Hawks take revenge on Rams

ORLANDO — In the opening match of the 1989 girl's soccer season, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks exacted a small bit of revenge against the Lake Mary Rams for beating them in last year's district tournament. The Hawks beat the Rams 1-0 at Bishop Morre High School last night.

Swimmers end up at state

Tough area competition has its own rewards. In Seminole County, that means good swimmers who didn't get automatic berths at the state swim meet won berths by their terrific times. To qualify for an automatic berth, a swimmer must finish among the top three in their event. The next eight fastest times also go to the state meet, and that means Seminole County will be sending a high contingent.

GENEVA — Since Seminole County officials reported they would be rounding up the wild hogs that roam the county landfill off Osceola Road, Geneva, about a dozen would-be hog hunters have been arrested for trespassing.

In most cases, the accused hunters have been given notices to appear in court. Those that weren't given notices were jailed for trespassing.

In the latest incident, Seminole County sheriff's deputies report they cited Kenneth William Bennett, 24, of Cocoa, along with a 14-year-old boy, for trespassing on landfill property at 6 p.m. Sunday. The two admitted they were hunting hogs with two pitbull dogs.

Deputies warn the hogs are off limits to hunters and the dump is posted against trespassing.

Board OKs building plan; price tag is $542 million

By VICKI BOGGERMAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The School Board of Seminole County yesterday approved an eight-year construction plan that includes 27 new schools and the renovation, expansion or improvement of most existing schools.

Of the 20 elementary schools, five middle schools and two high schools on the drawing board, at least nine are in the Sanford-Lake Mary area.

Early estimates put construction costs at $542,885,064. The board will ask the voters to pay through either a $519 million bond issue or a combination $346 million bond issue and a two mill-per-year levy over the course of the eight years. The board decided to meet on Dec. 1 at 9 a.m. to choose a financial plan to pay for the construction.

Board member Pat Telson was confused about deciding on construction and financing at different times. "I don't know why we can't do this all at once," she said. "When we look at the construction plan one time and the financial plan another time, I'm not sure how this is all affecting the taxpayers of Seminole County."

Board chairman Ann Neiswender agreed. "It's like buying a new car. We agree we need a new

Lake Mary board to discuss fate of aged facility

By SANDRA BOUGHANNE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — What to do with the former public works headquarters on Old Lake Mary Road will be a topic of discussion at tonight's Lake Mary commission meeting.

The facility was vacated when the public works department moved to the new $1 million public works and safety complex on Rinehart Road in September. Now the commission wonders whether it would be better to rent the property or to just sell it outright.

Two weeks ago, an inquiry was made about the purchase of the city property and the structures there. However, city manager John Litton said this morning that the request had been withdrawn.

The commission last week asked city staff to find out what the property is worth if sold outright, and how much it would bring if leased. Some commissioners said they were reluctant to part with the property, suggesting at some later date it could be used for a "kiddie park" or, as Mayor Dick Fees suggested, if upgraded, could be another "public safety facility for the east side of town."

Losing Longwood candidate contests election results

By SANDRA BOUGHANNE
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — Craig Bush, who was d-feated by Hank Hardy in last week's Longwood city commission election, decide yesterday to contest the results of the election because of alleged voting irregularities.

The Seminole County canvassing board and Hardy are named as defendants in the suit Bush has filed.

In the suit, Bush complained that a picture of Hardy was in full view at Precinct 33, located at city hall, while voters cast their ballots. Bush said this may have caused him to lose votes. He also said comments made by an election official to at least 14 voters may have further diverted votes to his opponent.

Bush this morning said he wants the election to be declared a "tie vote" as a result of these incidents which were reported to him by a voter registered in that precinct.

The city charter calls for a runoff election only in the event of a tie, according to City Clerk Don Terry.

Hardy said this morning he plans to file a motion in court to dismiss the suit. "I think it's just sour grapes," he said.

Hardy received 42.6 percent of the vote in the city, while Bush received 38.0 percent of the votes. Also defeated in the same race was June Lormann, who received 19.4 percent of the votes.

The suit states that in precinct 33, where the irregularities allegedly occurred, Hardy received 36 more votes than Bush which was a "totally different voting pattern than in all the remaining precincts," Bush claimed in the suit.

Bush said it was for this reason he decided to file the law suit. He said 29 votes more for him would have made it a tie.

The suit states that Hardy's photograph was removed from the wall at about 3:10 p.m., but that name plates identifying Hardy as mayor remained. It states that Betty MacDowell, a poll worker, replied in a loud voice "you can thank Mr. Bush for this," when asked by several voters why the ballots were so lengthy. Bush had served on the charter review committee that was responsible for various amendments to the charter. The changes appeared on eight different ballots.

MacDowell this morning said of the law suit: "This is just political sour grapes."

Terry said yesterday afternoon he had heard about the incident regarding the photographs at 4 p.m. that day. However, he said he did not see any requirement to remove them and did not personally remove them himself.

SANFORD — "This is a whole lot more work than I expected," said Jerena Cosby. The Lakeview Middle School eighth grader spent yesterday walking in the shoes of school secretary Wynell Washington. Lakeview students swapped positions with teachers and administrators yesterday as part of American Education Week.

Cosby said that when she signed up for the program, she figured she'd be getting a day off. "I didn't know that she works so hard," Cosby said.

Seventh grader Josh Stokes took over the duties of assistant principal Lowman Oliver. "I love it," he commented. "This is so great, man, I can't wait to do it again. I got to deal with referrals and got to judge how some of the other kids were teaching."

Patsy Bober, Lakeview assistant principal, said she was enjoying watching eighth grader Christine Crews sitting behind her desk and doing the work. "She's been squeezing my stress brick all morning," Bober said. "But she has been busy and doing an excellent job."

Gardner nominated for second-highest state Senate post

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sen. W.W. "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville, was nominated for the second-highest position in the Senate by a unanimous vote Wednesday.

"I am very pleased," Gardner said today. "I think this is very unusual for a freshman senator."

Gardner, 51, was nominated to be president pro-tempore for the two sessions beginning in November 1990. "Pro-tem" is the second-highest position in the Senate, second only to the Senate president. The pro-tem represents the president as a voting member on committees.

Sen. Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami, was nominated president-elect and could serve as president for the 1991 through 1992 terms.

Gardner's Senate District 17 includes all portions of Seminole County east of U.S. Highway 17-92, including Sanford, and portions of Orange, Brevard and Osceola Counties. His home office is in Titusville, although he maintains offices in Sanford. He is a partner in an engineering firm in Titusville.

Gardner's election is remarkable because he has served in the Senate for only one year. He was first elected last November to replace Sen. John Vogt. Since elected to the Senate, Gardner has served on the powerful Rules Committee and as vice chairman of the General Government subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee.

Gardner also served on the Commerce, Education, Health and Rehabilitative Services Committees. He also served on the Joint Legislative Information Technology Resources Committee.

Gov. Bob Martinez appointed Gardner to serve on the Spaceport Commission to oversee development of a commercial spaceport in Florida. Gardner also served on the Budget Conference Committee last

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Turkey Point overhaul too late, critic says

MIAMI — Florida Power & Light will shut down its two Turkey Point nuclear reactors next fall for an 11-month, $100-million safety upgrade, a move environmentalists denounced Wednesday as "too little, too late."

FPL said the full effect on customers will not be known for months. But replacing the reactors' electrical power with more expensive fossil fuel-generated power could increase the average residential customer's bill by about $2 per month in surcharges, the company said.

The plant's two fossil fuel generators would continue to operate during the outage, scheduled to begin in November 1990.

The Center for Nuclear Responsibility, a neighborhood environmental group, contends the upgrade could cost consumers up to $300 million in repair and replacement fuel costs. The plant cost $235 million to build.

State cuts off money to trade school

TALLAHASSEE — Florida Education Commissioner Betty Castor cut off Wednesday the flow of government loans and grants to a Tampa trade school whose owner is accused of misusing money from students and the state.

Paul R. Bell, owner of MBC Medical Education Center, has been ordered to appear Thursday before a state regulatory board to explain why the school should not be closed.

Bell also runs trade schools in St. Petersburg and in Tallahassee. The Tallahassee school used to be known as United College.

Study of fertilizer plant reveals little

TAMPA — A consultant's study says the huge gypsum pile and a maze of pipes carrying acid and ammonia are the places most likely to spawn environmental problems at the Gardiner Inc. fertilizer plant along the shores of Hillsborough Bay.

At the company's request, however, state and local environmental officials said Tuesday they are allowing the public to see only a brief summary of the 100-page study, which they say contains little new information.

Gardiner officials want much of it kept secret because it contains closely guarded trade secrets about how phosphate rock is turned into fertilizer.

The report was paid for by Gardiner as part of a settlement for a May 1988 chemical spill that dumped more than 40,000 gallons of phosphoric acid poured from a Gardiner storage tank, causing one of the Alafia River's worst fish kills.

State to investigate GTE ticket purchase

ST. PETERSBURG — GTE said no customer money was used to buy $35,400 worth of baseball tickets, but state investigators added the purchase to their ongoing probe of the phone company's financial support of sporting events.

On Friday, a GTE spokeswoman said the company bought 350 season baseball tickets worth $17,500 in October through an advertising account paid for by consumers.

But Monday, she said those tickets and 350 more, or $35,400 worth, were actually purchased through an advertising account charged to shareholders — not ratepayers.

GTE spokeswoman Jan Morris said the information she had given a Tampa Tribune reporter Friday was wrong, and that the Veteran's Day holiday prevented her from reaching company officials who had the correct information.

The Public Service Commission is already investigating GTE's $200,000 sponsorship of the 1988 GTE St. Petersburg Grand Prix and GTE World Challenge of Tampa, as well as other sports expenditures last year. GTE again sponsored both races this year.

300 protest police shootout incident

KEY WEST — More than 300 angry black residents met with city officials Wednesday to express their displeasure with the treatment of a suspect who died after a shootout with police.

The unidentified suspect died early Wednesday, following a Tuesday night confrontation with two officers. The suspect, who was suffering from five bullet wounds, was transported to an area hospital in a police wagon, while two officers involved were carried in ambulances.

"They drug him to the wagon and tossed him in the back like a piece of carpet," said Emery Major, president of Operation Justice, a Key West citizens group.

Major Lew Mertz said the suspect was transported in a paddy wagon because no other ambulances were available. One officer had two gunshot wounds to the abdomen, while the other officer was shot in the leg.

"The community has questions about the period of time he (suspect) lay there after he was shot and the fact he was carried in a squad car," said the Rev. Fred Carter, who is president of the NAACP and the minister of St. James Missionary Baptist Church.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

House panel approves gas tax

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — A special legislative session called to consider transportation and child abuse legislation opened Wednesday, and a key House committee approved a 5-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax.

Meanwhile, the Senate approved a plan that would give $23 million to the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to boost child protection programs.

Lawmakers began the session uncertain they would be able to agree on a road-funding plan that appeases most members and meets the least amount of resistance from the governor.

Their search is complicated by a $290-million revenue shortfall that has forced Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet to weigh across-the-board budget cuts for all state agencies effective Dec. 1, and Martinez's vow that he will veto any tax increases.

Some legislators and staff members are predicting even deeper cuts could be necessary to head off a deficit of more than $1 billion next year.

House and Senate leaders have agreed to a compromise transportation package — a potpourri of fee increases and a gasoline tax that local governments could have some control over.

"I think we've been very sensitive and cognizant of what the governor wants and we're sending a proposal we think he can live with," said Rep. Lois Frankel, D-West Palm Beach, and a member of the House Finance and Taxation Committee, which passed the transportation package Wednesday.

In addition to the $650 million sought in new funds for road and bridge construction, the Legislature is looking for from $12 million to $50 million to bolster child-abuse programs.

The full Senate approved late Wednesday a $23-million spending plan for the remainder of the 1989-90 fiscal year to add slightly more than 400 additional case workers and training for case workers, guardian ad litem funding, legal representation, additional foster care and emergency placement.

That plan goes to the House today.

State budget director Patricia Woodworth has said that lottery receipts might add between $80 million and $120 million in unanticipated revenue.

75 farmworkers afflicted with pesticide poisoning

United Press International

BALM — More than 75 farmworkers fell ill in a cauliflower field treated with a deadly pesticide and 11 were hospitalized overnight with vomiting, dizziness and breathing problems.

The poison left one laborer in intensive care Thursday at a Tampa hospital, and physicians treated about 75 others Wednesday after they were exposed to Phosdrin, a pesticide that attacks insects' central nervous systems.

Thirty-eight workers who first entered the field Wednesday morning wore insufficient protective clothing and ventured too soon into the treated tract at Goodson Farms, in the Balm community 10 miles east of St. Petersburg, said a representative of the company that manufactures Phosdrin.

Environmental Protection Agency rules prohibit workers from entering sprayed fields for at least 48 hours, unless they wear protective clothing and respirators, the representative said.

Goodson Farms employees allowed the workers to enter the still-wet field less than 24 hours after a farm employee sprayed the field Tuesday afternoon, farm manager Henry Almand said Wednesday.

Wearing raincoats and boots, they walked into a dewy patch and began tying the cauliflower into bundles. The chemical acted quickly, and workers, many of the migrants, complained of headaches and dizziness.

"All of a sudden I felt dizzy, nauseous, like I was going to faint," said Naida Guadarrama, 29, a native of Queretara, Mexico. She began working at 8 a.m. but had to quit at noon.

Others continued working until midday, when sick laborers began crowding into the Ruskin Migrant and Community Health Center.

The building "got packed so fast we couldn't get them all in the computer," said Dr. Dennis Penzell.

Witness refutes officer's story

United Press International

MIAMI — The lead witness in a racially charged manslaughter trial contradicted a Hispanic policeman's claim he acted in self-defense when firing a shot that killed two black men and triggered three days of race riots.

Prosecution witness Eddie Johnson was called in for the trial's opening Wednesday to refute officer William Lozano's contention he fired to protect himself as the men were riding a motorcycle directly in his path.

Lozano, 31, is charged with two counts of manslaughter for the deaths of motorcyclist Clement A. Lloyd, 23, and passenger Allan Blanchard, 24. The single shot penetrated Lloyd's safety helmet and he died at the scene. Blanchard died the next day of injuries suffered in the ensuing wreck.

If convicted, Lozano could be sentenced to 60 years in prison.

The shooting occurred in the black community of Overtown after a parade celebrating the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr. and led to three days of rioting. The trial is expected to last four to six weeks.

In his opening statements Wednesday, Assistant State Attorney Don Horn said Lozano had no reason to fire his weapon and "did not act in a reasonably cautious manner."

"William Lozano exhibited gross negligence," Horn said.

SANFORD — The Sanford Airport Authority this week hired a Washington, D.C., law firm seasoned in negotiating claims with the Environmental Protection Agency to begin negotiations for a $250,000 cleanup at the airport the EPA conducted three years ago.

Upon the recommendation of airport authority attorney Bill Hutchison, the authority agreed to hire Dickstein, Shapiro and Morin with a $5,000 retainer. Hutchison said the firm, who employs several former EPA officials, was recommended for its expertise in settling EPA claims. The EPA claim is for cleanup of a Central Florida Regional Airport building in 1986. The agency billed the airport for removal of radioactive carbon-14 and nearly 1,000 hazardous chemicals.

EPA attorneys rejected Hutchison's $125,000 offer in September. The airport authority has opposed full payment of the fine because of its status as a public agency.

"It's like swapping bucks from your left pocket to your right," Hutchison said.

Hutchison said the airport will attempt to negotiate a lower recovery cost, but will not seek relief through the courts.

Eastern announces winter sale for travel to Florida

United Press International

MIAMI — Eastern Airlines put winter travel to Florida on sale Wednesday in an effort to stimulate business for its newly expanded schedule of flights into and out of the state.

The airline, which is seeking to rebuild business in the wake of a crippling strike that began March 4, cut winter fares for travel beginning Jan. 6, and launched a pre-season sale with steeper discounts for those who plan ahead.

The one-way sale fares, which range from $79 for travel between Orlando and Atlanta to $149 for travel between Miami and San Francisco, must be booked by Dec. 15, said George Brennan, Eastern's vice president of marketing.

"Because of our rapid expansion, we have an awful lot of seats coming into Florida this winter," Brennan said. "Our objective and our plan is to stimulate the maximum amount of revenue on the airplane."

Eastern said travelers who take advantage of the sale can fly from Miami to New York, Washington, Philadelphia or Detroit for $89; from Orlando or Tampa to New York for $99, and from Boston to Miami or Orlando for $119.

Eastern, which filed for bankruptcy shortly after the three-union strike began, is seeking to reorganize itself as a smaller, more profitable carrier.

The airline added 29 daily departures to its Miami schedule and 75 systemwide Nov. 1, boosting its total schedule to 775 flights.

Brennan said Eastern will have 191 daily flights with 65,000 seats into and out of Florida this winter. Between 50 and 60 percent of those seats will be sold at the lowest fares, he said.

Eastern spokeswoman Karen Ceremsak said the sale fares, which are good for travel beginning Dec. 16, generally reflect the lowest prices available on Eastern today. The sale fares are about $20 lower than the winter fares effective Jan. 6, she said.

For example, the lowest one-way fare from Miami to New York would be $99, if the reservation is booked by Dec. 15, Ceremsak said. After Dec. 15, the lowest price jumps to $119, she said.

Euro-television

One facet of the European Community's plan to create a single marketplace by the end of 1992 is its attempt to increase the "European" content of television programming. Encouragement of transnational co-productions and of more intra-European trade in programs has produced feeble results at best, mostly due to differences in national taste. So now EC ministers are trying a new approach: Removing the last internal barriers while limiting the number of non-European - usually American - programs that can be shown within the 12 member states.

This is the latest chapter in a long, mostly French-led campaign to repel the American cultural "invasion" of Europe, whether by slang or food or entertainment. It's foolish and wrong-headed. Whatever its motivation, it's pure protectionism, especially if a proposal to pump $275 million in subsidies into European production is adopted.

European viewers, although they like homegrown fare best, also are fond of American series such as "Dallas," "Miami Vice" and even news programs. Why should their tastes be ignored? The number of European channels, and thus of air time to fill, is mushrooming as a consequence of deregulation, leaving plenty of room for as much material as the world's TV producers can churn out - at least for the foreseeable future.

Since U.S.-made programs now make up only about a quarter of European TV time on average, and since the EC's call for devoting at least 50 percent to programming of European-made material is not mandatory, it won't have much impact very soon. Yet even in watered-down form, the directive will encourage protection-minded countries such as France and Britain to impose stricter limits on non-European content than the EC proposes. Britain already limits U.S.-made programs to 14 percent of British air time, and France, which also has a quota, wanted the EC measure to be mandatory.

The action has rung alarm bells in this country, where fears of a more protectionist Europe after 1992 are pronounced. Accordingly, the administration is protesting to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva, if only as a pre-emptive action. Exaggerated as some U.S. fears of protectionism may be, it's a valid response, both as a defense of free-trade principles and to protect U.S. exports. In 1988, U.S. producers exported $1.8 billion worth of TV programs to Europe.

Some Europeans defend quotas as necessary to preserve their culture against a tide of American kitsch. In fact, Europe produces a lot of its own televised trash, a fact obscured by the absence of all but the best of foreign programs on U.S. screens. If European culture needs defending, why doesn't its artistic elite do it by making more programs that Europeans want to watch, without having to be force-fed $275 million in subsidies to induce them to prove they can do it?

West hopes for a stampede of tourists

TWIN BRIDGES, Mont. - When a raft loaded with tourists on a whitewater expedition capsized on the Flathead River in Montana this summer, more than the passengers' safety was imperiled.

The state's cherished status as an increasingly popular destination for vacationers also was endangered because most of those aboard the craft were senior officials of the Travel Industry Association, a leading tourism organization.

But the soaked visitors were promptly rescued from the river, provided with dry clothing and given medical treatment for minor cuts and bruises. All shrugged off the incident and returned the following day to the meetings of the TIA board of directors.

That quick recovery was crucial for Montana because a serious accident could have damaged a tourism industry that has become a major component of the economy not only in this state but throughout the West.

Ever since the first prospectors and homesteaders settled the region in the 1800s, extractive industries and agriculture - notably forestry, farming, fishing, ranching and mining - have been the dominant elements of the West's economy.

In recent years, however, the region has increasingly relied upon another natural resource - the nation's most spectacular landscape - to produce revenues at a time when many traditional sources of income have been encountering difficulties.

"It's a whole new way of looking at our resources," says Ben Timothy E. Wirth, D-Colo. "People see that you can make more money by leaving the forest alone and letting visitors hike through it than you can by cutting down the trees and shipping out timber."

Westroads, the regional affiliate of the Council of State Governments reported earlier this year that tourism has become "a major ... regional source of jobs, businesses and revenues."

That report added: "In 1985, travel and tourism was the largest employer in nine of the 13 Western states, and was second or third in three other states.... Tourism generated over $60 billion in expenditures and over $3.5 billion in state and local tax revenues in the West."

The emergence of tourism as a major industry is hardly confined to the West. The country's two best-known elegants crafted to attract visitors - "Virginia is for lovers" and "I love New York" - belong to Eastern states. Every New England state operates a toll-free telephone line to promote autumn visits by foliage fanatics.

But the West has mounted an especially ambitious 1989-90 effort - boyed to six statehood centennial celebrations - to lure visitors. In November 1989, President Benjamin Harrison issued statehood proclamations to North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington and Montana. In mid-1990, Idaho and Wyoming were declared states.

From the Great Plains to the Pacific, these states have scheduled a dizzying array of events to mark their 100th birthday - and to seduce tourists.

There are fairs, rodeos and carnivals; polka, jazz, folk dance and square dance festivals; speed skating, gymnastics, bowling and fiddling contests; art shows, poetry readings, symposiums and seminars.

The West has mounted an especially ambitious 1989-90 effort

What does Germany hold for us?

WASHINGTON - Anyone who can remain unmoved by the scenes of jubilation in Berlin must be devoid of humanity. Anyone who does not ponder the prospect that the breaching of the infamous Berlin Wall could lead to a reunited Germany is without a sense of history.

The opposite emotions created by these events define the radically new challenge facing American foreign policy and the Bush administration.

It has been a year of extraordinary change since Bush's election, starting with Mikhail Gorbachev formally abandoning the goal of worldwide Soviet hegemony in his speech at the United Nations. The democracy demonstrations in Tiananmen Square, the demolition of the barbed-wire Iron Curtain in Hungary and the election of a Solidarity-led government in Poland were remarkable enough.

But nothing so dramatized the revolution sweeping the communist world as the celebrations at the Brandenburg Gate by East Germans freed after 28 years to mingle with friends and family in the West.

If ever there has been a victory of the human spirit and of the unquenchable thirst for freedom, this is it. The Wall was the single clearest symbol of an empire haunted by fear of its own people. So long as it stood, one could suspect that the masters of the Soviet Union would not sacrifice political control to their empire even for their professed goal of economic reform.

The mass murders of the Chinese student demonstrators in Beijing last summer were a stark reminder that even seemingly reform-minded communist leaders could, when confronted by a threat to their control, suddenly turn savagely on their own people.

But if Gorbachev and his Kremlin colleagues will tolerate the removal of the barrier isolating East Germany from the West, then there is little that will move them toward repression - short of the threat of their own fall from power. "They say they will not use force in Eastern Europe," said Secretary of State James A. Baker III, "and we believe them."

Those are amazing words. If the Soviets will not use force in Eastern Europe, it surely follows that they do not threaten Western Europe with military attack. And if that threat has disappeared, then the military expenditures and deployments of both the NATO Alliance and the Warsaw Pact lose their logic.

In their place, the central reality of European politics now becomes the inevitable tendency of East and West Germany to expand their contacts and deepen their interdependence. It is all very well for American and Soviet diplomats to say the question of German reunification is not on the table "at the moment," but history has its own imperatives.

Before caution overtook him, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl told the mingled throngs of East and West Berliners. "We are and remain one nation. We belong together. Long live a free German fatherland! Long live a united Europe!"

Two times in 70 years, Germany's ambition to unite Europe led to wars that killed millions. Today's Germany, unlike that of the past, is peaceful and democratic, so there is no reason to assume the worst this time. But inevitably, as the two Germanys increase their economic and political contact, Germans will seek to regain the power to determine the fate of Europe.

The only way to reduce the risk inherent in that situation is to wrap the Bonn government ever tighter into the community of free nations. As economic bonds replace military alliances, that means the European Community will become more important than NATO.

That makes it all the more imperative that arrangements for Western Europe's scheduled 1992 economic integration be completed promptly. The situation does not permit British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's foot-dragging to continue. A European Community with a reluctant British partner will inevitably be run by Germany. No good purpose is served by assuring that result.

As for the United States, we face the reality that Europeans will increasingly make the key decisions about the future of Europe. When Poles, Hungarians and East Germans take their fates into their own hands, West Germans, French and Italians will do no less.

Yet we remain, with the Soviet Union, the most important military power with forces on the continent. And it behooves us to concentrate, for now, on managing that great-power relationship. With skill, we can put the almost certain reduction in American and Soviet conventional and strategic forces in Europe on a path that protects our interests against the risks of the Kremlin policy reversal and allows the nations of Eastern and Western Europe to pursue their own agendas.

Today's Germany, unlike that of the past, is peaceful and democratic, so there is no reason to assume the worst this time.

Fund supported racial superiority research

WASHINGTON - A private foundation that has supported research into white intellectual superiority is now paying for research at the University of Delaware into the relationship between race and job performance. The controversial Pioneer Fund gave $174,000 to Delaware researcher Linda Gottfredson, who bristles at any suggestion that the fund influences her work. "They exert no control whatsoever. It's absolutely hands off," she told us. For that reason, she thinks it is unfair to criticize researchers who take money from the Pioneer Fund. "People like me get caught in the pincers," she said. But some of her fellow academics have faulted her for taking money from a foundation that has supported researchers who conclude that whites are genetically smarter than blacks. The university president resigned last year after he was accused by some minority faculty and staff of racial insensitivity.

The Pioneer Fund was established in 1937 in New York City, partly to finance the education of white descendants of the settlers of the original 13 states, according to its certificate of incorporation. Lately the fund has concentrated on researching heredity and "study into the problems of race betterment with special reference to the people of the United States."

The fund's charter was recently changed to read: "... study into the problems of human race betterment ..."

Gottfredson defended the fund and its president, New York attorney Harry Weyher. "The people who he funds are eminent figures," she said, conceding that they are controversial.

Weyher told our associate Stewart Harris that the Pioneer Fund is not racist. Rather, he says the fund focuses on "problems of heredity in the human race." He said the bulk of Pioneer Fund money goes into studies of twins who are raised separately.

But that is not where all the money has gone over the years.

In the 1970s, the Pioneer Fund financed the work of the late William Shockley, a proponent of the theory that whites are more intelligent than blacks. Shockley previously had won a Nobel prize for his work in transistors. The fund also gave money to Ralph Scott, who, using the pseudonym Edward Langerton, traveled around the country in the 1970s giving anti-busing lectures. Scott was later appointed by President Reagan to the Iowa Civil Rights Advisory Commission, but later resigned when his past was exposed by historian Barry Mehler.

In 1981, according to federal tax records, the Pioneer Fund gave $59,000 to the Institute for the Study of Man, in Washington, D.C., to buy and house the papers of Donald Swan. Swan was known for his studies into eugenics, and when police raided his New York apartment in 1968, they found a Nazi flag, a German helmet and a photograph of Swan with members of George Lincoln Rockwell's neo-Nazi organization. More recently, the fund has financed the work of J. Phillippe Rushton, a professor at the University of Western Ontario who asserts that blacks fall behind whites and Orientals on the evolutionary scale.

Gottfredson has been praised and criticized for her study of the relationship between race, intelligence and job performance. One industrial psychologist told us that Gottfredson is willing to confront "issues we don't talk about in polite society."

'Walk of Ages' scheduled

SANFORD — Hillhaven Healthcare Center, 950 McIlwaine Ave., will host the Walk of Ages, a Celebration of Love Ages, beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday at the center.

Registration, which is free and open to the public, will be at the center at 9 a.m. The two-mile walk will begin at 10 a.m.

The walk, in which residents of the community are invited to walk the two-mile route along with residents of the nursing home, is a celebration of this year's theme, "love is ageless," according to Sheryl Joseph, Hillhaven activity director.

Joseph said those residents not able to walk the two miles will participate in the walk in wheelchairs. Joseph said family members and volunteers will push the wheelchairs.

"We would like to make this a community-wide event, for people of all ages to show their community spirit, and to see that nursing home residents are active members of the community," Joseph said.

There are no registration fees and food and entertainment after the walk will be free. Participants are asked to register at the nursing home about an hour before the walk.

The walk's route will be down McIlwaine Avenue to Seminole Avenue, west on Seminole to San Juan Avenue, then retrace the route back to Hillhaven.

For more information, contact Sheryl Joseph at 322-8568.

Sanford Housing Authority to meet

SANFORD — The Sanford Housing Authority board of commissioners will meet tonight at 7 p.m. at the Redding Gardens community center, Locust Avenue and Fifth Street.

The board will discuss unionization of SHA employees, approving bids for the $2.3 million renovation of William Clark Court and approval of funding for the Seminole County Joint Tenant Council.

The board will also discuss an offer by the National Center for Housing Management to draw up guidelines for negotiation in the event the board again enters talks with private management.

School board provides transportation

SANFORD — The Seminole County school board yesterday approved an agreement to provide two buses, at the cost of $6.50 per hour plus 50 cents per mile, for the transportation for the Federation of Senior Citizens of Seminole County. This group is a federally-funded social services group. The federal government will reimburse the board for the bus.

car. It needs to have four tires and a rearview mirror. But now we're not making any decisions on how to pay for it. Will we put a down payment and finance the rest? Will we pay cash?"

Supt. Robert Hughes said he thought it was more important to get a clear picture of what needed to be accomplished before making financial decisions.

The dollar figure they will approve next month represents a $244,000 increase over original numbers the board discussed last week.

Estimates of land costs were increased from $45,000 to $50,000 per acre for large tracts of land and from $75,000 to $100,000 per acre for smaller plots.

"We consulted with an appraiser and he said the higher figures would be more accurate," Richard Wells, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation, explained.

The growth, which has already begun to take its toll on the Seminole County schools, is expected to peak in eight years when the current "baby boom echo" students who are now in elementary schools reach high school.

This year, the district's 27 elementary schools support 22,801 students — 3,041 over their capacity.

"At Stensstrom (Elementary School in Oviedo) there are already 12 portables (classrooms) to help accommodate the overflow," Telson said. Stensstrom opened its doors in January, 1989.

The district's nine middle schools, with 10,488 students, are operating at 1,399 over capacity and the six high schools which house 13,346 students have 746 more students than they can properly accommodate.

Even with the expected construction of four new elementary schools per year over the next three school years, grades 1-5 the 16-acre property at $95,000 including the building, which are a total of about 2,000 square feet. If the buildings and surrounding property were upgraded, the city could expect to get about $800 per month in rent. Welling stated in a memorandum. If the tenant did the repairs, the rent received would be lower, he stated.

To improve the land, they city would need to fix the roadway and drainage system, landscape the property, put in paved parking, and improve the structures themselves. Welling called such an undertaking "cost prohibitive" and suggested yesterday it may be more logical to bulldoze the structures.

Also, according to city code, once a building is abandoned for 90 days, the owner needs to bring the building up to current code or request a variance if they occupy the facility after Dec. 5. The owner would also be required to go through a site plan review to get approval from the planning and zoning and commission.

Currently, the vacant structures serve as storage area by the public works department. Eventually, everything will be moved to the new facility on the west side of town and the old site will be cleaned. The public works department is in the process of soliciting proposals to remove the water tank and tower located at the site at no cost to the city. In addition, underground fuel tanks need to be moved to comply with the state Department of Environmental Regulation standards, according to Welling.

Poll: Poles trust church, not party

United Press International

WARSAW, Poland — Poles have most faith in the Roman Catholic Church and put little stock in the Communist Party, according to a survey that shows party popularity at its lowest ebb in four decades.

The survey, released Wednesday and conducted by a state-run polling agency, said 87 percent of Poles trust the church, 70 percent have confidence in the army, 68 percent believe in the Solidarity government and 66 percent trust the Solidarity trade union.

More than 90 percent of Poland's 36 million people are believed to be Catholics. Pope John Paul II, who heads the Roman Catholic Church, is Polish.

"Only 11 percent of Poles declared their confidence in the Polish United Workers Party" or Communist Party, the survey said.

Fast surveys showed about 30 percent of Poles supported the Communist Party and the recent poll marked a dramatic decline in the party's popularity following its defeat in June 4 parliamentary elections. The party had been the ruling power in Poland since World War II.

West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, whose six-day official visit to Poland ended Tuesday, refused to meet Communist Party First Secretary Mieczyslaw Rakowski in party headquarters — signaling how insignificant the Polish Communist Party has become.

Kohl's decision has further affected the credibility of the party," a Western diplomat said. The Solidarity-led government, which took power this year as the East Bloc's first non-communist administration, recently disclosed the Communist Party was heavily financed for years with funds from the state budget.

The government said the party now must support itself, and communist leaders were urged to create business ventures to pay for the party's operation.

The official PAP news agency cited the example of the Communist Party in Legnica, southwestern Poland, which set up a car rental and video camera-rental store in local party headquarters.

"If somebody wants to be chauffeured to the church to have a wedding or to baptise his baby, he rings up the party headquarters," PAP said.

"The video cameramen can also be hired to film various ceremonies," the agency said, adding the prices are competitive with private companies.

PAP, indicating the Communist Party's best days were behind it, said, "The cars recommended to the customers were used by the local party officials not so long ago."

The Communist Party, with 2.3 million members, is to convene a party congress Jan. 27 to dissolve itself much in the same way the Hungarian Communist Party did this year.

A party source said the party may recast itself as a new Western-style party with a social democratic focus.

Election

Election laws "are silent about taking them (incumbents' photographs) down," Terry said.

Supervisor of Elections Sandra Goard said yesterday she was telephoned on election day about the statement by MacDowell but that "no mention about photographs or nameplates," was made.

"I got on the phone and contacted the workers to remind them to be careful (about comments)," Goard said.

Former Longwood City Attorney Michael Kramer, who is representing Bush, said yesterday his client wants a "new election." He said, according to precinct reports, six out of 10 people did not vote for Hardy.

"It's our allegation that the vote was so close and because of irregularities in Precinct 33, the election should be called a tie," Kramer said.

Assistant County Attorney Lonnie Groot who is representing the canvassing board said the Florida law "makes it a heavy burden" for the challenging person to show any voting irregularities which would have changed the result of the election.

Hardy could not be reached for comment.

year, charged with ironing out differences between the House and Senate budget packages.

Gardner's state career, however, spans 11 years. He served in the House from 1978 until he was elected to the Senate last year. He served as chairman of the powerful Rules and Calendar Committee during his last year in the House and chairman of the Finance and Taxation Committee from 1986 to 1987.

Sen. Jack Gordon, Senate Majority Leader, said Gardner's reputation was well known to senators when he switched legislative houses this year.

"He served 10 or 11 years in the House," said Gordon, D-Miami Beach. "He was chairman of the Rules Committee, a very important position second only to the Speaker. He came from the House with more credentials than most."

Gordon said despite elections next year for 20 of the 40 Senate seats, he is confident Democrats will gain more control in the Senate, assuring Gardner's election to his nominated post.

like Bober's, said she had "no idea how hard Mrs. Bober worked." She had spent the morning making announcements, answering phone calls, writing thank you notes to the art, music and graphic arts classes which had provided decorations and entertainment for the school's American Education Week activities, stamping papers and approving a field trip.

"Of course she didn't have any choice but to approve it," Bober said, noting that the students were not taking over the school, but merely learning the jobs of the administrators and teachers.

"It's a great learning experience," said principal Rick Mossman. "It's a great way to promote the teaching procession." He said a lot of the students were having a good time, but they were "having their eyes opened" to the hard work that is involved in the job of education.

"And I'm sure having a lot of fun," Mossman said.

His shadow, eighth grader Bryant Moore, said he was not considering a career in education. While Moore said the experience was fun and interesting, he was not "built to be a teacher." The tall student said he'd rather play football or basketball.

"I like the fact that they are giving us the opportunity to walk in their shoes," Moore said. "I'm enjoying this."

Eighth grader Ben Richards, who did the work of assistant principal Fred Barnett for the day, said he liked everything about the exchange, especially the fact that he had his own office and got to walk the halls and check for repairs that needed to be done. If he couldn't do the repair work himself, he had to find a custodian to do the job.

"I had to fix a jammed door this morning," the young man said.

"And he did a fine job," Burnett said.

Burnett said he was having so much fun he wished they could do the role reversal more than once a year. "It's a real positive experience. We need more of these kids to get into education and this is a fun way to introduce them to the profession," he said.

Four tornadoes kill 16 in Alabama

United Press International

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Rescue teams using cranes and bulldozers searched Thursday for survivors trapped in buildings wrecked by tornadoes that ravaged the city, killing at least 16 people and injuring 400, officials said.

Tornadoes roared through six Southern states Wednesday and as many as four twisters devastated Huntsville, trapping dozens of people in collapsed buildings and overturned cars during the evening rush hour, police said.

"It's incredible destruction — vehicles and debris stacked on top of each other, in some places 10 to 12 feet deep," said Danny Cooper, Alabama Emergency Management Director.

Cooper, Alabama Emergency Management Agency Director.

Huntsville police officials said there were 19 confirmed deaths and at least 200 injuries, and he still has fears that there are more victims in the rubble," said police spokesman Ben Jennings.

"We're still going through the debris," said police Sgt. Ron Fudge.

The most destructive tornado in Huntsville hit at 4:30 p.m. CST and carved a path of destruction a half-mile wide and up to 4 miles long, damaging an apartment complex, homes, schools, churches and a shopping center containing at least 10 stores.

Rescuers using cranes, backhoes and floodlights worked into the morning to sift through rubble of the demolished Westbury Mall shopping center, pausing periodically to listen for possible survivors.

At least four people were killed in the collapse of the two-story apartment complex, and at least three more were killed when one of the tornadoes struck a technical college, Fudge said.

One of the twisters struck an elementary school. None of the children still inside about 90 minutes after the end of classes was injured, Fudge said, but a mother outside was killed.

"An engineering National Guard unit west of here is bringing their construction equipment in to lift steel beams and different pieces of debris, trying to get in where we can see if people are there," Fudge said.

It was the third time in 25 years southeastern Huntsville has been hit by tornadoes.

Ozone hole bigger than thought

WASHINGTON — New research shows the Antarctic ozone hole appears to be bigger than previously thought, extending 300 miles farther north than scientists had thought possible.

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration researchers from Boulder, Colo., said Wednesday they have found signs of active ozone depletion far outside what was considered to be the boundary of the Antarctic ozone hole.

The unexpected ozone loss in the new "hole" ranged from 15 percent to 25 percent — substantial, but far less than the 50 percent loss that has been detected in the "polar vortex" over Antarctica, researchers said.

"This degree of ozone loss ... certainly is no direct threat at this time to anything," said Michael Proffitt, head of the research team. "The main thrust of our work is to say we need to better understand ozone loss."

CIA supports Panamanian coup

LOS ANGELES — The Bush administration, with secret congressional approval, has launched a new covert attempt to oust Panamanian strongman Manuel Noriega, using methods that could lead to his death or injury, a published report said Thursday.

The CIA has been authorized to spend $3 million to recruit Panamanian military officers or other dissidents to mount a coup, sources told the Los Angeles Times.

"It is an unimpeded effort to try to topple Noriega," one source told the newspaper. "We're going into it with the understanding that there may be loss of life, though the effort will be not to kill anyone."

House considers pay raise

WASHINGTON — With crucial support from President Bush, an ethics reform package in the hands of the House today includes a substantial pay increase for members of Congress, federal judges and top executive branch officials.

The bipartisan bill would implement two cost-of-living hikes totaling 7.9 percent plus a 25 percent increase in 1991, after the next congressional election. Another cost-of-living increase also may take effect in 1991.

The president's endorsement of the bill Wednesday was considered crucial to passage of the bill in the House. Leaders of the Senate have said they do not favor a pay hike and may amend the bill to exclude senators from it.

Bush: No deals on Eastern Europe

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush, saying no government should stand in the way of changes in the East Bloc, promised he won't "negotiate the future of Europe" during his talks next month with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

His pledge Wednesday appeared designed to reassure Western allies and the rest of Europe that no superpower deals would be made at the shipboard summit between Bush and Gorbachev Dec. 2-3 off the coast of Malta.

And to underscore the president's open approach to Europe, administration officials said Bush will head for Brussels, Belgium, on Dec. 4 to deliver a summit report to NATO leaders before heading back to Washington.

Speaking to the AFL-CIO convention Wednesday with Poland's Solidarity leader Lech Walesa on the platform, Bush told enthusiastic labor leaders that while the lifting of travel bans in Czechoslovakia is "a positive step forward ... only free and unfettered elections can satisfy the yearnings of free people."

"It is against this backdrop of change that I will meet with President Gorbachev near Malta next month," he told the labor leaders. "We are not meeting to negotiate the future of Europe."

"The peoples of Eastern Europe are speaking their own minds about that future. They are calling for democracy, freedom of press."

Defense spending approved by House

United Press International

WASHINGTON — A $286 billion Pentagon spending bill awaiting Senate action would impose the first reduction in funding for the "Star Wars" program and cause a squadron of SR-71 "Blackbird" spy planes to fly into oblivion.

The compromise bill, which passed the House Wednesday on a voice vote, goes to the White House for the president's signature once it is adopted by the Senate.

There was virtually no debate in the House as the bill's manager, Rep. John Murtha, D-Pa., went through the bill's provisions. But that changed when he hit the item dealing with the squadron of Blackbird spy planes based at Beale Air Force Base, Calif.

An earlier defense authorization bill killed off the gas-guzzling, high-flying plane, but its supporters won it a reprieve from Murtha's panel and a companion Senate panel, which decided it should be shifted to the National Guard and put up the money for the move.

But the plane's opponents protested, and won their point on the technicality that the spending bill was improperly trying to spend money on a program that had not been authorized by the House and Senate Armed Services Committee.

Apartheid on beaches eliminated

United Press International

CAPE TOWN, South Africa — President Frederik de Klerk Thursday ordered South Africa's beaches immediately opened to all races and said other discriminatory legislation providing for separate facilities for blacks and whites must be abolished "as soon as possible."

De Klerk, speaking before the advisory President's Council in Cape Town, said the desegregation of beaches across the country would take effect immediately — a decision that follows widespread anti-apartheid protests on segregated beaches earlier this year.

De Klerk also said the time has come to repeal the contentious Reservation of Separate Amenities Act of 1953. "The government has decided to do so as soon as possible," he said.

"It was consequently decided that all beaches will henceforth be acceptable to all members of the public," De Klerk told the council.

The act, which anti-apartheid leaders have insisted be repealed, allowed local authorities to establish separate amenities for blacks and whites but did not require the facilities to be equal.

The act has been used in the past to segregate beaches, toilets, buses, trains, libraries, swimming pools, parks and hotels.

Salvadoran fighting increases

United Press International

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — The Salvadoran military, using helicopter gunships, armored cars and ground patrols, stepped up its counteroffensive against leftist rebels entrenched in densely populated areas of the besieged capital.

Air Force helicopters and planes circled over the city early today, firing rockets and launching strafing runs against suspected rebel positions. A 6 p.m.-to-6 a.m. curfew was in effect, and government radio warned civilians to seek shelter from aerial attacks.

More than 600 people have died in five days of heavy fighting since the Farabundo Martí National Liberation Front, or FMLN, launched a massive offensive and laid siege to parts of the capital, according to official figures.

Western diplomats said the death toll would undoubtedly go higher as fierce fighting continued.

IN BRIEF

BASKETBALL

76ers swat Hornets

The Charlotte Hornets have lost their patsy. The Philadelphia 76ers, remembering their two home losses to last year's expansion team, Wednesday night rallied behind Charles Barkley's 29 points and 17 rebounds for a 109-86 victory.

"Last year, we seemed to have their number," said Charlotte's Kelly Tripucka. "But, we can't look at last year."

In 1988-89, the Hornets and Pistons were the only visitors to walk away from the Spectrum with two victories each.

"This year, we're not intimidated by a team like Charlotte," said Barkley. "This year, we have a much better, balanced team."

Elsewhere, Boston stopped New Jersey 126-92, Detroit down Miami 130-94, San Antonio dropped Minnesota 86-76, Phoenix edged Portland 109-107, Denver defeated Washington 109-98, Cleveland dispatched Golden State 129-104, Utah nipped Chicago 108-107 and the Los Angeles Lakers routed Indiana 117-94.

COLLEGE HOOPS

No. 1 UNLV wins in NIT

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Anderson Hunt and Larry Johnson combined for 50 points Wednesday night as No. 1 Nevada-Las Vegas turned back Loyola Marymount 102-91 in an opening round game of the NIT.

Hunt scored 26 points and Johnson added 24 points and 16 rebounds to lead five Rebels in double figures as UNLV took control in the last 10 minutes of the game.

With the Rebels up 76-73, UNLV went on a 19-7 run led by two consecutive 3-pointers by Hunt.

In other NIT action Wednesday, California whipped Air Force 70-49; DePaul drilled Ohio State 71-53; Kansas thumped Alabama-Birmingham 109-83; Louisiana State beat Southern Mississippi 91-80; and N.C. State survived Richmond 57-48.

TENNIS

Bad ankle doesn't stop Graf

NEW YORK — Steffi Graf, concerned about a twisted left ankle, surprised even herself by not only finishing, but winning her opening round match Wednesday night in the $1 million Virginia Slims Championships.

Graf, fully expecting she would have to hobble off the court in pain and forfeit the match, still produced some brilliant shots and defeated Jana Novotna, 6-3, 6-4, to gain the quarterfinals.

It was the 80th match victory of the year for Graf, including 35 in a row, against two losses.

"I couldn't believe I was able to play the way I did," said the 20-year-old West German. "This morning (during practice) I had pain, nothing worked and I couldn't move, but I said I'd go on the court and give it up after a game or two if I had to."

"But then I reached 6-3, 2-0 and I enjoyed it so much. I felt good and lost my fear of losing. I couldn't believe it. I didn't have any idea how bad my feet would be. I have to say I wasn't too sure of finishing."

HOCKEY

Donatelli ends OT struggle

The Devils and North Stars battled into overtime Wednesday night, locked in a defensive struggle that seem destined to end in a tie, when Clark Donatelli got the kind of break hockey players dream about.

Donatelli was hanging at his own blue line while the Devils pressed the play when rookie center Mike Modano suddenly slipped him a breakaway pass behind the overcommitted New Jersey defense.

"When you get a chance like that in overtime," said Donatelli, "you have to bury the puck."

Donatelli skated in alone on Devils goalie Sean Burke, deked once and fired from ten feet out. The puck slid under Burke and into the net for the winning goal at 1:35 of the overtime period.

"I tried to make him make the first move by coming out and challenging," said Burke. "but he beat me when he took the shot."

Hawks blank Lake Mary

By TONY BOGOMMEN
Herald Sports Editor

ORLANDO — Elephants, they say, never forget. It would appear that neither do Silver Hawks.

On Wednesday night at Bishop Moore High School, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks exacted a small measure of revenge over the Lake Mary Rams, taking a 1-0 decision in Seminole Athletic Conference girls' soccer action.

The last time Lake Howell played was in the finals of last year's district tournament, losing to eventual state champion Lake Mary.

"Playing the defending state champion gave us added incentive," said Lake Howell coach Gerhard Tauscher. "Losing to them in the district final last year gave us a little more incentive."

"We have a goal we've set. We want to go to the state tournament. And we know what we have to do to accomplish that. Some of the toughest teams we will face are in our conference. If we can win there, we should do well."

For a season-opening contest, Wednesday night's game featured some outstanding play by both the Rams and Silver Hawks. During the first half, Lake Mary seemed to carry much of the play. The shots were about even, but the Rams' had the better opportunities, only to be

Lake Mary gave a fine exhibition of ball movement Wednesday in its girls' soccer season opener against Lake Howell. But Leanne Bazile (No. 21) and her Ram teammates couldn't convert their chances and lost a 1-0 decision.

Hornets start with blowout

From staff reports

ORLANDO — Last year, the Bishop Moore girls' soccer team ran roughshod over many of their opponents enroute to the Class 3A state championship.

On Wednesday night at home, the Hornets picked up where they left off last year, smothering Leesburg 8-0 in an Orange Belt Conference confrontation at the Bishop Moore Stadium.

Bishop Moore, now 1-0, returns to action on Saturday night at home against Lake Brantley. Leesburg fell to 0-1.

Stephanie Gringer led the Hornet attack, scoring five consecutive goals over the first and second half. Amy Geltz added a pair of goals and two assists. Jennifer opened the scoring for Bishop Moore with an unassisted goal. Stephanie Feulner had two assists while Missy Borrero and Jill Geltz each had one.

"We still have a long way to go," said Bishop Moore coach Larry Betsinger. "Leesburg is much improved over what they were last year. You have to be pleased offensively with what went on. But every year

Tanya Scheidegg (above) and Lyman teammates Rhonda Ricketson, Lisa Strayer and Mandy Mossman have qualified for the Class 4A state swim meet in the 400 freestyle relay as an at-large selection. According to Lyman coach Don Clark, the Greyhounds' time was the fastest of the at-large selections.

Swimmers get at-large berths for state meet

By TONY BOGOMMEN
Herald Sports Editor

What started out as a fairly large contingent of Seminole County high school swimmers that qualified for this weekend's state meets has grown even larger.

To automatically qualify for the state meet, a swimmer must finish in the top three of his or her event at the district meets. Failing that, they must finish in the fourth through sixth spots and hope their time is good enough to earn an "at large" berth, which go to the swimmers with next eight fastest times from around the state.

For Seminole County swimmers, finishing in the top six at the district is almost the same thing as gaining an automatic berth. For years, 4A-District 5 — which includes Seminole County — has been one of the state's fastest and has grabbed a goodly amount of the at-large positions.

This year is no different. Just about every county school that had a swimmer eligible for an at-large berth saw that athlete get picked to compete in the state meet.

For example, Lake Howell picked up three more qualifiers. Tricia DeFrates, who had already qualified in the 500 freestyle, grabbed a spot in the 200 freestyle while Ryan Loerzel qualified in the 50 freestyle. The Silver Hawks' girls' 400 freestyle relay of DeFrates, Lora Cotter, Stacey

Two teams remain in Class D tie

By DEAN SMITH
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — The Harrod Group and Cabinet Aire remained tied for first place in the Sanford Recreation Department Class D Slowpitch Softball League with close victories at Chase Park Wednesday night.

In Wednesday's third game, the Sanford Police Benevolence Association picked up a 7-0 forfeit victory over Mobilite when Mobilite failed to have enough players show for the game.

The first game of the evening was a contest between co-leaders Harrod and The Wrecking Crew. Harrod scored three runs in the first inning but the Crew came back to take a 6-4 lead entering the bottom of the sixth. The Crew scored two runs to tie the game and both teams scored once in the seventh, sending the game into extra innings.

The Crew scored a run in the top of the eighth when Heath Short, Ronnie Wirth and Tim Winkle singled. But Harrod countered by scoring two runs without recording an out. Trey Brasser singled and went to third on Neal Miller's single. Miller taking second when the throw went to third. Harrod won the game when Tom Gillian singled in both runners.

Contributing to a 10-hit Harrod attack were Braaser (three singles, three runs scored), Gillian (three singles, run scored), Miller (triple, single, two runs scored), Mike Rotundo and Mark Raggentin (two singles each), Kevin Driscoll, Clancy Wallace and Eddie Hunt (one single and one run scored each), and Keith Roark, Eric Erickson and Dave Andrews (one single each).

The Crew out-hit Harrod 20-18 but fell short in the run column. Getting hits for the Crew were Steve Pridden (two triples, single, run scored), Wirth (double, two singles), Tony Cox (three singles, two runs scored), Steve Long and Bill Polatty (two singles and two runs scored each), Short (two singles, run scored), Mark Songer (two singles) and Winkle, Steve Cooper and Stacy Bilz (one single each).

Cabinet Aire remained in a tie for first with Harrod when it defeated Ken Kern's Transmissions 10-6. Aire scored five runs in the first inning and led 6-1 entering the bottom of the fifth when Kern's finally got its offense going. Kern's scored five runs in the last three innings but Aire scored four runs to keep a comfortable lead.

Both teams came up with 18 hits in the contest. On the hit parade for Aire were Jim Rhodes (double, two singles, two runs scored), Noy Rivers and Brad Kruger (three singles and two runs scored each), Greg Register

(two singles, two runs scored), Scott Carter and Richard Shannon (one single and one run scored each) and Mike Edwards and Dave Blackwell (one single each).

Contributing to the Kern's attack were Mike Mc Lohan (two doubles, single, two runs scored), Keith Acree (triple, two singles, run scored), Craig Appel and Dennis Carroll (two singles and one run scored each), Scott

Kern (two singles), Jim Smith (single, run scored), and Greg Henaley, Jerry Herman, Chris Davis, Tom Kelly and Tom Bledsoe (one single each).

The standings now have Aire and Harrod at 6-2. The Wrecking Crew at 5-3, Kern's at 4-4, SPBA at 2-6 and Mobilite at 1-7. The league has just two weeks left in the season so the champion won't be decided until the last week.

Saberhagen continues odd-year streak, grabs second Cy Young

United Press International

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Bret Saberhagen, who seems to thrive in odd-numbered years, grabbed the American League Cy Young Award in near unanimous fashion, the MLBAA announced Wednesday.

Saberhagen, who was 23-6 for the Kansas City Royals last season, led the major leagues in victories, earned run average, complete games and innings pitched to earn first-place mention on 57 of the 80 ballots. He was second on the other ballot, which listed runner-up Dave Stewart first.

Saberhagen finished with 138 points in the voting, 66 more than second-place Stewart of the world champion Oakland Athletics. Stewart, a 20-game winner in each of the last three years, received the other first-place vote and finished second with 59 points.

Mike Moore, Stewart's teammate at Oakland, was third with 10 points and California's Bert Blyleven was fourth with 6.

Two writers from each American League city were chosen to participate in the voting. Saberhagen, convinced on the cruise ship Four Princess decked as Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, seemed almost certain when Royals Manager John Wathan told him that he'd won his second Cy Young. He seemed to expect the honor, especially since he'd been told during the World Series that the voting might be unanimous.

"Towards the end of the season, you (he expected to win the award," he said. "I was throwing as good as I can throw. I don't think I can get better than that."

"I know how the voting goes, or as it has in the past, the writers vote on the season, not what's happened on the last two years or the last three."

Saberhagen was referring to a series of potential votes for Stewart, who has posted three consecutive 20-victory seasons but is yet to win a Cy Young Award.

There was little doubt that Saberhagen, who won his first Cy Young after the 1986 season, had a better season than Stewart, who was considered with the MVP Award in the World Series. Saberhagen was 30 of his final 33 decisions and was 11-1 with a 1.73 ERA in Royals Stadium. Kansas City was 29-6 in his starts.

"It's just nice winning it period, but I couldn't have won it without the team play," he said. "I had great support this year. It seemed like they scored just enough runs for me. Definitely and obviously they played just great for me."

The right-hander led the American League in nearly every important category in 1989 — victories, earned-run average, innings pitched and complete games — and was unquestionably the hottest pitcher in baseball over the final two months of the season.

He was only 9-5 midway through July, but roiled off victories in 14 of his last 18 decisions. He won eight straight games, lost 5-1 to Detroit on Sept. 4 and finished with six more victories. He was the pitcher of record in each of his last 17 outings, pitching to the seventh inning each time.

He finished the season with a flourish, stringing complete-game victories in a 4-0 victory over California and a 6-1 triumph over Oakland. He wound up with 12 complete games and 285 1-3 innings pitched to lead the league and was second in shutouts with four.

Saberhagen, not an overpowering pitcher, also finished third in the league with 125 strikeouts, behind Nolan Ryan of Texas and Boston's Roger Clemens.

The 25-year-old free spirit is something of an enigma in that he has great seasons in odd-numbered years and less-than-great outcomes in the other seasons.

"I'm going to tell him that, while '90 is an even year that it's the start of a new decade and it's an odd decade," said Wathan.

Saberhagen said the downfall after his 1986 Cy Young Award came about because he "didn't know how to handle success, or at least this much success."

He was also injured part of that season, arm problems which could be traced to his busy off-season. Saberhagen rebounded with an 18-10 record in 1987 and was named the American League Comeback Player of the Year.

In different. We still have a long way to go. We're at 65 to 70 percent of what we should be."

The Hornets dominated every phase of the game on Wednesday, outscoring Leesburg 20-7 and taking 15 corner kicks to Leesburg's one. Erin Sutherland made five saves in posting the shutout for Bishop Moore while the Leesburg keeper had to make 17 saves.

"We kicked very well and moved the ball on offense," said Stritzinger. "Our keeper (Sutherland) did a good job. Leesburg had a couple solid opportunities. For her first time out, Erin did a nice job in goal."

Saturday night's game between Bishop Moore and Lake Brantley is scheduled for a 7 p.m. start. The junior varsity teams will play at 5:15 p.m.

LAKE BRANTLEY 7, SEMINOLE 0
SANFORD — Tara Harding netted a hat trick. Stephanie Sanders scored twice and Eva Boyer and Shannon Henry each had one goal as Lake Brantley blanked Seminole 7-0 in girls' Seminole Athletic Conference soccer action on Wednesday night.

The game, which was played at Seminole's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium, was the season opener for both teams.

"I'm real happy with the way we played tonight," said Lake Brantley coach John Schaeffer. "We had a lot of young players get into the game. They really played well. I'm very happy with their performances."

Patriot goalie Kimi Kurs had a relatively quiet night, needing to make just one save on the one shot managed by the Seminoles. By comparison, the two Tribe goalkeepers combined for 22 saves on the 34 shots by Lake Brantley.

Considering that Seminole had to play much of the game with freshman Christy Oliver in goal, the margin probably could have been much worse. But Oliver, filling in for an injured Amy Williams, made 18 saves and allowed just five goals while playing most of the game.

"I thought she (Oliver) did a good job," said Seminole coach Susy Remo. "Amy got kicked in the ribs during the jammer. She tried to play tonight, but she hyperextended herself going after the first goal."

"We have a very young team, mostly ninth and 10th graders. We've only had about 10 days of practice. The girls really aren't ready to play a team like Lake Brantley. But you could see that they improved in the second half from the first half. Hopefully, we will improve every game."

Lake Brantley will return to action on Saturday night at Bishop Moore (junior varsity at 5:15 p.m., varsity at 7 p.m.). Seminole plays again tonight, traveling to Deltona.

Lake Howell

stewarded by Lake Howell goalie Heather Brann.

Lake Howell started to pick up the pace going into halftime and, in the second half, was challenging Lake Mary for every ball. It was that aggressiveness that paid off for the Hawks as Jenny Yearick beat Lake Mary goalie Kelly Moser to an in-between ball, pushing it past her into the goal.

"We definitely had the opportunity to finish," said Lake Mary coach Bill Kinale. "We just didn't. When you're playing against one of the best keepers in the county, you have to be pretty precise. And we might have tried to be too fine at times."

Going in, Tauscher thought one goal would win the game.

"We were a little tentative in the first half," said Tauscher. "We were a little more aggressive in the second half. It was a very even game. They had good opportunities, we had good opportunities. I thought one goal would do it."

"Heather (Brann) played an outstanding game. She played the type of game that she's capable of. She had to make some beautiful saves."

In the first half, Brann made nice saves on shots by Adriane Hemmerly and Criselle Snow. Ten minutes into the second half, Brann made a diving stop on Sandy Powell, who had managed to get behind the Lake Howell defense.

Lake Howell made a bid to go up 1-0 in the 62nd minute, when Jessica Cardwell's shot beat Moser but ricocheted off the right goal post. Five minutes later, Yearick found the back of the net.

The Rams had several outstanding opportunities to tie the game in the final 10 minutes, but couldn't come up with the equalizer. With just over 7:00 left to play, Brann made a save on a volley by Snow. Then, with about five minutes remaining, Julie Baumhofer had a shot go just wide to the left.

While he was disappointed with the loss, Kinale wasn't upset with the effort.

"I'm very happy with the match," said Kinale. "I'm happy with the work rate. It was the first game of the year and we made some beginning-of-the-year mistakes. We had a rookie keeper in the net. For the most part, I'm happy with the way we played."

"Now I know exactly where we are in our progress, where our weaknesses are and where our strengths are. Now we have to work on improving on our weaknesses and building on our strengths."

For the Silver Hawks, the win is a perfect start to their 1989-90 campaign.

"This is a very good win for us," said Tauscher. "This was a very important win for us." Lake Howell will return to action on Saturday, when the Hawks travel to Maitourne. Lake Mary is off until next Wednesday, when the Rams will host DeLand in an SAC contest.

Kevin Scott will be on hand Saturday to help the Lyman Greyhounds in their quest to finish among the top three teams at the Class 4A swim meet. By benefit of picking up an at-large berth, Scott will swim in the 200 freestyle for the Greyhounds.

Swimming

Word and Su Myers also earned an at-large berth.

They join diver John Paslovich, who is one of the favorites to win that event this year after finishing second at the state meet last year.

"Usually, if you finish in the top six of in our district, you go to state," said Lake Howell coach Dwayne Picou. "This is one of the fastest districts in the state."

The Lyman Greyhounds picked up an additional individual and one more relay for Saturday's championships. Kevin Scott will compete in the 200 freestyle while the girls' 400 freestyle relay quartet of Rhonda Richardson, Lisa Strayer, Mandy Mosman and Tanya Scheidegg have earned the right to compete.

"Our girls' 400 freestyle relay was the fastest qualifier of the at-large group," said Lyman coach Don Clark. "We're pretty happy with that. We hope to place them somewhere at the state meet."

Lyman swimmers who had already qualified for the state meet include Dave Bandy and John Jones (two events each) and Josh Metzdorf.

For Lake Mary Rams, their numbers increased by one as Chris Snelvy's fourth place in the 100 freestyle last Saturday was good enough for an at-large selection. He had already qualified in the 50 freestyle while teammate Brad Bridgewater has qualified in the 100 backstroke and 200 freestyle.

Bridgewater and Snelvy also will swim with Marc Russell and Chris Cambridge in the 200 medley relay.

Lake Brantley's group of state qualifiers increased by five. Dani Ohneman will swim in the 200 individual medley and 100 breaststroke. Cara Duncan will compete in the 100 freestyle, Sandra Spiller has earned spots in the 200 and 100 freestyles, Jill Spiller will swim in the 200 freestyle and Becky Pascock is in the 500 freestyle.

"That's fine," said Lake Brantley coach Clay Parnell, whose girls won the state championship last year and are capable of repeating this Saturday. "The ones who are going to score points are already there. Although I am pretty sure that Dani, Cara and Sandra more than likely will score."

Jodi Schwab, Jodee Lake and Ryan Pauley each were automatic double qualifiers last Saturday for the Patriots. Duncan and Ohneman both had already qualified in one event, as did Jennifer Moon and Beth Rosenbluth.

On Friday, Casey Burgess will be Seminole High School's lone representative at the Class 3A state meet. Last weekend, she won the 100 butterfly and qualified automatically in that event. On Tuesday, she found out she also qualified in the 100 freestyle.

"She ought to do real well," said Seminole coach Tony Ackerson. "She should have a longer break between her events this week than she did last week."

Both state swim meets will be conducted at the Orlando International Aquatic Center, formally the Justus Swim Center.

Theory tries to explain yawning after eating

DEAR DR. GOTT: I yawn a lot, sometimes after I eat. I've been told this is from a lack of oxygen. What exactly does that mean?

DEAR READER: After we eat, blood rushes to the stomach to aid digestion. Some people believe this blood is shunted away from the lungs, leading to less efficient oxygenation. Often, when the brain senses this, it triggers a yawn—which is one method used by the body to hyperinflate the lungs and bring in more oxygen.

I must confess this is theory; as plausible as it sounds, it has not—to my knowledge—been proved. If any readers have alternate theories, I'd be happy to consider them.

which could benefit you.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Managing Chronic Pain." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91389.

PETER GOTT, M.D.
Cleveland, OH 44101-3389. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been running races for the past 12 years, and plantar fasciitis seems to be the most frequent injury suffered by runners. Can this injury be treated successfully without having to wear orthotics? Orthotics permanently slow running speed.

DEAR READER: The plantar fascia, a tough layer of tissue covering the sole of the foot, can become chronically inflamed in runners, especially those who run on hard surfaces, such as pavement. Orthotics are devices, worn in shoes, to reduce injury to the foot.

Some runners don't like them, but many athletes are convinced that orthotics reduce foot strain and fasciitis. I've seen flexible, spongy orthotics that should not slow running; you might consider such products.

Remember that the pain of stress fractures can mimic the discomfort of fasciitis. Therefore, you might check with an orthopedic surgeon or a sports-medicine specialist to make sure plantar fasciitis is the reason you're having trouble. Also, the specialist could advise you about proper orthotics or other therapy, such as cortisone injections and anti-inflammatory pills.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When North jumped to four diamonds, it became easy for South to bid six. But there was a pitfall in the play of this contract that would plague even a few experts. Declarer ruffed the opening lead, carefully using the six of diamonds. (He might later want to get to dummy by playing the deuce and winning with dummy's four-ace.) He then played his seven of diamonds to dummy's ace. West showed out. Even so, he would have all the tricks if hearts divided. So he played K-Q of hearts. When East began thinking on the second heart, declarer resigned himself to the fact that East was going to ruff. (Too bad, but at least the opening lead had not been a club.) East would ruff and lead a club. South could win the ace and get to dummy by playing his eight of diamonds to the queen. Then he could ruff a heart and use that carefully preserved two of diamonds to get back to dummy's four-ace. Now wasn't declarer smart? Sure, but so was East. He refused to ruff the second heart. Eventually the defenders came to two club tricks, and our blithe declarer was one away. Declarer must guard against 4-1 hearts and 3-0 diamonds. He does so by first playing the king of diamonds out of his hand. West shows out. Next come the king and queen of hearts. If East falls to ruff, declarer goes to dummy with a second diamond and plays a low heart. East had better come in with the trump jack now, or South will make all the tricks. Whatever East does, he cannot stop the small slam from making.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Conditions in general should be more favorable for you today than they are apt to be tomorrow, so focus your energies on completing important assignments instead of letting them dangle.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is an attractive day to launch a new endeavor, especially if it is a project that involves one or more friends. Each could be quite lucky for the other.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could be luckier than usual today in situations that are materially meaningful. In fact, there's a possibility that something which looked only moderately profitable could turn out rather grand.
