Chase Bank Head Given Over Million While Institution Charged Off Heavy Losses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Evidence was presented to the Senate investigators today that the Chase Securities Corporation had net assets $129,000,000 from its reserves to cover its losses. That was given as 77 percent of total capital and surplus.

Previously the committee had heard that the corporation traded through a subsidiary in 1932 at $900,000,000 worth of stock of the Chase National Bank from 1928 to 1932.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Immense earnings by Albert H. Wiggin from bonuses, salary and extra pay from other corporations while the Chase National Bank, of which he was head, was losing millions, were added up yesterday before the Senate Banking Committee.

The total compensation of the former chairman of the Chase National was given as nearly $1,500,000 for the past five years. When he retired last winter he was voted $100,000 a year for life by the executive committee.

Testifying in a deep voice, the banker said his associates "always suggested" the "additional compensation" he was to receive. "And I helped to fix theirs," he added.

"You helped to fix theirs and they helped to fix yours?" asked the chairman.

Cotton Loans Ready For Southern Growers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Stepping to the aid of cotton farmers, the administration yesterday organized the Commodity Credit Corporation funds available for bringing the price of cotton to 10 cents a pound for low middling and better.

Conservative official estimates placed the enhancement in value of cotton still in producer's hands at about $30,000,000, based on Monday's quotations.

Under the plan, the government will lend 10 cents a pound to farmers who still have their cotton, if it is low middling and better in grade and 7.5 inch or better staple. Loans of eight cents will be made on low middling or better cotton of less than 7.5 inch staple and no loans will be made on cotton classing below low middling.

The money is to be loaned at 4 percent interest to farmers who agree to participate in the acreage curtailment agreement.

Roosevelt Displeased Over Low Farm Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt feels that although farm prices have increased 22 percent since the average for the year that ended in March, they are not yet high enough in the same period, the cost of things the farmer buys has increased 11 percent. Despite these figures, the administration was described as feeling that the farmer's return is still far too low.

Figures submitted to the President also showed that factory employment in September, compared to 1928, had recovered a two-fifths decline, the income of factory workers had regained a quarter loss, while the cost of living rose nine percent from March to September.

C., Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—A bandit today held up Hugh Hailman, mail truck driver, forced him to drive outside the city, then shot and escaped with three mail pouches believed to contain money for local and Federal banks. MEMPHIS, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Robert Store, 44, an unemployed railroadman, was hanged to death with an axe today at his home in a Memphis suburb, by his wife, who sold officers her husband had been beating her. After the slaying, which occurred about 2:00 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Daisy Store, 35, called her two daughters, Pamela, 17, and Clara, 12, asleep in the next room to the double bed they all slept in. She hid and held a family physician or nurse. She said she then went to a physician's home, who visited the Store home and pronounced her husband dead.

Dakota Governor Faces Court Fight Of Order

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Gov. William Langer of North Dakota in a bid to extend his wheat shipment embargo to six other states in what he termed "a patriotic service to the government" by seeking higher prices for the farmer.

But, even before he had sent out messages urging similar action by six wheat executives, those of South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Minnesota and Kansas three said they would not join him and a court fight over his order appeared probable.

A fourth governor on the list declined to comment after his attorney general and he lacked authority to declare an embargo.

The other two had not replied.

Governor Langer, who told the government he believed a six state embargo would help the national recovery program by increasing agricultural purchasing power, expressed satisfaction with developments since he proclaimed his ban on out-of-state shipments Monday.

It becomes effective at 12:01 A. M. Thursday and the governor has power to call out national guardsmen if he deems it necessary to enforce his order. About 50,000,000 bushels of wheat would be held by the embargo.

TAMPA FAMILY WIPE OUT BY CRAZED YOUTH

TAMPA, Oct. 18.—Victor Licata, 21, in a fit of insanity, killed his father, mother, sister and two younger brothers early yesterday morning with an axe as they slept in the Licata home, 1207 Fifth Avenue, and then looked himself in the home until nine hours later.

The dead: Victor Licata, 41, the Eagle barber shop, 506 Esplanade Street.

Mrs. Rosalia Licata, 41, Miss Providence Lane 4 1/2.

Philip Licata, 11, Joe Licata, 9.

All were dead, except Philip, and he died last night at 6:30 o'clock at the Tampa hospital.

A denial that he killed his parents, two brothers, and a sister was made today by Licata, but he told at the same time, a deputy sheriff said, of a "dream" in which he killed his parents with an axe.

Licata was charged with murder when his 14-year-old brother Phillip died last night. Licata maintained a stoical silence. Today he talked.

In a dream, he said he was being tortured by his family members. "What a pain in my stomach" and later saw "Red Hot" dripping from his nose. "I don't know how it happened," he said.

The slayer, dazed and staring wildly, was arrested at the scene as officers broke into the home. The victims had been struck repeatedly on their heads and faces and lay in blood-soaked rooms.

Welding Axes Anxiously, Man Kills His Father, Mother, Sister, Brothers As They Slept

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—The Ford Motor Company, hitherto silent toward NRA, yesterday informed the national labor board that it was willing to meet spokesmen of its striking assembly plant employees, and immediately the board arranged negotiations under its supervision.

The only motor company to refuse to sign the automobile code and display the Blue Eagle, the Ford concern had held aloof when Chairman Wagner of the national labor board some time ago invited it to arrange for negotiations with strikers at the Chrysler, GM, and Edgewater, N. J., Ford assembly plants. The chief notice by the company yesterday, however, opened the way to arbitration proceedings with the union which walked out partly to force recognition of their union.

The text of the telegram was not made public.

The negotiations were under way today at Newark, N. J., with a representative of the national labor board and officials of the New Jersey state recovery board, set up by NRA, taking part.

Senator Wagner announced the Ford action in these words: "I have received assurance by telegram from the Ford company in Detroit that the company is prepared to meet with representatives of their employees. The superintendent of the Edgewater plant has telephoned me that he will be at the meeting, inasmuch as I have requested his presence. The board will have to decide whether to accept the Ford action as a representative.

The men's representatives have already been elected by the workers. Arrangements for a similar meeting in connection with the reopening of the captive plant are not yet completed. James F. Dowe, department of labor commissioner, will be the board's representative at Chester."

High Nazi Officials To Answer To Fire Probers

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—A dramatic development in the Reichstag denunciation trial came yesterday with the announcement that four highly placed Hitlerite leaders would be called as witnesses in the trial of the "Night of the Long Knives" by the Reichstag.

They are: Wilhelm Frick, Reich minister, and Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, who are accused in the "Night of the Long Knives" of having ordered the execution of a number of prominent opponents of Hitler.

In the retail situation, Johnson said he had purchased a company of 250,000 bushels of wheat, which had been generally accepted under which the import quota limit would be coupled with prohibition of "the leader" sales below cost to attract customers, and with appointment of a board of distinguished citizens to make a report by Feb. 1 on the advisability of establishing a markup above the cost limit and its amount.

Johnson said that "most sold on the floor" at which a man has even in selling his goods, was the only one that appealed to the retailers, that the average cost of doing business in the United States was 20 percent above in value, and that only one or two firms in the country were reported to be doing business on 10 percent.

The only motor company to refuse to sign the automobile code and display the Blue Eagle, the Ford concern had held aloof when Chairman Wagner of the national labor board some time ago invited it to arrange for negotiations with strikers at the Chrysler, GM, and Edgewater, N. MINIMUM PRICE CONTROL VIEWED BY ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Hughes Johnson, the recovery administrator, said yesterday that the government's policy on control of minimum prices in the cotton and a half retail store of the country probably would be decided by President Roosevelt today.

The several retail codes, he added, were virtually certain to carry at least production of sales below invoice cost, to the price of goods as delivered to the storekeeper.

Johnson said the possibility of including a markup of 10 percent or more above invoice cost to cover part of the merchant's expense.

Secretary Wallace said he was definitely opposed to minimum markups in the retail trade, and that the plan before President Roosevelt would not authorize them in the cases that would set a prohibition against sales below invoice cost, to cover the cost of doing business.

U.S. Moves To Provide Resistance Against Falling Grain Price

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—The Roosevelt administration yesterday arranged for the purchase of approximately 1,000,000 bushels of wheat and completed its cotton loan program by moving to provide a credit advance to recent falling prices of the two commodities.

Letting Workers Quit Strike, Return To Work

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—The strike of 2,000 lettuce packers and trimmers apparently ended yesterday as workers, who had been on strike since the outbreak of cotton pickers, said they would return to work. The workers in other labor disputes in California remained unsettled. A threatened strike of apple packers at Wenatchee also complicated the situation.

The lettuce workers agreed to return to work in voting Monday night to accept an increase. It was not packers' word received 75 cents an hour instead of 65 cents, usually offered, and that other workers in the lettuce trade would accept a "strong" scale about the same as before the strike.

MIAMI, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—Sheriff Dan Hardie, suspended from office yesterday by Gov. Dave Shultz on charges of misconduct in office, immediately threatened a bitter legal fight to retain his job.

Hardie said his troubles came because the gamblers want to run this county and I would not allow it.

"I've been the best sheriff in the United States in view of conditions," he declared, at Miami, as he packed his office records.

"When I was sheriff before I showed the gamblers the way out of town at the end of a 30 caliber revolver. Apparently they don't want to do it that way anymore."

That he would demand the hearing offered by the Governor was indicated by his statement: "I'll see this through to the end, but I don't know just what I shall do."

CHISELERS ON BLUE EAGLE TO BE FINED $500

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—(A.P.)—A two-edged executive order designed to force compliance with the blue eagle provisions of the presidential agreement was issued last night by President Roosevelt.

The order called for a fine of $500 and six months imprisonment for any person falsely representing himself to be operating under the agreement or displaying the blue eagle insignia while not complying with its provisions.

The President's order, issued under specific authority of the industrial law, also authorized Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, to prescribe further rules amplifying those laid down by the President.

It followed closely upon removal of the blue eagle from the first establishments reported to have been violating the presidential agreement.

A supplementary order issued by Johnson covering specific rules for display of the eagle, said that any person might display the eagle so long as he complied with the President's requirements, but that when in the judgment of the administrator, any person had failed to comply, it should be considered on demand and he not again displayed without written permission. Fine and imprisonment were provided as penalties for violation of these rules.

People who are troubled with the unfortunate characteristic of being late for appointments are advised by Caldon H. West, city editor of the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, to set their watches up five minutes and then conduct themselves as if their timepieces were quite correct.

"WITHOUT MAKING a fetish of punctuality," Mr. West declared, "I seriously doubt that I have been late in keeping appointments more than ten times in more than 20 years of active newspaper work."

"Nor have I followed any set rule of time psychology, simply keep my watch five minutes fast and regulate my actions accordingly, except that I keep appointments at standard time as recorded on the other fellow's watch."

"My experience has been that five minutes leeway will cover in extraordinary instances, allow of sufficient time to talk up any other person from 'hither to you' without possibility of chastising any person with whom I may have an appointment by being late."

"Early in my newspaper experience I discovered, as probably every other newspaper reporter under the sun, that it is impossible for me to do my duty to the public every thing from the circulation of the newspaper to the writing of a reporter."

"A reporter might conceivably be in haste to cover a meeting or to attend an interview scheduled. How to 'break away' without offending well-meaning friends and acquaintances?"

"I devised the apparently simple—perhaps simple-minded—formula of setting my watch five minutes ahead of the prevailing time. In a concrete instance I would consult it rather ostentatiously."

"Gosh, I'm sorry, old man, I'll have to break away—I've an appointment with the secretary of the chamber of commerce at 10:30 and it's that now—I'll just be able to make it."

"I have never failed to break away—amicably. On the other hand, in reverse English, I have tried casual acquaintances but when my watch was correct and have had them take offense at my obvious anxiety to leave them."

"Through some peculiar psychological quirk if you take out your watch and comment, 'It's 10:30 and I had an appointment with so-and-so for 10:30, I'll have to be leaving,' the person to whom you are speaking will invariably assume that you are chiding him for delaying you."

"Incidentally, I have found that the habit of punctuality has paid dividends to the tune of increased confidence."

Eagles Don't Catch Flies

The sheriff of Dade County has been suspended from office by Governor Sholtz on charges, which, if true, are hardly serious enough to remove a chairman from the board of elections. For instance, Sheriff Hardie is alleged to have been discourteous to a group of women who went to his office by displaying for a "long period of time different guns and weapons which he was prepared to use in defending himself from imaginary attacks by gangsters."

Charges of this nature has no place in the serious consideration of an office as important as that of sheriff. It is the appearance of a feeble and desperate attempt to pin something on the accused and give the whole proceeding a Mr. Hardie an unsavory aspect smacking mightily of political chicanery.

But there are other charges. One of them is that Sheriff Hardie is said to lack "sound judgment and mental stability." In view of the fact that Mr. Hardie is very reliably known to have turned down huge offers of graft last winter during his vigorous campaign against gambling and other lawlessness, it is no wonder that the charge of lacking "sound judgment and mental stability" should bulk large in the executive order suspending him.

Another charge is made that the sheriff appropriated groceries which were bought by the county for its prison. It seems that with all the avenues of corruption open to a sheriff upon whom charges of malfeasance and misfeasance might be brought, the only thing they could find against Hardie was that he stole groceries. Of course this is preposterous. A sheriff who wishes to be crooked doesn't have to steal groceries.

The charges that Hardie conspired to throw dynamite on a certain building and that he counseled someone to commit murder both have a fanciful note and are entailed by the childishness of the other charges. More plausible and concrete charges must be brought against the Dade County sheriff before the people of the state will believe that the whole thing is a conspiracy to get rid of a man who lived up to his word, when he was elected, and clamped the lid on gambling so tight that it hurt some others besides the half-pint operators.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mr. J. L. Latham and daughter were just returned to Lake Champlain after an extended trip through the Adirondacks. They spent a few days at West Hudson with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Deary, who are now all the time of the year in New York City, Brooklyn, Jersey City, and Hoboken, N. J., and Mrs. Latham, who is a sister of the late Mr. J. W. Deary, at the Sanford House.

YOU MUST PRINT THAT

In Berlin last summer a newspaper editor was asked about the confinement in concentration camps of many German citizens of high standing in their communities. Often they did not know any reason for their arrest except that they had been identified with the German resistance. No charges had been filed against them and they were to have no opportunity of defending themselves in court. They were imprisoned on the order of some official and would be kept in prison until he gave the order for their release.

The correspondent inquired of a highly intelligent German business man as to his feeling regarding this situation. "All I know," he replied, using the words of Will Rogers, "is that I read in the newspapers, and the newspapers only say that there is no opportunity of defending themselves in court. They were imprisoned on the order of some official and would be kept in prison until he gave the order for their release."

They were imprisoned on the order of some official and would be kept in prison until he gave the order for their release."

His reply brought home the helplessness of a people to bring the pressure of public opinion on their officials when they know nothing of what is going on. Under the Hitler dictatorship the German people can know only what the government directs the newspapers to print. The freedom of a free press is far stronger in America than in Europe. Yet there is always temptation in times of stress for a government to bring influence to bear to restrict this liberty in order to mobilize public sentiment as it would have sentiment mobilized.

EMPIRE OF ACCOMMODATION

Step by step, Henry L. Doherty is building in southeast Florida an empire of accommodation that should be the envy of the tourist world. To his unrivaled possessions in Miami Beach, Coral Gables and the Florida keys, he has now added the famous Alca Hotel in Palm Beach.

This announcement comes at a time, early in the fall, when the rate of arrivals of winter visitors is causing increasing comment. Never in Miami's history, it seems, have the people begun to come from other states in such numbers so early, nor to make obvious preparations for staying so long.

Colonel Doherty stepped in at the beginning last year, with an enormous hotel in Coral Gables that previously had been a boarding house. It will be remembered that the 1932-33 season brought many more people into the area in the belief of many, than were actually here in the height of the boom. True, it was not a moneyed crowd in the sense that its members threw $1,000 bills to every vagrant gambling breeze or bought $150 lots for 10 times that sum.

But it was a crowd that had come to Miami and Miami Beach and Coral Gables to play and to live in comfort, and it found living conditions ideal. From that crowd and by his own diligence, Colonel Doherty took enough patrons to make his several establishments blossom into potential money makers. In his initial foray here he was the victim of some bad advice on several occasions, being led to believe that certain co-operative responses would be made to efforts of his own, responses that did not materialize. But, on the whole, his first active winter here was not a failure.

With the Alca Hotel Colonel Doherty should have some of the very cream of winter accommodations. Whether the social light of Palm Beach are dimming or not, there will be moneyed people here for the winter, and to these the enlarged Florida Year-Round club can offer the finest and most complete living quarters to be found in any winter resort in the world.

THE COMPLIANCE BOARD

The lot of five men and one woman who constitute the Tampa Compliance Board of the NRA is far from a happy one. These good citizens, who were impressed into this difficult service, must work without pay and, as a general rule, without thanks. They form really the most important body of the NRA movement. It is for them, as the name of their group implies, to see to it that there is compliance with codes by all individuals and all businesses which have subscribed to the agreements. Without this, the NRA needs must fail.

Discharging that duty involves some unpleasantness, requiring very careful handling. The board necessarily will receive criticism from some of those it finds it necessary, under the government regulations, to call to account. In such case, however, the Board has proceeded entirely under definite instructions from Washington. It is a strong testimonial to the ability with which the Tampa Board has handled the cases brought before it that it had not yet found it necessary to report a local case to Washington.

We are pleading for public sympathy and understanding for the lot of these men and women.

Calls For Prompt Revision Of Banking Law

Next session of Congress would be ready to adopt an improved act. The Association later heard a special committee report that a permanent plan of deposit insurance was "imposed in principle and does not offer an ultimate solution of the banking problems of the country." Delegates voted, however, to defer action until a special meeting.

"I think that Senator Glass did an excellent job with the Glass-Steagall Act of 1933," said Berle, "but that it was a great administrative achievement."

"I think he would be the first to see in his forthright and fascinating way, if you were to ask me, that he could be a better job."

"For one thing, under the deposit insurance plan there are a tremendous number of commercial banks that will find it extremely difficult to make a living."

Certain administration rulings, he said, are called for during the functioning of the temporary deposit insurance plan.

"There should be an emphatic pronouncement against the undue 'switching' of funds—the attempt to sprinkle money all over the full approval of the plan. Many a withdrawal from the League of Nations and the Government conference. The German Government has abandoned the League so long "in view of the way in which the plan has been treated."

"In other words, the commercial bank ought to be encouraged to do commercial banking and not through the medium of its time deposit to compete with the savings bank."

"Our financial and industrial systems are being revolutionized. It is almost a certainty that the mechanism which we see today will not be the mechanism of a year from now."

"In awaiting what seems to me the inevitable revision of the banking act, I believe we shall find ourselves headed for opportunity rather than for danger."

Gloria Swanson Stars In Milane Film Today

Complaints against American actors playing the parts of Englishmen, or vice versa, will have no place in "Perfect Understanding," Gloria Swanson's latest United Artists picture which was opening today at the Milane Theater.

"For in this picture the star has been at great pains to see to it that every role in her story is portrayed by an actor of the nationality the character demands."

Thus Miss Swanson herself, who was born in Chicago, plays the role of an American girl. She marries an Englishman, played by Laurence Olivier, who is London born. Genevieve Tobin also plays the part of an American girl in the picture, as she is in private life, and Sir Nigel Playfair, London's foremost actor-manager, is featured as an English playboy.

Charles Colman, who toured America in the English play, "Jezebel's End," is an on-Guards officer, and other English roles are filled by Nora Swinburne, Charles Collins, Peter Gawthorne, Rosalind Fuller, Evelyn Scott, O. E. Clarence, and Mary Ferrald, all of them English by birth.

Lastly, there is Joan Holiday, as well known in Hollywood. Mr. Holiday has the part of an American Arctic explorer.

Million Bushels Of Wheat Taken Off Exchanges

tion, announced purchase of the wheat at six markets through the farmers' national grain corporation for the account of the federal emergency relief administration, which will distribute it to the needy.

Additional purchases of the grain throughout the winter—reaching a possible high of 40,000,000 bushels—were reported in contemplation by the government. At the same time came announcement that the commodity credit corporation would be ready by the end of the week to make available the first of its loans to cotton producers. Loans of eight and 10 cents a pound, depending on the type of cotton, will be offered to producers on the small portion of this year's crop produced they join in the acreage reduction control program for next year.

The west purchases were made at the Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Omaha, Buffalo and Baltimore exchanges. They consisted of both cash wheat and some for December delivery.

Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, will arrange for possessing the grain where necessary.

Roughly, a pound of wheat provides a flour necessary for a pound of bread. There are 10 pounds of wheat to the bushel and it was estimated that the purchase of 1,000,000 bushels meant the material would be available for 60,000,000 loaves of bread.

Hopkins' organization estimated that it would have the responsibility of feeding approximately 15,000,000 persons this winter.

GENEVA HEARS REASON FOR GERMAN MOVE

gations, even though she has announced her withdrawal from the League of Nations and the disarmament conference.

But all questions regarding the Reich's plan after such withdrawal, they gave the stock reply of the foreign minister, Konstantine Von Neurath, that "the others now have the floor."

Replies to inquiries whether the government had purposely refrained from writing a formal letter of resignation from the league or whether this omission was accidental, were cryptic.

One spokesman asserted that "one does not talk about that," and another explained, "I am sorry, but about that I can give you no information."

The inference was drawn that while Germany was quick to notify Arthur Henderson of the resignation from the arms parity, she is in no hurry to leave the league.

When asked about their attitude regarding the Versailles and Locarno pacts and the league covenant, spokesmen hastened to declare that Germany intends to fulfill these obligations.

Whether more concrete plans for Germany's future foreign policy will be divulged in the course of the ensuing Reichstag election campaign, remains to be seen.

The United States Ambassador William E. Dodd apparently came away from a conference with Chancellor Hitler with the impression that Germany is anxious to resume or continue her contact with the rest of the world.

The Yesterday and Today of Jelly Making

WANDERING through an old Colonial house on my vacation recently, I stood before the open fireplace in the kitchen wondering about the woman who had done her cooking there. Prepared not only the daily meals but stirred great batches of jelly over that open fire and waited tedious hours for the contents of the pot to boil down to the proper consistency. And even after that had no assurance that the jelly would "jell."

What a long way we've come—we modern women who make jams and jellies in twenty to thirty minutes—from the lady who lived in that house. Think of her when you turn on your gas or electric stove or light your oil burner to cook your final batch of jelly and see this reason. Think of her when you measure that magical substance, bottled fruit pectin, into your preserving kettle and, after two or three minutes of boiling, here a gleaming, luscious batch of jelly or jam into freshly scalded glasses. And again when you use such simple recipes as these, which absolutely assure the success of your jelly if you follow them accurately.

Ripe Grape Conserves
2 cups (1 1/2 lbs.) prepared fruit
1 cup (1/2 lb.) sugar
1 cup hot water, finely chopped by its seeded raisins to bottle fruit pectin

To prepare fruit, stem and crush thoroughly about 3 pounds fully ripe grapes. Add 1/4 cup water and simmer, covered, 30 minutes. With tight-fitted grapes, add juice of 1 lemon to water. Sieve hot mixture.

Measure sugar into large kettle. Add nuts, raisins, and prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot conserve at once. Makes about 8 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

Spiced Grape Jelly
4 1/2 cups (1 1/2 lbs.) juice
4 cups (2 lbs.) sugar
1/2 lb. bottled fruit pectin

To prepare juice, stem 3 pounds fully ripe grapes and crush thoroughly. Add 1/4 cup apple vinegar, 1 teaspoon cloves, and 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth of bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add bottled fruit pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses (8 fluid ounces each).

U. S. Chain Stores Spend Huge Sum On Ads In Newspapers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Newspaper advertising is the predominant type of advertising among chain stores, according to the Federal Trade Commission's report, "Chain Store Advertising," made public recently. More than 80 percent of the 1,030 chain stores reported their detailed advertising expenditures for a recent year used newspaper advertising, and these chains operated 93.5 percent of the stores of this group, the commission reported.

The commission also revealed that 1,506 chain stores operating 50,458 stores had spent more than $45,000,000 for advertising in one year an average of $43,562 a chain and $1,094 a store. The sale of these chains, it was announced, exceeded $4,322,000,000, and the ratio of advertising expense to sales was 1.53 percent.

Milinery, unlimited price variety, and furniture chains reported advertising expense as accounting for more than 90 percent of their total expenditures for advertising. Grocery and meat chains reported 72 percent of total advertising used in newspapers; grocers, 74.2 percent; and department stores, 69.4 percent.

"Chain store advertising, which has been shown to be predominantly newspaper advertising," says the commission, "has frequently been cited as an important factor in the growth of such companies and as an advantage which most independent competitors cannot employ except to a limited degree. The average cost for each store, of all forms of advertising for grocery and meat chains reporting detailed advertising expenditures in 1928, was $410."

New NRA Drive Promises To Bring Aid To Newspapers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—While the National Recovery Administration's "Buy Now" campaign is too young to have produced any statistics, reports coming to headquarters here, according to the NRA press section, are carrying pledges of greatly increased advertising and of cooperation in the administration's effort to break the log jam which is holding up consumer buying.

So far, it is said, no complaints have been received from newspapers about the suggested advertisements which were sent out by the NRA. Some newspapers, on the other hand, have promised to run the series in tie-ups with local and national advertisers.

In press releases the NRA is quoting from communications received from important manufacturers since the campaign started a few days ago. These indicate the belief of the writers in increased advertising appropriations and in doing everything possible to continue aggressive sales efforts.

WIGGIN DREW HUGE EARNINGS PROBERS FIND

Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel.

"Yes, we sat in together," Wiggin replied.

Pecora developed also that part of the losses of Chase National were from loans to heads of companies from which Wiggin drew compensation as an officer.

Included was a debt of approximately $2,100,000 owned by Gerard Dahl chairman of the board of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit Company, with collateral against the loan worth $675,000.

Another loan approximately $2,000,000 by the bank was set forth in the evidence as one owned by A. R. Graustein, of the International Paper and Power Company.

Pecora presented evidence to show that Wiggin at one time got $20,000 a year from Dahl's company and $2,000 a year from the International Paper Company.

To complete the picture, the investigator presented a table showing that in four years and several months ending July 31, the bank had set aside $212,000,000 as reserves against losses.

Earnings as reported to stockholders for the same time were put at $136,420,000 which, with capital stock, surplus, undivided profits, and capital increases by acquiring other banks, brought the total capital stock and earnings to $503,000,000 as of July 31.

Bonuses aggregating $35,000 in the four-year period were listed by Pecora as paid to Wiggin from the bank and its one time affiliated Chase Securities Corporation. His salary from the bank was given as follows:

1929—$175,000; 1930, $218,750; 1931, $266,000; 1932, $283,000; first six months of 1933, $22,750.

In addition, Pecora brought out that Wiggin received approximately $83,000 a year as director in several companies with the highest about $40,000 from Armour and Company.

A shatter-proof glass manufacturer wrote that research work carried on during the past few years has resulted in important improvements in its product which are being introduced to the public in "intensified advertising and sales efforts to promote the increased use of these products."
