

Princess Margaret

came expressions of admiration and praise for the 25-year-old Margaret's decision, in which she said: "Mindful of the church's teaching that Christian marriage is indissoluble and conscious of my duty to the commonwealth, I have resolved to put these considerations before any others."
There was some anger here at what was felt to be the tyranny of tradition and convention that forced Margaret to give up marriage because of the religious views of one segment of the population. Some newspapers predicted the commonwealth and the Church of England—the established church—would be more hurt than helped by her renunciation.
"There are women who only love once," said Sir Beverly Baxter, a Canadian-born member of Parliament who knows the Princess. "I have a haunting feeling that Princess Margaret is one of them."
He gave his views in an Evening Standard article entitled "Margaret's Sacrifice."

shopkeepers, including Christmas trees, Santa Claus, fireplaces, garlands, reindeer, skis, Christmas presents, and snow scenes. These themes will help, according to the letter, keep the theme of this year's Christmas Parade "Let's Put Christ Back Into Christmas."
For the float judged best there will be an award of $25 and second best receives $15. Entries are requested no later than Nov. 23, with registration made at the Jaycee Information Booth, phone 1372.
Seminole County Schools will close for the event which will be staged Nov. 30 at 2:30 p. m. Floats entered in the parade by schools will be judged separately and trophies awarded the winners.
Hunt, in his letter to the merchants, said, "To make this, your 25th Christmas Parade, the most successful held, we heartily urge your full support and cooperation. Let's bring good will, cheer and a real spirit of Christmas to our wonderful town."

Russell Tongay

has agreed to post Tongay a $10,000 bond to assure his return after medical treatment.
However, Gov. Collins said he should not be denied proper medical care if it is financially impossible for him to put up a bond.
Cheney was instructed to work out recommendations to govern Tongay's release and return to the hospital and consult with Tongay's lawyer, Wayne Ripley of Jacksonville.
The Cabinet scheduled a special meeting for Friday to formalize the release.
Tongay is suffering from an ailment for which he cannot be treated at the prison.
He was convicted of manslaughter for having directed his daughter to dive from a 33-foot board at a Miami Beach pool. She suffered fatal injuries in the dive.

Rankin Has Big Job In Formosa
TAIPEI, Formosa, (U)—When Karl L. Rankin was in college one would hardly have guessed that some day he would be U.S. ambassador to the Republic of China.
Rankin was educated as an engineer, a career he had wanted to follow from boyhood. He studied engineering at California Institute of Technology, Federal Polytechnic in Zurich and Princeton.
By the time he was 29, Rankin had turned to the foreign service, but in many respects the engineer's training has continued to serve him well. For with the State Department he has again found delicate problems in which a single false calculation might cause great harm.
This is particularly true of his present assignment.
Rankin has been America's top representative on this nervous island during a period of almost constant crisis in the Far East. His specialties have helped to shape U.S. policy in the face of repeated threats by Communist China to invade Formosa and other offshore islands.
And during his tenure on Formosa there have often been sharp differences between the objectives of the State Department and those of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. In the face of all these difficulties, Rankin has retained a relationship with Chiang Kai-Shek perhaps more cordial than those between the generalissimo and any foreign envoy of the past.
And in addition to his other duties, he has headed up a complex team that includes the chiefs here of the foreign operations administration group and the U.S. Information Service.
The job of top American representative on Formosa has not always been such a trying—or important—assignment. Rankin came here in 1950 as minister and charge d'affaires and was not raised to the rank of ambassador until February 1953.
Rankin, now a handsome, portly man of 36, was born in Manitowish, Wis. Following his graduation from Princeton, he embarked on a three-year assignment as construction superintendent in the Caucasus with Near East relief.
He returned home and became manager of a real estate company at Linden, N.J. But the taste of foreign service had affected him strongly, and when he heard in 1927 that examinations were being held for positions in the newly created foreign commerce service he hurried off to Washington. Emerging with the highest mark in the examinations, he was the first appointee in the commerce service, which later was absorbed into the State Department's foreign service.
Rankin's first assignment was as assistant trade commissioner at Prague. He was later assigned to Athens, Brussels and Luxembourg, and was serving at Brussels when Nazi Germany ordered the American legation there closed. Rankin was then assigned to Cairo, but it took him two years to get there.
In 1941, while on a roundabout the metropolis.

Mrs. Tillis, who beamed with pride and bore a broad smile throughout the presentation of gifts and the praises from officers, said, "I want to thank the Sanford Police Department, Chief Roy Williams, and the city, for the wonderful cooperation through these years."
Asked what he would do now, he started to answer and Mrs. Tillis broke in and said, "I'm going to try to get him to take some time off and play. He's worked hard all these years."
"You ought to see him Mrs. Tillis remarked, "he's doing something all the time. Repairing fences, patching up a boat, going here and there working all the time."
Today, Captain Roy Tillis will relax, not having to report for duty at a certain time. But, he can look back over the years, and then to his gifts, to remember the long years of service to Sanford and Seminole County.

Country Living Means Relaxation

GETTYSBURG, Pa., (U)—Country living generally means relaxed living, plenty of privacy and freedom of movement.
And living on a 400-acre farm should give one plenty of all three unless you're the President of the United States.
Even though the President will be recuperating here from his heart attack last month, the problems of privacy and freedom of movement will be big ones at his sprawling, rolling farm on the edge of Gettysburg's famous Civil War battlefield.
Trying to help, however, are Gettysburg Battlefield Park authorities and the Civil Aeronautics Administration—with an understanding assist from residents of this historic town and surrounding farm countryside.
First step toward assuring the President's privacy came when park authorities offered to close to all battlefield tourists one of the half dozen observation towers which dot the battlefield.
This particular tower is along

Confederate Avenue, about a half mile from Eisenhower's front door. It reaches up and over a wooded section which separates Ike's farm from the battlefield. A tourist, even with the naked eye, can see what's going on at the farm. And, with the aid of even medium powered glasses or binoculars, he can tell what color dress Mrs. Eisenhower is wearing.
The secret service didn't want to cause any inconvenience to tourists but they reportedly were concerned when they took a good look at the situation and realized a crackpot with a high-powered rifle, equipped with a telescope lens, could endanger the President or members of his family. So it was decided to close the tower when the President stays at the farm. Later this was modified and, during Eisenhower's visits here, the tower will be open—but under surveillance.
Meanwhile, while the CAA has not posted the area as a section over which aircraft may not fly, it has issued a memorandum in which it notes "that air traffic in the immediate vicinity of the Eisenhower farm has steadily increased and at unnecessarily low altitudes." Much of this traffic, it pointed out, was from local planes apparently hired by tourists who want an aerial look at the farm.
As a result, the CAA has asked the cooperation of airport operators and pilots in the vicinity to avoid sighting trips.
The usual regulations calling for flight of 1,000 feet above the highest obstruction still hold and there's no action taken against pilots flying over the farm on regular trips and for those who don't realize that the farm is owned by the President of the United States.

Traffic on regular public roads around the farm continues as usual—and that's the way President Eisenhower reportedly wants it. His house is reached by a long lane off Waterworks Road but the entrance now is blocked by a heavy gate and a sentry box, occupied by secret service personnel when he's at the farm.
Meanwhile, work on putting the farm in top operating shape continues. When President Eisenhower purchased the farm it comprised 183 acres in not-too-good shape. Today his holdings total nearly 400 acres and with the enlarged house, remodeled barn, improved lands, addition of a farm pond, it is an A-1 farm according to strict Pennsylvania Dutch standards.
Strip farming, grass waterways and other methods are being followed to put the fields in top condition.
The old farmhouse, owned by Simon Redding, was torn down except for one section at the end. To this portion were built two more sections with all modern conveniences, including air conditioning. The house today bears little resemblance to the modest 100-year-old red brick farmhouse the President purchased in November 1950.
The next year, a retired brigadier general, Arthur S. Nevins, an old friend and something of a farmer in his own right, took over the house and ran the farm for several years until he purchased the adjoining farm. Gen. Nevins still oversees operations on the President's property and a road linking the two farms is heavily traveled.
Nevins purchased the adjoining farm about the same time Eisenhower started negotiating for additional ground. The President at one time commented he thought it was "outrageous" that land owners were asking $500 an acre for land adjoining his property.
Eisenhower, since the original purchase, bought three other sections, one of 120 acres, one of 50 acres and one of 12 acres.
The townspeople also are determined to do what they can to help the recovery along and to see that he is able to enjoy the farm and by preventing any commercial exploitation of the fact the President's home is Gettysburg.

Vandalism

Phil Hair, was damaged extensively when a bolt or rocks were thrown through a restroom door striking a water faucet causing water to run through the night.
Other reports said that coin boxes were torn off machines, windows were broken, traffic was blocked as automobiles were pushed into the street to block oncoming cars, screen doors were pulled off, were just a few of the acts of vandalism caused during the evening.
The farm building at Seminole High School was entered but no immediate report of damage was made. However, it is known that the youngsters left the building once to drive cars around the high school football practice field and then return to take up their frolic.
Mother's accompanying youngsters for their Halloween calls, said that there were more parents out with their children than ever before. However, they reported no vandalism and no rowdiness in the groups of smaller youngsters as they visited homes of friends and strangers in their neighborhood.

estate had been plagued by unauthorized visitors.
A 22-year-old German refugee, identified by authorities as Paul W. Wirths of Floral Park, was picked up and allegedly admitted he was prowling the Woodward estate over the weekend.
He also was quoted as saying he broke a window a day or two earlier.
Wirths, who has a burglary record, had been sought for questioning in the Woodcase as well as in connection with a series of break-ins in the vicinity of the Oyster Bay home of the Woodwards.
A policeman spotted him early today in Huntington, about 10 miles from Oyster Bay. In his car officers said, was a shotgun stolen Oct. 22 in another Long Island community.
Wirths was turned over to Nassau County authorities for questioning about the Woodcase case.
Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta did not immediately make public plans for his activities today and could not be located by newsmen.
He had taken a new statement from Mrs. Woodward at Doctors Hospital here last night.
Propped up in bed, the attractive blonde gave details of the events leading up to the shooting. However, she broke down when she reached the actual shooting and questioning was broken off after her statement that it was a noise, rather than anything she saw, which caused her to fire Sunday morning.

Driver Injured In Wreck Today

Nominating Group Submits Choice Of New Officers

DEBARY — Plantation Estates Property Owners Association met Tuesday night at the Manlin House. Those bringing chairs were fortunate for the two assembly rooms were crowded three quarters of an hour before opening time at 8 p. m.

Ralph Withersell, president, opened the meeting with the Lord's prayer. Propositive and new members' names were reported; 25 of whom promptly paid their January dues, bringing the membership to 515.

The nominating committee, Charles E. Fraser chairman, Mrs. Arthur Lambert, Carl O. Lind and Gaston E. Crosby submitted their choice of proposed new officers: Sergeant at Arms, Stanley S. Stroud; Secretary, Mrs. Wallace F. Gable; Treasurer, Charles Fraser; and President, E. M. Jewell.

A covered dish dinner was announced for Nov. 15 at the Manlin House. The report on zoning as given by Everett Swift at a recent meeting of property owners was approved and the association adjourned.

15-Year-Old Boy Missing From Home

A 15-year-old boy is missing from his home after leaving class at Semholo High School yesterday morning at approximately 9 o'clock.

Mickey Carter, 15, 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing 150 pounds did not return to his home yesterday after leaving the school after the first class of the day.

The boy's father, F. H. Carter, a Shore Patrol Chief in the Navy here, reported that his son, when last seen, was wearing a plaid shirt, a brown suede jacket, levis, and black oxford shoes.

The report, made to the Sanford Police Department, has been transmitted to all law enforcement agencies.

POLIO CASES DROP

JACKSONVILLE — Florida's 1935 polio total reached 430 through Oct. 28 compared to 1,500 for the corresponding period last year, the State Board of Health says.

There were four new cases reported for the week ending Oct. 28. Three were in Dade County: a woman, 43, comaralytic; a 6-year-old boy, unparalytic; and an 18-year-old girl, paralytic. None had received antipolio vaccine.

The other case was in Duval, a 9-year-old girl, type unspecified.

The fourth accident within a two-month period, in a 200 yard stretch of highway in the city limits of Sanford, occurred this morning shortly after 8 o'clock.

The accident, on Seminole Boulevard, just east of Mangrove Ave., was reported at 3:55 a. m. this morning.

A 1933 Ford sedan, driven east on Seminole Boulevard, was declared a total loss by the investigating patrolmen, W. R. Cosgrain and J. W. Rumbley, of the Sanford Police Department.

Eugene Williamson, driver of the car, was taken to the local hospital by Brisson's ambulance. It is reported that the accident victim received a broken jaw, broken shoulder, broken ribs, and possible internal injuries. Being thrown from his car, and coming to a stop at least 20 feet from the automobile, the 24-year-old driver sustained bruises and lacerations in addition to his injuries.

The Sanford filling station operator, whose address is given as 308 West 7th St., lost control of his car just east of Mangrove Ave. and traveled a distance of 235 feet before coming to a stop parallel with the Lakeview Motel building. The Sanford Police Department report states that the car turned over five or six times as it rolled out of control. The estimated speed of the car at the time of the accident, according to the report filed at the Sanford Police Department, was 80 miles per hour.

Injuries were reported in all four accidents which have occurred at this particular location of the highway. One of the accident victims died later, and all cars involved in accidents at this location have been declared a total loss.

Charges have not been made in this morning's accident and will be withheld pending release from the hospital of the driver.

Meriwether Smith Faces Life Prison Term For Slaying

DELAND — Meriwether Smith, 32-year-old part time preacher and grading contractor, faces a life prison term for the strangulation slaying of his wife Zona.

A Circuit Court jury convicted Smith of first degree murder yesterday with a recommendation for mercy. Under Florida law, the verdict carries a mandatory life sentence.

Circuit Judge George W. Jackson deferred sentence. Smith, who told a coroner's jury he found his wife dead after he struggled with intruders at their farm home near Osteen the night of July 28, did not take the stand.

Samuel Smith, 18-year-old son of the couple, said he did not see how the jury could have brought in any other verdict. He testified Monday he believed "my father murdered her." He said he was awakened by his father attacking him but escaped.

Many County Firms Subject To Law Effective Jan. 1

Many Seminole County firms not covered by the (penalty) new Compensation Law are being sent forms by the Florida Industrial Commission for determining their status under changes in the law, reports J. F. Spellman, Principal Field Deputy for this area.

Most firms with as few as four or more workers will become subject to the law and a three percent charge against their payrolls, effective Jan. 1, 1936. Spellman said. Those with eight or more workers are presently covered. The Federal Congress made (Continued On Page Twelve)

Building Permit Requested By Men

Jack Siegel and Robert Warden are the co-owners reported in the partnership requesting a construction permit for a new radio station for Sanford.

The two men, doing business as the Sanford Broadcasting Company, have applied to the Federal Communications Commission for a new AM station at 1270 Ke, with a power of 500 watts, and for daytime operation only.

Christian Church Works On Additions As Adopted Goal

The First Christian Church, along with sister churches over the state, is putting forth evangelistic effort that will come to a climax on Dec. 31, which has been designated as Decision Day. The adopted goal is 31 additions to the congregation by that time. Fifty-odd members have covenanted to pray daily for the attainment of the goal. There have been 15 additions already. Last week friendly calls on prospective members were made by teams of men and women. Tonight at 6:30 church board members and their spouses, and other couples, will have a pot-luck supper at the church and then go calling on prospects. Mrs. O. T. Pearson and Mrs. John Dietz will have charge of the supper arrangements.

Pastor Perry L. Stone is teaching a class of boys and girls in preparation for church membership. The class will come to a close on Dec. 4th.

A refurbishing job on the exterior of the brick sanctuary has been completed at a cost of $600.00. Two coats of paint have been applied to the woodwork, windows have been puttied and repaired. Bad screens have been replaced. The church parking lot has been im-

City Manager Says No Local Official Will Attend Confab

The Senate Subcommittee to investigate Juvenile Delinquency continues its investigation of interstate adoption practices during hearings scheduled for Miami on Nov. 11 and 12.

However, City Manager Warren E. Knowles said that it would be impossible for city officials to attend the sessions since the annual meeting of the Florida League of Municipalities will be held at the same time.

Knowles said that the Florida is to be held in Jacksonville and League of Municipalities meeting that the annual event is attended by the City Manager, the Mayor, and the City Attorney.

At a separate hearing on Nov. 18, mayors from a number of Florida cities will testify on local projects designed to curtail juvenile delinquency. Already scheduled to appear are: Mayors Abe Aronovitz, Miami; Paul Bundy, representing Mayor Peter G. Reynolds, Ft. Lauderdale; Raymond W. Greene, Winter Park; Ben H. Hopkins Jr., Sarasota; Samuel G. Johnson, St. Petersburg; S. Scott Kelly, Lakeland; C. P. Mason, Pensacola; Francis W. Morrison, Daytona Beach; Hay A. Patgett, Ft. Pierce.

Commenting on the interstate adoption practices hearing, Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Subcommittee, said: "Our preliminary investigations reveal that a growing number of young, unmarried mothers (eighty percent of the unmarried mothers are under 19 years of age) it is properly a subject of study of our Subcommittee."

"In the past ten years there has been an tremendous increase in the demand of children for adoption. (Continued On Page Twelve)

Oviedo Customers To Be Given New Series Of Numbers

A new series of telephone numbers will be assigned to Oviedo customers when the work on the new central office here is completed.

This was a reminder issued this week by Gordon J. Othmer, DeLand County Manager for the Southern Bell Telephone Company, work by Gordon J. Othmer, DeLand County Manager for the Southern Bell Telephone Company. The changeover is set for 3 a. m., Dec. 28.

Rothermel said that nearly 375 telephones in the Oviedo area would have the prefix "Oviedo 5" plus four numerals. Forest 5-124, for example. Telephone users will dial F-O-5-1-2-3-4 on local calls.

Reason for the change is for greater speed and accuracy in the handling of long distance calls. A new directory will be issued with the new numbers included. This new book should not be used until after the change has taken place, Rothermel cautioned.

The Southern Bell manager said that automatic switching equipment, now being installed at Jacksonville, will enable operators for this area at a later date and other cities throughout the United States and Canada to dial most long distance calls direct. A combination of two letters and five numerals is part of a nationwide numbering plan making the direct distance dialing easier.

Daughter Reports Father Is Missing

An 84-year-old negro man has been missing from his home since Sunday, according to a report received at the Sanford Police Department.

James Thomas, whose home is reported as 855 E. 8th Street, in Sanford, when last seen, was wearing a brown shirt, brown trousers, brown hat, and a black leather jacket.

Members of the Sanford Police Department have searched all areas in which Thomas might have been located. Someone, they say, however, reports that Thomas "might be" in New Smyrna Beach.

The report of the missing negro was made to the Sanford Police Department by the aged negro's daughter, Lury Thomas.

Jones Picked Out Of Lineup By Nurse

A 28-year-old Sanford negro has been charged with the criminal attack of a 27-year-old Orlando nurse on Oct. 6 as she returned home from work along a lonely road two miles south of Longwood.

The warrant, signed by Seminole County Judge Ernest Housholder, and served on the negro by Deputy Sheriff Morgan McClelland, read: "Fletcher Jones did unlawfully and carnally know a female of the age of 10 years or more, by force and against her will."

Sheriff Luther Hobby said that the car owned and driven by Fletcher Jones was identified by the nurse and the negro was identified by the criminally attacked white woman in a lineup. She definitely and positively pointed to the large negro, Fletcher Jones, as the negro who attacked her on the lonely Seminole County Road.

Jones, who said he was born in Sanford in 1917, and has lived in Sanford all of his life with the exception of a three year period, 1942 to 1945 when he was in the Navy, was apparently shaken by the charge.

The negro said, following the serving of the warrant, "I don't know anything about this lady." As if scared, he explained, "I haven't seen this lady but one time and that's right there in that room." He looked at Deputy Sheriff McClelland and Sheriff Hobby and said, "I don't know a thing in the world about that white lady." Asked if he had anything else to say, he told the Deputy Sheriff, "I don't know nothing." And speaking to Sheriff Hobby he said, "Mr. Hobby, I am an innocent man."

Sheriff Hobby and Deputy Sheriff McClelland said that a thorough and complete investigation of the charges against the Sanford negro was made before charges were preferred against him. The negro has been already employed by a fish concern in Sanford.

Government Seizes Richmond Ball Club To Satisfy Claim

RICHMOND, Va. — The federal government today had something of a little difficulty on its hands in a baseball club.

The federal tax collector yesterday seized the assets of the Richmond Virginians of the Class AAA International League and will sell the club at public auction to satisfy a $25,218.88 tax claim. It was believed the first time the government ever seized a baseball club for back taxes.

The Richmond Virginians have been in Sanford for their spring training each year that the team has been fielded.

An unidentified group of seven members quickly indicated it plans to bid for the club's purchase. E. E. Haddock, a Richmond city spokesman said it would be "improbable at this time" to identify the men involved.

The order seizing the club was directed at Consolidated Enterprises, Inc. headed by Harry C. Seibold. Included in the seizure were contracts of 18 players, uniforms, bats, balls, a scoreboard, catchers' mask, shin guards, a lime spreader and a whirlpool bath.

Rothermel said that nearly 375 telephones in the Oviedo area would have the prefix "Oviedo 5" plus four numerals. Forest 5-124, for example. Telephone users will dial F-O-5-1-2-3-4 on local calls.

Reason for the change is for greater speed and accuracy in the handling of long distance calls. A new directory will be issued with the new numbers included. This new book should not be used until after the change has taken place, Rothermel cautioned.

Membership Drive Nears Climax With Goal Almost Made

Memberships in the Seminole Mutual Concert Association are being sold at a rapid rate, now that the membership drive is wearing its climax and the goal is being reached.

Only 510 memberships are available this year because of the small capacity of the auditorium in which the concerts will be held.

Reports up to date reveal that 503 memberships have been received for the concert series. Those to be heard in Sanford are: Cornelia Ott Skinner, Dec. 1; Nelson and Neal, Australian-American duo pianists; and the Don Cosack Chorus and Dancers.

Those reserving membership, in addition to the names already published are: Mrs. C. M. Boyd, Mrs. Al Wallace, Mrs. R. W. Turner, Mrs. William LaFetra, Mrs. Shirley Morgan, Mrs. William Johnson, Mrs. Miles Franklin, Mrs. H. M. Chappell, Mr. Herbert Hunter of Longwood; Mrs. Joe Moss, Michael Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Adams, Mack N. Cleveland Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Senkari, Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Local Jaycees Will Complete Two Jobs

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce will complete two jobs tomorrow at its noon luncheon meeting.

They will check up on their ticket sales for the gigantic circus that will be seen in Sanford with two performances Friday.

Following reports from the various members selling tickets for the two performance circus, the members will settle back to see the "Jaycee Story."

The film on loan to the Jaycee organization from the film library at the national Jaycee headquarters in Tulsa, Okla. is to be shown here for the first time. It is reported that the "Jaycee Story" is an outstanding account of the work accomplished in the communities where the young men organization is represented.

Two Persons Get Conduct Charge

Two negroes, a man and a woman, were charged this morning with "lewd and lascivious conduct." Following a complaint filed by the woman against her husband in what was said an "attempt on her life."

The woman, Louise Sewell, 32, who gives her address as 1310 W. 15th St., was taken into custody at 11 p. m. last night when Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway found her under a bed in a room occupied by Johnnie Wade.

Wade, a 31-year-old negro laborer, is the occupant of the room in which the two were found, said the Constable. However, he said, "I found about 30 nice dresses belonging to the unemployed Louise Sewell."

Bonds for the two negroes were set at $100 each.

The complaint filed by Louise Sewell against her husband Sam, was for an "attempt to murder."

"It may be that I broke up a plot to get rid of the negro woman's husband," said Constable Galloway.

A BOBCAT bothering chickens and animals, on the Herchel Buckner place on the Old Orlando Highway, was shot and killed Monday morning just about sun-up. The vicious animal had been bothering chickens on the place, said Leo Marr, an employe of the Sanford Fruit Company, and "I was sort of waiting for him this time." Marr said that he shot the bobcat with a 22 rifle, right between the eyes and stopped him cold. Shown holding the bobcat, which is said to be one of the biggest killed in this area, is Mrs. Herchel Buckner. (Photo by Jameson)

Information For Veterans

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I am drawing monthly disability compensation payments from VA, and I also am paying monthly premiums on my GI insurance. Would there be any way for VA to deduct enough money out of my compensation to take care of my insurance premiums, so that I wouldn't have to bother with them every month?

A. Yes. So long as your discharge enough to cover your GI insurance premiums, you may apply to VA to have the premiums taken out of your compensation.

Q. I am a Korea veteran and I have just been discharged from service. I plan to apply for Korea GI term insurance within 120 days from my separation. Will I have to take a physical examination?

A. No. A physical examination is not required. All you need do is file an application and pay your first premium—within the 120 days after your separation.

Q. If I buy a house with a GI loan, is the salesman's commission considered a part of the closing costs or a part of the purchase price of the house?

A. The salesman's commission is considered as a part of the purchase price of the house. The sales may not exceed the "reasonable value" as set by VA.

Q. I understand a veteran's Korean GI training entitlement can be extended if it runs out while he is more than half-way through his semester at school. What about on-the-job training? Can entitlement be extended here, too?

A. No. GI training entitlement may not be extended for veterans taking on-the-job training.

Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their benefits, should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave. Orlando, Florida.

How To Winterize Your Car Radiator

It's a wise motorist who doesn't forget or postpone winterizing his car radiator. Modern high compression engines put a heavy load on cooling systems which must be rust and sludge-free to function properly. First, get rid of sediment by using a good radiator cleaner. There is a new "Fast Flush" radiator cleaner available that works in only ten minutes. Simply empty the can in the radiator, run motor and drain. Put in anti-freeze when refilling radiator. Finally, Du Pont automotive authorities advise adding a sealer to protect against leakage and loss of anti-freeze.

It is important to select radiator protection materials designed especially for today's high compression engines.

No. 1 Public Health Problem

(Editors note: Dr. Paul D. White, the President's heart specialist, discusses prime questions about heart disease in the nation's No. 1 killer, in the following exclusive report, written for The Associated Press.)

By PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, M.D.
Copyright 1955
By The Associated Press

The President's recent heart attack has quite naturally emphasized the seriousness of this most common of the important illnesses of the middle-aged and older male in the United States of America today.

A good many of us doctors have, for 15 years or more, tried to bring this No. 1 public health problem into the prominent position which it deserves, and which it has now overnight attained.

For the moment it is of course over-heavily, but we must not settle back into the semi-complacent state about it current before Nov. 24, 1955.

Neither must we doctors be forced to give advice about what to do to prevent this disease, or at least to delay its appearance, before we know the answers ourselves.

In the present state of our limited knowledge, we have no definite answers, only opinions and suggestions. But if we all, doctors and laymen alike, put our shoulders to the wheel we should have some real answers within a decade or 140.

Incidentally, the problem is related not alone to the health of the leaders in the professions and in business nowadays, but also to the problem of the artisan, farmer and laborer who years ago were thought to be protected in some way through their physical activity.

Physicians in this country, and many physicians in other lands dealing with patients living the way we live in this country, are painfully aware of the common occurrence of coronary thrombosis. But we have no adequate knowledge of its actual frequency.

I myself have seen in many different countries throughout the world coronary thrombosis among those citizens whose incomes allow them to live the way most of us do in the U. S. A., while their less well-to-do fellow citizens seem largely to escape.

The most important problem concerning coronary thrombosis is neither its diagnosis—which is generally not difficult—nor its treatment—for which we have little to offer except to establish an adequate period of rest to expedite nature's healing process, with the help of a little medication.

The real issue at stake is prevention of the disease, and this remains at present unsolved. We do have, however, some important clues.

What are the possible basic factors?

In the first place there is race, and this still remains an unknown quantity.

Secondly there is age. It is certainly true that coronary thrombosis increases in frequency with increasing age, but many old persons escape and many young ones, for example under age 45, are attacked.

Thirdly there is sex. In middle age and younger the male is very much more prone to the disease than the female, and so eventually needs to have more protection.

Fourthly there is body build. It has been shown that at least in young and middle age the broad muscular male or female, is more likely to develop the disease than one with a skinny build or round build.

Fifthly there is personality. It is thought by some that the intensive, everactive, and ambitious person is more often the candidate.

Finally heredity seems to be a definite factor, in part at least by influencing body build, personality and, in a few cases, body or blood chemistry.

I myself have found that physical exercise such as a long walk or bicycle ride or wood-sawing or log-splitting, or an interesting book or music—can be a helpful antidote to nervous fatigue and the worry over patients.

And I would also emphasize at this point the well-established fact that religious meditation, services and prayer, often bring not only an uplift of the spirit but peace of mind and physical relaxation.

A second environmental and adjustable factor which may well prove to be the most important of all is diet.

Studies to date tend to support the idea that dietary fat is in some way responsible. Dr. Ancel Keys of the University of Minnesota and his associates have found that the amount of coronary heart disease in any country appears to vary uniformly with the weekly income and the resulting amount of fat in the diet.

In the United States, the percentage of fat in the diet has increased in one generation from about 20 per cent, which is probably a more or less optimal level, to over 40 per cent.

During this time coronary heart disease has apparently increased several fold, although some of this so-called increase must certainly be credited to better diagnostic methods and increased longevity.

Although the President's diet has not apparently been very high in total calories through the years—he has gained very little weight since he was a cadet at West Point—his diet doubtless has had the typical American high percentage of fat.

Exercise, another possible factor, may conceivably delay the onset of coronary thrombosis by years. It is also quite probable that a muscular person needs more exercise to maintain proper health than does one with less muscle.

Other possible environmental factors which need appraisal, although at the moment they appear to be much less important, include climate, the use of tobacco and of alcohol, and religious and social customs.

Altitudes of 5,000 to 6,000 feet have not been found to increase the frequency of coronary thrombosis or to affect appreciably convalescence. But altitudes of 10,000 feet are importantly low in atmospheric oxygen content.

The study of the relationship of these various environmental factors or ways of life to coronary heart disease has only just begun. Such study will require years, but since it is very important it constitutes one of the chief reasons for the increased need for research funds.

The largest amount is now being supplied by the National Heart Institute of the U. S. Public Health Service, established by Congress in June 1948. It grants to many medical schools, hospitals and research institutes.

The largest private organization in the field, the American Heart Assn., comes second. There follow the various foundations and finally innumerable small private research funds.

Despite all these sources of supply for medical research, the demands have not yet been met.

We need more research fellowships and more training grants to teach better what is already known, and particularly to give training in research methods for the development of more well trained investigators.

There's no need to use a thermometer if the washing tag on your new garment advises lukewarm soapuds and rinses. Instead, use the same test as for a baby's bath: the water is lukewarm if it feels just wet to the wrist, neither hot nor cool.

TELEVISION - RADIO - HOLLYWOOD

"A Chain of Hearts", to be seen on Du Pont Cavalcade Theater on ABC-TV stations during early November, stars Charles Bronson, well-known Hollywood and television character actor as John Staniszewski, a displaced person who desired United States citizenship above all else. Staniszewski's story, a true one, is a part of the new "Cavalcade" format of contemporary dramas about life in the United States today. Joyce McManis is seen as his wife, Dolly, Staniszewski, who was sunk on merchant ships several times during World War II, emerged to find that the victorious U. S. had forgotten about the problems of aliens who had served the nation during its time of need. Dolly, a native American, stood by him while, for eight years, he retraced every move he had made since childhood, in order to prove his eligibility for citizenship in his adopted country.

CLEAN CUT TO SUCCESS
The good old-fashioned soap sud is not only America's No. 1 symbol of cleanliness. It has, thanks to its adaptability to children and beautiful actresses, become a powerful instrument of glamour. So many Hollywood stars have taken public baths in thick foamy suds that one wit termed actresses "the cleanest women on earth." Cecil B. DeMille is said to have been the originator of the soap scenes, and in the 1920's bath suds helped to foam such stars as Myrna Loy and Jean Harlow into overnight successes. Some celebrities switched to milk baths and champagne baths and even coffee baths, but over the years good old suds seem to have won out (bathers in current movies: Marilyn Monroe, Jane Russell). Even TV's cautious censors see no objection to clean soap. Shelley Winter's enjoyed a famous bath in TV's version of "The Women"; since some dozen shows have featured similar scenes.

Crooms Academy Has Colorful Parade Thursday

By C. J. HURSTON
Crooms Academy's colorful Homecoming Parade moved from headquarters in C. A.'s campus at 4 p. m. Thursday, to wind its way through the city where citizens were waiting to view its beauty and magnitude.

There was lively music provided for the occasion by the fast-stepping C. A. Band and J. C. Caldwell's Drum and Bugle Corps and majorettes.

Lovely floats and beautifully decorated cars graced the procession.

The City Police, the American Legion (Honor Guards) and C. A. Patrol acted as escorts. The parade order was as follows: City Police, American Legion (Honor Guards), C. A. Band, C. A. Administrative Staff, Pep Squad, School Patrol Car, "Miss Crooms Academy," "Miss Homecoming," "Miss Football," Student Council, Dance Club, Varsity Club, Club courtess Club, Library Club, Music Club, Wilson-Eichelburger (Ambulance), Hopper Elementary School, Goldboro Elementary School, Seminole Rosewald School, Drum and Bugle Corps and Majorettes, Fonn Sanfordan Club, Moonlight Club, Y.W.C. Club, Business Education Club, Crooms P. T. A. and Stone Brothers Ambulance. was won by Goldboro Elementary School; third prize, trophy, donated by B. L. Perkins, was won by the Seminole Rosewald School, Altamonte Springs; the C. A. Miss Football, Student Council, mention.

There were no prizes set up for cars, marching groups, etc., however, it is hoped in the near future that there will be more prizes available.

Encouraging words from judges were: "Floats and cars were beautifully decorated. Organization generally good. Definite improvement over previous parades."

The principal faculty and student body of Crooms Academy would like to express their appreciation to all participants for each and every effort extended toward the success of the Homecoming Parade.

HOGAN'S ALLEY

LAUGH AND THE world laughs with you!
Weep, and you weep alone!
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth;
But has trouble enough of its own.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

SOMETIMES AT ONE of the "I Love Lucy" gag sessions, the gags fly so thick and fast that the writers have too much fun to think down to the serious business of manufacturing laughs.

Lucille Ball

For example, the other day they were talking about injecting plenty of action into this fifth season of the popular show's existence. Someone suggested having "Lucy" play halfback by mistake. "What happened?" asked one of the writers. "He talked me into voting for him," grinned the distinguished half of Desilu.

Ida Lupino

ing considerable ribbing around Hollywood. They are doing "Mr. Adams and Eve," a testimonial for "Four Star Playhouse." Suggested by Ida, the boss of the Husband-and-wife comedy to the couple's private life. Several domestic tiffs take place in the story which portrays Ida and Howard as stars competing for the same year's Academy Award.

COINCIDENCES NOT ONLY supply many a Hollywood plot; they happen a lot in the cinema city. For example, Michael Wilding, the star of "Cavalcade," the premiere telefilm of the General Electric "Twenty-Fifth Century" Fox Hour, was doing the picture at Fox when his beautiful wife, Elizabeth Taylor, was starring in "Giant" at Warner Brothers. Oddly enough, she had to age 20 years in her role, too.

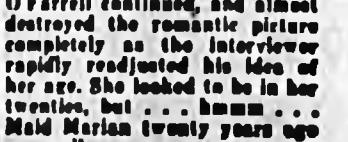

Michael Wilding

"I had it all over Liz in this contest of growing old gracefully together at separate studios," quipped Wilding. "All it took to age me was a few days of makeup done in a few minutes. It took them hours to make Liz look old."

IDA LUPINO, of "Four Star Playhouse," and her husky husband, Howard Duff, have been taking considerable ribbing around Hollywood. They are doing "Mr. Adams and Eve," a testimonial for "Four Star Playhouse."

Those who are familiar with the Robin Hood classic (and who isn't?) may have some of their notions concerning the characterization of Maid Marian upset when they see Bernadette O'Farrell in the role on the CBS Television series "The Adventures of Robin Hood," which stars Richard Bernardette Greene.

Bernadette O'Farrell

The Irish lass is a beauty, as all Maid Marianians must be, but she's not quite the retiring, saccharine figure whose contribution is merely decorative. Miss O'Farrell plays the role with considerably more zest and joie de vivre than her predecessors.

Let's All Support Seminole Mutual Concert Association

Not often do we have an opportunity to see and hear some of the world's outstanding artists.

This season, the Seminole Mutual Concert Association, instead of a long array of day in and day out talent, has chosen three artists that are at the top in their respective fields of entertainment.

For instance, who could have named an artist greater than Cornelia Otis Skinner? Or the world famed duo piano team of Nelson and Neal? Or the Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers under the direction of Serge Jaroff?

And they're to appear in Sanford for a membership fee that cannot be surpassed for generous savings. All three concerts will cost the members only five dollars, if an adult, or the student ticket for thirty.

Many have seen the marquee headline lights announcing these famous personalities in the world's greatest music centers.

Only a few memberships are available for Sanford and Seminole County music lovers, and it behooves all of us to support the organization bringing these artists to our community.

Month after month, all one could hear at various times was the mournful sound of "we don't have entertainment," or Parallel parking would be a boon to shoppers and parkers in the downtown area. Maybe some of us would have to learn to park all over again, but it sure would be worth the extra training.

If you see a fellow scratching his head or pitching a coin in the air, he's probably trying to make up his mind between the football game and the gigantic circus Friday night. Both of them have their merits.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE
 "If you abide in me, and my words abide in you, ask whatever you will, and it shall be done for you."—John 15:7.

JAMES MARLOW '56 Campaign Will Probably Be Dull

WASHINGTON — The 1956 presidential campaign will probably be pretty dull — so far as real issues go — unless events change the picture before campaign time next summer.

Both parties will do the usual: Talk about the differences between them. But year by year those differences have narrowed until now they are arguments more on details than on basic issues.

The Republicans, for example, have accepted — they'd be committing political suicide if they didn't — the major legislation of Dwight D. Eisenhower and "Fair Deal": Social security, minimum wages, collective bargaining, and so on.

In some cases they have expanded on them. In foreign affairs President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have followed the broad policy of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson.

Eisenhower, whether or not he himself runs again, has set the tone for both parties in 1956. His moderation, in policies and personal dealings, made him look, before his Senate attack, like a sure winner again. Further, a time of high conservatism does not call for both seeking innovations.

It's no wonder then that both parties seem to be preparing to present themselves to the voters in 1956 as "moderate." But a campaign based on moderation hardly holds out promise of excitement or extremes.

With Eisenhower unlikely to run, his Republicans seem able to think of nothing but running on his record.

"there's nothing to do that's worthwhile," or even, "why do we have to go elsewhere for outstanding entertainment?"

Now that we have all of these questions answered, and the entertainment is at our doorstep, we should support this year's performances so that again next year we will again be fortunate in having a program equally as great, equally as entertaining.

Fail this year, and we fail the next!

Watch Your Language, Suh!

It's that time of the year again. So if you're sort of rusty on saying, "how are you all," "thank y' mam", or "g'd mawning," better start practicing up.

You see, the season for our winter visitors is fast approaching and we certainly want to make them welcome from their very first hour spent with us.

An unkind word, a hasty misdeed, unexpected harshness, will tear down relationships that have taken years to build.

So, when you see a stranger, use your best "southern drawl", and your choicest words for a greeting. Use the greeting that you know will keep our friends from other states coming back year after year.

A pleasant word at the right time will do more to cement a newcomer to Sanford and Seminole County prosperity and home ownership than most anything else.

A businessman in our community just "to look around" can be impressed most with the pleasant greetings and kind words that meet him at every turn.

When store clerks greet new customers, filling station operators fill tanks of newcomers and out-of-state taggers, when real estate people approach their prospects, or when we're just spending an idle moment "gabbing", use your best and most polished greetings—you may be speaking to a prospective citizen of the community.

Parents displayed a greater interest in their children's Halloween entertainment this year than they have in years past. Children, in costume, and bent on "trick or treat'n" were accompanied by Mothers and Dads, who even, at times, joined in with the youngsters in their doorbell ringing.

There's no punishment too harsh for child molesters. With the help of parents who train their children to beware of these warped individuals, the greater number of them can be placed where they will not harm our children.

Santa Claus says that he's all ready for the Merchants Association-Jaycee Christmas Parade on Nov. 30 at 2:30. It's the time of year when youngsters begin to get ready for Santa's visit.

Not a bad idea, murmured Wilbur.

"What did you say?"

"I said what a bally idea," barked Wilbur quickly. "But what's all this about a petition?"

"Well, the ladies of our club met today and voted unanimously to form the British ambassador club in the town of Margaret Rose's old town."

"You mean that the British government not only has to deal with the Mau Mau but also faces the problems of handling the Minerva literary and Gln Rummy Society?"

"I'll have nothing to do with the petition. Britain has enough woes!"

"But poor, poor Capt. Peter Townsend—my heart bleeds for him," cried Trellis Mae.

"Ming doesn't," said Wilbur. "In a way he's better off. If she'd said yes, there'd always be gossip that he was merely a poor fly boy who stole the key to a woman's lock."

The suit demands that Secretary of the Army Brucker and Maj. Gen. Philip De Witt Clader, commander of the 24th Army, explain the findings of the board. It asked that Stephens be granted an honorable discharge, that his veteran's benefits be restored and that he be paid $175 he says is due in POW hardship pay.

HAL BOYLE

Case Of Unfinished Petition!

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. — Wilbur Peelle, America's most average husband came home, sat down on the sofa, and pulled off his shoes.

He wiggled his stockings toes, groaned as he stared at them with the intent look men give their feet when they hurt.

"Boy, am I glad this day is over," he said loudly.

His wife, Trellis Mae, looked up from the desk where she had been scribbling busily.

"Oh, you started me," she said. "Are you home?"

"I don't know whether this is home," replied her husband with heavy irony. "But it's where I hang up my pants at night."

Trellis Mae let the remark pass. Wilbur wondered vaguely if she were ill.

"Wilbur, I'm writing a petition, and I need your help."

"Now what's the P.T.A. done wrong?" he asked.

"This isn't about school. It's about Meg and Peter."

"You mean those new neighbors who moved in upstairs? Are they making noise already?"

"No, stupid. I mean Princess Margaret Rose and Capt. Peter Townsend. He wants to marry her but she laid him on account of the high school head of her divorced and she is a member of royalty and she can't marry him because his first wife is still alive."

"So what?" yawned Wilbur.

"So it sounds pretty flimsy to me. She keeps him dangling for two years, then they enjoy 18 days together and then she tells him it's no go. Mighty fishy. Old King Henry VIII, when he wanted to marry a new wife, didn't worry about divorce. He just lopped off the head of his old wife."

"What did you say?"

"I said what a bally idea," barked Wilbur quickly. "But what's all this about a petition?"

"Well, the ladies of our club met today and voted unanimously to form the British ambassador club in the town of Margaret Rose's old town."

"You mean that the British government not only has to deal with the Mau Mau but also faces the problems of handling the Minerva literary and Gln Rummy Society?"

SAM DAWSON Corporations Tell Profit Increase

NEW YORK — The average American corporation is making one third more money this year than last. Six out of every seven corporations so far reporting their net profit after taxes in the first nine months of this year show increases over the like period of 1954.

Some have more than doubled their earnings. Many have set all-time highs for the period. A number have increased their dividends on the strength of their excellent showings.

These conclusions are drawn from a study of the earnings statements of 451 corporations, big and small, representing most major industries.

Combined the 451 corporations had $6,561,611,121 in profits left over after setting aside that much or more for payment of U. S. corporate income taxes. In the first nine months of 1954 the same 451 companies had combined profits of $4,934,023,330.

This year's gain over last was 23.9 per cent. In the 1954 period many businesses were touching bottom of a mild recession, but even so corporate profits for the entire year of 1954 managed to pull ahead of 1953 by four per cent.

Only 62 of the 451 reported smaller earnings this year than last. Five of the 451 operated at a loss. In the 1954 period 18 of the same 451 companies had gone into the red.

Corporate reports are flowing in peak volume now, and this first sampling of the 451 early birds can be only an indication of what the final totals will be when several hundred thousands have reported.

The 44 railroads in the sampling had particularly pleasant results to report. The average increase for all 44 was 28.6 per cent.

The utilities had a combined increase of 9 per cent—containing the slow but steady gains of this growing but regulated industry.

The 374 industrial corporations in the list show a combined increase in profits of 22.6 per cent over the first nine months of 1954.

Most spectacular gain was made by the group of seven coal companies—up 181.3 per cent this year. Steel companies showed striking gains. The 31 in the group averaged 84.9 per cent higher, with many doing much better than the average. The nonferrous mining and metalworking companies gained by 48 per cent.

Sparked by General Motors' record showing, the motors group averaged 55.7 per cent higher than last year. Fourteen auto equipment suppliers did even better, up 71.3 per cent.

Airlines were averaging 57.9 per cent better, profitwise than the year before.

The squeeze on profits in the food industry finds seven of the 21 so far reporting down from last year, and the group as a whole just about even with 1954 figures. Textile firms on the other hand, as a group topped last year by 27.5 per cent.

Other industries doing better than the 22.9 average of the 451 include: Drugs, machinery and tools, building materials, glass and retail.

Tax Assessor Will Receive Citation

County tax assessor will receive a presidential citation this month because he hired handicapped persons rather than political favorites to fill some of the jobs in his office.

An award for outstanding service has been voted to Gaultier by President Eisenhower's committee on employment of the physically handicapped. It will be presented to him at the state convention of tax assessors in Sarasota Nov. 17.

Gaultier at present has 12 handicapped persons in his office. Others hired and trained by him have gone on to other positions.

Leo Astrod, a Miami manufacturer and perhaps Florida's most aggressive champion of the handicapped, said thousands of disabled persons have been hired in factory and assembly work throughout the state but the number of clerical placements has been low.

A good start has been made here, however, he said. The Miami police department employs 18 persons in wheel chairs among its most valuable employees. Other city and county agencies are beginning to employ the handicapped.

"Mr. Gaultier's employment of workers without consideration of physical disability or political attachments has been an inspiration to us all," Astrod said.

Social Manners Of TV Viewers Have Changed

NEW YORK—Social manners of television viewers have changed considerably in a few short years.

The pioneer TV set owner was a courageous fellow, you remember. He not only had to invite in the entire neighborhood, he had to provide popcorn and beer as well as 34 Cresser. The neighbors repaid him with awesome attention to the programs. It was a rare soul who scoffed at any program. If he did, he was considered to have a high brow, long hair and anguished cries bear with fortitude.

Today the TV viewer generally indulges his addiction in the solitary confinement of his own home. Yet there still is a lot of social viewing. Audiences here search in this field of social viewing convinces me that times indeed have changed. This is the age of the TV.

"A critic," wrote James Huneker, "is a man who expects miracles." The modern TV living room critic not only expects them; he demands them in a loud voice that convinces everyone within ear-shot of his wisdom.

A friend of mine is one of the most vociferous living room TV critics I've ever known. When a program's over he rises, faces the flock, and demands, "Well! Once someone summoned the courage to express his own opinion and reply, 'Good program, wasn't it?' My friend accepted the remark with a shrug and bowed with laughter. How can you beat a critic like that?"

The influence of TV living room critics has become enormous. They are great makers of public opinion. You'll hear them authoritatively denouncing a program two days later and making others wonder how they possibly could have enjoyed that particular program.

What is the difference between a TV living room critic and a TV newspaper critic? Well, for one thing, the newspaper critic is a writer on assignment; he's paid to express his opinion. The living room critic is a unpaid freelance, tilling faithfully at the opinion of society.

Keep Child Happy While Convalescing

CARING for a sick child means you've got to be more than a patient nurse and a very busy housekeeper.

Frequently, you've got to be a mechanic and inventor, too. Let me give you a few tips on how to make an ill child more comfortable during a stage of sickness or convalescence.

He should, of course, have the best bed and mattress in the house. The mattress should be smooth and pliable, but not too soft.

When you child must remain flat on his back, you might help him pass the time by developing a simple contraption which will permit him to view the goings on in his room and other sections of the house. It'll probably be constructed by the child himself, possibly with your help.

Even before he is able to sit up by himself, you can give him a treat by placing a comfortable position by placing a wooden kitchen chair upside down on the bedspring. Tilt the chair so that the front legs touch the headboard and the back legs and chair back form a comfortable slanting support for the mattress.

When your child can sit up, you can make him more comfortable by placing a pillow or two beneath his head.

Place a table for his meals and for some pastimes such as coloring or other games.

The easiest way to make such a table is to place a kitchen chair with a back seat at the top of either side of the bed. Then place a dining room table across the bed, letting it rest on the backs of the chairs.

It's probably a good idea to place the finished side of the bed head down. However, they be placed between the bed and the chair backs to prevent scratching from occurring.

If your child complains that the backresting is too heavy, you can fashion a simple cradle from a couple of boards nailed onto two boxes of a metal hoop.

2. If his stomach does not have any reflux in his throat, what can you do?

Answer: The loss of reflexes in the throat might be due to discomforts affecting the nervous system. It may be that the reflexes are not absent, but almost to sleep.

Quiet Home Wedding Unites Catherine Ann King, M. Kinard

With the Rev. D. D. Cressy officiating, Catherine Ann King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. King and Marvin Eugene Kinard, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kinard were united in holy matrimony Oct. 25 in the bride's home.

Decorations of white and pink gladioli along with pink and white rose buds interspersed with fern were used.

The bride was lovely in a traditional white dress of white tulle over taffeta. It featured a round-neck neckline with tiny sleeves. Around her neck she wore a single strand of pearls. She carried a white heart topped with a white orchid from which fell satin streamers.

Mrs. King chose for her daughter's wedding a gray taffeta dress and wore a purple orchid pinned on her shoulder.

The groom's mother wore a white suit also pinning a purple orchid on her shoulder.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home.

Mrs. Kinard chose as a going-away outfit a navy blue and white suit. The couple will reside at 808 Eighth Street in Sanford.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rutledge from Daytona.

The bride was born in Sanford and attended Seminole High School.

The groom was born in Sanford, attended local schools graduating with the class of 1954 from Seminole High School. He is now employed by Oiler-Weller.

Radio-TV Highlights

NEW YORK (AP)—A situation which involves the government of New York City and a commercial television interest.

Mayor Robert Wagner has directed the heads of city departments and agencies to make their files, equipment and manpower available to New York TV Productions, Inc. Theodore H. Granik, head of the firm, wants to dramatize the operations of a big city government. Wagner's motive appears understandable: every mayor likes to publicize his city—and here was a chance to do so.

When Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy received the order he politely but firmly declined to make secret police files available to anyone. He says he has turned down 25 such requests.

Kennedy's stand is courageous and altogether admirable. He appears to be just about the first custodian of any files of personal cases who has not made them available to the monstrous appetite of television. We've had TV programs based on the files of various police departments, the Secret Service, the Treasury Department, the FBI and (to save space) on forth. At the present time there are almost a score of these programs on the air.

What is the cause of this slackless thirst of television to drink the less these reservoirs of human experience? It's a two-fold cause. First, they provide authentic material which can be used with only slight changes of fact; an easy writing job. In short, secondly, the great majority lend themselves to cheap production costs.

Well, what's wrong with TV programs based on the files of this and the cases of that? Some mildly entertaining programs occasionally are ground out from these sources, true. But a basic principle is involved.

The files of any government—city, state or nation—belong to the people who elected that government. The duly appointed custodian of such files holds them in trust to the taxpayers—who, incidentally, accept his judgment that they cannot see them. Why, then, should one source receive access to these files for the purpose of commercial exploitation?

Many TV producers are watching closely the developments in the New York case. An insufficient number of suits for invasion of privacy have been brought and too few judgments rendered to make it clear just how far television can go with program which change a few names and lick up a few incidents.

Only time will tell whether our television producers have dug deeper into a gold mine or have grabbed a bear by the tail.

Paintings Given To Woman's Club

Starting yesterday began Florida Federation of Art Week and in keeping with the week, the Fine Arts Department of the Sanford Woman's Club received three paintings to hang in their club home from Margaret H. Pope.

Mrs. Pope gave two miniature paintings, "Medieval Madonna" and "Mother" along with a regular sized picture called "White Heron".

The miniature "Mother" was painted from a small old photo taken in 1904 of her mother.

Mrs. George E. Wells, chairman of the department stated that "they are all lovely".

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Anthony Quinn came right out and said it—Italian film stars should start thinking less about bosoms and more about their acting.

Well, if it doesn't start an international incident, nothing will. But the Oscar winner ("Viva Zapata," 1952) is sticking to his guns. What's more, he's a qualified actor. In the past three years, he has spent much of his time film making in Italy. He has time worked with most of the top-publicized actresses there.

"Look—I've lived through two eras in Hollywood," he explained. "I came here in 1937, so I've seen the eras of Carole Lombard and Mae West and the present time of Marilyn Monroe. I've seen them all."

"The thing that has impressed me about nearly every one of them is the basic urge for culture. They all want to read, to improve in their profession."

"Doris Hutton wants to play the life of Sarah Bernhardt; Marilyn Monroe wants to play 'The Brothers Karamazov.' They all have some burning ambition."

"But that's not true of most of the Italian babes who have gotten big buildups. They think they can stay famous just because of their bosoms. That's not true. Because once their beauty starts to fade, they'll be sunk."

Sole exception among the current Italian is Gina Lollobrigida, he remarked. And this is not merely because she is slated to star with him in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" next year.

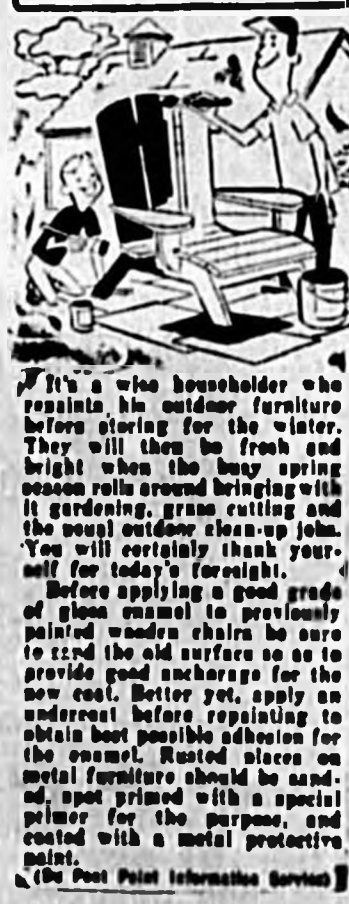

"Gina has a good head on her shoulders," Quinn remarked. "She knows you have to keep working in to stay on top."

"One day I had a date with her at lunch to discuss our script. That morning she had gotten up at six o'clock for two hours of tap-dance lessons for the picture she's doing with Burt Lancaster. She was in makeup and ready to shoot. After a hard day's work, she went to a teacher in the evening for singing lessons."

Such is not the case with other babes with whom American audiences are familiar, Quinn said.

"Yet there are some wonderful actresses in Italy," he said. "Gina Lollobrigida, Valentina Cortese, Corina Corina, Valentina Cortese, Karin and Julietta Masina. These are serious performers who do great acting jobs. But they are overshadowed by the more sensational babes."

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

HERE'S a switch on regular Sunday dinner fare that your family will find delightful and you'll save on your food budget—it's for ground beef in cabbage rolls, suggested by the A & P Service For Homemakers. Recipe makes eight servings.

Cook eight large cabbage leaves in boiling salt water for three minutes. Drain and dry them on a towel. Then combine the following: pound ground beef or mixture of beef, veal, pork and liver; three tablespoons finely chopped onion; two tablespoons finely chopped parsley; three-fourths teaspoon salt; half teaspoon thyme; half mashed clove garlic and a few grains cayenne.

Divide the meat mixture into eight parts. Put one part on each cabbage leaf. Roll the leaves and fasten them with tooth picks. Put rolls in baking dish and dot each with half teaspoon butter or margarine. Pour half cup of boiling beef stock over the rolls, or if you like try half cup tomato juice or beef cream and paprika as substitute.

For dessert how about an apple-milk sponge cake? Beat three egg yolks until light. Mix half cup sugar and one-fourth teaspoon salt twice and beat gradually into egg. Add one-fourth cup boiling water. Mix three-fourth cup cake flour, then sift with two teaspoons baking powder. Add the sifted ingredients to the sugar mixture. Beat better until smooth, then add teaspoon vanilla and half teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind. Bake cake in eight-inch pan or on small loaf or tube pan in moderate oven for about 30 minutes. Spread layers with jelly, stoned fruit or cake filling.

Freeze Flavor Into Fall Vegetables

Flavor's at its peak at harvest time and today's home freezer guards it for you. Since all vegetables start losing their natural monosodium glutamate content (and therefore flavor) the moment they're picked, be sure to freeze it in your home freezing operation with Ac-cent. Think of freezing whole meals as well as single foods—Stuffed Baked Potatoes and Zucchini Crocks which you can serve with a vegetable apple salad are two new and modern home freezing ideas that will make meals tastier.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes
Scrub uniform sized baking potatoes; rub skins with butter or margarine. Wrap each potato in aluminum foil; bake in hot oven (350°F.) 45 minutes. Cool enough to handle. Cut slice from top; scoop out pulp, saving shells. Mash pulp, adding 1 tablespoon melted butter for each potato. Season to taste with salt, pepper, and Ac-cent. Whip in enough hot milk to make mixture light and fluffy. Ho-fill shells. Cool; wrap in freezer-weight aluminum foil; freeze. Re-heat in moderate oven (325°F.) 45 minutes. If desired, top may be sprinkled with grated cheese before re-heating. (Storage time: 2 to 4 months.)

Farfalle Crocks
4 cups cubed parmesan cheese
can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1/2 teaspoon Ac-cent
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Cook squash in small amount boiling, salted water a minute. Arrange alternating layers of squash and tomatoes in aluminum foil baking dish, sprinkling each layer with salt, pepper, Ac-cent, and dots of butter or margarine. Cool; cover; seal; label; freeze. To re-heat: Sprinkle buttered bread crumbs on top; bake in moderate oven (325°F.) 45 minutes.

YIELD: 6 servings.

SYNOPSIS
Death of Roger Brinkley, an extremely popular syndicated newspaper columnist, the wife of the people he has known for years, the young widow, Carol, and the people of whom he had written so well. These include Albert and Beanie Kibbee and their son, Clyde, and Joe and Ethel Hattery, all of whom live in the cottage on the grounds of the Brinkley home. Another cottage occupant is Shandy Stone, the reputedly wealthy former owner of the estate. Brinkley's death, Shandy's role in the death, and the mystery of the death of Roger's wife, Beanie, are the main points of the story.

CHAPTER EIGHT
LOIS FLEMING'S strongest impression was that the house reflected two opposing personalities and had failed to blend them into a harmonious whole. A curving stairway with a mahogany banister, so exquisitely proportioned that it seemed to float in space, rose from the big hallway. Over the balcony railing hung a heavy tapestry, which was lovely in its own way, but made a curious impression of weighing down the soaring line, clipping the wings of a thing in flight.

She turned back to the hallway as Paula came breathlessly down the stairs.
"Aunt Carol is so sorry the cottage isn't ready for you, but it will be fixed up this afternoon. I'll take you there now so you can unpack. Aunt Carol doesn't usually get up much before noon, but she said to tell you she's looking forward to meeting you at lunch at one o'clock." She got this message off in one breath and then opened the door and called shrilly, "Clyde!"

In a few moments a gangling young man, who was acquiring a permanent stoop in an effort to look smaller than he was, came in. Lois was the kind of person who could not sit near the stage at concerts because she suffered all the tortures of the musician's stage fright. This young giant was so agonizingly shy that a visible aura of his suffering seemed to be engulfing him like a cloud.
He was awkward, as though he had never learned how to stand so much in the way of arms and legs. He had a homely face, red hair and level eyes that brushed

Florida Has 3 Types Of Widows

GAINESVILLE, Fla.—Florida has three types of widows—and all are dangerous.
They're spiders and one of them lives in Florida and nowhere else. The state has about 1,000 species of spider and all have glands for killing their prey, but Dr. Howard K. Wallace, head of the University of Florida's Department of Biology, says only the widows can give man trouble.

The orange which lives only in this state the black and the brown make up the ugly triumvirate. The black widow, with its distinctive hour glass marking on the abdomen, has been the most widely publicized; but Dr. Wallace says death from the bite of any of the widows would be a rarity.
It could, however, be very painful and you could be violently ill. He says there is little that can be done in the way of self treatment. Best thing is call a doctor.

The orange is one of the most spectacularly colored, having orange legs and head region, a black body and red or orange triangular abdomen markings.
It's found from Ocala southward, particularly in the coastal scrub areas—but Dr. Wallace doesn't know why this is. He says the state "is full of species of plant and animal" which occur nowhere else, due probably to the state's geological history.

The orange lives on the ground, spinning its web in bushes through four feet from the ground. Its favorite spot is where light palm-trees grow.
Dr. Wallace says little is known about the orange, which was only recently discovered.
The brown looks much like the common house spider, being light brown or grayish with banded legs. It lives in much the same areas as the house spider. Filling stations seem to be a favorite living place.

Its habits are similar to the black, and observers have noted that they don't get along well together—that eventually one will replace the other. Its bite is not as venomous as the black.
The black's principal habitat is under logs, stones, bushes, dark, damp places in the house and even in folds of clothing and in shoes.
It is shiny black with an orange or red hour glass marking on the abdomen. Only the female of the black bites because the jaws of the male are too small.
"Dr. Wallace doesn't know whether only the female of the black and brown bites.

There is a serum for the black bite but so far as Dr. Wallace knows, none for the orange or brown.
He said the painfulness of the black's bite is due to some complication of the bite rather than the venom itself. It feels at first like a pin prick followed by a burning sensation and a tiny red mark at the spot. Acute nerve pains usually occur within an hour and there is a numbness and tingling sensation in the limbs, usually lasting several days. In severe cases the victim may have partial paralysis, acute and exhausting shivering fits with nausea.

One thing not so bad about the black: In a survey from 1736 to 1943, some 1,200 bite cases were reported in the United States; 476 in California but only 126 in Florida.
A simple shelf and mirror affixed to a wall or the back of a closet door somewhere in the main work area of the house—adjacent to the kitchen, in the back hall, or in the front hall—makes it easier for a well-groomed. The shelf could have a low "railing" and hold such equipment as powder and puff, brush and comb, lipstick, soap, hand-lotion, and so forth for speedy touch-up jobs.

Extra space "under the eaves" can be nicely utilized by installing a small bathroom—or partial bathroom—to serve as an extra place for sunding off during the day's rush hours.

Things that don't concern herself?"
The girl licked her lips nervously but there was malice in her face as she watched furiously for Lois' reaction.
The cottage was almost hidden in the trees. Clyde unlocked the door and set Lois' bags down in the middle of the room. For a moment both he and Paula stood looking around them with unmasked, avid curiosity.
Lois' first impressions were of air that was chilly and stale, of a faint ghost of an odor which was familiar but which she failed to identify, of furniture in disorder, of a windowpane stained as though someone had thrown a rock at it, and some adhesive tape fastened over the small hole.

Paula gave a sharp exclamation. "The window hasn't been repaired. It's terribly sorry. Clyde, tell Joe Hattery to put in a new pane of one."
There was a big pine-paneled workroom with a small gas fireplace, comfortable wing chairs with good reading lights, a deep nine-foot couch whose down pillows still bore the impression of a head, two walls lined with books in their bright dust jackets, and a workmanlike unpainted table with a battered typewriter and a stack of copy paper weighted down by an overflowing ashtray. At one side there was a small compact bathroom. The cottage had the air of a place that had been abandoned in a hurry.
A Dutch door in the back wall looked out on a small terrace enclosed by a twelve-foot fence in which a gate was set.
"Roger used the terrace for sunbathing," Paula explained. "That's why he had to build the fence. His admirers would do the strangest things. The gate is locked but your door key opens it. If you want to get out that way you'll have to unlock the gate because it locks itself automatically." She looked around. "There's a phone here, they're all over the place. You'll find the numbers tacked up on the wall."
She began to edge toward the door. "Well, I guess it there's nothing else." She lingered and Lois thought, I do wish the young did not think they had gone when they have said good-by."

Swink Is Offensive Whirlwind In Major College Football

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jim Swink, Texas Christian's successor to Don Walker in the Southwest Conference, has become the offensive whirlwind in taking over the lead in the major college football total offense and rushing departments.

The Rick, Tex., junior, who ran for 154 yards to pace TCU in a 28-6 victory over Baylor last Saturday, has sped 831 yards from scrimmage in seven games to take a slim lead in the rushing department according to figures released today by the NCAA service bureau.

But Swink's lead is certain to be short lived for TCU has another date while Navy's George Welsh, who picked up 174 yards against Notre Dame last Saturday, and is in second place with a total offense of 810 yards this Saturday.

At Lippino, last week's leader from Arizona, has a total offense of 772 in fifth place and is second in rushing with 772 will be out to regain the honors against Texas Tech.

Bill Beagle of Dartmouth is the passing leader with 67 completions in 133 attempts for 740 yards and an average of .496. Ken Ford of Hardin-Simmons is second with 57 completions for 747 yards and a .516 percentage.

Welsh's 816 completion percentage on 53 hits of 84 efforts is in seventh place but has the best accuracy figure, while his 790 yards is also high.

Denver's Jim Bowen leads the rushing parade with 10 playoff pitches as he hits down 10th spot in the passing department.

Versatile Jon Arnett of Southern California has gained more yards than anyone else by all methods—running back kicks and interceptions. The Trojan, who has moved rushing, passing pass catching, the ball every way possible.

Arnett's 634 rushing-passing yards rank him 15th, but he has returned kickoffs 250 yards, raced back 263 yards on punt returns and caught passes for 64 yards.

DeMarco, Ryff Fight Tonight In 10-Rounder

The Associated Press
Quarterback Bob Hardy, the Duke of Paducah who kept Kentucky's Wildcats putting against Rice last weekend, with a clutch performance that set up the winning touchdown, today was named the Associated Press Back of the Week.

A barem basement crowd of backs showed up with outstanding individual performances in college football last Saturday, but none could outshine Hardy, who twice steered the 'Cats from behind in the 20-16 victory.

The payoff drive was a haul. With a little more than 6 minutes left and Rice ahead 16-13, the 4-1, 184 pound Kentucky co-captain guided the Cats 66 yards in nine plays, scoring the winning TD himself on a 12-yard run and then kicking the extra point.

Hardy, a senior, carried the ball six times in the final push, including an 18-yard pass completion on a fourth-down-and-10 situation that needed the drive just as it seemed to crack. The pass put the ball on the Rice 24 and when two plays carried to the 12, Hardy carried himself, circling left end on a keeper and shaking off two ankle-high defensive stabs to score standing up.

It was his second TD of the game (in which he scored 14 points) and climaxed a splendid one-man show. Hardy completed 10 of 17 passes for 125 yards and rushed for 35 yards on 11 carries. He completed three passes in the first touchdown drive and played 28 minutes, 7 seconds.

Ranking right behind Hardy were quarterback Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, who scored once, passed for one TD and intercepted two passes to help beat Navy; halfback Jim Swink of Texas Christian, who ran for 154 yards against Baylor; fullback Tom Berry of Oregon State, who scored both touchdowns in a 13-7 upset of Washington; halfback Leon Hurton of Arizona State (Tempe), who took off on scoring jaunts of 80, 79 and 67 yards; fullback Dick Borstad of Minnesota, who scored twice, blocked kick in upset of Southern California, and halfback Jimmy Brown of Syracuse, who despite bad leg powered Orange in 48-0 rout of previously unbeaten Holy Cross.

Moore Is Ready For Another Bout

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK — Archie Moore is sure he's going to get another shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano next June "because Rocky told me so."

"The night of the fight, Rocky told me 'you deserve another chance,'" said Moore yesterday.

"I'm going to hold him to his word."

"Who else is he going to fight? That Hurricane Jackson man eliminated himself the other night, losing to Jimmy Slade."

Moore was in town to agree to terms for a light heavyweight title defense against Yolande Pompey of Trinidad, at Earl's Court, London, Jan. '60. But all he wanted to talk about was Marciano.

Somebody asked if he thought he had been hurt by Referee Harry Kessler's extra counts over Marciano, Sept. 21 after Rocky already was standing up in the second round.

"I got a ton of ammunition this high," said Archie, raising his hand up around his chest. "Do you know I can hit the speed bag five times in one second? How many times do you think I could hit Rocky in three or four extra seconds that Kessler gave him?"

No rematch has been signed, as yet.

No terms were announced for the Moore-Pompey match, Archie's fifth defense of his 175-pound crown. It was understood the split will be 50-20 with the big share going to the Champ along with a probable guarantee.

"I try to teach my horses to love jumping," he said. "If they make a mistake, I bring them back to Meador and train them some more. I also teach the other members of the Mexican team not to touch the horse going over a jump."

Gen. Mariles refused to say he thought the American team was wrong in its methods, but when asked why the Yanks resorted to this system, he answered:

"I don't know why. Maybe they want to be sure the horse gets over the hurdle."

In any case the Americans have been shut out in the first two international events of the National Horse Show which went into the second session of an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden today.

Mexico won the first international test and Ireland the second. The Americans were last among the four teams in the Mexican triumph.

General Mariles Interested In How Riders Train Horses

NEW YORK — Gen. Humberto Mariles, horseman extraordinary from Mexico, said today he can't understand how the United States' riders train their horses.

"I stand there and watch them," commented the Olympic champion, "and wonder why they hit the horses."

Gen. Mariles, who probably could give anyone in the world lessons on how to handle a horse, said he never takes the whip to his own mounts.

"I try to teach my horses to love jumping," he said. "If they make a mistake, I bring them back to Meador and train them some more. I also teach the other members of the Mexican team not to touch the horse going over a jump."

Many Firms

law changes extending the coverage to employers of four or more workers, and the changes were automatically effective under the Florida Law, Spellman said.

An estimated 20,000 additional employers in Florida will become liable for the 2.7 per cent Florida rate on their payrolls. Mr. Spellman said the liability is based on the employer's employment in 1955. In general, those who will be subject to the Florida law are:

1. Those having four or more employees in 20 different weeks of this year (1955) or.
2. Those having four or more employees in eight weeks of this year, and a payroll for any quarter in the year in excess of $6,000.

Some types of employment are exempt from the coverage; such as agricultural workers, domestic or household servants, and insurance agents or solicitors and real estate salesman or agents whose pay is solely by commissions.

Spellman explains that the payment to the state is made quarterly and is 2.7 per cent of the first $3,000 annual wages paid each employee. The employer also pays to the Federal Government a three tenths per cent charge, which is reported and paid one each year. (Federal liability for four or more coverage will be based on the employing experience for each year beginning in 1956.)

Florida provides an experience rating system by which employers may become eligible for rate reductions in their state payments after as few as six quarters of a comparison of his total wages paid and the amount paid in unemployment compensation benefits to his former workers who become unemployed through no fault of their own. The scale ranges from the 2.7 per cent starting charge down to as low as zero, beginning as early as July 1957.

"The sooner employers get established in the Fund, the sooner they will be eligible for rate reduction consideration," Spellman points out.

All employers not now covered are required to fill out and return a form sent out by the Industrial Commission, which is legally required in order to determine liability of each employer. Any employer who is not now registered as liable under the existing law, and does not receive a form, can get one by writing J. F. Spellman, Principal Field Deputy for this area, at 509 N. Orange Ave., Orlando.

proved with concrete posts on the south and east sides.

The Lampighter's Class, O. D. Landress, president, has appropriated $125.00 for the construction of a lighted double bulletin board on the church lawn.

Last night the finance committee, Lester Tharp chairman, was to recommend to the board of officers a church budget of $7500.00 for 1956. The proposed budget, as amended by the board, will be presented to the congregation for adoption at a called business meeting at the close of morning worship next Sunday.

George Walter Morgan, board chairman, has appointed a committee to nominate new elders, deacons and deaconesses to serve for periods of one and two years. The committee consists of W. H. Young, Bell E. Purvis, J. J. Knight, Mrs. O. D. Landress and Mrs. Chandler Vald. The election will be held at regular annual congrega-

City Manager Says

The demand has far exceeded the number of babies available.

"This disparity has resulted in gross abuses by certain individuals who have exploited the situation commercially.

"Our Chicago hearings confirmed our belief that there is a large scale traffic across state lines of children being placed for adoption. "It is this aspect of the situation that will come under consideration in Miami."

The Chicago hearings were held on July 15 and 16, 1955.

In commenting on a brighter aspect of the juvenile delinquency picture, Senator Kefauver said: "In some of the Subcommittee's reports, Florida's programs for curbing and controlling juvenile delinquency have been highlighted. In many instances we have been able to point to some State, County or community project in Florida as an example of how a situation should be handled.

"It has been indeed heartening to us that the people of Florida have concerned themselves with this vital problem. Many other areas have done likewise, but, I am sorry to say, apathy is still the nation's largest enemy in the fight to wipe out juvenile crime. Too often, interest is only spark-plugged after some major tragedy reaches the front pages of our newspapers.

"In Florida, the progress towards control of juvenile delinquency has been a preventative as well as a corrective nature. It has been well planned, coordinated and calculated to bring out the best results.

"It is the subcommittee's intention to receive further information on the details of these programs and to promulgate our report on them to other parts of the nation."

Other members of the Subcommittee are, Senators Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.), William Langer (R-N.Dak.), Alexander Wiley (R-Wisc.), and Price Daniel (D-Tex.).

VOLUME XLVI

Educators Big Problem Is College Students

Tomorrow Is Slated As Jaycee Circus Day Around County

Tomorrow is Circus Day in Sanford. The long awaited day for children of all ages comes tomorrow when the King Bros big three ring show—now the second largest in all the Universe—will stage two performances here, sponsored by the members of the Seminole County Jaycees.

Bright and early tomorrow morning the "Big Show" will come rolling in town from Orlando and will erect its mammoth "Big Top" and sixteen other tents at the show-grounds located on Highway 17-92 South adjacent to Farmers Auction Market, ready for a busy day.

Two performances are announced for tomorrow—a matinee for parents and children at 2 p. m. and the night performance which will begin at 8 p. m. Main entrance gates to the mammoth menagerie and side show will open at 1 p. m. and at 7 p. m. to allow circus patrons to visit the worlds largest traveling zoological exhibition before the big show programs start.

The downtown sale of choice reserved grand stand chair seats and general admission tickets for both the afternoon and night performances will be located tomorrow at the Walgreen Agency Drug store with the same prices as will be charged at the circus grounds.

Over 150 world famous circus and arena stars will present the two big programs in the big top—on the 36th annual tour of King Bros Circus which will feature the Engle, Rockottas—Dorchester, Bidder, Frings—Toni and Ingra Smaha—three herds of performing elephants, pretty acrobats—funny clown—trained horses—dogs and ponies—and many foreign acts as well as American circus champions.

The members of the Jaycees will receive a liberal percentage of all tickets sold in advance sales up to 11 p. m., Thursday night and report a heavy advance sale to date.

Sanford Rotarians To Hear W. H. Dial Speak Next Week

State Road Board Member William H. (Billy) Dial of Orlando will be the guest speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Sanford Rotary Club to be held Monday noon at the Yacht club. It was announced this morning by program chairman William C. Hutchinson Jr. Dial's subject will be "The New Road Code" and will undoubtedly prove of interest to his listeners.

All Rotarians who are planning to have guests at this luncheon are urged to make reservations no later than Saturday noon by calling The Sanford Herald, phone 1821. Members of other clubs are also invited to hear Dial and will be made welcome provided advance arrangements are made for luncheon. That Mrs. Roberta Gatchel may be prepared to cater to them. Guests not planning to have luncheon are asked to be seated before 12:45 p. m. at which time it is expected the road board member will begin his talk.

Tomorrow Is Slated As Jaycee Circus Day Around County

"One of the real big problems confronting educators today," said Andy Bracken, Assistant Principal of Seminole High School yesterday, "is the rising tide of students going through secondary schools today."

Bracken spoke to the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday as its noon luncheon meeting. When introduced by Al Collins, program chairman for the day he said, Bracken is a graduate of the University of Florida, and they liked him so well that they kept him on the staff for six years. He must be good.

The Assistant Principal of the local high school said, "many of our educators are concerned over who shall go to college." At a recent meeting of an Educational Council, concern was divulged over the growing number of war babies starting in 1940 just now reaching the high school, he said.

Bracken revealed that the present enrollment of students is 2 1/2 million and by 1950 the figure is expected to reach 3 million. For

Stenographers Are Offered Refresher Course At School

The Seminole County Vocational School has been unable to meet the demand for good stenographers. Any person in Seminole County who has had some shorthand is urged to take a refresher course at the school. A dictation class is scheduled every morning from 11 to 12 o'clock. This course is designed to meet the needs of persons who require additional instruction and speed in shorthand and transcription.

Stenographers already working in offices who wish to increase their shorthand skills may be able to make arrangements with their employers for that one hour. Some of our students have been able to work out some very satisfactory plans. As a result they were of more value to their employers. Mrs. Gladys S. Hall is the instructor of this course.

Commission Presents Proposed Road Program

Syd Herlong Visits Kiwanis Meeting

Congressman Syd Herlong, in Sanford yesterday to attend the Kiwanis Club noon luncheon meeting, and to visit with friends and acquaintances, said that "the new Federal Road Program is set up for the first of the year."

A lot of people, said the Congressman, attributed the killing of the bill to the Democrats. But the outcome of the new bill, he said, "would mean a better road program throughout."

The bill that the Democrats opposed during the last session, Herlong pointed out, contained too many exceptions and too many controversial measures.

The Board of Public Roads, Congressman Herlong explained, asked the various State Road Departments and the various districts, to present to them for consideration, their needs for both primary and secondary roads.

After all of the requests and programs were added up, Herlong stated, they came to a $4 billion dollar program.

Then came the question, he said, as to how the projects would be financed. There were three methods considered Herlong explained, and it came to financing by bond issues, deficit financing, or on a pay-as-you-go plan.

Comptroller General Campbell, he said, pointed out that he would like to see the financing would be a dishonest method and that deficit financing was out of the question.

It might mean a few taxes, paid by those who use the roads, said Congressman Herlong, but it will place the burden where it is lightest. "It will mean some gasoline taxes, tire taxes, or taxes on other merchandise connected directly with the use of the highways," he said. "But it means," Herlong concluded, "that we will have a Federal Road Program that is fair and equitable for all."

North Section Requested

Stenstrom Says Proposal Logical
Seminole County Commission Chairman John Meisch presented a proposed road program for Seminole County during the interim period, Jan. 1, 1956 to June 30, 1956 yesterday when hearings were held in DeLand before District Road Board Member William A. Dial.

Meisch told the state Road Department that the widening, four lane and paving of the north section of 17-92 was the first priority for the coming 6-month budget while the widening and paving of State Road 46 comes second. However, said Meisch, we would like to give moral support to the State Road 43 project in Volusia County.

"Our long range plans," Meisch revealed before the State Road Board hearing, "will be to tie 413 with 46."

In addition to the projects requested, Chairman Meisch asked Road Board Member Dial for a survey of State Road 46 from Melroseville Ave. to the Wekiva River. "Our part of 46 into Sanford is a good road, narrow but good," Meisch explained. And he went on, "Unless Lake County does something about their road, it would be useless for us to do any more."

Dial told the group from Seminole County that Lake County also has requested a survey on 46 to the Wekiva River.

Two Car Crash Sees Excessive Damage
A two car crash yesterday, just five minutes before noon, caused property damage in excess of a thousand dollars, and injuries to two.

Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams said that the accident occurred on 17-92 just south of Mobley's Corner in front of Red's Cocktail lounge.

A 1955 Chevrolet, traveling North and driven by Franklin T. Wacker, a 68-year-old retired man of Lake Land, accompanied by his wife Helen and Martin Cunningham received damage in excess of $500 when the front end was demolished. The party was en route to Dartmouth Heath at "Time of the accident."

A 1955 Dodge driven by a 50-year-old Miami Salesman, Michael Spiegel, pulled out on the left side of the road into the path of the Chevrolet. The entire back end of the Dodge on the right, was torn off from the impact.

Spiegel was charged with "failing to avoid the right of way." Spiegel is reported to have received a slight neck injury from the impact while Mrs. Helen Wacker complained of a chest and knee injury and Martin Cunningham of a skinned leg. They were brought to the local hospital in Patrolman Williams patrol car.

Assisting Patrolman Carl Williams in the investigation were Sheriff Luther Hobbs and Deputy Sheriff Morgan McClelland.

Raymond C. Lewis Executive Secretary For Allied Youth

The appointment of Raymond C. Lewis as Executive Secretary of Allied Youth Inc., was announced today by J. C. Penney, Chairman of the Board of Trustees. The organization, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., sponsors clubs in U. S. and Canadian high schools which provide alcohol education and alcohol-free recreation. Lewis succeeds the late W. Roy Reed, Executive Secretary since the founding of Allied Youth in 1954. He will assume office immediately.

An Allied Youth Club was recently organized at Seminole High School.

The newly appointed Executive Secretary has been Adult Education Consultant on the national staff of the American Cancer Society since 1948. He is a specialist in leadership training, community organization and program development. A widely known public speaker, Lewis has lectured at Yale, Columbia, New York University, Indiana University, and other colleges and universities.

From 1948 to 1951 Lewis was Executive Director of "New Tools for Learning," an Alfred P. Sloan Foundation project in the field of Adult Education. Previously he was engaged in adult education work with the American Museum of Natural History.

During World War II, Lewis initiated the Army's Convalescent Rehabilitation Training Program, later adopted by the Navy and by the military of several allied powers. While with the Troop Information and Education Division of the Department of Defense he originated much of the Army's "Career Development Program."

A native of Massachusetts, Lewis was educated at Springfield College, Yale University, and Columbia Teachers College.

A 13-year-old negro boy of Altamonte Springs has been charged with "petit larceny" in the taking of a bicycle from the home of Roy Reed.

The boy has been turned over to the Seminole County Juvenile Court for disposition of the theft charge.

The Seminole County Sheriff's office made the charge yesterday.

Group To Prepare List Of Tax-Saving Suggestions Soon

A list of tax-saving suggestions for small businessmen will be prepared by the Small Business Committee of the U. S. Senate.

It was announced Wednesday by Senator George Smathers of Florida.

The plan for a small business tax guide has been approved by Senator John Sparkman, of Alabama, chairman of the committee. Smathers reported.

Another Case Made By Game Warden

Another case of "stealing the bag limit of fresh water fish" has been made by the local game warden of the Game and Fish Water Fish Commission.

Jesse Herzkiah of Maitland, was found with 42 speckled perch in his possession.

Harry Herlich made the charges, Bond for Herzkiah was set at $50.

He said the list of tax suggestions would "give to the small businessman economic opportunities for continuance in business and business expansion which today, under present conditions, he does not have."

The Florida senator "has been outlining, in a fall speaking tour across Florida, the problems before Congress and has given substantial attention to the troubles of the small businessman.
