Name the joint Hoops-A-Million

RUSS WHITE

The O-rena is going get an obnoxious new name.

The City Beautiful has cut a deal that allows the Orlando Magic basketball team to rename the Orlando Arena for a price.

Anway Arena would be too obvious. The DeVos family wouldn't dare.

It's too late to call it the Shaq Shack.

The J.R. Ice House is out, too. The Penny Arcade might work. More than likely the O-rena will get some commercial name. U.S. Air Ball Hall, Knart Court, Starvin' Marvin's Garden.

Seagram's Heaven, Miller Lite House, Walt World, The Basket Place, Hoops-A-Million.

The Boston Garden and Madison Square Garden were fine names for arenas. The Summit and the Omni were acceptable. United Center and M.C.I. Center are not. No way, Jose.

Detroit's old hockey arena was called the Olympia. When a new one was built it was named the Joe Louis Arena. The Joe Louis was from Detroit and one of America's greatest boxers. He never played hockey, but most hockey players like to box.

The Civic Center in Pittsburgh is an odd-shaped structure that is affectionately known as the Igloo. The Pittsburgh Penguins play their home games inside this igloo.

If the Los Angeles Lakers ever move out of the Great Western Forum into a new home it will probably be called The Jack - named for the No. 1 Laker fan, actor Jack Nicholson.

The New York Knicks may one day play at Madison Spike Garden - named for Knick fanatic Spike Lee.

The Orlando Arena is 9-years-old, which is too old as far as the Orlando Magic management is concerned - a $110 million facility already outdated. That's why the organization is so chummy with the city. It is time to connive a better deal.

Teams from other cities have been paid as much as $2.6 million annually to place a corporate name on the sports arena or stadium. No one has approached them as yet - not even Anway - said Magic executive Bob Vander Weide, whose father-in-law co-founded Anway. Vander Weide and the Magic remain all ears.

Hope they consider Hoops-a-Million.

Judge calls for dancers to take cover

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - An attorney for the adult club owners had barely begun to plead a case Tuesday when Circuit Judge Nancy Alley told everyone to take cover.

Attorney David Wasserman said he didn't expect to get much more than 10 minutes in Alley's court - and he didn't.

"No," the judge said to Wasserman's request that she temporarily allow totally nude dancing until the courts decide whether Seminole County's new Public Decency law and adult entertainment restrictions are constitutional.

The owners of Club Juana, Rachel's and Cabaret Internationale sued the county and the Sheriff's Office when the new ordinance requiring dancers to wear at least a French-cut bikini went into effect a week ago. Each of the clubs complied but one or more of the owners soon may defy the ordinance.

"My girls may not even have one turkey leg on their plate on Thanksgiving Day," Club Juana owner Mike Pinter said without a trace of a smile. "This is difficult for them. This is the way they make a living. They're not bad people."

Pinter and the other owners say that there businesses have taken a hit since enforcement of the ban. He said Club Juana is doing half the business it is ac-

LAKE MARY - A Lake Mary man was arrested Tuesday for indecent public exposure after stalking and exposing himself to a neighbor, while leaving notes on her car on at least four different days.

John J. Clark, 31, confessed to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office to exposing himself. A note the victim received Monday advised her to be watching out the window at approximately 11 p.m., deputies said.

Deputies were waiting with the victim when Clark arrived at his apartment at 954 Forest

HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The Sanford City Commission is investigating a site for a proposed Police Community Service Center on West 13th Street, to be operated by the Sanford Police Department with assistance from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

City Manager Tony VanDeworp said in Monday's city commission work session he would seek an appraisal on the value of two lots on West 13th street owned by Neda Boykin. Acting Police Chief Ray Brown recommended the property because of its central location.

TURKEY DAY TRIVIA

There are three incorporated "Turkeys" in this country. Turkey, Texas, was the most populous in 1996 (est. pop. of 478), followed by Turkey Creek La. (pop. 298), and Turkey, N.C. (pop. 279). There are also 14 incorporated places around the nation with "Plymouth" (as in "Plymouth Rock") as part of their name: Plymouth, Minn., with 60, 103 people, was the most populous in 1996.

North Carolina is the nation's turkey capital, producing 1.4 billion lbs. in 1997 - about one-fifth of the U.S. total of 7.2 billion lbs. Rounding out the top ten states are Minnesota (1.0 bil. lbs.), Missouri (590 mil. lbs.), Arkansas (525 mil. lbs.), Virginia (485 mil. lbs.), Indiana (352 mil. lbs.), Pennsylvania (235 mil. lbs.) and Ohio (218 mil. lbs.). Combined, these 10 states account for more than three-quarters of U.S. turkey production.

The nation's farmers produced 549 million lbs. of cranberries in 1997. Wisconsin led the United States in production, followed by Massachusetts and New Jersey. Massachusetts is the only state in the nation where cranberries are one of the four leading agricultural commodities.

Students share in holiday giving

By Bill Kerns
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The Seminole High School Air Force Junior ROTC program is helping to distribute turkeys and other foods to more than 100 families this week.

The students have been collecting canned goods and money to purchase turkeys and foods for the holiday season since September. The 230 students in the five JROTC classes compete in contests such as the top cadet and the top class to collect the most amount of canned goods, with the winning class receiving a pizza party.

"They (the students) love it every year we do it," Sgt. Wayne Smith, an instructor in Seminole's JROTC program, said. "We make it a challenge, and we set goals. The students have really been into this since September."

The students donated seven turkeys to six families on Tuesday, Smith said.

"We're donating over 100 turkeys this week," Smith said. "We're donating to daycares, needy families, and churches. We're donating over 30 turkeys to one church, that will then distribute the turkeys to the families."

Cadet Senior Airman Laurie Gussow, Master Sgt. Grace Brown, and Cadet Senior Airman Deira Zayas of the Seminole High School Air Force Junior ROTC program help sort turkeys for food baskets for the needy.

The students are working this Thanksgiving with Faith Ministries of Central Florida, Insurance Office of America, All God's Children Ministries, and the Longwood Winn Dixie.

The meals families receive consist of a ten-to-twelve pound turkey, ten canned goods, and two bags of cornbread stuffing. The families receiving turkeys from students are delighted not just by the food, but because seeing students volunteering time to help people is a source of pleasure, Smith said.

"Families think it's great that high school students and teenagers would do this," Smith said. "It shows teenagers aren't

Thanksgiving service tonight

SANFORD - Area churches will be gathering for the Annual Community Thanksgiving Service on tonight at First Presbyterian Church in Sanford. The service will focus on giving thanks for the things God has done for His people individually, as well as for the city and nation.

The service is open to the public and starts at 7:30 p.m. A choir of the participating churches will offer the music ministry. First Baptist Church of Sanford, First Methodist Church of Sanford, Holy Cross Episcopal, with Father Al Cole preaching, and the Sanford Ministerial Fellowship will participate and are moving their normal mid-week service to be involved in this yearly event that promotes unity within the Christian community in Sanford.

Those who attend are encouraged to bring a canned good for the area needy.

Operation aggressive driver

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Following Operation Aggressive Driver the Seminole County Sheriff's Office has reported no tickets for children unrestrained; three tickets for adults not wearing seat belts; 32 tickets for running a red light; one ticket for no tail light; one ticket for cutting a corner to avoid a light; one ticket for expired tag; two tickets for speeding; and seven tickets for illegal U-turn.

Turnpike work suspended

ORLANDO - The Florida Department of Transportation will suspend Turnpike construction activities over the Thanksgiving Day holiday weekend to help keep traffic flowing smoothly.

All construction restrictions possible will be lifted from noon Wednesday through midnight Sunday in anticipation of heavy holiday traffic. Drivers approaching toll plaza's should be alert for congestion and be prepared to stop. Drivers are encouraged to carry quarters and use exact-change lanes to help keep traffic moving smoothly.

Nighttime armed security is provided at the Turnpike's eight service plazas, as well as newly installed Automatic teller machines (ATMs). Motorist aid call boxes are located every mile along the Turnpike. Motorists can also report impaired drivers to the nearest toll booth attendant or by calling "FHP" on their cellular telephones. Motorists are encouraged to use extra caution while traveling during the holiday weekend and to buckle up.

Commission meeting

LONGWOOD - The Longwood City Commission will meet Monday at 7 p.m. at Longwood Civic League Woman's Club, 135/150 W. Church Ave., Longwood. The agenda will include items related to filling the position of City Administrator.

Gratitude is the fairest blossom which springs from the soul. -Henry Ward Beecher

The way we were: Collegiate column announced

Among some items given to the Sanford Museum recently was a copy of the Wednesday Sept. 26, 1956 Seminole Herald. Far and behind, there was my picture with a write-up on the front page. J. Marion Harmon Sr., executive editor, says announcing that I had accepted appointment as correspondent for the Seminole Herald to write a weekly column "Collegiate Echoes" featuring college campus news.

GRACE M. STINE-CIPHER

In reality I had approached Mr. Harmon with the idea which he thankfully liked. I was already known at the Herald as I had written "Celebrity News" and "Seminole III" columns during my junior and senior years of high school. I had recently transferred to Stetson for my junior year so was close by I believe that I mailed my column in, but I did come home often. Mothers of college students were some of my main sources of information as they liked to see their offspring's names in print. My mailbox at Stetson was usually full of information that I could use and I would contact people on weekends while at home.

The article, which of course I have a copy of in my scrapbook gives a brief biography and a quoted statement as to the purpose of the column and what it would contain. It sounds quite impressive. I hope I lived up to my claims! I know that I really enjoyed writing it.

Collegiate echoes

Now that I have perhaps piqued your interest, I'll give you some information included in my first column which appeared on the society page, always with a logo of a young man and woman studying together.

Over 100 Seminole High graduates were beginning a new year at various campuses. Approximately 25 were at the Florida State University, 20 at the University of Florida, 18 at Stetson University, seven at Florida Southern College, five at the University of Miami and about 30 were in out of state colleges. There were also several in nurse's training and in theological seminaries

I gave summer experiences of several college students which included summer school for quite a few such as Billy Park, Jimmy Bollinger and Gail Dinkins at U of F, Gordon Bell University of Miami, Colleen Engbreitson, University of South Dakota, Margaret Morrison, Peggy Wright, Mary Lou Copeland, Jimmy Krieger, George Herndon, Sara Jacobson, Grace Marie Stinecipher at Stetson.

Joel Moss, U of F student worked with a group of friends at Yellowstone National Park and also took a grand tour of the west. Beverly Cooper, Alabama College, was an instructor at the Jov Camps in Wisconsin while Bobby Morris was a delegate from U of F to an Agriculture Convention in Washington DC.

Ronnie Anderson, assistant drum major of the FSU Band, was an instructor at a camp in Vermont where he trained choirs and a band.

Nancy Rountree and Martha Owen, both FSU students, spent their summer working with the City Recreation Program and also the Girl Scout Day Camp.

Some recent college graduates were mentioned, telling of their new careers. Bebe Beebe was teaching first graders in Miami. Ann Whitaker had a room full of sixth graders at PineCrest Elementary in Sanford. Caroline Melhins was at Southside Elementary and Margaret Malloy Beard was teaching English in Tallahassee.

Both Lucia Goff and Beverly Rogers had completed nurse's training and were to take their state board exams in a few weeks. Ellen Lyon had completed a two year business course at FSU and was employed as a secretary with a law firm in Tallahassee.

News of current students

Junior (Buck) Metts and Bubba (Blain) Bishce, both members of the FSU football team, were congratulated for playing an outstanding game against Ohio University. Both were credited with touchdowns.

Sanford was also represented on the Stetson football team by Jimmy Hawkins and Jimmy Krieger, both freshmen. Krieger had just completed his stretch in the army while Hawkins had been a star on the Celery Fed team the previous year. Of course it was not known at the time but the 1956 season was the last year for football at Stetson; the program was disbanded after that year.

Both Wade Jr. and Ronnie Garner, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Wade Garner, were attending the University of Miami Medical School. Their sister, Rosemary, was also at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami as part of her FSU nurse's training program.

Parkers move to Sanford

New residents of Sanford were Dr. and Mrs. Vann Parker and their children, Martha (2 1/2) and Jerry (4 months); there is a picture of the family on the society page. Dr. Parker had recently completed his residency at Duke University hospital where he had met Dr. Gordon Stanley of Sanford. The two were now associated in a pediatric practice here.

Vann's hobby was given as photography while Laura was interested in ceramics. The couple was quoted as saying that they were anticipating a great deal of pleasure in living among the people of Sanford.

Beta Sigma Phi rush party

A Dude Ranch Rush Party was recently given by Beta Sigma Phi sorority at the home of Mrs. Dan Batten.

The highlight of the evening was an Elvis Presley imitation contest which was won by Mrs. C.M. Nichols and Joni Saunders. Mrs. Alfred Greene won a prize for her tall tale about her home state of Georgia. Mrs. Ralph Cowan Jr. and Barbara Rohm won prizes in the relay and Mrs. Warren Knowles won for being both the farthest from Florida.

Square dancing was enjoyed following the meal of ranch burgers with all the trimmings.

Rushes attending were: Mrs. E.W. Peterson, Mrs. Alfred Greene, Mrs. Robert Crumley, Mrs. Kent Bateman, Mrs. Lloyd Swain, Betty Billhimer, Caroline Melhins, Barbara Rohm, Mrs. Jim Jenkins. Regular members present were: Mrs. David Bach, Mrs. Donald Kyles, Mrs. Dan Bateman, Mrs. Ralph Betts, Mrs. Harold Chapman, Anna Corley, Mrs. Robert Cushing, Mrs. Gordon Frederick, Mrs. Vernon Hardin, Mrs. E.C. Harper, Jr., Mrs. Warren Knowles, Mrs. Malcolm Lodge, Mrs. C.M. Nichols, Joni Saunders, Cherry Singletary, Mrs. Rudy Sloan, Mrs. Herbert Stenstrom, Mrs. Francis Stenstrom, Mrs. Sam Thurmond, Mrs. Wallace Tyre, Mrs. Volte Williams, Jr., Jeanette Wolfer, Mrs. Joe L. Corley.

POLICE LOG

The following reports were compiled from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office for incidents recorded Nov. 24:

Aggravated assault:

SANFORD, Orlando Drive, 2900 block, Nov. 23, 11:31 a.m. A 65-year-old man was arrested by Sanford Police for aggravated assault. Police said the man became enraged when he was cut off in traffic. He chased the other driver down and at a stop began yelling at the other driver and trying to open the door of the other car. When he couldn't open the door, he pulled out a machete and began hitting the other vehicle with it. The other driver told police he was afraid the man would kill him if he broke into the car.

Armed robbery:

SANFORD, Orlando Drive, 3600 block, Nov. 23, 4:56 a.m. A 30-year-old man was arrested by Sanford Police for armed robbery with something other than a deadly weapon and with resisting a merchant. Police said he entered the store and put three cartons of cigarettes in his pants. He tried to walk out of the store without paying for the cigarettes, but a loss prevention employee stopped him. He tried to resist and had to be brought to the ground by force. When police arrived to arrest him, they conducted a search and found a pocket knife with a three-and-a-half-inch blade along with the cigarettes.

Assault on a law enforcement officer:

SANFORD, Holly Avenue, 400 block, Nov. 23, 7:48 a.m. A 38-year-old man was arrested by Sanford Police for assault on a law enforcement officer. Police said they stopped a car and were questioning the two men inside because they were both badly beaten. They said they had been in a fight the night before. Police said they did a standard computer check of the two men and found that one had an outstanding warrant for his arrest. While he was being arrested, police said, he threatened the officer with physical harm.

Domestic violence:

GENEVA, Little Fawn, 900 block, Nov. 23, 1:40 p.m. A 27-year-old man was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies for domestic violence. Deputies said he and his sister were arguing over a riding mower he wanted to borrow. She told him he could not borrow it because she was afraid he would trade it for drugs. He became enraged and grabbed her around her throat and threw her to the ground.

WINTER SPRINGS, Borwood Circle, 400 block, Nov. 23, 10 a.m. A 34-year-old woman was arrested by Winter Springs Police for domestic violence. Police said she and her husband were arguing when she got angry with him and broke a glass vase over his head.

Driving under the influence:

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, Lake Destiny at Wymore, Nov. 24, 12:01 a.m. A 39-year-old man was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies for driving under the influence.

SANFORD, U.S. Highway 17-92, 4000 block, Nov. 24, 3:03 a.m. A 48-year-old man was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies for driving under the influence.

Retail theft:

SANFORD, Orlando Drive, 3600 block, Nov. 23, 2:54 p.m. A 33-year-old woman was arrested by Sanford Police for retail theft. Police said she put a socket set into her purse and attempted to leave the store without paying for it.

WINTER SPRINGS, 1400 block, Nov. 23, 4:10 a.m. A 39-year-old woman and a 30-year-old man were arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies for retail theft. Deputies said the man, an employee at the supermarket where the theft occurred, rang up some of the items in the woman's cart, but did not charge her for nearly $100 worth of groceries that remained in her cart when she tried to leave the store.

Respect and protect privacy rights

By Joseph Perkins
NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION

Trans Union Corp., one of the nation's big three credit bureaus, was recently ordered to stop peddling detailed financial information on consumers to advertisers and marketers without knowledge and consent of said consumers.

The order came in a ruling by Judge James Timony, a federal administrative judge who adjudicates disputes before the Federal Trade Commission.

The FTC first brought charges against Trans Union six years ago, accusing the company of violating the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, which, among other things, requires that companies like Trans Union conduct their business with "respect for the consumers' right to privacy."

In Judge Timony's view, Trans Union has abrogated the privacy rights of the 200 million or so Americans on whom it has amassed extensive financial dossiers, including information on their mortgages, auto loans or leases, whether they are mail-order buyers, whether they hold credit cards from "upscale stores," and how much money they make, based on credit data.

Trans Union defends its right to traffic—at considerable profit—in consumer financial information. "Our position," said Oscar Marquis Trans Union's general counsel, "is this is not private and personal information."

And Trans Union will continue to peddle the financial records in its database—whether consumers like it or not, whether they consent or not—while the company appeals Judge Timony's ruling.

This just goes to show the inadequacy of current federal law when it comes to protecting consumer privacy rights. And that is why the next Congress ought to pass a tough new privacy law that will unequivocally prevent Trans Union, and other companies that sell personal data on individuals, from doing so with the knowledge and consent of those individuals.

It so happens that the European Union put into effect last week a privacy protection law that covers its 15 member nations. The admirable aim of the law is to prevent companies from using information about their customers in ways those customers never intended.

The European law sets forth several directives. It requires that companies inform people when they gather information on them and tell them how the information will be used. It requires that companies obtain informed consent from people on whom it has amassed information before they can legally use the information. And it requires that companies give people access to information on themselves.

The interesting thing about this new European privacy law is that not only will it have an impact on the 15 nations in the European Union, but the United States as well. One of the provisions of the law prohibits companies doing business in the United Kingdom or Germany or France or any of the other 12 member nations from transmitting personal data to any country outside the European Union that does guarantee comparable protection of consumer privacy rights.

That would be the United States. And even though the Clinton administration claims to support strong protection of consumer privacy rights, it opposes a U.S. privacy law modeled after the one enacted by the European Union.

The administration's argument against adoption of European-style privacy law is disingenuous. They have privacy czars and bureaucracies," said David Aaron undersecretary of commerce, "and that kind of top-down approach would probably be regarded as a violation of privacy by many people in the U.S." But since when has the Clinton administration been worried about having government "czars," whether a drug "czar" or a border "czar"?

But the most bizarre argument is that enactment of a strong new federal privacy law, modeled after the European law, requiring that consumers be told where information is collected on them and for what purpose, that consumer authorization be required before their information is released, and that consumers have access to information amassed on them, would somehow be viewed as a violation of privacy by many Americans.

The only folks who would be unhappy if the next Congress passed a European-style privacy protection law would be companies like Trans Union that profit from nonconsensual sale of private and personal data on individuals.

For the mass of Americans, the millions whose private and personal information is bought and sold without either their knowledge or consent, a tough new federal law strengthening their privacy rights would be welcome.

What Revision 11 means to voters

By Bob Goff

Florida voters approved Revision 11 making, among other things, school board elections non-partisan. Most counties already elected School Board members in non-partisan elections. But in 1994 Seminole County voters chose to switch to partisan elections—where candidates run under their party banner. Since 1996 all school board candidates have come from Republican primaries.

But no more! Beginning in 2000, School Board candidates can not be identified by political party and all registered voters will be eligible to vote in any contested election. Needless to say, this will have significant impact on future elections. Some impacts will be good—some will be bad. In no particular order, the following are some of the effects of the statewide initiative.

Candidates will not be identified by a broad party philosophy. Instead, the only way voters will know about the candidate's base political philosophy is by reading between the lines of the advertising they do by reading between the lines of what their opponents tell you or by what the media says about them.

The cost of elections just tripled, putting races out of reach for many. Currently, one half of the 180,000 Seminole County voters are Republicans with a history of primary voting. Contested races will now have 90,000 voters who are "new" to voting in primaries and have no voting history until 2004 to be used to create super voter lists. A candidate will have to send a lot more mailers to voters who "might" show up. Witness the increase of spending in the Orange County Chairman's race and one gets a picture of what it takes to define a candidacy in a non-partisan race.

Incumbents and candidates will now have their focus changed. There are different voting blocks to take into account. A Republican with a strong Republican philosophy now faces an election with 50 percent of the potential voters having an entirely different philosophy, i.e. Democratic, etc. Rather than have candidates with strong beliefs about the pathway to educational excellence—now voters will have a choice of political gray. The question is—given the history of education in Florida—will following the middle of the road between two or more widely divergent political philosophies allow for leadership and creativity to change education for the better?

In campaigns traditionally poorly funded (compared with County Commission races) the probability now increases that only independently wealthy candidates will be able to spend the money necessary to reach the expanded pool of potential voters. The alternative will be elections with ill-informed voters making decisions about children's education. In that scenario, the incumbent will have the advantage.

But most importantly of all, what this change means is that voters who live north of Lake Mary will now have equal representation with voters in the south part of the county who lately have been the driving force in all Republican elections.

School discipline policies

Praises for Larry Furlong and Lake Brantley High School officials for exchanging some discipline policies toward young people who have disobeyed, not only a school code but the government laws pertaining to underage drinking, and use of drugs. I have taught, counseled, loved, and dealt with many teenagers as well as having three of my own. Never have we seen society suffer from juvenile committed crimes as we are seeing today.

Still parents of students who disobeyed the law are concentrating on technicalities instead of wanting their sons penalized for unacceptable behavior. Regardless of privacy, athletes are accountable, not only in college, but in pro sports. If the Seminole High miscreants expect to get the perks from being on teams, they and their parents better become better citizens. Why they are being allowed to stay on the team until the suit is resolved is an enigma.

To every adult I have consulted, people like your writer, Mr. Moore, change their minds when youngsters not disciplined early go on to life threatening situations. I can cite you many examples.

City referendum

Victory won after a battle honorably fought should rightfully be lauded and celebrated.

At a meeting after the Nov. 3 vote, members of the Society for the Preservation of Fort Mellon Park met to relate their experiences on voting day. Many voters exiting the polls commented that the wording on the referendum was confusing. Some regretted the referendum did not appear on their ballots, so they could not vote on it. Of these, some lived in little pockets still zoned county though some surrounded by city homes, others said simply it was not on their ballots.

One voter reported she received four phone calls at home from the mayor's supporters trying to coerce her to change her mind and vote his way. She even had a home visit from one woman who told her the city had already paid millions of dollars to lay the groundwork for this hotel/conference center project and that would be just money down the drain if it was voted down.

Some of our workers reported that a city commissioner was seen going in and out of a polling place and sometimes exhorting groups to chant and loudly talk to drown out whatever one of our group on the sidelines might be saying to voters.

Some members of the mayor's hired publicity firm were extremely rude, most especially young girl at Sandra Gourd's office while votes were being tallied inside.

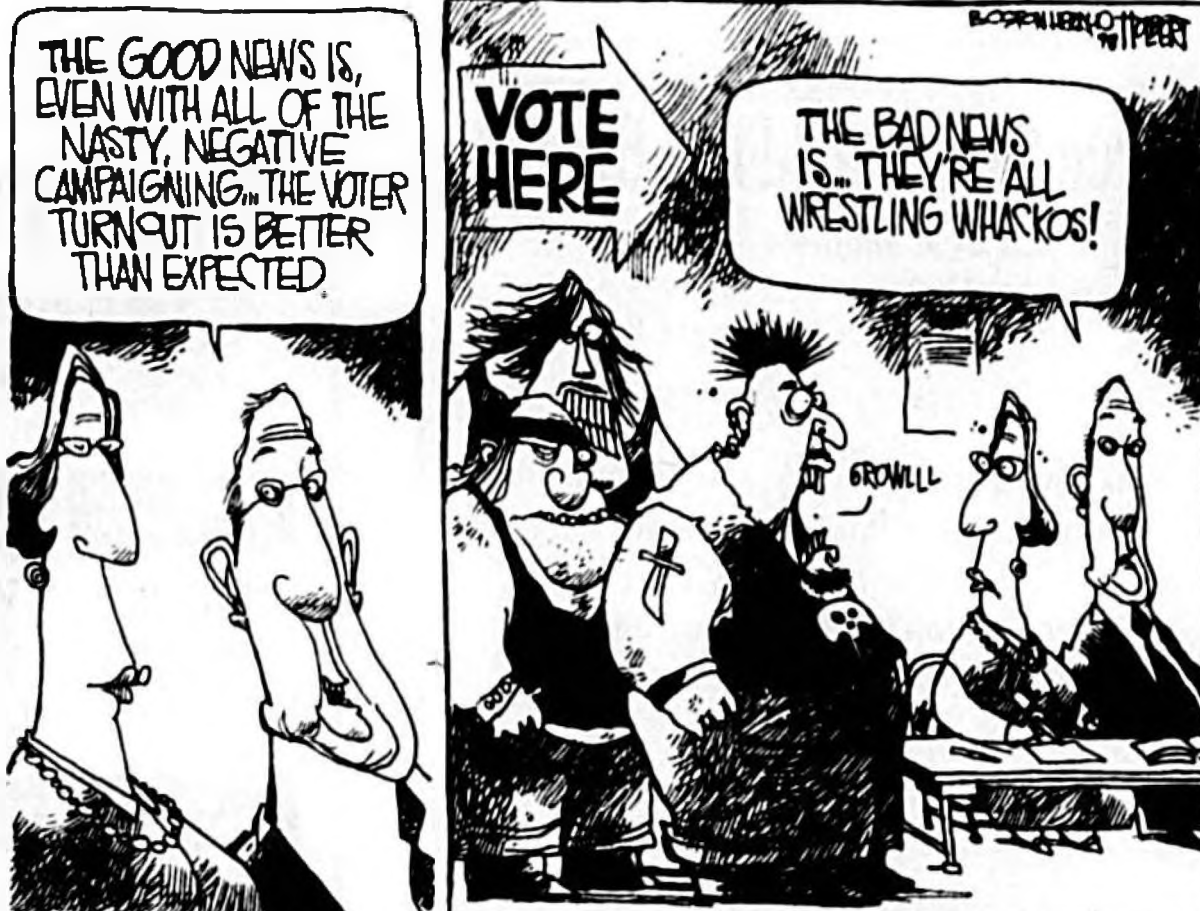

One of our young men was questioned about missing work that day to be at the polls and threatened with loss of his job

(he doesn't even work in Sanford). Then there was the body shove and finger pointed right in the face of this young man while verbal assaults were being hurled. This, by one of the mayor's close associates. The mayor was standing nearby and when appealed to by our young man said he couldn't do anything to stop the out-of-control man. Oh, really. Victory as a result of deception, dishonesty, intimidation, verbal threats and physical attacks is a travesty.

Just thought you ought to know what happened behind the scenes.

serve as a meeting place between the community and law enforcement," Bronson said. "This property meets our needs because it is centrally located."

Boydin is asking $16,000 for the property.

Mayor Larry Dale said that purchasing the property, then building a portable building while the community works together in constructing a permanent building, is the most affordable option the city can take toward building the community service center.

Dale said he wanted to see the surrounding community work together on the proposed project.

"I think you'd have a better result if you make it a community effort," Dale said. "It could bring the community together. People could take pride and ownership in this. I don't know why we can't come back (at the next commission meeting) and discuss making an offer (to buy the property)."

VanDerworp said the city's funding for the center would come from a Community Development Block Grant, a police trust fund, and assistance from the Sheriff's Office.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office could help to fund and staff the community service center, Captain Randy Pittman of the Sheriff's Office said.

"Chief Deputy Steve Harriet told me the Sheriff's Office would be interested in assisting with this from the law enforcement trust fund," Pittman said.

Pittman said the Sheriff's Office has investigated building a Community Service Center in the area, but lacks the funding to build one independent of the Sanford Police Department.

Bronson recommended staffing requirements of two uniform police officers plus a night shift commander, four sheriff's deputies and their supervisors, one community service officer, and one volunteer to work on weekends and holidays.

The start-up equipment would include two phone lines, one computer with a printer, portable counter, and a copy machine, three desks and chairs, and a security system.

customed to doing. That the law was causing "irreparable harm."

Bick Nelson, a private Orlando attorney defending the county's ordinance at no charge, convinced Alley this was not so on Tuesday. There was no need, he said, to justify the temporary injunction the club owners were seeking.

"The fact we got a little more than 10 minutes this year speaks poorly for the judicial system," Wasserman said. "We believe we are on firm legal ground. We'll continue to fight in the courts although it doesn't seem we'll get a chance until January."

Wasserman said that he had advised the club owners to make "sound business decisions" about what goes on at their clubs until more is decided in court. They may be changing their formats," Wasserman hinted. "The county may wish it left these people well enough alone."

Chief Deputy Steve Harriett said that undercover deputies will continue to observe activities at each adult club in the county.

"Our deputies are there routinely," he said. "The community has established what it considers its standards. We're there to enforce the law."

Word of Alley's decision spread quickly to the County Commission, which also met Tuesday.

"That's good news - very good news," Commissioner Daryl McLain said. "But we've got to watch for what might happen next."

Deputy County Attorney Lonnie Groot called Tuesday's decision by Judge Alley "the first step" in the ultimate victory the county anticipates in defending its Public Decency Ordinance.

SANFORD - The Sanford Police Department is investigating a smash-and-grab at the Parisian department store in the Seminole Town Center shopping mall.

The police responded to a call from Parisian today at 8 a.m. The incident took place by the side entrance of the store, near Ruby Tuesday's restaurant.

"We're investigating this as a smash-and-grab," Sgt. Pat Smith said. "They broke the front glass. We're at the scene right now, and doing an investigation."

The police are investigating what was stolen and who the suspects are, Smith said.

It's time to be thankful

SANFORD — On this holiday when everyone is taking a moment to be thankful for all they have, perhaps the sports world could do the same.

There are a lot of things wrong with sports today, but there is a lot more that is right. Here is just a brief list of the things that those involved in sports should be thankful for.

High school basketball should be thankful for Carl Brown. He has brought an excellence to girls basketball in the county that is unmatched at this time. He has also brought class to an already elite program of girls sports. He has taken a group of extremely talented players who are committed to winning and pushed them to the brink, all the while instilling in them the essence of being students first and first class athletes second.

Lake Mary's girls team should also be thankful that Lauren Bradley has recovered from knee surgery and will again be a key weapon on a very loaded team.

Speaking of Lake Mary sports, track and cross country coach Mike Gibson is one of the most caring coaches there is. He not only dedicates himself completely to his teams, he also promotes them better than Don King could. He does it the right way, however, by getting the scores out and bragging on his athletes.

Seminole High School also has a lot to be thankful for, including a football coach who has completely turned around the program. Despite a 7-3 finish this year, there are definite signs of future superiority on the Tribe team. Already, Jim Worthington has turned a team that only won three games two years ago into not one that will not accept defeat on any level. Look out for this team next year as most of the athletes are returning.

Worthington also has something to be thankful for. This Thanksgiving, he and his wife are setting a place at the table for their new daughter, Brooke.

While on the subject of football, Lake Brantley has a lot to be thankful for as well. The team, under the direction of George Clayton, went undefeated in both the conference and district. They were defeated in the first round of the playoffs, but showed that in addition to a lot of talent, there is a lot of heart on the team.

And who can forget girls volleyball in the county? Several great things happened this season. Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry earned her 400th win. Winter Springs came very close to representing their district in the state tournament, and once again Beth Corso built a young team into a future powerhouse through dedication, superb coaching ability and a lot of care. With most teams staffed with young members, the battle for the Seminole Athletic Conference will be a hot one next year.

Finally, we here at the Seminole Herald have a lot to be thankful for as well.

We are thankful for all of the wonderful administrators, coaches, parents and athletes in the county who give us free reign with their teams and players. We have the opportunity to deal with the upper crust of the county on a daily basis and have come in contact with the most caring, dedicated and classy people.

Thank you, Seminole County, for allowing the Seminole Herald to be a part of the sports in this county and for your continued dedication to excellence. You really make our jobs easy, fun and rewarding.

Have a happy Thanksgiving!

Flyers Wings & Grill crowned

Poe's five RBI paces champions past Sunniland Corporation

By Dean Smith
HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD — When the going got tough, one of the best stepped forward.

Lou Poe, one of the best players in Sanford for several seasons, broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run triple in the third inning and Flyers Wings & Grill went on to post a 14-5 victory over Sunniland Corporation Tuesday night at Funchest Park in the playoff championship game in the City of Sanford Women's Fall Slow Pitch Softball League.

Poe, who also drove in a run in the first inning and two runs in a six-run sixth inning combined with Paula Songer and Kathy Lynn to drive in 10 runs as Flyers Wings & Grill finished the season with a seven game winning streak.

The final standings are Flyers Wings & Grill (9-2), Sunniland Corporation (8-3), Curt's Alleycats (7-3), the Sharks (4-6), Vaughan Incorporated (3-7) and Orlando Dodge (0-10).

Flyers Wings & Grill took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning as Brenda Hartsheld and Margaret Clevenger opened the inning with singles. With one out, Poe lifted a sacrifice fly to score Hartsheld, and after a Songer single, Clevenger scored on a single by Lynn.

Sunniland Corporation evened the score in the top of the third inning as Barb Martin and Diana Wilson singled. After a pair of pop ups, Carol Frank walked to lead the bases and Martin and Wilson scored when Teresa Frick reached on an error.

Flyers Wings & Grill then took advantage of error itself to Lake Mary's Lauren Bradley (No. 44) looks for room to drive around Seminole's Desiree Hill during the Rams', 63-50, victory over the Tribe Tuesday night. Bradley scored 36 points before taking a seat late in the game.

Bradley, Lake Mary too tough for young 'Noles

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD — Over three minutes remained and Lauren Bradley was just six points away from the Lake Mary single game scoring record.

Bradley still took a seat, walking off to a large ovation as the Rams won their 37th straight game dating back to the 1996-97 state finals, 63-50, over a game, but smaller, Seminole High School squad Tuesday night.

Bradley, who will be sitting up for Florida State University next year, still wasn't totally pleased with her 36 point effort.

"Maybe if I made some of my layups I could have played better," she said.

Better for Bradley is stay to everyone else in Seminole County. Bradley suffered a knee injury over the summer and underwent an MRI just before the season started. She has played tentatively, but Lake Mary coach Carl Brown said last night was the first time she played at the top of her game.

Just as Bradley appears to have recovered from her injury, forward May Leah Sutton suffered an injury to her hand in the second half. The damage wasn't known last night, but Brown said his team has been snake-bitten by injuries all year. Point guard Ashlee Ballance also wasn't at 100 percent as fall practice started.

"This was the first time all season I felt we were at the top of our game," Brown said. "Now May Leah is hurt. If we ever get well, we might have a pretty good team."

No arguments there. The Rams struggled against a young Lyman team last Thursday, trailing in the second half before coming back. Hosting an undefeated Seminole team could have been cause for concern, but the Rams turned it up when they needed to.

The Lake Mary press shut down Seminole throughout the game and Bradley and Sutton dominated the backboards against the smaller Seminoles. Lake Mary jumped out to a 19-4 lead and Bradley scored the Rams' first 12 points before Sutton scored and added a free throw. It was one of four consecutive three-point conversions for Lake Mary in the first quarter.

Brown was able to play his bench early and often and, while Bradley sat, Sutton started to dominate on her way to an 18 point night.

Lake Mary took a 36-15 halftime lead, but Seminole hung close before the clock wound down on the 'Noles' first loss of the season.

Seminole has already taken care of some of its biggest games, taking on Lake Mary and district rival Maitland on the road.

"I'm happy with where we are right now," coach Sylvester Wynn said. "We kept fighting and I think we played a good game tonight. We like playing the tough games early because we know what we have."

Seminole came back with former Lake Mary back up Martina Kendrick running the offense. Barbara Gray and Kendrick combined for 20 points, and the Seminoles had several chances near the end to close the gap to single digits, but Bradley continued to prove too much for Seminole to handle.

Things don't get a whole lot easier for the Seminoles tonight as they travel to Orlando to take on defending district champion Oak Ridge Junior varsity action tips off at 6 p.m. with the varsity set to toss it up at 7:30 p.m.

The Rams are scheduled to host their own tournament this Friday and Saturday.

Rams girls soccer unbeaten

From Staff Reports

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's girls varsity soccer team remained undefeated by blanking DeLand, 2-0, in a Class 6A District 4 contest at Don J. Reynolds Stadium Tuesday night.

The defending state champion Rams jumped on top early and held on the rest of the way to claim the victory.

"Defensively, we're looking really good," said Lake Mary coach Bill Esselle.

The Rams improved to 2-0-2 on the season while the Bulldogs fell to 2-2. Lake Mary also won the junior varsity game, outscoring DeLand, 5-1.

Elizabeth Morris opened up the scoring in the fifth minute with a goal and teammate Ashley Kellgren scored two minutes later. Neither team was able to score for the remainder of the game.

Goalkeeper Brandy Malzra racked up her third shutout of the season, blocking all three shots on goal.

The Lake Mary team had over seven times as many shots on goal with 22.

Lake Mary's next game will be at home on Saturday evening against powerful Winter Park. The junior varsity will play first at 5 p.m., and varsity is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Learn tides to enhance success

SANFORD — For angling success, saltwater fishermen must know the stages of the tides, especially the amount of time between high and low tides. Fish are most active when the water is ebbing or flowing. The longer the time between tides, the longer the good fishing time. Anglers may debate over whether the incoming or outgoing tide is better for fishing, but the important point is that fishing is better during the ebb and flow than during slack times at high and low tides.

Experienced fishermen also know that there are certain times each day when fishing activity reaches a peak. These times appear to correspond to the times that the moon is directly over or under the earth. For approximately one hour on either side of the moon over or moon under time, fishing should be the best for that part of the tide cycle.

Every bait and tackle store that deals with saltwater anglers will have a tide chart for their area. Several companies publish yearly tide chart books, and charts are usually included in the saltwater fishing magazines. Florida Sportsman magazine provides detailed tide times for the entire state in each monthly issue.

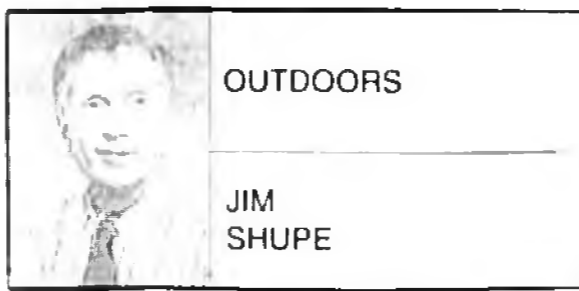

Much of the Florida coast experiences two high and two low tides per day. Remember that the times and actual levels of tides may vary due to winds and storms.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

Don't forget to check your line after each good fish. Small frays might cost you a real trophy if you don't develop this habit.

FISHING FORECAST

A predicted cold front will result in breezy conditions this weekend. In the river, expect good bass action around ambush points such as sand bars and slough mouths. Big bass will be on the move for the next several months, and now is prime time to go after that lunker of a lifetime. Fly from Puzzle Lake south to Lake Winder and use large shiners for giant bass.

Sebastian Inlet has good snook action for fish to 20 pounds. Large live shrimp or small bait fish still are the top producers. One-ounce jigs will also work well. Expect flounder, redfish, trout and bluefish to be mixed in with snook catches.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports fair off-shore action with king mackerel, wahoo and dolphin. Some boats are doing well, others are not. The fish seem to be concentrated when they are found inside the Port, expect flounder and sheep-head while trout and redfish are rated as fair on the flats of the Banana and Indian Rivers.

Force Inlet has great action with sheephead, redfish, drum, flounder and small bluefish. Live or dead shrimp are the top baits. Trout and redfish are cited as good in Mosquito Lagoon.

Keica Smith, a freshman from Ocala, has been outstanding off the bench, helping Seminole Community College to a 6-0 record to begin the season. Smith and the Raiders host Skagit Valley Friday afternoon.

SCC at home Friday

HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College women's basketball team will return home from a five-game road trip to give the local fans a little holiday afternoon action on Friday.

The Raiders, who were 6-0 heading into a doubleheader in Ocala last weekend, will play host to Skagit Valley Community College from Mount Vernon, Washington.

Game time is set for 2 p.m. Please see SCC, Page 2B regain the lead for good in the bottom of the third frame.

 Darl Norman singled and two outs later, Lucy Sellers reached on an error to set up Poe's triple. Songer then followed with an RBI single to plate Poe.
 Flyers Wings & Grill added a pair of runs in the fourth inning as Yoyo Cox walked and Tracey Mitchell singled before Shay Brown reached on an error to score Cox. After a walk to Chris Clark, Norman hit a sacrifice fly to score Mitchell.

 The new champions got another run in the fifth inning as Sellers singled and Poe doubled and Sellers scored two outs later on a single by Cox.
 Sunland Corporation got a run back in the sixth inning when Cranick singled and scored one out later on a triple by Belinda Anderson.
 Flyers Wings & Grill then put the game out of reach with six runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. Gina Green reached on an error, but was forced on a grounder by Clark. Sharon Burch then reached on another error and Hartsfield walked to load the bases.

 Clevenger then singled in Clark and, an out later, Poe singled in Burch and Hartsfield. Songer followed with an RBI double and Lynn closed out the scoring with a two-run triple.
 Sunland Corporation's final two runs came in the top of the seventh inning as Sue Bagley reached on a one out error and Martin and Wilson singled to load the bases. Micki Lewis' sacrifice fly got Bagley home and Martin scored on a single by Ann Lanza.
 Powering the Flyers Wings & Grill attack were Lou Poe (triple, double, single, two runs, five RBI), Paula Songer (double, two singles, run, two RBI), Kathy Lynn (triple, single, three RBI) and Margaret Clevenger (two singles, two runs, RBI).

 Also contributing were Yoyo Cox and Carol Norman (one single, one run and one RBI each), Brenda Hartsfield and Lucy Sellers (one single and two runs each), Tracey Mitchell (single, run) and Chris Clark and Sharon Burch (one run scored each).

Others playing for the champions were Shay Brown and Gina Green.
 Doing the damage for Sunland Corporation were Diana Wilson (three singles, run), Belinda Anderson (triple, single, RBI), Barb Martin (two singles, two runs), Ann Lanza (two singles, RBI), Carol Cranick (single, run), Kim Myers (single), Micki Lewis (RBI) and Sue Bagley (run).

SCC

Friday afternoon at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center, and as always, admission is free.

SCC, ranked No. 4 in the state preseason poll, has been outstanding in rolling to the undefeated start, including wins over state-ranked teams Okaloosa-Walton Community College, Pensacola Community College and Indian River Community College (twice).

The Raiders really showed their prowess in the Miami Nike Classic two weeks ago, knocking off Palm Beach Community College, Broward Community College and Indian River Community College by 21 points each.

SCC head coach Ken Patrick and assistant Tony Mandeville, a defensive specialist, have done a super job of meshing four newcomers from last year's 21-8 club with nine newcomers (eight freshmen) to form a very strong and deep team.

With stars like 7-foot Jaama Kotowa, a preseason All-America selection, and All-Conference guard Daria Kudryavtseva, returning you would think they would do the bulk of the scoring.

But the Finland freshman duo of 6-foot-4 Kaisa Tuure and 6-foot-1 Satu Ramesalo have made a tremendous impact as the starting forwards and point guard Crystal Tanner, while not a big scoring threat, is a terror on defense and does a good job of distributing the ball.

Another thing that has made this team so strong is its bench, as the guard tandem of Myvert Woolley from Carbondale, Illinois, and Keira Smith from Okala and the frontcourt pair of Sanford's Shemeka Stokes and Orlando's Shemel Donovan have all had their turn at scoring in double figures for the Raiders.

Lake Mary's Maggie Reddy, Christine Brining from Winter Park and Kristen Smithers of Sarasota have also made an impact off the bench.

Hackers win championship

WINTER SPRINGS - The PHS Hackers from Oviedo picked up yet another championship, but had to do it in come-from-behind fashion, rallying to edge GDDC, 13-11, in City of Winter Springs Women's Fall Slow Pitch Softball League action at Central Winds Park Monday night.

The Hackers (8-2) of manager Mickey Norton found themselves down 11-1 after two innings and things looked even bleaker when first baseman Phyllis Baynes was forced to leave the game with a knee injury.

Despite Baynes' spot in the order being an automatic out and 11 runners being left on base when that spot came up, the Hackers were able to come back, finally catching GDDC with four runs in the top of the seventh inning.

Leading the offense for the Hackers were Anna Hollis (4-for-4, including a triple and a double, four RBI and six put outs in left field), Jaudon Marlette (4-for-4, two RBI), Becky Mangino (3-for-4), Debbie Pegel (two singles, two runs scored, one RBI), Rose Ann Fry (2-for-5, two runs scored, two RBI), Stacy Burwell (two singles, two runs scored, two RBI), Connie Thomas (two singles, two runs scored), Terri Mann (one single, two runs scored, two RBI) and Theresa Walburger (one single, two runs scored, shutout over five innings to get pitching win).

ENGAGEMENTS

Westmark, Seeley

Karen and Douglas Westmark of Sanford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miranda Lee, to Richard Eugene Seeley II, son of Phyllis and Richard Seeley of Eustis.

Born in Orlando, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Phyllis Lewallen of Osteen, and the paternal granddaughter of Lottie and Henry Westmark of Zephyrhills. She is a 1995 graduate of Seminole High School where she played tennis and currently attends Seminole Community College.

Her fiancé, born in Orlando, attended Eustis High School and attends SCC. He is in the United States Marine Corps.

Miranda L. Westmark, Richard E. Seeley II

The wedding will be an event of Nov. 28, at 2 p.m., at the Marina Hotel in Sanford.

Favorite side dishes for all seasons

I don't know how things work at your house, but at ours, we don't mess with Thanksgiving. I have friends who serve goose, roast beef and even lobster for Thanksgiving, but my family is made up of hard core traditionalists. Turkey it must be. The stuffing is always the same basic bread stuffing, the kind my mom made. Pe is pumpkin. The only area in which I can exercise the slightest bit of creativity is in the side dishes. When it comes to the veggies, my family — God bless 'em — is flexible. No one is wedded to creamed onions (although I do love creamed onions) or sweet potatoes with brown sugar, or green bean casserole. Essentially, no one cares WHAT I do with the vegetables. And the vegetables happen to be my favorite part of the meal.

I've spent the last few months auditioning vegetable dishes for our Thanksgiving table. My first criterion is that the vegetables be tasty but not too weird. Thanksgiving is no time for weirdness, as the late Jane Grigson, a British food writer, said about Christmas cookery. "Clever food is not appreciated — it makes the little ones cry and the old ones nervous."

PARSNIP MASHED POTATOES

- 4 pounds new potatoes, peeled, if desired, and diced
- 1-1/2 pounds parsnips, peeled and sliced
- 2 teaspoons kosher salt
- 1-1/2 cups heavy cream, half-and-half, or combination of either with whole milk
- 1 handful of chopped Italian parsley or chives, for garnish (optional)

Place the potatoes and parsnips in a large pot, cover with cold water and bring to a boil over high heat. Cook until both are very tender, about 20 to 25 minutes. Drain and return to pot.

Off the heat, mash the cooked vegetables with a fork or potato masher, gradually incorporating the salt and cream. If necessary, reheat over very low heat. Transfer to a heated serving bowl and serve immediately. Yield: 8 servings.

ROOTS AND WINGS

- 2 tablespoons rice vinegar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 3/4 teaspoon crushed red peppers
- 3 pounds sweet potatoes
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 tablespoons minced garlic
- 2 tablespoons curry powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- 1 small bunch kale
- 2 cups water

Different and delicious: Thanksgiving side dishes that can all be made on the stove top.

MARIALISA CALTA

To make the dressing: Combine the rice vinegar, honey and 1/4 teaspoon of the red peppers in a jar or small bowl. Stir or shake to dissolve honey. Cover and set aside.

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Peel the sweet potatoes and slice them crosswise into 1/2-inch thick rounds. Place them in a large bowl and toss with the soy sauce, oil, garlic, curry powder, salt, pepper and remaining 1/2 teaspoon red pepper. Place on a parchment- or foil-lined baking sheet and bake, turning once, until tender when pierced with a fork and beginning to brown, about 45 minutes. Remove them from the oven and let cool. (Note: you can do this several hours before serving, but if you bake the potatoes right before serving, it is important to allow at least 20 minutes for them to cool.) Set aside.

Wash the kale, slice it into 1/2-inch strips and place it in a large bowl. Bring the water to a rolling boil and pour it over the kale. Toss with tongs or forks until the leaves are wilted and bright green. Drain the kale well and place in a large dry bowl. Add the dressing to the kale and toss. Add the sweet potatoes and toss again to coat everything well with dressing. Best served warm or at room temperature. It can also be served cold. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

BRANDIED ONIONS

- 2 pounds yellow onions, peeled, sliced and separated into rings
- 2 tablespoons unsalted butter or olive oil
- 1 28-ounce can tomatoes, drained and chopped
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/4 cup brandy
- 1 scant teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup freshly ground black pepper

In a large skillet over medium heat, sauté the onions in the butter or oil until golden, about 15 minutes. Stir in the remaining ingredients and simmer for 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve warm or at room temperature. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

RED CABBAGE SALAD WITH PECANS

- 1 cup whole pecans or coarsely chopped walnut halves
- 1 small red cabbage (about 1-1/2 pounds)
- 1 tablespoon coarse salt
- 1/3 cup sherry or balsamic vinegar
- 1/2 cup roasted walnut oil (or roasted hazelnut oil or extra-virgin olive oil)
- freshly ground black pepper, to taste

TASTE

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Put the nuts in a skillet or on a baking pan with sides, and toast for 10 to 15 minutes, stirring often and watching that they don't burn. Remove from oven and from pan (they will continue cooking if you don't). Set aside. (Note: you can do this before you put the turkey in.)

Peel and discard the tough outer leaves of the cabbage. Cut the cabbage into quarters, starting at the bottom so that a thin wedge of core is left attached to each section. Cut off and discard the core from each quarter and slice the quarters, crosswise, as thin as you can.

Toss the shredded cabbage with the salt in a mixing bowl and rub the salt into the cabbage for a minute or two, until you no longer feel the salt under your fingers. Put the salted cabbage in a colander to drain for 30 minutes. Squeeze the cabbage in small balls in your hands to get rid of liquid and excess salt.

Toss the cabbage with the vinegar, oil and toasted nuts. Season to taste with pepper or more vinegar, if needed, and serve. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

— Recipe from "Vegetables," by James Peterson (William Morrow, 1998)

PUREED RUTABAGA WITH SCOTCH

- 2 rutabagas (about 4 pounds), peeled and cubed
- 6 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 6 tablespoons Scotch
- 1/2 teaspoon salt, or more, to taste

Bring a large pot of salted water enough to cover the rutabagas to a boil. Cook the rutabagas in boiling water until tender, about 25 minutes. Drain.

Transfer the rutabaga to the bowl of a food processor and puree. Add the butter, Scotch and salt. Process until smooth.

Turn out into a bowl and serve immediately. Yield: 8 servings.

Stepfathers reason for reader to be thankful

DEAR ABBY: While I was growing up, my mother was married several times. Unfortunately, over the years I lost contact with my stepfathers. Every year around the holidays, I think back with fondness on these men who shaped my life. I wish I could tell each of them that their presence, however brief, had a lasting effect on me.

To the bank manager I would ascribe my own successful career in banking.

The one who insisted that I eat my vegetables would be amazed to learn that I've become a vegetarian.

I would say to the hard worker who juggled two jobs to support us, that by his example, he instilled a strong work ethic in me.

ADVICE

My biological dad would be thanked for many things, not the least being his faithfulness. He sent the child support checks for 15 years without fail for a child across the country he was barely allowed to know. I always knew he cared.

I feel lucky to have learned so many things from such fine men. GRATEFUL TO ALL MY DADS

DEAR GRATEFUL: If childhood is a learning experience, yours was not wasted. I'm printing your letter of gratitude as a reminder for fathers, both absent and present, that children are taught by the examples the adults in their lives have set for them.

Abby shares her favorite recipes in two booklets: Abby's Favorite Recipes and Abby's More Favorite Recipes. Warning signs for nervous breakdown

DEAR DR. GOTT: How can you tell if you're having a nervous breakdown?

DEAR READER: This term is often used to describe a mental or emotional crisis that interferes with normal life or requires hospitalization. A "breakdown" may be triggered by an overload of stress, anxiety or depression; it can also be a consequence of serious disorders — including schizophrenia, bipolar mood disorder and endogenous depression — that are unrelated to outside events.

A person heading for this type of crisis may detect some warning signs: ill temper, a feeling of loss of control, exhaustion or hyperactivity, distorted reality, the development of irrational or eccentric opinions and convictions, and antisocial behavior (such as becoming isolated, verbally abusive or violent, or developing obsessive and self-destructive habits). He or she might increase the use of mind-altering substances, such as alcohol, to escape overwhelming anxiety or depression.

Actually, drugs themselves can cause the equivalent of a nervous breakdown. The mental alterations associated with alcohol, crack, heroin, cocaine, marijuana and hallucinogens are indistinguishable from those seen in deeply disturbed patients — and these changes can occur with so-called "recreational use."

Treatment depends on the problem's severity. Counseling and medication are helpful in most cases. If patients cannot manage daily life or pose a danger to themselves, hospitalization is necessary.

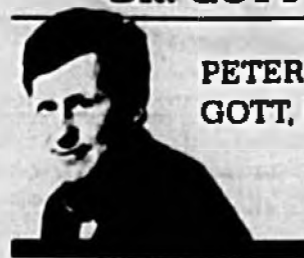

As a general rule, anyone who begins to question or fear for his or her sanity should seek professional help. Psychiatrists, psychologists, therapists and other mental-health professionals can either assist patients with emotional problems or refer them to specialists if necessary. In addition to private help, most communities offer mental health services for little or no fee.

People with drug or alcohol problems usually need medical intervention because of physical dependence. Counseling is available for a concerned friend or distraught spouse, as well as for the patient.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In my teens, I engaged in purposeless and repetitive knuckle-cracking. Now my finger joints are enlarged and sore, probably due to my adolescent habit. Can anything be done to correct this?

DEAR READER: The symptoms you are experiencing are usually osteoarthritis, which commonly affects all of us as we age. To my knowledge, knuckle-cracking does not aggravate this type of arthritis. Although not always the case, calcium deposits in the finger joints can be surgically removed if they are painful and interfere with normal motion.

caused by tissue swelling, although such swelling usually regresses once the knuckle-cracking habit has been outgrown. Another, less likely cause is calcium deposits — the hallmark of

WIN AT BRIDGE

Third time is still lucky

By Phillip Alder

The third book in Ron Klinger and Andrew Kambiles' Card Play Made Easy series is subtitled "Trump Management" (Collants). It is only 98 pages long, but you get more material than in many books twice the length. The authors cover the key aspects of the subject and throw in 91 quiz questions for good measure. The difficulty level is mostly intermediate.

Here is one of the quiz deals. Peer at only the North-South hands. Your partner bids aggressively, pushing you into seven spades. West leads the heart queen. How do you plan the play, given that trumps break 3-2?

Note the advantage of Roman Key Card Blackwood, which uncovers South's spade king, allowing North to bid seven. South's five-heart reply shows either two aces, or one ace and the trump king.

You start with 12 tricks. The 13th must come from the diamond suit. If the diamond queen drops in one round or two rounds, fine. If not, you will need some luck.

Start by drawing two rounds of trumps, preferably leaving the ace in the dummy. Then, play off dummy's top diamonds. Did the queen drop? If so, draw the missing trump and claim. If not, cash four club tricks, discarding your two remaining diamonds. (If an opponent ruffs one of these club tricks, the contract was unmakeable.) Next, ruff a diamond to bring down the queen, draw the last trump by crossing to dummy's ace, and discard your heart loser on dummy's diamond six.

The book is $14.95 postpaid from Baron Barclay. Call (800) 274-2221 to order.

HOROSCOPE

Your Birthday
Thursday, Nov. 26, 1998

Your desires for self-expression and independence could be stronger in the year ahead than they have been in the past. These newly aroused ambitions could enhance your resourcefulness, and expand your chances for success.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Sure, you are clever and innovative, but it's just down right stupid to ignore the directives of an authority figure, such as your boss, parent or teacher. Chastisement could ensue. Sagittarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In order to placate a disagreeable companion today, you might have to yield to do something that goes against your better judgment. Be friendly to all, but don't be foolish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unrealistic hopes could most definitely be shattered today, so don't entertain unreasonable expectations, especially in situations concerning material or financial returns.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you find yourself today in a position where you feel overwhelmed or outwitted, don't let your ego get in the way of backing out or backing down. Be smart, and don't be embarrassed.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's okay to tread warily today, but do not subdue the hope in your heart. Although you may believe them to be similar, caution and parent or teacher. Chastisement could ensue. Sagittarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send the required refund form and for your Astro-Graph predictions by mailing $2 and self-addressed stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may have lured rather well in a collective endeavor yesterday, but today's aspects are not as favorable. It might be wise to avoid participation in joint ventures for the time being.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Whenever we are asked to sit in judgment of another, it should always be treated seriously. This may be your job today, so don't handle the matter in a cavalier fashion.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a marvelous gift of treating and responding to others in a sensitive and protective manner. However, when evaluating another today, your comments could be rather uncharacteristically caustic.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It'll be your fault if you find yourself in the company of those who are domineering and dictatorial. Be very selective and discriminating today regarding your social companions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Operate on your own today if possible. There's a good chance that you could find yourself at odds with a view that opposes yours regarding ways an assignment should be done.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Ingratitude could quickly turn a friend into an adversary if you're not careful today. Be sure to properly acknowledge anyone who goes out of his or her way to be helpful to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Restrict your shopping today to small, cash bar gains. Steer clear of expensive boutiques, because extravagant inclinations could supersede your common sense and monetary means.
