U.N. To Recess, Peace Talks Due

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly has agreed to recess instead of adjourn its 28th session today, leaving open a possible Middle East debate if things don't go well for the Arabs at the Geneva peace conference.

supporters are in the majority in the 135-member assembly. The Arab-Israeli peace conference begins Friday.

The assembly did, however, approve a complicated cost-sharing formula and appropriated $30 million to pay for the first six months of the peacekeeping force's operation.

The United States welcomed assembly decisions to put off action in Asian disputes where there was a confrontation with mainland China.

U.S., U.S.S.R. Urging Syria Give POW List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Foreign governments, including the United States and the Soviet Union, are reported to be urging Syria to give Israel a list of the prisoners it captured in the October war before a Middle East peace conference begins Friday.

Israel Foreign Minister Abba Eban reiterated to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in Tel Aviv on Monday that Israel will not negotiate with the Syrians unless the list is handed over.

Israel already has a Home Office building several hundred yards from the Houses of Parliament just as thousands of government workers were getting to their desks.

After the Israeli-Egyptian troop disengagement is negotiated, the conference will take up Israel's future frontiers. The American source said the sequence of negotiations is then expected to be Israel's security, guarantees to maintain peace, the Palestinian refugee problem and the future of Jerusalem.

British army claimed its soldiers hit two IRA gunmen in a shootout in North Belfast and a third man was wounded, apparently by stray bullets, in another shooting near the center of the city.

The Home Office is responsible for the police and prisoners in Britain and Northern Ireland. It has been expecting a new wave of Irish terrorism in Britain since the conviction of the March bombers and reports from intelligence sources in Belfast that suspected terrorists had been going from Northern Ireland to London.

Laird Resigns Post; Asks Impeach Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Melvin R. Laird resigned today as President Nixon's chief domestic counselor and called upon his former colleagues in the House of Representatives to vote by March 15 on an impeachment resolution.

Laird said the continuing controversy over Watergate and other issues was hurting America's foreign and domestic policies and said it is time for House members to "accept their constitutional responsibilities" and vote on whether Nixon should be impeached.

Laird said he had not expected to resign. He said he was unhappy because Nixon had failed to heed his political advice.

Terrorists Flaunt Slaying 32 Persons

KUWAIT (AP) — Kuwait officials gave no indication today what they would do with five Palestinian terrorists who killed 32 persons in a two-day spree at airports in Rome and Athens.

The five guerrillas flashed V-for-victory signs and said they were proud of what they had done as they were taken in handcuffs Tuesday night to a military air base for questioning.

They lit the Menorah, chanted their prayer of thankfulness to God for their deliverance and expected the light to diminish the next night, but a miracle occurred and they were able to light it for eight days.

DELTONA—Hanukkah, the traditional "Festival of Lights," is celebrated by the Jewish people all over the world to commemorate man's first great victory in the battle for religious freedom.

Hanukkah was first observed in the year of 168, on the 25th day of Kislev, (the month on the Hebrew calendar), after winning their three-year struggle for freedom from the Syrians.

COURTHOUSE GETS HONOR AWARD

THE SEMINOLE County Courthouse at Sanford was one of four buildings receiving 1973 awards as outstanding concrete structures in Florida at Tampa. The awards are co-sponsored annually by the Florida Chapter, American Concrete Institute and Florida Concrete and Products Association Inc. Judges said the courthouse is a welcome change from standard public building design with very clean lines emphasizing well balanced design with good use of exposed aggregate and precast concrete panels. The $4 million structure was designed by John A. Burton IV, Gutmann, Dragash and Matz and Rodgers, Lovelock and Fritz. Rinker Materials Corporation, Sanford, supplied concrete for the project. ### Florida News Briefs

New FPI Proposal
MIAMI (AP) — Negotiators for Florida Power & Light Co. have offered revised proposals to settle the 40-day-old strike of its electrical workers.

A FPI&L spokesman said Tuesday that the settlement would allow the company to drop from the payroll 89 men charged with vandalism until a fact-finding board investigated the proposed firings.

The proposal also would allow returning members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers to underwrite the salaries of the 89 through a payroll deduction plan, the spokesman said.

The major stumbling block to achieving a strike settlement has been agreement over disciplinary actions for those employees accused of strike vandalism.

State Buys Island
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The first site to be purchased under the state environmentally endangered lands program will be Weedon Island at St. Petersburg.

The Cabinet approved the $6 million purchase Tuesday of 616 acres of mangroves, marshes, lakes and uplands which front on Tampa Bay.

The Cabinet earlier allocated $40 million toward the Big Cypress purchase from the $240 million endangered lands bond issue approved by Florida voters in November 1972. But that joint federal-state venture is some time off.

FHA Probe Widens
MIAMI (AP) — Federal Housing Administration officials say they have removed the acting director of their South Florida area office and launched a new investigation into FHA operations here.

Louis Baines, 44, was demoted to his old job as deputy director and Ernest Metzler, FHA operations specialist out of Atlanta, was brought in to take over temporary duties of the South Florida office, officials said Tuesday.

"Baine is suspended as acting director while we resolve some questions about decisions he made in that capacity," said Richard Larkin, assistant regional administrator.

Metzler was also brought in to head the operation when William Petelski resigned under fire as Miami director last December after he made payoffs to Petelski and Larry Williams, a former political aide to Sen. Howard Gurney.

Telephone Bills Go Up Next Month

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Southern Bell Telephone Co. customers should begin seeing an increase in monthly bills late next month, a state Public Service Commission spokesman says.

But local pay phone calls in the company's service area will still cost 10 cents.

The PSC voted 2-1 Tuesday to approve an $82.5 million rate hike for Southern Bell — an increase that will cost most Floridians about 60 cents a month.

Long-distance charges, uniform for all calls within Florida, will go up for all telephone users.

The commission approved a $48.5 million rate, coupled with an interim boost of $3.2 million granted in August which was adjusted to $34 million Tuesday.

The resulting $82.5 million package is the largest rate increase ever approved by the PSC, although it falls short of the $106.8 million hike sought by Southern Bell last January.

Commissioner Paula Hawkins said she voted against the increase because it was giving the company a 16 per cent revenue increase across the board.

Sierra Suit Heard
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge was to hold a hearing today on a suit to head off government sale of oil leases in the Gulf of Mexico off Florida, Alabama and Mississippi.

The U.S. Interior Department is scheduled to take bids Thursday in New Orleans on 147 tracts of oil-rich bottomland. Most of the tracts are 5,000 acre squares along the Gulf shoreline.

Environmentalists, led by the San Francisco-based Sierra Club, filed suit Friday in U.S. District Court in Tampa to block the oil leases.

U.S. District Judge Williams T. Hodges set the hearing for 1:30 p.m., EST today on the request for a temporary restraining order.

Gas Price Gouging Is Uncovered

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sunday drivers can find clean, dry wood in groves when they get to the pump, but there is a 10 per cent chance they will find premium prices also.

Internal Revenue Agents reported Tuesday they surveyed 52 stations around Florida open last Sunday and found five of them guilty of price gouging.

Prices ranged up to five cents a gallon above legal ceilings, said Jack L. Evans, IRS stabilization manager for Florida.

"We have one report, still not verified, of a station in Gainesville demanding a $1 service charge on Sundays, no matter how much gasoline you bought," Evans said. "We are checking that one."

He said he considered the ratio of overpricing representative of the overall market.

Weekday checks are indicating an even higher percentage of such illegal practices, Evans said.

From Monday through Friday last week, 110 stations were checked statewide, Evans said, and 29 appeared to have price violations.

He said in some of these cases the operators claimed their prices were justified but records weren't available at the station to back their claims. "That in itself is a violation," Evans said.

Service stations are required to display a price-octane sticker on each pump and maintain records justifying prices being charged.

'Little FTC' Rules Adopted By Cabinet

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin will soon have the power to crack down on unfair landlords and mobile homes dealers.

These were two of the categories covered in 11 chapters of the unfair and deceptive trade practices rules adopted by the Cabinet Tuesday.

The measure goes into effect Feb. 1.

Approval was postponed on chapters covering automobile repairs and contracts for future services such as from schools, dance studios and health spas after Education Commissioner Floyd Christian and Comptroller Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson asked for clarifications.

Representatives of landlords made the most determined assault on the rules but were turned away.

And the Cabinet ignored a request from Senate President Mallory Horne, D-Tallahassee, that approval be delayed until the chapters are reviewed by a legislative committee examining whether executive rule-making is usurping legislative authority.

Sen. Ralph Poston, D-Miami, presenting the request from Horne, said, "The Senate President suggests that consideration be given to postponing the rules," calling them a "flagrant violation of the separation of powers."

The 1973 legislature adopted the law giving Shevin powers to propose rules similar to those adopted to govern interstate commerce by the Federal Trade Commission. He and state attorneys have enforcement powers.

Wood Fires Okayed To Protect Citrus

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Pollution Control Board has relaxed air pollution regulations and allowed citrus growers to burn wood and dirtier oil to protect fruit and trees from frost.

The board also has agreed to ask Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin to enact rules to protect Florida's wetlands.

Under the emergency air pollution rule adopted Tuesday, citrus growers could burn clean, dry wood in groves when they get to the pump, but there is a 10 per cent chance they will find premium prices also.

If the wood is not available, the rule gives Peter Baljet, pollution control director, authority to allow burning of lower grade oil and specially-treated lumber during extreme cold snaps.

Temperatures must dip below 25 degrees for 20 hours before Baljet can authorize the burning of dirtier fuels.

Baljet must make a public declaration and disseminate a list of fuels that can be burned during extreme cold snaps and fuel shortages.

"Open fires cannot be ignited in the groves to protect the fruit until temperatures drop to 20 degrees or lower for four hours or more.

"To protect trees, growers cannot ignite fires until temperatures drop to 20 degrees and are expected to go to 24 degrees for four or more hours.

"Citrus nurseries can fire up when it gets to 32 degrees because seedlings are more sensitive to the cold.

Housing Halt, Layoffs Predicted

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A roofing contractor says housing construction in Florida could grind to a halt — throwing thousands of workers out of jobs if you wait until April.

But Dockery's conclusion was disputed by Sen. Jim Williams, D-Ocala.

C.C. Dockery, vice president of the Florida Roofing, Sheet Metal and Air Conditioning Contractors Association, commented Tuesday before the Senate Select Energy Committee.

The committee and the House Rules Committee discussed possible energy crisis legislation for a Jan. 8 special session but adjourned without acting on specific bills.

Dockery said the oil spill law, which provides unlimited liability for petroleum products dumped in Florida waters, is keeping asphalt shippers from making deliveries in Florida.

He said refusal by shippers to enter state waters is "raising havoc with the economy of the Florida building industry."

Dockery urged modification of the law at the January special session because "20,000 construction workers will be out of jobs if you wait until April."

Sen. William Gillespie, D-New Smyrna Beach, reported to the committee that use of solar water heaters in Florida could save "well over one million barrels of oil a day."

"At a time when in government are asking the citizens of Florida to make great sacrifices in the interest of conserving energy, this estimate of potential savings to be realized through the use of solar energy clearly merits legislative interest," he said.

Boston Tea Party

Liberty Blow Or Radicalism?

By Dan Oakley

BOSTON (NEA) — This is what editors call an attention-grabbing lead. The famous Boston Tea Party of Dec. 16, 1773, did not take place in Boston, what was thrown overboard was not British tea and the perpetrators were not tax-protesting colonists disguised as Indians.

Of course it did, it was and they were. The Boston Tea Party happened the way the history books say it happened, a towering milestone on the road to American independence.

But now that your attention is grabbed, was the Boston Tea Party really a blow struck for human liberty? Or were those responsible for it a bunch of unruly radicals who already enjoyed greater political freedom than any other people on earth?

Is there any good reason, at a time when national self-confidence is shaken by Watergate, energy crises and international rebuffs, with revisionist historians busily exploding so many cherished national myths — is there any good reason for Americans to celebrate with pride the anniversary of an inspired act of vandalism that took place 200 years ago?

Again, the answer is that it was, they were and there is. In 200 years, Americans have given unmistakable proof of their wild devotion to the principle of self-taxation. But for a century and a half before 1773, they had been beneficiaries of what the "salutary neglect" of Great Britain, in the 18th century, the theory of mercantilism was to the satisfaction of the colonies provided both a source of raw materials to the mother country and a built-in market for manufactures. The French and Indian War (1754-63) cracked the system. Emerging as victor in the long struggle with France for domination in North America, Britain found her public debt almost doubled. It seemed only just and reasonable that the prospering Americans, on whose behalf so much British blood and treasure had been expended, should now shoulder part of the costs of their own defense and administration.

The Stamp Tax Act of 1765 was the first attempt to put this new policy into effect. The Americans reacted with surprising outrage and unaccustomed unity. As Benjamin Franklin, agent in London for several of the colonies, tried to explain to ministers and commoners, the Americans did not object to external taxes such as customs duties (though smuggling, bribery and other evasions were time-honored practices). What they refused to acknowledge was Parliament's right to impose on them any direct, internal tax they had no part in fashioning.

This dubious argument did not impress the crown. A boycott of British goods did, and the Stamp Tax was shortly repealed. The colonists had sipped of the heady wine of defiance and the ominous implications of the precedent were not lost on King George III and his ministers. The Stamp Tax was succeeded by the Townshend Acts, which were also eventually repealed — except for a tax of three pennies a pound on tea as token of the crown's right of taxation. The colonists, who were as passionate drinkers of tea as their English cousins, continued to denounce the tax, but the matter was largely academic as long as smuggled Dutch tea was available.

Then came 1773 and the plan of the ministry of Lord North to rescue the nearly bankrupt East India Company. The Stamp Tax was succeeded by the Townshend Acts, which were also eventually repealed — except for a tax of three pennies a pound on tea as token of the crown's right of taxation. The colonists, who were as passionate drinkers of tea as their English cousins, continued to denounce the tax, but the matter was largely academic as long as smuggled Dutch tea was available.

Longwood Tables PUD Annex

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — With a delegation of protesting Longwood Hills, Lake Emma Road property owners present, the city council Monday night tabled until its next meeting Jan. 14 the annexation of the Trim Tic Development parcel proposed for planned unit development.

A denial by Dick Tickle, Trim Tic general manager that a contingency problems exists was brushed off by Marsee. "I don't know what law firm he is a member of," Marsee said.

Kimbrough and other persons in county territory adjacent to the Trim Tic parcel said they did not receive formal notice required by the Money Law on the annexation.

Although Acting City Atty. Ned Julian Jr. did not agree with Marsee's formal notice, the proposed annexation would violate the law if action were taken immediately, he recommended the board consider whether the city had complied with all laws or the annexation could be challenged. In other business, council authorized the hiring of a new fireman beginning Jan. 1.

Accepted for maintenance the streets and other improvements in Winsor Manor. Set a public hearing for 7 p.m., Jan. 28 on the petitioned annexation with mobile home park zoning on the Al Stolte property west of SR 427.

Longwood Seeks Z-P Decision

LONGWOOD — City councilmen Monday night sent to the zoning commission for study and recommendation the controversial Georges St. Laurent request for industrial and residential zoning on his property which extends from Island Lake south to Charlotte Street.

The council referred the request after an attorney in the audience insisted the city, under Resolution 180, cannot grant zoning without a recommendation from the advisory board.

Acting City Atty. Ned Julian Jr., first said it was not necessary to refer the request and then changed his mind, saying once property is within the city limits, the city cannot change zoning without going to the zoning commission.

Mayor Eugene Jaques insisted a large map had been attached originally to the petition but that he had removed the map and put it up on his office wall.

Primary spokesman for Contemporary Group Piano is Dr. Robert Pace, head of piano instruction at Columbia University's Teachers College and educational director of the National Piano Foundation. He will conduct the free seminar, which is co-sponsored by Rollins College and the National Piano Foundation.

Among the topics Dr. Pace will discuss during the 9 a.m.-1 p.m. session are: current trends in piano teaching; the selection of basic texts and supplementary materials designed to make friends for music, not enemies; how to achieve greater effectiveness in private studios and school music programs through group piano instruction; and the role of the private piano teacher in the community and a plan for his constant growth and development.

For information on registration, call Bertha Eutler at 646-2000.

AVOCADO-ORANGE SALAD
1 large ripe avocado, peeled and cubed
1 medium-size sweet red onion, cut into thin rings
1/2 cup salad oil
3 tablespoons light whiskey (optional)
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar

Gas Rationing?

We Tried Once And Abused It

Editor's Note: Gas rationing, if it comes, will be nothing new for Americans. The nation's fuel was severely rationed for three years during World War II.

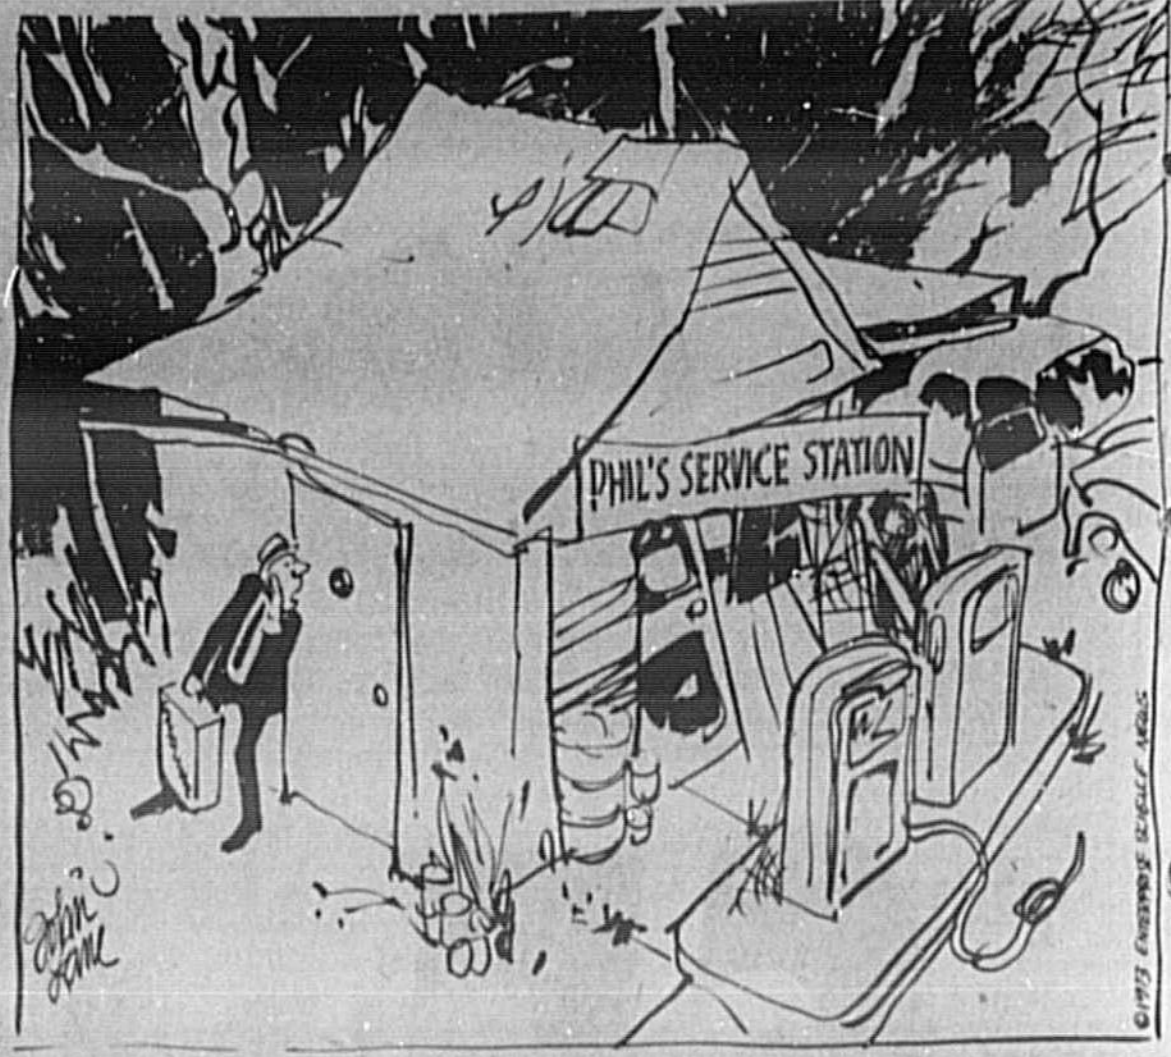

By Tom Tide NEW YORK (NEA)—It was a time of united effort. Women dropped old nylon in department store repositories for recycling...

work, hundreds of thousands of motorists merely bribed the station operators. Ten cents more a gallon was all that was needed.

By the time rationing went nationwide (late in 1942) the individual acts of fraud had fostered an entire black market network.

legitimes. And as if the Black Marketeer weren't enough, some citizens began other kinds of swindles—a chemist, for example, was jailed for advertising a phony pellet he said could lessen gas consumption.

But whether they got away with it or not, almost all of the cheaters were eventually forgotten. Next to alcohol and pot prohibitions, World War II gas rationing was perhaps the most abused federal regulation in the nation's history.

"Joe Sent me"

But when it came to driving less—to perhaps walking to work, for crying out loud—American opinion and practice was sharply divided for the duration. Gas rationing? Then as now there was heated debate...

At first the cheating was individualistic. As during Prohibition, the idea among many was not to succumb but to maneuver. To get a heavier allotment, drivers were given gas coupons in proportion to their legitimate need.

And if these plays did not work, hundreds of thousands of motorists merely bribed the station operators. Ten cents more a gallon was all that was needed.

By the time rationing went nationwide (late in 1942) the individual acts of fraud had fostered an entire black market network.

Food Costs Rise Seen During 1974

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scarcities of beef and pork this winter could help boost retail food prices sharply in the first quarter of 1974.

Beef and pork supplies are expected to tighten in the first three months of 1974 as a result of fewer hogs and cattle going to market, he said.

Summers' remarks were in a speech prepared for the National Agricultural Outlook Conference. He said retail food prices, including food at home and meals eaten out, this year averaged 14 per cent higher than in 1972.

But Summers said there is "an unusual degree of uncertainty" in the food price and supply situation at the present time, including world supplies of farm commodities and import demands.

Wild Game Precautions

By Gaynor Maddox This is the time of year when thoughts of extra cash seem particularly welcome. High food costs and warnings of food scarcity bring to many a man's mind the part he could play with his hunting rifle in helping to stock the family larder.

Hunting demands careful use of the gun to avoid crippling or fatal accidents. There are two other hazards associated with the catch whether or not you are going for a mouse or a rabbit.

The disease is a genuine hazard. In an infected person, symptoms begin to show within three to seven days, first as a severe headache, chills and fever.

I wonder if this one will shock you as much as it did when I first heard of it.

The U.S. Senate has approved a $150,000 study to determine whether Alaska has the facilities to treat an increase in mental illness that might be brought on by construction of the Trans-Alaska pipeline.

The Senate Appropriations Committee attached a report accompanying the bill which said "serious economic and social dislocations in Alaska attributable to pipeline construction will more than likely give rise to an increase in incidence of mental health problems."

(You think they ought to appropriate an equal sum for the mental stability for Congress?)

In Death Of Wirz Jury Gets Griffin Trial
By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

The David Lee Griffin manslaughter trial in the death of former Casselberry City Councilman Richard Wirz went to the jury at 11:30 this morning.

Circuit Court Judge Tom Waddell told the Sanford jury the officers facing the defendant included manslaughter, assault, assault with a deadly weapon, and battery, or bare assault.

And then the problem arose.

First, a call to P&S Ambulance Service. They couldn't handle the call and recommended Herndon's be summoned.

Herndon—"We can't make it for another 10 minutes at least."

It wound up that the victim finally was rushed to the hospital via the patrol car.

Overcrowded Schools Spur Protest By Angry Parents

By MARK WEINTZ Herald Staff Writer

Parents expressed their frustration of the county's school overcrowding problem by slapping petitions and formal requests, supporting various solutions, on the Seminole County School Board at the special session Wednesday night.

The special session was called to discuss elementary, middle and high school boundaries that have been changed annually with each tide of new residents. At the meeting Layer told the board a decision would have to be made on the boundaries by mid-January.

The school board took no formal action at the meeting, but, concerned parents protested changing boundaries.

Robert Burkhardt, representing English Estates, told the board, "I formally request that the board freeze the existing school boundaries. I am disappointed that we don't have a good study on expanding the schools we have. If we continue to build new schools that are too small we are not making the best use of the taxpayers' money. We have serious problems."

Burkhardt, general manager at Winter Park Telephone Co., said, "My company is committing $30 million on projects that indicate the county is going to continue growing at about a 17 per cent annual growth rate and that is a conservative figure."

Layer told the board the county growth was declining. Burkhardt presented the board with statistics, compiled by the phone company, that indicate a 120 per cent growth factor in portions of the south end of the county over a five-year period.

A thunder of applause followed Burkhardt's presentation and one parent shouted that an area realtor plans to build 3,000 new homes in the Sweetwater Oaks area alone.

10-Gallon Limit Will Fail, Say Gas Dealers, Users

By JEAN PATTESON Herald Staff Writer

Sanford area service station operators and motorists interviewed today were unanimous in the opinion any attempt by the administration to limit gasoline sales to 10 gallons per customer would not work.

The 10-gallon per customer limit will soon be proposed by the Nixon Administration.

Service station operators as part of a new "voluntary energy and fuel saving" plan. "Ten gallons isn't sufficient for the average driver; if a motorist is limited to around 10 gallons, he's going to go down the road and get another 10 gallons before they leave," he commented.

"It's okay to limit customers who are using their car for pressure trips, but if they're going to drive round the block and get another 10 gallons before they leave," he commented.

"If I needed more than 10 gallons I'd go from station to station until I had enough to get me to my destination," declared another resident who also asked to remain anonymous, "in case they get me for going against the President," as she explained it.

"After hearing this morning's 'Today Show' I don't think there is a shortage; it's just a lot of political double talk," said Tom O'Day of Sanford. "I think there's more gas than they're selling us, and a limit of 10 gallons would hurt the public. Ten gallons is not enough, and I don't mean for emergency vehicles only."

O'Day said if the limit was enforced and a motorist's fuel purchases mentioned, we would then be into gas rationing. "It's through the whole idea was to keep away from rationing and only use that as a last resort," he said.

"It's not work," commented Charles Warner at the French Avenue—First Street Firestone store.

Across the street at Kiddy's Standard Oil station Sid Kiddy agreed. "A ten gallon limit would drive round the block and come back for ten gallons more, and that'll put extra work on us. I feel as long as I've got gas I'll fill them up," Kiddy said. "I don't want to see a name or an amount as been cut 10 per cent. He has had no problems getting his full allotment."

Gary Adair at the Adair Gulf station on French Avenue echoed the comments of other gas station operators: "I don't believe in limiting gas to customers. I don't believe there's a shortage. We're going to continue selling like we always have, and if we run out we'll shut up shop and go home."

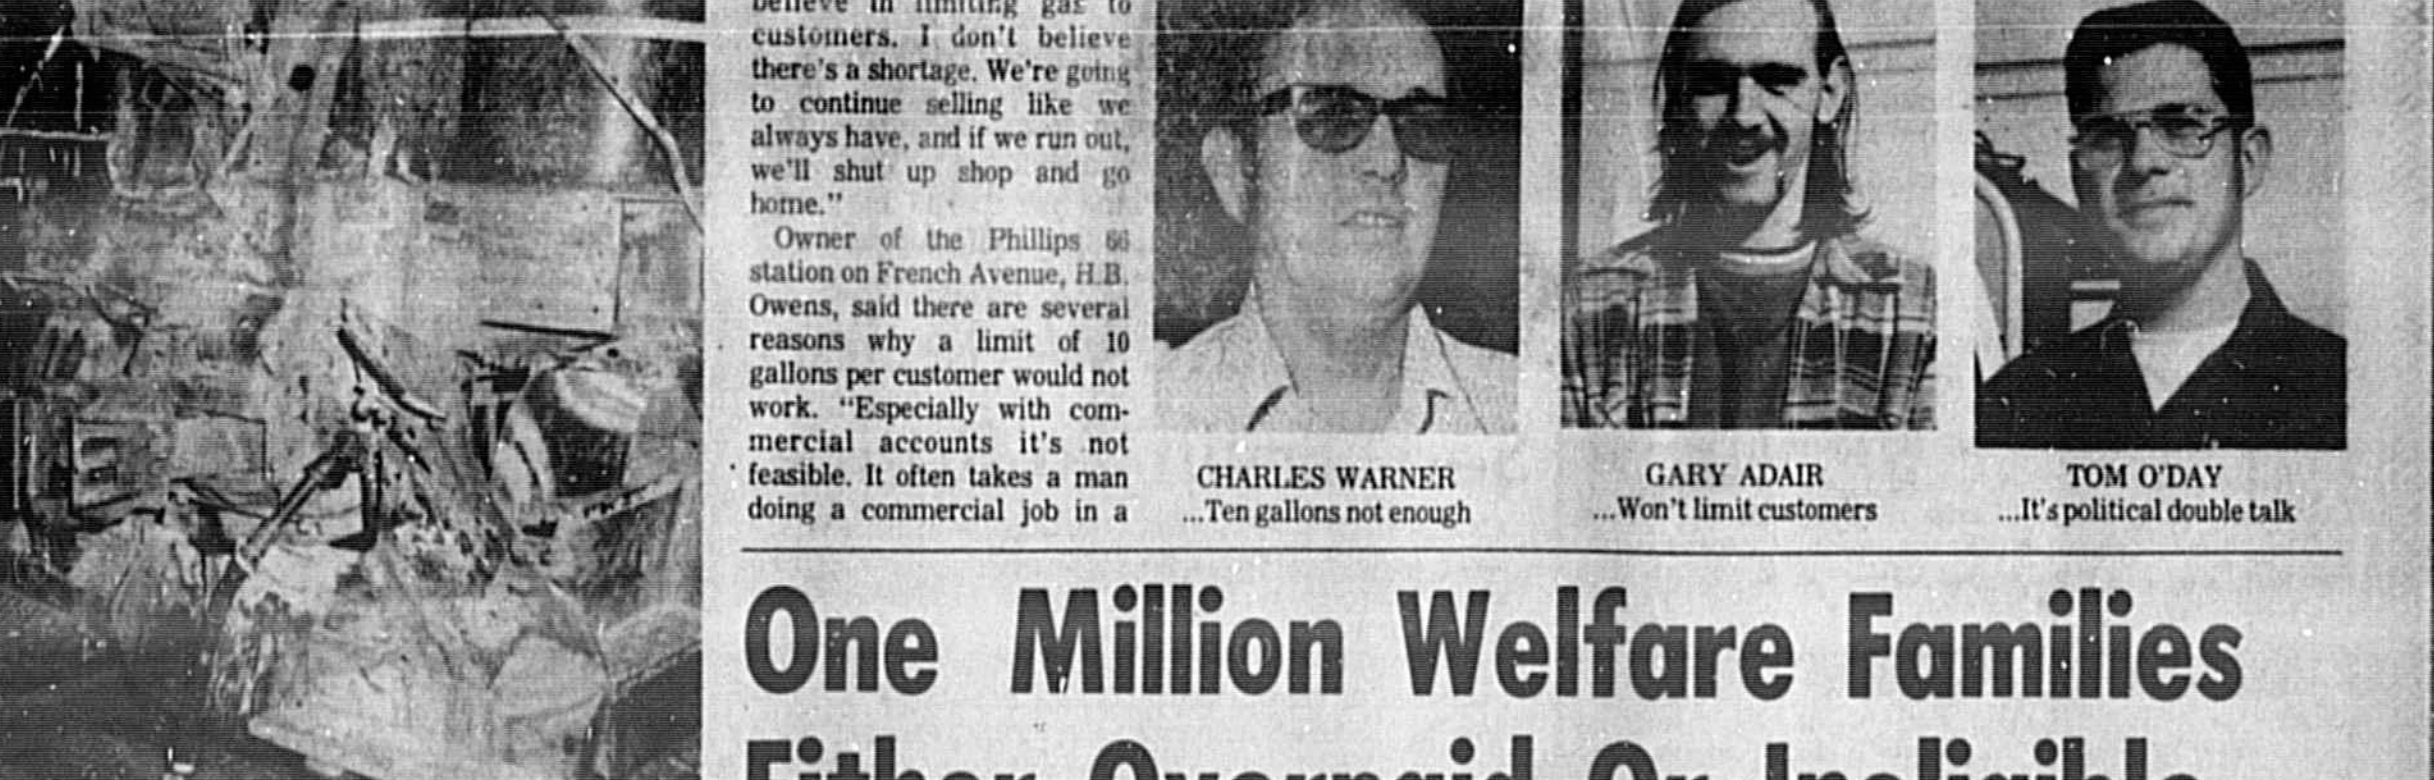

Owner of the Phillips 66 station on French Avenue, H.B. Owens, said there are several reasons why a limit of 10 gallons per customer would not work. "Especially with commercial accounts it's not feasible. It often takes a man doing a commercial job in a truck 10 gallons to get to the job, 10 more to do the job, and how's he going to get home if he can't get a fillup?" asked Owens.

"It's okay to limit customers who are using their car for pressure trips, but if they're going to drive round the block and get another 10 gallons before they leave," he commented.

"If I needed more than 10 gallons I'd go from station to station until I had enough to get me to my destination," declared another resident who also asked to remain anonymous, "in case they get me for going against the President," as she explained it.

One Million Welfare Families Either Overpaid Or Ineligible

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government audit released today says that one million welfare families are ineligible or overpaid at an annual cost to taxpayers of $1.7 billion.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the conclusions were reached from state samplings of 44,000 of the 3.1 million families receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

The review showed that 10.2 per cent or 318,300 cases were ineligible, 2.2 per cent or 708,800 were overpaid and 8.1 per cent or 252,100 were underpaid, HEW said.

The cases, which represent Area deaths 2A, Calendar Classified ads 7B-8, Comics 6B, Dear Abby 6B, Dr. Crane 6B, Editorial comment 4A, Entertainment 5B, Horoscope 6B, Hospital news 7A, Public notices 8A, Sports 1B-4B, Entertainment 5B, State 5A, TV 5B.

Under the threat of a loss of federal matching funds, HEW said the states have developed plans to correct the error rates.

"The next step is for states to implement these corrective action plans so that error rates will be sharply reduced by June 30, 1975, to an ineligibility rate of no more than 5 per cent and an overpayment rate of no more than 5 per cent," HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said. "States that fail to reach their reduction goals will lose part of their funds."

Heffner said the state was not arguing that the tragedy was anything more than an accident, but that criminal negligence was involved.

Heffner hammered away with the eye-witness testimony of Arthur Rainier, who Wednesday testified he was four and one-half feet from Griffin, saw Griffin raise the pistol above his head, and draw a bead on Wirz. (Cont'd. On Pg. 7a Col. 1)

Impeach Probe Head Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—John M. Doar, a former assistant attorney general, was named today to head the House Judiciary Committee staff conducting an investigation into the possible impeachment of President Nixon.

Doar, 52, a Republican, was appointed to the Justice Department by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1960 and stayed on to play an active role in developing the civil rights legislation of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Doar will head a staff of about 30 lawyers, most of whom have already been hired and who have been working for several weeks compiling information for use in the impeachment investigation.

Rodino said the selection of a Republican to head the staff will lend a bipartisan tone to the inquiry into possible impeachment of President Nixon.

In presenting Doar at a news conference, Rodino called him "a man of ability and the highest degree of integrity."

Rodino said Wirz will start his new duties immediately, organizing the staff and directing the continuing investigation in preparation for the return of Congress on Jan. 21 after its holiday recess.
