it is over, irony of all these ironies, anti-quota Republicans may have filled a quota while liberals may have proved that they are race-blind by opposing Clarence Thomas.

And what will Justice Marshall make of this odd ideological gavotte? Will he - should we - be proud of how far we have come, or merely bewildered?

JACK ANDERSON Does Baker want

Sununu ousted? WASHINGTON - A hidden hand may be stirring up the national tempest over the travels of White House Chief of Staff John

Sununu. Our sources in the administration confide that Secretary of State James Baker wants Sununu out of the White House and wants to replace him with someone more malleable and loyal to Baker.

Baker has no particular animosity toward Sununu. He simply wants more control over the White House machinations. He is President Bush's most trusted and loyal adviser, but Baker has political ambitions of his own. He wants to succeed Bush in the White House.

Baker's office denies it, but our sources say Baker is now laying the groundwork for a run at the presidency, and he sees Sununu

as a possible obstacle. Under that scenario, any troubles that come Sununu's way would be no skin off Baker's nose.

Baker is not above leaking inflammatory information about someone. In fact, he is the master of the leak. He runs one of the most efficient whispering operations in town, but the whispers never come directly from him. He is too careful for that. Our sources say Baker gets the information out to the media through third parties.

Those third parties have a valuable ally in Sununu. He keeps playing into their hands by failing to recognize that his gratuitous travels on the taxpayers' dime have genuinely offended those who are paying his bills. His apologies read like they were prepared by White House speech writers, and his off-the-cuff remarks reflect arrogance.

We visited Sununu at the White House, but he refused to speculate on who, if anyone, might be orchestrating a campaign against him. We found him beleaguered and bewildered over the media storm that has hit him. He can't understand how his petty transportation needs have escalated into a major scandal.

Sununu said the media even staked out his house one weekend, so he made the rounds in the neighborhood later, apologizing to the neighbors for the invasion.

As Sununu tells it, the media has distorted some facts and reported others out of context. He was particularly bitter over one account which said that Bush had called Baker to complain about Sununu. He claims he has the full support of Bush, a claim that Bush has echoed. The president even publicly produced his phone records to prove that no such call was made to Baker.

Sununu's enemies, and they are many. have stirred up a clamor for his ouster, but President Bush is not one to dump a loyal member of his inner circle unless he feels his own popularity will be seriously threatened.

Bush doesn't like being told what to do, and if he won't dump Dan Quayle, he won't dump Sununu.

READ THE FINE PRINT

Most insurance companies respond to a medical claim by examining the policy with a microscope, looking for a loophole that will allow them to reject the claim.

Loopholes aren't hard to find. Most policies contain small print that is designed to let the insurers off the hook. The restrictions in the fine print are seldom mentioned by the salespeople who are paid commissions only on the policies they sell. No one pays them to make sure the customer knows what he or she is buying. Often the small print is too complex even for the sales agent to understand.

The love affair with fat is so absorbing that even those with the most official of intentions can end up making excuses for people who reliah fatty foods.

Last week for example, consumer lobbying organization Public Voice for Food and Health Policy blamed Americans' fat intake on the federal government for requiring such high amounts of fat in foods like butter, ice cream and cheese.

The same day, the Journal of the American Medical Association gave fat-lovers support by saying only 2 percent of us would live longer if everyone reduced overall fat consumption to the recommended 30 percent of one's diet.

The New England Journal of Medicine put the icing on the cake the next day by saying dieting could be dangerous for those people who tend to put the weight right back on again.

In a society that has more food than it needs to survive, the sensual pleasures of eating begin to dominate. And flavor, mouth feel and satiety all are enhanced by fat.

"Fat holds taste on the tongue longer," said Keith Keogh, executive chef at Walt Disney World's EPCOT Center. And smell. Think of what you feel when you smell meat cooking on a charcoal grill, he said.

'Fat has a rich, velvety texture in the mouth." said Chef Mial Parker, instructor at the California Culinary Academy in San Francisco.

"Fat makes you feel full," said Katherine Woteki, head of the Food and Nutrition Board at the National Academy of Sciences. "There is something about fat that we find pleasant and we seek out what is pleasant."

But it's a pleasure, she said, that can be satisfied with other foods or smaller quantities of fat. ### Twadell takes the win her first time racing took in the glory of winning her first Soap Box Derby. Saturday's winner of the Central Florida derby in Sanford said that she did not expect to win her first time out, but she certainly was pleased with the results.

"I can't believe it." she said barely above a whisper as she sat in the back of one of the city's pick up trucks and watched as her fluorescent pink kit car was loaded on to a platform to be taken the Civic Center for the banquet in honor of the winners.

The car will be shipped to Akron, Ohio for the All-American Soap Box Derby national race on Aug. 10. "I'm going to Akron," she said, almost as if she were trying to convince herself that it was all real. "I won."

Twadell, an avid fan of all sports, who plays soccer, baseball and basketball, is a racing enthusiast.

"I like to go to Daytona and watch the races," she said. "This isn't as fast, but it's as fun."

The youngster said that she and her father David Multop made the car from the approved Soap Box Derby kit.

We worked on it a long time," she said. "It was as fun for him as it was for me.'

She said that there have been no other Soap Box Derby racers in her family so she had to do some reading on the subject and listen to others to learn about strategy.

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Ronnie Padot's car that he raced in Saturday's Central Florida Soap Box Derby in Sanford was called the "Last Flight."

Padot, 16, of Jennin, Fla., (about 30 miles south of Valdosta, Ga.) said he chose that name because he is the last of four brothers who have raced in Soap Box Derbies. And this was his last chance to race.

After five races, he will be too old to compete next summer. "I really want to win," he said as he made final preparations for the first race. "But I'm here to have a good time no matter what the outcome." Padot's vehicle ran into

Associated Press

Strong thunderstorms accompanied by tornadic conditions raked much of Florida again Saturday, flooding streets. downing trees and power lines and damaging homes and busi-

A tornado touched down at Port Manatee on the southern edge of Tampa Bay and caused some damage, but even more was reported across the state in Daytona Beach Shores by what weathercasters called "tornadic conditions" that didn't actually spawn a twister.

At least one water spout. basically a tornado at sea, was reported off Big Pine Key in the lower Florida Keys. It did not come ashore.

Police estimated damages of more than $100,000 from the winds that hit south of Daytona Beach, blowing out store windows, destroying carports. damaging roofs, downing trees. limbs, power lines and business

Damage of varying degrees from blown debris was reported to 150 to 200 automobiles in the area, officials said.

No injuries were reported.

damaged some buildings and hurled a pontoon boat into some trucks but caused no injuries as il swept through at about 6 a.m., said Manatee County Emergency Services Director Tom Strickland.

Rainfall of 2 to 5 inches were recorded in parts of Hillsborough and Pinellas countles during the morning and early afternoon hours, and some storm drains were temporarily unable to handle the excess water, said forecasters at the National Weather Service station in Ruskin, near Tampa.

They said a good portion of the rain fell less than two hours.

The thunderstorms were associated with a weak trough of low pressure that caused similar weather Friday. Forecasters expected it to remain over the state through early Sunday.

Strickland estimated damages from the Port Manatee tornado at less than $80,000.

Three port buildings sustained roof damage, a construction trailer was carried 100 yards and truck was destroyed and a pontoon work barge, sitting on the ground, was flipped into three The Port Manatee twister trucks, Strickland said.

from the same area."

Minor accidents, road closings and major flooding were re-ported to Sanford, Lake Mary and Longwood law enforcement agencies as the storm slowly moved its way southwest through the county.

"When it rains this much people in Sanford pretty much know where the trouble spots are," according to Lt. Hayden of the Sanford Police Department. Ninth, 11th Streets and Holly Avenue were closed because of flooding Hayden said.

James Wiggins said that his house on Yale Drive in Sanford was about to be flooded out at about 11 on Saturday merning when he got in his father's canoe to see what it was like in the rest of the neighborhood.

In his short journey in his canoe he said he'd seen several houses that had already been inundated with water.

'You can't get down most of these streets in cars," he said pointing in all directions with his battered oar. "And it'd be downright stupid to try and walk."

Indeed, in some parts of Sanford, the rain was standing as much as two feet deep with huge drops splashing into the pools. One tow truck driver for the Altamonte Towing Company said the calls were so backed up that he wouldn't be able to get to all of them today.

I stopped counting," he said. Flooding was reported in all parts of Sanford.

Ola Walker who lives at 890 Vilhen Rd. said that the rain had come so hard and so fast that they had damaged the road.

"I think we've got a sink hole 'It was two feet deep, at outhere," she speculated. Police dispatchers said that calls were coming into the station in record numbers and that many were reporting water at dangerous levels in and around

In Lake Mary, City Manager John Litton said, "We had major flooding in some of our neighborhoods. The worst case was in Country Oaks because of a major blockage in the storm drain system which connects to the Sanford system." he said.

Sanford Public Works people were called out and it has since been opened, according to Litton. "We were preparing to sand bag one area because the water level came within six inches of a residential swimming pool," Litton said. "But mother nature fixed that (the rains stopped)."

The outside lanes of State Road 434 from Wyman to Grant and County Road 427 to Milwee Avenue were closed because of Longwood Police Department.

Two structural fires from lightning strikes were reported in Longwood according to Max Chultes, an engineer with the Longwood Fire Department.

A Columbus Circle residence suffered an attic fire from the strike and the chimney of a Sweetwater Park home apparently took a direct hit from a bolt, according to Chuites.

A fire which totally engulfed a home at 523 Remington Oak. At The Crossings, outside of Lake Mary, was reported under control shortly after the Seminole County Fire Department arrived. according to Beverly Gribbins a dispatch operator for the department. The origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

General reports of power outages were reported by the Sanford Police Department around south Sanford. Power companies knee deep water according to the were out repairing damage caused by the storm.

Cars moved cautiously at 17th and Elm in Sanford.

Baghdad to supply expanded list of its nuclear facilities?

By MICHAEL I Associated Press Writer

BAGHDAD, Iraq — The head of an international inspection team said on Saturday Iraq was expected to respond to a U.N. warning and U.S. threats of a military strike by providing an expanded list of its nuclear facilities this weekend.

Iraq was taking the threats so seriously it asked for an emergency meeting of the 21-nation Arab League to discuss the issue.

The five permanent members of the U.N. Security Council warned Iraq on Friday to disclose its nuclear capabilities by July 25 or face serious consequences, Western diplomats at the United Nations said.

Egyptian President Honsi Mubarak outlined the consequences in a message to Iraqi President Saddam Hussein on Saturday.

Mubarak's message pointed out to Saddam "the danger of his present position, which might lead the Iraqi people to the possibility of another attack by allied forces that could destroy some strategic targets inside Iraq." presidential spokesman Mohamed Abdel-Moneim said in

The chief U.N. nuclear inspector, Dimitri Perricos, said he expected an answer from

"I hope tomorrow they'll do their best to give (the list) to us," Perricos told The Associated Press. Washington says Iraq could face military strikes to eliminate nuclear facilities, but that an attack was not imminent.

President Bush's national security adviser. Brent Scoweroft, said Saturday, "We're looking at about compliance." He declined to elaborate.

If military action were ordered, Scoweroft said, the United States would prefer not to act unilaterally. "If there were anything involving the military, we would hope there would be coalition" forces," he said on CNN's "Newsmaker Saturday" from Bush's vacation home in Ken-

Under the U.N. cease-fire terms that ended the Gulf War, Iraq is required to disclose all its nuclear, chemical and biological weapons capabilities in preparation for their destruction.

The United States says previous Iraqi disclosures have fallen short and that Baghdad has been trying to develop a nuclear weapon. Iraq denies that it is trying to develop nuclear Iraqi Foreign Minister Ahmed Hussein wrote to Arab League Secretary-General Ismat Abdel Meguid asking for an emergency session to discuss the U.S. threats.

Baghdad radio quoted the envoy as saying Iraq had cooperated fully with the United Nations.

"The United States is now preparing a comprehensive new military aggression against Iraq. As a pretext for this aggression, the United States is announcing that it intends to strike the sites and equipment that interested the high-level (U.N.) committee." the Iraqi minister wrote.

If Iraq produces a new list, it would be the third since April 27. It would be, in effect, another admission that the Iraqi government has not fully disclosed its nuclear capabilities.

On Thursday, the 37-member U.N. inspection team paid a surprise visit to a uranium production plant near the northern city of Mosul. Perricos said. The plant had not been included on previous lists.

The government's initial list included 24 facilities. Since then, the U.N. Special Commission overseeing destruction of Iraq's weapons of mass destruction has acquired intelligence indicating there were more sites.

Mom's asks for protection

ORLANDO - Mom's Best Cookies Inc. has filed for protection under bankruptcy laws, thwarting its founder from collecting on a $347,000 court judgment she won last month.

Noel McCammon, an Orlando homemaker who started the company in 1981, will have to wait to get any of the settlement she received in a lawsuit she filed against Mom's chief executive officer for firing her.

The company head, J. Wayne Jones, filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Code on Monday. This froze any payments due until a reorganization plan is agreed upon for the Orlando-based baking company,

Mom's is financially healthy, other than its $347,000 debt to Ms. McCammon, Jones said. The business will continue Circuit Judge Joe Baker ruled June 17 that Jones' firing of Ms. McCammon was unfair. He granted the monetary award as damages. Ms. McCammon said Tuesday the bankruptcy filing is nothing more than a ruse.

Horse lovers tried to save life

Tommy Meadows with Humane Society worker last week.

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Although Tommy Meadows, the hobbled racchorse, couldn't be saved Friday, Humane Society director Diane Albers said residents from as far away as Okeechobee County responded to a society plea for money.

"People really responded." Albers said. "Especially the horse people. They really came to that horse's aid. There's a lot of really good people out there. It's really heart-warming."

Albers said Friday afternoon she continued to receive donations for Tommy Meadows. She said expected contributions have exceeded $1,000. Albers said about $250 will needed for veterinary expenses. The remainder of the money will be reserved for an emergency horse fund in case future injured horses are received.

After conferring with the veterinary surgeon who examined the stallion. Albers and society officials decided to have the horse euthanised. The horse was discharged from the University of Florida College of Veterinary Medicine and taken to a Volusia County ranch where, after a last meal of apples and carrots, was euthanised with a lethal injection and buried at the ranch.

"He went down peacefully." Albers said. "At least he's out of pain now."

Dr. Pat Colahan, a UF equestrian surgeon who examined the horse, said even if the hoof was rebroken to allow it to return to a normal position, blood vessels would not grow back correctly preventing the hoof from healing. Colahan said although blood vessel grafts have been done on horses, they must be anesthetized for several hours, which can endanger their

Bus rodeo underway today

From staff reports

Tri-County Transit officials think they have the crack maintenance team in the state and they plan to prove it today.

Tri-County will host the first statewide maintenance team "roadeo" in Orlando this weekend. Three-man teams from Miami. Tampa, Pinellas County, Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale and Manatee County will compete in three timed skills tests, said Tri-County spokesman Suzanne Stearns.

Steams said the Tri-County team was ranked sixth in the nation in 1989, but this is the first time an official statewide competition will be held. Winners of the competition will represent the state at a national competition in Chicago this fall, she said.

Team members are Class A mechanic Rick Chase, with Tri-County since 1984. Class A mechanic Ralph Nelson, a nine Tri-County employee. and Jerry Jenkins, a Serviceman A since 1983. All three live in Orange County.

Seminole County's new budget

Budget review begins

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Seminole County commissioners on Monday will begin their week-long review of County Manager Ron Rabun's proposed $251 million annual budget for the year beginning Oct. 1, 1991.

Rabun has proposed a 13 percent increase in spending over last year's $222.7 million budget. About 9 percent of the increase is caused by inflation and other costs needed to maintain the same levels of county services. About 4 percent of the increase, $8 million, is for new employees, equipment and programs he has recommended.

Rabun has recommended only a slight increase in last year's county tax rate for city an unincorporated residents. Last year's city rate of $5.53 per $1,000 of taxable property will increase to $5.92.

Of the 39-cent increase, 25 cents will be used to help repay $20 million in bounds that will be sold to buy environmentallysensitive lands. The remaining 14 cents is needed to help bear the added cost of 20 percent insurance increases and state and federally-mandated expenses, Rabun said.

The increase will cost the owner of a $100,000 home with a $25,000 homestead exemption $443.78, $28.71 less than last year if the property appraisal did not change. The owner of a $75,000 home with the homestead exemption will pay $295.85, $19.13 more than last year with the same house value.

Unincorporated taxes will drop slightly, so noncity residents will see an overall increase in taxes of 215 percent. Unincorporated residents pay both the countywide tax paid by city residents and unincorporated road and fire taxes. Last year's unincorporated services taxes were $3.13 per $1,000. Rabun has recommended a decrease to about $2.97.

To make up the difference and raise even more money. Rabun has proposed a utility tax that city residents now pay. The 10 percent tax would be added to electricity, local telephone service, inctered and bottled gas and water. Fuel oil would be taxed at the rate of 4 cents per gallon. The tax is expected to cost the typical household $112 per year.

County commissioners will have their stab at the budget this week prior to two public adoption hearings scheduled for September. The hearings will held Sept. 10 and 24.

County reacts to slowdown

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The continued slowdown in construction will mean Seminole County will have to freeze five vacant positions in the county's development review departments and supplement building fees with a "loan" from a proposed utility tax, said County Manager Ron

"We are still seeing a good deal of activity, but not with the larger projects that generate revenue." Rabun said. "You still have to have a certain base level and still keep the doors open. Previous staffing levels cut it way down." The county operates the Development Review

Fund to collect building, inspecilon, zoning and other fees to pay for those departments that review construction, development and code enforcement.

ments without tax support, but a slowdown in construction and a sinft to remodeling instead of new home construction has kept the county busy.

but earning less, Rabun said.

The county predicts it will take in nearly $1 million less than the $3.3 million it will take in during the current fiscal year. The largest drop, over $500,000, will be in building fees.

To continue department operations, Rabun has recommended not replacing five of the eight employees that have recently left. Last December, commissioners laid off 10 employees in an effort to reduce tax support for the departments.

County budget officials have recommended paying for 10 of the departments' employees out of other revenues, such as using federal community development grants to pay the condemnation inspector.

Even with the staff reduction and budgetary shifting. Rabun has recommended using $642,700 from the proposed 10 percent tax on electricity, local telephone service and other utilities to bail the department out for another year. Commissioners have already spent over $600,000 from property taxes during the last two years to maintain minimum levels of service.

Where will Lake Mary Rec turn?

By TONY DOSORMIER Herald Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — Just as more schools are going to be needed to meet the needs of Seminole County's growing yourn population, there's going to be a need for more youth recreational services.

In the last two years, the county has seen the birth of one new youth baseball league, the Southeast Seminole Babe Ruth League serving the Oviedo and Tuskawilla

Next year, Sanford's 10, 11 and 12-year-old program. which increased by two teams this year, will play under the auspices of Little League

For those keeping score, that gives Seminole County five Little Leagues - Sanford. Altamonte Springs (which is actually two leagues). Oviedo and Casselberry; two Pony Leagues - Seminole and West Seminole: and three Babe Ruth Leagues - Southeast Seminole, Longwood and Sanford fon the 13, 14 and 15-year-old level).

What's next? Odds are. Lake Mary will be the next community to form a youth league. According to John Holland, director of the fledgling Lake Mary Recreation Department, three youth fields will be included in the athletic complex planned for construction next year. "We're planning on constructing a sports complex next year," said Holland. "It will contain three fields geared toward youth play.

"Our projections are that we will start up a youth league once the fields are built."

It will be interesting to see what direction Lake Mary will take when that day comes. Toward that end, local representatives of national gov-See Lake Mary, Page 3B

"We're looking far down the road at the exposure it could provide Sanford," said recreation superintendent Rocky Ellingsworth. "Little League Baseball is Internationally recognized and can provide a city with national exposure."

"I'd always try to touch bases with them at the end of the season to make sure they were happy with their situation and keep our name in the hat should they want to make a change.

"We still haven't really sat down and formally discussed it (Sanford joining Little League). It's still in the preliminary stages. But it looks good for their joining us next year."

According to Ellingsworth, making the move to a national governing body is an idea that's been kicked around for a couple years. But it was felt that before Sanford | Gee Sanford, Page 3B strengthening its current leagues. This year, the 10, 11 and 12-year-old league added two more teams, bringing them up to a total of 10. Forfelts, once common, were increasingly rare exceptions.

"Sanford's leagues had the stigma of being non-calibre," said Ellingsworth. "Before we made the switch, we wanted to be sure that our teams could at least be competitive and not get embarassed."

Comfortable that those goals had been met this summer. Ellingsworth contacted Hovis.

DELAND — For Sanford Post 53. now is when the wins really matter. By sweeping Deland in a double header 11/2 and 13-8 at Conrad Park, the Sanford Post 53 Orioles (Seminole High School's summer baseball team, now 21-6) remain hopeful of carning a bye in the American Legion District Tournament. The Tournament starts next Sunday

"We needed these two wins very badly," said Sanford manager Kenne Brown. "It was a full team effort. Everybody got an opportunity to play and they put forth an excellent performance.

Sanford romped to the first game win 11-2 as Ryan Ortiz held Deland to four hits.

Sanford then scored four runs in the fourth and seventh innings to win the second game 13-8. Matt Freeman held Deland scoreless in the final four innings to pick up the save for winning pitcher Phillip King.

The pitching performances of Ortiz and Freeman may have given Sanford a glimbse of its future pitching staff. Ortiz is vying for a spot on Seminole's fall varsity pitching staff. Freeman, the team's regular catcher, might become the staff's late inning stopper.

"Ryan Ortiz pitched an excellent ball game," said Brown. "Matt

Detroit & Kansas City 3 Shupe, Kale find big fish cooperative

Last Monday. Bill Kale and I cleared the inlet at Port Canaveral at 8:30 a.m. It was late for me, but cast netting mullet for bait had been very difficult and frustrating that morning.

The seas were flat, so I pro-grammed my loran for Pelican Flats, a large reef some 22 miles offshore. The run out was smooth, and we had out baits in the water by 9:30. The ocean was exceptionally clear, so I set my downrigger at 30 feet and then put out two flat lines on the

We had barely situated ourselves before the downrigger clip snapped and the rod bent down under the weight of a strong fish. I passed the rod to Bill, and he fought the fish from the bow of my boat. The fish stayed deep and pulled hard all the way in, but finally I could make out the color of an amberlack. The fish was around 25 pounds, and they are great smoked, so it was deposited in my large fish box.

Bill and I re-rigged and once again resumed our slow trolling. In a matter of minutes another fish was putting a severe strain on the downrigger rod. This fish was a real bruiser, and it was a chore to pass Bill the bucking rod. Although Bill was wellmuscled, this fish proved to be a worthy opponent as his face reflected the strain of pulling against a seemingly immovable object. After 10 or 15 minutes of back-breaking effort, a huge amberjack between 50 and 60 pounds rose to the surface and was gaffed.

The remainder of the day was spent wildly fighting and gaffing fish. It was too calm for the fish to hit the flat lines, but the live mullet down 30 teet was too much for them to resist. We rarely went for more than 15 minutes without a strike.

When the smoke cleared, we had four king mackerel to 38 pounds, one 40-lb. cobia, and two big amberjack. This was not including scores of pesky barracuda in the 20-30 pound category.

It was one of those rare trips

when we did everything right and the fish were more than cooperative. I also received a great deal of satisfaction watching Bill catch some of the largest fish of his life. He had traveled all the way from North Carolina to fish, and it was a special thrill for me to come through for my buddy. SHUPE'S SCOOP

Whenever I go fishing. I leave as little as possible to chance. Offshore fishing is not a cheap proposition, and it also takes a great deal of effort. Why ruin a trip because of lack of planning on your part.

FISHING FORECAST Steve Gard at the Osteen Bridge Fish Camp reports only steady action with bream and catfish. This pattern will hold until cooler weather.

Sebastian Inlet has been red hot with tarpon, snook (season closed), redfish, jack crevalle and flounder. It is a real grab bag. and all of these species will hit a wide variety of live baits or lures.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports plenty of clean water and swarms of dolphin. Wahoo are also scattered in with the dolphin in 90-200 feet of water. Some king mackerel are also roaming around from 60-100 feet. Flounder are hitting inside the Port, while redfish are rated as good on the flats of the Banana and Indian Rivers.

Ponce Inlet has been flat, and anglers have been catching plenty of bluefish and sheepshead. Some angelfish and flounder are also being caught from the south jetties. Live or dead shrimp is definitely the best all around bait.

Personally, I don't care what the national program is. What I care about is what the associa-tion can do for us so that we can get the most kids to play."

Actually, players, family and fann will see little, if any, difference in the way the league is run during the regular season. It won't be until after the City won't be until after the City Champions are crowned that the full impact of being Little League-affiliated would be felt.

For starters, like most districts in Florids. District 14 runs a Top Team tournament during the month of the June to fill that gap of time between the end of the regular season and the start of the All-Star season. In the Top Team tournament, each league to represented by its individual champion,

In All-Stars. Senford will play teams from Altamonte Springs. Casselberry and Oviedo as well as representatives from Orange. Volusia and Lake counties. Should the Sanford team advance beyond the district level and have to travel, Little League mandates that leagues hosting tourn,amenta underwrite the cost of transportation and housing of participating teams.

Ellingsworth said that the switch from Florida Little Major League Baseball to the Williamsport, Pa.-based organisation will affect only the 10, 11 and 12-year-old program. The 7, 8 and 8-year-old Pee Wees will remain an unaffiliated instructional program while the 13, 14 and 15-year-old league will continue under the Babe Ruth affiliation it began this year.

Sanford's girls' softball program also enjoyed its strongest season in several years. The Little League organization appearsors play in girls' softball but again, there are no immediate plans for Sanford to make any changes.

nake any changes.

That's not to say that all of Sanford's youth programs might one day operate under one national umbrella. But Ellingsworth prefers to work on one league at a time.

"I'd rather work under one banner." said Ellingsworth. "That way, I don't have to worry about two groups fighting for players. But we're just going to worry about the 10, 11 and 12-year-old group for now."

Mary's progress. As far as Little League Baseball is concerned, the Lake Mary area would be a perfect addition to its Seminole County stable of teams, forming a bridge between its teams in the south — Altamonte Springs, Cassel-berry and Oviedo — and San-

"There are kids in Seminole County who want to play Little League Baseball but can't because they live outside our existing leagues boundaries," said Jim Hovis, administrator of Florida District 14, which includes Seminole, Orange. Volusia and Lake counties. "Hopefully, we'll get some volunteers who are interested and we'll be able to fill in that gap in the middle of the county."

Hovis explained that to maintain a semblence of parity within Little League Baseball, each league must operate within and their input has been very boundaries that encompass a important with the development population of no greater than of our complex in terms of 20,000. If the population exceeds that number, an organi-

Altamonte Springs currently operates two leagues on the Little League (9, 10, 11 and 12) and Senior League (14 and 15) levels while Oviedo has two Little Leagues.

"I don't know exactly what boundaries Sanford intends to use, but there are a lot of kids who live along Lake Mary Boulevard and in that area who live outside of our boundaries and can't play Little League Baseball." said Hovis.

For what it's worth, the Pony (which is actually an acronym for 'Protect Our Nation's Youth) Baseball League may have the inside track for setting up shop in Lake Mary.

For starters, while the Seminoie Pony League, located at the Pive Points Complex, actually sits in unincorporated Seminole County, it is loosely associated with Lake Mary because of its physical proximity.

Also, Holland said that several members of Lake Mary's Parks and Recreation Board are involved with the Seminole Pony

As far as Holland is concerned. none of that means a thing.

"As far as committing to one association or another, it's much too soon." said Holland. "Some of the members of our Parks and Recreation Board are very involved with the Pony League outfitting it for youth play.

"There had been a strong request for adult softball fields a second, independent league or couple years ago. Now pull in its boundaries. fields. But there just aren't enough youth fields. So we've altered our original plans from three adult softball fields and one baseball field to one softball field and three youth baseball fields. "We will research it (what national association to join) when the time comes and decide what will best serve our community."

Writing about learning to read

By VICKI Desona Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - To some, the notion of learning to read later in life conjures up only the idea of wide, new horizons being unlocked by the key of books.

Does learning to read mean learning to write also?

"I believe that one just naturally comes with the other," Lou Mattox, a free lance writer from Oriando said.

So. Mattox and a group of literacy experts calling themselves the Florida Literacy Coalition are looking for readers from Seminole seven other Central Florida counties to write their stories.

Harriett Little, coordinator of the literacy program at SCC, said that the methods of teaching reading that are used in her program naturally en"In the past, it has only been Mattox is organizing a contest to coincide with National Literacy Month in September in which page essays about how reading has changed their lives.

"I've had people tell me that they are thrilled to be able to read stories to their grandchildren or that they can now get a drivers license because they can read the road signs now." he said. "Amazing changes come over people when they learn how to read."

Little said she will encourage readers in her program to enter the contest.

"But, really, we don't want to emphasize that it is a contest." she said. "We don't want there functional writing, like filling out to be strong competition be-

Sciatica is a very common condition affecting people of all ages. Sciatica means a pain traveling down one or both legs in the distribution of the sciatic

The sciatic nerve is the largest nerve in the body, about the size of your thumb. It is made up of five nerves from the lower spinal cord which come together making up this large nerve.

About 80 percent of the population have back pain at some point in their adult life. Some of these people have sciatica along with the back pain causing significant change in their activity level. If back pain is severe or persists, and especially when it involves sciatica, a person should seek treatment from an orthopaedic surgeon.

The lower part of your back or the lumbar spine is the hardest working part of your spine. It carries more weight and moves more than other parts of the spine. Injuries of wear and tear to the lower vertebrae, discs and other parts of the lower spine often lead to sciatica. One must correct it as this can cause persistent and possible permanent problems. The Second Annual Benefit Banquet sponsored by the Concerned Citizens for the Good Samaritan Home, will be held Saturday, July 20, at 7 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. Donation will be $10. All proceeds benefit the Good Samaritan

The celebration of prayer, praise and Christian fellowship in music has been planned for those who care about the residents of the Good Samaritan Home, Inc. It has been a year since the plight of the residents came to light. On the verge of losing their home to back taxes, wellswishers and concerned citizens began a drive to save Good Sam. Concerned Citizens continue to do their part to keep the residents of the home happy by during whatever Christian duty dictates, you can share in this time of Christian fellowship by purchasing your tickets for the banquet, which is open to the public.

'Reaching out to others' is the motto of the Home. The late Mother Ruby Lee and Timothy "Pappy" Wilson founded the Good Samaritan Home when they began bringing food, shelter and loving care to the poor, the homeless and the aged in 1948, some 43 years ago. The home is an adult congregate living facility, state licensed and regulated by the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to provide room and board as well as personal services for its

Telitale symptoms point to alcoholism

DEAR MARY: I've been picked up a couple times for DUIs and it's causing me some problems at home and on the job. I've promised my wife I'll never drive again if I've had too much to drink because she says she'll leave me if I mess up again. The Employee Assistance guy at work says I need to look into AA. Isn't that a group for drunks who can't hold a job and have lost everything? I'm sure not in that situation: I'm not even convinced that booze is a problem.

What do you know about these AA groups?

DEAR NA: Before we talk abut AA (Alcoholics Anonymous), let's look at the disease of alcoholism. No one can tell another that (s)he is an alcoholic; the admission has to come from the facts we know about ourselves. There are no hard rules for determining alcoholism but there certainly are telltale symptoms. If you get drunk when you have good reason to stay sober; if your consumption is becoming progressively greater and if it's no longer as much fun to drink as it once was - these are symptoms of alcoholism. If alcohol is interfering with your normal living, you may wish to seek help through AA. AA group members are united by the problems caused by alcohol and they find that by meeting and supporting each other they are able to say sober and lose their compulsion to drink. AA recovery programs work for almost any person who wants it to work, regardless of what the person's particular drinking pattern may have been. There are no dues or fees of any kind at AA meetings; no one is required to ollow any required ritual or pattern of living, and they are not allied with any other group or religious denomination. They do not recruit new members and have no "mission" to dry up the world.

The son of June and Rick Martin of Sanford, and a 1976 graduate of Auburn University in Auburn. Ala., Martin flew 43 strikes against Iraq as a pilot assigned to Attack Squadron 145 (VA-145). He and his squadron flew in with the first air strike launched in the Persian Gulf War "at the tip of the sword."

"I dropped over 70 tons of ordnance on that morning." recalls Martin. "My B/N (bombardler navigator) and I were responsible for the destruction of a silkworm missile site, and several tanks as well as conducting a great number of attacks on fortified Iraqi positions in both Kuwait and Iraq." the pilot explains.

Strock, Lawrence wed in Sanford ceremony

SANFORD - Kandace Lyn Strock and James Cameron Lawrence Jr. were married June 1, 1991, 10 a.m., in the Gazebo, Centennial Park, Park Ave., Sanford.

A friend of the bride, Notary, Robert W. Simone of Orlando. performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of John Charles Strock, Painesville, Ohio and Marlene Louise Stumpf-Reineck. Oakwood. Ohio. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. James (Peggy) Cameron Lawrence Sr. of Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white, two-piece satin and lace suit. The street-length. flared skirt featured a Basque waistline with a white lace overlay on satin at the top. The double-breasted jacket featured a v-neck cut of white satin and lace overlay with flattened satin double bows on each shoulder. The Gibson sleeves were "peck-a-boo" white lace. Her tlara style headpiece was made of white silk flowers and seed pearls. The bride carried a handmade bouquet of her design. The bouquet featured silk flowers of lavender and white zinnias, mums and miniature roses. Baby's breath was interspersed with lavender, white, aqua and teal green lace and silk ribbon.

Matron of honor was Kelly O'Keefe Cefalo of Arcadia. She dress of lavender summer sheen Melissa Prather of Orlando served as bridesmaid.

Best man was uncle of the bridegroom, Cozart Collier Smith Jr. of Atlanta, Ga.

Flower girls were Amy Ruth Elizabeth Strock, 11, sister of the bride. Painesville. Ohio: Deborah Danielle Crawford, 514, niece of the bride, Eustis; and Kaleigh Cefalo, 21/2, matron of honor's daughter. Arcadia.

Ring bearer was Christopher John Crawford, 21/2, nephew of the bride.

A brunch and wedding cake reception was held at the Sanford home of the groom's stater. Janie Lawrence.

The couple met at and attend the Orlando Christian Center where Benny Hinn is pastor.

The bridegroom was born June 1, 1959 in Sanford where he has lived his entire life. He is presently serving on the Board of Commissioners for the Seminole County Historical Society. He is employed with Central Locating Services in Altamonte Springs as cable locator.

The bride was born May 14. 1956 in Cleveland. Ohio and grew up in Painesville, a small township on Lake Eric. She has experience in the fields of chiropractic and sports medicine as physical therapist and athletic trainer. She will be seeking employment in those areas and intends to pursue a career in art illustration.

Ecstasy, sweetness fill 70 years

When Jacob and Edith Tegreeny exchanged their "I do's" on June 16, 1921 in Lakewood, Ohio, the ecutary and sweetness of the day were all that mattered. The ple dreamed of a lifetime together but not necessarily 70 years. And who ever heard of Sanford. Florida at that time?

On June 16, Jacob and Edith were honored at a reception at Howell Place where they have made their home since March, 91-year-old Jacob said, "It's beautiful," he added.

About 50 family members and Howell Place residents were on hand to wish the couple "Happy anniversary." The reception area featured a display of the couple's wedding photographs complete with family pictures through the years including Edith's baby book. Balloons and colorful streamers added a festive air to the decor as well as arrangements of roses and rubrum lilies.

A large tiered anniversary cake and a decorated sheet cake were served the guests along with punch and other party fare.

The Tegreenys moved to Cocoa Beach from Cleveland, Ohio in 1955. He was employed by the City of Cleveland as a street car conductor and later a bus driver when buses replaced the trolleys.

Why did the couple choose Florida as their retirement haven? "Because of the sunshine," Jacob explained. Too young to retire though, after arriving in Cocoa, Jacob worked as a grocery stock clerk and later for the U.S. Postal Services where he was a cierk and a carrier.

After living 13 years in Cocoa Beach, Jacob and Edith bought a home in Ft. Lauderdale where they lived until this year when they moved to Howell Place. At the time, a son lived in the area which is what attracted them to Sanford.

They are the parents of three children: Jean R. Keller, Kansas City, Kan.; Jack Tegreeny, Edgewater; and William Tegreeny, Ft. Lauderdale. There are 12 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

As spry as a man half his age, Jacob walks daily and makes sure to catch the daily news on television. In years past, he enjoyed hunting and fishing. He has been a member of the Masonic lodge for 46 years.

And, at his age, Jacob says he enlovs cooking. "I like my own cooking." he chuckled. Seven years ago when Edith had triple bypass surgery, he pitched in to help with the household chores to discover the

Two couples entertained at a banquet in celebration of their 50th wedding anniversaries. Herman and Dorothy enjoyed the usual reunion festivities including a brunch, banquet and "farewell breakfast" the next day when they said their goodbyes and, "We'll see you again in 1996."

There was also a candlelight memorial ceremony for deceased members of the class which impressed Herman.

On the Sunday following the reunion, Herman and Dorothy drove her sister's car to southwest Minnesota to visit cousins and an uncle. Some of the cousins are still farming with one cousin farming over 1,000

While they were there, they celebrated the birthday of Dorothy's 91-year-old uncle who is in a nursing facility.

The Schroeders had a wonderful time except for the heat. "It was so hot," Dorothy said. Herman added, "It was so hot that the popcorn was popping in the field."

The birthday celebration in honor of "a mother among mothers" was the title of the celebration for Nellie Mae Hawkins Smith. This observance was held on Friday evening at the Sanford Civic Center, June 28 when Reggie, Stanley, Felix, Marlowe, Vincent and Chris expressed their love and appreciation to their mother, for sharing her life with them.

Their tribute: "Nellie - a noble Christian, an earnest friend, a loving companion, the strongest link, an ideal worker, and eloquent lady." This lady has been a mother who has been a God-given mother. She shares her hopes, plans, dreams. She is a sharer of their joys when they come. The boys said "that you are their counselor, listener, advisor, booster, helper, and most of all, their best friend." "Mother, you have this gift of caring, and rendering that special and meaningful touch that gives sparkle to life; you give faith and strength which is your constant anchor in the storm." True beauty is given by this lady who enriches the lives of the Smith family and brings the consciousness of a family unity in God.

A special tribute selection written by her son, the Rev. Marlowe F. Smith, titled, "We Love You, Mama" was sung by sons Marlowe and Vincent. A part of the honoree's celebration were guests the Rev. M.B. Fernander (Mrs. Smith's pastor); Deacon Joseph Jackson, Rozella Fields; her sister, Emily Hawkins Williams, and as a grandmother, her granddaughter, Regina Smith.
