JONES SHOWS AMAZING GOLF TO WIN CROWN CITIES ON TRIP

Star Of Atlanta Completely Swamps English Champion When He Hits His Stride

Bobby Triumphs In Play By 10 Up

Success Today Makes Fourth Time Georgian Has Won Title

By Davis J. Walsh, International News Service, Special Editor

BRAEBURN COUNTY CLUB, WEST-NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—Bobby Jones, the greatest golfer of the age, today fell heir to one of the most formal triumphs of his triumphant career in completely routing the English champion, the British champion, to win the national amateur golf championship by 10 up and 9 to play.

It was the fourth time in the last five years that the amateur has taken the amateur title back to Georgia, with him, to say nothing of two national open championships and two British open events during the same interval.

The British amateur title alone has changed hands and today he just about became the informal holder of that honor through the unimpeachable beating he gave the current leader abroad.

McMinn has a week been defeated so soundly at Parkins in his final match. Of the 12 holes played, he won only two, the first and 17th this morning. In all, he lost 12 and contrived to halve the rest.

Jones' supremacy over the field of amateur golf has been no more, definitely emphasized by the events of the day and week. Three days ago, he defeated John Beck, ranking English star by 14 and 11, by the championship round yesterday, he beat another star, Phillips Finlay, in the semi-final by 12 and 12. Today, he took the representative champion of England over the jumps in a manner almost equally abrupt.

Perkins, like most of the others who have assayed to halt Jones' triumphal march to fame, if not fortune, blew up badly during the morning's play, winning only two holes during the round, while halving three in succession from the fifth to the seventh inclusive, and four successively from the 10th to the 13th.

Exclusive of the first hole, where Jones hadn't quite found the range yet, and the last four holes, which were halved, Perkins simply didn't belong in the same round with Jones, twice being forced to pick up and take a pair of 9's on two other holes.

Jones' morning medal round was a 72, 37 out, including a 6 on the first hole, and 25, back, two under the last nine included six pars and two birdies. Perkins' score was 100, 11th and 13th.

Perkins knew he was a losing battle from the moment he reached the turn 3 down. Still, he gave the crowd a fine show.

It also was learned that Jones was taken to the hotel about 8 o'clock, where he remained for the night. A party on the north side of the course, apparently occupied him until three o'clock in the morning, when he appeared alone in the lobby of the hotel and was recognized by an employee. He got into the cab and was taken to a remote spot in the country where he paid the bill and disappeared.

Dr. Fred M. Sutton, prominent physician here, turned out today to be the doctor wanted for testimony before the grand jury, in connection with Jones' disappearance.

Death Stalks In Wake Of Cyclone In Illinois; Hurricane Advances

Tropical Storm Heads Northwest Through Bahama Islands And For Florida's Coast

Center Expected To Strike Nassau Blow May Deflect At Any Moment, There- by Missing Seaboard

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The tropical hurricane which wrought havoc in Porto Rico today was moving in a northwesterly direction from a point just east of the Bahamas, and, barring deflection, will strike the northern Florida coast, the Weather Bureau reported today.

The storm passed over Turks Island, at the extreme end of the Bahamas, about midnight, without causing serious damage. Weather experts declared there was no cause for anxiety at present as the storm was moving at a rate of about 200 miles a day and there would be ample time for warning if it should head into the Florida coast. They declared there was a possibility of the hurricane's being deflected out to sea.

The Weather Bureau stated about twenty-two thirty north, about thirty east, moving northward. It is expected that the storm will pass near Nassau Sunday forenoon. Because of diagnostic character of this storm all vessels should exercise greatest caution in the Bahamas.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 13.—Facing the most hurricane ever to strike the lower coast, residents of the Palm Beaches today were preparing for the storm, the fifth to strike this section this year.

Weather reports indicate that the tropical disturbance moving in this direction will hit the section early Sunday morning. Boats were urged to anchor, huge storms taken down and a few of the latter late afternoon boarded up.

Unofficial barometer readings here show the winds at 7:30 and slowly sliding downward. There was little to do, however, except to await the coming of the storm.

Stock Slump Halts As Picture Shares Begin Slight Rally

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Most of the traces of yesterday's brief collapse of the amusement stocks had passed before the end of the five hour today, and all sections of the market were ready for a moderate rally. The moving picture shares recovered about 1 1/2 points each for the morning and 1 1/2 points for the day. The oil remained without interruption the forward movement which has been in progress since Wednesday and the oil stocks were again in demand at the best price of the week.

A favorable impression was created in the financial district by the week-end business announcement, which resumed the continuation of progress in important lines of trade and industry. Bankers and brokers held out the prospect of a 6-12 percent rise in the price of rail stock next week, a more important immediate factor. Trading was somewhat restricted by the absence of operators and speculators in their observance of the religious holiday.

New York Central, Great Northern and other high grade railroad stocks led the upward movement in that section of the market. This in the harvest season for the railroads in more respects than any and the last four months of the year is the most important period of accumulation of railroad stocks. Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio and other standard dividend plays advanced 1 to 2 points in confident manner. Equipment stocks were also well bought on the prospect of increasing business for the locomotive builders.

Officials Of Track To Institute Probe Of Betting Scandal

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Arlington race track officials today ordered a sweeping investigation into the activities of tipsters here in an effort to unearth a turf racket held to be responsible for the alleged Arlington betting scandal. The scandal involved the names of Joseph E. C. Allen, O. F. Foster, his contract employer, and two prominent National League baseballists.

At a special meeting of the Arlington board last night Allen was completely vindicated of all complicity in the alleged tipster racket. The charges upon which the jury was halted before the turf tribunal were that he transmitted information on "blood races" to persons high in baseball circles.

Immediately following the conclusion of the jury Allen the Illinois Racing Association began a search for the man who impugned him in the tipping scandal and a young woman who posed as his wife.

BOASTFUL KILLER CLAIMS HE WON'T EVER GO TO CHAIR

Gangster, Jail Breaker And Slayer Makes Threat To Officers

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The boss of Paul Jaworski, hoodlum, killer and jail breaker, today claimed he would never die in a electric chair, was interrupted by a possible threat to police here today.

With John Vashinder, Jaworski's pal, a crime adviser and gunman still at large, authorities were apprehensive of an attack on the city hospital where Jaworski had critically wounded.

Thursday, Jaworski killed patrolman Anthony Wenczek, wounded patrolman George Klinger and a bystander, Benjamin Majstrek, before he was trapped in a house, wounded and captured. Vashinder fled when the shooting began and has not been found.

Jaworski told officers that the remnants of the old "flagship gang" of which he was once the leader, were in town, armed with machine guns and explosives. He threatened that Vashinder would lead them in an attempt to free him.

As a result, a cordon of police had been stationed around the hospital today. Inside, in the police ward, Jaworski's cot is constantly watched by police, with their guns ready for instant action. Downstairs windows and doors were kept securely locked last night.

There are no identified dead, but one of the slain, a young man, died in a hospital. The death of the young man was under a variety of unaccounted being dead.

In plant "B" of the Rockford Chair and Furniture Company, where recovered worked all night in the light of improvised lanterns and flashlights, 12 men are known to be buried.

Twelve hundred people are believed to be in a bit of a panic because of the earthquake that three hours ago was reported by a single earthquake agency, of both smaller and larger size, east of them are workers in the factories near their homes.

The number of injured was estimated by medicos today at 200. Property damage, as first believed to amount to $2,000,000 is actually only $1,000,000, a check today showed.

Three hundred houses were either whirled into giddy masses of debris or flattened under the blankets by the fantastic whim of the whirlwind.

The dead include Everett Cummings, 15; his cousin, Edward H. Cummings, 16; George Eugene Berg, 17; Martinus and John Emanuel, Eugene Cummings, 17, year old brother of Edward and Virginia, was with the other three boys when a house roof collapsed on them as they were walking along the street. He wasn't even scratched.

"I didn't see anything coming and didn't know what had hit us," the boy said. "The air seemed to be full of flying wood. I screamed, but the others lay still. I ran and got help." "Why did you ever come here?" demanded Mrs. Cummings, mother of Everett. The family had just moved here from Iowa.

GERMANY BACKS DELEGATES

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The German Cabinet, after a double session today, issued a communication stating that it approved the attitude of the German delegation at Geneva, which is negotiating immediate withdrawal of the occupation troops from the Rhineland.

NEGROES ARE JAILED

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Sept. 13.—(INS)—Clayton Stevens and John Jones, negroes, seen in jail here today charged with the murder of Tom Bartlett, one of the Rockford chief of police. The negroes were brought here on Saturday. A third negro was shot during the pistol duel with the Rockford police and is believed dying.

Small Vote Forecast As Only 1,530 Are Qualified As Electors

With 10 amendments to be voted upon, citizens of Sanford will go to the polls on Tuesday to voice their views upon proposed changes in the City charter. It will be the second charter election held here in 12 months. Five amendments having been submitted to the people in August, 1927, three of them being adopted.

The new changes were suggested by the City Commission and have been championed recently in a series of news stories by Mayor E. F. Housholder. Chief interest centers upon an amendment, which would increase the City Commission to five members, and another which would prohibit the holder of a county or state office from occupying a place on the Commission.

Little enthusiasm, however, has been manifested in general in the approaching election and as a result, local political observers today forecast a light vote. Although there are between 2,500 and 3,000 voters registered on the city books, only 1,530 are qualified by virtue of exemption or payment of poll taxes. This figure was given out today by H. C. DuBois, supervisor of registration, who has just completed a check of the books.

A year ago interest in the charter election was at such pitch that (continued on page three)

Gator Yearlings Hold 1st Practice Of Season Under Coach Cowell's Direction

Two Hundred And Sixty High School Stars, Including Some Of Outstanding Players Of Last Year, Put In Appearance

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Sept. 14—(ANB)—Football men who scintillated on Florida high school grids last year, and in former seasons; a few from distant prep schools and many others who have played with out attaining the colorful heights of stardom, gathered in one big group on Murphree Field Wednesday afternoon as Coach Drady Cowell launched freshmen football practice at the University of Florida. One hundred and sixty candidates, ranging in weight from 118 to 240 pounds, greeted a large and curious crowd of spectators who came to pass a personal inspection on the material that will carry Florida colors this year, and in seasons to come.

It is too early to hazard predictions. Throughout the Southern Conference institutions are looking with admiration upon their respective first year football squads. However in the big group that assembled in Gatorland Wednesday to scamper through Mentz Cowell's first-day program of work, were revealed many signs to cause even the dubious to show signs of optimism.

From the bustling city of Jacksonville came such celebrated high school athletes as "Monk" Dorsett, Horace Marsh, Roland Dyson, Francis Brennan, Earl Hirsch, Leo Wernicoff Alvarez and a half dozen other lesser lights. Marsh unfortunately snapped his knee out of joint while running down a punt and will likely be forced to delay his practice for several days. Scaling an even 200 pounds, the All Southern prep star, is regarded as one of Cowell's out-standing candidates. Dorsett, whose long, spiraling punts boomed high over the field, appeared in wonderful condition, weighing an even 185 pounds.

From points nearly 400 miles from Jacksonville came other well known football boys—Al Dodge, the giant tackle; Whitson and Quilian, from Miami, Don Forsthe, the big football hero of Pensacola for the past three years. St. Petersburg contributed three prominent lights to the freshman debut party—Clarence Phil, all-state tackle and the Pressman brothers, 208 pounds, tough and ambitious.

Tampa's delegation included the well-known Carlos Proctor, full-back who appears destined for a fine college career; Rene Millan, the 128 pound all-state quarter; Lekey, big 215 pound Colorado youth who prepped last year at Tennessee Military Institute, Jimmy White, the ex-Hillsboro flash, and Gen. McGuehen, big lineman.

There are many somewhat familiar names on the boards Wednesday—George McGallister and Henry Vandergrift, of Palatka; the Graham brothers from Daytona Beach; McCormick and Harroll of Mirianna, Pritchard, Howell Sparkman and Couch of Plant City; Burnett from Bradenton; Carmichael and Sanderson of West Palm Beach; Ludwig and Weaver of Gainesville, out of football for the past four years; Pederson of Bartow; Davis and Jones of Ocala; Baker of Delray; Tyson of St. Cloud; Tunnell from G. M. C. Richbourg from Crestview; Drew from Clearwater; Parnell from Stuart, and a host of others.

With the first turn-out of squad today, came announcement from Athletic Director Everett Von of the completion of the freshman schedule, with the following dates: Auburn at Columbus, Ga., October 13; Georgia at Jacksonville, October 26; Clemson at Orlando November 12; Mississippi A. and M. at Gainesville, November 24, and South Carolina at Columbia, November 29.

GIANTS AND CUBS CROWD LEADERS IN LEAGUE FIGHT

Cards Lead New York Outfit By Game And Half In Close Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—(INS)—With the Giants and the Cubs crowding, the league leader Cardinals like a couple of bill collectors, the hectic National League race today reminds the finish line of the great 1908 race when three teams reared down the finish line half a game apart. The Cards led the Giants by only a game and a half today with the Cubs another half a game in the rear.

The Cubs pulled a Macbeth on the Reds yesterday. They invited the Red Sox to their castle and then exterminated them with a barrage of pineapples in the form of 14 assorted baze hits. Knocking Mitchell and Johnson out of the box, English Cuyler and Hartnett each collected single and batted home to a 6 to 1 lead. A good crowd of 45,000 pennant mad Chicagoans was on hand.

Whether or not they win the flag, the inspired Giants must be rated as one of McGraw's most courageous teams. Winning three successive double bills, is quite a feat, even with the Braves as the opposition. And the New Yorkers are primed to take another double header from Boston today.

Continuing their ferocious hitting, the Giants won the first game yesterday by a 12 to 2 score behind Benton's good pitching. They came from behind twice to grab the nightcap 7 to 6. The Braves almost tied the score in

Sammy Baker Gets Shady Decision In Fight With Corbett

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—(INS)—They pulled another decision out of a hat last night at Madison Square Garden and when young Corbett's name came up first he was awarded an undeserved victory over Sergeant Sammy Baker after 12 rounds of hair-trigger marksmanship.

Baker won six rounds and three were even. Corbett took the second, third and seventh and if there was a shade in the fourth it was his.

How the three officials—referee Lou Magnolia and judges Tom Flynn and George Kelly—arrived at the weird verdict is a mystery. It certainly was as sour a break as Baker ever got in his career, for he was fighting to establish his long awaited chance at Joe Dundee and the welterweight title.

Corbett took the seventh round by slamming the Sergeant to the mat with a terrific left hook to the pit of the stomach. For a moment it appeared that the gallant

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

WAIT ON GOD—The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and raiseth up all those that are bowed down. The eyes of all that wait upon thee; and thou givest them their meat in due season.—Psalm 145:14,15.

PRAYER—Lord God, no good thing dost Thou withhold from them that walk uprightly.

Even a cold shoulder would be acceptable in August.—The Toledo Blade.

"City Commission Acts Criticized"—headline make Worth Leader. What a funny way to act!

A straw ballot not only shows which way the wind is blowing but it also provides food for thought.

The reason some people don't put on weight when they eat lots of starches is because all the fat apparently goes to their heads.

Sanford is getting a lot of publicity—or rather Mrs. Sanford is—through Al Smith's attack on the "whispering campaign".

There is but one fundamental issue in this campaign—prosperity.—New York Herald Tribune. It might have added—"and who's got it."

St. Petersburg, Sanford, Tampa, etc. to the contrary, Dr. Kellogg will make no mistake in selecting Sarasota for his sanitarium. Sarasota Times. If he does.

The State Marketing Commissioner estimates the perishable crop of Florida for the 1928-29 season at $100,000,000. It is difficult to be pessimistic in the face of such reports.

There is still some talk of horse racing in Miami this winter. But of course there will be no gambling. There are laws in Florida against gambling, of course there could be no gambling.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and ardent wet, has come to the support of Herbert Hoover. In all probability as many "nullifiers" are supporting Hoover as Smith.

During a lightning storm in Tampa the other day a woman was severely injured by a bolt. That's nothing. They had a storm in Tex. as the other day and several hundred were injured by the bolts.

The Republican party held a meeting in Sanford this week. Their candidates for governor and for congress from this district spoke to about two hundred persons. Let Doyle Carlton and Ruth Bryan Owen speak from the same platform in this city and there would be two thousand citizens out to hear them.

Seminole county this winter will have at least 100 acres of grape vineyards planted and growing, a survey of the county made recently indicated. Ten acres of grapevines are now growing near Longwood, south of Sanford, and preparations are being made to set out more than eighty additional acres between now and January first.—Polk County Record.

As this is being written a hurricane is reported to be blowing in the vicinity of Porto Rico with a velocity of over one hundred and thirty miles an hour, and coming somewhat in this general direction. Sanford people should bear in mind, however, that the hurricane blows in circles and actually moves toward us only ten or fifteen miles an hour.

Only a short time before the hurricane hit Porto Rico a young man left the island in a collapsible canoe with a sail bound for Florida. If the storm comes anywhere near him his canoe will be of about as much use to him under the circumstances as a pot full of gold, and in all probability will collapse. This is a bad time of year to go canoeing in the waters of the West Indies.

That Second Amendment

Among the ten amendments to the City Charter to be voted upon by the citizens next Tuesday is one, dealing with the membership of the Commission, which would prevent a person already holding office in the county or state from becoming a city commissioner. This amendment in our opinion is both unwise and unnecessary and should be voted against.

We have had in the past, while the Commission was composed of but three members, commissioners who at the same time held other offices, and while we do not say that their work as commissioners was above reproach, or even worthy of the most modest commendation, nevertheless we do not believe their failure to function properly in the city office was due in any way to the burdensome duties of the other offices which they held.

On the other hand there are at the present time certain county and state officials who would make excellent city commissioners. The position of public servant should embody at least honesty of purpose, independence of will, and clearness of intellect, qualities all too hard to find in any one man from any class of society. We cannot see any sound reasoning in outlawing from city offices, which have gone begging for years, men who are ably qualified, simply because the people have seen fit to call upon them for other duties.

At the present moment we can think of no two men in Sanford who could serve this city with greater distinction, who could go further toward restoring confidence in the Commission and in working out our financial problems than John Meisch and L. P. Hagan. The former is a county commissioner; the latter a representative. Should this particular amendment carry, they would be barred from the City Commission.

We do not know that either of these men would consider for one minute adding to their present responsibilities by entering the race for the Commission. We do not believe either of them entertains the slightest desire for the job. We are fully convinced however that they could be elected if they should decide to run. Certainly it would not be wise to pass an amendment to the charter which would prevent them from qualifying.

We shall vote for five commissioners; we shall vote for the other amendments; but we shall not vote to eliminate from a possible choice as city commissioners two of the most ably qualified men in this community.

Another Hurricane

As this is being written a hurricane of unusual intensity is raging in the Old Bahama Channel, just north of the eastern end of Cuba. Barometers are reported falling at Nassau, and in all probability by the time this is being read, the storm will be centering about Andros Islands very close to Nassau. So for another Sunday and perhaps for an additional twenty-four hours, Florida people will suspiciously watch the skies, and anxiously wait.

This particular hurricane was first reported in the Windward Islands of the Lesser Antilles, several thousand miles southeast of the lower Florida coast. It swept north and to the west across Porto Rico, demolishing San Juan. The wind velocity at this point was said to be over one hundred and thirty miles an hour. Wind instruments are destroyed at this velocity, so it is impossible to say accurately just how fast the wind did blow.

Yesterday, about noon the storm center was reported as lying between Cape Haiti and Turks Island, about three hundred miles to the northwest of Porto Rico. Thus it may be seen that the storm while blowing at the rate of possibly one hundred and fifty miles an hour actually moves in a given direction only twelve or fifteen miles an hour. Meteorologists account for this by the fact that hurricanes blow in circles, like tornadoes, at great speed, while moving slowly along.

At its present rate, if we concede that it makes straight for the Florida coast and does not veer to the northeast as so often happens, the center of the storm will probably reach the lower East Coast about noon tomorrow. If it should continue on toward Sanford, it would not likely hit us before late Monday morning. So at least we have nothing to fear for another two days.

In the meantime many things can happen. The storm might possibly swing to the west, passing through the Straits of Florida by Key West and into the Gulf of Mexico. But what is more likely to happen is that it will follow the curve of the Great Bahama Bank striking the Gulf Stream somewhere near Miami and turn in a northeasterly direction into the Atlantic. This is the usual course of storms passing through the Old Bahama Channel.

Throughout tonight and Sunday The Herald will keep in as close touch as possible with the location and probable course of the storm and will be glad to give out all information obtainable about it to Sanford people telephoning us.

STATE EXPENSES MUST BE REDUCED TAMPA TRIBUNE

A recent statement showed that the cost of the state government for last year reached $40,000,000, and that the state collected, from all sources, for the same period $35,000,000. Naturally, under this state of affairs, the millage had to be increased. For this year the tax rate is one and one-half mills higher than that for last year.

With present conditions in the state government prevailing, there is little or no hope that the situation will improve. If the state's expenses continue increasing as in recent years the tax rate will continue to increase. There is only one remedy and that is a reduction of state government expenses. Unquestionably, this reduction must be made and in the immediate future. Nothing can be done along this line until the new state administration comes into office. Much of it will have to be done by the next Legislature, which meets in April of next year.

Doyle Carlton, who will be the next Governor, has pledged himself to a policy of economy in state government affairs, which contemplates cutting off all items of expenditures not absolutely necessary to the efficiency of government. With co-operation of the Legislature and the heads of departments, he will be able to effect a marked saving for the taxpayers. Discussion of how this saving may be made without weakening the machinery of the state government is now in progress in the state press and among members of the next Legislature.

The Jacksonville Times-Union goes into the subject at some length and reaches the conclusion that "one of the most serious drains on the state treasury is a multiplicity of commissions, or boards that exist, the number having been constantly increased for some years past, and few, if any, abolished." The greater number of these commissions or boards, the Times-Union finds, "cost in excess of the benefits derived." Some of them overlap, which makes needless expense. A considerable saving to the state could be effected by consolidating some of these commissions and their duties. The Times-Union learns that the head of one department of the state government operates through no less than 15 boards or commissions; another is a member of more than 20 commissions or boards. What reason or demand is there for this large number of auxiliary bodies in a state government which, in its fundamentals, is so simple and direct as that of Florida?

CROP REPORT ORLANDO REPORTER-STAR

According to the report of L. M. Rhodes, commissioner of the state marketing bureau, Florida received $51,000,000 for its citrus crop last season.

When the acreage in grove is taken into account, and comparison made with the acreage to wheat or corn in any single state, or with the apple crop in any apple producing state, the profitability of the citrus industry is best understood.

Another significant fact shown by the report of the commissioner is, that last year more than double the amount of money was received for the smaller crop of 27.28 than for the larger crop of the year previous. This would indicate that the Reporter-Star was correct in its assertion that the problem is less one of production than in finding a profitable market.

Growers have had the experience of having to take a price for their fruit that was unprofitable because Florida and California happened to have large fruit crops the same year. Hence the citrus grower, like the apple grower, occasionally experiences difficulty locating a market for his fruit at an adequate price. And at times, bad marketing policies bring loss to growers. This latter is being overcome by organization. The citrus clearing house has great possibilities in this direction.

To the average man, the experience of the average man engaged in citrus culture is most convincing. Take, for instance, a man like Frank Eaton, who came to Florida 40 years ago and worked as a hired man for a few years and then started a small grove of his own and built it up by common sense rules. He never had over 20 acres of grove, and yet, taking one year with another for more than a quarter of a century, he has made money producing oranges. He is a successful grower, though he would not classify as an expert or scientific man.

George Marsh is another example. Coming here about seven years ago a novice in the industry, he has developed into one of the most successful growers in the state. He is simply practical. He grows good stuff and he makes good money. Or take Eli Walker, the cracker who has grown rich growing oranges in the Indian river section where low land is used and has to be ridged up for the trees, and drainage is as carefully looked after as fertilizer. These three men will give a cross-section of the industry who represent the scores of men who have made good in the citrus industry by simply being practical. None of them ever get into the spotlight, but they represent the real growers of Florida who give first hand study and first hand attention to their groves.

bureau or board, but most of them devoting their time to campaigning for one or more candidates for state office. Florida has been and still is inspector-ridden. One Tampa business man reported recently that no less than four inspectors visited his place of business regularly, each for a particular phase of "inspection." Clearly, this is a waste of the public funds.

It is true that some of these boards or commissions pay their own way through fees collected, but these fees are a form of taxation, levied by the state, and adding to the amount paid by the people for the support of the state government.

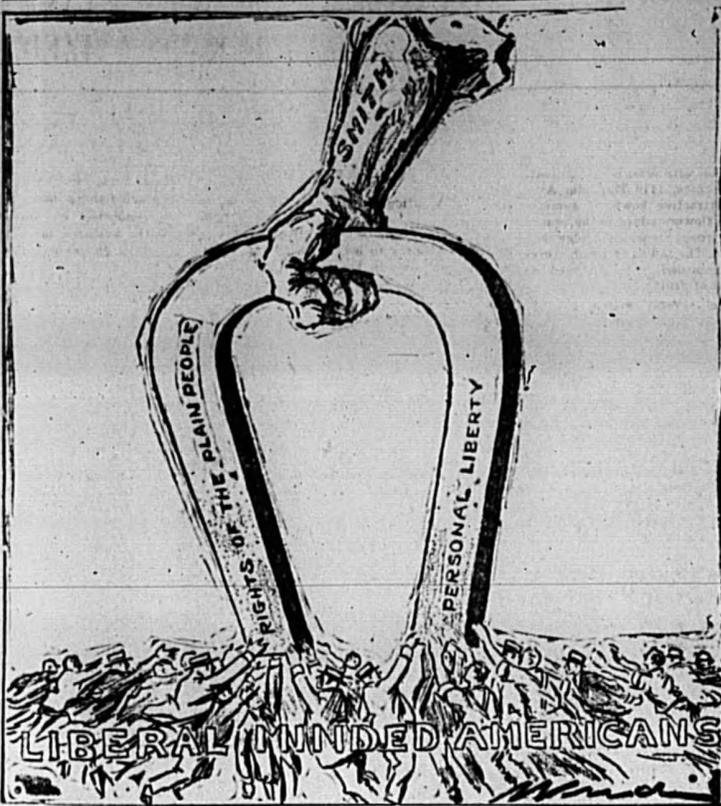

A member of the next Legislature advises The Tribune that he will introduce, early in the session, a bill abolishing these inspection jobs, as now operated under the various departments, and combining those which are found to be necessary under one head, as a state bureau of inspection. By this means, he expects to reduce the number of inspectors more than one-half. Supplementing this legislation, there should be serious consideration in the next Legislature of the advisability of abolishing a number of useless boards and commissions. All these bodies cost the people money, either through their maintenance from the state treasury, or the fees which the public is required to pay them.

Florida earned a high reputation throughout the country for the sanity and conservatism of its governmental financing. The state has long much of this reputation in the past few years. It must regain it, and at the same time, protect its taxpayers and citizens against extravagant expenditures of public funds. The only way to do this to abolish unnecessary offices, boards and commissions and adopt a policy of strict but not crippling economy—and stick to it.

THE FARM WOMAN'S VOTE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER

Do the country women show more activity at the polls than the city women? The evidence seems to prove that throughout the West, at least, they do. Marie Darrach contributes an entertaining article to The Commonwealth on "The Farm Woman's Vote," in which she relates circumstances going to explain the increased concern of politicians in each party over the way the women will vote this year.

Her observations have to do mainly with the women in the farming sections of the West, but they might apply to the women of the country as a whole. She tells of the independent farm women organizations in Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska which have generated a sufficient vital strength to have engaged the attention of the campaign managers of both parties. It is recalled that there were 15 farm women with the delegation at Kansas City, and ten prominent women farmers from the Middle-west spoke their minds, either officially or unofficially, at the Democratic convention at Houston.

Each one was the owner of a real "dirt" farm, raising cattle, hogs and corn. Each was a spokeswoman of thousands of independent farm women at home, to whom agrarian problems are vital issues.

There are 27,000,000 farmers living on 6,000,000 farms in the United States and included in this large segment of the electorate are nearly as many women as men. The question as to whether the heaviest voters, Mrs. Darrach, that farm woman who not only cast their ballots for duty to the Commission, that they vote intelligently with a more definite understanding of the value of a vote than other women engaged in the professions or in business. Furthermore, they contracted the habit of voting regularly. The education that besides the great agricultural relief movement, women are relatively more exercised about the other campaign issues—prohibition, which is openly discussed and argued about which they are more engaged—than women who live in cities. An expression of their opinion on these questions can readily be expected at the polls in connection with their choice of a President. Theoretically it might be expected that the women of the Middle West farm belt are Protestants and that therefore they would be counted on to vote for Democrats. On that point, Mrs. Darrach herself with due regard to it might be said, she says that "the Republican campaign managers are far from w-

Purchasing Power Of Farm Products To Be Measured By Newly Adopted Method

Scheme Is Based Upon Retail Prices Which Farmers Pay For What They Buy Instead Of Prices Of Non-Agricultural Goods

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—(INS)—The Agriculture department has adopted a new system for measuring the purchasing power of farm products.

It is based on retail prices that farmers pay for what they buy instead of the wholesale prices of non-agricultural goods for comparison. Officials believe it more accurately reflects the farmers' financial position because "farmers obtain most of their supplies at retail rather than at wholesale and a retail index is therefore more appropriate as a measure of the exchange value of farm commodities."

The change is illustrated in the June price index number, just determined. It showed the purchasing power of farm products was 51 percent of the level prevailing in the five-year period from July, 1909, to July, 1914. The general tendency is to show a higher purchasing power.

Purchasing Power

"It should be noted, however, that the new index numbers do not measure the purchasing power of the farmers, but merely that of a fixed quality of farm products," the department warned.

"Under the new system the department takes the prices which farmers pay for the family living and for operating the farm. Indices of these prices are constructed with practically the same base period, 1910-1914, and as nearly as possible, in the same manner, as the index of prices received by farmers for the commodity as they sell."

"The prices paid are weighted by estimates of quantities purchased for the average farm in the period, 1920-1925. In other words, an attempt is made to measure the purchasing power of farm commodities in terms of the usual things that farmers actually buy. But the list of such things does not include all the values for which farm income is disbursed. It does not include, for example, such items as interest on mortgages and loans, rent and railroad fares."

"Naturally, measurement of farm commodity purchasing power on a retail basis instead of wholesale price comparisons, calls for a slightly different system from that used by the index numbers previously in use. Retail prices commonly lag behind wholesale prices in readjustment periods. When prices are advancing it is usual for wholesale prices to advance more quickly and more steeply than retail prices."

When Prices Drop

"The opposite happens in periods of falling prices. In consequence of the new index number system shows, for the early years of the post-war depression period, a smaller disparity between the prices of farm products and the prices of other goods than was shown by the old system. On the other hand, when prices are advancing the tendency is for the retail comparison to show less advance than would be shown by the wholesale comparison."

In June of this year the purchasing power attained by farm products was the highest since 1920. The index number was 54, with a base 100 representing 1910-1914. Corresponding figures, based on the new system, are 99 for 1927; 75 for 1921; 1 for 1922; 34 for 1923; 87 for 1924; 92 for 1925; 87 for 1926; and 83 for 1927.

In June the prices received for farm products were 140 per cent of the pre-war level, compared with 130 per cent a year ago.

Among the contributing factors to the high cost of living are: the facts in June were: farm cars and furnishings at 208 per cent of pre-war; clothing, 179 per cent; home building materials, 151 per cent.

Robinson Leaves For Jacksonville Speech

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 15.—(INS)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, left for Jacksonville today following an overnight meeting in the municipal auditorium last night in which he flayed the Republican Party.

Hundreds stood outside the huge building, hearing Robinson's attack on the alleged practices of the Republican administration by means of amplifiers. Every seat, 3,500 in the auditorium was taken and scores lined the walls and aisles.

He repeated his declaration that the religious issue was solely responsible for the opposition to Governor Smith in the South. Senator Robinson will speak in Jacksonville tonight, after which he will go to Miami for an address, these friends

SOUTHERN SHOWS BIG GROWTH WITH SPIVEY AS CHIEF

Methodist Educator Is Starting 4th Year At Lakeland School

SOUTHERN COLLEGE, LAKE LAND, Sept. 14.—(Special)—With the opening of school week Monday, Dr. Laund M. Spivey, president of Southern college, will begin his fourth year as chief executive of Florida Methodist educational institutions.

It will "graduate" this year, for when the year has ended he will have served through a student organization of four years. The trustees who voted Dr. Spivey at the beginning of his administration will make up the senior class of the forthcoming year. Therefore, he is about to reap his first crop of graduates. The class of '29 will be five times the size of the class of '25.

Since coming to southern, President Spivey has succeeded in boosting the enrollment to three times the number he found when he came to the college. He has also built up a half million dollar fund, but in the very near future will have a million dollar fund. He has also built up a half million dollar fund, but in the very near future will have a million dollar fund.

Under his leadership, the physical plant has been enlarged to the extent of a territory for men, a large gymnasium, and an athletic field. The college's faculty has been increased and the faculty standard raised to that of Southern on an equal footing with the south's educational institutions of first rank. And all this has been accomplished in spite of the effects of the great depression which began in Florida last as he took over the helm at Southern.

During the three years he served as chair of the national southern colleges, Birmingham, Ala., he was associated with President Guy Stewart of that institution in the founding the enrollment from 200 to 1,000 students. Last year Southern college's student body, including extension students, numbered 800. President Spivey is now working toward a goal of 1,000.

Comparatively a young man, he was named president of Southern at the age of thirty-eight. He is a member of one of the most distinguished organizations of the South. He is a speaker of marked ability and is in demand all over Florida. He is decidedly democratic, being a "good palmer" and "solid farmer."

Energy and capability mark his personality. He is one of the first to work for better on the college campus each day and is usually the first to leave to the evening when he is not hurrying about over the state in the interest of Southern.

WHEN he has your MONEY

TRUE transient peddler who rings your front door bell—he's a stranger to you and you are not even a memory to him after he has unloaded his unknown, unbranded goods on you and left town with your money.

He has no further interest in your satisfaction, in your good will, in your future patronage. His is a one-time transaction.

But your local merchant considers your patronage as a trust. He takes your money subject to your satisfaction. He knows he has to build up a steady, repeat patronage or he cannot continue in business.

He is very exacting in the merchandise he carries. It must come to him guaranteed so he can in turn guarantee it to you. He is jealous of his good reputation as a merchant and as a citizen—both depend upon his fair dealing—in giving good quality, in giving good values, in making good on unsatisfactory transactions.

His sole interest is not in your purchase of today but in your continued good will and perpetual patronage.

FLORIDA'S SUGAR INDUSTRY SLATED FOR BIG GROWTH

Canal Point, Clewiston Will Be Centers Of Big Producing Area

TAMPA, Fla. Sept. 15.—(INS)—Florida's booming once more, or at least part of it is, as a result calls for an increase in the sugar of an expansion program that industry from two million to 26 million within five years.

A huge sugar company has installed its plant at Clewiston and plans to increase it unit by unit until it has an output of 20,000 tons per day. The mill at present has a payroll of $15,000 per week.

Similar conditions are found at Canal Point, where the same company is operating another plant. Approximately 100 homes for negro cane workers are needed there and the total cost of these, which are being constructed...

POLITICS TO HAVE MINOR EFFECT ON GROWTH IN TRADE

Credit Prospects And Crop Yields To Weigh The Most Influence

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(INS)—The degree of seasonal expansion in industry this fall will be largely dependent on credit prospects and crop yields and politics will play a secondary role in the opinion of well-informed observers.

For the most part, as far as the 1928 political situation is concerned, the choice is between two personalities rather than two distinct economic programs. There are no major economic problems for which the election is expected to provide a solution.

Business generally seems to be in good condition, judging from a survey issued by the National Bank of Commerce in New York. Among other things the survey points out that:

- 1. The steel industry has completed a half year of record output and is still having a sustained and diversified volume of demand. The industry does not now see in prospect such a decline of production as the last half of the year brought.
- 2. Construction work is at a high level. The lumber industry finds itself in the best position of a number of years.
- 3. Readjustments that will prove beneficial are being made in the coal industry.
- 4. Rubber consumption for June set a new high record. Tire manufacturers are operating on heavy schedules as consumers' demand approaches its seasonal peak.
- 5. Shoe production is picking up in anticipation of a good fall trade.
- 6. This year's harvest probably will be fairly good, although not all sections will share equally. The outlook for fruit crops is excellent.

The increase in the British tonnage, amounted to 566,328 gross tons, 2.8 per cent, against 414,203 gross register tons for Germany. Germany's total tonnage now amounts to 70 per cent of the total on June 30, 1924.
