

SEA WALL GREAT ASSET TO SANFORD

IS BEING LAUDED FAR AND WIDE BY CITIZENS AND VISITORS

A little more than a half dozen years ago, lamented W. L. Holden, who was always thinking out and proposing live, go-ahead things for Sanford, mooted sea wall construction. Realizing the splendid civic move would be, E. T. Woodruff, then engaged in publishing for our city an industrial edition entitled Draughtsman McGinn, in making a drawing representing the undertaking as it would appear completed. From the drawing Mr. Woodruff had an electro made and pictured most attractively the bulkhead and boulevard, all built and finished. Following this, The Sanford Herald, then a prosperous year-old paper, was founded by "Robt" Holly and developed from the assets of the defunct "Sanford Chronicle," took up the sea wall slogan, sounding name sonorously and with its ever enterprising and unflinching efficiency. Our wide awake, practical councilmen caught the forward move animus and initiated the project. Then came forward two of our most public spirited townsmen, assumed the construction and overcoming unforeseen, most discouraging obstacles are able to turn their splendid accomplishment over to the city, all triumphantly complete.

Sanford's new sea wall is a magnificent piece of substantial and enduring construction. Messrs. Walker and Mahoney have suffered heavy loss from sea in so far as possible the city will surely relieve them, they have undertaken the work at a low cost and being at the best location of pocket in the venture. The successful engineering and the forward strides of our city are attracting attention all about and around. Thursday's issue of the Times-News has the following nice things to say of us:

No improvement strides ever made by the city of Sanford equal or repeat even compare with those of the present year. Handsome and expensive new churches, a really grand new Elks' building on the water front, large and costly additions to school edifices and facilities, fine new business and residence structures, enlargement of old and location of new manufacturing industries, with fine new government buildings, spacious and well appointed community hall, tourist hotel and other splendid public utilities in early prospect, mark an epoch of unprecedented thrift and prosperity all the city's enterprise fully warranted and supported by thousands of acres rich with promise of golden returns as the result of the intensive white farming, stretching miles upon miles in each direction from the town supplemented by many nature provided assets, including the scenic and commercially important St. Johns river.

But far outreaching and overshadowing all other occasion for congratulation as a permanent and substantial city improvement is the superb bulkhead just completed along the municipality's water front. This great undertaking and splendid accomplishment is the work of two of Sanford's oldest and most enterprising citizens, Messrs. F. W. Mahoney and C. R. Walker, who from sheer patriotic town pride and public spirit and with no previous experience in this line did the work for $12,000 less than the lowest bid offered out of seven dredging companies. For their accomplishing in the city's behalf these gentlemen should receive not only the plaudits but the most substantial recognition from municipal administration and from Sanford citizenship in general, as no doubt they will in all the present and future before them. This piece of engineering is their memory monument for all time.

About thirty-five acres of water front property is thus reclaimed from beautiful Lake Monroe, valued at approximately $10,000, per acre. The sea wall is of cement piling, capped with two foot wide stone, and is about 2,000 feet long and 550 feet out from the old shore line.

The depth of water is 5 feet at wall and less than 100 feet in front of the entire wall 15 to 20 feet.

The street running north and the boulevard running east and west will be laid off and paved at once and a line of electric lights placed 150 feet apart on the boulevard or stone wall should and will lead to other rapid improvements.

The city council, composed of young business men, merit highest commendation for courage and pluck in ordering and carrying out this project under the many difficulties they could well see in advance.

The council ordering this work was composed of E. W. Herndon, president, C. H. Dingee, W. W. Abernathy, J. D. Davison, John Adams, R. E. Maxwell and H. E. Tolar. Present Council is the same, with exception of Davison, Maxwell and Tolar, who are succeeded by F. L. Miller, Roy Syms and R. A. Newman. Mr. Davison is now mayor.

White Gift Christmas

On last Tuesday night the Sunday school of the Methodist church, under the direction of Mrs. J. D. Jenkins and Mrs. M. G. Hornum, presented a very interesting Christmas program. It was a "White Gift Christmas" and the idea being to afford each member an opportunity to make the three fold gift of Self, Service and Substance in recognition of God's Greatest Gift to the World.

The gift of "substance" being for the benefit of the church, at response met with a very hearty response both in money and useful articles needed in the institution. But by far the most important feature of the service was the consecration made of self and service to God and the church. These being in response to letters sent to the members of the Sunday school by Supt. A. R. Chappell were made to him in confidence.

The program opened with singing, Scripture reading and prayer, then in answer to a call from the superintendent the primary department, an ardent, zealous band of fifty marched upon the platform and placed their gifts within a white cradle, emblem of the Nativity. Deploying in double file they lifted their childish voices in petition: "Shine out O Blessed Star." The Juniors followed, placing their gifts in horns of plenty, carolling happily the while, "Ring Merry Bells," and thus through the Sunday school, from the Cradle Roll to the Men's Class of the Adult Dept., each class presented its gifts, each its bit of the program. Among the many pleasing features special mention should be made of the solo by Miss Ruth Steinmeyer, "The Shepherds in the fields," and the very excellent reading by Mrs. T. DeWitt Hayes.

The White Gift, idea was beautifully carried out in the decorations by the use of innumerable white chrysanthemums, greenery and lighted candles. Mrs. W. P. Carter headed the decorating committee.

MOTION PICTURE CONTEST

Land Show in Atlanta Will Stage Big Event

The Southeastern Land Show has announced as one of its drawing cards, a Motion Picture Contest, through which contest it will endeavor to discover what young woman in the southeast will make the most artistic and attractive appearance on a motion picture screen.

"The management of the Southeastern Land Show," said Edward Young Clarke, the general manager of the Show "believes that somewhere in the southeast there is another Mary Pickford, or a more wonderful movie star than Hazel Dawn. With this belief firmly fixed in our minds, we have determined to make a diligent search through a series of contests culminating in one grand contest in Atlanta to find this winsome and attractive young woman."

The final contest is Atlanta during the Land Show will be from amongst candidates who have been selected through Popularity Contests at various theatres in the southeast. Only one theatre in a town will be allowed to conduct the contest to select the candidates in the Grand Contest in Atlanta for each town.

One candidate for each 20,000 population and will be allowed to enter the Grand Contest from each town and one for each additional 20,000 population or fractional part.

INTERURBAN SANFORD TO KISSIMMEE

IS LIVE PROJECT AND PROMOTERS WILL BE HERE

The idea of the Central Interurban Railway has not died but is still a very live project. The right of way into Sanford granted several months ago stirred up interest but nothing has been heard from the promoters since that time. But they are hard at work as the following from the St. Cloud Tribune would indicate:

C. D. Brenner, who is well known to many St. Cloud people will start for Florida on January 2, accompanied by a party of twelve capitalists for the purpose of looking over the route to be traversed by the Central Florida Interurban Railroad, according to a statement received by Mr. W. S. Alaya, who has been acting as the promoter for several weeks. It is intended to start the journey over the right of way from Sanford and arrive in St. Cloud about Jan. 7th.

Rights of way have been granted in Sanford and Orlando is preparing to give the road a passage through the city. There are but few stretches of land the entire route that have not been obtained for the roadway, and it is predicted that actual construction work will start within the next sixty days.

About fifteen months ago W. S. Alaya came to St. Cloud to look into the feasibility of building a system of interurban railways in this part of the state. After months of work and untiring efforts he hopes that this section would some day enjoy this great development. He is being realized and his plans have taken such definite shape the road seems now a certainty. Never losing faith in the idea Mr. Alaya has kept at the proposition until now capitalists have become interested in the railroad project to such an extent that a large party will arrive in St. Cloud the latter part of next week to go into the proposition and make final arrangements for the beginning of the actual construction.

Soon after Mr. Alaya came to St. Cloud last year he initiated the cooperation of Hon. Wm. Hall and Mr. C. E. Carlson, and these two gentlemen having great faith in the future of this section have given much of their time in assisting Mr. Alaya in the railroad project. Much credit is due these gentlemen for the manner in which they have handled this interurban railroad project, and they deserve the hearty cooperation of all the property owners along the route the road is to travel.

When the party of capitalists arrive next week a banquet will be tendered them by the business men of St. Cloud, the date, however has not been announced for the reason that the exact time the party will arrive is not known at present. The banquet will be given at the New St. Cloud Hotel.

How About This?

M. F. Robinson clips the following from a New York paper:

"Finley J. Shepard, in an address before the Men's Club of the First Congregational church of Flushing last night compared the military situation of the United States to a man who entered a poker game with a few chips, expecting to win away the stacks of the other players."

He added: "The United States, in order that peace may be permanent, must be prepared to the fullest. The investigations of military deficiencies have shown up the woeful deficiencies of the National Guard. The first question asked when players sit down to a poker game is 'How many chips have you?' The United States will have to look sharp in answering this great question."

To which Mr. Robinson facetiously says:

Finley J. Shepard certainly never set in a poker game when he was sober or he would have learned something about the game!

Miss Blanche Johns left on Saturday to return to North Carolina after a delightful visit to the home folks in Sanford.

QUESTION OF WATERWAYS IN FLORIDA

WILL BE SOLVED BY NAVIGATION DISTRICTS TO BE FORMED

What seems to be a solution of the canal project and inland waterways is the so-called navigation district that is being brought to the attention of the people of the east coast and the territory tributary to the St. Johns river. Harry Hamilton, secretary of the East Coast Canal Association was here last week and met with the inland waterway committee and other members of the Sanford Board of Trade and a big meeting of all the districts concerned will be called at a date in the future probably here in Sanford, as this is the most centrally located city in the district. At this meeting plans will be presented to have a bill introduced in the next legislature for a law on the navigation districts.

The plan is that the amending session of Florida's legislature shall create a navigation district modeled after this state's drainage districts and special tax districts.

The statute creating the navigation districts should provide an administrative board of three or more who shall have power (1) to borrow money for temporary organization purposes (2) to construct or have constructed water highways throughout the district, (3) to purchase or condemn existing artificial highways (4) to employ engineers, etc. (5) to issue such bonds as might be necessary to finance operations, (6) to levy annual taxes for canal construction and maintenance or to pay indebtedness incurred in such construction, and (7) to engage the participation of the state and federal governments and to make contracts with them.

The taxes to be levied would, of course, be on only the property within the irrigation district—the territory the canals would benefit. Such a district comprising about one-third of Florida and backed by the commercial and property interests thereof and by the united support of Florida's delegation in Congress, and also by the state's legislature and executive officials, certainly should command the attention and aid of the federal government.

There is little doubt that the national government would be willing to participate in a project having magnitude and organized standing such as this. The federal authorities would be assured of the good faith and financial standing of the other contracting party—the navigation district.

Two small port navigation districts were formed in Texas, one in Oregon and one in Louisiana. In each instance the federal government promptly contributed one-half of the expenses.

The enlistment of the national government would be asked on the basis that expense of canal construction be equally borne by the nation and by the drainage district—the principle which is involved in the aid that the national government is extending the state governments in the construction of hard roads.

It is possible that more than fifty per cent of the expense in this case might be granted by federal authorities on the ground that it would be strengthening the national defense. The St. Johns river and its tributary canals would afford safe harborage for light draught naval and commercial vessels in time of war—especially fleet tenders. Florida bears an important position geographically in relation to naval and commercial movements on the seas in this part of the North American continent.

The scope and the boundaries of the proposed canal or navigation district are of great importance. Its success imperatively demands, first of all, the combination of the east coast section with that of the St. Johns river region, say the originators of the project. Otherwise two navigation districts would be formed, and these would continue to contend against each other in the rivaling spirit which heretofore has obstructed waterway improvements in these districts.

The proposed navigation district would embrace approximately one-third of Florida's area or more. It is the wealthiest section of the state.

The annual tax levy for the expense would be so negligible that it scarcely would be felt. It is believed certain the bond issue would be eagerly taken at a premium.

In view of these facts and of the general benefits involved, there seems little doubt that the project will receive strong support from the members of the legislature who live in the sections affected. Members from other sections should not have any cause to object to it.

Prominent New Yorkers Here

Among the prominent visitors to the city are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Crane and little son and Hugh McGuire, all of New York city. They will spend some time here taking in the beauties of the Sanford section and fishing and hunting. Hugh McGuire is one of the most prominent Elks in the United States and his brother Bills here will give him and Mr. Crane who is also an Elk a warm welcome. Sam Crane needs no introduction but the following from the Los Angeles Times should show him up:

Sam Crane was a member of the famous Detroit club in the days when that team was a pennant winner in the National League. He was a star in the glittering argonaut that contained such other stellar lights as Hardie and Dannie Richardson, Dan Brothers, Charlie Bennett and others too numerous to mention and in one game with the old St. Louis Browns nearly drove Comiskey's men to distraction with his trusty ash, driving out two wallops for the circuit in one afternoon; and causing the opposing pitcher to receive his ten days' notice.

Aside from Tim Murnane of the Boston Globe, Sam Crane is the dean of all baseball writers, and his narratives of the diamond have entertained thousands for nearly three decades. He is considered an authority in New York and in all of his years of writing has kept every player who performed with the Giants and Yankees on his long list of friends. Not only has he always been popular with the players, but enjoys the confidence and good will of all his fellow scribes, the magnates and all who are identified with the great national pastime.

In the course of his conversation last night Mr. Crane paid a high tribute to John J. McGraw, ex-prosecutor as his opinion that he is the greatest man in baseball today. He believes that Mr. McGraw is very much misunderstood and that some press notices have been very unjust to the great base ball strategist. He has a strong belief that Mac will again land the Giants at the head of the procession in 1917 and also believes that Christy Mathewson will make the Cincinnati team a great manager and will have the Reds in the light, if such is within the realm of possibility.

Sub-Irrigation in Orange

Walter Schucht, the soil expert and engineer, has just closed a contract for installing sub-irrigation on the farms of G. F. Foster on the Winter Garden road and Dick Compton on the Pine Castle road. The Foster farm consists of 11 acres and the Compton farm of 14. Ten car loads of drainage tile has been ordered to be used on these jobs. Mr. Schucht claims that this is the sub-irrigation to be installed in Orange county, though much of it has been in use in Seminole for a number of years. Since the strawberry industry has loomed up in such favorable light and a number have entered it, the necessity of providing against dry weather has forced itself visibly to the front, and the growers in question have taken the step to insure against it. —Reporter-Staff.

December was Stormy

Washington, Jan. 2.—December, 1916 was set down in weather history today as the stormiest month since February and March, 1912, when the big floods occurred in the Ohio valley. The weather bureau reported that six severe storms had swept in rapid succession across the country, bringing copious rains early in the month and heavy rains later, setting new December records for heat and cold, knocking out the prophecies of weather men by unexpected veerings or causing spurts of speed, and causing eighty, or ninety mile winds without much damage anywhere.

NEW SEMINOLE OFFICIALS INSTALLED

COUNTY OFFICERS TAKE THEIR RESPECTIVE PLACES TODAY

The new county officials will take their respective offices today in the court house, and the corridors and offices of the temple of justice that have known the former officers since the birth of the new county of Seminole will know them no more except as private citizens unless they should "come back."

The retiring officers are C. M. Hand, sheriff, George G. Herring, county judge, J. T. Clarke, county commissioner and J. T. McLain, county commissioner. T. W. Lawton also takes his position as superintendent of public instruction, although he was appointed in November and has been holding the office since the resignation of D. L. Thresher.

The incoming officials are E. Ferguson Housholder, county judge, E. E. Brady, sheriff, O. P. Swope, county commissioner and E. H. Kilbee, county commissioner.

All the new officers of Seminole county will be sworn in today and will take their respective places much to the gratification of their friends.

C. M. Hand has served as sheriff of Seminole county since the county was created and took his office in September, 1912. He made the county a good sheriff and his genial smile will be missed from the sheriff's office but he is still in business circles and interested in farming and cattle raising and in the livery business of the farm of Hand Bros. of this city. Charbe is still smiling and does not say that he will not enter the lists four years hence but in all probabilities he will be too busy with other affairs by that time to give up any sleep looking for political honors.

His successor, E. E. Brady has had experience in the work of the sheriff's office having served as deputy and is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office and knows the county as well as any man in it. He is also a genial and whole souled chap who will do his duty as he sees it and can be depended upon to bring all offenders to the bar of justice.

George G. Herring retires from the office of county judge with a good record and will take up the practice of law and expects to be right in the midst of things politically and otherwise. He is a Virginian by birth but has been a resident of this city for the past six years and was appointed to the office of county judge at the death of Judge B. F. Whitner, who was the first county judge of the new county. He was elected to the office two years ago by the largest vote recorded in that election and has the confidence and esteem of hundreds of friends.

E. Ferguson Housholder, the incoming judge is a young man who has made a record of which any rising young barrister can well feel proud. He is a Florida product, a graduate of Sanford High School and of the University of Florida and came back to his native heath to practice law in partnership with Thomas Emmett Wilson. The political arena attracted him and he entered the lists against Judge Herring with some misgivings on the part of his friends but none on his part and with all the buoyancy of youth shied his castor into the political ring and won the office of county judge. That he will make good is beyond question and his friends are congratulating the youngest county judge in the state today upon his ascension to offices in one of the youngest counties in the state.

Messrs. Swope and Kilbee the new county commissioners are well known in their respective districts and in Sanford and will serve the county with credit to themselves and their constituents.

Messrs. Clark and McLain have served since the county was formed and given their time and attention to the people's business. In fact the old officers retire with the feeling that they have done their duty and the new ones enter upon their official duties with a full knowledge of their responsibilities and determined to do their full duty also.

"The Blue Envelope Mystery"
At Lyric Theatre Monday.
The little dimpled idol of every movie fan, Lillian Walker, is the attractive model for the frills and fur-bells in "The Blue Envelope Mystery" by Sophie Kerr which the Vitagraph releases as a Blue Ribbon feature and which is the headliner at the Lyric Theatre on Monday.

Her frocks are many and the manner in which she wears them particularly worthy of mention. One afternoon dress is fashioned from a soft brown foulard with an overskirt falling a little below the hips and wired to stand out attractively. This skirt is trimmed with a wide band of burnt orange ribbon which matches the little burnt orange satin turban which Miss Walker wears with this dress.

A walking suit too is attractive.

It is a champagne chiffon broadcloth made with simple lines. With this suit the dainty, dimpled star wears a crepe de chine blouse of a light tan which is made with two encircling ruffles and hemstitched collar and cuffs. The little hat worn with this suit is a light straw with a short brim edged in lace. The brim is covered with a champagne satin and adorned with an exquisite wreath of satin flowers.

Other dresses and dance frocks are many. In an evening scene one dress is fashioned with a short accordion-pleated skirt of pink satin while the waist is made with a short tight fitting bodice. This scene affords many pleasing costumes but the gown worn by Miss Walker is extremely beautiful. It is made with a short full skirt of beautiful gold lace, which falls in a number of pointed flounces. The waist and short wired overskirt are gold cloth handpainted in a number of original shades. With this valuable gown, the little star wears gold satin evening slippers with stockings to match. Her blonde wringlets are entwined with a wreath of silk flowers and she makes an altogether charming picture.

Throughout this unique and pleasing mystery story, dainty Lillian who is one of the most popular stars in filmdom continues to please her audience.

Miss Barefoot of Bartow has married Mr. Carr of Tampa. Glad to learn that no longer will the young lady be Barefoot as she now has a Car.

Happy New Year to all our readers and may the coming year be one of the best in our history. There is a great silver lining in the eastern horizon and Sanford is destined to grow and expand as never before in the year of 1917.

The Jacksonville Metroplex is boasting the fact that Atlanta will put on a Land Show and saw it before Jax did. The Metroplex rightly says that Florida should have a Land Show and Florida certainly should.

NO PEACE FOR SNOWBIRDS
Officers in the larger towns of Florida have received orders not to allow "snowbirds," alias tramps to linger in the towns, but to drive them out.

TRUE RELIGION
It makes us laugh to hear a lot of people mourning over the evils they commit. About nine out of every ten of the number would not know how to be really sinful if they tried.

ought to mourn about is the good they fail to do, rather than the evil they imagine they do—to realize that the Recording Angel's black list deals ten times as much with sins of omission as with sins of commission.

EGGS DURING WINTER

Early Hatched Pullets Must Be Given Best of Care.

Select Most Desirable Fowls for Breeding Purposes and Keep Only Few of Choicest Cockerels—Furnish Green Feed.

There is no need of farmers carrying a flock of poultry all through the winter without getting eggs. To secure plenty of eggs in winter the early hatched pullets must have the best of care from the beginning.

So far as facilities are concerned the farmer has everything "coming his way" and there is no reason why his flock of pullets should not produce an abundance of eggs during the winter season.

Another important point is the culling of the flock. The early hatched chicks, when sufficiently developed to distinguish the sex, should, if possible, be separated, as the pullets will grow and thrive much better by themselves.

Select the most desirable pullets for breeding purposes and keep only a few of the choicest cockerels. The pullets are placed in their winter quarters and fed as great variety of food as the farm usually produces to get them in a laying condition as soon as possible.

PRODUCTION OF BIGGER EGGS

Purdue Experiment Station Thinks It Possible to Produce Eggs of Better Color and Shape.

Is it possible to produce bigger eggs, or more uniformly colored eggs, or eggs with firmer white or yellow yolk than we are at present producing? The Purdue experiment station thinks it is, and the eighth annual Purdue egg show last May had on display 370 dozen eggs.

COMPEL FOWLS TO EXERCISE

All Grain Should Be Fed in Deep Litter—Birds Should Always Be Eager for Feed.

Feed the grain in a deep litter on the floor and make the hens exercise for all of their grain. The mash may be fed either wet or dry, and should be so regulated that the fowls will get about equal parts of mash and of the scratch grains.

QUEER FREAKS OF NATURE

River of Pure Ink in Algeria—Siberian Streams Flow Over Beds of Solid Ice—Singing Well.

A river of ink is formed in Algeria by the union of two streams, the water of one being impregnated with iron and the other, which drains a great swamp, with gallic acid. This combination of iron and acid forms a pure ink.

With an east wind blowing the water in the well gets very low, and the mysterious musical sound is faint. A strong west wind causes the water to rise and the sound to increase in volume and clearness.

MORE THAN NONSENSE MAKER

Edward Lear, Known to Most as Gentle Humorist, Was Also Famed as a Painter.

Most of us when we think of Edward Lear think vaguely of someone who wrote delectable rhymes of nonsense and fun, a man who made queer pictures of impossible creatures to go with his rhymes, who compiled a weird natural history and botany all his own, and spent his life making odd jokes.

Florida and California

There is a feeling prevalent that Florida and California are rivals and competitors, because the citrus fruit industry has been developed in both states, but if people really want to make this a greater state than California they must follow her example and eradicate the cattle fever ticks, so livestock development can take place.

Plants That Give Heat

We do not, as a rule, think of plants as giving out heat, yet at certain times some flowers show an astonishing rise of temperature. Most remarkable in this respect are certain kinds of argemone.

Just at the opening of the flower, in these cases, there is a great liberation of heat; this is due to the fact that the respiration, or breathing, is at such times very vigorous. Some very interesting experiments have been carried out in connection with these argemone plants of placing a thermometer just inside the spathe. One of the most remarkable cases was that of specios growing on the Mediterranean coast, and known as arum italicum.

What's in a Name?

It is interesting to know how certain flowers got their names, observes London Tit-Bits. Many were named after individuals. For instance, fuchsias were so called after Leonard Fuchs, Dablias were named from Andre Dahl, who brought them from Peru. The camellia was so called from a missionary named Kamel, who brought some magnificent specimens of the flower to France from Japan.

Intellectual Free Rein

Why should we believe that in the intellectual realm alone the interest of the undeveloped child should be such paramount and controlling importance? Why not then in the moral and physical realms? Yet youth is proverbially a period of limitation, requiring protection, often painful, of restraint and control.

WILL PAY FARMER

Good Light Car Will Make Returns in Dollars and Cents.

Purchase a Car That May Be Used in All Kinds of Weather, is the Advice of the Engine Expert of the Kansas College.

MANY USES ON THE FARM

It pays the farmer in dollars and cents to own an automobile and especially a light car, in the opinion of E. V. Collins, assistant in steam and gas engines in the Kansas state agricultural college.

In the busy season of the year when time is worth money, and repairs for machinery are needed, the farmer can take his car and make the trip to town for the necessary repairs without a great loss of time.

If the farmer has a light car—a car that is cheap enough so that he feels like using it in good or bad weather—he will save time and save his horses.

Mr. Collins believes also that a farmer has no business owning a big heavy car unless he can also afford a small car. If he can afford a big car for pleasure, that is all right, but he should also have a small car for general work, as he cannot afford to take the big car out and run it around in the mud and in all kinds of weather.

Other insects. One-tenth of the corn may pass the first test. Choose the seed from the one-tenth. In making this second selection examine the ears carefully.

Proper Choice Of Seed

No farmer can get the maximum yield of corn from a poor stand. Half a crop of corn may pay expenses but it will not yield a profit to the planter.

If you have not selected your ears to test for seed, do so at the first opportunity. Go into the crib, the more corn you have before you the better will be the selections made for testing.

Discard the ears that are not of the right size, shape and color, and those affected by weevil or foot of space in the box, to kill the weevils. As a further precaution scatter moth balls through the corn to keep out insects that might gnaw through the paper.

Discard the dead ears as worthless for planting. After having chosen your seed, store it in a box, barrel or bin that may be closed tightly. A tight dry goods box lined with paper will do. Then, just before mailing the bin or treat the corn with one teaspoonful of carbon bisulphide in every cubic

REFORM DUE TO AUTO

PREACHER PAYS TRIBUTE TO INFLUENCE OF MOTORING.

Says It Increases Church Attendance and is Lessening the Use of Strong Drink.

A few weeks ago a preacher said that the automobile was having the effect of increasing church attendance in the rural regions. Now, the Fox Valley Efficiency League of Illinois asserts that the effect of the motor car is to lessen the drink habit, that its influence on the operator is toward total abstinence, and that the rapid increase in the use of automobiles is to play an important part in decreasing the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

Motor Age says:

"With the inherent capabilities for injury possessed by a powerful, heavy motor car under the control of one whose vision, quickness of action, and soundness of judgment are temporarily clouded, whether it be by excess in alcoholic stimulants or from other causes, it is certain that the present somewhat stringent regulations as regards the operation of a motor car by an intoxicated driver in time will become even more strict-laced." "Within the past few years the authorities have become anything but liberal in their views of accidents caused by drivers about whom there has been any suspicion of having been under the influence of liquor. "Most motorists, realizing that they are in danger of severe penalties in case of an accident if they show signs of intoxication, even though they may not admit that they are susceptible to its effects, are less prone to look upon the wine when it is red."

WHERE GASOLINE HAS GONE

Europe's Enormous Demand for Motor Fuel Explains Scarcity and High Prices.

At the present rate of consumption the market demand for gasoline can hardly be supplied for another twenty years. We are literally wading a motor car fuel famine, Waldemar Kaestner writes in McClure's. It is any wonder that gasoline costs more than 25 cents in Canada? That we in the United States are paying nearly as much—That gasoline may soon be worth its weight in gold?

At once you ask "Why not lift more oil from the earth and distill off the gasoline?" Oil men would tell you that the truth is that our oil fields are rapidly nearing exhaustion. New fields may be discovered, it is true, but the United States geological survey regards the most likely regions with no very optimistic eye. It may be that oil may be found in pockets still to be tapped in undeveloped parts of the globe—in Africa and the far east, for example. But who would build industrial hopes on a mere chance? Besides, Europe looks to us for much of its oil, especially in this war of motor cars, aeroplanes and Zeppelins.

Before the war we produced more than 65 per cent of the world's output. We must be delivering more than our normal share to Europe now. In 1915 we sent enough gasoline abroad to supply 350,000 cars, and nearly all of it was shipped to France and England. Russia has her own pools into which she can dip with a generous hand. And Germany—what of Germany?

We read of Von Hindenburg shifting whole army corps by means of motor cars in a bleak Russian country threaded by railroads too few in number for his strategic purpose. Where did he obtain his gasoline? Partly from Roumania (with pronounced Russian political affiliations) and partly from Galicia.

Then Conversation Ceased.

"Have some Rio?" asked the landlady. "Rio means river," she went on, trying to make talk. "Umh," grunted the grouchy boarder. "And is this supposed to be river water or coffee?"—Louisville Courier Journal.

Very Startling.

The young Sunday school teacher felt she had gained the attention and interest of all her pupils, even the little boy who usually sat looking around the room of the primary department. With his chin in his hand he seemed totally absorbed in her subject. Beneath his strong gaze she worked eloquent. She stopped for breath and it was then he said, "Do you know you have eyes exactly like our cat?"

Death of Beloved Woman

The death of Mrs. Annie Elizabeth Jamieson, wife of Walter P. Jamieson, at Sanford Sunday afternoon, has caused sincere sorrow to the many Orlando friends of the deceased. Mrs. Jamieson, who had been in bad health for some time, was returning from Jacksonville where she had been to consult her brother-in-law, Dr. Dean, a prominent physician. She was taken ill on the train and stopped at Sanford at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. F. Whitner.

By her beautiful Christian character and affability Mrs. Jamieson made and kept a wide circle of friends, who join the bereaved family in mourning her loss.

Mrs. Jamieson was 65 years of age. She was born in New York state, but came to Florida in 1875, where she and Mr. Jamieson had extensive grove interests. Just after the big freeze they removed to Orlando, where Mr. Jamieson has since been in charge of the Southern Express office, with the exception of a few years spent in Tampa.

Besides her husband Mrs. Jamieson is survived by two daughters, Mrs. George McMillan of Orlando and Mrs. B. F. Whitner of Sanford; her mother, Mrs. Nannie B. Myers of Key West, one brother, Roy B. Myers of Key West, and one sister, Mrs. Dean of Jacksonville. Mrs. Jamieson was a lifelong member of the Episcopal church, and funeral services were held at Sanford, following which the remains were brought to Orlando for interment. Orlando Sentinel.
