

INDUSTRY GETS NEW WARNING TO CO-OPERATE

Wage Increase Seen As Need To Counter- Balance "Speculative Production"

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A.P.)—Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, warned today that unless industry moved promptly to increase purchasing power through increasing wages to counter-balance increased "speculative production" a new collapse might result.

Johnson said, in an interview, that many industries stepped up production largely to supply a speculative buyers' market and added that unless the ability of the public to buy is increased correspondingly the market will not be there.

If increased purchasing power to support production is not supplied, Johnson said, "I shudder to think what will happen. This country cannot stand a new collapse."

NEW YORK, July 7.—(A.P.)—A government spokesman bluntly warned American business yesterday that if it fumbles the opportunity for self-government under the national recovery act "the advance of political control over private industry is inevitable."

In uncompromising words Donald R. Richberg, long-time representative of railroad labor, now general counsel of the recovery administration, said that should the industrial control plan fail it would not be a failure of government, but of the industrial system, either proving the system fundamentally unsound or indicating its present managers of incapacity to operate it successfully.

His warning message was contained in a speech to the Merchants' Association of New York in which was expounded anew the policy of the recovery administration and in which business and labor both were exhorted to come forward quickly.

"There is no choice presented to American business," he said, "between intelligently planned and controlled industrial operations and a return to the gold plated anarchy that masquerades as 'rugged individualism.'"

Little Child Is Hurt In Fall From Her Car

More frightened than injured, despite the fact that she bled considerably before she was taken to the Sanford Clinic building, just before noon today little Patsy Stratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stratton of Lake Mary, was permitted to leave the Clinic after two clips had been placed in her scalp.

The little girl fell backwards off the running board of her mother's automobile, parked near Laney's Drug Store, and her head struck the sharp curb. Because of the profuse bleeding during the next few minutes, as her mother sought assistance in a nearby drug store, it appeared that the girl had suffered a deep and probably serious wound. However, at the Clinic it developed that the wound was slight.

Papworth Recovering From Blood Poisoning

H. M. Papworth, president of the County Trade Body, is recovering at his Park Avenue home of blood poisoning which he said started in an infection arising from the bite of an "orange dog." An "orange dog" is a worm resembling a caterpillar. It has the form of a dog, and is prevalent in Florida. Mr. Papworth, who instantly has grown paler almost daily, believes that one of these worms stung him and that an infection resulted. For several days his left limb was highly inflamed, and his pain was gradually leaving his body under treatment, and it is expected that he will be at his office within a few days.

ARMS REDUCTION EFFORTS WILL BE PUT OFF AWHILE

Administration Con- vinced Nothing Can Be Done Till Fall

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A.P.)—The administration yesterday abandoned all plans for informal arms reduction negotiations until autumn, convinced nothing could be done in the meanwhile to reconcile the prevailing and persisting disagreements on this vexing question.

This was disclosed by an announcement that Ambassador Norman H. Davis, chief delegate to the Geneva conference, would remain in the United States until early September, when the assembly of the League of Nations will meet.

As plans now stand, the informal discussions will be resumed then with the objective of negotiating agreements on points of difference which are arising from the first reading of the British draft treaty and of preparing for an amicable second reading when the conference reconvenes in mid-October.

Accompanied by Allan D. Dulles, an adviser to the arms delegation, Davis journeyed to Washington yesterday to consult President Roosevelt for a second time.

The announcement of Davis' plans immediately revived the speculation which followed disclosure that his name was on several J. P. Morgan & Co. preferred stockholder lists. Both Davis and the State department have repeatedly denied he intends to resign and yesterday it was asserted emphatically that he would return to Geneva.

Whether incidentally or by design, the revamped plans call for a resumption of the arms discussion a full month or more after the coming war debt revision negotiations have been begun, creating an opportunity for bargaining in the two fields. Such a course has been advocated by a congressional group headed by Senator Borah, of Idaho, the ranking Republican of the Senate Foreign relations committee.

State department officials, however, declined to say that such a connection between the two subjects was contemplated. Finance, should demands for security furnish the principal obstacle to an arms reduction agreement, is not to be given a hearing on her war debts until she pays the $19,000,000 bonded last December and makes an acceptable part payment on the $10,000,000 which fell due June 15.

Bondholders Get Writ In Test Of Legislative Act

The Florida Supreme Court today issued an alternative writ of mandamus directing Ellen Hoy, City of Sanford tax collector, to file a city tax certificate to A. C. Mittenbort and others, holders of judgments amounting to $602,843.26 against the City of Sanford, or show why she should not do so.

Through the agreement of counsel for the City and Mr. Mittenbort and his associates, the writ was made returnable immediately, and Miss Hoy's answer was filed at once.

Her answer stated that a special act of the 1933 Legislature, House Bill No. 1301, prohibited the sale of Sanford tax certificates for the next five years.

Briefs in the case also were filed with the bondholders attacking the validity of the special act. The City Commissioners on Monday night instructed their attorney to prepare to contest this attack on the legality of the law. The Commissioners appeared in agreement during their meeting that night, that the law is not valid.

As a result, Mr. Reid declares, on the night of Mar. 29, 1931, while he was driving at a "moderate and prudent rate of speed" from Starke to Lake Butler, he crashed through a guard rail and dropped several feet into a ditch. His automobile was totally wrecked, he states, and he received the following injuries:

A dislocated vertebrae, a fractured vertebrae, head bruises and cuts, a wrenched back, disabled arms, a shocked nervous system that is injured and impaired.

Further, the declaration states that Mr. Reid "will suffer... for the balance of his life from headaches, nervous disorders and great bodily pain" and that he has permanently lost the use of his left arm and the use of his right arm is permanently impaired.

He further claims that he was in bed six weeks receiving treatment; that he was kept away from his mercantile business for six months, and that he will be 90 percent permanently disabled for the remainder of his life.

The declaration includes a bill of particulars, as follows: Destruction of a Buick sedan, $1,600; hospital expenses, $500; nurses bills after leaving hospital, $600; medicines, $100; doctors bills, $400; present value of future doctors, nurses, and hospital bills, $5000; loss of earnings in business for six months, $1800; personal injury, pain and suffering and 90 percent total disability and the present value of the loss of future earning power, $60,000.

ATLANTA BANK HEAD SEIZED AND RELEASED

Financier And Sports- man Talks Guard Into Aiding Escape; Ransom Demanded

ATLANTA, July 7.—(A.P.)—John King, 33-year-old financier and sportsman, was kidnapped on the main street of Atlanta yesterday by a fruit peddler and a young companion, and they demanded $100,000 ransom for his release.

The boy was arrested and agreed to lend a posse to a restaurant where a witness believed they would locate the father and son. The father was released and the boy was taken to a hotel. The father was released and the boy was taken to a hotel.

Comptroller Issues National Bank Call

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A.P.)—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the condition of all national banks at the close of business Friday June 30.

The emergency bank law provides that the comptroller has all the authority of a receiver and therefore makes the report to the comptroller twice monthly and is not allowed to do any other banking business, the report of which was filed in the call.

Analysis of reports received from banks revealed financial troubles of a serious nature. It is of a serious nature about a month after the call date.

Repairs Being Made On 1st Street Paving

For the first time in more than 15 years, large portions of First Street west of Park Avenue are undergoing repairs to the brick paving which has long been rough and irregular. It is being replaced by city crews under the supervision of James Mouchon, superintendent of parks and streets.

Monetary Question To Be Parley Subject

LONDON, July 7.—(A.P.)—The European gold bloc lost its fight for exclusion of the monetary question from the renovated agenda of the world conference today when a subcommittee on the immediate measures for financial reconstruction voted 25 to 15 to continue to discuss the monetary problem.

DIAMOND-BALL GAME

Weather permitting, the Edgewood and DeMolay diamond ball teams in the City League will play a scheduled league game at Lakewood field tonight at 8:00 o'clock. The line-ups had not been announced, but it is known that Driggers will start on the mound for the Edgewood team. In case of rain the game will be played next Monday night at 8:00 o'clock.

U. S. IS SEEKING ARREST OF 'BAD MEN' IN MISSOURI

"Pretty Boy" Floyd Is Among Those Being Sought By Agents

KANSAS CITY, July 7.—(A.P.)—The department of justice yesterday ordered the arrest of Charles ("Pretty Boy") Floyd, Oklahoma thief, five escaped convicts, Verne C. Miller, former burglar, S. Oak, sheriff, and William Weissman, in connection with the machine gun slaying of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, at the union station here June 17.

The announcement by Director of Police P. J. Mier and William Weissman were known to have had a part in the slaying. The slaying was followed yesterday by the appearance of circulars issued by the United States Bureau of Investigation, asking for the arrest of Floyd and the five convicts.

The circulars were issued at Washington, under direction of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau. They named Harvey Bailey, William Underhill, Ed Davis, James Clark, and Robert G. Bonds, who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary Memorial Day and Floyd.

The circulars also described them minutely and stated they are sought in the "murder of Otto Beck, chief of police at McAlester, Okla.; William J. Green, chief of police at Lawrence, Mo.; and Frank J. Harrison, police chief of Kansas City, Mo.; Raymond J. Coffey, special agent of the United States Bureau of Investigation, and the prisoner, Frank Nash, at Kansas City, Mo., June 17, 1933."

In addition, the department asked the arrest of Barry J. Gansner and Bernard Phillips for complicity in the slaying.

They were said by police to have been a close friend of Nash, who was slain in the attempt to effect his escape. Bailey was the leader of the prison break. He was identified through a photograph by a station officer as the man who inquired the time of arrival of the train bringing Nash from Arkansas to Kansas City.

Paul Lucas Is Winner Of Trip To Capital

Paul Lucas, of Oviedo, vocational agricultural student at Oviedo High School, today was announced as the winner of a five 10-day trip to Washington, a trip that was offered to winners of a statewide forestry contest.

Mr. Lucas has been ranked as first in the fourth Florida division of the contest, and he will be among those making the trip between July 13 and July 29. The trip is conducted by the Florida Forest Service, and forest and game properties as well as wood-using industries, will be visited enroute.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A.P.)—The Senate committee investigating private banking sent its agents back to New York today to dig for three months into the records of bankers, brokers, and the stock exchange. Chairman Elstner announced there were no plans for further hearings until October but several notices on the committee subject to his call and might be hurried into action if developments warranted.

Carole Lombard To Divorce Husband

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—(A.P.)—William Powell, debutant screen actor and Carole Lombard, actress, are going to be divorced in Nevada on her complaint, Mrs. E. C. Peters, her mother, disclosed today. Mrs. Peters said they had decided all of a sudden that they could not agree. They will remain the very best of friends in spite of the divorce. A proper settlement has been effected, she said.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE IS PLEASED WITH PARLEY VICTORY

President Has Broad Smile Upon Hearing Of Action At London

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt showed pleasure yesterday over the victory of the American delegation in continuing the London economic conference, but coupled with this a redoubled effort for the mobilization of the domestic recovery campaign.

As word was brought to him of the decision at London to go ahead, but with monetary and tariff matters off the agenda, the Chief Executive smiled broadly, but made no public comment. He was the recipient of congratulations at the White House.

"Their bluff was called," said Senator Wheeler, of Montana, after a conference with the President. He said he praised Mr. Roosevelt upon the strength of his stand against immediate monetary stabilization.

Hurricane Lashing At Mexican Coastline

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, July 7.—(A.P.)—The tropical disturbance which struck furiously at the Mexican coastline midway between Tampico, Mexico, and Brownsville last night causing a smaller, but serious amount of damage there, was expected to spend its fury today in the mountains west of Tampico.

Residents of the lower Rio Grande Valley, tensely watching the storm's relentless progress across the Gulf, relaxed as it hit far south. Violent winds whipped furiously at the coastline in the vicinity of Brownsville. The storm unroofed houses and uprooted trees at Ciudad Victoria, Mexico. No loss of life was reported.

Orchestra Program Postponed One Week

Because of intermittent rain and the damp condition of the Court House, the concert and entertainment program which was to have been presented by the Sanford Concert Orchestra last night, has been postponed until next Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock. Mrs. R. L. Glenn, Miss Pauline Moran, Walter Trapp, John Senkark, Jerry Senkark, and Madeline Mallem, were scheduled to appear on the program as additional talent, either as singers or instrumentalists.

APPOINTMENT OF TEACHERS CAN'T BE DECIDED YET

Definite Action Must Await Word From Board Of Education

No definite action as to the appointment of teachers and the awarding of contracts for transportation for pupils during the next school term in this county can be taken until the local Board of Public Instruction has further authority from the State Board of Education. It was announced at a meeting of the local Board this week.

The meeting had as a feature the reading of the names of persons recommended for teaching positions throughout the county. Names were recommended by the trustees of the various county school districts.

Pending further advice from Tallahassee, the Board authorized Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton to prepare and mail questionnaires to all teachers recommended. These questionnaires purport to elicit information on which the Board's attorney may determine the eligibility of all proposed teachers under the Acts of 1933.

It was announced that appointments will be made as soon as these facts are secured and the attorney's opinion has been rendered. It provided that the State Board has authorized the issuance of contracts at that time.

A highlight of the meeting revolved about the name of R. G. "Bob" Pittman, Jr., recent graduate of the University of Florida, whose name was proposed by trustees of the Oviedo district for the principalship of Oviedo High School. Mr. Pittman is a resident of Apopka.

In view of the fact that the county board has had in effect for the past two years a regulation which provides that only Seminole County residents be permitted to teach in county schools, unless a properly qualified teacher cannot be secured, Mr. Lawton was instructed to notify trustees of the Oviedo district that if possible, they nominate a local person who has had some teaching experience.

Roosevelt Approves Recreation Facilities

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt today approved the construction of recreation facilities at veterans' administration homes at Biloxi, Mississippi and St. Petersburg at a cost not to exceed $106,000 in each instance. Plans will be drawn later and bids called for after that. The veterans' administration set no definite time for beginning construction.

No Details Are Given By Aviator Who Has Been Missing Since Middle Of Last June

MOSCOW, July 7.—(A.P.)—James Mattern, American flier, is safe at Anadyr in Chukotka, peninsula of Siberia, according to a telegraph message received here direct from Mattern himself.

Anadyr is a trading port on the Kadyr River in far Northeast Siberia north of Kamchatka peninsula near the Bering Sea and generally is along the route Mattern took in attempting to fly from Khabarovsk to Nome. Mattern's telegram said "safe at Anadyr, Chukotka, Siberia, Jimmie Mattern."

The message was sent from the town of Bocharova at 11:00 P. M. July 5 and was received here today. The flier's message gave no details of his situation and where and official quarters here were without information of him.

News of the American, who had been unreported since he left Khabarovsk, Siberia, June 14 was received with jubilation in Soviet aviation circles where it had been believed that if the aviator was forced down on land he had a good chance to escape alive, despite the fact it would take a long time to communicate with the outside world. The section where he landed is sparsely settled.

WALLA WALLA, Washington, July 7.—(A.P.)—"That's the news I have been waiting for, isn't it just wonderful? I know he was safe all the time," said Mrs. Mattern when told her husband was safe.

County Court Moves At Reduced Speed

Proceedings in County Court were moving slowly up to noon today, with only six cases brought to a conclusion where 10 were to have been tried.

C. W. Witherspoon, charged with intoxication, went on trial Wednesday, and was found guilty. He was fined $5 and costs.

B. H. Warren, white, charged with intoxication, went on trial and was found not guilty.

Ed. Randall, white, charged with intoxication, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

Johnnie Davis, white, charged with reckless driving, went on trial and was found not guilty.

R. T. Whitaker, charged with aggravated assault, was found not guilty after a trial.

2 Large Relief Maps To Be Put On Display

Two large relief maps of Florida and the Gulf of Mexico will go on display in the Commissioners' room in the City Hall tomorrow. The maps, showing in detail the various elevations, lakes and streams of Florida in that section through which it is proposed that a cross-state canal be built. One of the maps indicates the depth of water in the gulf section where the canal's westerly entrance is proposed to be.

CUBAN GROUP TO TAKE NO PART IN U. S. MEDIATION

Memocal Says Unsurpassable Bars Prevent Co-Operation

MIAMI, July 6.—(AP)—American mediation in Cuba's internal affairs presents "unsurpassable barriers to our effective co-operation," former President Mario G. Menocal said in a statement yesterday at the home he has occupied here since he was exiled from his country.

The Cuban political group which he heads will take no part in the mediation, he said, "because with due respect to the good will of the initiators, we understand that the ends toward which this mediation strives, and the procedure taken to carry it out, constitute unsurpassable barriers to our effective co-operation."

"It has been stated," General Menocal continued, "that the constitution now illegally in force in Cuba must be the sole basis upon which the solution of the existing

MEMBERSHIP IN WORLD COURT IS SEEN NEXT STEP

Professor Millikan Of California Delivers Lecture At College

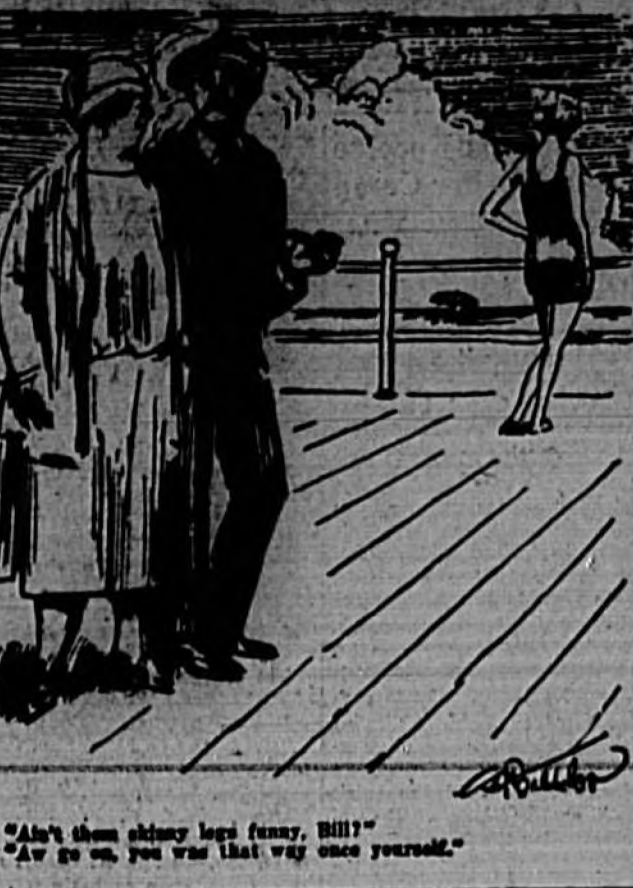

WELLESLEY COLLEGE, Mass., July 6.—That the United States should join the World Court on the grounds that it is "the logical, the safe, the correct next step in our contribution to the problem of finding a judicial way to settle our international disputes," was the opinion expressed by Dr. Robert A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology, in an address before the second annual New England Institute of International Relations given in Alameda Hall recently.

Dr. Millikan, one of America's foremost natural scientists and known particularly for his cosmic ray research, spoke at a public evening lecture of the institute. More than 1000 students, peace workers and others interested in international relations were present.

Speaking on "Science and Internationalism," Dr. Millikan said that "I regard science as the most effective and deadly foe of war. And I think it is rapidly rendering war obsolete." He stated that he did not believe disarmament necessarily meant peace and cited the comparative unpopularity of the United States in its major conflicts.

Referring to the United States' joining the World Court, the speaker said that the court is establishing by its decisions a

3rd Party For Dry Voters Proposed By W.C.T.U. Group

MILWAUKEE, July 6.—(AP)—Disatisfied with the stand taken by both major political parties at the annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union yesterday adopted a resolution proposing a third party which would attract dry voters.

The plan for the resolution was made from the floor of the convention. The members of the committee hastily assembled and later submitted the following resolution:

"As the leaders of the major political parties are supporting the repeal of the 18th Amendment, we call upon dry men and women in every state to consider sympathetically proposals for the formation of a new political party which will actively support the principles and policies of prohibition, along with other moral issues. The times call for citizens to return to the standards of justice and honesty set by the framers of the constitution."

The organization adopted its final set of business of the fifty-ninth annual convention which ended with the acceptance of the new president, Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, at a dinner last night.

Mrs. Smith indicated that she was thoroughly in accord with the demand for a new party.

political strife must be founded. . . . This is inadmissible for us because this constitutional solution requires necessarily the legal recognition of the present regime and ignores or forgets the fundamental and well-known claim of the opposition.

"It is impossible to admit that the present system may give life, without branding it with its own vice, to another that may partly or totally substitute it. And unfortunately the fact of ignoring such a difficulty neither diminishes nor solves it."

General Menocal said the "insistent demands of Cuban public opinion and the extreme seriousness of the political crisis in my country force me to explain briefly the attitude of the opposition sector which I lead and represent."

"Our sector is unjustly accused of being stubbornly opposed to a peaceful settlement of the Cuban problems. We emphatically deny the truthfulness of such a statement and we have but to bring to mind the several instances in which we made efforts toward a friendly solution of our national difficulties."

"We have never denied our efforts and co-operation to the possibilities of a definite and sincere settlement in the knowledge that bringing to an end the present illegal regime would restore Cuba to a peaceful and civilized life."

"With that same spirit of understanding and co-operation we have considered the offer of mediation made by the United States ambassador to Cuba.

"And much to our regret we have decided to take no part in it, because . . . the ends toward which this mediation strives . . . constitute unsurpassable barriers to our effective co-operation. . . .

"In regards to the procedure followed, it is important to state that it could not have been more fatal to the opposition. The repeated refusal of recognition of the Cuban junta in New York caused its dissolution and in consequence the return of the opposition forces to the state of anarchy, personalism and confusion that was so strongly criticized by the same ones who now directly or indirectly have brought about its end."

"It is to this we add the circumstances in which the opposition has been carried to while the government holds the country under martial law. It appears difficult to sustain hopes or have faith in a settlement so peculiar that it begins by weakening the opposition, whereas the government concedes only vague promises. . . .

"Nothing will modify our vigilant position (opposition) and nothing will weaken our unbending purpose of returning Cuba to directing her own destiny and to the enjoyment of her own supreme rights."

presentation of the recess resolution to the steering committee meeting today. The committee is reassembling after a two-day postponement obtained by Cordell Hull, secretary of state and head of the American delegation, when an adjournment move was imminent Tuesday.

The United States, in an official statement handed by the American delegation to the secretary-general of the League of Nations, which sponsored the meeting, expressed the firm conviction that the way was as clear as ever for the mighty objective for which it convened 24 days ago, its delegation, however, was prepared to agree to a recess.

"We can see, therefore, that the great problems which justify the assembling of nations are as present today and as deserving of exploration as was the case a few weeks ago," declared the American statement.

"And we find it difficult," it continued, "to conceive that the view which it has been our obvious duty to take on the minor issues of temporary stabilization can in many ways diminish the advisability of such discussion."

Negro Taken From Jail And Lynched By Carolina Mob

CLINTON, S. C., July 6.—(AP)—Four unidentified white men dragged Norris Bandy, 35-year-old negro, from the Clinton jail early yesterday and a few hours later his body was found in a church-yard near here.

Bandy was placed in the jail, which has no regular jailer, Tuesday for striking Marvin Llover, 22, white Clinton truck driver, and resisting arrest.

About midnight, the jail's negro janitor said, four white men came to the building, knocked the lock off with a wrench and forced Bandy into their automobile. They disappeared before an alarm could be spread.

That Moore, a deputy sent by Sheriff Owens of Laurens county to search for the negro and his captors, found the body in the old Sardia churchyard. It bore marks of a severe beating and around the negro's neck was a rope.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

SOLITARY IN FAMILIES:

God sustain the solitary in families; he bringeth out those which are caged with chains; but the righteous dwell in a dry land—Psalm 68:4.

And then again, some people don't get to the top because they don't have the right "preferred list."

We still celebrate Independence Day in this country in spite of the Industrial Control Act and the domestic allotment plan.

Once upon a time there was an honest man who attributed his longevity to the fact that he was born in 1851 and had never died.

Up in Tennessee there is a famous old river known as the French Broad. They say it got its name from a notorious Parisian flapper who on a visit to this country went swimming there.

Brittish has a few difficult words, frequently misspelled: "Procedure, loss, benefited, accommo, advise, occurrence, suspense, principal, affect". There are others, but try these on your friend.

It was an awful blow all right to the man in the streets when he learned that J. P. Morgan & Co. paid no income tax, but what would have happened in these days of depression if it had been discovered he did pay an income tax of, say, ten or eleven million dollars.

Secretary Wallace is just beginning to discover that you can't raise prices and keep the cost of living down at the same time. You don't have to go back very far in economic history to find that where artificial price raising has been tried before, costs have risen faster than prices.

The New Deal has invented and developed many new and ingenious shortcuts. It has shortened the working week. It has reduced the number of pensioners. It has cut the ordinary expenses of government. It has cut out the gold clause from billions of bonds. It has curtailed unemployment. And now, forsooth, it has reduced unnecessarily long titles into simple words. A new one is "Nira"—you'd never guess it—the National Industrial Recovery Act.

President Roosevelt says that "the United States is seeking the kind of a dollar which a general honon will have the same purchasing power as the dollar value we hope to attain in the near future." That is a "managed currency." We're into the Democratic party if its leaders ever undertake such a policy as that! All the Republicans would have to do in order to be swept into office would be to incorporate in their platform, "We favor an increase in the purchasing power of the country. Elect us, and we will so manage the currency that you can sell your produce for twice as much as you can now."

Business leaders seem to be frightfully anxious to begin trading again with Russia, and yet everybody knows that Russia has no money with which to buy from us. There are only two ways in which such trade could be carried on. We could lend them the money, as we have done England, France, and other European countries to our sorrow, or we could swap goods with them. But offhand we can't think of any goods produced in Russia which we could accept to any great extent without running into competition with some of our producers. We could swap them cotton for wheat, for instance, if our wheat farmers didn't object.

Commendable Profiteering

In 1905 Horace Rackham, then nearing middle age, borrowed $5000 and invested it in the stock of a certain corporation. Sixteen years later he sold this same stock for $12,500,000. It seems like profiteering on the grandest scale. Without putting up a dollar of his own money, without any unusual mental capacity for invention or achievement, he cleans up millions of dollars in less than one-fifth of what proved to be his natural lifetime.

But when we learn that this Horace Rackham was one of the original stockholders in the Ford Motor Company and that the $5000 which he borrowed was used to buy stock in this company, and that the profits which he made came from the resale of stock to Henry Ford himself 16 years later, the transaction assumes proportions of a little higher order. Mr. Ford has never had the reputation for excess charges to the public or for sweatshop practices in his plants in order to make profits.

The man who put money into any automotive venture more than 25 years ago certainly deserves credit for something. Looking at it in the light of early Twentieth Century knowledge, a man had to be either exceptionally far-sighted or else a perfect fool to invest anything in those new-fangled contraptions known as "horseless carriages". Certainly a man who would borrow the money and might have to pay it back by the sweat of his brow, must have boundless faith in his venture.

But whether or not it is a fair and equitable system which permits one man to make a profit of $11,495,000 on a $5,000 investment, it is interesting to note what this particular individual did with his money once he had accumulated it. If he hoarded his capital in bags of gold under his bed where he could get it out at night and count the pieces one by one, or if he squandered it in riotous living or shady financial practices, he has provided another testimonial against the capitalistic system.

But this man throughout his declining years was known as a philanthropist. And at his death last month he left his entire fortune to charity. Between $13,000,000 and $15,000,000 becomes available immediately. The rest, which, with accumulated interest, amounts to some $30,000,000, is to be held in trust for 25 years to be paid out annually to various listed charities.

So here at least is a man who helped to found a great industry, out of which came enormous profits which have now found their way back to the people.

The Morning After

The world seems to be suffering from a headache. There are many momentous problems in the path of our destiny and for each problem there are those who "know" the solution but hardly any two solutions have any resemblance, although their proponents are mostly honorable and intelligent men.

Once we thought a balanced budget was the necessary factor in national recovery, at least that's what everyone high in the affairs of the nation has said. We heard that the high tariffs caused the depression and that trade barriers had to be eliminated. We used to think that a sound monetary system was an economic necessity. We have been told that the stabilization of currencies is a requisite for world recovery.

There are those who believe that a reduction of taxes is the only way to relieve business and that the best way to do this is to cut out "unnecessary expenses" such as are claimed to exist in certain school departments. Others maintain that the cry for economy in the schools is backed by a minority of business and industrial leaders who seek to benefit themselves at the expense of our children's education.

It is claimed that the war debts could be paid if foreign countries spent less on military preparedness. This sounds all right if one doesn't know that the debts must be paid only in gold and that there is scarcely enough gold in the entire world to pay the debt which Europe owes the United States.

Every way we turn we find contradicting, conflicting, and changing attitudes by our leaders. Everything seems to be a peculiar paradox. The condition of people's minds reminds us of an inebriate who awoke in the morning after a particularly rough night. He was in a very bad mental and physical condition and as his cat began to walk across the floor, he moaned "Great Scott, cat, don't stamp your feet so!"

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Under the chaperonage of Mrs. C. M. Hand the following young people left today for Econlockhatchee Creek for a week's camping. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Biggers, the Misses Charlotte Hand, Helen Rowland, Sadie Williams, Louise Sheppard, Essie Purdon, and Will Hill, Gene Roumillat, Carl Roumillat, Henry Purdon, and Bonny Beacham, of Orlando. The young people will take advantage of the fine fishing and squirrel hunting and will have a full larder while away.

Mrs. P. J. Croghan and little daughter, Dorothy, of Jacksonville arrived on yesterday's boat on a visit to her sisters, Mrs. M. H. Bowler and Mrs. J. H. Roumillat.

Mrs. Vance Douglass has arrived in the city from Miami and is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue. Mr. Douglass will come up from Miami about August first and will be in the office of his father, E. A. Douglass, clerk of the circuit court of Seminole County.

Will Watson has returned from a trip to his old home in Georgia and looks better for having an outing. Mr. Watson also wishes to inform his friends that he is not married.

Mrs. Sidney Carraway, with her two little sons, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Betts, Oak Avenue. Mrs. Carraway's many friends in Sanford are always glad to welcome her. Miss Laura Laing, who has been visiting her uncle, J. E. and C. W. Laing, for several weeks, left for her home in Green Cove Springs on Monday.

Mrs. J. L. Hart and baby left today for Richmond, Va. where they will be joined later by Mr. Hart.

Little Erminia Houser is home again after spending some time in Tampa as the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hill.

Miss Sara Miller and her brother, Edward, left last Friday for a sojourn of several weeks in the mountains of North Georgia.

QUIT BEING FOOLED

MIAMI HERALD

One after another of the features of the Futch act, which attempts to declare a 20-year moratorium on delinquent taxes, is being attacked in the courts, while the redemption of taxes with bonds is being further circumscribed by court rulings.

Jacksonville petitioners have gained an alternative writ of mandamus from the State Supreme Court directing the clerk of the Circuit Court in Duval county to show cause why he should not sell tax certificates to those who wish to buy. The Futch act prohibits the sale of state and county certificates on unpaid taxes for 1931 and prior years.

In that one thing alone the new act served grossly to discriminate against those who have paid their taxes. It makes a preferred group out of the tax delinquents. Great land companies that have evaded tax payment for years evaded this law as their profit and by the little owner, the fellow who has paid his taxes on his home or his store, must stand by and see the speculative and dishonest chucks with their legal tax collecting enforcement.

The Futch act may serve to wake up the people of Florida to the fact that the tax dodger, holding title to one-third the taxable value of this state and fully one-half of the actual area, is one of the reasons for high taxes. If everyone paid the head would be smaller. The man on the street, apparently cannot see that, or if he does, his legislative representation has not heard his automobile back to Atlanta, and presented the note at the Otley home. A servant gave it to Otley's daughter, Mrs. Otley, who was not at home. She was at Tallahassee where she is interested in a school for mountain girls. Otley's son, John R. Otley, Jr., was at Sea Island, Ga.

Officers took the boy in charge and he led them to a fastness where they believed the older kidnaper would be captured. The pair abducted Otley as he drove toward his office about 8 A. M. The banker saw the peddler on a corner and when the man hailed Otley he stopped. Otley said the man pushed a gun against him and forced him into the back seat of the automobile. Then said Otley—the young man appeared and drove the car away. Otley was blindfolded.

They drove to a woods near Suwanee where Otley said the older abductor forced him to write a note to his wife. The kidnapers wanted $40,000 ransom.

The older man, Otley said, told his young companion to stand guard over the banker. The blindfold still was over Otley's eyes. The peddler disappeared then.

Governor Confers For Reorganizing Of Departments

TALLAHASSEE, July 7.—Gov. Shultz yesterday held a series of conferences with departmental heads under his jurisdiction to reorganize the departments to make them fit into the new appropriations which went into effect July 1. The Governor said some employees would be dropped, some salaries reduced and in general work of the departments better organized for more efficiency and economy.

About 30 employees, the Governor said, have been let out as a result of the merger of the shellfish commission, the game and fresh water fish commission and the ecological survey into one conservation commission.

The Governor said his conferences with department heads would take over work of the conservation commission, beverage department, road department, forestry department, auditing department, hotel commission, livestock and sanitary commission, and possibly others.

The Governor also announced he had asked for the resignations of all members of the state board of public welfare, with a view to reorganizing the board. The present members of the board are: Mrs. Jessie A. Bill, Jacksonville; Mrs. Carrie V. Mackenzie, Leesburg; Mrs. Florence Bostain, Tallahassee; Roscoe Martin, Miami; and E. E. Watson, Fort Myers.

Washington Police Hurry To Scene Of Prison Outbreak

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—More than 20 Washington police men, armed with riot equipment and tear gas guns, last night were rushed to the District of Columbia reformatory at Lepton, Va., after reports were received from there of a tense situation that might result in an outbreak.

Trouble was feared by the authorities when word got back to the warden, that A. C. Tawse, superintendent, who was popular with some of the men, had been let go as head of the institution. The reformatory, in an isolated and heavily wooded section about 25 miles from the national capital, has no prison wall. Its buildings house 2700 prisoners, 30 of whom are life termers.

Ernest Brown, superintendent of Washington police, and Inspector Edwards, one of his chief aides, rushed to the spot in police cars with "riot" squads to suppress the effort to make the reformatory a nearly as possible an armed camp.

In an effort to keep word of the absence of Tawse from spreading, it will be distinctly disapproved to such speculative holders as the Consolidated Land Company, which is reported as being delinquent in its taxes but which created the Futch act as a master stroke for the relief of real estate. The interest of the speculation and the tax dodger, and the interest of the average home owner, are socially at cross purposes in tax collection matters. Florida has tried to be very good to the tax evader. Perhaps in a fit time for the people it is a little thinking for the subject for themselves, and being being fooled by the "birds and the bees" song.

We've taken the words right out of your mouth "Luckies Please!" You, our personal friends, have been saying it for years. And because it so aptly sums up the Lucky Strike story, we've taken the words right out of your mouth. "Luckies Please!" of course. They please in the quality of their fine tobaccos. They please in the mildness and purity of "Toasting". They please the taste. They please the throat. In every way and always, "Luckies Please!" May we thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Smoker, for giving us this phrase?

Ruth Kanner Is Wed In New York City

Word was received here today of the marriage of Miss Ruth Kanner of New York City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kanner, of this city, to Dr. Stanley Sandler, also of New York City. The ceremony was performed on Friday, June 10, at the Erie Synagogue in New York City by Dr. Stephen S. Wise. The engagement was announced here in the early Spring.

The bride had as her maid of honor, her sister, Miss Anne Kanner, of this city, whose betrothal to Lee Samuel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Samuel, of New York City, was announced in New York a few weeks ago. Dr. M. J. Lehmann, of Jersey City, attended the groom as best man.

An afternoon of printed invitations was given by the bride with white, picture hat and other white accessories. Her carriage was of a fine quality and was a white automobile with other accessories. It was a gift from her father.

Dr. and Mrs. Sandler are spending a two-week honeymoon in the West Indies. On their return they will reside in New York City.

Mrs. Sandler was graduated from Sanford High School and received an L. L. degree from the Florida State College for Women at Tallahassee.

Dr. Sandler received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from the University of Denver and his M. D. degree from the University of Kansas. He also attended the University of Pennsylvania for post graduate work. He was on the medical staff at the Hahnemann Hospital in Philadelphia for one year.

THE chart on the left illustrates the most desirable feature in an electric refrigerator and Kelvinator alone has it.

There are different temperature zones—each serving a different purpose—which fully automatic refrigerators have to set—each with a separate control.

Let us explain this feature. Kelvinator's representation of the temperature zones is as follows:

- 40°F for meat
- 35°F for poultry
- 30°F for dairy
- 20°F for vegetables

There is no draft in the electric oven. Juices and flavors are sealed in... not dried out. The electric oven saves many dollars each year in meat shrinkage alone.

When there is a flame, there must be a draft. And a draft through an oven carries the valuable juices and delicate flavors up the flue. Flame top ovens cause heavy shrinkage.

ELECTRIC COOKERY protects meat against heavy shrinkage, assuring a daily saving on which you can definitely count. Meat cooked electrically is more healthful because all of the food values are retained. And cooking the electric way with the "Thirty Three" costs no more than the old-fashioned flame-type method. It seems like profiteering on the grandest scale. Without putting up a dollar of his own money, without any unusual mental capacity for invention or achievement, he cleans up millions of dollars in less than one-fifth of what proved to be his natural lifetime.

But when we learn that this Horace Rackham was one of the original stockholders in the Ford Motor Company and that the $5000 which he borrowed was used to buy stock in this company, and that the profits which he made came from the resale of this block of stock to Henry Ford himself 16 years later, the transaction assumes proportions of a little higher order. Mr. Ford has never had the reputation for excess charges to the public or for sweatshop practices in his plants in order to make profits.

The man who put money into any automotive venture more than 25 years ago certainly deserves credit for something. Looking at it in the light of early Twentieth Century knowledge, a man had to be either exceptionally far-sighted or else a perfect fool to invest anything in those new-fangled contraptions known as "horseless carriages". Certainly a man who would borrow the money and might have to pay it back by the sweat of his brow, must have boundless faith in his venture.

But whether or not it is a fair and equitable system which permits one man to make a profit of $11,495,000 on a $5,000 investment, it is interesting to note what this particular individual did with his money once he had accumulated it. If he hoarded his capital in bags of gold under his bed where he could get it out at night and count the pieces one by one, or if he squandered it in riotous living or shady financial practices, he has provided another testimonial against the capitalistic system.

But this man throughout his declining years was known as a philanthropist. And at his death last month he left his entire fortune to charity. Between $13,000,000 and $15,000,000 becomes available immediately. The rest, which, with accumulated interest, amounts to some $30,000,000, is to be held in trust for 25 years to be paid out annually to various listed charities.

So here at least is a man who helped to found a great industry, out of which came enormous profits which have now found their way back to the people.

The Morning After

The world seems to be suffering from a headache. There are many momentous problems in the path of our destiny and for each problem there are those who "know" the solution but hardly any two solutions have any resemblance, although their proponents are mostly honorable and intelligent men.

Once we thought a balanced budget was the necessary factor in national recovery, at least that's what everyone high in the affairs of the nation has said. We heard that the high tariffs caused the depression and that trade barriers had to be eliminated. We used to think that a sound monetary system was an economic necessity. We have been told that the stabilization of currencies is a requisite for world recovery.

There are those who believe that a reduction of taxes is the only way to relieve business and that the best way to do this is to cut out "unnecessary expenses" such as are claimed to exist in certain school departments. Others maintain that the cry for economy in the schools is backed by a minority of business and industrial leaders who seek to benefit themselves at the expense of our children's education.

It is claimed that the war debts could be paid if foreign countries spent less on military preparedness. This sounds all right if one doesn't know that the debts must be paid only in gold and that there is scarcely enough gold in the entire world to pay the debt which Europe owes the United States.

Every way we turn we find contradicting, conflicting, and changing attitudes by our leaders. Everything seems to be a peculiar paradox. The condition of people's minds reminds us of an inebriate who awoke in the morning after a particularly rough night. He was in a very bad mental and physical condition and as his cat began to walk across the floor, he moaned "Great Scott, cat, don't stamp your feet so!"

QUIT BEING FOOLED

MIAMI HERALD

One after another of the features of the Futch act, which attempts to declare a 20-year moratorium on delinquent taxes, is being attacked in the courts, while the redemption of taxes with bonds is being further circumscribed by court rulings.

Jacksonville petitioners have gained an alternative writ of mandamus from the State Supreme Court directing the clerk of the Circuit Court in Duval county to show cause why he should not sell tax certificates to those who wish to buy. The Futch act prohibits the sale of state and county certificates on unpaid taxes for 1931 and prior years.

In that one thing alone the new act serves grossly to discriminate against those who have paid their taxes. It makes a preferred group out of the tax dodgers. Great land companies that have evaded tax payment for years hailed this law as their pride and joy. The little owner, the fellow who has paid his taxes on his home or his store, must stand by and see the speculative land element chuckle with derision as it now is removed from all legal tax collection enforcement.

The Futch act may serve to wake up the people of Florida to the fact that the tax dodger, holding title to one-third the taxable values of this state and fully one-half of the actual area, is one of the reasons for high taxes. If everyone paid, the load would be smaller. The man on the street apparently cannot see that, or if he does, his legislative representation has not heard his

(Continued From Page One) act would lead to stern consequences. Then the boy agreed to release him and together they went to Suwanee, 30 miles north of Atlanta, where the banker called his home.

Officers took the boy in charge and he led them to a fastness where they believed the older kidnaper would be captured. The pair abducted Otley as he drove toward his office about 8 A. M. The banker saw the peddler on a corner and when the man hailed Otley he stopped. Otley said the man pushed a gun against him and forced him into the back seat of the automobile. Then said Otley—the young man appeared and drove the car away. Otley was blindfolded.

They drove to a woods near Suwanee where Otley said the older abductor forced him to write a note to his wife. The kidnapers wanted $40,000 ransom. The older man, Otley said, told his young companion to stand guard over the banker. The blindfold still was over Otley's eyes. The peddler disappeared then

TALLAHASSEE, July 7.—(AP)—Governor Sholtz yesterday held a series of conferences with departmental heads under his jurisdiction to reorganize the departments to make them fit into the new appropriations which went into effect July 1. The Governor said some employes would be dropped, some salaries reduced and in general work of the departments better organized for more efficiency and economy.

About 30 employes, the Governor said, have been let out as a result of the merger of the shellfish commission, the game and fresh water fish commission and the geological survey into one conservation commission. The Governor said his conferences with department heads would take over work of the conservation commission, beverage department, road department, forestry department, auditing department, hotel commission, livestock and sanitary commission, and possibly others.

The Governor also announced he had asked for the resignations of all members of the state board of public welfare, with a view to reorganizing the board. The present members of the board are: Mrs. Jessie A. Bill, Jacksonville; Mrs. Carrie V. Mackenzie, Leesburg; Mrs. Florence Bostain, Tallahassee; Roscoe Martin, Miami, and E. E. Watson, Fort Myers.

Washington Police Hurry To Scene Of Prison Outbreak

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(AP)—More than 50 Washington policemen, armed with riot equipment and tear gas guns, last night were rushed to the District of Columbia reformatory at Leavenworth, Va., after reports were received from there of a tense situation that might result in an outbreak.

Trouble was feared by the authorities when word got back to the prison that A. C. Tawse, superintendent, who was popular with some of the men, had been let go as head of the institution. The reformatory, in an isolated and heavily wooded section about 25 miles from the national capital, has no prison wall. Its buildings house 2700 prisoners, 30 of whom are life termers.

Ernest Brown, superintendent of Washington police, and Inspector Edwards, one of his chief aides, rushed to the spot in police cars early last night to discontinue the effort to make the reformatory a nearly as possible an armed camp.

In an effort to keep word of the absence of Tawse from spreading, the police were ordered to keep the fact of his departure a secret.

If that is the result of the Futch act, it will be distinctly displeasing to such speculative holders as the Consolidated Land Company, which is reported as being delinquent seven years on its taxes but which greeted the Futch act as a master stroke for the relief of real estate. The interest of the speculator and the tax dodger, and the interest of the average home owner are usually at cross purposes in tax collection matters. Florida has tried to be very good to the tax evader. Perhaps it is time for the people to do a little thinking on this subject for themselves, and quit being fooled by the "widow and orphan" song.

automobile back to Atlanta and presented the note at the Otley home. A servant gave it to Otley's daughter, Mrs. Otley, who was not at home. She was at Tallahassee where she is interested in a school for mountain girls. Otley's son, John K. Otley, Jr., was at Sea Island, Ga.

Ferrazzi Baffles Feds To Give Bruins Interesting 3 To 1 Victory Yesterday

CENTRAL FLORIDA LEAGUE

Sanford	3	1	1,000
Orlando	1	1	1,000
Daytona	1	1	1,000
New Smyrna	0	2	1,000

Because Bill Ferrazzi, former University of Florida baseball star, hurled such a widely assorted collection of baffling curve balls and well-controlled slow balls, the Sanford Celery-fed, helpless before his offerings, dropped an interesting 3 to 1 game to the Leesburg Bruins that city yesterday afternoon. The game witnessed by a large crowd who saw many sensational plays before it ended.

The game was a personal triumph for Ferrazzi who recently won the Northeast Florida League to cast his lot with the Bruins. Given a two run lead in the very first inning, Ferrazzi set out to win in probably the finest performance he has ever had in the league. His control was near perfect, and every pitch, even the slow balls which fooled old and young alike, came across with a zip that marked him as an outstanding right-hander.

Ferrazzi was in trouble only twice, and would not have been scored upon had Charlie Pope judged Abbott's easy-hit fly ball correctly. The Feds placed men on second and third with no outs in the second only to see Ferrazzi hear down and send Harrison, Mike, and Chapman out via the infield.

The big fellow came back in the third to strike out Curry, Bonner, and Pert in that order as the crowd went wild. Curve balls that couldn't have been improved upon flashed over the plate during that unusual-for-the-Feds frame.

With one out in the fourth, Abbott and Maxwell were waiting but they did there when Harrison and Mike went out on flies. The Feds scored their only run in the sixth with one out. Abbott wanked a fifth pitch easily and the ball appeared to be headed for an easy out. Instead it soared further to ward left-center, and when Pope had retrieved it, Abbott was perched on third. Maxwell fled out to center, scoring Abbott, and Harrison fled out to short.

The last chance the Feds ever had came in the seventh. Mike opened with a clean single to right but he was forced at second by Chapman. Curry fled out to Cruz, with the count two and two, Paul Bonner hit a line drive toward left field. The ball appeared headed over the fence for a home run, which would have tied the score. Instead, it struck the fence about two feet from the top. Chapman reached third and Bonner reached second on that hit. Pert fled out to Murphy and it was all over for Ferrazzi bore down harder than ever after that.

The Bruins, who presented a brand-new line-up which gave signs of going somewhere had to face Otis Curry, making his first start in several weeks. Curry, who defeated before game time, got into a mess of trouble right at the start for with one out, Medina lifted a real drive which cleared the left field fence by 10 feet for a home run. Murphy grounded out to first, and all the damage seemed done.

However, Charlie Pope beat out a punt in front of the plate, and Jack Hogan beat out a slow roller toward third. Cox singled past first base as Pope scored and Hogan went to third. The most sensational fielding feature of the day came next to save two more runs and probably mean the difference between Curry's being removed from the mound and his staying on. Brady, a hefty fellow, reached out and hit one on the handle of his bat. The ball went up a short distance and would have been a single in short right field had not Abbott made a miraculous running catch which just picked the ball off the ground. That ended the inning.

Curry opened the second by pitching Jesse Dooley a ball which was hit for a single just back of second. Dooley reached third on infield out by Ferrazzi and Cruz but Medina drew a walk. On the fourth ball to Medina, Chapman threw quickly to Pert who tagged Dooley off third to nip a rally.

The Bruins were impotent during the next two frames but they got going again in the fifth to score their final run. Ferrazzi was passed in first. He reached second on Cruz's single through the box. Barnes pulled a b/f for a second later when with Cruz playing far off first, Chapman threw to first where Barnes could have tagged Cruz out easily. Instead, he threw to third, too late to get Ferrazzi, who had started for that base. Medina singled to right, scoring Ferrazzi. Both Cruz and Medina were advanced a base on Murphy's neat sacrifice, and things looked mighty bad as Curry hit Jack Hogan in the ribs to fill the bases. Cox's best effort was a slow roller toward second, and the side was retired without further trouble.

The Bruins went out in order in the sixth and seventh, and although they put three men on base in their half of the eighth on a walk, single, and fielders choice, they failed to score.

The feature of the game was the hurling of Ferrazzi who now has won two games in three starts in less than eight days play in the league. Medina's home run drive and his single later in the game; Bonner's near homer; Abbott's great catch, and the general good play of both teams all combined to make the game one of the most interesting of the year despite the defeat for the Feds. It was Curry's first defeat of the season against five wins.

Sunday the Feds will play at Cocoa. Tuesday they return to meet New Smyrna here in the first of five home games.

DAYTONA 3, NEW SMYRNA 2
 DAYTONA, July 7.—Although they were out-hit, 8 to 7, the Islanders, turning in a snappy performance best of Lefty Lane, scored a 3 to 2 victory over the rejuvenated New Smyrna Crackers before a large crowd here yesterday afternoon. It was Lane's fifth win in seven starts, while Clyde Wright, New Smyrna youngster, turned in a performance that was just as good as Lane's.

The Crackers started scoring in the first on Goodrich's single with two out. Goodrich went to second on Lane's wild pitch, and score on Spake's single to right.

The Islanders got the run back in the same frame when after Harris had doubled, Shannon drove him home with a single. It was Shannon's first of two hits, and the three Daytona runs came over as the result of his timely hitting.

Shannon's error, added to the Crackers' final score in the fifth, while Islanders put the game on ice in the same frame on a single by Lane, two errors charged to Schleyer, and Shannon's second single.

Both teams played heads-up baseball that was appreciated by the crowd, and both teams gave signs of a return to baseball form after slow starts and finishes during the first half.

the North American Coal Corporation, controlled by the witness, owned 37,253 shares of the syndicate's 109,000, they got "nineteenth" of the profit.

Taplin testified the remainder of the shares sold to the Pennroad were obtained through individual agreements with stockholders who were allowed, he said, "to tie up with him on the profits on promise they would not dispose of their stock until the Taplin sale negotiations were completed.

The witness told Pecora under questioning that he wanted to "unload and get out" as he felt the financial structure was "top-heavy."

He submitted a list of the owners of the shares sold to Pennroad for $38,000,000 and said he and other members of his family owned about half of them.

Among the larger owners were: W. L. Haseloff (Pearson & Co.), 16,370 shares; R. S. McVeigh, 21,085; W. G. Atwater, 13,659; A. B. Uhrig, 14,000.

Taplin and his family owned more than 67,000 shares, while the North American Coal Corporation, controlled by the Taplins, controlled 30,720.

The Clevelander testified he negotiated the deal with the Pennroad Corporation "by word of mouth" with W. W. Atterbury, trustee of the corporation and president of the Pennsylvania railroad; A. J. Conroy, another trustee and Pennsylvania vice president; and Henry H. Lee, president of Pennroad and former Pennsylvania treasurer.

He added the stock was left in

Questioned closely why there was no written agreement on the sale of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia stock, Taplin said he had "absolute confidence in the integrity of General Atterbury" which was something he could not say for "some other people."

Taplin said the list of owners of the stock sold to Pennroad would "stand the closest scrutiny."

Ferrazzi Baffles Feds To Give Bruins Interesting 3 To 1 Victory Yesterday

Sanford	1	1	1	1
Daytona	1	1	1	1
Orlando	1	1	1	1
Deerfield	1	1	1	1
Titusville	1	1	1	1

Because Bill Ferrazzi, former University of Florida baseball star, hurried such a widely-expected collection of baffling curve balls and well-controlled slow balls, the Sanford Celery-feds, helpless before his offerings, dropped an interesting 3 to 1 game to the Leesburg Bruins that city yesterday afternoon.

The game witnessed by a large crowd who saw many sensational plays before it ended.

The game was a personal triumph for Ferrazzi who recently quit the Northeast Florida League to cast his lot with the Bruins. Given a two run lead in the very first inning, Ferrazzi set out to win in probably the finest performance he has ever hurled in this league. His control was near perfect, and every pitch, even the slow balls which fooled old and young alike, came across with a zip that marked him as an outstanding right-hander.

Ferrazzi was in trouble only twice, and would not have been scored upon had Charlie Pope Judged Abbott's easy-hit fly ball correctly. The Feds placed men on second and third with no outs in the second only to see Ferrazzi bear down and send Harrison, Mize, and Chapman out via the infield.

The big fellow came back in the third to strike out Curry, Bonner, and Pert in that order as the crowd went wild. Curve balls that couldn't have been improved upon flashed over the plate during that unusual-for-the-Feds frame.

With one out in the fourth, Abbott and Maxwell were walked but they did there when Harrison and Mize went out on flies. The Feds scored their only run in the sixth with one out. Abbott, smacked a fifth pitch easily and the ball appeared to be headed for an easy out. Instead it soared further toward left-center, and when Pope had retrieved it, Abbott was perched on third. Maxwell fled out to center, scoring Abbott, and Harrison fled out to short.

The last chance the Feds ever had came in the seventh. Mize opened with a clean single to right but he was forced at second by Chapman. Curry fled out to Cruse. With the count two and two, Paul Bonner hit a line drive toward left field. The ball appeared headed over the fence for a home run, which would have tied the score. Instead, it struck the fence about two feet from the top. Chapman reached third and Bonner reached second on that hit. Pert fled out to Murphy and it was all over for Ferrazzi bore down harder than ever after that.

The Bruins, who presented a brand-new line-up which gave signs of going somewhere had to face Otis Curry, making his first start in several weeks. Curry, not defeated before game time, got into a mess of trouble right at the start for real one out, Melvin lifted a real drive which cleared the left field fence by 10 feet for a home run. Murphy grounded out to first, and all the damage seemed done.

However, Charlie Pope beat out a bunt in front of the plate, and Jack Hogan beat out a slow roller toward third. Cox singled past first base as Pope scored and Hogan went to third. The most sensational fielding feature of the day came next, to save two more runs and probably mean the difference between Curry's being removed from the mound and his staying on. Brady, a hefty fellow, reached out and hit one on the handle of his bat. The ball went up a short distance and would have been a single in short right field had not Abbott made a miraculous running catch which just picked the ball off the ground. That ended the inning.

Curry opened the second by pitching Jesse Dooley a ball which was hit for a single just back of second. Dooley reached third on infield outs by Ferrazzi and Cruse but Melvin drew a walk. On the fourth ball to Melvin, Chapman threw quickly to Pert who tagged Dooley off third to nip a rally.

The Bruins were impotent during the next two frames but they got going again in the fifth to score their final run. Ferrazzi was passed to first. He reached second on Cruse's single through the box. Barnes pulled a b/fer a second later when, with Cruse playing far off first, Chapman threw to first where Barnes could have tagged Cruse out easily. Instead, he threw to third, too late to get Ferrazzi, who had started for that base. Melvin singled to right, scoring Ferrazzi. Both Cruse and Melvin were advanced a base on Murphy's neat sacrifice, and things looked mighty bad as Curry hit Jack Hogan in the ribs to fill the bases. Cox's best effort was a slow roller toward second, and the side was retired without further trouble.

The Bruins went out in order in the sixth and seventh, and although they put three men on in their half of the eighth on a walk, single, and fielders choice, they failed to score.

The feature of the game was the hurrying of Ferrazzi who now has won two games in three starts in less than eight days play in the league. Melvin's home run drive and his single later in the game; Bonner's near homer; Abbott's great catch, and the general good play of both teams all combined to make the game one of the most interesting of the year despite the defeat for the Feds. It was Curry's first defeat of the season against five wins.

Sunday—the Feds will play at Cocoa. Tuesday they return to meet New Smyrna here in the first of five home games.

Two out, Goodrich went to second on Lane's wild pitch, and score on Spake's single to right.

The Islanders got the run back in the same frame when after Harris had doubled, Shannon drove his home with a single. It was Shannon's first of two hits, and the three-Daytona runs came over as the result of his timely hitting.

Shannon's error added in the Cracker's final score in the fifth, while Leland hit the game on ice in the same frame on a single by Lane, two errors charged to Burford, and Shannon's second single.

Both teams played heads-up baseball that was appreciated by the crowd, and both teams gave signs of a return to baseball form after slow starts and finishes during the first half.

However, Charlie Pope beat out a bunt in front of the plate, and Jack Hogan beat out a slow roller toward third. Cox singled past first base as Pope scored and Hogan went to third. The most sensational fielding feature of the day came next, to save two more runs and probably mean the difference between Curry's being removed from the mound and his staying on. Brady, a hefty fellow, reached out and hit one on the handle of his bat. The ball went up a short distance and would have been a single in short right field had not Abbott made a miraculous running catch which just picked the ball off the ground. That ended the inning.

Two out, Goodrich went to second on Lane's wild pitch, and score on Spake's single to right.

DAYTONA, July 7.—Although they were out 8 to 7, the Islanders, turning in a snappy performance back of Lefty Lane, scored a 3 to 2 victory over the rejuvenated New Smyrna Crackers before a large crowd here yesterday afternoon. It was Lane's fifth win in seven starts, while Clyde Wright, New Smyrna youngster, turned in a performance that was just as good as Lane's.

The Crackers started scoring in the first on Goodrich's single with sold to Pennrod, was obtained through a syndicate first organized by him in June, 1923, at an average price of $22.50 a share. The total of 222,930 was sold to Pennrod at $170 a share when the market was around $140 or lower.

Pecora figured the profit to the syndicate was around $12,507,500 and since the Taplin family and the North American Coal Corporation, controlled by the witness, owned 97,953 shares of the syndicate's 100,000, they got "ninetenths" of the profit.

Taplin testified the remainder of the shares sold to the Pennrod were obtained through individual agreements with stockholders who were allowed, he said, "to tie up" with him on the profits on promise they would not dispose of their stock until the Taplin sale negotiations were completed.

The witness told Pecora under questioning that he wanted to "unload and get out" as he felt the financial structure was "top-heavy."

He submitted a list of the owners of the shares sold to Pennrod for $18,000,000 and said to ask other members of his family owned about half of them.

Among the larger owners were: W. L. Haselinen (Fearon & Co.), 16,370 shares; R. N. McVeigh, 21,085; W. C. Atwater, 13,650; A. B. Uhrig, 14,000.

Taplin and his family owned more than 67,000 shares, while the North American Coal Corporation, controlled by the Taplins, controlled 30,720.

The Clevelander testified he negotiated the deal with the Pennrod Corporation "by word of mouth" with W. W. Atterbury, trustee of the corporation and president of the Pennsylvania railroad; A. J. County, another trustee and Pennsylvania vice president; and Henry H. Lee, president of Pennrod and former Pennsylvania treasurer.

He added the stock was left in his name after the sale, despite the fact that the Pittsburgh & West Virginia was and still is a competitor of the Pennsylvania.

The only reason he could assign for this, he said, was because Pennrod "though I could run the road better than they could."

Questioned closely why there was no written agreement on the sale of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia stock, Taplin said he had

"absolute confidence in the integrity of General Atterbury" which was something he could not say for "some other people."

Taplin said the list of owners of the stock sold to Pennrod would "stand the closest scrutiny."

"There are no diamonds in it," he said. "Except for the Pennsylvania stock, Taplin said he had price 1 lot. There were no handouts. This wasn't that kind of a lot."

Taplin said after the sale there was some talk of his buying back the stock from Pennrod to form a fifth trunk line system.
