Was Payne Insane When He Killed Dad? It's Up To Jury

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

The case of the state of Florida versus Ernest Lee Payne went to the jury this afternoon. Payne faces charges of second-degree murder, two counts of attempted second-degree murder, two counts of aggravated battery and a myriad of lesser included offenses.

The prosecution rested its rebuttal case this morning after calling two sheriff's investigators. One of the investigators, Taylor Rountree, testified he had a discussion with Payne two weeks before the Oct. 26, 1977 murder about how easy it is to commit a crime and fool the police. Taylor testified he was mowing his lawn at his Sanford home when Payne drove up with former correctional officer Sam Black. After some conversation about Taylor's position at the sheriff's department, the conversation turned to crime. There's a lot of dumb cops," Taylor quoted Payne as saying. "If the investigation was handled properly a person could commit a crime and get away with it," Taylor also quoted Payne as saying. On cross-examination, Taylor said he didn't find the conversation unusual; in fact, he said, he has had similar conversations with several persons. Public defender Bill Carpenter motioned for acquittal on the second-degree murder charge. He told the judge not a single witness, including the prosecution's psychiatrist, disputed the fact Payne was insane when he beat his father to death.

"The issue of whether or not he was insane at the time was unrefuted by lay or expert witness as to the fact he was insane," Carpenter told Circuit Court Judge Robert McGregor. "We have met and overcome the assumption he was sane," he said. However, Assistant State Attorney Ralph Erikson argued the jury could ignore the witnesses who testified as to Payne's sanity at the time. McGregor agreed the insanity question was for the jury to decide and denied the motion.

Three psychiatrists and a psychologist testified Wednesday afternoon. The two psychiatrists and a psychologist called by the defense agreed Payne was insane when he beat his 65-year-old father, Thomas, to death and shot the two sheriff's deputies, John Hawkins, 27, and Rudolph Kramer, 25.

The prosecution, after the defense rested, called Dr. J. Lloyd Wilder a psychiatrist who testified Payne was legally insane when he began beating his father, but he may have known right from wrong when he engaged in a gunbattle with the deputies. All of the psychiatrists testified Payne's condition had improved since his court-ordered two-month stay at the North Florida Evaluation and Treatment Center in Gainesville. Wilder said the improvement was "transient." Wilder was questioned on cross-examination about Payne beating his father. "I think when he began to beat his father he thought he was beating the devil," the Orlando psychiatrist said. "I think there's some real doubt he would know it's wrong to beat the devil. I think the court should find him insane," Wilder said. However, on the shoot-out with deputies, Wilder said: "I believe he had some knowledge he was involved in a gunfight and that it was illegal."

He also said at the point Payne ran away during the battle only

From Cattle To Capture For Lawmen

Two Daytona Beach men, who began Wednesday evening walking their cattle from a pasture on one side of State Road 44 to one on the other side, ended the day capturing a man who had stolen a highway patrol car.

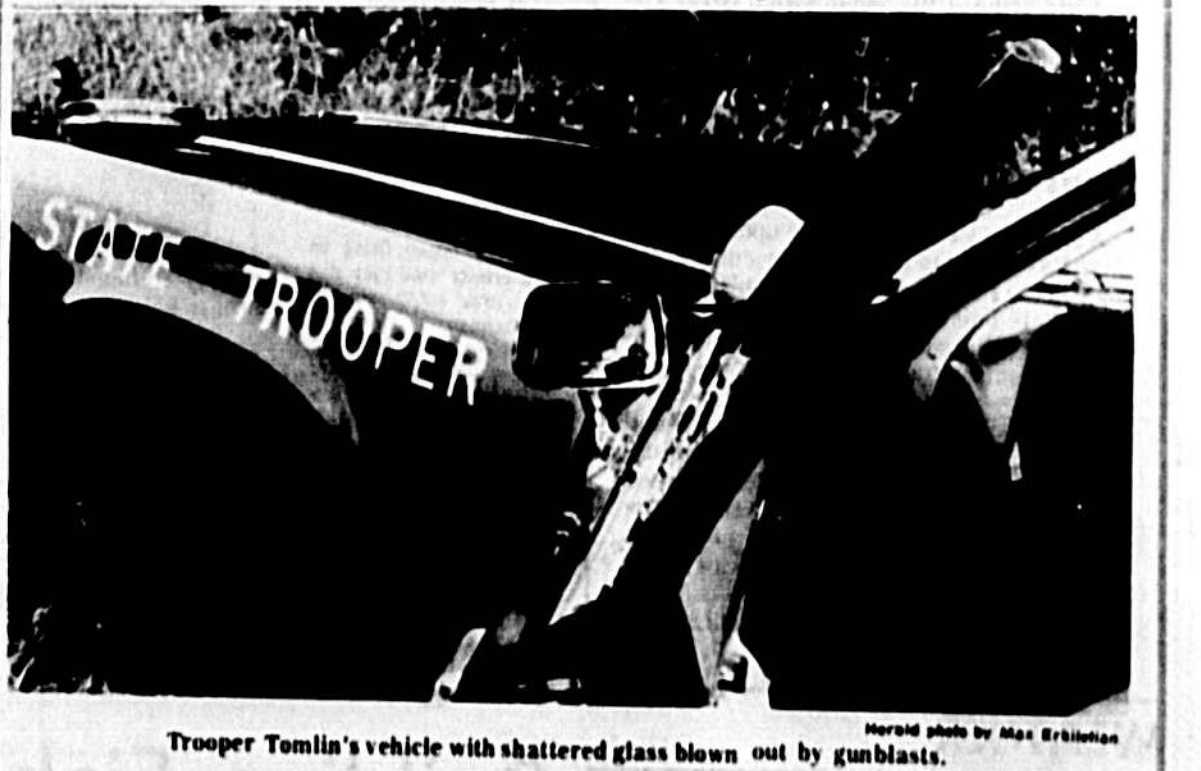

ROBERT ESTEP

Leonard Durrance and Stubby McDonald, both Volusia County special deputies, became curious when several Volusia County Sheriff's cars passed them about 5:15 p.m. "We asked if they needed any help, they said yes, so we left our cows and went along," said McDonald. About one hour later, the pair along with highway patrol Sgt. J. A. Brown III, came on Robert Allen Estep, 18, Geneva, laying on the ground in a wooded area a few hundred yards east of State Road 44. Durrance, McDonald and Brown were armed with 12-gauge shotguns. However, Estep was unarmed. Estep, faced with the shotgun wielding trio, did not resist being placed under arrest and handcuffed. "He wasn't really interested in going anywhere," said Durrance. Estep had been free on $5,250 bond on three counts of grand theft from Seminole County at the time of the incident. A series of events that led to Estep's arrest, began about 1:15 p.m. Wednesday when the stolen late model Chevrolet he was driving went out of control and left the southbound lane of State Road 44 about a half mile north of the Douglas Street Bridge. The car struck a palm tree and was demolished. However, Estep sustained only minor injuries. Highway patrol trooper C. L. Tomlinson arrived a few minutes later to investigate the accident. In the meantime, Estep had run into an open field and laid in tall grass, where he was found by Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission agents.

Owner Routs Robbers

An armed robbery attempted at an Altamonte Springs gas station was thwarted early this morning when the intended victim used his experience in the martial arts to chase the two would-be holdup men.

According to Altamonte Springs Lt. Steve Garver two men in their mid-30's drove into the self-service bay at the Mobile gas station at 301 E. Hwy 68. After paying for 22 worth of gas one of the men asked station operator Paul Burafsky if a cigarette machine was available. When told the machine was inside the station, the man entered the station and attempted to open a locked cash drawer. Meanwhile the other man had apparently attached Burafsky with a tire iron. Beating up Burafsky proved to be difficult as the station operator was experienced in martial art techniques. Unable to open the cash box, the first man came out and attempted to help his friend beat up Burafsky. According to Lt. Garver, Burafsky managed to handle both men effectively enough that they ran to their truck and drove off. Burafsky told police officers that he heard bones crack and believes he bruise the nose of one of the men and cracked the ribs of another. The station operator suffered minor cuts.

Soviets Trying To Compromise U.S. Businessmen?

MOSCOW (UPI)—Reliable Moscow sources said today Soviet authorities, including the KGB secret police, have made at least three attempts to compromise or threaten members of the American business community in as many years. The report coincided with a disclosure that American businessmen in the Soviet capital, shocked by this week's arrest of one of their colleagues, have been told to watch their step by U.S. Embassy officials. The sources said that in one incident, which they said occurred in January 1977, a business representative was approached by KGB agents who had a thick file on his previous activities several years earlier in the Soviet Union.

The sources agreed to discuss the incidents only under a promise of anonymity because they feared both the reaction of the Soviet government and unfavorable responses from their American corporate headquarters. In the case of the KGB attempt, the information was independently confirmed with several outside of the business community. They also demanded anonymity. The various sources said their remarks were prompted by the arrest of F. Jay Crawford, 37, an international Harvester Corp. representative who was seized by midstation Monday on a Moscow street. Crawford faces currency and customs charges in connection with a section of the Russian Federation Criminal Code that covers smuggling and contraband. The sentence for conviction is three to 18 years. The sources said they feared Crawford's arrest may be only the first, arguing the Soviet authorities believe they can "lean on" businessmen because earlier incidents have been hushed up. "We believe that by making these earlier incidents public, people will know what the atmosphere in Moscow really is," one of the sources said. They said two of the incidents involved members of the

WORLD IN BRIEF

2 Panama Students Killed In Clashes Over Treaties

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Two students were shot and killed during the night in clashes between right-wing and leftist students who oppose both the Panama Canal treaties and the 23-hour visit by President Carter starting Friday. Dozens of students were injured, four seriously. Authorities closed the University of Panama campus and university guards and the National Guard blocked off all entrances. Torrential rainfall throughout the day kept hostilities to a minimum but a light earthquake, which rocked the Canal Zone at 7:41 a.m., brought frightened people into the streets.

The student rioting broke out early two blocks from the Hotel Panama where Carter will stay. Officials with the Carter advance party said his security guards were unaware of the student rampage until informed of it this morning.

PLO Official Shot To Death

KUWAIT (UPI) — Ali Yassin, 45, the head of the Palestine Liberation Organization office in Kuwait, was found shot to death at the door of his house in suburban As Salimiya today, an official in the Kuwaiti interior ministry said.

Narrow Vote Of Confidence

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's minority Labor government has won a narrow vote of confidence to avert an immediate general election.

Prime Minister James Callaghan eked out a five-vote majority — 287-282 — over the Conservative Party opposition Wednesday night after an 11th-hour appeal and help from the Liberal Party.

Belgium Premier Quitting

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — Premier Leo Tindemans will resign today because of his failure to negotiate an emergency economic program during all-night talks with the nation's major political parties, political sources said.

Reds Want President Out

ROME (UPI) — Italy's powerful Communist Party demanded today that President Giovanni Leone resign in the wake of press accusations of tax fraud, improper business activities and illegal currency dealing.

More Crime Than N.Y.C.

LONDON (UPI) — London, that quiet city along the Thames, is now more violent than New York City. London's police chief Wednesday said crime in Britain's capital soared in 1977 to an all-time high of more than 500,000 cases — surpassing New York for the first time.

S. Africa Closes Paper

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The government has declared the weekly black newspaper, The Voice, "undesirable" and stopped its publication, the paper's manager said today.

Locusts Plague Asian Nations

A plague of locusts has fallen upon the area from East Africa to India and agriculture officials in the stricken nations have pleaded for immediate international aid to wipe out the voracious insects before they spread to up to 50 other nations from Morocco to the Himalayas.

Crops have been ravaged by the locusts and raised the specter of mass starvation in underdeveloped and already undernourished countries along their migration routes. The Desert Locust Control Organization for Eastern Africa, where the swarms have caused the worst damage so far, called a meeting in Rome next week to solicit and coordinate international aid.

'Cool Hand Luke' Talks To The World

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Paul Newman, actor, has turned Paul Newman, diplomat, and is taking his new role seriously. So, apparently, is Washington. The Carter administration gave him a message Wednesday to carry to the U.N. special session on world disarmament — that the United States is willing to lend its "spy" technology to the cause of peace in troubled areas of the world.

ANALYSIS

hundreds of ideas the U.N. disarmament committee is considering for inclusion in the final disarmament document the General Assembly is to vote on June 28.

Washington, it seems, considers the blue-eyed actor more than just a pretty face. What Newman told the United Nations was that the United States was prepared to lend the "eyes and ears" of its ground detection and aerial surveillance technology to the patrolling of trouble zones around the world. The United States is even willing to help foot the cost, he said.

Newman had done his homework well — or someone had done it for him. He clearly elaborated how such a system already was in use in keeping peace in the Sinai region between Egypt and Israel and to a lesser extent in the Golan Heights.

In February 1976, he said, the United States installed a tactical early-warning system, consisting of four unmanned ground sensor fields, in the Sinai "to detect and report any movement of armed forces or any preparation for such movement."

Newman said this had been augmented by "roughly biweekly U.S. aerial photographic surveillance," and aerial reconnaissance also was in use in the Golan Heights.

On a "case-by-case basis," he said, Washington "is prepared to consider requests for similar monitoring services" elsewhere in the world, provided all the "affected states" agree. Newman said this would include ground sensors "to monitor movements in potential invasion routes and staging areas, as well as across borders," and "assistance with aircraft photo reconnaissance."

He warned that such "services" — an advanced form of the "spy flight" and ground monitoring systems applied in the Vietnam war — have limitations.

"They are not a panacea. They cannot replace the political will and negotiating flexibility which must lie at the heart of effective arms control."

But, Newman added, the United States is convinced that under the right conditions "technical eyes and ears" can be an important ingredient in successful regional arrangements to strengthen peace and stability.

Unlike most of those at the United Nations, it was a speech with substance. "Cool Hand Luke" has a right to take a bow on the world stage.

Jury Holds Payne Fate In Slaying

to return within minutes, Payne wanted to die. "He returned to the fray and he was pretty sure he would be killed, but it didn't matter then," Wilder said. He said the act of beating his father and hearing his father's voice may have brought Payne back to reality.

Called by the defense, psychiatrist Dr. Arthur Blood told of Payne's delusions and fixations. He said Payne had nightmarish dreams of wars and galaxias. He was fixated with dogs being rather human, the psychiatrist said, and a snake which Payne told him bit him on the toe. Blood said Payne was obsessed with communists in the neighborhood and on the day of the murder he was fixated with his birthright.

He said when Thomas Payne came home that day his son asked him when he was born. When Thomas Payne didn't know the answer, it confirmed Ernest's suspicions he was not his biological father.

"He thought his father's eyes looked green," Blood said. "A voice told him he had to destroy him."

Thomas Payne's last words, as recalled by his son and relayed by Blood were: "Be merciful, be merciful."

Blood said Thomas Payne was described by his son as a religious man, a rigid man, who Blood said was perceived by Ernest as "very good and very awful."

"His father obstructed his growth and development," Blood theorized. "With his father gone, he could establish his own identification."

"His father did become the devil," Blood said in attempting to explain what happened in Ernest's mind. "Ernest was fearful his father was going to kill him."

"After he killed him, he became the devil. He became what his father should not have been," Blood said.

On cross-examination of all the defense psychiatrists, Erikson attempted to establish Payne could be faking the illness. He noted that Payne has a degree in psychology from Florida Technological University and has done graduate work at the school in the same subject.

Erikson also noted several times Payne has an I.Q. tested at 160.

The defense psychiatrists stood firm in their diagnosis. "I don't have any doubt in my mind that Mr. Payne was suffering from a major mental illness at the time," Dr. Robert Kirkland told Erikson. He again identified the illness as paranoid-schizophrenia and he said in 20 years he has examined more than 500 criminal patients for mental disorders and has testified the patients were insane in fewer than 1 percent of those cases.

Kirkland also testified that Payne perceived the police to be Pontius Pilate and the personification of evil in keeping with his delusion that he was Jesus Christ.

T.P. Nelson, a clinical psychologist at the Gainesville hospital where Payne was treated, testified Payne believed the police "were-specimen because they kept getting up."

Kramer was able to get up after being shot by Payne because his bullet-proof vest stopped the gunshot from the .387 magnum, leaving him with only an impact wound.

Nelson testified when Payne first arrived at the hospital he was still and withdrawn to the point of being mute for several days. He said Payne's illness was consistent with other Vietnam veterans who "lose it" at a certain time of the year.

The incident began late on Oct. 25, 1977 and the shoot-out ended at 1 a.m. on Oct. 26.

"We established he had some feelings of distortion of reality when he graduated high school," Nelson said. He said Payne also exhibited evidence of his illness while employed at an electronics plant in Orlando.

"At Martin Marietta, where he worked for nine months after coming out of the army, the employees said they thought he was shell-shocked because of his strange behavior," Nelson said.

When Tomlinson left the vehicle, Estopp, who was not handcuffed, slid to the driver's side and drove north toward Osteen.

Tomlinson hopped into the deputy's car and he and the Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission agents gave pursuit. The chase lasted only a few minutes, according to a highway patrol spokesman.

"They began firing on the cruiser until they shot the tire out," said the spokesman.

Estopp brought the patrol car to a halt on the west side of State Road 412, about two miles south of Osteen. He hopped out of the driver's side and ran into the woods.

High Court To TVA: Forget Building Fish Killing Dam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 today that TVA must abandon its plans to complete a multi-billion-dollar dam that threatened to make extinct a tiny fish called the snail darter.

The justices said the Endangered Species Act prohibits TVA from building the nearly completed dam on the Little Tennessee River, even though the project was 80 percent finished when the obscure fish was discovered in 1973.

business community who had close official contracts with Soviets. They were warned about alleged currency violations and they left the country.

The first incident, which involved an employee of a bank, occurred in 1975. The other incident, which involved an employee of a large corporation, occurred this year.

The sources said the employees involved in the incidents were withdrawn from the country because their firms did not want to risk a confrontation with the Soviet government.

In the KGB case, the corporation involved was apparently not aware of the problems its Moscow representative had. The representative left the country shortly after he was approached by the KGB quizzing his job.

The representative, who was in the Soviet Union as a student several years before he received his corporate assignment, was approached by KGB agents who had a thick file on his previous activities.

The agents informed the person he would be accused of smuggling if he did not agree to work for the KGB within the American business community.

"They apparently had him chapter and verse on a violation of law," one source said. "He had apparently helped some Soviet friends land some material out of the country five years earlier, and the KGB had it on file."

Victims Blamed For Inflation

The average householder was not exactly surprised by announcement that the Consumer Price Index rose at an annual rate of 10.8 percent in April - the worst surge in 14 months.

Beef prices, which have jumped 41 percent in 90 days, and other soaring food costs have helped generate the grim return to double-digit inflation.

Washington soothsayers, who usually try to put the best light on the worst news, are low on optimism about inflation these days.

Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal predicts that the big increases in living costs this year are not over.

Although administration spokesmen seem to have taken off their rose-colored glasses about the inflation, they remain as blind - and as mute - as ever about its chief cause, which is simply excessive government spending.

The federal deficit will rise 20 percent in the current fiscal year to nearly $65 billion; federal spending will be up about 13 percent from last year and a similar increase is projected for fiscal 1979.

Instead, the administration speaks of voluntary restraints on wages and prices.

Robert S. Strauss, the president's chief jawboner against inflation, seeks to make a scapegoat of the business community.

He is warning that business now knows it must accept smaller price increases before labor cooperates with smaller wage boosts.

Longwood Councilman Larry Goldberg has a new look having shaved off his moustache and gotten a summer hair cut.

"Boring" discussions at council meetings are not too unusual, but the one in Longwood this week concerned boring under 17-92 at McDonald's to get city water to businesses and residences on the east side of the highway and SR 64 at Range Line Road to correct a 'boob-boo' which occurred several years ago.

When asked if the present water system could handle the new addition, council members assured residents that the new well when in operation, would be adequate.

Neel Julian Jr., Longwood city attorney, apparently likes to get back to basics when researching his law. He was seen reading a copy of the Holy Bible during Monday night's meeting.

It's back to the drawing board for planners of a proposed 40 acre mobile home park on SR 47 in Longwood. Jon Rosenberg, representative to speak on behalf of the Canadian developer, met a similar fate as his predecessors - that of seeing plans for the project picked apart and rejected by a hostile council.

"We intend to have a high class mobile home community with mature residents who will be home owners in trust sense. I'm not playing games, I'm trying to help my client," Rosenberg told the council.

He's finding it may be harder than it sounds.

According to Council Chairman J. R. Grant, pipe was purchased to go under SR 47 several years ago. "Two-thirds of the pipe was put in when I went off on vacation and when I got back I thought the rest was in, but it was never put in all the way. It's no good, we lost $300 worth of pipe down there and the rest is laying over in the Public Works Department," Grant said.

VIEWPOINT

Buying A Piece Of U.S.

By DON GRAFF

The U.S. economy may be having its problems with inflation, weak showings in some industrial sectors and now talk of a possible recession around some not too distant corner. But somebody out there obviously still rates it very highly.

Numbers - there's no way of getting even a rough fix on how many of Europeans, Japanese, Middle Easterners and assorted other currently flush outsiders have been buying in with increasing enthusiasm.

The decline of the dollar, which has made things American a bargain for practically everyone except Americans, is a partial explanation. But it's not the full story.

Many citizens of countries such as Italy, where whereby violence is becoming the lifestyle, are seeking a safe place for their wealth and assets.

The Commerce Department puts investments of foreign assets during the first quarter of this year at $1.8 billion. That followed total investment for 1977 of $3.4 billion.

Some of the more representative bank purchases of dollars by foreign investors include: a Dutch-based group with Arab resources is bidding $60 million for a trio of top New York City hotels.

But in what could turn out to be a development of special significance, foreign money is increasingly buying parts of the U.S. itself.

According to one estimate by a realtor in California, an area of prime interest for land purchases, as much as 20 percent of all farmland currently changing hands may be going to foreign buyers.

The precise level cannot be determined because the new ownership in many cases is concealed, purchases having been arranged through trusts, banks, offshore companies and other intricate devices.

But one such agent, a Belgian company cited in a New York Times survey of the situation, put European investment in U.S. farmland at $800 million last year alone.

And a Midwestern brokerage and land measurement firm admits having sold some $70 million in real estate to non-Americans during the past four years.

Two government scientists, Malcolm Martin and Wallace Rowe, are experimenting on the disease risks of DNA research. They intend to extract DNA from a virus which causes tumors in mice but not in men.

The microscopist product will be injected into bacteria to grow a new unique type of virus which then will be fed to mice.

If the mice are infected by the new virus, the experiments would show there is real risk of the same dire thing happening to humans.

"We need to see if the new virus made from DNA can be more dangerous than the original virus," Martin explained to KURT.

Despite all the precautions, scientists are skeptical that government regulations can be enforced. "If someone wants to cheat, there's no way even the best biologists in the world can detect it," an insider confided.

There have been two detected violations thus far. The first halted a Harvard scientist's government-subsidized research for failing to file a memo of explanation with the agency. At San Francisco, biologist Robert Stein used an unauthorized type of bacteria in his rat insulin experiment. They were forced to destroy the results and start again.

"It was just a bureaucratic misunderstanding," Stein said. Yet under the existing rules, scientists could be forced to destroy future breakthroughs because of bureaucratic misunderstandings.

They must also shiver on emerging, inside, they must manipulate their gear by levers from behind a set of sealed double doors.

ANGLE-WALTERS

Breathing: Political Issue?

WASHINGTON - Physicians call it bysinosis; workers in textile mills refer to it as "brown lung." The initial symptoms are barely noticeable - the sensation of chest tightness and a slight cough on the first day of the work week.

Just as coal miners contract "black lung" by breathing air laden with coal dust, mill workers are afflicted by brown lung through inhalation of cotton dust that becomes embedded in their lungs and air passages.

In its final stages, the simple act of breathing becomes a struggle for a respiratory system ravaged by bysinosis. The worker is permanently disabled because of irreversible obstruction of the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Approximately 20,000 active and retired mill workers are totally disabled because of bysinosis, with an additional 20,000 to 30,000 active workers suffering from its acute effects, according to government estimates.

The occupational hazard is little known outside the South, where most of its victims live and work. More than three-fourths of the nation's cotton textile workers are employed in North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia.

But brown lung now is on the verge of becoming the focus of a national controversy because of an increasingly fierce debate at the highest levels of the federal government over whether to impose tough new health standards that would reduce the incidence of cotton dust.

Those standards are long overdue. English health officials identified the cause of bysinosis in the 1920s, and by 1940 the British government added its victims to the list of those qualified for workmen's compensation payments.

There was little medical research on the problem in this country until the 1960s, however, and many of the early efforts were thwarted by mill owners' refusal to allow physicians the access to their plants necessary to examine employees and working conditions.

In another manifestation of industry foot-dragging many of the nation's largest textile producers either denied the existence of any health problems or isolated that doctors on the company payroll would handle the situation.

Despite that intransigence, medical researchers eventually identified brown lung as an acute respiratory disease that could reduce lung capacity by as much as 75 percent.

In late 1976, the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) proposed new federal standards designed to sharply reduce the amount of cotton dust in textile mills.

WASHINGTON - Eminent scientists are distressed over the claim that a healthy human infant has been produced by the laboratory technique of cloning. The only Frankenstein monster to come out of the cloning controversy, they assure us, is the image that has been created in the public mind.

The questionable claim was made in a book, which reputable biologists challenge. They say human cloning lies far in the future. But genetic discoveries over the last five years promise enormous benefits in eradicating disease and producing bumper food crops to feed a starving world.

Scientists first succeeded in cloning frogs in the 1950s. Now Yale's Dr. Cluett Martin has perfected a new cloning technique that may be used in larger animals. He takes a newly fertilized mouse embryo and destroys either the father's sperm nucleus or the mother's egg nucleus.

The remaining nucleus, upon exposure to certain chemicals, will divide into an exact copy of itself. Each nucleus has the same genetic code from only one parent. The egg is then implanted in the womb of a mouse and develops into a female offspring. The offspring is not a clone, but all her eggs will exactly match her own.

"Thus, all of her babies will be clones that look just like her," Martin said.

"I just wanted to say, as of now you're doing a good job as parents, and I don't plan to sue you!"

OUR READERS WRITE

Women's Club Thanks

I have just completed my two years as chairman of the public affairs department of the Sanford Woman's Club and although I have at times expressed my appreciation to different members of your staff, I want to go on record at this time in saying thanks to you, Mr. Editor, to Mrs. Doris Dietrich, who as able and patiently covered our various programs and was a human dynamo in the coverage she gave us on our Crime Projects and collection of old newspapers.

I would also like to express my appreciation to Lt. Harold "Beau" Taylor, Deputy Biery, and the members of the Seminole Youth Deputies for their help and assistance on programs and the Neighborhood Clean Home instructions that they have so freely given.

I also want to express my thanks and appreciation to the many citizens of Sanford who are not members of the Woman's Club for their untiring efforts in assisting us on our projects.

The coverage of your paper is excellent and you have been so gracious in providing pictures and coverage on our projects that we feel any success we might have had is largely due to your publicity.

On behalf of the Woman's Club of Sanford and the public affairs department, in particular, we want to say many thanks.

Sincerely Yours, for a greater Sanford, Sanford Woman's Club, Mrs. Woodrow Clark (V), Pres.

The Public Affairs Department, Mrs. M.R. Strickland (Missie), Chairman.

Change SMH Statute?

It's time for the county commissioners and the voters to take action to change the statute regulating Seminole Memorial Hospital and the method of selecting the board of trustees.

First, a reminder that the hospital was built to give patient care to the paying and the indigent residents of this county.

How can a 100-200 bed hospital afford an administrator, hired at $29,500 and increased to $38,500 in six months? What criteria was used to justify a $9,000 raise?

Also, the added expense of an assistant; then a public relations department that paid $13,000 to the department head, $8,000 to an assistant and adding another secretary. Costs on all newly created positions and the replacement salaries should be examined.

Do any of the above personnel aid in the care of patients? Are patient care and services being improved by digging up the front lawn? How much is that costing?

Did redecorating the lobby give more patient care? How is it more economical to have a contracted food service?

The indigent care issue with the County Health Department should be absorbed by the hospital - and not by asking for excessive additional millage.

Will another increase in room rates and services, plus the extra millage, make better patient care?

If the present trustees cannot delete the unnecessary added costs in all administrative areas, they should resign or be removed by the voters, as the patients and the taxpayers cannot afford the added taxes and higher rates in this County Hospital.

Sincerely, Jonnie J. Elam

bacteria and produced a small quantity of rat insulin. This a dramatic step toward helping diabetics who must rely on cows and pigs for their insulin. "Our goal of making human insulin from a human gene is not that far away," Rutter told us.

DNA research is now rigidly supervised by the National Institutes of Health under guidelines suggested by the pioneer scientists themselves. They now believe that they overreacted to the potential dangers. Nobel laureate James Watson, the discoverer of DNA, says the idea that a scientist could create a new super-disease for nefarious use is "a lunatic scenario."

For one thing, nearly all DNA researchers are confined to using a weak strain of bacteria known as E. Coli. The bacteria have been treated so that even if they leaked out of the lab, they could not survive.

Further, federal regulators have ordered that potentially dangerous experiments be conducted only in sealed-off labs identified as "P-4" facilities. The only P-4 lab now operating in this country is located at the former Ft. Detrick biological warfare center at Frederick, Md.

The security is intense. The entire structure is kept under negative air pressure, and the temperature inside is maintained at 300 degrees Fahrenheit. The exits from inside are carefully screened. Scientists must don and doff immaculate surgical uniforms entering and leaving.

They must also shiver on emerging, inside, they must manipulate their gear by levers from behind a set of sealed double doors.

NATION IN BRIEF

Capitol Hill Reacting To '13: Salaries Frozen

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The aftershock of the political earthquake in California known as Proposition 13 has hit Capitol Hill.

The House, in a long session that ended early this morning, overwhelmingly approved a legislative appropriations bill that freezes salaries for congressmen, judges and every other federal official making more than $15,500 annually.

The action would affect about 16,000 officials who had hoped for a cost-of-living increase in October.

The $1.1 billion bill, sent to the Senate on a 279-90 vote, also cuts congressional expense allowances 5 percent.

California Workers Balking

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) - In response to a request by California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. for the sacrifice of pay hikes to help avert Proposition 13-forced layoffs, state Civil Service workers reacted angrily and vowed to fight the proposal, a part of his latest plan to cut the state budget.

Brown has proposed cuts that now total $570 million in an attempt to find state funds to help local governments meet a $1 billion reduction in property tax revenues resulting from the passage of Proposition 13 by California voters.

Georgians Cooling On Jimmy

ATLANTA (UPI) - Georgians are becoming increasingly disillusioned with President Carter, according to a recent poll.

A poll by Darden Research Corp. said among those in his home state who voted for Carter in 1976, 57.5 percent said they would vote for Carter again if the presidential election were held today - a drop of nearly 10 points from the 66.9 percent Carter swept in winning Georgia's 12 electoral votes nearly two years ago.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - The federal government has an obligation to guarantee economic rights to blacks just as it has protected their right to vote, says Coretta Scott King.

Mrs. King, wife of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was here Wednesday night to receive the National Fellowship Award of the Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia.

Haldeman Parole Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Watergate figure H.R. Haldeman, becomes eligible for parole next Tuesday when he finishes the first year of his sentence at the Federal Prison Camp in Lompoc, Calif., but the U.S. Parole Commission has decided it will not grant it until Dec. 20.

Sources said the commission rejected Haldeman's bid for almost immediate parole Wednesday mainly because it wants to impose comparable punishment on all top Nixon White House conspirators involved in the Watergate coverup. John Ehrlichman served 1 1/2 years in prison and the commission set the December date so that Haldeman will serve 1 1/2 years also.

Ex-Teamsters May Appeal

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI) - Defense attorneys today were considering appeals of the murder convictions of Teamsters union official Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano and Harold "Boom Boom" Konigsberg.

An Ulster County Court jury Wednesday, after deliberating less than a day, found the pair guilty of killing a union rival 17 years ago. The convictions climaxed two weeks of testimony.

Provenzano and Konigsberg, the man face up to life in prison at their sentencing June 21.

Perilous Chocolate Lollies

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Chocolate lollipops that may be contaminated with metal filings are being recalled, says the Food and Drug Administration.

The candy was intended for use at Passover time and was distributed nationwide to synagogues and Jewish centers, the FDA said.

The "Stoller's Brand Chocolate Pops" were manufactured by Eddyville Chocolate Co., Garden City, N.Y., and are being recalled by the distributor, Miss Chocolate Co. Inc., Rockville Centre, N.Y.

Striking Paper Publishes

NEW YORK (UPI) - Fighting a strike by more than 1,300 reporters and commercial employees, the New York Daily News published for a second day today with the help of truck drivers who crossed picket lines to deliver the paper.

Golf's Pressure Cooker--The U.S. Open--Begins Today

DENVER (UPI) — Golf's annual pressure cooker — the U.S. Open — commences today in the thin air and unreasonable heat of the Rocky Mountain foothills.

Fla. to step to the No. 1 tee of the Cherry Hills Country Club and hit the first ball of the 78th Open, more and more of the people who actually feel they can win are saying the man they might have to contend with the most is the wisecracking Mexican-American with the funny swing.

"I think Trevino would be one you have to consider," said leading money winner Tom Watson. "He's playing real well right now."

"No way I have an advantage," he said after completing his final practice round over the 7,062-yard, par-71, rolling, light and complex Cherry Hills course.

Open to their collection of accomplishments. Naturally there is Jack Nicklaus, with 16 major championships in the sack and trying to become the fourth man in history to win four Opens.

But, almost as an afterthought, Trevino also dropped in the fact that he did not miss a green during his final warm-up.

In addition to Trevino, Player, Watson and Pate, there is a modest crowd of golfers with hopes of adding the U.S. Open to their resumes.

And they all must contend with the surprising heat — which is expected to reach 95 degrees today. That's 10 degrees hotter than normal for this time of year.

OURSELVES

Debbie Reagan, Robert D. Wilder Exchange Vows

Debbie Lynn Reagan and Robert Downey Wilder were married June 3, at 11 a.m. in a garden ceremony at the Lake Mary home of the bride's parents. Rev. James Hughes, assisted by Rev. Tom Smith, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Reagan. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brady Wilder of Chicago, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white eyelid gown with long full sleeves. Deep self ruffles outlined the scooped neckline and tiered skirt. She wore a hairdo of daisies and carried a bouquet of daisies and fern.

Julie Reagan attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a pale green cotton polyester gown, fastened with a scooped, ruffled neckline, fitted bodice and flared ruffled skirt. Her flowers were daisies.

Bridesmaids were Kathy Reagan, sister of the bride, and Cindy Smith. Their gowns were identical in design to the honor attendant's. The colors were pale yellow and ice blue.

Pvt. Daniel L. Reagan, brother of the bride, served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsman were Scott Reagan and Kelley Reagan, brothers of the bride.

Following a reception, the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip in Florida and Chicago.

They will make their home at 218 N. Kathleen Lane, Apt. B., Orange Calif. Both are in the U.S. Marine Corps, stationed at M.C.A.S., El Toro, Calif.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT D. WILDER

Double Ring Rites Unite Miss Roszell, L.C. Dorton

Barbara Ann Roszell and Lewis C. Dorton Jr. were married June 10, at 7:30 p.m., at the First Baptist Church of Sanford. Dr. Jay T. Cosmato performed the candlelight, double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jeannette C. Roszell, 46 E. 20th St., Sanford, and the late Donald A. Roszell The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Joyce Lodge and Lewis C. Dorton, both of Sanford.

Given in marriage by her brother, John H. Hamilton of Ft. Lauderdale, the bride chose for her vows a white organza gown fashioned along the empire silhouette with a lace yoke, long lace sleeves and a cathedral train. A matching lace headpiece secured her shoulder length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses, white carnations, blue tipped carnations showered with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Charles E. Davis of Sanford, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a blue crepe gown accented with a taffeta cape. She carried blue and white carnations, pom-poms and purple statice with dark blue ribbons.

Lisa Hughes of Sanford, and Mrs. Steve Lindley and Mrs. Donald Thornburgh, both cousins of the bride from Indiana, were the bridesmaids. Their gowns and flowers matched the honor attendant's.

Charles E. Davis served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Dennis Garrett and Chris Ritchy, both of Sanford, and Cecil Knight of Jackson, S. C.

Stacey Davis was the flower girl, and Jason Davis, the ring bearer. A reception at the church fellowship hall followed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to the beach and North Carolina, the newlyweds will make their home at Jefferson City, Tenn.

MRS. LEWIS C. DORTON JR.

She Fears Closet Skeleton Might Spoil Her Wedding

DEAR ABBY: Your advice is desperately needed if my wedding, which is two months off, is to be a happy occasion. My father is dead and my mother insists that I have my only brother walk me down the aisle and give me away.

Abby, my brother is a foulmouthed, ill-mannered, chronic alcoholic who spoils every gathering he attends with his drunkenness. I rarely see him for this reason.

I am marrying a fine man. Members of his family who live out of town are coming to our wedding. I suppose every family has a skeleton in their closet, but I don't want to put mine on display. I am paying for my own wedding and don't want it spoiled.

My mother has made excuses for my brother all his life, and she has given me an ultimatum: If I don't have him give me away, she won't attend. I want my mother there. What should I do? SOMETHING BLUE (ME)

DEAR BLUE: I think your mother is being grossly unfair by issuing such an ultimatum, but why not issue her one? Tell her that if she will assume the responsibility of keeping her son sober on your wedding day, fine. But you will have someone else waiting in the wings to do the honors — just in case. (P.S. Your brother might raise you and I sincerely hope he does.)

DEAR ABBY: This is probably just like a million other letters you've received from women who have had affairs with married men. But this one contains a piece of advice that hasn't been emphasized nearly enough.

Last year I started seeing an absolutely fantastic guy from work. I knew he was married, but we played it cool and thought we could handle it. It was terrific while it lasted, but it had come to an end. The old story: We got too serious. He didn't want to hurt his wife and kids. Then he got "noble" and told me he couldn't allow me to invest any more time in a man who couldn't marry me.

I'm not blaming anybody but myself. I'm a mature woman and should have known better. The moral to this story is: If you must have an affair, don't choose someone you will see at work every day. When it's over the daily contact is torturous. STILL HURTING

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: You seem to be overlooking another "moral" or two: "Thou shalt not commit adultery" and "Thou shalt not steal."

DEAR ABBY: For the man who promised his wife on her deathbed that he would never marry again and then, broke his promise and felt guilty, I urge him to heed these wise and lovely words from the Talmud: "Man shall be called to account for all the permitted pleasures he failed to enjoy."

Sign me: "IN LOVE AT 60 IN BURBANK"

DEAR IN LOVE: I knew about the "sins of omission," but that a person shall be called to account for all the permitted pleasures he failed to enjoy is a joyous news indeed!

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own-thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (10 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Center Lists Summer Schedule

Clogging lessons will be offered to all persons interested, beginning on June 19 at 7 pm in the Apopka Community Center.

Perry Bunch of Forest City will be the instructor and plans to form a clogging club called the Cherokee.

Clogging is a form of early American square dancing often called a "hoedown." Bunch has eight years of experience as a clogger and is looking forward to introducing the art to the Apopka area. For more information call the Apopka Community Center — 885-3280.

The Apopka Area Senior Citizens will meet for their June meeting on June 15 at the Community Center at 6 pm. The Trinity Folk Trio will entertain along with a pantomime performed by a group of young people.

Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish to pass and your own table service for the dinner. June and July birthdays and anniversaries will be honored.

The group will not meet again until September when we will celebrate the August and September birthdays. These programs are open to all persons 50 years and older and their guests and are sponsored by the City of Apopka Community Center.

A dinner dance for senior citizens will be held on July 7 at 6:30 pm at the Apopka Community Center. The buffet dinner and dance admission price is $4.75 per person. Those wishing to attend the dinner only may do so by paying the $3.75 per person price.

Other dances are held each Friday night beginning at 8 pm with a $1 per person admission. Make reservations for the dinner dance by July 3. Please call 885-3280.

Six Facing Conviction In Fraud

PITTSBURGH (UPI) - Six out-of-state men face lengthy prison terms and fines following their conviction on conspiracy and racketeering charges related to the theft of $23 million worth of securities.

A U.S. District Court jury of five men and seven women Wednesday deliberated 4 1/2 hours before finding the defendants guilty. The six were arrested after they attempted to sell the stolen securities to government undercover agents.

The convictions resulted from an 18-month investigation by the FBI and the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

Eckerd Hqs. Decision Awaits Referendum

PEACHTREE CITY, Ga. (Irepor) - A referendum amendment passed by the city voters in July will probably result in a large quantity of cocaine and is presently awaiting sentencing.

Mercurio, previously convicted of a 1963 murder in Massachusetts, and Florano were recently indicted by a federal grand jury in an alleged organized crime takeover of major parsons in the Boston area.

McGrath, a former Putnam employee and supervisor of Putnam's computer department, was described as the "inside man" in the theft.

The chapter inducted four members into its Hall of Fame: Helen Thomas, UPI White House reporter; Jack Steele, Washington bureau chief for the Scripps-Hornell News Service; Howard K. Smith of ABC News; and Grant Dillman, UPI Washington manager.

William J. McGee, executive vice president of the American Ophthalmic Association, is another member.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING SEMINOLE COUNTY PLANNING AND ZONING COMMISSION

Press Guards Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter, reacting to a Supreme Court ruling allowing police to use search warrants in newsrooms, has directed the Justice Department to study possible legislative safeguards for reporters.

McGrath said Carter directed Attorney General Griffin Bill "in cooperation with White House officials, to undertake a comprehensive review of proposed legislation in this area."

The major objective of the study will be to find and fashion procedures that guarantee full protection of constitutional rights.

The Supreme Court ruled police, with a warrant, may search premises of a business established by a third party, including the news media, for evidence of a crime.

Found Guilty Of Murdering Father
What Next For Payne?

Public Defender William Carpenter said today he will ask Circuit Court Judge Robert McGregor to set aside the guilty verdicts returned by the jury in Ernest Lee Payne's murder trial and enter a plea of guilty in lieu of insanity.
Carpenter said there is case law supporting the move. Sentencing in the case is slated for Aug. 16. Carpenter said if the motion is denied he will appeal to a higher court.
'The thrust of my appeal will be that the jury completely disregarded the evidence as presented and the law as it was read,' he said.
Payne was found guilty as charged on charges of second-degree murder, two counts of attempted second-degree murder and two counts of aggravated battery.
Carpenter, 38, showed almost no emotion as the verdict was read and the jury pulled into the hall. He did, however, seem slightly surprised as the judge informed him he would be remanded into custody until sentencing. Payne had to ask McGregor to repeat his statement.
Carpenter slumped in his chair as Payne was taken away and set motionless with his head in his hands for several minutes. He

Tense Panama Awaits Carter; Security Tight

PANAMA CITY (UPI) — Gen. Oscar Turcios prepared a security plan for President Carter's visit, but many American residents said they would not be giving away the Panama Canal.
Panama City was reported quiet, but hundreds of heavily armed National Guard troops were stationed around the city to head off a report of student violence Wednesday night that left two persons dead and 15 wounded.
The hotel Panama, where Carter, his wife Rosalynn and other leaders will stay, was surrounded by troops in battle dress.
National Guardsmen armed with tear gas launchers, machine guns and rifles took up positions around the National University, the scene of the earlier rioting.
Thousands of panama were based in from the countryside to join Panamanian government workers, students and others in a day-long protest against Carter's visit.

On Saturday, Carter will take a helicopter tour of the Canal Zone with Brig. Gen. Harold H. Peritt, governor of the Canal Zone, before his address at Fort Clayton. He then will go to the Miraflores Locks for a close-up look at how the canal operates.

A Day With A Candidate

Munching His Way Through Seminole
By LEONARD KRAMERSON
Herald Staff Writer
It was, to say the least, an interesting way to spend an afternoon. First, there was the morning side of the day.
And indeed it might have, having had samplings of the hot dogs, chili, beans and coffee, cream cheese croissants to butter and plain jelly rolls.
The day was made in the late afternoon and evening.
It was the day that Jim Gilman, 38, Democratic opponent for Governor, came here to Seminole County to campaign for his bid to become governor—Attorney General Robert B. Bowers.

A Boy And His Blade
Boys will be boys...but sooner or later, they'll find themselves dealing with all the aggravation of manhood—for 16-year-old John Toers it was sooner this morning. He got an early start in a shaving-foam contest sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department. He scraped and scraped and...

after they shake your head," said Tom Whigham, county coordinator for the Bowers-Gilman campaign.
Gilman who has served six years in the state Senate and four years in the House puts the strategy in more political terms.
"An old poll indicates we're in front of the other candidates with at least a 10 percent lead," Gilman said. "So we have the recognition and support and now we just have to concentrate on legislation and getting the vote."
And for a first-time observer in this type of campaigning, it was clear that the strategy—at least in Seminole County—was working.
