'Good Chance'

Schirra Ready

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A break in threatening weather today gave man-in-space officials what they called a "good chance" of sending astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. into space Wednesday as planned.

SEMINOLE TIMING ASSOCIATION, represented by secretary and treasurer Gene Smith, presents a check for $665.17 to the Seminole County Juvenile Council, represented by treasurer, Kenneth McIntosh. The check is net proceeds of the drag race held Saturday at Osceola Drag Strip. (Herald Photo)

The county had constructed a driveway from the jail to the county judge's chambers in the courthouse. "Don't want the prisoners tracking in mud," said Judge Vernon Mize when we asked him about it.

That now famous "Shaggy Dog" case will come to court Friday afternoon but Ken McIntosh won't be the judge. Ken ruled himself out and the city will pay Albert Fitts to sit in as mediator. . . . O yes, at a fee of $25.

The annual Muscular Dystrophy Drive will be getting underway shortly with a meeting for committee chairmen to map out this year's plans with Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr., campaign chairman for the county.

County Engineer Bill Bush submitted a $223,000 road priority list. . . . The only catch . . . only some $100,000 had been appropriated for road work . . .

The Oviedo Town Council meeting last night was a gay affair. In a strictly business-like sort of way, that is. The council celebrated Chairman Ben Ward's birthday by discussing street lighting, road patching, etc., etc. But that cake — wow! Made by Ben's wife, Colleen, it was a delicious bit of pastry.

Word has it that there is going to be a bit of fireworks at the North Orlando council meeting tonight. We heard some resignations are going to be demanded. That sort of thing always makes for a rousing meeting.

A whole galaxy of new stars are being imported for the upcoming fall season at the local palace in Fern Park. Included are the two rival claimants for the singles championship of Italy and a young whiz from Spain. The Fronton opens on Nov. 1 for its second season.

Tonight's the night the Board of Adjustment hopes to get the Maitland-Clayton Realty hassle settled and the new disposal plant for the south-end more or less on the way. The meeting is set for the County Commission chambers at 7:30 p.m.

Just for the record . . . In the past it used to cost some $200 to hold a city election. . . . Now with the joint city-county vote registration the initial cost will be . . . $1,016.

Mayor J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps Monday asked for a "slow down" on condemning buildings . . .

Doops . . . That was E. J. Moughton Jr. and not Jr. as we reported in a correction of a correction yesterday.

A North Orlando parent told us the other evening that the bus that carries his children to school was loaded with 117 kids every day. Supt. Milwee checked it out and the biggest load that bus — No. 63 — can carry is 88, and with the anticipated 4-6 percent absent usually carries from 77 to 83 children. Today it unloaded 79 at the Longwood school and promptly left for another trip.

City Okays Hunt Project

The City will install some $67,000 worth of utility lines into the proposed new Hunt industrial area by the end of this month, City Manager W. E. Knowles said today.

Knowles said bids on the lines should be opened by Oct. 19 after the City Commission Monday night authorized Knowles to proceed with advertising for the sewer and water line materials.

The commission Monday night agreed to go ahead with the project with the County saying they would "cooperate every way possible in the venture."

The sewer line materials total has been estimated at $44,000 while water lines total $23,000.

"This is the greatest step we can take," Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said after the board's action.

In other business during the meeting, commissioners authorized Knowles to proceed with an application to the House and Home Finance Agency for planning funds for the establishment of a port authority here.

3 Anti-Castro Rebels Killed

HAVANA (UPI) — Three opponents of Fidel Castro were killed and seven captured in a battle with government troops, the newspaper El Mundo reported today.

The dispatch said the rebels were surrounded by army and militia forces near the town of Yaguajay in Las Villas province.

This latest British assessment is backed indirectly by a recent Soviet publication dealing with nuclear strategy.

A military study published in Meshdunardnaya Shism International Affairs earlier this year plainly stated that military strategy will favor a blow against such targets whose destruction will paralyze the enemy almost instantly.

Veteran Actor Dead At 48

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank Lovejoy, 48, a veteran actor of stage, screen and television, died early today at the Hotel Warwick.

The word on the more favorable forecasts came shortly after technicians loaded Schirra's silver Atlas rocket with 6,000 pounds of rocket fuel.

Project Mercury officials said that tropical storm Daisy, which had posed a major menace, took an abrupt turn which apparently cleared nearly all the planned emergency landing areas in the Atlantic Ocean.

"You can call this a break for us," one elated official said. "Things look good for a launch Wednesday morning."

Officials said the fueling of the Atlas booster rocket — one of the last key steps before beginning the eight-hour countdown — went off without a hitch.

Astronaut Schirra himself ran through a late-hour engineering review with scientists as man, machine and weather were reported ready for the launch between 7 and 9 a. m.

Mercury chiefs said the only possible threat that Daisy now posed was to the emergency landing area at the end of orbit No. 2 southeast of Bermuda.

The weather forecast for that point was called "marginal." Technicians early today sent tons of kerosene flowing into the tanks of the Atlas, marking a key step in the late-hour preparations. The fueling was completed before 9 a. m.

Planning Group Hears Problems Sets Study

Members of the Courthouse Committee, meeting to decide on whether or not to build a new county home, and also to decide where to house the coming county administrative side, secretary and bookkeeper, came to no decisions at Monday's meeting.

Under the chairmanship of J. Van Hoy, the group questioned Mrs. Abby Boyd, county welfare director and County Commissioner Ted Williams for nearly two hours, trying to "get the picture" of county home facilities and problems as they now exist.

In the closing minutes of the session, Zoning Director Robert Brown presented the problem of offices for administrative aide but the committee, already running overtime declined to take up that matter until the next meeting, which is scheduled for 8 p. m. Monday at the County Commission chambers.

Committee members meeting included H.B. Pope, J.O. Gregory, Ford Cavanaugh, Roy Britt and Andrew Carraway.

Hits Government
JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Gov. Ross Barnett Monday night accused the federal government of provoking riots at the University of Mississippi campus. He said bloodshed would end only when Negro James H. Meredith is withdrawn.

Foreign Aid Bill Nears OK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration forces today narrowly beat down a final effort to trim the Senate's $4.4 billion foreign aid money bill and moved the measure toward final action without change.

The last minute test came on an effort by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, (R-S.D.), to trim $125 million from the $1.125 billion provided for development loans to underdeveloped nations. It was defeated 40-38.

Oxford Front All Quiet; Meredith Attending Class

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Negro James Meredith began his second day of classes today at a University of Mississippi campus tightly guarded by 15,000 U. S. troops. There were no incidents.

The 29-year-old Negro was accompanied by Chief U. S. Marshal James McInnes and a number of other officers. To reach the graduate school building for his 8 a. m. class in American colonial history he was driven past the debris of Sunday night rioting that left two dead, 75 injured and more than 200 arrested.

SEASON ENTERTAINMENT TICKETS for the Sanford-DeBary Entertainment series went on sale Monday night at the kick-off dinner of the board of directors, held at the SHS cafeteria. First show will be Oct. 25 and memberships will only be on sale from now until Oct. 10. From left are booking agent Bob Young; publicity director, Mrs. Bob Drabik; President Don Bales and membership sales chairman, Mrs. Ralph A. Smith. (Herald Photo)

Although the campus was quiet, there were reminders that it was the armed might of the federal government that kept it so.

During the night 37 persons armed with shotguns, baseball bats and lead pipes were arrested at some of the numerous roadblocks around the city. A machete was found in one car.

Those arrested were taken to the airport and placed in a compound.

The campus was anything but a typical college scene. Besides the litter, including burned-out automobiles and mounds of tear gas canisters, soldiers with rifles and combat fatigue uniforms lounged where crowds normally stroll.

Many of the crowds were not around today. Many of them were taken from the campus by anxious parents.

A professor who came early to his lecture in the graduate school building turned and stared almost in disbelief to see the military equipment parked outside the building. Troops were obviously ready to put down in a moment any outbreak.

Downtown, the college lawn of Oxford also was tightly guarded by armed troops. Soldiers slept overnight on the courthouse lawn in sleeping bags, and "patrols" were set on a hill overlooking the airport highway. Cars were stopped in a search for arms and drivers who didn't stop immediately were brought up short with a sharp command to "halt!"

Students at the university appeared to be attempting to ignore what was going on, but it took determination on a campus that was an armed camp. There was little laughing and bantering.

One crowd rushed Monday from a class with Meredith, tears streaming down her face, screaming: "I can't stand it any more!"

During the early morning hours a campfire flickered on the campus as soldiers tried to keep warm in the chill air — much as Yankee soldiers burned campfires on Southern lawns 100 years ago.

Cleveland Says Pork Chop Attitude On Apportion Silly

State Representative Mack Cleveland Jr. Monday night referred to the Pork Chop Bill's attitude on reapportionment issue as "ridiculous" and said that even though there are parts of the present bill he himself does not condone, he does believe it to be "the best we can do at this time."

Speaking before the Forest City Community Assn., he went on to explain that in his opinion time will work out many of the problems included in the present bill and urged the people to support it in November.

He pointed out that it will provide additional representation which has been sought for the past seven years and that if the voters didn't put through their own desires at this time, the courts would "step in and do the reapportioning for us."

If the bill passes, it will be in effect until 1971 after which time reapportionment will be made every 10 years on a population basis.

Cleveland said that he was not altogether in favor of this method since he does not believe that population in itself should be a governing factor.

In answer to questions, he said that he doubted very much that our legislative bodies had been acting "illegally" because of insufficient representation and that it is untrue that smaller counties have ever been discriminated against.

Oviedo Council Talks 'Water'

Oviedo's long planned municipal water system was the big subject at the town council meeting Monday night, as the council members made plans to set up meetings with at least two more engineering firms before making a selection of a firm to do the job.

The councilmen felt a selection should be made soon because of the necessity of having an engineer fill out the application for funds from the Home and Housing Finance Agency. This has to be done before the agency will consider granting funds for a feasibility report by the selected engineering firm.

It was also decided to designate the intersection of south Lake Jessup Ave., and Clark St., a four-way stop and Mayor Lee Gary said stop signs would be erected as soon as possible.

ARTHUR BECKWITH has been named chairman of the United Fund Drive, Loring Burgess, UF President announced today. The campaign will be held from Oct. 23 to Nov. 1, with a budget of $38,000 set for the eight participating agencies. Beckwith said he was "very optimistic" that the drive will reach the goal this year.

Sportsmen Pledge Enforcement Ruling On Dove Hunting Promised

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission promised Monday night to make a decision this week on whether to allow dove hunting on lands southeast of Sanford or make that area a bird sanctuary.

Carl Frye, assistant director of the commission, headed a group of the agency's members who heard pros and cons on a petition to close the lands to hunting by official act of the state.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby said today any person who discharges firearms on a paved road, highway or street shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding six months or by fine not exceeding $500 or both.

Property owners who filed the petition and got the County Commission to request the closure of the lands to shooting appeared to speak. They had listed 276 names on their petition.

When a vote was asked as one guideline to the game commission's ruling, the landowners in the area involved were divided, however, with 16 voting to close it and 10 in favor of allowing hunting. An overwhelming majority of people present at the courthouse meeting said they are in favor of allowing hunting and the Seminole County Sportsman's Assn. offered to assist in enforcing all laws necessary to protect the rights of property owners.

Edward McCall, president of the sportsmen, said that "99 out of 100 hunters feel strongly about enforcing the law" and told the property owners "whether the land is closed or not, you still will have some visitors" during hunting season.

"A bird sanctuary is not the answer to the problem," McCall said.

There was general agreement that law enforcement was the prime factor in protecting the privacy and property of the land owners.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby said the shooting season creates a manpower problem for his department, but said "there are plenty of laws covering the use of firearms already on the books if everyone will cooperate against violators."

"It's a simple matter of law enforcement and will be easier to keep people from shooting houses than from shooting doves," G. A. Speer Jr., a spokesman for the sportsmen, said.

Speer estimated that only three percent of the 5,300 acres in question is posted, but this was refuted by freeholders, who said that posted signs frequently are shot down by hunters.

McCall, Speer and other members of the Sportsman's Assn. pledged an all-out effort to assist the sheriff and landowners in protecting property and disciplining violators if the lands are left open.

L. M. Koons, who led the petitioners' presentation of their opposition to hunting, cited a list of occasions when people and property had been hurt by careless shooting. He and other residents of the area on Pineway Ave., Cameron City, Beardall Ave. and Speer Ave. listed times when shot hit their homes, cars, and livestock and frightened children at play and even struck one man a glancing blow on the head.

"There is a lot of drinking among the hunters who come out our way and a lot of wild shooting," Koons said. "We're not mad at the sportsmen, we just want to be left alone."

The area involved is open to dove shooting unless the Game Commission rules to close it. The hunting season for doves opens at noon Saturday.

Never 'Fired' Shots-Marshalls

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — A government spokesman said today that U.S. marshals never fired a single shot into a rioting crowd at the University of Mississippi Sunday night.

Numerous vague and general charges have been sweeping this university town that marshals opened fire on students and other demonstrators with shotguns, rifle and pistols.

Nicholas Katzenbach, assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, told reporters that at the height of the rioting marshals asked their superiors for permission to use their sidearms in retaliation. He said the answer was "no" and that the hard-pressed marshals used nothing but tear gas throughout.

An arsenal of more than 40 shotguns, rifles, ammunition, daggers, hunting knives, switchblades, knives, blackjacks and one sly weapon made by welding a one-inch auger bit to a six-foot length of pipe was confiscated from the riot crowd.

Katzenbach said many of those who gave up weapons told officers that "this is the first day of the squirrel season and we were going hunting."

Sanford RA's Camp In Forest

Four charter members of the Sanford Chapter of the Boy Scouts of America, including the founder, are participating in the first camp of the year, which is being held at the Ocala National Forest.

This first camping experience for those of the four boys brought plenty of excitement for the group, including the regular activities held at the camp, such as the campfire, and on Friday night and most of Saturday in the woods. During the time the RA's were there, they saw the lake and many smaller wild animals and game.

The RA's, only recently reorganized at the Sanford Chapter, is a non-denominational group and is open to all boys between the ages of 11 and 17 years.

Ray, who in addition to serving as counselor for the 16-year-old boys, is co-counselor.

One of the main purposes of the entire program which already has chapters in operation for groups from nine through 15 years of age.

The Brooks Chapter meets every Saturday at 9 a.m. at the church and new members will be welcomed.

ROYAL AMBASSADORS of the Brooks Chapter at the First Baptist Church of Sanford add a last minute collection of food and gear to that already packed before leaving Friday afternoon for a weekend in the wilds of the Ocala National Forest. Making the camp with Counselor Troy Ray were, from left, Clark Stapler, Scott Kirk, Harley Sikes and Wade Singletary, all charter members of the chapter.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've heard of men having sympathetic labor pains, but listen to this: I am 55, am going through "the change," and my husband is having hot flashes. It's no joke. He gets so warm the perspiration drips off his face. He doesn't think a doctor can do anything for him so he won't go to see one. Have you ever heard of anything like this before? Can he be helped or will he just look foolish if he goes to a doctor for an examination?

HOT FLASHES
DEAR HOT: Your husband should see a doctor. Make an appointment and let him sweat out the examination.

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits behind me in History gave me a note to pass to the girl who sits in front of me. Before I could pass it to her, the teacher grabbed it. She read it to herself and her glasses fell off. I don't know what the note said but it must have been pretty awful. Now I have to stay after school every night this week. Do you think it is fair to punish me for something I had nothing to do with?

MISS IN THE MIDDLE
DEAR IN: You know that note passing was against the rules. But I would disassociate myself with the contents of that note. That's only being fair to yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Here is a mess if you ever saw one. I am married and have a family. Two years ago I became involved with a married woman 15 years younger than myself. She offered to leave her husband if I'd leave my wife. I said, "Maybe." On the strength of that "maybe" she divorced her husband. I quickly realized that my wife and children meant more to me than my girl friend. Also, the financial beating I'd take wasn't worth it. I now feel morally obligated to marry this girl who broke up her home for me. I love my wife and don't want a divorce. I'm torn between two women and am obligated to both. Any advice for—

A LOUSE
DEAR LOUSE: Your first obligation is to your spouse, Louse. As for the girl who gambled and bet, she'll remain on your conscience as the price of your folly.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letters from mothers bragging about the remarkable abilities of their children. Some walked at 7 months, some talked at a year and some did The Twist at 14 months. I am proud of my child, too. She can walk up and down stairs, can write and tell me what she wants. Other children her age can do this, too—but mine happens to be deaf, dumb and blind. God has given her the greatest gift of all. Faith, love and understanding.

Casselberry Men Attend Conference

By Jess Casselberry
 The Casselberry Community Methodist Church Men's Club was represented at the Florida Methodist Men's Conference held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Methodist Youth Camp near Leesburg.

Those attending the inspirational weekend were Rev. Delmas Copeland, Marvin McGinnis, local lay leader; Henry Duncan, Burbon Ferrell, Bill Shook, Finney Haynes, Darwin Shea, Virgil Grubb and Leonard Casselberry.

The group present heard talks by such outstanding speakers as Bishop James W. Henley and Bishop Eugene M. Frank as well as from many other prominent ministers and laymen. They attended workshops on many topics of interest to Christian laymen.

One of the spiritual highlights of the weekend was a Sunrise Communion Service held Sunday morning in the lakefront chapel.

Several of the men reported on their experiences at the conference during the Sunday evening worship service at the Casselberry Church.

Court To Swear In Goldberg

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court meets briefly today to formally open its 1962-63 term and swear in Arthur J. Goldberg as an associate justice.

President Kennedy planned to attend the opening session to witness the seating of Goldberg, 54, former labor secretary whom he appointed to the high court Aug. 30 to succeed Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Democrats Plan Supper In DeBarry

Invitations have been sent to Volusia County Sheriff Rodney B. Thursday, District Four County Commissioner Ed Snodgrass and School Board candidate J. Boyd DeLoach. Also invited are James H. Sweeney and Mrs. Ella T. Berard State Democratic Executive Committee members.

Chairman of the dinner committee is Mrs. Francina Howard and assisting her will be Mrs. Evelyn Daich, Leona Oddy, Mrs. Anna VM, and Mrs. Gerstentek.

Those planning to attend are requested to bring their own table service.

Reception Honors New Minister

By James Casselberry
 Rev. and Mrs. Delmas Copeland and young son, Matt, were honored at a reception held for the new minister and his family, Sunday afternoon from 3 p. m. until 4 p. m. in Weaver Hall of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served and the Hall was decorated with lovely floral arrangements.

Mrs. John Birkheimer, chairman of the committee planning the affair, was assisted by Mrs. Kay Fisher, Mrs. William Tilford, Mrs. E. P. Richards, Mrs. Paul Engstrom, Mrs. John Weir, and Mrs. Effie Thompson.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

If East plays the ace of spades at trick one and continues the suit South will take his king, enter dummy with the jack of hearts, lead the queen of clubs which will be allowed to hold the trick and cash the ace, king and queen of hearts.

East will have to make three discards. One will be a diamond and the other two must be spades. Now South will be able to make his contract by playing ace and one diamond from dummy. East will cash his last two spades, and that's all.

When New York expert Morton Rubinvon held the East cards he found an unusual third hand play to beat would hold the king of spades. His play disclosed that West held the jack, and it also made it impossible for South to make the hand.

South entered dummy with the jack of hearts and led the queen of clubs. Morfy did not cover. This would give South a club finesse against West's ten.

Then South cashed his three high hearts while Morfy discarded a diamond and two spades. The ace and a small diamond followed. In the lead, Morfy played the ten of spades. West took the trick with the jack, cashed the ten of hearts and led another spade to Morfy to give the defense five tricks.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Any woman who has ever belonged to a woman's organization (and what woman hasn't!) knows that—

If you speak up in meeting you're likely to end up by heading a committee.

If you aren't present at the meeting when officers are elected you run the risk of being made treasurer—the job women hate the most.

If you move that refreshments be done away with, you'll be regarded as subversive.

If you have the temerity to suggest that each member give a dollar, instead of raising money by a banner, bake sale, silver tea, or benefit bridge, you'll be voted down in short order.

If you find the speaker boring, you just put an interested look on your face and set your mind free to planning a week's menu, or mentally rearranging the living room.

If you suggest increasing the dues as the simplest way of meeting the budget and the question comes up for discussion, there will be plenty of it—all negative.

Quash Ruling, Jimenez Asks

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The former dictator president of Venezuela was scheduled to ask the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today to quash a lower court ruling which could send him back to South America.

Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez was ousted as president of Venezuela by a military junta in 1958. Since then the present government of that country has been trying to have Perez Jimenez returned from the United States to stand trial.

TV Previews

7:30-8:30 p. m. NBC Laramie. "War Hero" (color) Lloyd Nolan takes charge tonight as a Union Army hero who is campaigning for the presidency. As usual, he does a fine job, especially when facing the guns of killers hired to make sure he doesn't reach his political goal. Robert Fuller, Spring Byington, John Smith and Dennis Holmes star.

7:30-8:30 p. m. ABC Comedian "Forgotten Front." Premiers. There's just enough humor in this series to keep it from being too grim. Only time will tell if women viewers especially will favor weekly reprises of World War II. Action is fairly realistic as an American patrol finds itself in a dilemma, and a harmless-appearing German captive may have to be executed on the spot. Series stars Rick Jason, as Lt. Gil Hanley, and Vic Morrow, as Sgt. Chip Saunders. Both are impressively good. Regularly on hand as costarring comedy relief is Sheeky Green, as private Braddock.

8:30-9:30 p. m. CBS. The Red Skelton Hour. Quite a lively and entertaining hour with guest stars Phil Harris and Juliet Prowse. Juliet's ballet to the music of "A Walk on the Wild Side" is a high spot. But nobody steals the show from Red Skelton, who dominates the hour with a funny pantomime of a name-conscious western movie star, and in a circus sketch with Miss Prowse and Harris, makes biggest laughs with his Clem Kaddisbeoper character.

with ... Dollie Higginbotham

DELIGHTFUL is the word for the attractive changes in hospital decor, which Administrator Bob Besserer has accomplished with drapes, brick, and the revolutionary use of sheets and pillowcases printed with gay yellow roses and others in a cool refreshing shade of green.

The warm beige and brown of the administration wing hall, highlighted by brick around the doors, changes the whole atmosphere. And the lovely printed draw drapes in every room just make all the difference in the world.

Mr. Besserer is a man who is not bound by convention and is not afraid to be different. He has carried out the warmth and friendliness of his own personality in making the hospital a warm and friendly place. Vive la difference! as they say in French!

BOB BESSERER

THE CORNEA OF THE EYE is something like the windshield of your car. It is a transparent covering over the iris and pupil through which light enters.

If this "windshield" is scratched or damaged, or becomes clouded, you will not be able to see. Today there are an estimated 80,000 persons in the U. S. who cannot see for this reason.

After a century and a half of research, a miraculous discovery was made. It is possible to remove this damaged "windshield," replace it with the cornea of a dead person, and bring sight to the blind.

Since 1944 and a nucleus of ten doctors who could perform this surgical miracle, now hundreds of doctors have become surgeons qualified to perform this operation.

All those 30,000 persons need is the freely given pledge of a donor, who is willing to give their eyes, after death, that a living person may see.

What greater gift can you give, than the gift of sight? Recently a 42 year old musical evangelist, Orion Osborn, received that gift of sight after 28 years. (He was blinded by medicine wrongly put into his eye when he was 14 years old.)

Nevertheless, the Dade City boy attended Stetson University where his organ playing earned him a measure of fame throughout Central Florida during his years there. Now he serves as a traveling musical evangelist, for the Church of the Nazarene throughout the state.

For the first time, he is able to see his wife and children, television, music, audiences, and all the amazing forward strides of science accomplished in the last 28 years.

Here in Sanford, a former resident of Plainfield, N. J., Mrs. Frank Woodruff of DeBary, is mainly responsible for the establishment of SHEBA the eye bank at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

She became interested in the Eye Bank in New Jersey, but at the time she came to Florida she realized that the Eye Bank in New York was too far away.

Several months ago she heard about the Eye Bank that was being established in DeLand by the Pink Ladies there. Mrs. Woodruff, accompanied by her husband set out immediately to get information from the DeLand group.

"If the DeLand Pink Ladies could do it, why not the Sanford-DeBary Pink Ladies," reasoned Mrs. Woodruff, and went to work at once to propose the project to the "chain of command."

The idea was received enthusiastically by Hospital Auxiliary President Mrs. C. E. Butler, Hospital Administrator Robert Besserer, hospital trustees, and the Sanford Lions, whose work with the blind is their main project. Dr. Dick Dougherty, optometrist, a member of the Lions Club was also enthusiastic, and everyone began to work together toward the common goal.

Another Pink Lady, Mrs. John Rayfuse of DeBary, became greatly interested in the Eye Bank and has been the most successful volunteer in "selling the idea of donating their eyes to many of the people who have signed the pledge. Mrs. M. R. Strickland was also appointed to the committee.

Into the midst of this, but unaware of the plans already formulated for an Eye Bank, came young Dr. Elnsey Katz, to fill the county's need for an ophthalmologist, unfilled since the death of the late Dr. Dan Mathers.

"The establishment of an Eye Bank here was my dearest dream," said Dr. Katz, "and to find it already nearly complete was fantastic and wonderful."

And only a few weeks after the formal establishment of the Eye Bank, the first pair of eyes from a donor in this area were sped on their way to bring sight to someone in an operation performed at the J. Hillis Miller Medical Center at Gainesville, following the death of a DeBary citizen, William Hibbard.

"I have never had a greater thrill in my life, than when I handed that container to the Highway Patrolman, knowing that in a few hours some blind person would be able to see, perhaps for the first time!" exclaimed Mrs. Woodruff.

There are only six branch Eye Banks in Florida, in the cities of Clearwater, DeLand, Jacksonville, Tallahassee, Sanford and Gainesville. The Florida Eye Bank for Restoring Sight, Inc., which is located at the University of Florida was founded by the Lions Clubs of North Florida in cooperation with the University of Florida.

The vitally interesting color film, "Boy With the Blindfold" which tells the story of how the Eye Bank and the corneal transplant works is being shown to several clubs and organizations this week. Florida Eye Bank Week.

You may see this film at the Mayfair Inn ballroom Wednesday at 8 p.m. where all your questions will be answered and pledge cards will be available with members of the local eye bank, SHEBA, on hand to answer any further questions.

The Waldrops are leaving soon to make their home in Tucson, Ariz., and made the trip to say goodbye to members of the family.

They made a sort of progressive visit, starting with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stemper and daughters, Carol and Sberrel. They had dinner with them and stayed overnight. The next night they visited Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stinesciper and Grace Marie.

The last visit was with Mr. and Mrs. Herman E. Morris at the MQ Ranch in Osteen. They enjoyed a day of riding, swimming and sightseeing and good ranch food. The day was climaxed with a steak fry and all the trimmings. Others attending were the Sanford relatives, the Jack Stempers, Stinescipers, Mr. and Mrs. William Stemper and son, Bill, and the Morris' son, Ernie, his wife and children.

Following the steak fry the group visited and sang old familiar songs, accompanied by Victor Knight on his guitar.

Final plans are announced for the wedding of Miss Priscilla E. Nixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Nixon, and Kenneth M. Hosack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hosack.

The ceremony will take place Oct. 12 at 8 p.m. at the Osteen Baptist Church in Osteen with Rev. Trammel Kilpatrick officiating. Don Lingle will be soloist with Mrs. Clarence Snyder, organist.

Miss Jane Nixon, sister of the bride-elect, will be maid of honor and Richard Brooks will be best man. Ushers are Larry Hirt and John Paterson.

Invitations have not been issued but all friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Following the ceremony a reception will be held in the auditorium of the Osteen School.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Morris attended the Florida-Georgia Tech football game in Gainesville, Saturday.

Mrs. Eli Yoder, president, announced that Mrs. Preston McBean will be in charge of a card party and fashion show, Oct. 4. The Civic and International Department will meet Oct. 15. Other programs planned include a mixed concert Nov. 13 and a Christmas program by the DeBary Chorists.

Mrs. Frank Woodruff told of the activities of the eye bank and stated that anyone who is interested in signing for the eye bank should contact Mrs. John Rafuse.

Three guests were welcomed by the club. They were Mrs. Margaret Pfister, Mrs. D. Zimmerman and Miss Theresa Kupeck. Refreshments were served during the social hour by Mrs. James Duffy and her committee, Mmes. H. V. Shonk, Frank Stoney, Fred Hinkley, William Fidler and George Croake.

Sorority Honors Rushees At Party

An "Ice Breaker" party was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Brown in Park Ridge, honoring the rushees of Gamma Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Rushees present were Mrs. Billy Wynn, Mrs. Banks Golden, Mrs. Jack Bell and a transfer member from Texas, Mrs. James Dougherty.

Mrs. Gill Daigle was co-hostess and as each guest arrived a comic strip character's name was pinned on her back. Later the guests had to guess who they were by asking questions about the character on their back. Mrs. Bell was the winner when she guessed that she was "Little Orphan Annie."

The next game tested the memory of those present. A tray with 25 different articles was passed around. After they had all had a good long look, they wrote down all of the various articles that they could remember. Mrs. Bell won this contest also.

The hostess passed a large box around with an unknown article inside. The clue given was "fill it up and you'll have plenty." After many guesses failed, Mrs. Charles Kampf won the game by guessing the

Hospital Plaudits

The newly completed addition to the Sanford Memorial Hospital serves the needs of all. The completion of the work of Sanford County for added hospital space and service, in a reconstruction of the old building, has been a landmark in the history of the hospital from its original inception.

It is also gratifying to know that the plan in the addition completed that the hospital's board of directors are hard at work with their planning for completion of the third floor.

The new addition has raised the capacity of the hospital from 75 beds to 100, with disaster capacity of 150.

The work of A. E. Peterson Jr., and his dedicated board is far from finished, but it is the constant planning to meet new needs that is a mark of distinction for a group of men working together for a charitable cause.

The Herald wishes to add its congratulations to the many already given, and its thanks for a job well done.

Changing Party Images

It used to be quite common for Republicans to label their Democratic rivals as the "war party" while the Democrats in turn labeled the GOP as the party of "aggression."

There has been no war lately, so that part of this century label has become obsolete. We are not having a depression, either, but we are having a period of slow growth and a large body of unemployed. And it is interesting to note that here a sort of turn-about has occurred, and in many places it is now the Republicans who are accusing the Democrats of failing on the economic front.

In a sense, therefore, it might be argued that the basic economic issue of our times—jobs—has now become bipartisan.

Thus in states where Republicans are in power and unemployment is severe, Democrats point the finger of blame. When the same situation occurs with Democrats in the saddle, the GOP points to the attack.

But what are the politicians really talking about?

For one thing, they are talking of unemployment in coal mining, in other extractive industries, in the steel mills.

In these fields there has been not merely technological change. Often the industries involved are suffering also from the heavy competition of rival products. The prospect for these basic activities may never again be quite as it once was.

Secondly, the politicians are commenting on the continuing effects of rapidly advancing automation, which in many places finds output as high or even higher than ever, while far fewer men are needed to produce.

Obviously both of these two principal circumstances have developed as result primarily of altering economic factors. No party has devised automation as a policy nor has either one said there must be less coal mining and more pumping of oil.

To fasten political blame for these developments is naturally very tempting. But it has also proved extremely risky. For to attack blame is to suggest that the complaining party can do something about it.

Since these economic trends became strongly apparent, a good many politicians in the affected states have promised handsome solutions to the problems. For the most part, they have not been able to deliver. The knotty difficulties of lingering unemployment persist.

So it is that many of the finger-pointers are themselves now being pointed at.

If this keeps on long enough, politicians in the major parties may abandon the tempting but foolish practice of trying to fix blame.

That does not mean they should not dwell on these issues and not propose programs to attempt to deal with hard core unemployment. It may be the most pressing dilemma on the domestic front. Certainly no politician worth his salt can wisely ignore it.

Yet from both sides we need a great deal more candor about the matter. We need frank public recognition that the problem is not, for the most part, of political making, that thus far neither party has really come up with any suitable answers, that it plainly requires the best thinking on all sides.

There will be many politicians who will disagree with this, who will find the issue unresolvable for them. But upon them falls the burden of showing they can really do something about it. Up to now none of them has.

THE BOTANY CLASS WILL NOW COME TO ORDER!

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Norman brings out a vivid axiom from the realm of child psychology. All parents and teachers should memorize it and be sure they put it into instant action with the children under their direction. Millions of pupils who drop out of school would gladly go on if their parents would use the booklet below.

CASE N-444: Norman Clayton, aged about 12, is a talented singer in the Miami area. "Dr. Crane," he began as we visited prior to my address from Dr. John Hanger's pulpit in Coral Gables. "we have two daughters.

"They probably react like normal American youngsters. And for several years, my wife and I have taken the girls to an amusement park for some excitement, followed by a dinner.

"Oddly enough, we found that the children grumbled and complained about not having enough rides on the merry-go-round and other contraptions.

"So my wife and I decided to take advantage of a child's inability to think in two different directions at the same time.

"We thus made it a rule that whatever treat we offered the girls, they must immediately say 'Thank you.'

"This meant that they had to take a positive stand of appreciation and gratitude. Thus, they couldn't follow the negative road of complaining.

"Since then, their entire attitude has changed from 'give me more' to one of gratitude and appreciation.

"Dr. Crane, did we use good psychology in this case?"

Yes, indeed, for the Claytons have utilized an old axiom in psychology that when people take a public stand, they tend to continue along that line of thinking.

It was superb strategy, therefore, to make the children commit themselves in a positive manner by saying "Thank you."

We teachers also feel that a similar strategy might well be employed by you parents as regards the wonderful free public schooling offered to youngsters.

Many of the children grumble about going to school and think it is clever if they can duck out of a class or play hooky.

Yet it costs an average of $400 per year for each student! And the pupil doesn't pay a penny of that. Public education is thus a very expensive luxury, offered youngsters by you taxpayers.

About 150 years ago most children didn't have a chance to go to school. Education was reserved solely for the aristocrats and royalty.

Indeed, the time may soon come when our soaring population and crushing taxes may again take this luxury of free public schooling, at least beyond the first 6 grades.

Already the head of our education department at Northwestern University has suggested eliminating the compulsory requirement after the 6th grade.

George Washington thus had no chance to attend a free public school.

Neither did the children of other countries till a little over 100 years ago.

So it would be wise to adopt the Clayton's method of making the children take a positive, appreciative stand about school at the outset.

This new and appreciative attitude would add greater motivation to their study thereafter. For it is difficult to train unresponsive minds!

So all smart parents should place a happy "halo" over this bountiful free education that youngsters enjoy through the 12th grade of high school.

And to create this "halo," attach pleasure to books, geography and arithmetic, so send for my booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. It can make your child relish education instead of hating it.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Mr. Wieboldt's letter printed September 25th was, in my opinion, a loud and valid argument against the diagonal parking proposal.

If the prospective customers cannot find items they wish to purchase; if the merchant's attitude says, "Here's what I have—take it or leave it"; if clerks are too busy chatting to even look at the waiting patron; then obviously said patron is going elsewhere.

Too many times, I have had to go elsewhere to find items ranging in price from fifty cents to fifty or more dollars. Only once, in seven years, has a merchant offered to order a specific item for me. This is a ridiculous situation in a city the size of Sanford!

Too many times steaks are depleted and no further ordering done on popular items for months—"I don't know when we will get them in again," is not a remark conducive to buying enthusiasm on the part of the shopper who wants said item now!

Frankly, I don't want to have to go to Orlando or Colonial Plaza to shop—I'd like to feel I have a reasonable chance of finding what I want at home.

Give us an attractive mall where we may sit and rest while shopping— attractive shops and merchandise and we'll manage to walk a few blocks if we have to, if more parking lots aren't available. Ask any woman shopper how far she walks in downtown Orlando!

We have some attractive shops, some progressive merchants to our credit and theirs. It will be a shame if their efforts are wasted.

Yours sincerely,
F. A. McClure

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—New Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz says he is not yet thinking in terms of what additional legislation may be needed to regulate labor-management relationships.

But the almost complete lack of new labor legislation in this election year may be forewarning of a flood of such proposals to the next Congress. Current events point that way.

Conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater, (R-Ariz.), charging that the Kennedy administration has bowed to organized labor in return for political support—says he will introduce new bills to restore a more reasonable balance between labor and management next year. He will try to curb union power and impose compulsory arbitration to settle major disputes affecting public interest.

At the other extreme, AFL-CIO President George Meany has announced organized labor's determination to obtain a 35 or 32-hour work week next year, by legislation if possible.

This leaves the Kennedy administration in the middle to come up with a settlement of its own in what will be the toughest negotiation case in which it has yet had to intervene.

The settlement most frequently speculated on is whether the government should ask for more power to handle major strikes. Demands for such action have been frequently voiced as a result of prolonged work stoppages at missile bases, aircraft plants and in the railroad, maritime and air transport industries.

During the 1960 presidential election campaign, candidate Kennedy spoke frequently of the need for more power to settle major strikes. The President's reluctance to act in some of the recent disputes has resulted in criticism that he has knuckled under to the labor bosses for political support.

Actually, a major part of the time and effort of Kennedy's first labor secretary, Arthur Goldberg, and his then undersecretary, Wirtz, and their staff, has been in trying to conciliate major disputes.

In some cases they have exhausted all the powers they had. At least three times the President has had executive staff and congressional reports recommending new procedures. But he has backed away from them.

One reason may have been that Congress already had more unfinished business of greater urgency than it could handle.

Getting tangled up in the complicated and politically dangerous field of labor legislation might wreck the rest of his program.

Another reason is the Supreme Court decision last June that federal courts have no power to halt strikes by injunction if called in violation of collective bargaining agreements.

Still another reason is that AFL-CIO President Meany is known to feel that any attempt to amend the Taft-Hartley and Landrum-Griffin acts would open a Pandora's box of troubles from which organized labor might lose more than it could gain.

Union leaders still want amendment of the National Labor Relations Act to speed up the handling of unfair labor practice charges against employers. President Kennedy tried to handle this by an executive order reorganizing the National Labor Relations Board. But this was rejected by Congress last year and has not been revived.

This year, a House bill to bring labor unions under the antitrust laws and a Senate bill to require secret balloting of workers in strike votes both died in committee.

A sustained campaign by employer groups for amendment of the Bacon-Davis Act is also dead, in spite of extensive hearings. The purpose was to include fringe benefits costs in determining prevailing wage rates on local construction jobs handled by nonlocal contractors. Judicial review of Bacon-Davis wage rates was also asked for, in vain.

In considering the broad subject of labor legislation, a distinction must of course be made between laws to regulate labor-management relations and laws benefiting working people.

Most of the Kennedy administration's attention to labor affairs has been in trying to promote economic growth so as to reduce unemployment. "If we had a full employment economy now," says Wirtz, "all our other problems would disappear."

Trade Missions Stressed At Meet

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver, in a report before the Southern Governors Conference today, said any trade missions to Europe must be cloaked in seriousness and respectability. Vandiver, acting as chairman of the committee on industrial development, reported on the trip by numerous Georgia business and civic leaders to nations in the European common market last March. Vandiver said such missions in search of business from common market countries must be carefully planned and conducted with decorum. "The rule that no wives could attend proved to be a good one," Vandiver said, "and impressed the Europeans with the seriousness of the mission." Vandiver said most of the receptions given by the state group in Europe were held in the middle of the day. "This again impressed the Europeans with the serious purpose of the group," Vandiver reported. The Georgia chief executive said that the spots visited in Europe were major commercial centers and that "no effort was made to touch the areas of Europe that are normally most pleasing to the sight-seer."

The trade mission visited Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Brussels, Paris, Milan, London, Berlin, and other cities.

Jaycees Ask Annual Award Nominations

Jack Wilber has been named chairman of the "Good Government Award" for the Jaycees annual citizen recognition this year. The award is presented by the Jaycees each year in recognition of an individual for his or her outstanding service, ability and accomplishments which have contributed to good government in the city, county or area, Wilber said.

Any civic club or organization or an individual may submit by letter the name of a candidate, giving a short resume of the accomplishments and qualifications of the citizen. All names submitted will be judged by a committee of five persons appointed by the chairman. Deadline for entering the name of candidates is Oct. 10th, Wilber said.

There are no age limits for the person nominated and they may be an elected official, an employee or a community minded citizen, provided he or she has made an outstanding record in the field of good government. No person shall be considered a nominee if he is a holder of public office through a state-wide election or whose appointment is such that he serves the whole state rather than the city, county or district. Send all entries in care of Jack Wilber, Jaycee Building, P. O. Box 339, Sanford.

Eight Die In Plane Crash

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (UPI)—Eight persons were killed Monday night in the crash of a chartered plane ferrying rocket and missile personnel from Los Angeles to nearby Vandenberg Air Force Base, the sheriff's office reported.

Investigators said seven of the victims were believed to be technical experts from the Martin Aircraft Co.'s Denver offices on their way to the giant missile facility at Vandenberg. Identities of the victims were not immediately known. The plane apparently hit a row of trees on its landing approach to Santa Maria Municipal Airport and plummeted into a field.

Santa Barbara County Sheriff James Webster termed the crash the second worst air disaster in the history of the county. Heavy equipment had to be called in to assist in extricating the bodies from the wreckage of the Center Airlines' De Havilland Dove.

Earlier, authorities in Havana issued new three-month press passes to foreign correspondents in Cuba with a reminder that in the future, they will have to ask permission at least 24 hours in advance to go anywhere outside Havana.

Foreign ministry officials said it would be necessary to obtain special passes to attend Castroite mass meetings and other major events.

Who's To Shoulder Blame For Oxford Tragedy?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government and the state of Mississippi bitterly blamed each other today for the bloody battle of Oxford.

Gov. Ross Barnett told the nation Monday night that the federal government had deliberately inflamed Mississippians to justify the use of troops to enroll Negro James Meredith at the University of Mississippi.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy estimated that Barnett himself must ultimately bear the responsibility for the campus riot.

Kennedy and Barnett appeared separately on the same television program. In Congress there also was sharp reaction.

Sen. James O. Eastland, (D-Miss.), read a report from university officials blaming "amateurism by untrained marshals" for the riot, and said his Senate Judiciary Committee would make a "complete investigation" of the case.

Rep. John Bell Williams, (D-Miss.), said he had reports that soldiers in Oxford "are lining up citizens and needlessly beating them with rifle butts." He asked Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to investigate.

Barnett said the U.S. marshals who put Meredith on the campus were "trigger-happy" and fired tear gas shells into the backs of state policemen and innocent students.

The attorney general, however, said the marshals were brave men who calmly faced bricks, bottles, fire bombs and snipers in the dark after state police deserted them.

Kennedy, in so many words, charged that Barnett double-crossed the general government. But Barnett said he went so far as to advise Kennedy that if he was going to bring Meredith onto the campus, he had better do it Sunday instead of Monday.

For on Monday, Barnett said, there would have been "20,000 persons in Oxford" with all sorts of "dangerous weapons," and "hundreds of persons" would have been killed.

Mistrial Called In Bidwell Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge declared a mistrial early today in the income tax evasion case of J. Truman Bidwell.

The jury reported itself hopelessly deadlocked after nearly 11 hours of deliberations.

"Unfortunately, I must declare a mistrial," said Judge Thomas F. Murphy. Bidwell, former chairman of the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange, had been charged with evading more than $35,000 in taxes for the years 1956 and 1957.

The jury of 11 men and one woman started deliberations shortly before 1 p.m. Monday. At 10:15 a.m., they returned to report a deadlock. Murphy instructed them to try again for a unanimous verdict, as this was an "important case."

Shortly after midnight, the jury foreman informed the court of the "hopeless" deadlock. Government prosecutors said they had not decided whether to retry the case.

Buckeyes Rated Tops

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ohio State's leading Buckeyes, who have won 11 of their last 12 games, are the nation's top team today in the weekly ratings by the United Press International.

Ohio State, which finished a season with a record of 11-1, was the nation's top team in the 1950 season. It was the only team to win 11 games in a season.

Back week of the season, the 25-man UPI coaches rating team—five from each of the nation's major geographical sections—will pick the nation's top 10 teams with points awarded on a scale of 10-1.

Yates, last year's College Bowl champion, with a 9-0 record this year, was among the top two teams in the ratings with 985 points while Penn State, with a 5-0 record and currently on a losing streak, had 297 points.

Roundout of the top 10, in order, were Southern California, Mississippi, Washington, Army, and Miami of Florida.

The "second 10" in this week's balloting included, in order, Arkansas, Iowa, Notre Dame, Purdue, Louisiana State, and Nebraska, then Wisconsin and Northwestern tied for 17th, Georgia 19th, and Missouri and Minnesota tied for 20th.

The UPI football coaches ratings which have become accepted as the most authoritative in the field, are issued each week during the football season, alternately for morning and afternoon newspapers.

At the end of the season the team named by the board as the national champion receives a handsome permanent trophy from UPI.

Robinson May Play After All

CINCINNATI (UPI)—To the surprise of secretly anxious Cincinnati Reds outfielder Frank Robinson said Monday he might play ball next year after all instead of retiring as he had announced last week.

The 27-year-old slugger met with general manager Bill DeWitt for about a half-hour and after the session DeWitt said the two "had a nice visit."

"Frank had stated he wasn't going to play next year," DeWitt said. "He said he was tired and was under a lot of tension during the 1952 pennant race. Everytime he was in a hot seat it seemed to be very important."

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—If Williams should fall today, the Dodgers would not admit he held the upper hand, but it was apparent the Giant players felt they did after the way they ruined the Dodgers with his bat and the manner in which little Billy Pierce cut down the Dodger hitters in the first playoff game at Candlestick Park Monday.

The Giants won it, 3-0, with Pierce allowing only three hits as he ran the corporate Dodgers' string of consecutive innings to 30.

Thus the Giants had precedent going for them—for no team in National League pennant playoff history ever has won the first game and then lost out.

Dark was looking beyond today's game, but he knows as everyone else does that pitching is the name of the game in a short series. And he knows, too, that the Giants have just that.

For if Sanford should fall today, Dark would have another right-hander, Juan Marichal, an 18-game winner, fully rested — and waiting eagerly, also, a fresh bullpen corps.

run bugaboos. It was a home run — by Mays, who also, which gave the Giants a victory Sunday to get into the playoffs. And it was a home run by Gene Oliver of the Cardinals which beat the Dodgers the same day and kept them from winning the pennant outright.

"I know I got to go with Williams," Alton insisted, although there were many skeptics who maintained that the Dodger manager, whose job will may be at stake, will switch to Drysdale.

"If he does," said Dark, "I'll have Willie McCovey playing in these some place." McCovey hits Drysdale like he owns him and clubbed him for a three-run homer—that big blow again — in a key series in August.

Robinson May Play After All

CINCINNATI (UPI)—To the surprise of secretly anxious Cincinnati Reds outfielder Frank Robinson said Monday he might play ball next year after all instead of retiring as he had announced last week.

The 27-year-old slugger met with general manager Bill DeWitt for about a half-hour and after the session DeWitt said the two "had a nice visit."

"Frank had stated he wasn't going to play next year," DeWitt said. "He said he was tired and was under a lot of tension during the 1952 pennant race. Everytime he was in a hot seat it seemed to be very important."

VAH-3 Tied For Loop Lead

VAH-3 Enlisted Wives are still tied for first place in the Holler Motors Navy Wives League with 12 wins and four losses.

The high game was rolled by L. Sharp with a 195.

Several high series were turned in with K. Bowan getting a 48, and L. Sharp had a 463.

Baby splits were easy targets for the girls this week. The 8-10 was converted by B. Allen, E. Fitzpatrick, E. Clemmens and Martha Kinard. The 5-7 was picked up by C. Lovelace and L. Noe. The only girl to convert the 5-10 was J. Thompson.

A. Laist, M. Tournoux and A. Beaulieu rolled turkeys.

Lea Williams Rolls High Game

Lea Williams rolled a 193 high game in the North Orlando League.

Dot Johnson had high series with a 481. Sumnerford and Watson both rolled a turkey.

Ward converted the 5-6-10 split and the 5-7 was picked up by Huff and Ryan. Brandon got the 2-7 while the 3-10 was converted by Pruitt and Summerfield.

Tri-Me Wins 3rd In Row

By Bonnie Broadway Herald Sports Editor

In women's softball action Monday night, TRI-ME Construction won their third in a row to stay on top of the league as they downed The Rebels 15-1. Williams Restaurant and Florida State Bank also had victories.

TRI-ME came from behind in the first inning from a five run deficit to score eight runs and lead 8-5 at the end of the first inning. As the Rebels came to bat in the top of the second they scored three runs to tie the score 8-8. TRI-ME was not to be

Bum Outlook: Grim

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—If Williams should fall today, the Dodgers would not admit he held the upper hand, but it was apparent the Giant players felt they did after the way they ruined the Dodgers with his bat and the manner in which little Billy Pierce cut down the Dodger hitters in the first playoff game at Candlestick Park Monday.

The Giants won it, 3-0, with Pierce allowing only three hits as he ran the corporate Dodgers' string of consecutive innings to 30.

Thus the Giants had precedent going for them—for no team in National League pennant playoff history ever has won the first game and then lost out.

Dark was looking beyond today's game, but he knows as everyone else does that pitching is the name of the game in a short series. And he knows, too, that the Giants have just that.

For if Sanford should fall today, Dark would have another right-hander, Juan Marichal, an 18-game winner, fully rested — and waiting eagerly, also, a fresh bullpen corps.

Bitter Charges Spark Brown-Nixon Battle

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown and challenger Richard M. Nixon rode into the final weeks of the election campaign today on a wave of bitter charges and counter-charges.

Their reasonably polite race for governor of California changed overnight into a slugging match.

The Democratic incumbent and his Republican opponent clashed head to head Monday, in their only joint appearance of the campaign, before the 1968 Conference of United Press International Editors and Publishers.

From that often-heated exchange came two issues that undoubtedly will draw sparks from both men in the closing five weeks of their battle for governor.

—The question of whether it was "morally or ethically proper" for Nixon, then the vice president, to permit the Hughes Tool Co. to lend $200,000 to Nixon's brother, Donald.

—A fiery difference of opinion as to whether Nixon endorsed or repudiated two congressional candidates who are members of the John Birch Society and whether Brown blesses the candidacy of two Democrats who Nixon alleged helped lead the riots against the House Un-American Activities Committee when it met in San Francisco on May 1, 1960.

The issue of the Hughes loan was injected into the UPI discussion by Thomas W. Braden, publisher of the Oceanside (Calif.) Balde-Tribune and Brown appointee to the state board of education.

"I want to ask you if you think it is proper for a candidate for governor, morally or ethically, to have permitted his family to receive a secret loan?"

Moderator: Preston Robinson, general manager and editor of the Desert News and Telegram, Salt Lake City, ruled Nixon did not have to answer the question.

"I insist on answering it," said the former vice president.

He then related that six years ago his brother was in "deep financial trouble," and that Donald Nixon borrowed $200,000 from the Hughes Tool Co., controlled by multi-millionaire Howard Hughes.

The candidate said his mother put up some of her property as security and that his brother finally went bankrupt. The property went to the tool company.

"I had no part in my brother's business and I had no part in the negotiation of the loan," Nixon said. "I was never asked to do anything by the Hughes Tool Co. and I never did anything for them."

Noting that President Kennedy did not raise the Hughes loan as an issue in the 1960 presidential campaign, Nixon then accused Brown "and his hatchmen" of "stily" planting the idea that Nixon had done something wrong in connection with the transaction.

Turning to Brown, standing barely 10 feet away, Nixon said:

"I have made mistakes, but I am an honest man. Now is the time to have this out. If the governor has any evidence that I did anything for the Hughes company, now he has his chance. Governor Brown has a chance to stand up as a man and charge me with misconduct. Do it, sir!"

Brown replied:

"I have said nothing about it to anyone whatsoever, other than to ask some people as to why your campaign manager, when the note first was disclosed, stated that the note was made by someone else, and I wanted to know the facts in connection with the situation."

Mate, or Paraguay tea, is a popular drink of the Argentine and is sipped through a tube.

George's Becomes 'Fixture'

They were almost ready to go back to Ohio when the Stephens' stumbled into a lady who wanted to sell a commercial license.

As a result, the late George Stephens and Laura Stephens became well known faces and George's Taverns are Sanford fixtures.

George's Taverns, located on French Ave. and on Geneva Ave. include a package store in addition to the bar. The Geneva Ave. store is open until 1:00 a. m. and dancing to juke box music is featured.

The Stephens came to the Sanford area from Ohio 10 years ago, after spending a vacation here.

For four years they operated a small tavern near Sanford. It was then that they decided to go back to Ohio where Mrs. Stephens had operated a grocery store.

Instead they bought the commercial license. Their first store was on Commercial Street. Four years ago they built the package store and bar on French Avenue.

The store on Geneva Ave. was purchased a year and one half ago, and is managed by Mrs. Stephens son-in-law and daughter, Herbert and Dot Rawls.

Ruth Circle Celebrates Birthdays

Birthdays of three members of the WBSO Ruth Circle of the DeBary Community Methodist Church were celebrated at last Tuesday's meeting of the circle at the home of Mrs. Hugh Booth on Lucerne Drive.

Mrs. Elmo Moore, who presided, presented Mrs. Martha Haddock with an emerald in honor of the occasion and lovely hankies were presented to Mrs. E. A. Spokes and Mrs. Beatrice Muller.

Attending were Mrs. Mattie Billhardt, Elsie Haigh, Renee Jones, Wealthy Spokes, Anne Dell, Lola Booth, Mrs. Clyde Moore, Mrs. Bea Muller, Amy Allan and Ouida Davis and daughter, Becky.

The prayer was given by Mrs. Spokes and refreshments were served following the brief program.

Drug Laws: Good Or Bad?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration today announced that it will issue a new regulation to control the sale of drugs to the public.

The regulation, which will take effect in 1962, will require that a prescription be written by a doctor for the sale of a drug to a patient.

The regulation also will require that a doctor's name be written on the prescription.

The regulation is a part of the Food and Drug Administration's effort to control the sale of drugs to the public.

and their comments on the regulation. The FDA, (The 1957 regulations are tentative for 1962) — said mid-October — will give interested parties a chance to be heard.

The medical community, however, has made no public comment on the regulation. But a spokesman for the American Medical Association said that a study of the regulation is being made by the association's medical committee.

The regulation also will require that a doctor's name be written on the prescription.

By Frances Walter

Mrs. W. P. Mertz of Seattle was guest speaker at the Association Meeting of the UPW of the Community Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Robert Engstrom on Crystal Lake.

The subject was "Our Church Organization and Women's Part in It" and her presentation held the interest of the members. Helpful material also was distributed.

The devotionals were given by the hostess, Mrs. James M. Thompson read about the mission fields to be remembered in prayer for the day and all

Bear Lake Presbyterians Set Service

By Shirley Westworth

The Bear Lake Presbyterian Chapel service will be held this week on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Jones of Cecelia Drive beginning at 8 p. m.

An invitation is extended to anyone in the area who would like to join the congregation in hearing messages delivered by Rev. E. R. Rowley and in joining the social hour that follows.

A Sunday School is in the process of being organized and it is hoped that enough progress will be made to enable the school to start sometime this month.

Women of the Chapel are organizing a circle and women of the area who may be interested are requested to contact Mrs. L. C. Tinsley or Mrs. Jones, both of Cecelia Drive in Bear Lake.

Mississippi Crisis Black Headlines Around World

MRS. KOLEFF

Business Briefs

A new business has opened recently in the store building between Mike's Spaghetti House and Miller's Southern Air, known as the Seminole Furniture and Moving Company.

Owners of the new business venture are Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koleff. The store features good used furniture and includes some antique. They buy and sell and also have a local furniture moving service for both homeowners and commercial enterprises.

All moving is guaranteed against breakage and damage. Mrs. Koleff will be manager of the new store, with Mr. Walker as assistant, while Mr. Walker continues in the barber shop business and Mr. Koleff as assistant manager at Boullinist and Anderson's.

LONDON (UPI)—The Mississippi racial crisis brought out propagandists, cartoonists and big black headlines around the world today.

Practically the only support for Gov. Ross Barnett and other Mississippi state officials came from Colin Jordan, leader of the British Nazi movement, who cabled congratulations "on your stand for the racial survival of the white man."

There was little comment from Moscow. The Soviet government newspaper called the fatal shooting of a French seaman "the crime of racism." Earlier Tass news agency said the University of Mississippi campus was "no longer as a stronghold of bigotry and racism."

Most European and Asian newspapers appeared to recognize the scope and depth of the American racial problem and said the Ole Miss battle was only one phase of what will be a long fight for integration in the United States.

The London Daily Mail printed a front-page cartoon showing a grinning Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev talking into a telephone and saying: "And, Mr. Kennedy, would you like some of my technicians in Cuba to help you out in Mississippi?"

The Guardian said Barnett "must bear a heavy moral responsibility for the events of this tragic night. The chain of events set going by the governor's initial defiance . . . made violence likely."

The London Telegraph said the Mississippi affair had to be viewed as an episode in the long social revolution which may take another generation to complete.

"This is a victory for law, and a credit to President Kennedy," it said.

The London Daily Mail listed examples of discrimination in Britain, and the Telegraph reminded Britons that the entire Commonwealth could not force South Africa to end its apartheid policies.

Paris' Combat commented "There are laws, judges and power in the United States, and President Kennedy has just proved it in putting to flight the racist and fascist clique around Gov. Barnett and ex-General Walker."

Schirra Goes Around, Around And Around

'She's Flying Beautifully'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Walter M. Schirra Jr. whirled around the globe every hour and a half today on a flight expected to set a U. S. space record of six orbits and 180,000 miles.

A Voice From Space

By United Press International
Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., speaking from space: "This really is a sycophant."

"She's flying beautifully" seven minutes after blast-off. "Sun's coming in the window now. The sunlight is in the upper right hand corner, just peeking in at me."

"Everything is green." A new term in astronaut talk, replacing the "go" and "A-okay" usages meaning that all was going well.

Condition report to Zanzibar: "A little warm but quite comfortable."

"I feel real good. I have beads of perspiration on my lips but that's about all."

"... a block of light" (during the Western Hemisphere).

One of the most important roads in the county was bypassed in that tentative proposed priority program.

Board of Adjustment meeting recessed last night until Thursday. . . . More study needed.

Where to house the administrative aide? That's what's puzzling Zoning Director Bob Brown. . . . Only solution according to Brown may be renting space possibly in the Kirk Plaza Bldg. or, in the Masonic Temple. . . .

However, there's a chance they may give him the proposed supervisor of registrations office and move Camilla across the street.

Civil Service board was supposed to have met Thursday to certify Civil Service exams for Police Lt. . . . Meeting off until Oct. 18. . . . Six officers took the exam and six passed. Chief Roy Williams has his work cut out for him picking the man.

Junior High "light" squad disbanded. . . . "Just couldn't get any ball games," said Principal Hugh Carlton.

TEN babies, six girls and four boys, were born at Seminole Memorial Hospital yesterday! This must surely be some kind of record. The halls were full of floor-pacing fathers, grandmothers and grandfathers-to-be and one baby girl's birth had a number of thrilled teen-age friends keeping pace with the young father. Better get going on that addition, board of trustees!

Special County Commission meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. regarding rights-of-way by Highland Ave. near Altamonte Springs. . . . J. C. Hutchison also told us the board will discuss the recent Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission decision on doves.

Both countdown and launch were close to perfection. Schirra's comment on the performance of his two-ton cabin was: "She's flying beautifully."

The U. S. government paid Walter M. Schirra Jr. $28.11 for today's work. Of that total, $7.42 was "hazardous duty" pay.

The cheerful astronaut reported at one point that he was "in a chimp configuration," meaning that Sigma 7 was on automatic control and a chimpanzee might as well be in the pilot's seat.

Schirra ticked off the orbits on schedule, completing the first at about 8:45 a. m. and the second at 10:15 a. m. as he hurtled through space at 17,500 miles an hour.

Schirra spent much of the time just drifting in space, without attempting to control Sigma 7's orientation. This was to conserve precious control jet fuel against the time when it would be urgently needed in later orbits.

In each circuit of the earth, Schirra flew through alternate night and day, each lasting about 45 minutes. Once in daytime he reported the sun was "peeking" into his capsule. During one of his nights he reported the moon "just to the left of me."

Sigma 7 went into orbit at 17,500 miles an hour, 275 miles northeast of Midway Island in the Pacific.

In his first orbit Schirra reported trouble keeping the temperature down in his 20-pound space suit. But he said: "I feel real good. I have beads of perspiration on my lips but that's about all."

He said he thought he had licked the problem. Eearly calculations showed he was flying at 17,500 miles an hour in an orbit ranging from 100 miles at the low point to 176 miles at the highest. Time for one orbit was calculated at 89 minutes.

At 55 minutes after liftoff the pilot tilted his cabin steeply to carry out one of the major experiments of the flight.

This was to see whether he could observe a high-intensity flare fired from Woomera, Australia. Because of weather conditions, Schirra said the flare looked like "a block of light" rather than a bright point.

Schirra kept his chatter to ground stations at a minimum but occasionally let his characteristic feeling for humor have play. Near the end of his first orbit he reported he was "in a chimp configuration."

Bird Sanctuary Refused

The Sanford Herald

No Action Taken On Petition

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has decided not to establish a bird sanctuary on the 6,300 acre area adjacent to the southeast of Sanford limits.

Earl Frye, assistant director of the commission, said today that a telegram had been sent to J. C. Hutchison, chairman of the county commission, advising of the game agency's decision. He also said a letter is being sent to the commission explaining fully the details of the state group's policy on bird sanctuaries.

The vote not to take action on the request by landowners to close the whole area to shooting leaves that section of the county open to legal dove hunting when the season opens Saturday—that is, as far as the Game Commission is concerned.

The problem of land owners barring hunters from their properties remains unless a suggested agreement among the sheriff's department, the residents and the Seminole County Sportsman's Assn. can be worked out.

The sportsman's board of directors scheduled a meeting at 8 p. m. today to discuss ways to assist property owners in protecting their homes and other premises from careless shooting.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby warned 150 persons present at a hearing on the bird sanctuary proposal Monday night that existing laws governing firearms will be enforced and asked all residents and others who witness violations of the law and to ask for warrants at the county judge's office.

Frye said that the Game Commission decided not to act on the petition to close the lands to shooting because "it is purely a question of local law enforcement in the residential areas and our policy is not to establish sanctuaries where legitimate hunting opportunities exist."

'Confidence' Vote Given ? From Council

An enthusiastic vote of confidence was the result of the effort to unseat North Orlando councilman Woodrow W. Anderson and Robert Stephenson at the meeting of the village council Tuesday night.

It was John Spaulding, who has lived in the town for two and a half years, that brought up the question of Anderson's resignation by the councilman.

Anderson, who had been expecting the action by Spaulding, declared he had said he would resign "if the people wanted me to," not that he would just simply resign because the books were in shape. Spaulding repeated that he wanted to know if "Anderson is a man of his word," and received the same answer from Anderson.

At this point one of the crowd proposed a vote of confidence in Anderson, and it was enthusiastically given. Another was proposed for Councilman Stephenson, and he, too, received a long ovation from the group.

There was discussion about the bills owed by the village which total $3,566, and there was, as of the meeting time, $79.00 in the town account. Sixty dollars of this was used to pay Mrs. Stewart Helmly, who resigned as town clerk, for her performance of duty for the past six meetings of the council.

The bills include $3,700 for charter costs, $412 for sporting equipment for the recreation area, $495 for bookkeeping services by Seminole Bookkeeping Service, the firm that posted the new town books and $900 due the Florida Power Corporation.

Robert Stephenson reported he was about to be sued by the American-LaFrance Co., fire engine builders for an axle for the town fire truck which cost $59 and has not been paid for by the town.

Merchants Poll Reveals No' To Meter Cover-Up

Down town merchants, queried today on a proposal to cover parking meters on a trial basis and allow free parking were, for the most part, definitely opposed to the idea. Others gave qualified answers, or preferred not to comment for one reason or another.

Sixty percent of those who were asked if they thought that it would be a good idea to cover the parking meters to see if it would help business, answered, "No, I don't think this is the answer."

Two said that they would be willing to go along with the trial and await results, but were personally doubtful as to the outcome. Two refused to comment.

Only one First St. merchant, Mrs. Zelda Skinkind answered with an unqualified "Yes, I certainly think we ought to try it and see if it gets good results."

Both Ralph Cowan and E. C. Harper Jr. felt that eventually Sanford would have to take out the parking meters to be able to compete with unmetered shopping centers, but Cowan said that the city could not afford to do it now, and Harper commented "this is not the immediate solution" and that there would still have to be some kind of policing of parkers to avoid "all day parkers."

John Kader said that he would be willing to go along with the trial covering of the meters, but didn't think parking was the answer to downtown Sanford's troubles.

"No, I don't think covering the parking meters is the answer," said John Ivey. "I've been wrong before, and I could be wrong again, but look at New Smyrna, it's almost a ghost town, and they don't have any parking meters."

Details Set For Campus Deal
Determination was made Wednesday of the exact meets and bounds for the new Seminole College campus in North Orlando, it was announced today by John Swartz, for the North Orlando Company.

Jack Dodd, member of the college Board of Trustees worked out the location with company representatives, and the matter is now in the hands of the attorneys representing the college and the college company.

College President Morris Hale said the board is expecting the formal transfer of title to take place at the meeting of the college board of trustees on Oct. 25.

Hale also said "excellent progress" is being made on the plans for the initial building and the master plan for the new campus.

Mixed Emotions

After a year of meterless parking New Smyrna Beach merchants and town officials claim the project an unqualified success, while at Daytona Beach, where the meters were covered for a recent eight week stretch the experiment was termed "in different in results", by some, and a success by others.

A Hanford Eckman, manager of the NSB Chamber of Commerce, reports the merchants are greatly "encouraged" by the "greatly improved" customer attitude and a "remarkable improvement in downtown business."

The eight week experiment with covered meters in Daytona Beach resulted in mixed feelings about the success of the venture, with town officials not so sure there was any benefit, and some of the merchants feeling the covered meters worked out fine for their business according to the Chamber of Commerce Manager Floyd Ray.

It was discovered that a number of the metered spaces were taken up by merchant and personnel cars which constitutes a major problem.

The experiment did pay off to the extent that a Parking Authority was set up by the city to study the matter and determine whether or not some areas downtown should be meterless and what time limits should be set for metered areas.

Pilot Killed In Jet Crash
JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—A Navy jet fighter and a Navy helicopter crashed near here Tuesday in unrelated accidents. The pilot of the fighter was killed.

Lieut. E. E. Faulk, 25, Columbia, Ala., was killed when his F3H plunged into the Atlantic Ocean three miles east of Ponte Vedra. Navy spokesmen said they did not immediately know the cause of the crash.

Ole Miss Puts Negro Through Routine Tests
OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — The University of Mississippi began putting Negro James Meredith through routine aptitude tests today and otherwise attempted to bring some semblance of normalcy back to the strife-torn campus.

But troops guarding against a further outbreak of violence remained and had to break up a small demonstration shortly after midnight when a group of students threw rocks and bottles and exploded firecrackers.

Meredith was driven to the Lyceum building about 8:30 a. m. for the aptitude tests. Registrar Robert Ellis said all new students must take the tests and said they would have no bearing on Meredith's ability to remain as a student.

Mazer Speaks Here

Youth Concert Series Urged

By Jane Casselberry
Henr. Mazer, director of the Florida Symphony Orchestra, Tuesday night dangled the tempting prospect of a Youth Concert Series for school children of South Seminole County before an overflow audience at a Council of Teachers and Parents meeting at the South Seminole Elementary School in Casselberry.

area would involve some $600 and parent-teacher groups in various participating schools each would be asked to assume responsibility for raising a share of this amount.

These concerts by the orchestra have long been popular with children of Orange County where their costs are underwritten by banks, businesses, civic clubs and individuals.

Bringing the orchestra to the South Seminole

The plan must first receive the approval from the County School Board and permission must be granted for the children to attend concerts during the school day.

The Jai Alai Fronton was mentioned as a possible location for holding the concerts and it was also pointed out that the performances would have to be worked into the orchestra's scheduled season from Jan. 1 to April 7.
