Sanford helps employees pay for school

By NICK PFEIFAUF Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Sanford City Commission is updating its educational assistance program for city employees.

The matter comes up for work session consideration and regular meeting consideration Monday:

The program which the city has had underway for a number of years, paid employees after they completed the courses. "Now we would pay themup front," said Personnel Director Tim McCauley-"In that way, they may be better prepared to signup. After all, not all employees have the moneyneeded to enroll in some college level courses.

Under the old system, the maximum has been $150 per course. Courses average anywhere from two to four credit hours, usually three,

Under the proposed plan, the city will pay up to a maximum of $75 per credit hour to employees working toward continuing education, which, for a three-hour course, could amount to as much as 8225

The money will be for eligible tuition, testing, and laboratory fees. It will not include the costs of books and supplies.

Employees will be required to set up their course times as not to interfere with their regular. work hours.

If approved, employees wishing to participate in the program must submit an Educational Assistance Request form to his/her department head for preliminary approval before initiating the actual course, test or labratory work. The request form will then be forwarded to the city manager for final approval.

The approval policy will be based on adequate funding which is available through existing budgetary sources.

Upon approval, the money would be paid lumediately to the employee.

There are requirements however. If an employee fails to maintain a passing grade of "C" or better, or fails to complete the course, the entire amount of money will have to be paid back to the See Tultion, Page 5A

Longwood seeks citizen volunteers

By SANDRA ELLIOTT Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - Citizen volunteers are needed to serve on a variety of boards and commissions in the city of Longwood.

Applicants are needed to serve in a variety of areas ranging from historic preservation to planning and zoning issues.

In addition to volunteers on five standing boards, the city is seeking citizens to work on ad hoc committees and sub-committees which are occasionally organized to make recommendations on specific matters such as the Charter Review Committee, Outlook Committee and Equity Study Committee.

Applications are available from Longwood City Clerk Geri Zambri at City Hall, 175 W. Warren Ave.

Working on boards or commissions provides an opportunity for citizens to become involved with the working of the city.

A brief synopsis of standing boards, listing the days and times of the meetings are:

Board of Adjustment - Meets on the first or third Wednesday of each month at 6:30 p.m. Authorizes variances and special exceptions to the zoning code; hears and decides appeals to administrative decisions. Codes Enforcement Board - Meets the fourth Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. Has authority to hear and decide alleged violations of the city codes.

Historic Commission - Meets the first Thursday of each month at 6 p.m. Reviews and recommends concerning issues of preservation, revitalization and improvement of the Historic District.

Land Planning Agency - Meets on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. Reviews and recommends requests for rezoning, comprehensive plan amendments, conditional use, etc. Review land development code and comprehensive plan amendments, sign regulations, etc.

Parks and Recreation Advisory Board -Meets on the first Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. Assists in the development of plans to meet the present and future parks and recreational needs of the city.

Anyone interested in serving on one of the various city boards should contact the city clerk's office, 260-3444 for a board application form.

New computer system helps students learn the right skills

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald Senior Staff Writer

SANFORD - Students all across the Seminole County school district need to learn the same skills at each grade level.

Until now, however, it was a time-consuming. sometimes less than accurate, process to assess the situation with paper and pencil, classroom visits and committee meetings.

A new computer program system purchased by the school district will not only allow the district to assess if the students are learning the right skills, but also give teachers access to a variety of testing and assessment tools that can be customized to meet the needs of a specific classroom or even an individual child.

The NCS software program is used for management of instructional information, Dec Schumaker, director of Curriculum Services for the school district said.

"But it is so much more than that." she added. "It allows us to develop and align the curriculum and to assess it for accountability purposes."

Through the MCAD software, Schumaker said, teachers have access to a curriculum database from which they can access study guides. lessons, subject information and assessment tools. The information can be easily downloaded and customized to meet their particular needs.

Schumaker does not think the database will make classrooms across the district into mirrors of one another.

'This system allows for a lot more flexibility,' she noted.

In a time when teachers are expected to more work beyond the imparting of knowledge. Schumaker believes the computer system will be a tool that will allow them to be more efficient in performing their duties, leaving them more time to teach.

The program is being used currently at the district level to review the present curriculum of the middle and high schools to see if adjustments need to be made. A curriculum committee will still review the findings and make the actual changes that are needed to align the curriculum.

A pilot program that is giving teachers access to the MCAD data base and other features of the system is being tested at Forest City Elementary School in Altamonte Springs, at Sanford Middle School in Sanford and at Lyman High School in Longwood.

'The equipment is still being assembled at the schools and at the district office so training is not yet underway." Schumaker said. "So we don't know much about how much it is doing for us. but we know the possibilities are fantastic.

The district has dedicated $187,000 for the See Computer, Page 9A

• A resident of the 1300 block of South Oleander Avenue reported someone used a wire hanger to break into a locked truck near 11th Street and stole $610 worth of property.

A resident of the 700 block of West First Street reported someone took an air conditioner after reaching into the apartment and unplugging it Tuesday. A man called 911 after seeing two subjects taking the unit. Police recovered the property and returned it to the owner.

• A thief made off with 20 bags of aluminum cans from the backyard of a house in the 1700 block of West 14th Street. The cans were valued at about $20.

• A car was stolen from a church parking lot Tuesday in the 1700 block of West 13th Street.

Burglary suspect nabbed

Kelly Joe Tobin, 18, 2010 Marquette Ave., Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police at his residence early Friday. Police believe they have connected Tobin and two juveniles with local burglaries.

Between Aug. 7 and 8, police believe Tobin and the two youths entered a business in the 2200 block of South French Avenue, and removed several bikes and three guns, with a total value of $1,525. On Aug. 14, police arrested a 15-year old youth who was reportedly found on one of the stolen bikes. The other juvenile was also reportedly arrested, but no reports were filed.

In connection with the business burglary. Tobin has been charged with armed burglary and grand theft.

On Aug. 17. Tobin is also believed to have been connected with a residential burglary in the 200 block of West 19th Street, with items taken including a $400 22-caliber rifle. In connection with that case, he has been given additional charges of burglary and grand theft.

Prostitution connection

Sanford police arrested Antonie Williams, 37, of 318 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, on Thursday. Police said they had arrested a young woman for assignation to commit prostitution, and she reportedly told them she was working for a man and gave his address. Police subsequently arrested Williams and charged him with procuring a person under age 18 for prostitution.

Stolen vehicles

A 1994 Pontiac was reportedly stolen Wednesday from a dealership on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood, was located in a traffic accident handled by the Florida Highway Patrol Thursday. Officers said the driver of the vehicle managed to run from the scene and was not located.

A black 1989 Dodge, license number LUE-76C, which had stalled Wednesday on Celery Avenue, one block from Brisson Avenue, was reportedly stolen before it could be recovered by the owner.

Just where does the road go? Lake Mary joins dispute over school access route

By NICK PPEIFAUF

Herald Staff Writer LAKE MARY - An access road from Lake Mary Boulevard to Seminole Community College is planned, has been announced. but where it will be, appears to be a mystery. During Thursday night's Lake

Mary City Commission meeting. representatives of the Cardinal Oaks Cove subdivision, which would abut the proposed new roadway, voiced objections to the methods which appear to be in progress. The roadway would be at the present location of Hospital Road. Actually, it has not been a road for many years, serving only as a right-of-way for a power line.

Now, Cardinal Oaks Cove restdents report there have been surveyors laying out roadway stakes, some of which they believe would be immediately adjacent to their property, if not within their lots. Two residents asked the city what it could do regarding the matter. Mayor Lowry Rockett responded that the city had at- to use. One Cove resident, how-tempted to contact the SCC ever, responded that the persons "We just can't sit here and let roadway. He referred to an original agreement which said various considerations would be studied for the roadway as not to interfere with the Cove residents. Although the city of Lake formation being submitted to the Mary actually would not have city by SCC regarding the develjurisdiction over the matter, Rockett said SCC had agreed to at least supply them with their plans.

"I have been in contact with them several times," said City Manager John Litton, "and have written to them on two separate occasions during the past few months asking for their plans. but they have refused to return my calls or respond to my requests." nance

"I think this is a terrible situation," said Commissioner Sheila Sawyer. "The "big boys" know they have jurisdiction over the city in this matter, and they appear as though they will go ahead with what they are doing regardless of us." Rockett explained that the stakes being put into place might be at various locations in order to determine which route

75 years of voting women

This weekend is the 75th anniversary of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. It gave women the right to vote.

The amendment prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex with regard to voting. Although it became effective in 1920, the observance of this day was not formalized until Congresswoman Bella Abzug had a bill approved in 1974 declaring August 26 of each year as "Women's Equality Day.

History books indicate women didn't immediately pack the polling places. Many hesitated for fear of ridicule from their husbands or other male members of the community. Finally, the women's votes began to mount up.

Yet it took several decades after the 19th Amendment was passed before women attempted to seek political office. Now, we are seeing more and more females winning elections and assuming leadership rolls in our government.

is the women's vote important? We guarantee it is. No political candidate today would publicly claim women should not be involved in government. They won't speak of anything which may give question to equal rights. If they would, they would be signing their own political death certificate.

No doubt there are still some men among us who believe only the men should run our cities, counties, state and federal govern-[incrita. Thankfully for us all, this number is diminishing.

Also, and elieve some women have refrained from registering to vote, believing only men are capable of making political udgment caus. Ag becoming smaller with the passing of time.

Promoting individual responsibility

Representative Marvin Couch is serving his second term as Seminole County's 33rd District representative in the state Legislature. Couch has just returned from a meeting of the American Legislative Exchange Council (ALEC), in San Diego, Calif. ALEC's membership is comprised of legislators and business people from all 50 states. There were approximately 3,000 members in attendance. Legislators pay $25 annually for membership. Business people pay $5,000 for membership. Next year's confer-ence will be held in Newport, R.I.

THE REAL PROPERTY AND ADDRESS OF A

The objective of the organization is to promote individual responsibility and free enterprise. Task force members are assigned to critical issues and are charged with drafting model legislation which is presented at their annual meetings. Couch has been appointed to the Energy Task Force. The Energy Task Force will consider the environment and agriculture. Methods of disposing of environmental waste and recycling will be the focus in conjunction with emerging technology.

Among the topics discussed at the conference were: crime, health care and the environment. Proposals relative to health care presented a different concept. The idea of a health care medical savings account similar to an individual Retirement Account. An employer may purchase catastrophic health care insurance for $2,000 annually.

The employer might pay $1,000 and the employee pay $1,000. Both would receive a tax deduction. States that have an income tax may implement this program without federal cooperation. Florida doesn't have a state income tax and It will be necessary for the federal government to buy into the program. Florida might be able to initiate the program with state employees only. Employees would have the option of allowing the fund to roll over or receive a financial reward at the conclusion of the year. Conceivably, this might serve as a carrot or built-in incentive for promoting sound health maintenance.

Couch reviewed some of the bils passed during the last legislative session: CS/SB 94 (CS/HB 2533) Increase Prison Capacity to 150 percent of (CS/HB117) Crime Victims Notification. In the tative to criminal behavior.

Projections that an estimated 58,797 additional inmates in the state prison system by June 30, 2005; CS/SB 168 (HBs 461 and 1885)

The above bills reflect the current national trend to be tough on crime by requiring persons breaking the law to serve longer sentences Whether these bills will serve as a deterrent to crime is the real issue. Otherwise, the financial drain for the incarceration may be a real Design Capacity: increased the capacity of the problem. Search for lost love

I recently saw the movie "Bridges of Madison County." The story line of this movie closely resembles an incident that took place in my life many years ago - the time was the summer of 1971. I was 24 years old at the time and was living in Sanford. I was married with 3 young children, however, my wife at the time and I were separated and planned on getting a divorce.

I enjoyed going to New Smyrna Beach on Sundays and while there one Sunday afternoon met a beautiful young lady from Sanford. For reasons that I hope you understand, I will not disclose her name. We fell in love with each other almost from the first moment we met. She was the daughter of a well-respected professional couple who lived in Sanford. They were on vacation in Europe that summer. The young lady and I had four wonderful months together. I can still see her sparkling eyes and feel her warm touch. We adored each other, but as in the novie i mentioned configer, the livere other people has liver were involved. were other

In the fall of 1971 I moved to Casper, Wyo. and took a position at the newspaper there. After a few weeks I asked the young lady to come to Casper to live with me and my three children. She came willingly with her heart full of love and hope for the future and for us. This caused her parents much grief for which I am very sorry. We were of different religious faiths. She lived with me for about six weeks and taught school in Casper. We were hopelessly in love and shared many "special" times. My divorce proceedings were in progress and the divorce was about to become final - we planned on getting married. About this time my wife called me and told me she had given birth to our fourth child, a son. I had not known she was carrying my child. I agonized many days and nights as she was homeless and had nowhere to go. In November of 1971, my special young lady boarded an airplane in Casper and flew out of my life. It was my decision that she leave. She was crushed. I was devustated and heartbroken but resigned myself to try to be a good husband and father to my family. Sad to say, I was not able to achieve this goal. The young lady was always in my thoughts and my mind. I have not seen or spoken to her since that day in November but my love for her has never gone away. She is the only woman in my life I have every truly loved. There were attempts through the years on my part to try to contact her through her parents. Quite understandably they refused to tell me where she was. I hold no resentment against her parents who are still living. They love their daughter and did not want to see me upset her life. I recently learned that my health is not good and that my time here is short. I hope and pray that the young lady has had and will continue to have a happy and productive life and that she has a loving husband and family. I live a simple life now and have a good relationship with my children and my former wife. In fact, it was at their urging that I undertake this letter. We are on this earth such a short time and true love for another person is something that is precious and good. I have no wish to interfere with her life now. I only hope that somehow, someone will tell her that I have loved her and kept her in my heart these past 24 years. If it is God's will that I never hear from her again, I accept that. If she should learn of this letter and wish to contact me. I would be overjoyed to learn that she is well and happy. My body grows a little weaker each day but my love for this young lady remains strong and pure. Thank you for allowing me to tell my story. If there is a lesson to be learned from this, it would be - "Never let go of the person you truly love — love is too precious." There is a song I listen to quite often that was recorded by The Supremes called "Someday We'll Be Together Again." My lady, wherever you are, you will always be in my heart and in my soul. I have never forgotten you or stopped loving you. Thank you for the memories.

We believe 75 years should be enough time to have opinions changed. We are nearing another election season, and only a year off from a presidential election.

The men will get involved. Many already are. But with this 75 years of freedom on our minds for women, we urge females, one and all, to get more involved. Women are capable of running a household, of running a business, and they should also do their share in running our governments.

For women who are registered voters and show up at the polls; for those who seek political office or become involved in campaigns, we believe a show of appreciation should be made by everyone. United we stand, divided we fall. it's an old saying, but it certainly is true here.

ROSS, HERE'S A CHECK FROM HILLARY. AND ME. WE REALLY HOPE YOU'LL GET INTO THE RACE."

WRITER'S BLOCK With what is your child living?

SANFORD - How many times have you or an acquaintance mumbled under your breath. ever so well-meaning of course, the comment ... 'that kid has no respect.' Statistics are plastered in every form, print and television broadcast concerning the rise in youth crimes and violence. Fingers point to the home, others blame gangs and some promote the lack of religious values as the culprit. Interestingly enough, society as a whole seems to lack manners and respect - from the tiniest toddler, the mouthy teen, the know-it-all young adult, the yupple businessman to the senior citizen that proclaims to be fed up with the whole human race.

Since when did we as adults come to the point of showing the same hateful attitude and lack of respect for the young that we blame them for? Could It be that our "Do as I say and not as I do" lackadaisical ways have finally blossomed into the deflance of youth?

These moldable young minds need a kind and gentle example from adults. They should see a model of respect and care extended to all mankind (and animals, for that matter).

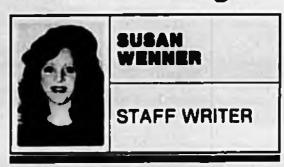

How can we who with a supposed "been there and done that" mentality hope to reach these minds of wet cement when we leave impressions of sarcasm and hatred? Do we expect those golden, "good intentions" of our hearts to filter their being by the process of osmosis?

It's a sad commentary to walk through the average public school campus. Children are being threatened, yelled at and at times jerked around by these authority figures. Unfortunately some children taunt by throwing the same threats back: "You can't do anything to me.

Department stores can be found with out-of-control children running through aisles with fists full of whatever their hearts desire. Frazzled parents give in with iron wills turned to melted butter. Children are treated worse than a junkyard dog. Physical, emotional and verbal abuse become the norm for stressedout, fed-up parents.

Now don't get me wrong. I'm no Mother Teresa. I can have my fits of anger just like the best of them. My children do get a frequent apology for mom's flapping tongue. I have one advantage at this point. They can get the hugs. touches, kisses and tender moments to compensate for the bad times. They hear the frequent "I love you's" and the lessons on why we should control ourselves and how mom needs to work on that too; please help me.

Unfortunately, either some parents, grandparents, guardians, friends, teachers or society as a whole feel the need to always present a "perfect, I can do no wrong" composure instead of admitting that we all, young and old, make mistakes and at times need to practice a little .humility. We need to direct our apologies toward those we've injured with our thoughtless words.

In order to raise a generation of children with a healthy dose of self-esteem, manners and cooperation, they must see a self-confident role model. In no way am I advocating an atmosphere with no correction or discipline. But, in the same token, the correction and discipline can be administered with an attitude of love and concern, and not an all powerful bone-crushing demeanor.

Note, the poem titled, "A Child Learns What He Lives."

If a child lives with criticism he learns to condemn.

If a child lives with hostility he learns to fight

If a child lives with fear he learns to be apprehensive ...

If a child lives with pity he learns to feel sorry for himself

If a child lives with ridicule he learns to be

If a child lives with shame he learns to feel guilty ..

If a child lives with encouragement he learns to be confident ...

If a child lives with tolerance he learns to be patient ..

If a child lives with praise he learns to be appreciative ...

If a child lives with acceptance he learns to like himself ...

If a child lives with recognition he learns it is good to have a goal ...

If a child lives with sharing he learns about generosity ...

If a child lives with security he learns to have faith in himself ...

If a child lives with friendliness he learns to be friendly ...

If you live with screnity your child will live with peace of mind ...

It should be noted that while the word "he" is used in the above, these matters also pertain to "she." The same axioms guide everyone. With what is your child living?

The world needs a little more love. Consider the phrase, "A Better World Begins With Me."

Don't eat if you see a dishrag

By RAJU CHEBIUM Associated Press Writer

MIAMI - Kitchen sponges could be harmful to your health. and dish rags could present an to protect a small group of even greater threat.

A University of Arizona researcher found millions of harmful germs in 20 of 100 cleaning cloths and sponges collected from household kitchens in Miami, Los Angeles, Chicago, Boston and New York.

The germs could cause salmonella food poisoning, urinary tract infections, skin ailments or other illnesses, said Charles Gerba, an environmental microbiologist, who finished the study three weeks ago.

"It may be the most germ-laden area in the kitchen - the sponge or the dishrag." Gerba said Tuesday in a telephone interview. "You're playing Russian roulette with sponges and dishrags."

But dishrags had twice the number of germs as sponges, he

"If you go into a house where they use dishrags, don't cat there," Gerba joked.

and sponges, said spokesman Bob Howard. A common source of the germs is raw meat that hasn't been thoroughly cleaned after slaughter. Thorough cooking kills the germs, but juice from contaminated meat carries disease.

People "wipe the spot with a sponge and put it right back in the sink. What they don't realize is they're putting the salmonella right to the sponge, where they could grow to millions overnight," Gerba said.

Answers to avoiding foodborne illnesses are rooted in common sense:

- Buy antibacterial sponges. Ordinary sponges have 450 times more germs than antibacterial ones.

- Look for kitchen cleaners. such as dish-washing soap and spray cleaners, that carry the words "antibacterial," "kills germs" and "disinfects."

Wash hands thoroughly while cooking. - Cook meat well.

There is minimal risk "so long as it is properly cleaned with hot, soapy water — the key word being hot." Howard said. "Heat will kill this bacteria."

Contrary to popular belief. kitchens contain more germs than bathrooms, Gerba said. "The kitchen itself is the most germ-laden area in the home."

he said. "Most people in the bathroom, they usually do proper hand washing and recognize the importance of cleaning the bathroom.

He said people are more likely to get sick by cating homecooked food than restaurant dishes because restaurants normally have higher sanitation standards.

But at Margarita y Amigas, a West Palm Beach restaurant, a salmonella outbreak this month was blamed on poor foodhandling practices and crosscontamination among infected foods.

Infections have been confirmed in 142 patrons and employees after about 800 patrons complained of illness once the case was publicized. Test results are still coming in. 14

How to reduce lead in drinking water

An estimated 40 million Americans drink water which contains excessive amounts of lead. creating potentialit serious health hazards both for adults and children.

At sufficient levels, lead can impair the reproductive and central nervous systems, increase blood pressure, cause damage to kidneys and hearing and even delay physical and mental development in young children.

On the lead-in-drinking-water issue, Culligan offers these tips.

• Assess your risk. Although you may not have a lead problem, most lead contamination is caused by old plumbing.

If your home was built before 1930, when lead pipes were commonly used for plumbing or before 1986, when lead was often used to solder piping together, check it out.

•Test your water. Your local health department, water utility or a state certified testing laboratory can do this for you.

•Flush your tap water. Running the tap for about a minute each morning, until the water is cold, will help clear out any lead that accumulates overnight.

• Use cold water for drinkcomplex cleansing process that ing and cooking. Hot water is removes a variety of contamimore likely to dissolve lead into nants, including lead.

Medical College of Pennsylvania explores women's health issues

By MEIDI RUSSELL Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA - The elderly patient with chronic bronchilis said she was frustrated.

She was a smoker, and she was having trouble breathing. She said she felt terrible.

"So it sounds like you feel guilty because you can't stop smoking." first-year medical school student Jennifer McLaughlin said. With that, the patient started crying. The supervising male doctor tried to calm the woman down, flatling around the examination room as if she had gone into cardiac arrest.

"He didn't know what to do," McLaughlin said. "They'll say, 'Is it not a good idea to try to prevent your patient from cry-ing?' Doctors will avoid the difficult questions just to avoid the tears. But I hope I will be able to be perceptive of all the factors that may be affecting my patient's health.

It was spoken like a true disciple of the Medical College of Pennsylvania, the first medical school for women in the United States.

Sometimes lauded, sometimes disdained for its aggressive approach to female health - and for nurturing women's medical careers - the Philadelphia college continues a tradition of trying to break the male stronghold in medicine. With the 1993 creation of its Institute for Women's Health. and a $2 million chair endowment to oversee it, the college has created the vehicle to reach its aim: a greater knowledge of female health. The Betty A. Cohen Chair in Women's Health was the world's first for female health care.

Components of the institute include researching neglected health issues, molding students to become intuitive and observant physicians and grooming young women for leadership positions where they can someday dictate policy.

"We have to sustain this effort. We're at a critical juncture, and we're only pushing halfway up the mountain," said Dr. Jean Hamilton, who holds the chair and is the institute director.

The tenacity stems from a tumultuous history.

In 1850, a group of Quaker men decided women needed female doctors to treat gynecological problems. They founded the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, sparking a furor.

The school changed its name in 1970 after becoming co-educational. This year, 51 percent of the student body was made up of women, and the school tied as sixth in the nation for the percentage of female graduates. The college consolidated with Hahnemann University in 1993.

'The flavor of our history comes through in everything." said Dr. Glenda Donoghue, vice provost of the university. "You are aware when you work here of ... a different proportion of women faculty. Our voice is almost always heard when there's an important issue to be addressed."

The college's prescription is to treat the whole person, not just one physical ailment. The idea filters through in classroom lectures, research laboratories and the school's administrative hierarchy.

The school also has developed a curriculum to integrate women's health care into each science in hopes of fostering an inherent sensitivity in a physician's daily work.

First-year student Jacob Simon said, however, that some men feel forced into the lasue. 'Women's health care is important on some level. But, director of the American Medical ideally, in the future, we'll view both sexes as equal and not see a ical College of Pennsylvania is need to push one or the other." he said.

Top carpenter

MAITLAND - For the third consecutive year, Charles Whitfield Carpentry, a member of the Home Builders Association of Mid-Florida, has been named "Best Carpenter in Florida" by the Florida Wood Council.

Held in conjunction with the 17th annual Southeast Builders Conference, the competition pitted the Daytona Beach Builders Association against the Mid-Florida group to see who would bring home a combination of cash and power tools. In addition to the title.

Each of the two teams was asked to construct building sections from blueprints previously mailed to them, and from which they wrote up a material list. The event was held at the Orange County Convention Center. When the sawdust had settled, the team of Charles Whitfield. James Lee and Wayne Groespel was declared the winners.

Gas prices dropping

HEATHROW - Ongoing hot weather and cheaper gas prices should make the upcoming Labor Day weekend the busiest for motorists in at least 11 years, the American Automobile Association predicts.

AAA estimates 29.6 million motorists plan to vacation 100 miles or more away from home during the holiday weekend. That's up 2 percent from 29 million during the same holiday period last year.

Auto travel intentions are the highest since the automobile club began reporting on Labor Day travel in 1985. Since the Fourth of July holiday, the average price of LONGWOOD - Father and son, Bill and Scott Clifton, are now conducting business under the name Community ServiceLink. Their headquarters is in Longwood, and they care about other people.

The business provides a computerized telephone "safety net" to help determine if loved ones are OK.

Bill Clifton comments that recently, after a fall (and broken hip) a retired DeLand woman was unable to get up from her own patio floor. She remained there without food breakthrough agreement that could clear the last obstacle to a 6600 million local plant expansion.

If agreed upon, the expansion would bring 600 high-paying jobs to Central Florida. But the plan was placed on hold Aug. 11, when members of Local 2000 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers voted down a series of work-rule changes.

AT&T responded it would proceed with the expansion only if the union were to accept those changes.

But late Tuesday, Tom Christian, president of Local 2000, said company and union negotiators reached an agreement on work rules. Details were not released.

A vote by union members was scheduled for Friday.

College is easier if you're prepared BAGBA BAGEA

By VICKI DeBORMIER Herald Senior Staff Writer

Younger siblings are finally settled into their school routines and now it's just about time for you to head to away to college for the first time.

Especially if you are going to attend school out of town, the changes are massive, the challenges gargantuan. But you can do it. In talking to various local teens who are heading to college for the first time over the next few weeks, the biggest concern seems to be the transition to dorm life.

"Having to share my room with someone else...someone I don't even know...is pretty scary," said Janet Winters, who will be going to the University of Miami. "I'm not so sure I really want to do this, but I can't afford to get my own place and I obviously can't commute."

So Winters and thousands of others are packing the cars full of clothes, books, stereos and school supplies (and at least one proud parent) and heading to the college of their choice.

They bring posters, sheets. nik-naks and, maybe even a teddy bear, that will make their new home seem more like the one they're leaving behind.

One important thing to remember, the experts say, is not to bring too much with you as you head to school.

"One thing almost no one plans for is the estimated 30 percent increase in a student's personal belongings in the first year of college," said Maureen Hurley, the director of orientation at Boston University. Whether in the form of textbooks, new clothes or boxes full of college paraphernalia. items collected at school can be a big burden for you when you come home for the summer or try to find some place to store your stuff for the summer.

Overpacking is a real common problem among those heading to college for the first time.

"Do not bring everything you own," Hurley said. "Especially clothes. If there are clothes in your closet you haven't worn in two years, leave them there: chances are you won't start wearing them again now."

Sara Knight, who will return to her sophomore year at Florida State soon, said that in hindsight she would probably have left most of the clothes she brought to school the first sememster behind.

"I didn't need to bring more than a couple of pairs of jeans. some tops and a couple of dresses." she said. "I brought four suitcases and a footlocker full of stuff. Big mistake. I never wore most of that."

David Benson, who attends the University of Minnesota, suggests that students who attend college in a cold climet don't need to bring all the heavy boots, scarves and coats with them at the start of the school year.

If you want to score points "Most likely you won't need with Mom, address the package that kind of stuff until after Thanksgiving." he advised. "Get and have the postage already on It when you come home then. Or. if you aren't coming home until Christmas, put it in a box

Teachers strive in the classroom to give the hildren a feeling of a quiet home atmosphere which helps them learn. While they are in a homelike setting with lamps, chairs and a family environment, it facilitates a family connection between teacher, school and parents. Williams said that on Monday at 7 p.m., Midway will hold a "Family Connection" meeting. All parents and grandparents are invited to attend.

Family members will gain information about persons available to come to the home to help parents and students. One-on-one attention can given to any student or any parent(s) requesting services for problems in the home.

Throughout the 1995-96 school term, activities are planned to bridge the gap between school student - parent so the community and student may benefit.

After school activities are available at Midway Elementary. Students are partners with Dividends, PTA, SAC, activities after school, Boys and Girls Club, Art Club. Chorus. Science Club. Chapter I and various sports.

Breaking the Mold continues to be the priority program for the principals, teachers and staff of Midway. Laptop computers and special books have been purchased for the student to take home to aid in their homework.

The purchase of a closed-circuit TV system will give the student access to VCRs and CD-ROM players. The availability of these items will aid in a better learning technology to improve the classroom and school curriculum, Williams said. With the use of the latest in state-of-the-art school equipment. Midway Elementary is changing itsimage to a positive one. Williams said.

implementation of the system this year. Schumaker said. That amount includes licensing fees, training and some hardware and software purchases.

She believes it will save money in the future, however.

Other aspects of the program that have not yet been explored are keeping a career record of a student's progress from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

"And taken to its fullest, most possible extreme," Schumaker said, "we could use it for prescriptives to help students with work they need to ensure they learn, appropriate to the grade level."

Planets, stars, asterisms appear, disappear in September

By JERRY REED Special to the Herald

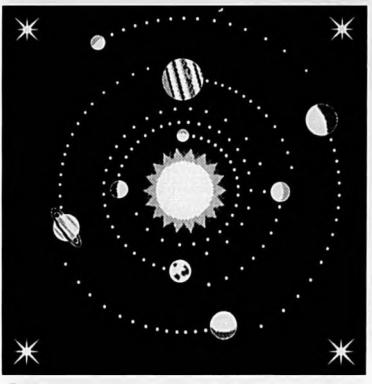

September is truly a month of astronomical appearances and disappearances.

Appearing this month is a sparkling trio of bright stars high overhead, making up the Summer Triangle. Actually members of three separate constellations, this star group (or asterism) is easily visible by 9 p.m. The brightest member is the star Vega from the constellation Lyra (the Harp), forming the western corner of the triangle. Next in prominence is Altair from Aquila (the Eagle). forming the southern point. Last, but still bright, is Deneb, the starry tall of Cygnus (the Swan), forming the northern corner. Even with the mosquitoes and the skyglow from Sanford and Orlando lights. everyone should be able to spot these three stars and some of their companions in each constellation.

Probably our most famous asterism, the Big Dipper, begins its fall disappearing act by midnight this month. The Big-Dipper too, is an asterism, because it is really a constellation within a constellation. Our familiar dipper is just the brightest part of a much larger constellation. Ursa Major - the big bear. Although many star charts and books written for viewers in the middle United States say the Big Dipper never sets because it is so close to the celestial pole, this is not true for Central Florida's more southern latitude. From our point of view, the dipper does travel completely below the horizon for about three hours in the very early morning at this time of the year.

This is also a month of disappearing and appearing planets. Mighty Jupiter, which has shone brightly in the southern skies for months now, disappears by midnight below the southwestern horizon. By the time Jupiter sets, however, ringed Saturn is already halfway up the southern sky to take its place. With your unalded eye, the best way to tell these planets from nearby stars the sky?

Question of the month:

is by their brightness and by oculars their steady light. Planets, while far away, are much closer than any star (except our Sun!). So joying the appearance of our fall Jupiter and Saturn are just pinpoints of light like the stars, and so do not twinkle as noticeably as their light passes. through our atmosphere. Compare the steady glow of Jupiter with the twinkle of nearby star Antares in the constellation of the Scorpion this month for an example.

Of course, both Saturn and Jupiter show better detail in binoculars or a small telescope than with the naked eye. Jupiter then reveals our bright mooas. each of which appears like a tiny star, arranged on a line across the planet's equator and into space on either side. The precise arrangements around the planet vary from night to night as the moons resolve.

Saturn normally displays its famous rings prominently, but currently they are tipped almost edge-on as seen from Earth, and they too, have largely disappeared from view. As Saturn's tilt continues, the rings will once again slowly appear and the ringed planet will again live up to its name. In the meantime, Saturn's largest moon, Tital, will often be visible near the planet for observers equipped with binwhere on earth (or in space) you look about 2,000 stars. Over the whole globe, maybe as many as 8,000 stars could be seen with the naked eye. A couple of thousand stars have ancient names, and you might recognize some of the 40 or so brightest ones (Betelgeuse, Sirius, Vega, Rigel, and so forth).

From any given place on carth, those blessed with really dark skies and keen, but unaided, eyesight can glimpse

Now, if we're allowed to use a telescope, especially a big one. the number of stars visible over the whole sky goes up dramattcally. As an example, the computerized guide catalog for the Hubble space telescope con-tains detailed position information for about 15 million stars. That means 15 million individual stars have been directly observed and recorded, most of them from the vantage point of space.

But there's more: Scientists with the largest telescopes have observed and located about two million galaxies. Galaxies contain between one million and one trillion stars each, so let's assume, conservatively, 100 billion stars for an "average" galaxy. So the total number of stars observed in our universe, must be at least two million times one hundred billion, or a two followed by 17 zeros! That's a lot of stars.

Bucs edge Dolphins

ORLANDO — The Tampa Bay Buccaneers got another steady performance from Trent Differ and wrapped up their most successful preseason in four years with a 24-17 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

Differ completed 7 of 10 passes for 109 yards and one touchdown, while Martin Mayhew returned an interception 41 yards for a TD as the Bucs tuned up for next week's regularseason opener against the Philadelphia Eagles.

The 3-1 finish is Tampa Bay's best since 1991. Miami (1-3) hadn't lost three exhibition games in the same year since 1990, although fans expecting Dan Marino & Co. to contend for a berth in the Super Bowl can take solace in knowing the Dolphins won 12 regular-season games that year.

Marino played the first half, completing 11 of 21 passes for 174 yards and one touchdown. He was 4-for-4 for 70 yards on the first drive of the game, but later threw two costly interceptions.

Marlins extend home streak

MIAMI — Andre Dawson hit a tiebreaking three-run homer Friday night and the Florida Marlins beat the Houston Astros 5-4, extending streaks for both teams.

The Astros have lost eight in a row, their longest losing streak since 1983 when they began the season 0-9. The Marlins extended a club record with their 11th consecutive home victory. The win followed a 2-9 road trip.

John Burkett [11-11] allowed three carned runs and nine hits in seven innings. Alejandro Pena pitched a perfect eighth and Robb Nen followed with a perfect ninth for his 17th save.

Florida fell behind 2-0 before Kurt Abbott started a five-run fourth inning with his 16th homer, hitting the foul pole when he pulled an 0-2 pitch from Shane Reynolds (8-9).

Defense saves day for Lyman

By GARY COATOAM Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Two big defensive plays helped Lyman defeat Oak Ridge 15-8 in a Jamboree Saturday night at Lyman High School.

Greyhound safety Freddle Young intercepted Pioneer quarterback Josh Foster and returned it 70 yards with 4:53 left in the game to close out the scoring. Kyle Johnson then tackled Oak Ridge punter Chris Sauls to end the Pioneers last scoring threat. "Freddie had a fantastie run." said Lyman varsity coach Larry Baker. "There were a couple of situations that we thought Freddie was going to be stopped, but he had blockers out in front of him, and Freddie just came popping out of the group. He is just a good athlete. Kyle is a heads up player. He is a leader by example."

Lyman got off to a rough start on its first offensive play of the game when Oak Ridge's Nolan Clayton picked off Greyhound quarterback Alvin Cummings. The Ploneers capitalized three plays later when Josh Foster found Earle McMadden with a 31-yard touchdown pass. Oak Ridge kicker Chris Sauls then passed to Jeremy Wallace for a two-point conversion after a fumbled snap.

The Greyhounds answered immediatley with by marching 80 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown. Young capped the drive with a 3-yard touchdown run with seven second left in the third quarter. The two-point conversion attempt failed.

"We'll go back abd look at the films and do some evaluations." Baker said. "We tried to play a lot of kids. It's really too early to tell. We need to just slow things down on film and break things down position by position."

In the junior varsity game, the Greyhounds shutout the Pioneers 13-0. Randy Jonda capped a 6-play, 41 yard drive for Lyman's first score. Todd Radeliff added the extra point to make it 7-0 Greyhounds with 6:54 in the first quarter. "We made fewer mistakes than I thought we would," said Lyman j.v. coach Bob McCollough. "On offense, we need to be a little more aggresive. Defensively, we just need to go after people."

OVIEDO — In a preseason battle of crosstown rivals, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks blanked the Oviedo Lions 14-0 in one-half of play in the Pigskin Classic at Oviedo's John Courter Field Friday night.

Although the score reflects a football game, at times the contest looked more like a ping-pong match as the two leams changed possesion on turnovers on 6 of 10 first quarter possessions inside Oviedo territory, including one fumble by Lake Howelton the five-yard line.

"You have got to be concerned about fumbling the ball down on the five-yard line, that is something that you just don't want to do." Lake Howell Coach Mike Bisceglia said. "But, we will definately work on that at practice this week."

Lake Howell leaped onto the scoreboard literally as Bruce McClay pulled in a 30-yard pass diving across the goal line with 5:45 left in the first quarter. The extra point gave the Silver Hawks a 7-0 lead.

"That was just a spectacular catch down at the goalline." Bisceglia said. "The ball was a little over thrown but McClay was able to bring it down for a really big play."

After each team fumbled on the next three possessions, the Silver Hawks doubled their lead with a four-yard touchdown run by Lucious Cooper. The extra point gave Lake Howell a 14-0 lead with 1:23 left in the first quarter.

Each team turned the ball over on their next possessions to end the quarter.

The second quarter belonged to the defenses as the offenses were almost totally shut down.

Oviedo could not get anything started on offense finishing with -5 yards of offense in the first quarter and 32-yards overall. Meanwhile, score 2-2. Dawson then hit his seventh homer, his first at home this year.

Jaguars dump Broncos

JACKSONVILLE — Mark Brunell did his best to create a quarterback controversy.

Brunell, expected to start the season on the bench behind Steve Benerlein, threw for 185 yards and directed two second-half touchdown drives as the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars rallied to beat Denver 23-17.

Rookie James Stewart scored the winning touchdown on a 3-yard run with 2:09 remaining after a 71-yard drive in which Brunell completed five passes for 61 yards, including a key 18-yarder to Willie Jackson.

Beuerlein turned in a solid performance in the first half against Denver's starters, completing 9-of-15 for 136 yards and a touchdown despite constant pressure which resulted in six sacks.

Jacksonville (2-3) won for the first time before the home fans at its new stadium. Most of the crowd of 66,023 remained on hand even as a driving rain began falling late in the game to watch the Jaguars stop Denver's final drive at midfield. They even got to see what might be a rare occasion: Brunell dropping to one knee to run out the clock on a victory.

Randall's return, defense key Rams' win

By TONY DeSORMIER Herald Correspondent

ORLANDO — On a mild, wind-swept night that suggested autumn — such as it is — might eventually come to Central Florida, the Lake Mary High School football team got a hint that its fortunes may also be changing.

Buoyed by sophomore Robert Randall's 86yard kickoff return for a touchdown, the Rams pulled out a 10-7 win over the Boone Braves in an FHSAA Preseason Classic Friday night at Boone's Dr. Norton M. Baker Field.

Granted, it was an exhibition and both teams left much of their respective offensive schemes under wraps, but Lake Mary coach Doug Peters was cautiously optimistic about the Rams' showing.

"This is as good as we've looked this early in the year since I've been thr head coach," said Peters. "After playing well against a good Oviedo team in the spring jamborce, we needed to come out and play well tonight and keep what little momentum we had coming out of the spring going." -

Spearheading the Rams' effort was defensive coordinator Bob Pettit's unit which limited Boone's impressive stable of running backs to 40 yards on 29 carries.

The only mistake Lake Mary made on defense was on a blown coverage on the first play of the fourth quarter that resulted in a 64-yard touchdown pass play from Keith Cottrell to David Burden, giving Boone a 7-3 advantage.

Boone's lead lasted all of 15 seconds, which is how long it took Randall to return the ensuing kickoff for a touchdown. He caught the ball on one hop as he crossed the 15-yard line in full stride and slashed through the Braves' coverage.

Other than the Burden touchdown jaunt, free safety Donnie Casey and the Rams roughed up the Boone receivers.

Early in the third quarter, Todd Ewasko hauled in a 13-yard pass from Cottrell near midfield. Right in front of the Braves' 'tomahawk chopping' fans, Casey tomahawked the ball loose from Ewasko. Adam McIntyre recovering the loose ball for the Rams. Casey also blocked a 32-yard field goal attempt by Ryan Cieslak in the second quarter.

"Our defensive play was exceptional." said Peters. "Coach Pettit (Lake Mary's third defensive coordinator in three years) has done a great job. The defense came through and picked us up when the offense ran into some problems."

While the only points the Ram offense managed came when Kris Kessler tucked a 37-yard knuckleball of a field goal inside the left upright as time expired in the first half. Lake Mary had the edge in possession and field position.

Recolon Jumpp collected a game-high 72 yards on 20 carries while Casey contributed 49 yards on 10 rushes.

The next step. Peters said, is to build on Friday night's positives and carry it over into next Friday's season-opener at home against Cypress Creek.

"We have to get off to a good start and get something going for us early." said Peters. "We're playing with a lot of confidence right now. What we need to do now is get a streak going and build on this."

Blake ready for NFL starting role

By TERRY KINNEY Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI — In the center of the maelstrom that is the Cincinnati Bengals. Sanford's Jeff Blake is a rare combination of composure and confidence for someone beginning his first full season as a starting NFL quarterback.

Blake, 24, inherited the job in the middle of last season when David Klingler was hurt and rallied the 0-8 Bengals to two consecutive wins. Although Cincinnati finished 3-13 for the third time in four years, many players said they responded to Blake's decisiveness and playmaking.

General manager Mike Brown had hoped to pair Blake with running back Ki-Jana Carter this year, hoping they would complement each other. But with Carter — the $19 million No. 1 draft pick — lost with a torn ligament and Klingler out 8-10 weeks with a broken jaw. Blake has had to shoulder all the load.

But he's taking it with the same resolve he's shown since deciding as a youngster that he was going to play in the NFL.

"It's not as hard as people make it out to be," said Blake, who called a team meeting after the Bengals' dismal performance in their second exhibition game.

"I just think in order for us to win as a team, we've got to come together as a group of people first and talk about things: you can't go out and try to do it without talking about it first."

Players who had trouble acknowledging Klingler as a team leader — especially when he supplanted the flery Boomer Estason — look to Blake for leadership.

"We have to have a game plan." Blake said, explaining his philosophy of inclusion. "We have to talk

Friday's Games

Tim Raines is a Sanford native and Seminole High School graduate now playing for the Chicago White Sox. His stats are for the 1995 season in the first column, personal-best season totals in the second column and current career totals (including 1995 games) in the third column.

AINES GAUGE

Raines hit an RBI groundout in his only at-bat Friday night to give the White Sox a 1-0 lead in the first. He left the game after the half-inning because he was feeling light-headed and had blurred vision. He fouled a ball off the cage during batting practice and it rebounded off his head. The White Sox went on to beat the Toronto Blue Jays 8-7.

Northwest Region wildlife hunting area reclassified

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission has established a new Type I wildlife management area (WMA) in the state's northwest region. The Econfina Creek WMA, in Washington and Bay counties, previously was open to hunting as a Type II WMA.

The 5,972-acre Econfina Creek WMA will be open for archery season Oct. 14-29, muzzleloading gun season Nov. 17-19. combination ar. chery/muzzleloading gun season Feb. 15-25 and spring turkey season March 16-19 and March 23.27.

No quota hunt permit is required for the archery-only season. However, quota hunt permits will be required for the muzzleloading gun and archery/muzzleloading gun hunts. Because this area was added to the WMA system after quota hunt applications were printed. a separate quota hunt application must be filled out to be considered for Econfina hunts. Those applications are available at Bay and Washington County tax collector offices and all commission offices.

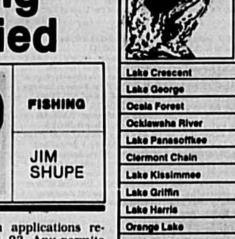

Quota hunt permits for the Econfina Creek WMA will be selection from applications received by Aug. 23. Any permits remaining unissued after the random selection process will be awarded on a first-come, firstserve basis. The quota for both hunts will be 40 hunters for each session.

The spring turkey hunts for Econfina Creek will be included on the normal spring turkey quota hunt application avaiable Dec. 28.

Hunting season is rapidly appraoching, and if any insect makes hunting miserable in Florida, it is the mosquito. A new line of clothing has been developed which is lightweight, porous, and very tightly woven to prevent mosquitoes from biting. Sold at places such as Sports Unlimited, Buzzwear, is the answer to an age-old proissued by random selection blem. I wear this light, protective action with dolphin, bonito, and king mackerel. Most of the fish are in close, with Pelican Flats being a good starting point. A few big smoker kings are in the buoy line and off the beach. Sheepshead and flounder are biting inside the Port, and reds are present in good numbers on the flats of the Banana and Indian rivers.

Ponce Inlet is the spot for fast action on live or dead shrimp. Sheepshead, drum, redfish, small bluefish, and a few flounder are the most numerous species.

game plan before we start our regular season. It's too late to wait four games into the regular season to do it. You have to do it now.'

One reason that players respond to Blake is that he is a natural scrambler.

Klingler, who set 51 NCAA passing records at the University of Houston, never seemed to adapt to the problems inherent with an inept offensive line. He was sacked 84 times in three seasons, critics said, because he didn't find receivers quickly enough and held the ball too long.

Blake, who was sacked 21 times in eight games last season. nonetheless returned the bomb to the Bengals arsenal, passing for 2.154 yards in 10 games. Klingler's best season was 1,935 yards in 14 games in 1993.

Blake was drafted by the New York Jets, but in his second season was inactive because of the trade for Esiason, and was released last August. By then, former Jets coach Bruce Coslet had returned to the Bengals as offensive coordinator and recommended that Cincinnati pick up Blake.

Finally, he was in the right place at the right time, which he said is how all the black quarterbacks in the NFL got their breaks.

"If you look at the league. there's basically three quarterbacks on each team ... and maybe five or six blacks in the NFL at quarterback." Blake said.

"You look at the top colleges where they're going. Most black quarterbacks convert to other positions. But Blake decided at an early age he would not convert. He refused a baseball scholarship at Florida State, and turned down offers from Miami and Florida because they wanted to make him a defensive back or wide receiver.

"I came out of the state of overlooked a good bet. Florida and I was like second team all-state. I made high school all-America teams and I wasn't even recruited by any Florida school," Blake said.

Women step into second century

Now that the Florida Federation of Women's Club has stepped into its second century, members of the federation are still raving over the spectacular centennial celebration held at the Clarion Hotel in Orlando.

Festivities began with the junior members' musical entertainment. "Let the Celebration Begin,"followed by a weekend of exciting activities on through to the "Back to the Future" brunch Monday signaling the end of the centennial convention.

The event, designed for 20.000 club members statewide, took the chairmen four years to put together. And it was nothing less than sensational.

The Sanford senior and junior clubs held their own. In the recent "Florida Clubwomen" magazine, six photographs featured Sanford clubwomen attending the centennial celebration.

At Sunday's fashion show, Nancy Crawford, a member of the Sanford Junior Woman's Club and FFWC Director of Junior Clubs, 1990-92, modeled the wedding gown worn by ried Ralph Austin Smith on April 26, 1923 in Mississippi. The 72-year-old gown is still in excellent condition and was worn by Charlotte at her golden wedding celebration in Sanford.

Charlotte was properly pampered at the convention. She is a former state president of the FFWC, 1942-44, and has participated in all state functions as well as general activities during the years. She was spotlighted in a photograph showing 12 past FFWC presidents and a General Federation of Women's Club past resident.

Another photograph features Beth Abruzzio and her 3-month-old-son Seth who got a taste of conventions at an early age. He is probably the youngest "conventionnaire" to ever at-tend a FFWC confab — not to mention a male at that.

Gail Hill-Smith. FFWC director of Junior Clubs, was featured in a fashion shot in the Century of Style Fashion Show and she appeared in another photo wearing a smashing red gown with state VIPs at the Sunday Junior Awards Luncheon.

Bert Alberti, FFWC president said. "The Florida federation is extremely fortunate to have members who have led so capably in the past and who are so enthusiastic about the future. Our FFWC past presidents are truly a special group."

Cindy Stilley with her sons, Ryan and Brandon, lots of bears and Precious Moments.

'Warm fuzzies' feeling comes from collection of 300 bears

By SUSAN WENNER Herald Stall Writer

SANFORD — Cindy Stiffey acquired the name "teddy bear" in high school because her "bear" hugs were known by acquaintances and friends. Now her collection of over 300 brings constant warm fuzzies upon a casusi glance.

Stiffey has not been a stranger to these parts. She has lived in Sanford all her life and graduated rom Seminole High School in 1982.

She is active with the Sanford Church of Christ where her husband, Tommy, is a deacon. She works part time with the Sanford Auto Dealers Exchange but considers herself a full-time mom to children, Ryan and Brandon.

Although life has been "bearable" Stiffey reminesced about the days of her youth. "The bears started out as a joke." she said. "I was on the dance team. I was always hugging everyone. We all had nick-names. Someone gave me a bear to symbolize my nickname."

my trademark," she said. "I decorated my son. Ryan's room in bears before he was born. The grooms cake at my wedding was also decorated with a bear."

Stiffey's secret sister at church recently gave her a Fenton Bear. She was overly thrilled with that purchase. She has a bear wreath with pink and blue accents that she also loved.

Christmas has been the time of year that bears come out of hibernation in the Stiffey home. "I have a whole set of Christmas glasses made by my friend, Melinda," she said. "She stenciled each one by hand. I've really gotten into Christmas bears. Each year I go to K-Mart and get the ones they have. They are dated. I've done that since 1986. I try to decorate my Christmas tree in Precious Moments, bears and coca-cola things."

Only recently did Stiffey replace her teddy bear shower curiain in her childrens' bathroom with a Lion King set.

The Enesco company created a set of bears called "Cherished Teddies" that Stiffey has not taken a liking to . "I have two in the set named Thomas and Douglas." she said. "Thomas represents my son Ryan to me because his name is Ryan Thomas. The bear Douglas represents my son Brandon because his name is Brandon Douglas."

A favorite bear of Stiffey was named as her 'wedding bear" given to her on her first wedding anniversary by her husband. "It's three feet tall," she said. "My bride bear is my biggest one."

One of the most sentimental of the group was cited as a bear Cindy gave to her father when he was still alive. Her mother then returned the bear to Cindy after his death. Although much of her collection occupies a curto this special gern has a special seat in her bedroom.

Her mom was also instrumental in assisting with more of Stiffey's collection. Crystal bear figurines were a gift from her.

In keeping with size, the smallest of her collection is a gold teddy bear charm. She now has another charm to keep it company.

"Tons" of pins, four pair of carrings and a bear vest all travel with Stiffey to decorate her life with hugs.

She discussed a shirt made by a close friend that she still treasures. "I worked at Sanford Middle School for six years." she said. "There was a lady there that I shared a special relationship with. She knew I collected bears so she made me a shirt with teddles holding balloons and even found teddy bear buttons for it. She actually was my eight grade English teacher. She's passed on now but it's something I have now to remind me of her."

Teddy bears made of wood, ceramic, crystal, porcelain and gold line the walls of the Stiffey home. She also has a pair of glass bookends.

Her klichen has little teddy bear helpers from "all kinds of magnets," to cookle jars and hot pads. "I have a child's set of dishes that's called the honey bears that is made by Doulton," she said.

Many times Stiffey does cross-stitch or embrodiery on quilt squares the ladies at the church make for newlyweds. "I guess it's kind of

Her Precious Moments collection is also from the Enesco company. "One of my favorite Precious Moments is one named 'Halleujah Country," she said. "I got it after both of my boys were born. It sort of reminds me of them."

Another sentinmental favorite is named "One Step at a Time." "It has a mother with a baby in front of her and she's helping me walk."

All Precious Moments are dated. Stiffey said. "Some are suspended or retired. They only make so many."

Stiffey has been a member of the Precious Moments Club for four years. She was able to attend a convention last year and spoke about the experience. "They gave a lot of prizes." she said. "They gave away a bunch of stuff. There was games and exhibits and a whole room full of 'Sugar Town' which is their new line. There were things for sale and trade. We also got a guide booklet that gave us some of the retail prices.

Other names of Precious Moments figurines she mentioned were "God bless the bride, To a very special friend, Friends never drift apart, God bless our family and Grandmas prayer. And speaking of grandmas. Brandon and Ryan's grandma has been one of the cheif suppliers of Stifley's collection.

"A really neat one I have is called 'Universal love"" she said. "It has the Easter Scals symbolon it with a little girl signing I love you. That one is special to me because one day I'd like to volunteer at Longwood Elementary School to work with the hearing impaired."

GUIDELINES 1. Advertise what people want! Children's clothing, dishos, collect ibles, tools, books and antiques are the most popular items.

19 2. Make it convenient to shop at your garage sale! Be sure there is adequate parking space. Post sions with directions to parking areas. Make arrangements with neighbors. 1

3. Make it easy to pay! Have plenty of change and a system for handling. Make sure one person is on duty at all times at a centralized location preferably with a calculator or adding machine. 4. Provide prices. Do not make every person sels. "How much is this? Prices make for quick, effective sales or a good place for customers to start berg siring.

5. Get an early start. Set up displays the evening before, I possible. 8. Departmentalize. Separate the inexpansive items from Beperimentalize. Separate the interpensive remains from the more costly areas. Group furniture, clothing, toys, lewn equipment and other items with similar merchandise.

 Receletize. Establish one area for "Under $5", another for "Under $1", Consider having a batch of items that are "FREE with purchase of $3". Remember the youngsters, too. Encourage this with small, low-priced items that are appropriate for this purpose.
 Time your sale carefully! Have it at a time when most secole are at home and unconcerned with special events.

B. Time your sale carefully i have it is a time when most people are at home and unconcerned with special events.
B. Combine your effects! Incorporate your sale with a neighbor for more veriety and greater impact.
Be specifical When advertising your sale in the newspaper, list individual items. Don't simply say, "several things available." Each time you list an item, you are broadening.

the list of potential customers.

11. Be generous if you have items left over, give them to a charitable organization. If you see that some items are not moring well ouring the sale, mark them down during the last, hours. Remember, the prime reason for holding the sale is to turn your unwanted items into cash!
