

Plot To Kill Father Nets Teen 3-Year Term

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Sanford teenager found guilty of attempted murder and solicitation to commit murder in connection with a plot to kill his father has been sentenced to 3 years in prison and 50 years probation.

Montgomery Todd Meeks, 19, of Rt. 3, Box 404, was sentenced by Circuit Judge Lawrence Kirkman who also ordered Meeks to complete 200 hours of community service each of those years he is on probation.

Meeks was found guilty Jan. 30 of paying a friend to purchase what Meeks thought was ricin, a nearly undetectable insecticide poison which he then put in his father's drinking water. The father, Prentiss Meeks, was not injured in the Oct. 24, 1983 incident.

Unknown to Meeks, however, the friend he purchased the material from at Colonial High School substituted the poison with water at the urging of three other students who later contacted sheriff's investigators. The elder Meeks and his wife moved to a motel on the orders of sheriff's deputies until Meeks was arrested Nov. 2. The youth was tried in Orange County because that is where the plan was formulated.

At his trial Meeks said he did put what he thought was the poison into his father's drinking water but then dumped it out.

According to the state attorney on the case, Buck Blanker, the youth stood to get hundreds of thousands of dollars from his father's life insurance plus inherit his mobile home business.

Meeks, who has an IQ of 147 (average is 100) was enrolled at Colonial High School's program for gifted students. Ironically, the foreman on the jury at Meeks' trial is the presiding officer of the Central Florida chapter of Mensa, an international high IQ society.

She said the jury was sympathetic but was also convinced that Meeks did try to poison his father and did not backout of the plot as he testified he did. She said the witnesses against him had no reason to lie about switching the material while Meeks had reason to lie about backing out of the plot.

But the jury recommended leniency, she said.

Fire Blackens 5 Acres

A fire of unknown origin blackened 5 acres near Seminole Community College south of Sanford Wednesday. It also threatened two homes and singed a car dealership's roof before being put out by three firefighting agencies.

Flying embers crossed U.S. Highway 17-92 and ignited the roof at Bob Dance Dodge, 5152 U.S. Highway 17-92, according to Larry Dale, assistant fire chief of Lake Mary. No injuries were reported.

Steve Simkhovitch, general manager of Bob Dance Dodge, said to his knowledge none of their new cars were damaged by the fire that was across the street from the lot. He said the company's shingled roof did catch on fire but he had no

Stromberg Workers Face Layoffs

An undetermined number of workers at the Lake Mary Stromberg-Carlson plant will be laid off this week in an effort to reduce expenses, a company official said today.

It is not known when they will be rehired.

While the exact number of workers to be laid off at the plant on Rinehart Road is not known, the company is reducing its total 1,800 member work force at three Central Florida locations by five percent.

That means about 90 workers in all levels of the company will be laid off, said David Wonderling, spokesman for Stromberg-Carlson.

He said the greatest number of layoffs probably will occur at the Lake Mary facility since it is the largest of the company's plants. The other company locations are in Winter Park and Maitland.

"In the near term, to fund our large research and development program, we must reduce other costs," said E.L. Jones, president of the corporation.

"The telecommunication industry continues to be intensely competitive, and to aggressively gain market share we must remain cost competitive. Our battle for success is a very real one... As our core digital switching business expands, we hope to recall many of the employees affected by this reduction," he said.

Stromberg-Carlson's primary business is the manufacturing and marketing of digital switches as well as other telecommunication equipment.

Heart Implant Illegal

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Exhausted surgeons early today transplanted a second human heart in a dying 32-year-old father kept alive for 11 hours between operations by an unapproved artificial heart designed by an immigrant Chinese dentist.

The Food and Drug Administration said the temporary implant was illegal because the device had not been approved. An investigation will be conducted, an FDA spokesman said.

The transplant team had no regrets.

"We were faced with a patient who faced certain death," Dr. Jack Copeland, head of the transplant team, said before the second operation. "I don't view this as an experiment. I view it as use of what's available to keep a man alive."

Doctors placed a human heart in the man Tuesday but decided on the second transplant, which started late Wednesday night, after the first one began to fail. The pump was used to sustain the patient's life while awaiting the arrival of the second human heart.

Dr. Kevin Cheng, 40, who immigrated to the United States 12 years ago so he could study cardiovascular medicine as a sideline, used a dental drill and polyurethane to build the original compressor-driven Phoenix heart.

The dentist said he never sought government approval because he did not have sufficient funds for the research required by the FDA.

Americans Fear Budget Cuts

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new poll published today says that more than half of Americans are concerned that they, their families or the nation will be hurt if Congress accepts President Reagan's proposed budget cuts in domestic spending.

The New York Times-CBS News poll, conducted Feb. 23-27, also indicated, however, that four Americans in five agree with Reagan that spending cuts, not tax increases, are the way to reduce the federal deficit.

The survey showed 33 percent considers the deficit the nation's greatest economic problem, running second only to unemployment, with 39 percent.

The poll found overwhelming support for federal subsidies to farmers, particularly with residents of big cities.

Even though Reagan budget proposals contain no cuts in the Social Security program, 19 percent of Americans cited that as the cut that would hurt them most.

Democrats Can't Override Farm Veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says his veto of farm debt relief curbs excessive spending by Congress but angry farm groups and lawmakers say the action is merely political and could trigger a collapse in the rural economy.

Delivering the first veto of his second term, Reagan assailed the bill Wednesday as a "blank check" for farmers and bankers and charged Congress failed to "match rhetoric with deeds" in a quest to shave a $200 billion budget deficit.

Reagan rejected the measure 10 days after Farm Belt organizations and lawmakers — including the entire South Dakota Legislature — blanketed the nation's capital to lobby for more debt relief.

While farmers and state legislators pleaded with Congress in high-profile hearings, Reagan was virtually cloistered in the White House.

In the wake of Reagan's action Wednesday, House Speaker Thomas O'Neill conceded his Democratic-controlled chamber did not have the muscle to override the veto and even if it did, Reagan probably would be sustained in the GOP-controlled Senate.

Critics say the plan would help only about

Longwood To Borrow For Capital Projects

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Commissioners, in a work session Wednesday night, decided to borrow $1,250,000 for capital improvements and narrowed the field of applicants for the job of city administrator from 63 to 11.

By consensus the commissioners decided to go ahead and increase the amount the city is borrowing to include funding for a $400,000 expansion of water well no. 2; a new public safety complex consisting of a new $300,000 fire station and for a new $425,000 police building.

Proposed location for the public safety complex is city property next to Peppermint Park between E.E. Williamson Road and Jessup Avenue. The desirability of locating the proposed community building at the Reiter Park recreation complex and the possibility of converting the fire station no. 1 for that purpose were discussed.

Commissioners indicated they feel it is a good time to borrow money before interest rates go up. They hope to borrow on a long term at 7 or 8 percent interest.

The consensus of the commissioners was that the city should pledge revenue from utility franchise fees, utility taxes, and a proposed increase in impact fees to secure the loan.

There is now a cap of $1 on the 10 percent tax on utilities no matter how much is used, but the commissioners are proposing limit be increased to $5 on electricity and possibly telephone and cable TV. Another workshop with Dave Powers of Freedom Bank is being set up to work out the details.

A public hearing on a $500,000 loan ($400,000 to complete improvements at the water well and $100,000 for repairs and improvements to the sewer plant) is scheduled for Monday's regular city meeting. The commission has decided unofficially to increase this amount.

Concerning the city administrator, the commission decided Monday night to bypass the appointed 5-member screening committee in the interest of time and do it themselves.

Having privately reviewed the resumes the commissioners each presented their top choices and what they liked about them. Each applicant with at least two nods was placed on the list to be further reduced at the next workshop scheduled for March 13 at 7 p.m.

The top five or so finalists will then be called in for interviews in person.

The list of 11 includes a woman, Carrie Parker of Ocala, who received three nominations. She is assistant to the city manager there and has master's degrees in Public Administration and Political Science. She has a bachelor's degree in Business Administration, and five years city experience.

Commissioner Perry Faulkner had two other women on his list besides Ms. Parker — Joyce Pulich of Port Aransas, Texas, and Joanne C. Wrench, Allegan, Mich., but they failed to make the cut.

Land Plan Change OK With P & Z

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Despite protests from nearby homeowners that the county's comprehensive land use plan has been "emasculated by 500 changes over the past eight years," the Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission recommended it be changed again to accommodate developers.

The Seminole County Commission must approve the change and will take up the matter April 9.

The homeowners were objecting to the proposed rezoning of a 57.75-acre parcel south of state Road 434 and near its intersection with U.S. Highway 17-92 for an apartment complex and commercial development, one of several protests the P & Z commission heard Wednesday night.

The tract, owned by Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, Lila Leffler Walling, Elizabeth Leffler Bush, Harold Jackson, Nancy Freeman and Mary Leffler — is to be purchased and developed by Charles Curry of Orlando.

The P & Z commissioners voted unanimously for changing the county's comprehensive plan from low density residential-preservation to planned unit development and the zoning from agriculture to planned unit development.

Some 576 apartments and a 15.5 acre of commercial development are planned for construction at the site.

John Dwyer of the county's development department recommended denial of the requests. Dwyer especially noted the 13,238 trips by vehicles daily which could be expected from the development to impact the already heavily traveled SR 434-17-92 intersection.

Dwyer said the county's planning department agreed with a marketing study done by Curry's development company showing the commercial area could be a successful venture.

A marketing and a traffic study was required of the proposed developer, a county practice for large development, Dwyer said.

The developer has committed to pay the full costs of a traffic signal at the major entranceway as well as pay impact fees for the county fire department and the sheriff's department.

Hugh Harling, a consultant for the developer, also said that Curry would build turning lanes at the SR 434-17-92 intersection, but he balked at paying impact fees for schools. He said the apartments are planned for adults only and three-quarters of them would have only one bedroom, thus the development would not generate school children.

The tract is a burned-out orange grove, owned by the Leffler family for the past 50 years.

Frank Lucadamo, president of the adjacent Lake Hodge Estates homeowners, said the high-density development is not compatible with the single-family homes bounding the dev-

...Win 2, Lose 2

Tuskawilla area homeowners turned out en masse at Wednesday night's Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission meeting to protest four requests for changes in zoning and changes in the county's comprehensive land use plan. They won two and lost two.

The advisory board recommended the county commission approve changes:

- From low density residential-preservation to commercial in the land use plan and from agriculture to commercial and wholesale district zoning for a 7.16 acre tract on the west side of Tuskawilla Road, south of the Willa Springs Shopping Center, requested by Frank J. Tepper, trustee. Tepper's representative, consultant Hugh Harling, said a shopping center is planned there.

- From low density residential-preservation to high density residential in the land use plan and from agriculture to multi-family dwelling

Kissing Bandit Nabbed

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Police have arrested a woman on charges of robbing gamblers after slipping knockout drugs into their mouths while kissing them.

Margarita Delosantos, 21, remained in the Atlantic County Jail today under $65,000 bond.

She was charged with three counts of reckless endangerment and three counts of theft in the disappearance of $52,000 in cash and jewelry from the victims, who were staying at Atlantic City casino-hotels.

Delosantos, dubbed the "kissing bandit" by police, may have been the culprit in eight similar robberies since 1983.

Atlantic City Police Capt. James Dooley said Delosantos, born in the Dominican Republic, allegedly approached her victims by posing as a prostitute.

The victims, who took the Delosantos to their rooms, told police they remembered feeling something slip into their mouths while they were kissing the woman, then lost consciousness. They awoke several hours later to find their cash and valuables missing.

Reagan Takes Case For MX To Visiting Politburo Member

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, in the midst of a public relations offensive to sell the MX missile to Congress lest anyone think America is weak-willed, has a chance to take his case to the Soviets.

Reagan meets late in the day at the White House with a member of the Soviet Politburo, Ukrainian Communist Party chief Vladimir Shcherbitaky, who is heading a 33-member delegation of the Supreme Soviet, or parliament, on a goodwill tour of the United States.

For a third straight day, Reagan was meeting today with a group of 30 House members to argue that abandoning the MX would be a blow to U.S. negotiators starting talks in five days with the Soviets in Geneva, Switzerland.

At issue is a request by Reagan to unfreeze $1.5 billion to produce 21 MX missiles this year. Congress approved the production of 21 missiles in the last fiscal year and Reagan wants $4 billion to build another 48 in 1986.

Pan Am Pilots Cross Picket Lines

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pan American World Airways pilots have agreed to cross striking mechanics' picket lines and return to work, enabling the financially-trapped airline to operate 50 percent of its flights.

The agreement was reached Wednesday between Pan Am and the Master Executive Council of the Air Lines Pilots Association, which represents Pan Am's 1,478 pilots.

Pan Am spokesman James Arey said the agreement would enable the airline to keep 50 percent of its flights in the air, mostly serving overseas cities. He said it was possible some domestic flights would also be resumed.

The pact came on the seventh day of a strike by the Transport Workers Union. Two days before the Feb. 28 walkout, Pan Am reached a contract agreement with the pilots association.

Since the 5,800-member TWU struck, Pan Am has been flying about 25 to 30 percent of its flights. The 13,200 pilots, clerks, flight attendants and engineers in the company's other four unions have honored their picket lines.

Vigilante Victim May Testify

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of subway gunman Bernhard Goetz's victims says he will decide by the end of the week whether to testify against him, boosting chances that a new grand jury will be called to consider charges in the shootings.

Howard Meyer, attorney for 19-year-old Troy Canty, one of four persons shot by Goetz Dec. 22, said his client is considering waiving immunity and testifying against Goetz and Monday told prosecutors his version of the subway shooting that erupted after Canty asked Goetz for $5.

Meyer said Canty's version of the shooting cannot be used in court or before a grand jury unless Canty testifies.

Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau has said he will convene a second grand jury if new evidence, including the testimony of the shooting victims, is available.

The original grand jury refused to indict Goetz for attempted murder and indicted him instead on weapons charges.

Carlton: Time Is Right For Campaign Reform

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The sponsor of a bill to stop unopposed candidates from collecting campaign contributions predicted this week the measure has a better chance of success than a similar bill voted down two years ago.

Rep. Fran Carlton, D-Orlando, attributed the change of heart by her fellow lawmakers to fresh memories of problems during the recent general elections and to the public reaction to the fact that 60 House and Senate incumbents last year raised more than $1.2 million — but did not draw opposition.

Carlton's comments came Wednesday, shortly after a House elections subcommittee unanimously adopted her proposal to require candidates to stop collecting money if the qualifying period ends and they have no opposition. They would then have 60 days to clear their campaign accounts.

Candidates — whether opposed or not — currently must stop collecting money on the day of the general election. State elections supervisor Dorothy Gilsason said they currently have 90 days to close their accounts after election day.

Winners can keep some of the unspent money to run their legislative offices. The rest can be refunded to contributors, used to reimburse themselves for personal funds sunk into a campaign, or donated to charity.

Goof Costs Photographer His Life

MIAMI (UPI) — Bob East, a Miami Herald veteran photographer whom a colleague said was "the kind of guy every newspaper needs," is dead, five days after a surgical error left him in a coma.

Family and doctors decided Wednesday to discontinue use of life support devices, said Dr. Jeffrey Augenstein, the attending physician at Jackson Memorial Hospital. He said the machines were disconnected at 2:50 p.m., and East was pronounced dead.

He fell into a coma late Friday after doctors accidentally injected a formaldehyde-like chemical into his spinal column during surgery to remove his cancer-stricken right eye. The unlabeled bottle of glutaraldehyde, a toxic substance used to sterilize instruments and to preserve tissue removed during surgery, was mistaken for spinal fluid, hospital officials said.

Childhood Sunburn Increases Risks Of Deadly Skin Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Severe childhood bouts with sunburn could serve as a catalyst for a deadly skin cancer, which could appear 10 to 20 years later, researchers say.

A history of severe or blistering sunburns doubled or tripled the risk of developing malignant melanoma, a skin cancer that quickly spreads to other parts of the body, scientists speaking at a Skin Cancer Foundation seminar reported Wednesday.

Skin type and sun-sensitivity also are important factors. "Basically, sunburn is not good," said Dr. Darrell Rigel, clinical instructor of dermatology at New York University Medical Center. "Anything that increases the risk of sunburn might increase the risk of developing skin cancer."

"There appears to be a delay period, from the time of the insult, of 10 to 20 years before it can be diagnosed clinically."

The number of cases of malignant melanoma are increasing faster than any other form of cancer among women except lung cancer.

The American Cancer Society estimates that in 1985, 22,000 cases will be diagnosed in the United States — a 25 percent increase from 1984.

People with poor tanning ability, who spend their weeks indoors, then bask in the sun for hours on the weekends and vacations are at added risk for melanoma, said Dr. Thomas B. Fitzpatrick of the Harvard

School of Medicine in Boston. The presence of large irregular moles, and a history of malignant moles in relatives also increase the risk of developing the cancer.

There are three types of skin cancer: basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma and malignant melanoma.

The first two are the most common, but malignant melanoma is the most serious. A person's cumulative exposure to sunlight affects the chances of developing the less threatening skin cancers, Rigel said.

About 85 percent of the squamous and basal cell cancer occur in the face and back of the hand — areas rarely protected. Malignant melanoma tends to show up on the legs and back.

Drug Suspects Sought In Police Murders

MATAMOROS, Mexico (UPI) — Authorities on both sides of the Rio Grande hunted two suspected marijuana traffickers today on charges of killing five men in a blazing gun battle with police.

The bloody shootout with machine guns, pistols and shotguns left half the state police force in the Mexican village of San Fernando lying dead or wounded in the street, authorities said.

The gunfire erupted shortly after midnight Wednesday about 70 miles south of the border when Tamaulipas State judicial police stopped a gasoline truck believed to be transporting 3 tons of marijuana.

The gunmen leaped from an escorting automobile and opened fire. Several pistols and some ammunition were found at the scene of the massacre, police said. Four policemen and a civilian were killed during the ambush near San Fernando.

Three of the five suspects — including a former pilot for the Mexican attorney general's office — were arrested Wednesday and interrogated at Reynosa, Mexico, across the border from McAllen, Texas, Mexican police said.

Texas authorities were searching for the two other gang members after their getaway vehicle was found in Laredo, Texas.

Acting on information from the three prisoners police late Wednesday rounded up eight other suspects they said were members of one of Mexico's biggest drug smuggling rings. But the eight were not suspects in the massacre.

Gunman Robs Fern Park Service Station

A gunman got away with about $90 in the holdup of a Fern Park service station/food store at about 9:50 p.m. Wednesday.

Clerk Barbara Miner reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that the man was carrying a blue steel pistol in his right hand when he entered Dewlee's Amoco, 702 U.S. Highway 17-92.

He said, "This is a robbery," and told customer James Gary Beach, 14, of Fern Park, not to move, a sheriff's report said.

The bandit pushed Beach aside and told Ms. Miner, "Give me all the money and hurry up," the report said.

Ms. Miner handed over about $90 and the man said, "Don't follow me or I'll shoot you." He fled around the north side of the building, the report said.

GUNPLAY IN BAR
A Sanford woman has been charged with attempted aggravated battery, discharging a firearm in public and carrying a concealed firearm after she reportedly shot at another woman during a barroom fight.

Sanford police reported responding to a call at the Silver Tip Bar, 1509 W. 13th St., Sanford at about 11 p.m. Tuesday and were told by witnesses that several women had been fighting in the bar and during the fray one took a .22-caliber handgun from her purse and fired a single shot at Cindy Philemon. A bullet hole was found in a partition at the rear of the bar and no one was wounded, a police report said.

The suspect and others involved in the fight fled before police arrived and officers found the suspected gunman at her home, the report said.

She was taken to the police station for questioning and reportedly denied any part in the fight. A .22-caliber handgun with one live round was reportedly found in her purse, police said.

Wanita Robinson, 23, of 1117 Southwest Road, has been charged in the case. She was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

OHIO FUGITIVES CAUGHT

An Ohio couple wanted in connection with the robbery of an Ohio convenience store, the kidnapping of a clerk and theft of the clerk's car have been nabbed in Seminole County.

Sheriff's deputy D.A. Tjomstol reported spotting the pair's car with an unassigned license tag at the westbound reststop of Interstate 4, Longwood, at about 12:20 a.m. Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Through a computer check, Tjomstol discovered the Ohio charges against the couple and arrested them, the report said.

Earl Martin Lutz, 19, and a 15-year-old girl, both of Circleville, Ohio, were charged. The girl was being held by juvenile authorities and Lutz was being held for Ohio, without bond in the Seminole County jail. Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said Lutz is also wanted for forgery.

CAR THEFT ARREST

A Sanford man has been charged with grand theft auto after police reportedly spotted him with the vehicle in a Sanford motel parking lot.

Police said they recognized the 1984 Corvette as one reported stolen from Creamsons Chevrolet, U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, on Tuesday.

The vehicle was parked in the lot of the Cavalier Motor Inn, 3200 U.S. Highway 17-92. When the suspect was asked to identify himself he said he had no ID and that the car was not his and he did not have permission to have possession of it, a police report said.

Derrick Louis Ames, 19, of 113 Wildwood Drive, was arrested at the motel at 9:48 p.m. Tuesday. He was released on $5,000 bond. He is scheduled to appear in court March 25.

SPOUSE ABUSE

A 35-year-old Altamonte Springs man has been charged with spouse abuse after reportedly hitting his wife in the head and shoulders, choking her and threatening to kill her.

Altamonte Springs police reported the man also ripped a phone from the wall of his home and Suzanne Kennedy Heilman 36, of 815 Spring Lake Road Altamonte Springs, had to send their son from the home so he could call police.

Mrs. Heilman had bumps on the back of her head, a puffy face and hand and finger marks on her neck, a police report said.

Neil Jay Heilman, 35, was arrested across the street from his home at 1:49 a.m. Wednesday. He was later released on $500 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Kevin D. Thompson, 17, of 810 Snowhill Road, Oviedo, reported to deputies that a video recorder, camera and batter pack with a total value of about $2,000 were stolen from his car while the vehicle was parked a 2560 Byrd Ave., Sanford, around 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Five pairs of signs featuring designs of eyes and feet were stolen from the business of optometrist Stewart Abel, 47, a 2911 Red Bug Lake Road Casselberry, between March and Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

Deputies reported no sign of forced entry, but a thief took almost $900 worth of jewelry and other items from the home of Moudia Louise Morrow, 33, of 2224 Hillview St., Forest City between March 1 and Tuesday.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Water spilling from the rain-swollen Illinois River today consumed two central Illinois towns and threatened the river basin with its worst flooding in history.

Hundreds of families were forced to seek higher ground. "In some places along that stretch, you can't tell where the river is," Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson said Wednesday as he declared 10 counties disaster areas and put the National Guard on alert. "It's all river."

More than 1,000 homes along the Illinois River were submerged and about 300 families had been evacuated, officials said. About 120 homes in Rome, 12 miles north of Peoria, and 40 in Liverpool, 30 miles to the south, were abandoned. "Rome and Liverpool, for all practical purposes, are completely under water," Greg Durham, an Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency spokesman, said. "Sandbagging won't help."

The Illinois reached 28 feet at Rome Wednesday, 10 feet above flood stage. The National Weather Service said the river would crest in Peoria Saturday at 29.5 feet, surpassing the record of 28.8 feet reached in 1943. An Army Corp of Engineers spokesman said any level above 28 feet in Peoria is considered life threatening. In the West, a storm that blanketed Sierra Nevada slopes with 26 inches of snow at Norden, Calif., promised to dump 10 inches of snow today in the Lake Tahoe area and 1 to 3 inches of snow in the Reno-Carson City, Nev., area. Winter storm warnings were posted in the northeastern Sierra Nevada and the Lake Tahoe basin.

SCC Fundraising Auction Offers 'Dream Vacations'

Seminole Community College could be the launching point of a number of dream vacations for those who attend the college's fundraising auction next week. Local businesses have donated trips to London, Hong Kong, a 7-day stay in a mountain cabin in Cashiers, N.C., and weeklong use of a condominium and boat at Sebastian Inlet.

7-11 Corp. has donated a $3,000 trip for two to Acapulco, Mexico, with a stay at Southland Corporation's villa for one week, including transportation, lodging and all meals. Chauffeur and house staff will serve the lucky couple.

The trips will be auctioned off by State Rep. Art Grindle (R-Altamonte Springs) to the highest bidder during a four-course prime rib dinner March 14 at the Sheraton Maitland off of Interstate 4, according to Jim Sawyer, dean of student development and coordinator of the event.

The college is still accepting donated items for the auction and tickets, which are $50, are still available. For more information call the college at 323-1450.

Nationally syndicated cartoonist Doug Marlette has donated more than a dozen of his editorial cartoons and comic strip panels to his alma mater for the auction. Marlette, a 1969 SCC graduate, is a prize winning cartoonist for the Charlotte (N.C.) Observer. He is a Pulitzer Prize nominee and a 1983 Robert F. Kennedy memorial award winner.

There are also 300 other items — from hand-crocheted baby bibs to a 1979 Fiat X-19 automobile — that will be parceled off at the auction. Numerous weekend getaways to local resort hotels are also included.

Sawyer said the college hopes to raise $100,000 at the auction. He said the money will be put in trust fund with the interest providing scholarships for students. The state will also donate $4 for every $6 the college raises. The principal will not be touched, Sawyer said, thereby creating a "perpetual fund that will continue to provide scholarships forever."

"We're looking at this as a great way to have fun and help the students at the same time," he said. He expects 300-400 people to attend.

Knowles Pleads For Cities' Right To Quit State-Run Pension Plan

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles, in testimony before a legislative subcommittee Wednesday, said costs to cities for employee pension plans could be cut nearly in half by using a private rather than state-run system.

Citing a comparison of the state system and its costs and two private systems, Knowles said the state system costs Sanford $353,000 annually at the rate of 12.24 percent of payroll for 181 employees while an annuity under the ERISA Compliance System Inc. or Kentucky General Inc. would cost 6.28 percent of payroll. Yet, he said, the pension benefit for the retired city employee would be the same.

Continuing the battle he has waged for the city of Sanford and the Florida League of Cities for the past four years, Knowles pleaded with the members of the state House of Representatives Subcommittee on Retirement for adoption of legislation giving the 101 Florida cities in the state system the option of withdrawing. State law now says that once a city has joined the state system it must remain in the system. Knowles has been lobbying the Legislature for a change in law since 1981.

A major reason for the high cost of the state retirement system is that 46.7 percent of premiums collected from all governmental bodies under the system, according to Knowles' prepared remarks, is used to pay benefits for state employees who joined in the past and did not pay a rate high enough to cover their pensions. This liability was incurred before municipal employees were given the right to join the system in 1972.

Knowles contends municipal taxpayers should not be making up this cost.

A savings to cities of $5.3 million of the $11.3 million paid by the cities for 6,000 employees would be saved if not for the liability.

Knowles has said when cities were allowed the option of joining the state system in 1972, the state plan was attractive due to its premium cost to the taxpayers of 4 percent of salaries. However, he said, since that time the state eliminated employees' contributions to the plan, mandating the local taxpayers pay the total contribution. Now the cost to the taxpayers is 12.24 percent of payroll.

The state also has eliminated any return of contributions for employees who quit their jobs with city governments. "The increased costs did not increase benefits," he said.

He cited as an example a 20-year old employee hired at starting wage of $12,000 a year who received a 4 percent cost of living pay raise annually for 30 years and who retired at 50 would receive $1,386.15 per month pension. Under ERISA which has an 8 percent yield, his pension would be $2,843.09 and under Kentucky General with its yield of 10 percent, the employees would have a monthly pension of $2,898.

Knowles said a survey of cities in the state system show that only 13.3 percent of municipal employees remain in city service for the 10 years required for vesting in the system. "This means the cities are paying 7 1/2 percent for one benefit," Knowles said. This equates to 82 percent of salaries to provide retirement benefits for one.

13 Sentenced For Drunk Driving In Seminole

The following persons have either pleaded or been found guilty of driving under the influence, or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for business-only driving permits. In cases where the sentence differs, the actual sentence is reported:

Sisyphus Labors On Capitol Hill

Sisyphus would rather keep rolling a boulder up a hill in Hades than carry the immigration reform bill in Congress.

We can see why. The Simpson-Mazzoli immigration bill made it all the way to the top of Capitol Hill last year, passing both houses of Congress, only to be stopped dead in conference committee. Congress adjourned, and now the bill again is at the bottom of the hill. No wonder politicians aren't lining up to shoulder the burden. Compassion fatigue, Sen. Alan Simpson calls it.

Sen. Simpson, the Wyoming Republican who has become Senate whip, is considering a modified employer-sanctions bill with a delayed legalization plan. The House sponsor of the Simpson-Mazzoli bill, Rep. Romano Mazzoli, D-Ky., is not sure he will head up the Immigration subcommittee this year. The Simpson-Mazzoli bill's major opponent, Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif., has submitted an alternative immigration bill with an adequate amnesty program but inadequate employer sanctions. Rep. Daniel Lungren, R-Calif., has submitted the closest thing to a comprehensive bill, but he is a Republican in the Democrat-dominated House and so his bill doesn't have much chance.

Some talk about breaking the bill up into parts and carrying separate bills: one for employer sanctions, another for amnesty and a third for a guest-worker program. It doesn't take a Delphic oracle to predict the fate of those bills. Employer sanctions would pass. A guest-worker program would pass, reflecting the power of the farm lobby. But amnesty would sink into oblivion, leaving millions of people in a netherworld of illegality.

Comprehensive immigration reform must combine all three parts. It shouldn't just string more barbed wire across holes in the border fence; it should put sanctions around the loophole that allows employers legally to hire illegal aliens. It should give longtime undocumented residents a legal means to work, encouraging them to come out of hiding and apply for papers. If there weren't enough legal residents and American citizens to do the farm work, an expanded H-2 guest-worker program should allow farmers to bring foreign workers into the country temporarily.

What comprehensive reform shouldn't permit is a continuation of the wholesale violation of our borders and exploitation of millions of undocumented workers.

Western growers and Hispanic leaders have formed a Greek chorus chanting doom for the United States if immigration reform passes.

The farmers don't want reform. They want the status quo: cheap labor and new illegal workers. Ranchers work quietly behind the scenes to kill bills that would restrict their access to cheap exploitable labor. They predict that, without such labor, food prices will go up, exports of farm products will go down, agribusiness will move abroad.

To hear the Hispanic lobbyists last year, the Simpson-Mazzoli bill was responsible for all the evils of mass deportation, exploitation, racism and discrimination that have been the fate of Hispanics since the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

Hispanic leaders claim to speak up for the undocumented. But they have killed amnesty, which is the goal of undocumented. It is sheer hypocrisy for them to speak for people who share their ethnic background but not their legal situation, who have no free speech or means to involve themselves in politics, because they are illegal.

Illegal immigration is the gateway to abuse and alienation in this country. It is the path to ghettos and fear.

Legal immigration is the road to naturalization. It has offered generations of immigrants a path to betterment for themselves and their children.

Sisyphus carried an unending burden but he didn't have to listen to slurs and abuse when he toiled up the slope. The sponsors of immigration reform are not so lucky, but in the end they can and must achieve success, bringing hypocrisy out into the open, using the law to combat illegality, compassion to fight injustice.

It's difficult to ask them to pick up the bill again, to shoulder the weight of comprehensive reform, to open themselves up to the chorus-chanting lies. But we do ask, because the border cries out for reform and illegal aliens can't ask for justice.

Budget, Trade Deficits Offset Each Other

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The $10.3 billion trade deficit in January once again served notice that net exports are likely to diminish indefinitely, and that the fourth-quarter improvement was merely a lagged reflection of the domestic slowdown a few months earlier.

Thus in addition to being stuck with budget deficits of approximately 5 percent of GNP — corresponding to a high-employment deficit ratio of 3 percent — the economy must also suffer with a trade deficit that is 3 percent of GNP.

Yet the economy seems to have run quite smoothly during the past two years with these deficits in place, the higher inflation and/or recession they are supposed to cause keeps receding into the distance, much like the grin on the Cheshire Cat.

Two years ago it was commonplace to say that the recovery would be an anemic one because of these restraints. Last year the refrain was changed slightly to say that while the economy was currently very strong, real growth would fall and inflation would intensify by the end of the year, leading to a very sluggish 1985. However, it is now generally acknowledged that the growth rate this year will be 4 percent or better for the third year in a row.

Even a stopped clock is right twice a day, and eventually this sort of pattern will develop and another recession will occur. But when that does happen, it will not be because the deficit squeezed interest rates so high that private demand suffered, nor will it be because the overvalued dollar funneled so many jobs out of the industrial Midwest to Brazil or Korea.

In fact, the contractionary effect of the 3 percent trade deficit is counterbalanced by the expansionary effect of the high-employment 3 percent Federal budget deficit. For every $1 billion that is sent overseas instead of being kept at home, $1 billion has been put back in the pockets of individuals and businesses through higher government spending or lower tax rates. If both the Federal high-employment budget and the merchandise trade account were in balance, the level and growth rate of GNP would still be just about the same as it is now.

For it is nothing more than a red herring to claim that aggregate demand has been damaged by the large budget and trade deficits. They have essentially offset each other.

Real growth during the past two years has been about 1 percent above average for the beginning and middle stages of an upturn, and the economy is evidently about to enter its second leg of recovery which will last at least through 1985.

Only four of the nine postwar business expansions have made it through to the second leg, and two of these — Korea and Vietnam — were for exogenous reasons. So clearly real growth is not yet being hurt.

Politics And The MX

By Norman D. Sandler

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eleven years after entering advanced development, the MX missile continues to be mired in political controversy. President Reagan wants to spend $21.5 billion to build more than 200 of the 10-warhead missiles and sink 100 of them into silos now occupied by older Minuteman missiles by December 1989.

To review the history of the MX program is to review more than 14 years of false starts, missteps, retreats and, in the latest chapter, political confrontation.

The program began in 1971. But while the MX met the theoretical specifications of strategic planners for a new generation missile, more powerful and accurate than the Minuteman 3, doubts about how and where to deploy it soon made the MX a missile without a home.

Intended as a backbone of the U.S. deterrent — one based on the premise that even after a Soviet first strike, the United States could deal a crippling retaliatory blow — the MX soon faced the problem of vulnerability.

The capability to strike back at the Soviets had little value unless the MX could survive a nuclear attack. The fixed silos that have been the cornerstone of the U.S. land-based missile force no longer provided sufficient protection from Soviet missiles that had approached their U.S. counterparts in accuracy.

Ironically, the technical arguments that have fueled the MX debate for more than a decade were shoved aside when Reagan formally asked Congress to unfreeze $1.5 billion approved last year for the production of a second batch of 21 missiles.

The importance of the MX, it seemed, had shifted from its value as a weapon to its importance as a bargaining chip.

After hearing Reagan argue for a strong negotiating hand over breakfast at the White House, Rep. Sherwood Boehlert, R-N.Y., a critic of the MX, signed on.

"I don't buy the MX," Boehlert said. "Quite honestly, I think it's a turkey. We haven't got a proper basing mode. We can't make it invulnerable. But what we can do is use that effectively in Geneva and that's my interest, because what I really want is arms reduction... That's the test for me."

So too is that the short-term test advocated by Reagan. And if he prevails, the MX will have survived not on the strength of its technical merits, but on the strength of political arguments advanced for gain at the bargaining table in Geneva.

Vets Are Next On Stockman's List

WASHINGTON — You can add a few million veterans to the list of budget director David Stockman's detractors, which already include farmers, college students and military pensioners.

He can expect an uproar from veterans when they find out what his Office of Management and Budget and the Veterans Administration have been plotting.

They have quietly agreed that eligibility for free VA medical care should be limited to vets who can prove they can't afford their own treatments.

And the burden of proof will rest on the veteran who applies for government care.

The agreement is spelled out in a letter from the OMB's chief of veterans' affairs to the VA's budget officer. My associate Donald Goldberg obtained a copy of the letter.

A VA spokesman said the proposals outlined in the letter are still in the "working stage," and do not

PRESCRIPTIONS

WILLIAM RUSHER

There They Go Again

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you suspected all along that the Democrats' concern over the size of the federal deficit was as phony as Japanese wartime occupation currency, you were absolutely right. Now that the budget is actually being drawn up, the Democrats are out there hustling every interest group in sight, demanding more and more federal subsidies for their little darlings and shedding torrents of tears over those cruel Republican proposals to reduce expenditures.

Easily last week's most demagogic performance was the Democratic reaction to farm bloc pressures for continued or even increased federal aid. The crisis in American farming is largely the product of earlier Democratic demagoguery on the subject, which addicted farmers to government subsidies and thereby set the stage for all that has followed. But now, when enormous pressures are at last compelling the government to reconsider and reduce this largesse, the political heirs of the dead politicians who hooked America's farmers on federal angel dust in the first place are so cynical that they will actually call for more of it while the Reagan administration is trying to persuade farmers to kick the habit.

To the hue and cry of the Democrats on Capitol Hill is now being added an impressive barrage of tendentious pseudo-information from various suspect quarters. Is it pure coincidence, do you suppose, that something called the "Physicians' Task Force on Hunger in America," consisting of 22 "prominent doctors and public health experts," has chosen this precise moment to release a report charging that "hunger in America" has reached "epidemic proportions"? For the sake of the blind, the doctors spell out their political point in words that deserved to be, and probably were, in the 1984 Democratic national platform: "The recent and swift return of hunger can be traced in substantial measure to clear and conscious policies of the federal government." The study predictably calls for increased welfare and food stamp benefits and eased eligibility requirements, restoration of free and low-price meal programs to the schools, expanded nutrition programs for women, infants and children; and still more meals for the elderly.

The study abounds in the usual anecdotal horror stories, and received a buildup on the NBC Evening News recently that would have been more appropriate to the announcement of the imminent end of the world.

When the investigators looked inside a refrigerator in Hollister, N.C., they found "the remains of an omelet, some government commodity cheese and nothing else. There was no milk."

Why all these people, and the others described in equally heart-rending terms, don't qualify for food stamps, welfare and all the other subsidies that this generous nation provides for the truly needy wasn't explained.

It is going to take steady nerves and grim determination for the American people to battle their way, under the leadership of Ronald Reagan, through the massed ranks of the subsidy recipients and their huge escort of professional mourners, political hypocrites and freestyle guilt-trippers.

SCIENCE WORLD

Electron Beam Machine

By Lidia Wasowicz

LIVERMORE, Calif. (UPI) — On the bottom of a blue-tiled pool sits a compact, silver machine that physicists say has wide-ranging applications, from making food less likely to spoil to eliminating acid rain.

The culmination of 27 years of research at the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory, the electrical device, called the Magnetically Switched Induction Linear Accelerator, will be unveiled publicly March 11.

This latest technological wonder — a miniature cousin of a long line of linear accelerators, some of which stretch for miles — serves as a radiation source that, unlike any in practical use today, can be turned on and off.

Its creators say it should be ready for commercial use within two years.

"It can be readily reproduced and for under $1 million," Dr. Richard Briggs, deputy associate director for beam research at the lab, said.

Scientists from the lab, which has pioneered the development of linear induction accelerators since 1958, and the University of California at Davis are studying insect defoliation and effects of electron beams on flavor and texture.

"The beauty of this little fellow, 6 feet long and some 4 feet across, is that when it's turned on, it emits an intense electron beam, and when it's turned off, it's perfectly safe, unlike a traditional radiation source that presents a constant danger of radioactivity," said Dr. Steven Matthews, senior physicist at Livermore.

Although no irradiated food is consumed yet in America, 30 countries use conventional ionizing radiation from a continuously radioactive source to eliminate certain bacteria and sterilize certain components within food, Matthews said.

It also may reduce the need for carcinogenic fumigants used on produce in this country, he said.

The machine also could help eliminate acid rain, he said.

"Gases are hard to remove from smokestacks. But if you shine an electron beam at the gases, the electron rearranges the molecule of gas and changes it, say, from sulfur dioxide to ammonium sulfate — a particulate that can be removed much easier than gas and, in addition, be used as fertilizer," Matthews said.

"The machine sitting in our lab can do the job right now. It can easily be redesigned to fit into a smokestack."

regardless of their financial status.) Instead, those with incomes above a certain level would be required to pay the VA for at least a share of their medical expenses, on a sliding scale.

— The income level at which a vet would have to pay part of his medical expenses would be twice the maximum veterans' pension rate. So veterans with an income of $15,000 to $30,000 a year would have to pay up to one-half the VA medical cost (either personally or through insurance). The vet's share would rise to as high as 90 percent according to income.

— Except for emergency care and "extraordinary circumstances," veterans above the $15,000 income level would not be eligible for any VA care until they had paid a certain amount out of their own pockets.

Obviously hoping to muffle at least part of the anticipated outcry, the OMB-VA proposal exempts the following categories of veterans from having to share costs or establish financial need:

— Veterans with service-connected disabilities.

— Veterans with non-service-connected disabilities who have been deemed otherwise eligible.

— Former prisoners-of-war.

— Veterans who were exposed to Agent Orange, nuclear tests or the aftereffects of the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

— Current VA pensioners and those who are now receiving free VA medical care.

— Veterans of World War I, the Mexican Border campaign and the Spanish-American War.

"The VA will not be the primary provider of care for veterans with incomes above (the) standard," the OMB letter states.

Determination of eligibility "would be based on income and prior out-of-pocket medical expenses," the letter states, adding: "The burden of proof rests with the veteran."

Altamonte Grads Hoist Rams, Pats Into 5 Star Lead

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
The Altamonte Springs Little League is sitting on top of the Five Star Conference. No, there hasn't been a new addition to the Five Star, but they are some very familiar names dotting the rosters of the co-leaders.

Lake Mary, 8-1 overall, and Lake Brantley, 10-3 overall, each have 5-0 conference records and much of their success can be directly attributed to graduates of the Altamonte program.

The Rams, ranked No. 5 in the state in this week's Florida Sports Writers Association poll, host Apopka Saturday in a big conference game while the Patriots journey Lyman for yet another biggie on Friday. The Rams and Patriots duel a week from Friday (March 15) at Lake Brantley.

Wednesday, strong pitching performances and thunderous hitting shows by Altamonte graduates keyed each victory. At Lake Mary, sophomore Anthony Laszalc and Mike Schmit combined for a six-hitter as the Rams won their fifth straight with an 11-3 victory over Mainland. At Daytona Beach, senior lefty Brad Dunn struck out 14 and survived six errors as the Patriots trimmed Mainland, 7-4.

Laszalc went the first six innings as he struck out five and walked one while pitching up his third win against no losses. Schmit nailed down the seventh with two strikeouts.

Baseball

Lake Mary went ahead, 2-0, in the second when Schmit, who drove in four runs with a homer and a double, stroke a two-bagger to right center. One out later, Ryan Lisle walked and when the third baseman threw Kevin Hill's groundball into right field, Schmit scored. Ron Natherson then smacked a base hit off the pitcher's mound to chase home Lisle.

A six-run fourth put away the game against loser Tommy Abdo, whose leaky defense accounted for six errors. Hill singled, stole second and moved to third when the catcher's throw went into center. Natherson plated him with a fly ball to left to break a 2-2 tie and collect the game-winning RBI. Keith Wallace was hit by a pitch, stole second and went to third on another throw to center. Shane Letterio singled home Wallace.

Letterio then stole second and went to third on the catcher's third error. Laszalc followed with a base hit to deep short for the RBI. Scott Underwood followed with a crushing double to right center to plate Laszalc. Underwood, who went to third on the throw home, scored on Schmit's fielder's choice. Schmit was thrown out trying to steal second but Rod Metz walked, stole second and scored on Lisle's looping single to right for an 8-2 lead.

Schmit followed a Laszalc walk and Underwood reaching on an error with his fourth homer of the year in the sixth. The blast bucked a 20-mile-per-hour wind to clear the right center field fence.

"Laszalc kept them off balance," said Lake Mary coach Allen Tuttle. "He had good control of his curveball. They got five hits but he spread them out."

Coach Gary Smith's Pats, meanwhile, knocked out Mainland with 16 hits as the Patriots also won for the fifth straight time. Along with Dunn's 14 whiffs, he walked two and allowed eight hits for his fifth win in as many decisions.

Lee Bernbaum opened the game with a walk and Mark Coffey singled. Mike Beams singled home Bernbaum before Mike Davis scored Coffey with a fielder's choice for a 2-0 lead.

In the third, Bernbaum, Coffey, Beam and Dan Beaty all singled against loser Bobby Hunter with Beaty picking up the ribbie. In the fourth, Brad Dunn and Blair Patten singled and Andy Dunn walked. Bernbaum came through again with a suicide squeeze to plate Brad Dunn.

Mainland, 1-6 and 1-4, came back to tie the game in its half of the fourth but the Patriots pushed across one run in the fifth and two more

Anthony Laszalc, left, and Brad Dunn each turned in strong pitching performances as Lake Mary and Lake Brantley stayed tied for the Five Star Conference baseball lead.

In the seventh to secure the win. Davis and Bass singled to open the fifth and Brad Dunn brought home Davis with a sacrifice fly. In the seventh, Davis socked a double and Beaty singled. A balk scored Davis, moving Beaty to second where he scored on a base hit by Kevin Bass.

Bass and Brad Dunn each had three hits. Beaty, Davis, Beams and Coffey had two apiece.

Struggling Seminoles Fall Again

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
APOPKA — The Seminoles are struggling. Coach Mike Ferrell will be the first to admit that. With just three seniors in the lineup, he expected as much. Still, it hasn't made losing any easier.

The Tribe finally broke out of a prolonged battling slump Wednesday against Apopka but the pitching wasn't there as the Seminoles dropped an 8-6 decision to the Blue Darters in a game halted after six innings due to darkness at Apopka High School.

"What we need to do is try the best we can to make everything positive," said Ferrell, in his first year as Tribe coach. "Apopka was ranked 10th in the state and we've got a very young team. We gave them a run for awhile."

"We're fighting as hard as we can. The attitude is good. They can't wait for the next game. We just have to get our pitching and hitting to come together at one time."

Wednesday's loss was the Seminoles sixth straight. It dropped their overall mark to 4-8. Apopka improved to 7-5-1 and 3-2. The Tribe will send hard-throwing right-hander James Hersey against Mainland Friday. Game time is 7 p.m. at Daytona Beach.

Seminole right-hander Brian Sheffield had a rocky start Wednesday. Jason Andrews hit the first pitch of the game over the fence. Sheffield then hit John Jackson with a pitch. Tim Oxley doubled, Mike Hinde singled and Sid Lowman singled for a 4-0 lead.

The Tribe bounced back for one with a walk by Alonzo Gaihey, a single by Sheffield, a fielder's choice by Hersey and an error by the second baseman.

Seminole went ahead in the second with three more runs. With two out, David Rape coaxed a walk. Gaihey singled and sophomore Gary Derr drilled his first varsity homer off the top of the left field fence for a 4-4 deadlock.

The Darters edged ahead in the third on an Oxley singled and a couple of wild pitches but Hersey and Tony Cox sent the Tribe back on top, 6-5, when they eluded back-to-back homers to chase starter Skip Cousins.

That was the extent of the 'Noles' offense, however, as Oxley came on and shut down the attack on two hits the rest of the way. Apopka pulled ahead with three runs in the fifth when Oxley, Lowman and Tony Johnson all doubled around a two-base error which allowed Hinde to reach.

"We finally woke up the bats but the pitching went to sleep," said Ferrell. "Cox hit his homer way down the left field line. We couldn't do much against Oxley, though."

Sophomore Gaihey, who has hit in 10 of the Tribe's 12 games, had two singles and scored twice. Cox had a single to go with his homer. Hersey's homer was his second.

In junior varsity action Wednesday, Lake Mary's Sean "Flake" Flaherty shut down Seminole, 7-1. Leonard Lucas, who was relieved by Timmy Hines in the third, suffered the loss.

Jorge DelMonte, Lake Howell's sidearming right-hander, provided some big relief for the Hawks Wednesday. DelMonte came on for a wild Damon Marlette and stifled the Lyman Greyhounds for five innings as Lake Howell pulled out a 2-1 win in the seventh inning. The loss dropped Lyman two games back in the conference race.

Lake Howell Stuns Lyman

Rob Laris
Special to the Herald
CASSELBERRY — Playing with a sense of urgency, Lake Howell rallied with two runs in the bottom of the seventh to nip Lyman, 2-1, in Five Star Conference play Wednesday afternoon at Lake Howell High.

Going into the game, Lake Howell had a Five Star record of 2-2 and a loss would have meant dropping even further behind frontrunning Lake Mary and Lake Brantley who are 5-0. And perhaps falling out of contention for the top spot.

However, behind the relief pitching of Jorge DelMonte, and some wild Lyman hurling, Lake Howell was able to win and stay in the heated Five Star race.

The Lake Howell seventh began slowly with a ground out to third base, then the next batter, Bobby Miller, was hit by a pitch from Byron Overstreet who was cruising with a two-hitter up to that point.

Vic Roberts followed with the third Lake Howell hit of the game, a single to center field. Lyman coach Bob McCullough then replaced Overstreet with ace Derek Livernois who promptly induced Dave Marlette into what could have been a game ending double play. However, shortstop John Bane bobbed the ball, loading the bases.

Shaken, Livernois delivered a wild pitch on his next offering to Ed Taubensee to bring the tying run home. Taubensee was then intentionally walked to load the bases, setting up another double play possibility. The plan backfired, though, because Livernois then walked pinch hitter Jim Daniel to bring home the winning run.

"All I can say is that we're gutty," said Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin. "A good team has to win late a lot of times. The kids hit the ball hard but it was at people. I've been telling them this is what they can do. We have a good club, we just haven't jelled together yet."

Baseball

Meanwhile, McCullough lamented his team's inability to score and its mental mistakes.

"If you can't score runs, you can't win ballgames," McCullough stated. "He (Overstreet) pitched well enough to win. But we made a lot of mental mistakes. It's hard to keep that mental level up."

The win by DelMonte raised his personal record to 2-0 and the team's to 7-5 overall. Lyman fell to 10-2 and 3-2 in the conference.

Lake Howell will host Daytona Beach Seabreeze Friday at 3:30 while Lyman will be under the lights playing host to Lake Brantley at 7.

The loss overshadowed a brilliant performance by Overstreet. He allowed just one runner to reach third base, that was in the fifth inning on a double by Dave Marlette who moved to third on a groundout.

"I just lost it," said Overstreet. "I didn't want to lose, but I just lost it. We'll come back. I'm looking for a good year."

Lyman scored its lone run in the second inning when Overstreet walked, went to second on a wild pitch, advanced to third on another wild pitch and scored on an error on third baseman Dave Marlette. From there, the 'Hounds were held in check by DelMonte who recorded four strikeouts and yielded just two hits.

Lady Greyhounds Overhaul Lake Brantley

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds got off to a slow start both offensively and defensively Wednesday afternoon. But, after falling behind, 3-0, to Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots after two innings, Lyman tightened up defensively and came on with a four-run rally in the fifth that lifted the Lady Greyhounds to a 4-3 victory in the Five Star Conference opener for both teams at Lyman High.

"We have a tendency to start slow," Lyman coach Annette Griffin said.

Seminole softball coach Beth Corso has been waiting for her girls' bats to explode all year. They finally did Wednesday against Lake Highland. Seminole erupted for 12 runs in the first inning and finished with 15 hits in an 18-0 blitz of the Lady Highlanders at Sanford's Fort Mellon Park.

"We hit the ball really well for the first time all year," said Corso about her 1-3 Seminoles who travel to New Smyrna Beach today. "Jackie Suggs did a good job on the mound. She only gave up three hits."

While Suggs, who added two hits and three RBIs, was stifling the Lake Highland bats, Nicey Wheeler provided the power at the plate with a homer and a triple good for six runs batted in. Jackie Farr accounted for four RBIs with a triple and a bases-loaded double. Janet Hauck also drilled a homer before leaving the game with an injury.

Softball

Lyman, 1-1 overall, goes for its second conference victory today at Lake Howell. Lake Brantley, 1-2 overall, hosts Orlando Boone today. In other action today, Lake Mary hosts Oviedo.

Lake Brantley, runnerup in the district a year ago, broke on top early Wednesday with a pair of runs in the top of the first. With one out, Holly Hagaman singled, Heather Meyer drew a walk and Mandy Mathieson singled to load the bases. Michelle Brown drilled a singled up the middle to drive in Hagaman and Meyer scored on a single off the bat of Deana Jeffers for a 2-0 lead.

After Brantley went down quickly in the top of the fifth, Lyman sent 10 hitters to the plate in the bottom of the frame and came away with four runs. Jarrett coaxed a walk out of Robinson to start the rally. Mary Ryan bounced back to the mound but Robinson's error put runners on first and second. Ryan was forced at second on Kaiser's grounder with Jarrett going to third. Price then cashied in Jarrett with the Lady Greyhounds' first run as she smacked a single to right.

Kaiser moved up to third when Stevens flew out to May in right field for the second out. Helms followed with a single down the left field line to score Kaiser and the bases were loaded when LaDuke reached on an error. Binkewicz followed with a single up the middle to drive in pinch runner Wendy Vickery, tying the score at 3-3. Helms scored the go ahead run when Carman worked Robinson for a walk.

Tribe's Explosion Rips Highland, 18-0

Softball

Seminole put the game out of reach in the first. Alicia "Fat" Dixon and Farr walked before Suggs doubled in Dixon. Wheeler ripped a sacrifice fly to right field which scored Farr.

Barbara Sylva walked and Hauck ripped three-run homer to left field. Jennifer Page followed with a walk and Mary Hicks tripled in Page. Shelly Sanders then singled home Hicks.

Lisa Hartman flied to right but Dixon, batting again, reached on an error by the right fielder. Farr then walked and Suggs singled home Dixon and Farr. Wheeler then crushed her homer down left field line. Sylva singled and Bert Detreville reached on error by second baseman before Page grounded back to the pitcher for the final out.

Brett Thayer had a single and a double in SCC's loss Wednesday.

Errors Drop Raiders, 8-7

Seminole Community College's Raiders jumped to a 3-0 first-inning lead but five defensive lapses led directly to an 8-7 loss to South Florida in junior college baseball Wednesday at SCC. The Raiders, 8-7-1, host St. Johns River in a Mid-Florida Conference game today at 3.

Oviedo's Brett Thayer led the Raiders with a double and a single while Mike Songini rapped a triple and a single. Bryan Maley absorbed the loss.

for 7.36 acres on the northwest corner of Tuskawilla Road and Howell Creek, also requested by Tepper. Harling said 90 apartment units would be built there. The planning and zoning commission recommendation of approval carried the stipulation that the density on the property be reduced from 12 units per acre to 10 as recommended by staff.

The board recommended the commission deny changes.

- From low density residential to commercial in the land use plan and from single family residential to commercial zoning for the 5.4 acres on the east side of Tuskawilla Road, one-half mile north of Red Bug Lake Road.

- From low density residential to medium density residential in the land use plan and from agriculture to residential professional zoning for the .89 acre, 200 feet north of the northeast corner of Tuskawilla and Dike roads.

Bernie Namie, who lives in Tuskawilla Pointe subdivision, opposed all four changes, saying sufficient area is already zoned commercial on Tuskawilla Road. Of the proposed residential development, he said that the road is not adequate for traffic there now, and "there is no aid in sight for widening the road."

Namie told the board the changes in the county's land use plan are "not growth management when development is allowed to trample into a residential area. If you aren't careful Tuskawilla Road will become saturated and turn into another (SR) 438 or International Drive."

Michael McNellis, another resident, said the county has a comprehensive plan for the proper development of the area "so that resources develop together with commercial and residential ventures."

He said, "There should be tremendously over-riding reasons before the plan is changed," charging that changes to the plan have become the rule.

Sue Lewis, board member, reminded McNellis that if the board had adhered to the comprehensive plan and not changed it to permit residential development he and his neighbors would not be living in that area because their homes would not have been allowed to be built.

John Dwyer, coordinator of county development, said earlier that nearby Red Bug Lake Road is operating "above design capacity" and the protesters also picked up on the information to criticize the proposed rezoning and changes in the comprehensive plan.

Of the two requests turned down, the board noted that each one received a recommendation for denial from the county staff because they would be intruding into a single family residential area.

On a related front Wednesday, the Senate Budget Committee refused to cut the $6.2 billion from farm programs Reagan proposed as part of velopment on three sides.

But the panel put off a decision on what to do about federal subsidies for Amtrak, another "middle-class" program under attack by Reagan.

Especially opposing the change in the county's comprehensive land use plan, Lucadama said, "The comprehensive land use plan has been emasculated by 500 changes in the past eight years." He added this has led to the county's greatest problem, "growth, uncontrolled growth."

"Most of the changes favor developers at the expense of residents who have their whole lives invested in this area. The developers make big bucks and get out," Lucadama said.

The Lake Hodge homeowners began their fight against the development of the orange grove when it was first proposed last summer for 998 dwelling units.

The request for rezoning was withdrawn on Oct. 9, before the November election, and resubmitted with a different plan after the election.

damage estimate. "We got by very lucky. Flames were 40 feet in the air and when the wind blew this way we got fire over here," he said.

The fire was confined to a small area west of 17-92 and north Weldon Boulevard, a roadway that leads to the college.

Shifting winds of 25 mph that pushed the flames in three directions also caused firefighters to keep a close watch on two homes south of the blaze. The fire broke out just before noon under high tension transmission line lines that parallel Weldon Boulevard.

Firefighters from Lake Mary, in whose city limits the fire started, and from Seminole County and the Division of Forestry took about 40 minutes to put the fire out.

Jack Jones, from the Division of Forestry, said the fire was fueled by low ground vegetation that died then dried following recent frosts.

Dale, who had three squads, an engine and a tanker from their volunteer fire department at the scene, said fighting the fire in 80 degree plus temperatures was taxing.

'No Soliciting' Sign Ignored For 'Come In'

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the letter signed "Sick of Solicitors," who was upset because her sign saying "No Soliciting" didn't help.

We had the same problem and discovered that some people don't know what the words "solicitor" and "soliciting" mean. In England, a "solicitor" is a lawyer. And in the United States some people call what prostitutes do "soliciting."

We finally took down our "No Solicitors" sign and put up one that said "No Door-to-Door Salespeople." It worked.

ALSO SICK OF SOLICITORS
DEAR ALSO: Read on for an explanation of why experienced door-to-door salespeople ignore that sign.

DEAR ABBY: When I worked for an insulation company as a canvasser, we were instructed to ignore all "No Solicitors" signs and ring the bell anyway.

We were told that only people who had a hard time saying no to a salesperson needed to put up a sign like that, and after working in the field for three years, I found it to be true.

DON'T BELIEVE IN SIGNS

DEAR ABBY: Did that letter signed "Sick of Solicitors" ever bring back memories to this 65-year-old salesman? Forty years ago I was a member of a crew of door-to-door salesmen who used to cover an entire county in a couple of days, then we'd move on to the next county.

Our crew chief told us on our first day that "No Salesman" signs were often used by people with low sales resistance, and we should pay no attention to them.

Abby, he was right. Behind such signs was either a quick curser or a fast sale. Neither cost us much time, and it sure added to our sales. Thanks for the memories.

Dear Abby

RETIRED IN COLORADO

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Sick of Solicitors" made me smile. All good salespeople know that "No Solicitors" signs are put up by people who realize their sales resistance is practically nil.

When they open the door, after they bark, "Didn't you see the sign?" comes the next question, "OK, so what are you selling?"

W.C.W., FORMER SALESMAN

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the person complaining about a "No Soliciting" sign being repeatedly ignored reminded me of the time I trained to sell encyclopedias door-to-door. My supervisor told me, "Behind doors marked 'No Soliciting' live people who have a hard time saying no — hence prime prospects."

He said he always knocked. I didn't. I quit.

FAIR-MINDED GAL, BELTSVILLE, MD.

DEAR ABBY: I once posted a "No Solicitors" sign on my gate, but a courteous young man knocked on my door anyway, and very politely explained that he was a Jehovah's Witness and wanted only a few minutes of my time. I asked him if he had seen the sign on my gate, and he said he had but he wasn't "selling" anything — that he had come to "give" me something. Then he handed me some literature.

I thanked him for wanting to give me something, but I told him (politely) that I was a nurse who worked nights and tried to sleep during the daytime. Then I got my purse and gave him a dollar for the literature, told him that I was very happy with my religion and said goodbye.

Abby, I realize that it is a part of some people's religion to spread the gospel, and their church demands that they do it, but wouldn't you call that "soliciting" even though they have come to give you something?

SOLICITED

DEAR SOLICITED: Yes. And as someone once said, "The most precious right a person has is the right to be left alone."

DEAR ABBY: After breaking up with my boyfriend of two years, I returned to the nightclub scene because I enjoy dancing and I didn't want to just drop out of sight. I go to fairly high-class clubs, but I'm offended by these men who talk to a girl for five minutes, then ask her if she would like to go to bed.

I'm not talking about just one guy; I'm talking about a whole series of them. One evening I had seven propositions. One conceited jerk had the nerve to say, "Don't play hard to get; this is your last chance. If you don't come with me, I'm leaving with the girl over there." Then he pointed to her, I said no, so he went over to her and said, "OK, let's go," and they left together.

I'm no prude, Abby, but I'm no pushover, either. I look like a lady, act like a lady and talk like a lady. So where are all the gentlemen?

Women And Their Bodies

Book Updates Original Concept That Good Health Is A Right

By Patricia McCormack
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The ethics of surrogate motherhood and the latest legal strategies to battle sexual harassment are among the items added to an updated volume intended to help women make better health care choices.

"The NEW Our Bodies, Ourselves" (Simon & Schuster, $12.95 paper; $24.95, cloth) is the sequel from the Boston Women's Health Book Collective, a group organized after a workshop on "Women and Their Bodies" at Boston's Emmanuel College in 1969.

They wanted insider stuff that would help them take charge of their health care, deal with the existing medical system and fight whenever possible for improvements and changes. They collected so much, it had to go in a book.

They also started a revolution that has given women more of a voice in their own medical treatment.

"We didn't know enough about our bodies even to evaluate the health care we were getting," the collective announced when it brought out a stapled 75-page guide on women's health in 1970.

The modest newsprint publication provided some background needed to make health decisions and gave women information, not commonly known, about their bodies.

Jumbo editions, book-length, followed in 1973 and 1976, selling a total of 2.5 million copies. They broke ground by talking about lesbian life and sexuality, violence against women, sexual fantasy and abuses of medical practice.

So why rewrite a hit?

Judy Norsigian, collective member, says it was necessary due to, among other forces, technology shaping and reshaping the women's health scene.

The chapter on state-of-the-art reproductive technologies plunges into ethical dilemmas created by test-tube babies, donor insemination, surrogate motherhood, sex preselection and egg fusion.

Other new chapters deal with:

- Body image. Topics range from overcoming pressure for the perfect body to Madison Avenue's conspiracy for thinness.

- Alcohol, mood-altering drugs and smoking. Tells how the multibillion dollar alcohol and tobacco industries capitalized on the feminist movement; why addictive drug-use is a feminist issue.
- Violence against women. Covers such things as legal weapons as protection against rape, strategies to end sexual harassment.

Norsigian said the Collective, with offices in Watertown, Mass., consists of the same core group — minus one — that worked on the 1973 edition of "Our Bodies, Ourselves."

"We have been meeting once a week for 12 years and we have become a kind of family to one another," the Collective says in the introduction to the new edition.

"We have written together in twos and threes, looked after each other's children, had family picnics and celebrations, played music together and met for meals, given workshops with each other around New England and throughout the country."

Norsigian says the same forces that created the need for the original "Our Bodies, Ourselves" as strong as ever. She referred to the results of those forces as "the medicalization of life."

Medicalization?

Here's how it's described in the introduction:

"The medical system is a vast business, now tied more closely than ever to other businesses in this profit-oriented economy. Rich and poor receive very different types of health and medical care.

"Preventive health care is not only a low national priority, but reimbursement policies actually discourage prevention.

"Industries continue to pollute the environment. Misogynist arch-conservative mentality, money and policy drive women out of the workforce, deprive women of needed prenatal, abortion and birth control services and cut down access to health information.

"So now, more than ever, we hold to our original goals."

They include:

- To work to create a more just society in which good health is a right, not a luxury...

SCC Leisure Time Classes To Begin

The Leisure Time Program at Seminole Community College announces that the following classes will begin during the week of March 18. "These classes are self-supported by student fees at no expense to the taxpayer," according to Fay C. Brake, Coordinator of the Program. Registrations are being accepted in the Registrar's Office at SCC.

COLOR AND WARDROBE WORKSHOP FOR MEN (evening class) - During the first class session, each man will be analyzed to determine his best colors. The aim of the second session will be to help each student plan and develop a quality wardrobe of coordinated clothing in colors which are best for him.

COLOR AND STYLE WORKSHOP (afternoon and evening classes) - Two three-hour sessions which will cover personal color analysis, makeup selection and application techniques. Class enrollment is limited to six so that each student may be given as much personal attention as possible.

BECOME INTIMATE WITH YOUR CAR (evening class) - Basic instruction in the care and maintenance of your car. The students will learn about the functions of the various components of the automobile and will get involved with some "hands-on" experience on their own vehicles.

BEGINNING ORGAN DISCOVERY: A MUSICAL ADVENTURE (afternoon class) - Designed for the adult beginner and those interested in learning to play the organ as a hobby. The basics of organ music and electronic organs will be examined.

ADVANCED ORGAN DISCOVERY: A MUSICAL ADVENTURE (afternoon class) - Designed for the more experienced organ hobbyist and those who have completed the intermediate level. Subjects will be selected from the following areas: arranging, chord structure, circle of fifths; beginnings and endings; embellishment of the melody lines; and pedal movement. Also organ registration (how to get the most out of your organ), authenticity of sound, special effects, and creative tone building.

DRAWING & SKETCHING (evening class) - Emphasis on fundamentals of charcoal sketching in preparation for painting and working in color. Students will work from still life and landscapes.

AMATEUR RADIO/GENERAL (evening class) - Instruction in basic electrical theory and FCC regulations. This course will enable the student to pass the Amateur Technician or General class theory test.

OIL & ACRYLIC PAINTING (evening class) - Basic to advanced techniques in acrylic and oil painting concentrating on use of color, composition and perspective as applied to portrait, figure, still life and landscape painting.

GOLF I (Saturday morning classes) - Designed to teach the student the basic techniques of playing golf—how to hold the club, stance and swing. Students should bring a 4 or 5 iron to the first class meeting.

'A.D.' Will Show A Different Nero

By Joan Hanauer
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "If Nero was fiddling while Rome burned," Anthony Andrews murmured, "what exactly was he fiddling with?"

Andrews, best known for his portrayal of the fey, charming and doomed Sebastian Flyte in "Brideshead Revisited," plays the depraved, mad Nero in "A.D.," the 12-hour NBC miniseries to air for five nights beginning March 31.

The show, this year's Easter offering from NBC, takes up where "Jesus of Nazareth" left off at the crucifixion of Christ and runs through the early years of Christianity, following the Apostles and Christian converts during the reign of four Roman Caesars — Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius and Nero.

The cast includes Colleen Dewhurst, John Houseman, Richard Kiley, James Mason, Ian McShane, Jennifer O'Neill, Susan Sarandon, Ben Vereen, Jack Warden and Anthony Zerbe — and Ava Gardner as Nero's mother, Agrippina.

Andrews said the public conception of Nero is full of myth and misinformation, from the popular picture of his appearance to the old saw about Nero fiddling while Rome burned.

"He began as a very good-looking, personable young man who was passionate about the arts," Andrews said. "When we first see him in 'A.D.,' he is still quite attractive and in his early 20s. That's at the death of Claudius, who was poisoned by his wife, Agrippina, Nero's mother."

Agrippina pushes her son into the purple and he certainly was a boy who loved his mother.

"He very quickly became a degenerate character," Andrews said. "The way he lived, the things he overindulged in — every kind of depravity — made him tremendous fun and a great challenge."

"The popular misconception of him, the previous images

'He doesn't get as depraved as I would like him to. He was supposed to be extraordinarily sensitive on the one hand, but on the other he was capable of the most outrageous, bloodthirsty acts.'

—actor Anthony Andrews

we've seen of him on the screen or whatever, are of a fat and comic figure. Actually he was thin and spindly with a pot belly, sort of long, curly hair and a very peculiar voice.

"His one saving grace was that he was passionate about art, theater, poetry, music. He was always singing and performing and acting, and consequently had a very much overstrained and husky voice."

Andrews insisted the fiddling was a myth, and said instead in "A.D.," Nero recites Virgil, which was "very much in keeping" with his character.

Andrews spoke with relish of Nero's outrages and with regret that they couldn't all be shown on television.

"He doesn't get as depraved as I would like him to," Andrews said. "I think it was the contrasts of his personality that attracted me to the role. He was supposed to be extraordinarily sensitive on the one hand, but on the other he was capable of the most outrageous, ghastly bloodthirsty acts."

"Nero thought nothing of torturing and executing people and he was particularly excited by the games when people were eaten by lions."

Andrews said the story takes Nero up to the time of his death, when he was probably in his late 30s.

"He was garrotted, and it was generally assumed to be suicide," Andrews said, "but — unfortunately from my point of view — he dies off camera."

Out Of This World

As the children look on in the background, Hal (Sam Groom, right) listens to the advice of an old hermit (John Astin) while preparing to shoot a bizarre monster that has overpowered his wife, on "Otherworld" at 8 p.m. Saturday on channel 6.

CBS Wins Again, But So Does NBC's 'Cosby'

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS followed the yellow brick road to another win in the prime time network Nielsen ratings last week, thanks in part to "The Wizard of Oz," but Bill Cosby's NBC show again was the most popular on television.

The A.C. Nielsen Co. prime time ratings for the week ending March 3 gave CBS a 18.3 rating and a 28 percent share of the audience. NBC had a 16.6 rating and a 26 share, while ABC had a 14.7 rating with a 23 share.

Not only did Dorothy and the other denizens of Oz give CBS a boost, but so did the Grammy awards, which finished fourth. The second and third episodes of NBC's miniseries, "Evergreen," also were winners, with the finale finishing sixth and the second episode in 11th place.

The two-hour special episode of ABC's new series,

"Moonlighting," provided the only good news for that network last week, finishing a very respectable 20th place.

On the season to date, CBS leads with a 17.2 rating and a 27 share, while NBC has a 16.4 rating and a 26 share and ABC a 15.7 rating and a 25 share.

"CBS Evening News with Dan Rather" was still the No. 1 evening news show, with a 13.2 rating and 23 share. "NBC Nightly News with Tom Brokaw" came in second with a 12.2 rating and a 21 share, and ABC's "World News Tonight" had a 10.9 rating and a 19 share.

The top prime time shows for the week ending March 3, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:

1. The Cosby Show (NBC)
2. Dynasty (ABC)
3. Family Ties (NBC)
4. Grammy Awards (CBS)

5. Simon & Simon (CBS)
6. "Evergreen," part 3 (NBC)
7. Dallas (CBS)

8. 60 Minutes (CBS)
9. Murder, She Wrote (CBS)
10. "The Wizard of Oz" (CBS)

World Record Just For Laughs

WEST HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — A small nightclub claimed a world record for continuous stand-up comedy when 108 comics did their routine, performing just under 54 hours of non-stop schtick.

Put on as a publicity stunt to draw attention to Igby's Comedy Cabaret, the marathon featured such headliners as Robin Williams, but most of the acts were virtual unknowns looking for a break. All worked without pay, club owner Jan Smith said.

The marathon began at 7:30 p.m. PST Friday and ended a little before 1:30 a.m. Monday.

Smith said the crowds ranged from a low of two people to standing room only on Saturday night when people were lined up outside the 180-seat club. Smith said one woman sat through more than 24 hours of comedy during the three days, including one stint of 13 hours.

All the comics were professional and several have appeared on the "Tonight Show."

Smith said another Los Angeles club put on 29 straight hours of comedy a few years ago. He said he has contacted the Guinness Book of World Records but was told no record category exists for continuous comedy by more than two people. He hopes Guinness will create a category for his record.

Patrons were charged $5 and could stay as long as they wanted.

Lighting, Processing Can Affect Vitamins

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read that products under fluorescent lighting lose their vitamin content after 24 hours. Does this apply to vitamins and food in all types of containers — glass, tin, and cardboard, — or is the entire theory false?

DEAR READER — There is a limited amount of truth to that statement. Riboflavin (vitamin B-2) found in milk is sensitive to ultraviolet light. If milk is kept in glass or clear containers, it may lose from 20 to 80 percent of its riboflavin within just two hours. This does not happen to milk in opaque containers, such as the cardboard cartons of milk.

Vitamin A is also very sensitive to sunlight. The vitamin A in milk in glass containers also can be destroyed quickly. However, vitamin D formation is stimulated by sunlight on your skin.

The story of vitamins, food processing and storage doesn't end there. The way in which food is processed has a lot to do with its vitamin content. Vitamin C can be lost simply by cutting or mashing fresh strawberries. Just standing in storage can cause a lot of vitamin loss, and cooking may destroy other vitamins. Adding baking soda to maintain the pretty green color of vegetables causes a loss of both vitamin C and thiamine. In general, the longer a food is stored, the greater the vitamin loss.

I have summarized this problem in The Health Letter 20-B, How Food Processing Affects Nutritive Values.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read recently that some foods can affect blood thinners that are taken to prevent blood clots. The story said that some foods contain a vitamin that neutralizes the medicines and can affect the blood-clotting balance. Is that true? My husband had a light stroke a year ago and recovered well, but he takes Coumadin. Will certain foods affect how effective his Coumadin is?

DEAR READER — Perhaps the most important thing is that he should eat the same types of foods regularly. His Coumadin dose is regulated by his tests, and a change in his diet could affect his blood-clotting.

You are referring to vitamin K, which is the antidote used to neutralize the anti-coagulant Coumadin if a patient gets too much of it. Vitamin K is abundant in leafy vegetables such as lettuce, broccoli and turnip greens. The Journal of the American Medical Association recently reported on a woman who was taking Coumadin because of an artificial-heart valve. She went on a salad-based diet and lost her protection from the Coumadin. As a result, a clot formed from the valve and went to her coronary artery, causing a heart attack.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The Smolen convention applies after you have bid Stayman (two clubs over your partner's opening no-trump bid, asking for a major). Partner rebids two diamonds, denying a four-card major. Now if you jump to three of a major, you show five of the other major with only four of the major in which you have jumped. Why all this trouble? If the opening bidder has three-card support for your five-card major, he can bid it and he will be declarer — thus forcing the opening lead to come around into all his high cards.

Three no-trump would have been easier on today's deal, but a defensive slip let declarer work a little magic against hapless West. Declarer won the king of hearts and played a heart to dummy's ace. He came off dummy with a low spade and East played low. South winning with the nine. Next South played a club. West won the ace and played another heart. South won the queen and finessed a club to the 10. He cashed the club king and played to his spade ace. Then he cashed the A-K of diamonds, throwing a spade from dummy. Finally he played a third diamond. If West trumped, the last spade would be thrown from dummy. If West discarded a club, declarer would ruff in dummy for the tenth trick.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Instead of concerning yourself about problems you think may arise in the future, handle what is necessary for today and you'll find tomorrow will take care of itself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's important you schedule your objectives sensibly today or you could let things go until the last minute and end up working until the wee hours to catch up.

McCollum Goes After Money Launderers

Special to the Herald
Immediately after being named the ranking Republican of the House Subcommittee on Crime of the Judiciary Committee last week, U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum of Altamonte Springs introduced a bill that for the first time make money laundering a crime.

McCollum's "Money Laundering Act of 1985" would also amend the Bank Security Act to give new subpoena power to the Secretary of the Treasury to take testimony and examine financial institutions' records pertaining to the proposed statute's record keeping and reporting requirements. Thirdly, under this new piece of legislation, money laundering would be made subject to authorized federal wiretaps, and protection would be provided to banks wishing to notify the federal government of unusual and suspicious money laundering-type activities.

Currently, the Bank Secrecy Act is the principal tool in the fight to stop money laundering, but it has been ineffective for a number of reasons, McCollum said. Money launderers who comply with the record keeping and reporting requirements of the act can operate with impunity, unless it can be proved that the launderers have violated another federal statute. Banks are required to report transactions of $10,000 or more, and when sums of $10,000 or more are removed from the U.S. Also, persons with foreign bank accounts exceeding $5,000 must file a Foreign Bank Account Report (FBAR). Not only do those who comply and report transactions often escape, there also is a large loophole for money launderers whose transactions are smaller than $10,000. All would be covered under this bill, McCollum said.

The Money Laundering Act of 1985 would explicitly prohibit transactions when the persons involved with the transactions intend to manage or further unlawful activities that are typically conducted by organized criminal groups. Federal law enforcement officials estimate that up to $75 billion in illegal drug money is earned in the U.S. each year and that as much as $15 billion of it probably moves into international financial channels.

An unfortunate example of the

huge amounts of money involved in laundering occurred just recently during the unfolding of the Pizza Connection case where sophisticated banking and investment expertise were essential elements in both financing and profiting from the drug trade. La Cosa Nostra members distributed heroin imported from Southeast Asia's Golden Triangle through pizza parlors in the United States, and then transferred the cash generated through accounts in two large New York brokerage firms to Switzerland and finally to Sicily where it was used to buy more heroin.

Authorities estimate at least $25 million was laundered between October 1980 and September 1982.

McCollum, who is also a member of the Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs Committee, said that "to cut back the number of these serious offenses, under this new act, penalties for money laundering offenses such as these would be severe. For the first offense the maximum punishment would be a fine of not more than $250,000 or twice the value of the monetary instruments involved, whichever is greater, or imprisonment for up to 5 years, or both. The second offense would bring a maximum fine of the greater of $1 million or five times the value of the money and a 10-year prison term."

Woman Pleads Guilty To Grand Theft In Shoplifting Spree

A Sanford woman arrested after a shoplifting spree at the Altamonte Mall has pleaded guilty to grand theft.

Brenda Joyce Patterson, 25, of 2701 W. 22 St., entered the plea Tuesday and could receive up to a year on the county jail when sentenced April 29 by Seminole Circuit Judge Robert McGregor.

According to an Altamonte Springs police report, two security guards at Sears began watching two women on their store monitors in the junior miss department at about 2 p.m. on Oct. 18.

According to the guards, one of the women put several articles of clothing under her clothes and in a large purse while her accomplice created a diversion.

After the women left the store, the guards went to the department and noticed two empty shopping carts and packages.

They confronted the women outside the store and asked them to return to the scene with them, according to the report.

One of the women became verbally abusive, according to the report, and reached towards her large purse while threatening to shoot the guards.

As the guards forced her to the sidewalk, various articles of clothing fell from under her clothes, according to the report. Police arrived within minutes and placed the women under arrest.

A co-defendant, Arletha

Horn, 23, of Beardall Ave., also charged with grand theft, awaits the disposition of her case.

In other court action, an Altamonte Springs man charged with grand theft pleaded guilty to the charge Tuesday.

James G. Fisher, 19, of 115 Oak St., could receive up to a year in jail when sentenced by Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. on April 17. The state is recommending that Fisher receive two years probation, but Davis is not bound by the state's recommendation.

The case involves the theft of items in Seminole County and the sale of some items in Pinellas County.

A co-defendant in the case, Joseph A. Iafronaro, 19, also of 115 Oak St., pleaded guilty in October to dealing in stolen goods in Pinellas County and was not prosecuted by the Seminole-Brevard State Attorney's Office.

According to court records, Fisher and Iafronaro were arrested March 29 and charged with stealing a boat, motor and other nautical items from David Lee Blackwelder, 622 Orange Drive, Altamonte Springs, on Feb. 29.

The missing boat, valued at $2,975, was recovered at a construction site on Montgomery Road, Altamonte Springs, March 2. Clearwater police recovered the $600 engine which had been sold in that city.

In a third case, a Lake Mary man arrested after an officer noticed a car did not have a license plate has pleaded guilty to grand theft of the car.

Jonathan Wayne McFarland, 20, of 133 N. High St., is scheduled to be sentenced March 21 by McGregor. McFarland could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to arrest reports, an officer spotted a Pontiac Fiero with no license plate on Montgomery Road about 1:47 a.m. on Dec. 3.

After stopping the car, a computer check showed that the car, a leased vehicle, had been taken from Blake H. Guiles, 23, of 447 Hemlock St., Altamonte Springs. Guiles told police he had left the keys in the unlocked car Dec. 2. The vehicle, according to the report, belonged to McNamara Pontiac, Orlando.

The Sanford Taco Bell® Restaurant Congratulates Cindy Smith For "Getting The Point" Of Our Contest

To celebrate the Grand Opening of our new restaurant, we sponsored a "What's in the box" contest.

Customers were invited to look at some clues and guess what was inside a foot square box on our counter. The first correct entry we selected belonged to Cindy Smith, who won a Bahamas cruise for two. Her winning answer: "An arrowhead" (she also gets to keep the artifact donated by the Seminole County Historical Commission).

We chose an arrowhead to hide in the box, because of the influence of Indian history in the development of Sanford. Camp Monroe was the first permanent settlement in the area — designed to protect pioneers from the Seminole Indians. In an attack in 1837, Captain Mellen was killed. The camp was renamed Ft. Mellen in his honor.

Excavations in the Sanford area have turned up arrowheads made of rock not native to the area. The presence of this "western rock" is considered evidence that there was a good deal of trading going on among tribes.

So congratulations to our winner Cindy Smith — we hope her arrowhead points the way to a wonderful cruise for the Smiths.
