Soup kitchen must halt meals

By Dan Ping
Editor

Judge issues 90-day stay while parties go through mediation

An administrative judge has issued a 90-day stay that suspends a variance the city of Sanford granted Seminole Volunteer Enterprises (SVE).

The stay in effect shuts down the soup kitchen operated by SVE while the city and representatives from SVE participate in mediation sessions with residents from the Sanford Historic District.

Seven residents have filed a lawsuit claiming the city violated its own policies when it granted a parking waiver for SVE to operate the soup kitchen. Under the city's guidelines, the soup kitchen needed a minimum of 40 parking spaces to operate at facility seating 100 people. However, SVE has only 6 parking spots available, and these are located a public right-of-way, which violates another portion of the city code.

Sanford City Manager Tony Vanderworp said he sent a copy of the judge's order to Metts Monday, but has not discussed the matter with her.

"I had set up a meeting with her for tomorrow (Tuesday), but she called me back and said based on the advice from her attorney she had to cancel the meeting," Vanderworp said.

Monday night, SVE was still operating the soup kitchen. Metts was not available for comment.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said the city is willing to participate in the mediation process, but was not sure how successful mediation would be.

"I guess it's up to her," Dale said. "We're willing to sit down and work with the residents."

Pool dedication

Pastor Paul Hoyer gives the invocation during dedication ceremonies for the Sanford-Seminole Aquatic Center at Seminole High School. The $12 million facility features a 50-meter, Olympic size pool built by Weller Pools. This is the same company that built the 1996 Olympic Games competition pool in Atlanta. The pool is complemented by a 2,580-square-foot bathroom and office complex. The opening of the pool is a milestone in many respects for Sanford because 30 years ago two municipal pools were closed in protest of integration.

Trash Talk: 196 tons removed from river

By Nick Pfeiffau
Staff Writer

SANFORD — The St. Johns River is cleaner today. Just under 6,000 people took to the river as part of a giant cleanup sponsored by the St. Johns River Water Management District, (SJRWMD) and Keep Florida Beautiful organization. In all, 15 counties in Florida and Georgia took part in the event.

According to Jeff Cole with the SJRWMD, a total of 392,329 pounds of trash were pulled from the water. The volunteers combed the shorelines of the rivers lakes and streams of the St. Johns River system, and the shoreline of the St. Marys River (Florida-Georgia State line), netting an array of garbage.

"This event has been very successful each year in cleaning up the St. Johns and the St. Marys rivers and brings more attention to the needs and value of our water resources," said Henry Dean, executive director of the SJRWMD. "It was truly rewarding to see so many people show such pride in their community and such commitment to this event."

Attributed directly to the trash picked up in Seminole County, Cole said 935 volunteers pulled 40,000 pounds from the river. He noted that there were more Seminole County volunteers than from any other individual county in the state.

Volusia County, which has a lengthy portion of the St. Johns had 305 volunteers picking up 33,000 pounds of trash. Among the most unusual items found this year were boats, furniture, wheelbarrows, aluminum siding, a farm gate, beepers, phone booths, bus springs and mattress, refrigerators, street signs, toilets, shopping carts, a microwave oven,

Performers say the show must go on

Some doubt whether they've been scammed

By Bill Kerns

ORLANDO — Robin Olive quit her job waiting tables at Planet Hollywood to participate in the failed Juice Tour 2000.

Now struggling to maintain rent payments, the dancer was among more than a dozen performers who gathered at an Orlando apartment complex Monday afternoon in a press conference to say the show, in one form or another, will go on if sponsorship and venues can be found.

"We worked mad hours for this," Olive said. "We haven't paid rent at our house. We have a good show, but we don't have a place to perform."

Suitcases in hand, more 70 models, dancers and singers waited in a hot Wal-Mart parking lot Sunday March 12 in Sanford for tour buses that never came. Many have given up hope on Juice Tour 2000 or recovering the hundreds, and in some cases thousands of dollars, spent in preparation for a six month traveling show.

However, others like Olive are attempting to turn the media attention about the scam into positive publicity that could generate sponsorships.

Police and the Better Business Bureau are looking into complaints regarding Sanford-based tour sponsor Everywhere Promotions and Marketing, Inc., and C.E.O. Tyler Simpson of Sanford. The company does not have a license to operate in Florida. The Orange County Sheriff's Office has now taken over the investigation. No charges have been filed. However, police want to question the 26-year-old Simpson. His apartment at 2720 Ridgewood Avenue, suite 10, is now vacant. It was listed as the company headquarters. Police believe he is still in the Orlando area, although his whereabouts are unknown.

"A couple of us have been in contact with him," Williams said. "We know that he is not allowed to leave the state. He says that it's not true that this was a scam, and that he's still working on putting the tour together. Whether it's a scam or not, we don't care. We need to move on."

Chase Groves residents protest how close GreeneWay is to homes

By Russ White

LAKE MARY — Lillian McGill Jordan was among more than 50 Chase Groves home owners who protested Monday night that Seminole Expressway Project 2 is hitting much too close to their homes. In Jordan's case just 94 feet away.

"This is very dangerous," Jordan told Expressway officials who listened to the homeowners cite their concerns at a Chase Groves Community Association meeting. "You've already destroyed a lovely piece of property. We have been terribly misled."

Jordan, who lives on Brightview Drive, is one of the Groves' residents most affected by the $265 million Expressway project. The backyards of the Brightview Drive homes are all less than 100 feet from where the Expressway will be built at elevations from 22 to 25 feet.

Bulldozers have leveled all of the trees and left a half-mile stretch of muck between Old Lake Mary Boulevard and State Road 46A. After clearing this land, workers burned materials on site, causing more alarm.

"I suffer from asthma," Jordan said. "They've been burning as early as 6:30 in the morning. 'Couldn't they have done the burning someplace else?"

Larry L. Sellers, the senior project engineer for the project, said that the burning will be over by Thursday. He said that a provision allowed the workers to burn on site but that they had been careful to control the burn. He said that the Division of Forestry had approved the daily burns.

Sellers said that the work crews had a 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. schedule six days a week. He apologized that residents had been awakened so early in Saturdays. He said he did not

Hollywood no longer reeling ...stolen Oscars are found

For awhile there were reports that something had happened to the boxer Oscar de la Hoya. No, someone said, not that Oscar — 55 boxed Oscars.

What? The Academy Awards Oscars — you know, the gold statuettes. Whooah, gone with the wind. Everyone's looking for them — from here to eternity.

Alas, the trophies were found near a trash bin on Saturday and two men were arrested. They'll do time — and be barred for life from renting movie videos.

The arrest let a lot of Jim Carrey and several other suspects off the hook. Because Carrey can't win an Oscar, a number of Hollywood sleuths figured that he swiped the lot of them.

Been checked — it's not him, our West Coast authority reported before the Oscars were found.

Anyone seen O.J.? Nah. Stealing isn't his thing, we were told. Anyway, when they look away his Heisman, he's got interest in knickknacks.

That Nicholson fellow — you know, the one who flew over the cuckoo nest — may have wanted company for all the Oscars he's won. He's slick — he could have taken them to Chinatown.

"Not likely. He's too busy watching Shaq and the Lakers." Another suspect: An old guy in a chair with an NRA sticker.

As you might expect, the whodunit has added an extra element of suspense to the Academy Award Show. Half the show Sunday will be gags about what happened to the Oscars. Then, Cher will appear, and she'll be painted from head to toe in gold.

Cher, who claims she wasn't born yesterday, is one of a number of cloddies who celebrate Halloween twice a year — once in March at the Oscars and again in October. Her bewe-eled, sweet nothings show that despite her success in film work she hasn't a clue about dressing like a serious actress.

The 2000 Oscar heist is probably the strangest thing that has happened to the golden statuette since the talented Miss Bette Davis gave Oscar its name 65 years ago. When the Academy Awards began in 1929, the trophy had no name. Davis opened everyone's eyes in 1935.

Addressing the Academy guests after her role in "Dangerous," Davis said that the shiny trophy resembled the backside of her first husband, Harmon Oscar Nelson. From then on, the award was known as Oscar. (Hey, it could have been Harmon, Nelson or Hall Nelson.)

The late George C. Scott referred to the Oscars as a "meat parade." When 62-year-old John Wayne finally was awarded an Oscar after 250 movies, he growled, "If I had known, I would have put that eye patch on 35 years earlier."

Katherine Hepburn, a four-time Oscar winner, said that no one in Hollywood should try to put down the Academy Awards. "Let's face it," she said, "It's our track meet. It's painful, but it's thrilling."

As they say in Tinseltown, Oscar is the real thing.

Using ground cover can reduce maintenance costs

By definition, a ground cover is any low-growing plant that can be used to cover an area in the landscape. Even though turfgrass is also a ground cover, the term usually refers to plants, other than turfgrass, that can be used to cover specific areas where turfgrass is not wanted or will not grow well.

Why ground covers? Because turfgrasses do not grow well in shaded areas or where the soil is too wet or too dry, other plants need to replace the turfgrass in those areas to avoid the proliferation of weeds. Ground covers also reduce the high-maintenance costs of turfgrasses, which require relatively high levels of fertilizer, mowing, and supplemental irrigation.

Al Ferrer

Most ground covers require little or no application of pesticides, but turfgrasses can be severely affected by pests and diseases that require the use of pesticides to control them. Many ground cover plants add color to the landscape with their flowers or colored structures, certainly, a more pleasant view than the green color of turfgrass.

Wedelia and daylily are very good choices because of their beautiful flowers. Carolina yellow jessamine, liriope and mondo grass add variation to the shades of green to your landscape, especially when flowering.

Ground Covers Selection
Selecting plants to be used as ground covers will depend on the conditions that exist in your yard. Light intensity, soil moisture conditions, and hardiness zone, are some of the most important conditions that need to be considered when selecting ground covers.

Light Intensity
While courtie and the dwarf confederate jessamine grow well in full sun or shade, most plants require full sun or partial shade for good growth and development. English ivy, pothos, liriope and mondo grass grow well in some shade, but juniper, lantana, beach morning glory and society garlic need full sun for normal growth.

Soil Moisture
Carolina yellow jessamine can grow in soils relatively wet, but juniper, fig marigold and lantana grow best in dry, sandy soils, requiring only occasional supplemental watering for good growth. Watering on an as-needed basis is recommended, but ground cover plants should not be allowed to wilt.

Hardiness Zones
A common mistake is to try tropical plants that will continue to live during mild winters but with a hard freeze they will be killed or severely damaged. Other plants like winter creeper require chilling temperatures and therefore do not do well in southern areas of Florida.

Weed Problems
A ground cover is not recommended under or near trees that produce many viable seeds because their seedlings will become weeds for the ground cover. Such is the case of trees like golden rain, cherry laurel and camphor tree. Some ground covers like dichondra, creeping charlie and wandering jew, can become weeds in your yard by invading areas where they were not intended to grow. As a general rule, once the ground cover is well established, weed competition is minimal.

Planting Ground Covers
Loosen the soil and remove foreign objects from the area to be planted by the ground cover. Determine the pH of the soil and correct it, if necessary, according to the plants to be used as ground covers. It is a sound practice to add organic matter to the soil to improve its characteristics.

A layer of about 2 to 3 inches of organic matter incorporated to a depth of 6 to 10 inches should be adequate for most soils. To keep down weeds and avoid soil erosion, space plants in such a way as to cover the area as soon as possible.

The planting distance will depend on the species of plant used. Individual planting holes should be two to three times the diameter of the root ball and as deep as the root ball. Newly set plants should be protected from drying conditions until their root system becomes established. After four and six weeks, fertilize the plants with a complete fertilizer such as 6-6-6 or 12-4-8 at a rate of 1 pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. Use a slow release formulation if possible for a better utilization of your fertilizer. Three to four applications per year are recommended for ground covers.

Wife always bites her tongue when guests hang around until dinnertime

DEAR ABBY: We have a problem with relatives not knowing when a visit should end. They call on weekend afternoons to say they'll be stopping over for an hour or so. Well, the couple of hours stretch into five or six, and then it's dinnertime.

We want to have a small dinner for those people who were in our wedding party (There are only a few left.) We would also like to invite some close friends.

Dear Abby

How does one "push" these uninvited guests out the door so that we can proceed with our dinner? I'm not prepared for four, five or six dinner "guests" — not do I feel I should be.

It has become very stressful, since these are my husband's relatives and I must watch what I say, and I don't even want these people visiting. Don't people realize how rude it is to overstay their visit?

We would like to include something in our invitations that would relay a "sincere message" that we do not want any gifts. The presence of our friends and family to help us celebrate this occasion is the best gift we could receive. Please do not reveal my name. We have not completed our guest list, and I would not like to slight anyone.

WANTS TO OFFEND NO ONE

DEAR STEAMED: I'm sure that most people realize it's rude to overstay their welcome — but when it comes to "family," they suspend the formalities.

The next time it happens, do what many other families do. Say, "Let's order out for a pizza and split the bill!"

DEAR WANTS: Yours is a question I receive at least once a year. The message can be worded as follows: "No gifts, please. Your presence will be our cherished gift, and we respectfully request no other."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a dilemma and hope you can provide an answer. We will soon celebrate our 40th anniversary.

DEAR ABBY: As I type this letter I am eating the last bite of a slice of the cheesecake that I made yesterday for my family. It is, of course, your wonderful recipe. I have made about 15 of them since the recipe was last printed in the newspaper. My family loves it. The only dessert they have raved about as much is your pecan pie recipe. I don't much care for pecan pie myself — but I love this one.

It was mentioned in your column that you have written a cookbooklet. I would like to know where to get one or two. I love to find delicious recipes that are also easy to prepare.

GAIL SAUNDERS, KANSAS CITY, MO.

DEAR GAIL: I'm delighted that my dearest recipe have been such a hit with your family. I have actually published two cookbooklets: "Dear Abby's Favorite Recipes," followed by "More Favorite Recipes by Dear Abby." (The cheesecake recipe is found in the first one, but there are recipes that are equally delicious in the second one as well.)

If you're as busy as I am — and most people are these days — yet want to serve something special to your family and friends, you'll find delectable, easy recipes for foods from appetizers to fabulous desserts. All of my recipes have to be easy to assemble as well as tasty because during the last 40 years I haven't had a lot of time to spend in the kitchen!

To order my family recipes, send a long, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 for each booklet ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby Cookbooklets, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054. (Postage is included.)

know if a 7 to 7 workday would be possible. "These crews are used to the schedule they are on," he said.

The residents were concerned about traffic, safety of their children, noise and possible crime in the neighborhood.

Nick Benedetto, a senior project manager, said that the Expressway was very close to the homes. "Closer than anywhere on the 417 GreeneWay toll road. I understand your feelings," he said.

"We had been promised that the Expressway itself would be 300 feet away from our yards," Jordan said. "But it isn't."

The Expressway officials told the residents that there would be buffers and landscaping to cut down on the noise. They made no promises about the possible use of billboards.

"They've done a good job of keeping them off the GreeneWay," Sellers said.

Last year, it was estimated that 1.5 million tons of garbage were removed from the 310 mile river. This year's total of over 196 tons was much lower, but extremely effective at clearing the lake. The added weights from last year were apparently caused by a number of cars found abandoned at various parts of the river.

Cole, the public information spokesman for the St. Johns River Water Management District said he speaks for the entire organization in extending appreciation to the people who took part in this year's fifth annual St. Johns River and St. Marys River Celebration.

Over the past cleanup campaigns, more than two million pounds of garbage have been removed from the rivers, with last year's campaign being the largest.

agent $2,000 preparing for the tour. He spoke to Simpson Sunday, March 12, then informed the assembled crowd at the Wal-Mart parking lot that the trip had been postponed until Tuesday of last week. Some showed up at the Wal-Mart parking lot again last Tuesday, and the tour buses never arrived.

Williams maintains that he has no affiliation with Simpson beyond wanting to participate in the tour.

Authorities have been receiving calls since last week regarding the tour from across Central Florida, and as far south as Tampa and Ft. Lauderdale. Police said an estimated 100 people paid a minimum of $300 for non-refundable medical insurance for the trip, which was never obtained.

Police said that most of the people planning to participate in the tour ranged in age from 11 to 26.

The performers said Simpson promised them an income of $540 per week during the tour, including $100 per show and $60 a day Sunday, March 19, was scheduled to be their first payday.

An ominous line in the contract signed by participants of the Juice Tour with Simpson said that "If for any reason the tour is canceled, this contract becomes void." There is no clause in the contract for participants to get their money back.

Longwood increases garbage rates

By Bill Kerne
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Residents of Longwood will pay higher solid waste collection rates beginning in May.

The Longwood City Commission on Monday approved a request by Florida Recycling Services to raise the collection rates for solid waste services. The company said the rate hike is necessary because of increased fuel costs.

The company will increase the rate for collection services by 35 cents per household per month. In addition, the rate for rear door pickup service for those who are not handicapped will be increased 20 cents per household per month. The administrative fee remains the same.

The rate increases will take effect May 5. The contractor will perform the collection services at the rate of $10.87 per month per residence, including charges for recycling materials. Meanwhile, a surcharge of $3.95 per month will be charged for nonhandicapped rear door pickup.

"We felt that the cost increase to the customer was a very modest representation of the increased fuel costs we are facing," said Sid Vihlen, Jr., a representative of Florida Recycling Services.

Although the rate increase was approved, City Commissioners also called for collection services in the city to improve.

"The complaint level is just too high," said Commissioner Steve Miller. "Even on my street there have been many things left behind. That is definitely a problem."

City Commissioners and residents said they are concerned about Florida Recycling trucks traveling too fast in residential neighborhoods, and about garbage cans that are not properly returned after trash is dumped into the trucks.

Vihlen said that the company will work with Longwood staff to address any complaints.

"Call us if you find these problems," Vihlen said. "We will be responsive." Longwood Mayor Paul Lovestrand said that the company is responsive to complaints, and that overall he is satisfied with the level of service.

"We have complaints with this company just like we had complaints with the one before it, and the one before that," Lovestrand said. "When we've made complaints, they've been quick to respond. Service is no better and no worse than it was before."

Offshore fishing is in the air

SANFORD - It will not be long before cold fronts lose their punch and offshore waters subside. Now is the time to begin preparations for this annual event.

Shupe
Outdoors

I have an annual ritual of preparing my boat for the rites of spring. Changing the fluid in the lower unit, replacing the spark plugs, installing a new fuel filter/water separator, and greasing the outboard and the wheel bearings are all a part of this process. This year, I even replaced my two deep cycle marine batteries.

Nothing is more frustrating than outboard problems on the water. It can also get quite costly if Sea Tow is involved—to the tune of $100.00 per hour, and the clock starts ticking once the tow vessel leaves port.

I am quite a stickler for preventative maintenance because the options are not attractive. I also spend a lot of time examining my boat trailer, in particular the tires and the wheel bearings. It is a rare weekend that I do not see boats pulled off the highway with tire or wheel bearing problems.

I make it a point to replace trailer tires as soon as wear is detected, and replace them with at least four-ply tires rated specifically for trailers. Tension grease fittings, such as "Bearing Buddies," are not an option. Keeping wheel bearings lubricated and under pressure is an absolute necessity.

Enjoy your spring fishing trips by first taking a little time to complete a spring check list on your outboard and trailer. A few preventative steps can save you from some unpleasant situations and make your spring flings much more enjoyable.

SHUPE'S SCOOP

I keep spare spark plugs and a spark plug wrench in my boat, along with a tool kit. These tools have come in handy on more than one occasion.

FISHING FORECAST

Bass action is as good as it gets in the river. Low water levels are making bass easy to locate as they are forced out into the main channel. Use small lures for fast action, as bass are typically feeding upon tiny grass shrimp and tiny minnows that move out into the main channel due to dropping water levels.

Sebastian Inlet has good catch-and-release snook action, along with flounder, redfish, trout and a few snapper. Live shrimp or baitfish are top baits.

Silver Hawks soar in Orlando

Lake Howell wins prestigious Orlando Baseball Classic title; Pryce, MacDowell star for East in FACA State Soccer Game

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

ORLANDO - Two weeks ago the Lake Howell High School baseball team was 3-7 and struggling to find itself.

But with the addition of a couple of pitchers who had been playing with the successful Silver Hawks basketball team and a new confidence, coach David Vince's charges seem to be ready to make a run at the Seminole Athletic Conference and District titles.

Nick Mangan scored the winning run on a wild pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning as Lake Howell extended its winning streak to six games with a 2-1 victory over host Cypress Creek in the Championship Game of the Orlando Baseball Classic Saturday afternoon.

The win capped a perfect 4-0 week as the Silver Hawks improved to 9-7 on the season heading into a pair of important games this week against unranked Paul Mikler Spring Break Classic champion Lake Mary in a Seminole Athletic Conference game on Wednesday at Lake Mary High School on Wednesday at 7 p.m. and hosting Seminole in a SAC and Class 5A district contest on Friday at 7 p.m.

One of those additions from the basketball team, Brad Hollar, pitched four scoreless innings before leaving in favor of Ross Decker in the fifth inning.

The Bears (9-5), who like Lake Howell came into the game riding a five-game winning streak, finally broke the scoreless tie in the top of the fifth inning.

Jimmy First led off with a triple and Jason Gontha followed with a single, ending the day for Hollar and giving Cypress Creek a 1-0 lead.

But the Silver Hawks answered right back in the bottom of the fifth inning. Jason Lief led off the frame with a single and moved up to second on a sacrifice by Mangan from where he scored when Tommy Ringler reached on one of the Bears' three errors.

Both teams had an opportunity to win the game earlier.

Ringler led off the bottom of the seventh inning for Lake Howell with a single and was on third with two out when the inning ended.

In the top of the eighth inning, Gontha (who went 2 for 3 in the game) led off with a single for the Bears and advanced to second on one of the Silver Hawks' five errors in the contest. But Decker pitched his way out of the jam with a pair of strike outs and a grounder in second.

With one out in the bottom of the ninth, Mangan doubled and went to third on a grounder before scoring the championship-winning run when a 1-1 pitch got past Gontha.

IN OTHER PREP ACTION FROM THE WEEKEND:

Baseball - In a game from Thursday, Lake Howell failed to take advantage of an 11-10 hitting advantage as a team from Houston, Texas thumped the Patriots, 11-10, in the City of Atopha Invitational on J. Barnes Field at Atopha High School.

Houston scored four runs in the second and fifth innings on the strength of home

WINTER SPRINGS - They led their team from nowhere to back to back

State Championships in two different classes and now they are being honored for the effort.

Winter Springs High School seniors Mary Lou Johnston and Beverly Dedelow were selected to the Class 6A Girls All State team when the PSWA (Florida Sports Writers Association) All State Basketball Teams were released last week.

Johnston, a 5-foot-8 point guard who will attend Ohio University in the fall, was named to the first team, while Dedelow, a 6-foot forward, was selected to the Third Team.

A third Bear, sophomore shooting guard Missy Guadagnino, was named Honorable Mention.

Knights of Columbus get there revenge, title

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Revenge is sweet. The Knights of Columbus were the champions of the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Spring Church Slow Pitch Softball League and did not take kindly to not only losing the Polar Bear regular season title, but also getting beaten three times, 22-17, 5-4 and 22-9, by champion Central Baptist Church of Sanford.

So the Catholics got their vengeance last Monday night at Pinehurst Park, knocking off both Westview Baptist Church, which had beaten the Knights of Columbus 18-15 the final night of the season, and Central Baptist Church of Sanford by identical 11-8 scores to claim the trophy for winning the End of the Season Tournament.

The Knights of Columbus built a 10-0 lead after four innings before Westview Baptist scored all eight of its runs in the fifth inning to make the final score interesting.

The Knights of Columbus followed the same strategy in the second game, jumping on Central Baptist for five runs in the top of the first inning and then tacked on three more runs after Central Baptist scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning.

With an 8-3 lead Erin Reno hit a home run for the Knights of Columbus in the top of the third inning and then let its defense take over, holding Central Baptist scoreless until the bottom of the seventh inning while scoring its final two runs in the top of the sixth inning.

Central Baptist did not go quietly despite trailing 11-3 entering the final inning, scoring five runs and having a runner on third with only one out before the final two batters popped up to end the game.

The final records were: Central Baptist Church of Sanford (9-1), Knights of Columbus (7-4), Westview Baptist Church (3-6) and Centru Cristiano (0-9).

Providing the offense were:

SEMINOLAS:

Knights of Columbus: three hits - Mike Verses (two runs, RBI); two hits - Jim Davis (double, run, three RBI), Anton Grooms (double, two runs), Don Macher (two runs, RBI); one hit - Bryan Fenner (double, two runs), Jeff Gill (run, two RBI), Rick Fess (run, RBI); two RBI - Joel Lipscomb; one RBI - Tony Reno.

Westview Baptist Church: two hits - Scheils and Goodall (one double, one run scored and one RBI each), Jackson (run, RBI), Davidson (run); one hit - Patte (double, run, two RBI), Hipps

C.J. Blass raised his record to 3-1 on the season with help from Luke Moore and Larry Grayson as host Oviedo topped Lyman 6-3 Monday night.

Oviedo exhibits depth in SAC win over Lyman

By Tony DeBormier
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

OVIEDO - Flashing the flexibility that having depth allows, the Oviedo Lions hung on Monday night to post a 6-3 decision over the visiting Lyman Greyhounds in a Seminole Athletic Conference baseball game at Paul Mikler Field.

The Lions were up 6-1 in the top of the seventh when a walk, an error, and Chris Brummett's double off of the elbow of shortstop Justin Holmes had the Greyhounds down 6-2 and the potential tying run on deck.

Coach Harold Hitt started making moves, bringing Jamie Zuegler off of the bench to replace Holmes and sending Nick Tenekedes out to play center field so that Larry Grayson could come in to pitch.

While Grayson did load the bases for Lyman when he hit Paul Cross with a pitch and surrendered an RBI single to Matt Ruttkay that sliced the Lions' advantage to 6-3, he did pitch out of the jam to get the save.

He was aided considerably by a spinning stop by Zuegler of a one-hop bullet by Mike Cahill, turning a possible two-run single into a game-ending fielder's choice.

"It wasn't pretty there at the end, but we got the job done," said Hitt. "We have a considerable amount of athletic talent on this team that allows us to make a variety of moves when we need to."

One move Hitt wished he didn't have to make was subbing for Holmes. It was a scary few minutes for the Oviedo faithful as the Lion trainers tended to him.

"It hit me in the same spot that (Bishop Moore pitcher) Tito Alfonso hit me last week," said Holmes after the game, an icebag taped to his left elbow. "At
