

Climax Appears To Be Approaching In Cuban Difficulties

Possible Solution Is In Offing But Military Mobilization Of U. S. Continues

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—The Roosevelt administration regarded the swift developments in troubled Cuba as approaching a climax—possibly even a solution—but military mobilization for sea, land or air movements continued unabated.

Attempts to conciliate political differences that have given Cuba two revolutionary governments within a month and brought 30 American warships to Cuban waters began today.

Six men and a woman named at an all-factions meeting went into secret session in Havana with indications that Provisional President De Cespedes would be reinstated and a coalition cabinet chosen to implement the five-man junta.

This development followed a declaration that the revolutionary commission, weary after three days in power, of hickering, threats, disorders and talk of counter-revolution, would retire in "five minutes" if the people "told us it is necessary to avoid American intervention."

From Norfolk a squadron of six naval planes went roaring down the eastern seaboard today on what is believed a non-stop, 2000-mile flight to the Coco Solo, Canal Zone naval base.

The flying armada, commanded by Lieutenant Commander Donald R. Carpenter and carrying a crew of 38 officers and men, may again take the air from the Canal Zone to the 3000 islands of the West Indies. All in still conjecture, with naval officers refusing information about the flight or the destination of the planes.

Mary Pickford Is Made Defendant In Huge Damage Suit

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Echoes of the days when the Mary Pickford-Owen Moore marriage was terminating were reiterated today with the complaint of a gray-haired actor who is suing the film actress for $350,000. Edward Hammer filed the suit, saying that in the old days he acted as foster father, adviser and business manager for Pickford and the members of her family, he says he is entitled to compensation.

Wilcox Expresses His Appreciation

Addressing Chamber of Commerce officials by letter, Congressman Mark Wilcox expresses thanks and appreciation for an "enjoyable" visit which he recently made to this city. He made particular mention of the kindly attention given him by trade body heads, members of the City and County commissions, and the Sanford Rotary Club, and he said that it is his hope to pay another visit sometime in November.

SHOLTZ GETS AID FOR STATE FRUIT RAISERS

Federal Groups Agree To Make Loans To Florida Growers Hit By Hurricane

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Gov. Dave Sholtz notified his office last night from Washington that Federal agencies had agreed to make loans to Florida growers who suffered in the Labor Day hurricane, to advance money for highway repairs, and to aid home owners in getting quick shelter.

The Federal Farm Board, the Governor said, would send an official representative to Florida immediately and loans to citrus planters to cover hurricane losses would be approved immediately.

These will be long-term loans, and repayment will extend into the second crop year. Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, estimated one-fourth of the state's citrus crop was destroyed and heavy damage to trees.

The Federal bureau of roads, Sholtz told J. P. Newell, his secretary, gave assurance it would advance additional funds.

Florida to repair highway damage. Chairman C. B. Treadway, of the State Road Department, estimated $100,000 was necessary for immediate emergency repairs, and $500,000 necessary for permanent replacements.

The Federal bureau authorized that the first part of this fund be taken from the $3,000,000 Federal highway fund already allotted to Florida, with repayments to be made by the Federal Government when necessary. Chairman Treadway said the work of repairing roads already was under way.

Storm area residents whose homes were destroyed or damaged by the hurricane will obtain grants from the Federal emergency relief administration—food and clothing to supply their needs.

The Federal relief administration, however, will step into relief work only as an adjunct to the American Red Cross, which is designated as the official relief agency. If the Red Cross is unable to handle the relief work, then relief funds will be advanced for immediate assistance.

Clearing of streets and other public places of storm debris already has been made for unemployment relief projects, and funds allocated to state relief headquarters are being used to pay workers at the rate of 20 cents an hour.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt was "particularly sympathetic" toward Sholtz, when told officially of Florida's heavy damage, estimated in excess of $4,000,000. The Governor said he called on the President during the day and added "our conference was quite encouraging and satisfactory."

Also during the day, Governor Sholtz presented relief requests to Secretary Wallace of the Agricultural Department, Secretary Lyles of the Interior Department, and other Washington officials. He was joined by Senator Pickens and other Florida citizens in Washington.

Assistant Engineer Visitor In Sanford

Berkely Blackman, assistant engineer in the War Department Engineers Office at Jacksonville is in Sanford this morning in a two-hour conference with trade body officials.

He discussed the proposed St. Johns-Indian River canal near here, and he indicated that the project is being given serious consideration in the proper quarters. During his visit he disclosed the fact that the canal has a new supporter in that residents of the Fort Pierce section, where there is a natural ocean harbor, are ready to pitch in and help this section secure this canal.

Country's Bankers Told That Deposit Insurance Is For Their Own Benefit

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—The nation's bankers were told yesterday that deposit insurance was for their own good and for the good of the public—and were given to understand by the administration that their opposition would be of no avail.

J. F. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency and one of the men who will direct the deposit insurance plan, filed before the American Bankers Association replies by President Roosevelt to all of their many objections to deposit insurance.

"Justice to none," O'Connor said, "is the first aim of the national banking act of 1933, which provides for guaranty of deposits of $5000 or less." The act becomes effective in part next Jan. 1.

He declared "vicious, unwarranted and untruthful propaganda" had been distributed to the effect that small banks and independent banks would be eliminated under the act.

In direct and forceful contradiction of objections by the bankers, O'Connor stated: (1) The public made a loud demand for deposit insurance, as reflected in passage of the law with huge majorities in Congress; (2) The law makes a fact of the theory that depositors have a right to their money; (3) Deposit insurance will punish banks run by giving.

FORD IS STILL SILENT AS TO PLANS ON NRA

BIG BAY, Mich., Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Henry Ford, still a silent hold-out from the NRA automobile code, is represented by vacation companions at his Huron Mountain retreat now here as hesitating over whether he will give final and complete approval to the code.

Although the manufacturer is remaining silent, his friends at the Huron Mountain camp have stated that in discussions of the NRA, Ford has evinced approval of the general recovery plan, but feels there are some technicalities in the automobile code upon which he is unable to make a definite decision.

One or two of these technicalities, the companions have indicated, deal with the necessity of the Ford Motor Company's opening up its books to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, of which he is not a member, and with the standing of the manufacturer's relations with numerous parts manufacturers.

This indicates that Ford is in the usual, agreeable to the President's recovery program, and has little fault to find at present with the movement.

The motor manufacturer came out of his closely guarded retreat yesterday for his first motor trip since last Saturday. He was driven to Big Bay, six miles from his camp, and made a telephone call to Detroit. There are no telephones in the camp. After completing the call, the manufacturer returned at once to his 16-room "cabin" near Lake Superior. He refused all interviews.

No definite indication has been given here when Ford and Mrs. Ford, who have been in the camp nearly three weeks, will return to Detroit.

Officials in Detroit said they did not care to comment when asked whether the company's maximum of 40 hours a week for employees would be changed.

Justice Of Peace Makes Report To County On Alleged Law Violators

An average of exactly one alleged law violator appeared before Justice of the Peace J. C. Roberts every day during August, his report to the County Commissioners reveals. Most of these violators were negroes.

Charlie Bryant, Howard Sumner, Howard Arnett, and Archie Lee Carter, white men charged with train riding, were fined the costs of prosecution. The fine and sentence were suspended in all cases.

STATE CITRUS MEN PRESENT SIDE AT MEET

Florida's Agreement Proposes Control Committee To Regulate Shipments

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Florida proponents of state and national control of citrus fruit to assure higher price levels presented their case for that state's plan at a hearing today.

The Florida agreement proposes that a state control committee of 12 members be authorized to prohibit or prorrate shipments when market conditions do not afford a reasonable price.

M. L. Corey, Florida representative, offered witnesses to show that the plan was approved overwhelmingly at a state-wide meeting of growers. The Texas agreement will come up after Florida's examination is completed.

An assertion that "too much politics and office seeking" has been brought into the citrus hearing was made by State Senator J. J. Parrish, of Titusville.

Parrish said in part: "I'm going to cooperate if the agricultural administration sees fit to set up this control, but I think this is tremendously expensive, uncalculated in 1933. I suggest the department of agriculture merely employ a man in the department to handle the crop this year. There's been too much politics and office seeking brought into this hearing. Some growers have hopes of getting some lucrative appointment."

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Texas, with 90 percent of her citrus grown off the trees by the Labor Day hurricane at the same time another hurricane slashed through the Florida citrus belt, appeared to state yesterday to hold its citrus from market for 15 days while Texas growers sell their orange.

Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, replied that Florida shipments would not be heavy for August.

August Report Made On County's Home

The cost of operating the County Home with its 35 white and negro inmates during August, was $124.35, it was revealed in Sept. 1. D. Mann's report to the County Commissioners.

The cost of food furnished each inmate per day was 118 cents, while the cost of feeding and housing an inmate per day during August was 39 cents.

County Home workers assisted in the production of 254 1/2 gallons of milk at a cost of 10 1/2 cents per gallon, 63 dozen eggs at a cost of 1 1/2 cents per dozen, 31 1/2 pounds of butter.

Welfare Board Cost Of Operation Shown

It required $278.09 to operate the County Welfare Board during the month of August, the monthly report rendered by Mrs. Helen T. Morse indicates. Of this sum $108.84 was for drugs and drug supplies which were furnished indigent residents of the city and county, while $118 went as salary for Mrs. Morse.

The balance in the Board treasury on July 31 was $54.53 while on Aug. 30 the balance was $61.92. Contributions during the month included the regular $250 county appropriation and $10.48 worth of drugs donated.

FLOOD THREATENED IN TEXAS HURRICANE AREA

HARLINGEN, Texas, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—Muddy torrents surging into the Rio Grande from the rain-soaked Mexican watershed threatened to raise the mighty border stream to a dangerous stage while residents in the hurricane devastated lower valley, after taking precautions to guard the flood control system, concentrated on the task of rehabilitation. Estimated damage ran around $10,000,000, with 23 known dead and the citrus crop wiped out.

At the same time the committee announced that it plans to set up an honor roll upon which is to be placed the names of all merchants and employers known to be living up to the terms of the agreement which they signed.

WILLER APPOINTED

H. E. Fuller, of Altamonte Springs, has been appointed as a member of the Seminole County Welfare Board representing that town. His appointment was approved at a County Commission meeting this week, and he began his duties as a supervisor and inspector of welfare work in that vicinity this week.

897,350 Is Allotted For Florida Relief

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—The state advisory council for unemployment relief today allotted to Florida counties $977,350 for relief work during September. The council announced it would aid persons in the storm area. If Red Cross funds are insufficient, Governor Sholtz telegraphed that the federal relief administration has approved an expenditure for roofing materials to supply shelter for destitute persons.

NRA Committee To Publish Names Of Violators Of Code

Withdrawing all sympathy for any Sanford business man who has failed to accede to the patriotic request made of him by President Roosevelt last July, members of the Advisory Committee of the local NRA Campaign Army meeting in the City Hall last night, placed in motion the wheels of machinery which will weed out all violators of the President's Agreement, report such offenders to Washington, and make public their names in Sanford.

Decision to take this step at once came when General R. E. Glenn of the Army, pushing for action in "honoring those who have complied with the terms of the Agreement they signed with the President," stated that the time had come when the committee either should act or disband, and should give some special publicity to those employers who are making real sacrifices in order to comply.

As head of the Investigation Committee, Mr. Glenn has for the past several days been busy looking into a number of complaints against alleged violators of the agreement. Most of these complaints came in from employers who charged that employers are working them longer, paying them less than the minimum, and are otherwise "cheating."

Mr. Glenn offered a sheet of signed complaints to the committee last night, urging at the same time that the public be put on notice that unless the committee acts satisfactorily and promptly corrected at once, public notice is to be given of the fact that the names of the alleged violator of an agreement is being sent to Washington for a Federal investigation.

Upon motion of F. C. MacMahon, seconded and unanimously carried, it was voted that the complaints now on file should be announced by the employers complained against before the committee at its next meeting or their names will be sent to Washington, and will be made public locally.

The group voted to change its meeting hours to 7:30 o'clock every Tuesday and Friday night instead of every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

As outlined last night, the employer who is under suspicion of a violation will be given an opportunity to explain his situation to the Investigation Committee. This group will, if a satisfactory adjustment has not been made by the employer, report the complaint to the Advisory Committee at its next meeting. Without further delay, the name of the violator will be placed in the hands of Washington authorities.

At the same time the committee announced that it plans to set up an honor roll upon which is to be placed the names of all merchants and employers known to be living up to the terms of the agreement which they signed.

Employers and merchants are given the right to appear before the committee to give evidence that they are complying. A committee member put it last night "I believe that all employers will want their names on the list and that they will petition us so that they can get their names (Continued on Page Three)

CLAIRES WINDSOR LOVE NOTES ARE CITED IN COURT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—(A.P.)—A torn-up love letter she found in the waste basket of her husband's Hollywood hotel room apprised Mrs. Marian Young Read of Oakland of his affair with blonde Claire Windsor. It was testified by Mrs. Read yesterday in her $100,000 alienation of affections suit against the screen and stage actress.

Mrs. Read Testifies Torn Up Letter Led To Clue Of Affair

The society matron told of a trip to Hollywood at the request of Alfred Read, Jr., former Oakland broker from whom she is now divorced.

"All had me come down to Hollywood one time," Mrs. Read testified in answer to a question by Wilbur Pierce, attorney for Miss Windsor, as to when she first found the actress' love letters.

"I went to his room," Mrs. Read continued, "and in the waste basket I found a letter torn in 11. I got it out and pasted it together. It was a love letter from Miss (Continued on Page Four)

DEMOCRACY SEEN ABLE TO SURVIVE POLITICAL BLOWS

British Liberals Believe Man Is Noble Enough To Control

CAMBRIDGE, Eng.—With a declaration that "man is noble in reason and not merely a managed multitude," British Liberals at the Liberal Summer School here declared their belief in the ultimate revival and survival of democracy. Prof. Ernest Barker, at the head of political science at Cambridge, unceremoniously dismissed two of Europe's outstanding dictators as "stunt journalists," only ruled strongly because the public was kept full of sensation and emotionally happy and only surviving politically so long as the people could be kept "chock full" of this sensation.

Professor Barker said he had no fear that democratic institutions would break down permanently or that Communism or Fascism would rise supreme. The fundamentals of democracy, he said, had not failed because in eastern Europe the grandiose figure of the dictator had arisen.

The fundamental of free individuals, freely guiding themselves, was still as strong as ever, continued Professor Barker. The breakdown, the insistent feeling of the present weakness of the democratic system was only brought about by the unbalancing of the delicate equilibrium of power which formed the democratic institutions.

The specific difficulty at the moment is, in Professor Barker's view, the growth in the power of the party. The paid politician would naturally accentuate his own organization. One party becoming strong might try to oust the other parties. But he said he

WORLD SCOUTS TO BE FRIENDS IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

World Scoutmaster Gives Address Before 21,000 Youths

GODOLLO, Hungary.—"Boys, be friends; take friendship back home with you." This was the keynote of the speech with which Lord Baden-Powell, Scoutmaster of the world facing 21,000 youths from Europe, Asia, America, Africa, and Australia, addressed the fourth world jamboree, which closed here recently.

A vast arena had been laid out in an alfalfa field adjoining a royal summer palace. All about the fields, as well as before and above the grand stands, floated the flags of the world mingling the emblems of nations in one gay and friendly streamer. Only the flags of two great countries were missing, those of Germany and Italy, for Herr Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini do not permit such organizations as that of the Scouts. However, many black-shirted Italian boys were here as onlookers.

Down in front of the central grand stand was a raised platform with balustrades, from which the Hungarian Regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Lord Baden-Powell and Count Paul Teleki, the chief Hungarian Scoutmaster, received the greetings of the world's most ardent peace army beating a whole forest of flags.

As these tens of thousands of marching feet moved forward in rapid tread to the sound of buoyant music, before the reviewers who received their salutes and cheers, a myriad of flags, driven by the wind, streamed jubilantly and impetuously before the boys who carried them as though restlessly pulling youth to some grand new goal—perhaps world peace and friendship.

The largest visiting contingents were the French, British, Swiss, Polish, Austrian and Belgian. On reaching the reviewers' stand, the Swedish contingent released a cloud of little balloons, which sailed into the sky, carrying the national colors over the crowd.

The Polish group released carrier pigeons to take letters back home. The Irish with green skirts and the Scots with plaid kilts gained much applause.

The little groups from Japan, Korea, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa were heartily cheered. The line of red fetters from Egypt drew the attention of all the visitors. The Arabs from Syria and Palestine with their flowing head gear displayed the most unusual Scout garb.

Some of the Belgians marched past in the wooden clogs of their land. Scout bagpipers added a novel note to the music.

After the last company of tiny Hungarian cubs with waving grass tassels had saluted their Scoutmaster and their Regent, there was a wild stampede of khaki boys from the far side of the field. They had become tired of waiting, marching and of standing stiff and tense so they now gave way and with a shout rushed toward the reviewers' platform. It was an impetuous, happy flag charge. Lord Baden-Powell was

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

HEB. SAID: And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me.—John 12:32.

One office boy isn't worrying about this sleeping sickness. He says it is a brain disease.

We wonder how a self-respecting English feels now that Huey Long has been found out.

How would you like to be a business man in Havana, afraid to open your store for customers for fear they might turn on you and loot your shelves?

As we get it, in order to be the head of the Cuban government you have to have at least a couple of hundred men you can depend on who are armed with machine guns.

This is that part of the NRA campaign which was designed to stimulate sales through consumer activities. The idea is that consumers should buy now because they are saving money by doing so. They will not be able to buy later as cheaply as they can now.

What puzzles the American public is why this nation should be in air, military and naval preparedness, when it is spending as much money, even in comparison with the foreign leaders. Either our money is disgracefully wasted, our skill and management are woefully weak, or the hot-headed editors are talking through their hats.

One of the young ladies who has been giving lip service to the promotion of kissing marathons thinks that competitors in this line of work should promulgate for themselves a code of fair practice. There should be some limitation, for instance, on the number of laps which a marathon may properly include and some restrictions against those who would win by a hook.

Secretary Williams, they say, is being some of his former styles of inflation. He is beginning to realize that tampering with the currency in order to force prices would raise the prices of the things the farmers have to buy as well as the things they have to sell.

It is all events it appears that some one did a good job, not that the Senator's hearing was the best that might have been inflicted, but it was sufficient to focus public attention on the Louisiana monstrosity and might in some way help to influence the people in his own state to revolt against him.

For a time it appeared the idea that the development of machines had brought on the depression and caused widespread unemployment had collapsed with the downfall of Technocracy which, under the leadership of Howard Scott, had spent a good deal of energy and money in disseminating this theory. There have been indications that some people still cling to the belief that there can be no recovery until all progress from science and invention has been discarded.

They very logically point to the ditch-digger operated by one man and doing the work of ten, to the threshing machine which has thrown dozens of farm laborers out of jobs, to the linotype machine doing the work of eight printers, and innumerable other labor saving inventions which, taken individually and separately, without consideration of the broader features of our economic life, have actually put men out of work.

What they fail to recognize is that fully half of the business of the United States is known as the capital goods industries which have to do primarily with the manufacture and distribution of the very machinery to which they blame the depression. If the truth were fully known it would be realized that the decline in machinery production is more responsible for unemployment than labor saving devices.

Another aspect of the situation is presented by Richard T. Ely, head of the economics department of the University of Wisconsin, who writes what is almost a self evident fact that "human wants are literally insatiable." He holds to the belief that labor saving devices do not in reality curtail labor but merely increase production. If one machine can do the work of ten men, then potential demand will put all ten of them to work operating ten machines, and the net result will be ten times the former production.

This would lead us to the conclusion that there would then result an over-production which would stop the machines and put the men out of work. But we forget Mr. Ely's major premise that "human wants are literally insatiable." He contends that it is impossible to have an over-production in this world. "It is scarcely an exaggeration," he writes, "to say that it is inconceivable that we could ever produce enough to satisfy all human wants even if we consider only those wants the satisfaction of which on humanitarian grounds we must call desirable."

It is indeed difficult to conceive of a production of goods and other articles of commerce so great that all of us would have all the food, clothing, household furniture, office equipment, and the luxuries of life that we could possibly want if the element of cost were eliminated. We would wait a long time before we would say that there could be any over-production if we were prepared to furnish everyone of the 400,000,000 people of China, or the 350,000,000 of India, or the 150,000,000 of Russia, who would care to have them, with a radio, automobile, motor boat, or such similar manufactured articles as are now glutting the market in this country.

The problem obviously is one of under-consumption. As Mr. Ely expresses it, in his rather pedagogue language, "We have troublesome surpluses on account of a lack of proportionality." This long word he explains as bringing into proper balance and relationship the utilization of natural resources, of capital and of human toll of all sorts. "Unemployment," he says, "is the result of faulty distribution of the working forces or of some maladjustment of relations which prevents the ready exchange of products and services."

He then goes on to say that the real purchasing power of a country is represented by the goods and services which the people of the country have for exchange. "Goods and services," he writes, "are exchanged for goods and services." In the proper functioning of economic society, money and credit are simply the instruments—the media—whereby goods and services are exchanged. We need more production of goods and services; but they must be properly distributed so as to give us balance and proportionality.

In the earlier part of the last decade, when there was somewhat nearer balance between the productive forces of the country, there was no question of over-production, and there was no problem of unemployment due to labor saving devices. When these forces got out of balance, over-production and unemployment resulted though there had been no material increase in the use of machinery. Throughout all this period, both before 1929 and after, China, where machinery is almost unknown, has been prostrated by unemployment.

If a situation were conceivable in which this country produced no wheat or cotton but purchased all it used from China, in exchange for automobiles produced in this country, there could be no over-production of automobiles in this country, and no vast unused surpluses of wheat and cotton in China. The problem is one of bringing about some such large scale exchange of goods and not the curtailment of these goods by the elimination of machinery.

Where Credit Is Due

The big question of "who hit Huey" has been much in doubt, but latest information seems to indicate that this great honor belongs to one, Alford J. Williams, noted speed pilot, who has visited in Sanford on several occasions.

Williams, when confronted by reporters after alighting from a test flight, denied that it was he who planted his flat against the senatorial brow, but swollen knuckles, traces of iodine and a feeble effort to explain these evidences lend credence to the story that he performed the worthy service.

Another incident, occurring just as Mr. Williams was hurrying away from the reporters, almost proves the story. When Williams was leaving the field, one newspaper man overheard a friend of the flier say: "Listen Al; I'm not responsible for letting that out."

Other men at the airport were not so shy as Williams about the affair and have not been slow in acclaiming him as champion of the washroom of the Sands Point Bath Club. They go further and state that when Williams hits a man "he stays hit." They accredit the senator's account that he was attacked by a gang of men to the fact that the aviator's flat is more like a ham and that backed up by his 190 pounds of bone and muscle the senator could very well have gotten the impression he was being set upon by a whole army.

At all events it appears that some one did a good job, not that the Senator's hearing was the best that might have been inflicted, but it was sufficient to focus public attention on the Louisiana monstrosity and might in some way help to influence the people in his own state to revolt against him.

SUMS GIVEN TO CCC WORKERS IN SOUTH REVEALED

Commander Of Fourth Corps Area Makes His Official Report

FORT McPHERSON, Ga., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Wages totaling $3,600,000 have been disbursed by army finance officers among members of the Civilian Conservation Corps and their dependents in the Southeast, Major General Edward L. King, commander of the Fourth Corps area, reported yesterday.

His report covered the period from the beginning of the reforestation camps to Aug. 31. About $720,000 was paid directly to the workers and $2,880,000 was distributed among their dependents.

Wages, however, were only a portion of the money placed in circulation by the conservation work. A sum of $1,595,000 was spent for camp food, $175,000 for clothing and $1,201,600 for shelter and other facilities of the camps.

Wages and expenses ran up a total of $6,571,000 for the period, a great portion of which was spent in the South, General King said.

Citing contributions of the Conservation Corps to National Recovery, he quoted the following excerpts from a report of the director of emergency conservation work:

"Jobs have been given 350,000 persons, including 270,000 young men and 30,000 experienced foresters, 26,000 war veterans, 20,000 supervisors and civilians needed at the camps."

"Relief in some form has been extended to not less than 1,500,000 persons representing the families and dependents of the men given jobs in the Civilian Conservation Corps."

"Up to July 31, $42,000,000 had been shot into industrial and manufacturing channels."

"One hundred thousand dollars are spent daily for food."

"Twenty-three million dollars have been paid out in cash allowances. Most of this money, approximately $16,000,000, has gone in the form of allotment checks direct from the army finance officers to dependent families."

General King's report showed the following amounts were sent dependent families in the states of the Fourth Corps area during July and August: Tennessee, $200,000; Florida, $225,000; Alabama, $250,000; Mississippi, $182,000 and Louisiana, $195,000.

Black Sees Curry As Real Mayor Of City Of New York

NEW YORK.—Representative Loring M. Black, who will oppose Mayor John F. O'Brien in the Democratic primaries, in announcing that he had barely 30,000 signatures too his option designating him as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor, said that John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, is the "real Mayor of New York, and gets more than $1,000,000 a year to wreck the city and the Democratic Party."

Mr. Black called attention to the fact that Mayor O'Brien had been designated for a re-nomination by Curry and three other county leaders, with Edward J. Flynn, the Bronx Democratic leader, absent, in a private room of a club to which no representative of the 2,000,000 voters of the city had access. He recalled that the Senbury investigation has disclosed that a leader of Tammany called away $3,000,000 in four years, and this, said Mr. Black, was the income of only one boss.

"What is true of Curry," he said, "is true of his co-boss and silent partner, John H. McCooey. McCooey is content to take the cash and let the credit go. He cares not who gets the credit for running the mill so long as it grinds out golden dollars for himself and relatives."

He named Phil Dunn as the "personal attorney" for Mr. Curry and described him as the master of the under-cover government of the city. He said that Mr. Dunn could be found fitting among the shadows of City Hall, and that it was the intention of Mr. Curry to retire "at the end of four more years of O'Brien to a lovely estate where he may play golf on his private course." He said that Mr. Curry has already taken a lease on such an estate in Westchester county with the option of purchase.

LACK OF RELIGION IS BLAMED FOR TALK ABOUT WAR

Credit For Share Also Given To "Middle-Headed" Thinking

WESTPORT, N. Y., Sept. 2.—"Mad Science" thinking and lack of true religion is responsible for talk of the necessity for another war to solve the world problems," according to Dr. Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, and delegate to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva.

Speaking at the Western Union Service here recently, Dr. Woolley cited the old biblical dictum that "righteousness exalteth a nation" as the foundation of true patriotism and charged that the ignorance of the home-pan citizen "was as great a menace to world peace as imperialism."

"The next war is already discussed as a certainty in many offices, grocery stores, street corners, and bus stations," she said, "and where men talk the time away with middle-headed, middle-headed conversation, the danger is clear."

"While statements are being made together for disarmament, reduction and peace treaties, men who ought to know better are reasoning from ignorance and dragging themselves into a half-bred frame of mind. The home-pan citizen who flounders about among big suspects as such an enemy to peace as imperialism and the home-pan citizen."

"When I went to Geneva last year, I expected to find a great deal. As far as I can recall, I had no expectation of learning religion but I did."

"The good will of our neighbors is the greatest security time delegate after another emphasized that truth in other words, the supreme need for the world today is the fruit of the spirit—love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance. We need it in our homes, in our communities, in the nation, in the world."

One of the instances which was cited in the sheet of complaints introduced during the meeting concerns an organization which is operating locally. Employees associated with this organization are reported as receiving a minimum wage of 10 cents an hour, as compared with the 30 cent minimum wage required by the President's Agreement while some of these employees are being worked 80 hours per week, and others are known to have been worked 26 hours consecutively.

The Committee instructed General Glenn as head of the Investigating Committee to contact the employer in question and advise him that if steps are not taken to remedy this situation at once, the matter will be reported to Washington, and the whole case will be made known in Sanford.

The meeting was called primarily for the purpose of talking over with local druggists some of the problems and difficulties which are known to members of that profession who are signatories of the agreement.

Among the druggists present were W. E. Campbell, R. W. Anderson, E. D. Mobley, and J. C. Long.

Mr. Glenn explained to the group that the object of the committee is to assist all local groups in perfecting an organization within their own industry as a means of guaranteeing all members of that industry a fair and reasonable return on their investment, and preventing unfair competition.

U.S. DEFICIT AT END OF SECOND MONTH REPORTED
Emergency Expenditures Have Created Unbalanced Budget

But the total August expenditures exceeded the revenue by $225,000,000, as compared with $200,000,000 for the corresponding month last year. The deficit was the result of emergency expenditures for relief, which were not included in the original budget.

Sanford and Orlando Quit Central Florida League in Protest Over Delay in Ruling

Sanford and Orlando quit the Central Florida League today in protest over a delay in a ruling by the league's executive committee regarding the club's withdrawal from the league.

Mr. Douglas, president of the league, stated that he has repeatedly talked with Mr. Mandelcorn since that time and asked him to call a league meeting so that the first half matter could be ironed out. Yesterday morning Mr. Douglas decided that the club was being discriminated against, so he notified Mr. Mandelcorn of his decision to quit.

That the four remaining league directors are in for an interesting meeting tonight is assured, if all precedents in baseball are followed, the league president will declare the two withdrawing clubs out of the league, and he will make arrangements for a series between the leading clubs of the four that remain in the league. These clubs will fight it out for the league pennant, the third to be presented since the league was organized in 1931.

Claire Windsor Love Notes Are Cited in Court

Man Arrested in Tallahassee For Passing Fake Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A man who gave his name as J. R. Touchton, of New York, was arrested here Wednesday by Sheriff Frank Stoutamire and turned over to Gadsden County authorities to face charges of passing five counterfeit $10 bills in Quincy Wednesday.

Authorities said the bills were from Miss Windsor's, said Mrs. Read.

She was questioned about an outing party at Lake Tahoe.

The attorney asked her if she had quarreled at that time about Harold Belasco, formerly an employee of Read's brokerage concern. She denied this.

"We were staying at the lodge and Mr. Belasco brought a Miss Virginia McKinney up there," the witness said. "He was married and I knew his wife and I told Mr. Belasco I didn't think it was right for him to bring another girl to the party."

The witness previously had denied any misconduct at a party in her honor at a San Francisco hotel in 1929.

Heated replies of "No," were her answer or questions as to whether she had met Belasco alone in a separate room at the hotel and asked him to make love to her.

Federal Reserve Bank.

The man, whose name was not given, had one bill in his possession when arrested here and that corresponded to the five he was accused of passing in Quincy.

Gadsden County authorities said he arrived in Quincy yesterday by automobile and passed the bills in different places. Asked how persons who received the bills discovered they were counterfeit, Sheriff Will Irman of Gadsden County, said "Well, I guess we have some people here who know good money when they see it."

Bankers Told That Deposit Insurance Is For Their Benefit

insurance of absolute safety; (4) it will obviate the necessity of the postal savings bank and return to the banks more than a billion dollars in deposits; (5) the act will extend credit and modify cash reserves; (6) it will save banks millions of dollars by eliminating interest on demand deposits; (7) the expense and work in getting up the machinery is not prohibitive.

The association previously adopted a resolution deprecating that initiation of deposit insurance as postponed and charging that rigid requirements for banks to obtain deposit guaranty would result in the closing of thousands of them.

The comptroller announced Walter J. Cummings, of Chicago and E. G. Bennett, of Ogden, Utah, whom he described as "sound bankers and not politicians" would advise with him as directors of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to administer the deposit guaranty.

Bennet is a Republican, Cummings a Democrat; as provided by the law.

The recent growth of deposits in the postal savings bank, O'Connor said, was "interesting if not alarming." He placed the present total at $1,184,948,200. He put at $1,630,000,000 the peak load of bank withdrawals on last Mar. 6.

The guaranty plan would put all bank deposits of $2500 and less under guarantee Jan. 1. When the act becomes fully operative next July 1, deposits not exceeding $10,000 would be guaranteed 100 percent, those under $50,000 by 75 percent, and those above $50,000 to 50 percent.

He then quoted figures showing 94.76 percent of deposits in American banks amounted to less than $2500 each. To capitalize the Federal Deposit corporation, large sums would be contributed by the federal government and the federal reserve, and each bank would pay to the corporation an amount equal to one-half of one percent of its total deposits.

Bankers Told That Deposit Insurance Is For Their Benefit

COCOA, Sept. 8.—Cocoa lost a pitchers' battle to Leesburg here yesterday 2 to 0.

Leesburg garnered but four hits off Jake Baker against the Indians' three, but two of them came in succession in the opening inning to push over the first score. The fifth, Madlin walked and moved to second on a sacrifice, scoring on Parrish's double.

Cocoa got men to second and third in the ninth, but the rally collapsed without a score.

The Indians will meet Daytona here today in the playoff of a rained out contest.

Widespread Search Begun For Balloons

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A widespread search was underway today for two missing balloons—the international James Gordon Bennett balloon race. Fears were expressed that four occupants of the missing balloons, Goddard, IX, piloted by Ward T. Vanorman, and the Polish entry, piloted by Captain Franciszka Hryck, may have drifted over the Atlantic to their doom. The navy, coast guard and army, and Canadian authorities joined the search. It is impossible for the balloons to be in the air. They took off last Saturday.
