McCarthy Is Scored By Lehman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lehman (D-Ill.) today scored McCarthy's statement in a television program (Meet the Press) yesterday that criticism of Coon and Schmeidler was based on anti-Semitism.

Lehman said he was one of those who had criticized "the antics of these two brash young men," and that he felt many thousands of Jewish faith shared his belief that the staff aides had been doing our country and the cause of anti-communism great harm here and abroad.

"I am very certain that most members of my religious faith, not as Jews, but as Americans, are anything but proud of these two young men," Lehman asserted.

"To brand criticism of them as anti-Semitism is pure and errant demagoguery, raising an ugly symbol in defense of indefensible conduct."

Official Marine Photo: Marine Maj. John Bolt of Sanford, left above, has received his second oak leaf cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross. The award was made Saturday at the Sanford Air Force headquarters in Seoul, the local pilot. Bolt, flying as an exchange pilot with the Air Force, has bagged six Communist MIG fighters. Maj. Bolt, 32, is shown demonstrating his living technique to another MIG pilot, Maj. Roy L. Reed. Maj. Bolt's wife, Dorothy, and children, Robert, seven, and Barbara, four, reside at 115 North Sumner Avenue. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bolt, 265 West Seventh Street.

Truce Teams Work On Final Details, Marines Engulfed At 2 Vital Outposts

Survivors Stagger Back To U. S. Lines

SEOUL (AP)—Recklessly attacking Chinese engulfed two vital western front outposts defended by U. S. Marines last night and the first Leatherneck survivors staggered back to Allied lines today.

In their last act before their radios went dead, the trapped Marines back in the battlelines only three weeks called in their own artillery on top of them in a desperate effort to halt the violent onslaught.

The number of Marines in the battle was not immediately released.

Fourteen Leathernecks of the First Marine Division were the first known survivors of the bloody battles for outposts East Berlin and Berlin, part of a key hill area on the western front.

Fatigued and wan, they staggered back into Marine lines. Eight were from Outpost Berlin and six from East Berlin.

How they got out was not learned immediately.

Lieutenant Commander Thomas P. Ryan (left) and a young boy, Ryan, who was captured by the Chinese and held for 10 weeks, are seen in a photograph. Ryan is a member of the 1st Marine Division and is currently serving in the 1st Marine Division. Ryan's home is in the Sanford area.

Signing Within One Week Seen Possible

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Teams of Allied and Communist officers, working for the first time together since the armistice, are expected to sign a preliminary agreement within one week.

The teams of officers were seen at the Panmunjom armistice site on Tuesday (AP) Monday, E.P.U.

The Red members put the finishing touches on a large but to be signed for signing the historic document which would end the 1 1/2 years of fighting.

There was no official indication that the agreement would be signed by the end of the week.

A month-long deadlock in the negotiations was broken with a Communist announcement Sunday that the Red team would sign a preliminary agreement by the end of the week.

The Communist members of the armistice team, including a Communist Red team member, were seen for the first time and met for 4 hours, 30 minutes with Communist members of the armistice team.

Sanford has its outstanding young baseball prospects, but thus far we haven't heard anything in the way of a call for the 12-year-old youngsters of Sanford who recently hurled his fifth an hit game of the Little League season. Baseball scouts have several more years to go before they can approach the young phenom with a flourish.

Harrison, Wilder Talk To Rotarians On Traffic Safety

State Trooper R. D. Harrison and Jim Wilder of the Highway Patrol Educational Department spoke on traffic safety before the Rotary luncheon at the Yacht Club today.

Trooper Wilder cited speeding as the No. 1 cause of traffic accidents and deaths, followed closely by driving on the wrong side of the highway.

"Tourists cannot be blamed for our traffic record," he stated. "Ninety percent of all accidents in Florida last year involved people living within 25 miles of the home."

In 1952, 57,000 accidents in Florida last year, 635 people lost their lives, 1,368 more were injured, and $100,000,000 worth of property was damaged, he pointed out. Adverse weather conditions were not responsible for most accidents, he added.

The order of the Seminole County for its fine safety record and attributed to the fine job Trooper Harrison is doing here.

Mr. Harrison in his address to the Rotarians of the county were actually the ones responsible for Seminole County's better than average traffic record.

Both Mr. Wilder and Mr. Harrison urged the Rotarians to practice caution while driving and to teach their children safe driving practices.

Program chairman Jack Rattan introduced the guest speakers and President H. L. Perkins Jr. presided.

Renovations Are Going Forward On Crown Building

Renovations to the Crown Paper Co. building which will house the new Brookfield Mills clothing manufacturing plant are now 40 percent completed and at the present pace will be concluded on Aug. 15, the scheduled date.

That information was supplied today by Ralph Cowan, president of Sanford Industries, Inc., who also revealed that final preparations have been completed for a training school in the Kent Building.

He said machines to be used for training will start arriving this week. Twenty trainees can be handled during each class. Two four-hour classes will be held daily, and it is expected that the course will be completed in six weeks depending on previous experience and ability.

Everyone interested in participating in the program is urged to apply in person at the Florida State Employment Office at 114 South Palm Avenue, or to contact Mr. Cowan at Sanford Industries, Inc.

In another announcement Mr. Cowan said that additional funds to carry out the planned program will be available to send the local residents to attend the school at Secretary-Treasurer George Williams immediately.

Financial support is needed now, declared Mr. Cowan. Subscribers are asked to send payments just as soon as possible.

The industrial leaders pointed out that other industries have been contacted and are interested in localizing here, but in most cases financial support will be required.

Additional money is needed to complete repairs at the Crown Paper Co. building.

Lines Drawn In Fight Affecting Grid Fortunes

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—University of Florida alumni and Temple Park, the smallest of the three Miami horse racing tracks, today joined the state in fighting a suit by Gulfstream Park which might seriously affect football fortunes of the state's universities and University of Miami.

State Rep. Willard Ayres, Ocala, president of the University of Florida Alumni Assn., today introduced a bill in the House which he said he would introduce in the Senate.

The bill would prohibit the state from paying for the operation of the state's universities and University of Miami.

Beverage Auditing Setup Revamped

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The State Beverage Department has revamped completely its auditing practices following last spring's critical report by the state auditor, Director Richard Hunter said today.

Hunter said that under the direction of W. H. Corbett, chief auditor for the department, the auditing practices have been brought into line with the state auditor's recommendations "to the letter."

Purchasing policies also have been revised and tightened to meet the state auditor's criticism of lack of efficiency in department buying. The state auditor's report condemned the beverage department's failure always to seek competitive bids in purchasing and a slipshod system of receiving and inspecting goods it bought.

The new auditing system will give a complete, up-to-date record of all administrative, enforcement and tax collecting costs and records on each division will be kept separately, Hunter said.

All purchasing now is being done through competitive bids. Corbett exercises general supervision of departmental purchasing. But Arthur MacCarthy has been designated to handle the drafting of bids and has responsibility for receiving purchases and inspecting them to determine if specifications have been met.

"We do not buy now unless we have received at least three bids and we insist that bids be made by individual items rather than in lump sums. We have found it often is possible to save considerable money by spreading an order among two or more bidders rather than to buy in one large order," Corbett said.

Hunter said he is creating the post of internal auditor to keep a closer check on department accounting. He expects to fill the job by Aug. 1.

"The internal auditor will not work under Mr. Corbett but will be responsible directly to me," Hunter said. "He will go over the

Ex-Secretary Of Labor Dies From Heart Attack

SCITUATE, Mass. (AP) — Former Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin, onetime Democratic governor of Massachusetts and twice mayor of Boston, died of a heart attack in the arms of his wife at their summer home here yesterday. He was 52.

He had played 18 holes of golf the day before and had retired shortly before midnight in apparent good health and spirits.

He arose about 7 a.m. and made three telephone calls. One of the calls was to the telephone operator to learn the correct time. It was 7:28.

As it was more than an hour before he was scheduled to attend Sunday mass, Tobin, his wife said, returned to bed and was reading the newspaper in his pajamas when he suddenly gasped for breath.

His wife ran to his side and put her arms around him to hold him in an upright position. Medical Examiner Herbert N. Blanchard pronounced death due to a heart attack. Members of Tobin's family said the ex-secretary of labor had known for 18 months that he suffered a heart condition but never showed his sympathy.

Tobin served in Truman's Cabinet for four years and five months, beginning in August 1948. Funeral services will be held Wednesday.

House-Wife Uses Poison For Salad

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Mrs. Virginia Estonato didn't watch too closely as she prepared the dinner salad.

In front of her was a bowl of mayonnaise and milk whipped into a dressing.

And in front of her was a bowl of milk, flour and arsenic whipped into an ant poison.

That night, the ants in a little hill behind her home were treated to some salad dressing.

And Virginia Estonato — and her husband Nash — were treated at a hospital for terrific stomach aches.

Lovers' Quarrel Ends In Violence

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jerry Dickerson and his girl friend had a fight last night. She still loves him, but he's too hurt to talk.

It started when Dickerson, 27, hit her over the head with a sugar bowl and a cream container at a downtown restaurant. He missed with a bottle of ketchup.

Then his 28-year-old sweetheart found a gun and fired twice.

One slug went through Dickerson's ear, the other into his knee. As he slumped to the floor, she slugged him in the face with the gun.

"I was awfully mad but I still love him," she told police later. Dickerson was hospitalized and police said he hadn't signed a complaint against her.

The couple had planned to marry in two weeks.

Chances For Harmony In State GOP Ranks Is Growing Dimmer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The possibility of harmony in Florida Republican ranks appeared dimmer today after weekend meetings which saw the party split into two camps.

The "regular" state GOP organization headed by state Chairman G. Harold Alexander of Fort Myers met in Miami Beach yesterday to make recommendations for some 50 patronage jobs in Florida and Washington.

At the same time, a rebel faction gathered in Orlando. The group included 25 prominent party members at odds with the regular leaders.

Patronage choices made at Miami Beach were kept secret pending approval by Congress or the Republican national committee. Alexander said several "Flonhower Democrats" were among those recommended for political posts.

At the Orlando session, Wynfred R. Briggs, state committeeman from Fort Pierce, was named temporary head of a three-member committee to lead a fight for a "permanent" statewide committee dedicated to good government at all levels.

Also named to the committee were Wesley Garrison, Miami, and Charles Daw, Daytona Beach. The group adopted a "declaration of principles" but did not release it immediately.

Dark Days In A Dark Land

In the days ahead it is likely that we will read of a "full confession" by Lavrenti Beria of the crimes of which he stands accused. Beria, as head of the all-powerful secret police, was himself an expert at extracting such confessions. Now, ironically, he may become the victim of his own techniques.

It is not enough for a dictator to remove or execute a potential rival. Such rivals must be discredited in the eyes of the people. Any remnants of affection or loyalty held for them must be erased. Physical and psychological pressure is exerted to get victims to admit their guilt—often swift death instead of lingering torture is promised in return for confession.

Arthur Koestler, one-time Communist and now an anti-Communist writer, exposed the Communist method of getting confessions. In his novel "Darkness At Noon" the central figure in the novel, which was later made into a play, is an old Bolshevik who has fallen in disfavor with the Party. He is subjected to extreme pressure but refuses to sign a confession until he is finally convinced that he will be serving the ideals of his youth if he does.

Koestler's novel has had many parallels in real-life Russia. One wonders what the victims of these purges think when the time comes for their confessions to be read in public. Like the hero of Koestler's novel do they finally realize that they have been mistaken, that they have given their lives to a cause that has brought their people only darkness—even at noon?

Congress And Courtesy

It might be well for some Congressmen to take a few lessons in elementary courtesy. When Post Master General Summerfield appeared before the House Post Office Committee recently he was greeted by several Congressmen who waved their hands and shouted to exclude him from the hearings. Twenty minutes were wasted in the confusion and argument. Then the Post Master General was allowed to speak.

Summerfield, with the backing of President Eisenhower, wants the postal rates to be raised in order to reduce the deficit in the postal department. He says that he has already made several economy moves but unless the rates are boosted no appreciable reduction in the deficit will be possible.

Even those opposed to Summerfield's proposed rate in postal rates owe him the courtesy of listening to his point of view. Nothing is ever gained by bad manners and the people have the right to expect their elected representatives to behave in a manner that befits the dignity of high office.

ROK Army Is Big Story Of War

By DON WITENHEAD
(For James Marlow)
Editor's Note: Don Witenhead observed the South Koreans of whom he writes here at close range in the first year of the Korean War. He returned to the embattled peninsula last winter with the then President-elect, Dwight D. Eisenhower. His coverage of that trip was his second Pulitzer Prize.

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the great stories of the Korean War is coming through consistently today if you read between the lines of dispatches describing the heavy fighting by South Korean troops. It is the story of an army that was born, trained, equipped and given muscle in a span of just three years, now boosting its confidence.

Three years ago it would have been impossible even to speculate the South Koreans would be able to come back fighting after being by a 100,000-man Red offensive force. U. S. military men in Korea would have laughed at such a suggestion.

The young Army has roared back into the heavy fight. It has shown a 100,000-man Red offensive force U. S. military men in Korea would have laughed at such a suggestion.

But confidence has been growing conditions that exist in the lands they govern.

It was not surprising that the puppet Premier of East German Otto Grotewohl refused the offer. Nor was it surprising that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov should have replied to the proffered aid with an angry note denouncing the United States and blaming the recent riots behind the Iron Curtain on democratic agitators. To accept aid from the country they have slandered so often would have been an admission of the failure of Communism to provide the "workers paradise" promised when they came to power.

It was wise of President Eisenhower to make clear that the offer of assistance will remain open. There is little hope that the Reds will relent and permit the hungry to be fed by American food. But the German people will know who denied them relief from their misery and the knowledge will increase the discontent which has already reached serious proportions for the Communists. The President's offer was at once a gesture of sincere humanitarianism and a bold stroke of foreign policy which will help us to retain the initiative in the cold war.

This Afternoon

By GORDON DEAN
TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

The inner resources of the soul can be opened to us if we sincerely and diligently seek the key. Knock and it shall be opened unto you.—Matt. 7:7.

Many an innocent social function has become a wicked brawl after being analyzed by some of those who weren't invited.

It has always been curious to us how so many common crooks operate in an honest sort of way.

The new Miss Universe according to a news release is a French girl with an angelic smile, wavy brown hair, stands five feet, six inches, weighs 125 pounds, and has figure measurements of 33, 22, and 35 inches. We may assume she is also a very pretty girl.

The Democratic Digest, monthly publication of the Democratic National Committee, utilizes a great deal of its expensively printed space in quoting staunch Republican newspapers unfavorable to certain aspects of President Eisenhower's tenure thus far, which seems to us to make a mockery of Adlai Stevenson's oft-repeated contention during last fall's campaign that the United States has a one-party press.

The lower East Coast of Florida is looked upon as the most prosperous and fastest growing area in Florida. Therefore it is interesting to note that 38 reporting banks in that section revealed an increase of 8.2 percent in bank deposits in the past year, while 51 banks in Central Florida experienced an increase in deposits of 12.5 percent. The Gold Coast isn't alluring but the section of the state where we live is now claiming a lot of the magic that used to be typical of other regions identified with with polo mallets, fabulous fortunes and pink palaces.

When you feel sorry for the man on the side of the road waving his hand to ask for a ride, remember you can't tell a man by his looks, there's no such thing as the "criminal type," and that the innocent and kindly appearing person may be a fugitive from the FBI, a potential killer who would do you in if a sudden whim moved him. Don't let the milk of human kindness overcome your better judgment and don't be a sucker for "hitchhikers" who may steal your car, rob your pocketbook or kill your wife.

in the ROKs in past months. This was largely due to the training program built up by Gen. James A. Van Fleet when he took command of United Nations forces in 1951. Van Fleet saw possibilities in the ROKs if they were trained and properly equipped. He set about to see that it was done.

Acting at times in direct violation of orders, Van Fleet overhauled the training program for Koreans and built up the Army's strength beyond the point approved by the Pentagon. In other words, he turned a horde into an army.

True, it's a young army with many faults and weaknesses—particularly in leadership. But without this Army the U. N. forces never could have hoped to stay in Korea. It is an army that was built literally at the cannon's mouth.

At Panmunjon the Reds again talk of signing a truce—while Chinese reinforcements are massing again in front of the South Koreans on the Eastern Front.

This could be another crisis approaching for the ROK Army and the ability of the ROKs to hold their ground may give the final answer to the success of all the U. N. forces if the fighting continues.

Relaxing Devices Make Fortune

NEW YORK (AP)—In this world of one fellow's troubles often are another fellow's business opportunity.

Owen K. Murphy, a 44-year-old Irish sales agent, isn't the first man to discover this truth. But he has set him on the path to becoming a multi-millionaire as America's mechanical king.

The way that became his particular gold mine was that international disease—tension. "My idea was simply to find a way to help people relax easily," he said. "I became interested in physiotherapy while I was a pharmacist's mate in the Navy, and decided to make it my field."

"It wasn't easy. My background was engineering, and I had to give up my engineering job. I'd held it for 17 years, and start all over."

He took a new job in 1946 selling mechanical massage tables in hospitals for an Adamsville, Pa., company. Business was slower than slow.

Three years later Murphy gave up everything to buy the firm himself at a time when it had only two full-time employees, and was grossing only $10,000 a year.

Using his engineering skill and the knowledge he had gained from consulting medical men, Murphy redesigned the equipment and developed a motor to give a pulsing rotary movement instead of a simple vibration.

"I decided people offered a bigger market for mechanical massage appliances than hospitals," he recalled. "My theory was that any home that has a refrigerator or vacuum cleaner also could use a mechanical massage unit."

Murphy put his mechanical massagers in department stores to rest the feet of tired shoppers. He put his units in hotels, and on the roadside rest stops for truck drivers. He got universities and big league baseball teams to adopt them as aids in conditioning sore-muscled athletes.

Among his early customers were such big name entertainers and sports world figures as Marie Wilson, Sugar Ray Robinson, Ralph Kiner, and Noble Sissle, the band leader.

But his real mass market has been the home and office. His 16 models of massagers range from a hand unit for housewives to a luxurious massage chair in which the tired business man can stretch out and relax while dictating to his secretary.

Murphy now has a factory in Buffalo, 600 employees, and last year grossed three million dollars, about 300 times the firm's income in 1948.

This year Murphy expects to sell 100,000 mechanical massagers. He sold 60,000 in 1952, and takes in $4,500,000. He is still a bit dazed by success.

"I don't know where it will end," he said. "There is a lot of tension in the world, and it's an odd thing to say, but tension has been our best salesman."

Murphy keeps a massage chair in his own office, and uses it daily. "Have to," he said. "Get all wound up if I don't."

Oklahoma U.S. Flag Is At Half Staff

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The flag in front of the University of Oklahoma administrative building flew at half staff today as services were held in the Catholic church near the campus for 22 ROTC students killed in a Florida plane crash Saturday.

Nineteen other persons died in the crash.

Right now, Murphy is pretty tense. All worked up over a new idea. You know how many motorists there are in America? Millions. Millions. Most of 'em tense. So, how about a mechanical massage unit for automobile seats? Why can't a driver relax his ten miles while he's at the wheel? Funny? Well, most of those who laughed at Murphy in 1948 don't have his bank account today.

His appropriations might conceivably cause either a closing down of the base here or a considerable retrenchment in their operation, a call was placed in Col. A. B. McMullen, Volke's friend in Washington, who was quite instrumental in helping to get the base established here. He was asked to investigate the situation and to advise us accordingly. He reports as follows: "... no curtailment of activities is planned at the present time. In fact, the Navy is contemplating an expansion of the base, as they consider it one of their most important fleet support activities. Of course, no one in the Defense Establishment knows exactly what curtailment will be necessary or what expansion of activities can be made until Congress announces the fiscal 1954 appropriations."

Letters also received at the Chamber office from our Congressional delegation and enclosing letters from the office of the Chief of Naval Operations, say substantially the same thing. So it seems that unless some unusually heavy cut in Navy appropriations for 1954 is made, our local installation will continue in its present status of operation.

We are indebted to the Fort Lauderdale Chamber of Commerce advertising program for an inquiry received last Friday. A young lady in New Haven, Conn., clipped a coupon placed in the local newspaper as part of an advertisement expounding the advantages of vacationing in Ft. Lauderdale. She marked out the word Ft. Lauderdale and altered the coupon to read "Chamber of Commerce, Sanford, Florida" and checked off the desired information as itemized on the coupon and mailed it straight to us. We have already sent the information requested and we suppose if the above named Chamber located on the "Gold Coast" learns of this episode, they'll be sending us a bill based on the cost per inquiry from the ad they placed up in Connecticut. Thanks for the business, Ft. Lauderdale.

Sanford and Seminole County were certainly sorry to see Captain John L. Childs and his family leave the SNAAS last week. They fitted themselves readily into the pattern of things here and will be sorely missed. The local Navy Base has certainly developed smoothly into a station our defense establishment should be proud to operate under the Command of Captain Childs during his tour of duty here.

And speaking of the Navy Base, recent information received at the Chamber of Commerce office is encouraging especially in the light of the cutbacks being made in the defense appropriations. Volke Williams Sr., chairman of the Chamber's Aviation Committee, was quite instrumental in the original move to get the Navy Air Base here. He has been here since the beginning of the war, and he is in the defense department positions from one in

CHAMBER CHATTER

By Forrest Breckenridge

Congratulations are due Mr. R. Strickland and his Seminole Youth Council for the fine job they are doing in making plans to buy the old Central Baptist Church property for the purpose of converting it into a youth center. We have long needed additional recreational facilities for our youth and this seems to be a start in the right direction.

It's interesting how such projects get started. It seems that a group of after-schoolers were sitting around discussing various subjects of interest and at Bralley Ollman's after a fellowship meeting of the Herman Morris Young men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church. Someone mentioned the youth recreation need and the possibility of using the Central Baptist Church property was broached. Some of the members of the class mentioned it at a Kiwanis meeting and Rupert Strickland, president of the High School PTA, became interested and mentioned it in those responsible for the opening of the Coker Crute. It wasn't long before a meeting of civic leaders was called and the project was underway.

Fred Wilson offered his services in drafting up a charter and applying to the Secretary of State for permission for the group to operate as a non-profit corporation. Wednesday night the charter was presented and reworded and the temporary officers named. Representatives of all civic clubs and organizations are being asked to serve as trustees and it seems that we are well on the way toward having a worthwhile civic recreation center for our young folks to enjoy.

Lifetime Tire Coming

NEW YORK (AP)—Keenly competing tire companies are working hard on the tire of tomorrow. Some say the tire that will last as long as your car is no pipe dream—just a few more kinks to work out.

Rubber companies are concentrating, too, on special tires for special purposes—tires that perform better on difficult ground, on ice or mud, at high speeds. These scientists talk of new standards of safety. The tubelless tire is getting quite a plugging science. Some technicians say that new forms of synthetic rubber are being perfected that will make present day tires seem obsolete.

U. S. Rubber is experimenting with textiles for tire cords—for the battle of the fibers is getting keener. First it was cotton tire cord. Then rayon pretty much conquered the field. This year all-nylon cord is coming up fast.

But this week Du Pont announced a super-duper rayon cord it plugs as "existing high-tenacity yarn." The new rayon cord may make "safer, sturdier tires" for the coming higher-powered cars on high speed highways.

Goodyear, meanwhile, is out with an all-nylon cord passenger car tire it says gets 20 per cent more mileage, because it is 30 per cent stronger than conventional cord and takes twice the road punishment.

U. S. Rubber boasts of a nylon cord with up to 85 per cent more strength that cuts the weight of a tire by as much as two pounds. B. F. Goodrich plugs a new truck tire with all-nylon cord that it says will give more mileage than an ordinary tire plus a recap job combined.

Firestone features a tubelless tire with high-strength nylon cord. Synthetic rubber gives Firestone plenty of room for experimenting.

U. S. Rubber is working with vulcanol, a type of synthetic it believes will yield tires that will wear as long as 100,000 miles and produce "the tire that outlasts the car." It talks of a "quieter, smoother, safer ride at 100 miles per hour."

Goodyear's synthetic candidate is chemicum SL which it says is chemically similar to the German-developed vulcolon, but can be processed more conveniently and cheaper.

Firestone says its new synthetic rubber process eliminates the need for costly refrigeration equipment such as used to produce "cold" rubber.

B. F. Goodrich says its new, lower cost process makes "cold" rubber 50 times faster than the former one. Postwar developments in a number of industries have called for special tires for new uses. Farm equipment, for example, can now have tires adapted to special tasks and different types of terrain. Jet planes have given the tire industry a big job. Their tires hit the runways at high speeds, calling for greater strength and tires that don't heat up too fast under the friction. The Navy has been testing a B. F. Goodrich high-pressure tubelless tire on jet fighters.

This company has been plugging tubelless tires since 1917, and last summer brought them out for farm machinery. Firestone is making tubelless tires for cars, trucks, planes, and farm and earthmoving machinery.

Goodyear is making a soft, fat, watermelon-shaped tire called rolligon, which operates over sand and rugged terrain. Its inventor designer, William H. Albee, will let it roll right over him, too.

Heat In New York Baseball Stadium Fells Jehovahs

NEW YORK (AP)—Heat felled more than 300 Jehovah's Witnesses yesterday as 82,000 members of the sect jammed Yankee Stadium for the opening of their eight-day New World Society Assembly.

At one time the heat inside the big Bronx stadium was 92 although the official heat reading outside was 81. The heat prostration cases were treated in both grandstand and bleachers as well as at first aid emergency stations. None of the victims was reported in serious condition.

More thousands of Witnesses were expected in trek to the stadium today for the assembly's second-day program, which emphasizes the group's international scope. Delegates are here from 96 countries outside the United States.

Yesterday's opening of the assembly platform was marked by a second base Vlied poster depicting the green girders of the stands.

Flowers ringed the infield, and the pitching mound bloomed as a formal garden. A green-boughed speaker's platform was placed above second base. Vlied posters depicted the green girders of the stands.

Los Alamos Gets 2nd Road Fatality

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP)—This birthplace of the atomic bomb has recorded its second traffic fatality in its 10-year history. The victim was Kathy Caryl, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Caryl. She was run over by a motorist while playing in the street outside her home.

THE WEATHER Clear to partly cloudy through Wednesday, with scattered afternoon showers and thunderstorms. A few night and morning showers, extreme south portion and along lower East Coast.

Sometime

Earl Peters, a member of the police force in Blounting, Ind., visited City Manager Tom Lemon yesterday. Mr. Peters was a member of the department when the present Sanford City manager held a similar position in the Indiana city. The visitor, accompa-led by his wife and two daughters, have been spending a few days in the city. They stopped off here for a few minutes on their homeward trek. Tom must have been well thought of in Blounting every day or so he has a visitor from Northern parts. Incidentally, we've been after Tom for many weeks now trying to get him to give up his Wednesday night log over TV in favor of the duplicate bridge club, but thus far all of our efforts have been in vain.

Rainfall in Sanford during July now totals 9.44 inches following yesterday afternoon's downpour of 2.33 inches. Bud Moughtin, local weather observer, said readings are taken by a rain gauge at the corner of Sixteenth Street and Sanford Avenue, and it's probable that the downpour was heavier than the amount recorded at the official station. That makes a total of 9.44 inches of moisture deposited in the city this month. Normal for July is 7.03. Mr. Moughtin asserted. And for the third time this month, gully washes yesterday exceeded their normal capacity. The water, which he heard yesterday followed a streak of lightning which struck two trees at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Snow, 211 West Main Street. The playful electricity uprooted the trees and then cut its way through the grass cutting up the lawn.

Thoughtful While Shaving—Wonder why more people don't make use of the trash receptacles which are placed in strategic locations throughout the downtown area. In Sanford, so we see, the receptacles are so full they don't even throw as much as a cigarette butt into the gutter. It appears as though the County Sanitation Department is about given up plans for a deluxe colored playground at Cromms Academy in favor of improved play areas adjacent to the residents. Frankly, much more practical, we feel. While industrial leaders are bemoaning the fact there are no manufacturers in the old Thorne Furniture Co. building at the corner of Magnolia Avenue and Second Street, residents of the Commercial District (the same as Commercial East) are glad if anyone has any ideas how clear a neat rash on the neck right in tender shaving area, we'll sure be glad to hear from them.

Something we never knew before—Mrs. Margaret Witherspoon, wife of the photographer, is the great, great, great, great, great granddaughter of John Witherspoon, one of the signers of the American Declaration of Independence. Mr. Witherspoon, a president of the American Bar Association, is a very successful attorney at one time, was a Presbyterian minister and the only clergyman among the signers of that great document. Mrs. Cox is the last survivor of that national figure. Her brother, John Knox Witherspoon, died 13 years ago but not before he had unveiled a statue of his notable father in Washington. Incidentally, the Coxes have a residence on the St. John's River which they call Tusculum, which is the same name as the house belonging to John Witherspoon in Washington.

We've always had the greatest admiration for Seal-mites, who despite their physical limitations have managed not only to make a living but often have been very successful in their field of endeavor. We learned recently that Henry Herbat and his wife, both deaf-mutes of Bayonne, N. J., have decided to retire and come to Sanford. Mr. Herbat, a first cousin of Henry Thurston, whose mother and father were both deaf-mutes, has been employed with Tidewater Oil for the past 27 years. Like the Somertimes, Mr. Herbat looked Florida over very carefully and finally decided on this community. He's very interested in the athletic world, especially baseball, and still makes being especially after making a name for himself in that sport. The New Jersey couple recently visited the St. Augustine school for the deaf and were very pleased with that city's facilities.

U.S. Pilots Gain 65-1 Advantage

SEOUL — Two American Sabre jets were shot down yesterday by Communist forces—the first Sabres lost in combat over North Korea since May 17, the Fifth Air Force reported today. Including yesterday's losses, 40 Sabres have been shot down since a 65-1 victory margin over the Russian-built fighters in the past two months, the Air Force said. A total of 131 MiGs were destroyed, 74 of them in June. A comparative tally was reported along the 133-mile ground front. One of the Sabres shot down Monday destroyed two of the swept-wing MiGs before he went down, the Air Force said. Both missing fighters were from the Fourth Fighter Interceptor Wing, a veteran Korea outfit. There was speculation one of the downed pilots may have been an ace because the Air Force almost never reveals losses, except in its weekly summary Friday.

More Fuel Added To Casselberry Feud Over Roads

More fuel was added to the fire in the Casselberry feud over closing of public thoroughfares during the regular session of the County Commission meeting in the "Court House today. Walter Dittmer, one of the several residents of the area in back of a lake in the Seminole County community who feel they will eventually be closed off from the main highway, declared today the argument with Earl Gough, owner of property in Fern Park, may lead to "light and bloodshed." That feeling between the two factions came to the surface during a Board meeting two weeks ago when Charles Ross, a Casselberry resident who was also on hand to lead a delegation of four persons to the Board. The closing of roads in the off-highway section. "Today the delegation was in session in seven with Mr. Ross, Mr. Dittmer and Jack Crumley, all speaking up against what they stated was an encroachment against their rights. Four women of the area did not participate in the discussion. According to the spokesman, Mr. Vaughn is planning to extend his fence across the road, a four-acre tract known as Sunset Road. He is doing, residents behind that area will be forced to go "three times as far" to get to the highway. Mr. Ross stated Sunset Road has been "used 365 days a year for at least the past 14 years. During the past 12 months the road been closed for a single day." For the benefit of the Casselberry group, County Attorney W. H. Bostwick, county clerk and Bill of the Florida Statutes governing public roads which states "Obstructing a highway, whether by erecting a public road or by erecting a fence, or by erecting across or into the same, or by willfully raising any other obstruction in or to such road or highway, or any part thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding 60 days, and the judgment of the court shall also be that the obstruction be removed."

Ens. Crumley Is At Corpus Christi For Advanced Training

Ens. Robert J. Crumley, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Crumley, Silver Lake recently reported for duty in advanced flight training at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas. Ens. Crumley is a graduate of Seminole High School and the University of Florida, prior to entering the Navy in March 1944. He received his commission in July 1952 at Newport, R. I. He received his primary and basic flight training at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas. He is currently assigned to the AD Skyraider, currently used by the Seventh Fleet in the Korean conflict, and F6F Hellcat, a World War II fighter plane. Carrier based aviation has been credited with 75 percent of all close air support for ground troops in the Korean theater.

Citrus Commission Plans Expenditure

LAKELAND — The Florida Citrus Commission plans to spend $745,000 more in the 1953-54 season than it did in the one now ending. It believes it will get about that much more in revenue because of increased marketing of fruit, on which it gets a per-box tax, and because the grapefruit tax is going up from 4 to 6 cents per box. The 1953-54 budget was set at $4,375,230 yesterday. Income for that season was estimated at $5,078,976.

New Truce Opposition Heard As Finishing Touches Proceed

British Minister Hopes For Early Armistice Accord

LONDON — Acting Prime Minister Richard Butler said today the British government has every reason to hope a Korean armistice agreement can be signed without further delay. Butler announced a 2-day foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons. He said a Korean armistice would be a step forward in the cause of peace everywhere. "Hostilities in Korea have for three years acted as an absolute bar to any improvement in the general situation in the Far East," he declared.
