Stimson Tells How U. S. Treats War Prisoners

Wouldn't Mind Being One Awhile; Geneva Terms Are Given

WASHINGTON, May 24, — Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, declared recently that the consideration and fair treatment being given to prisoners of war captured by American forces are such that "I'd like to be become a prisoner myself for a while."

Although he said this with a smile there was no mistaking his earnestness as he stressed the favorable terms embodied in the plans for disposition of Axis prisoners, some of whom, he admitted, were already at work on American farms.

After telling a press conference that the Tunisian campaign alone netted a total of 267,000 Axis prisoners, many of whom will be sent to America, Mr. Stimson said that employment of these prisoners as well as others to be taken in the future will be based on terms of the Geneva Convention, and that he "hoped that the humane and considerate treatment that War Department policy will accord to America's prisoners of war will be reflected in similar treatment of American soldiers who are prisoners of war of the Axis powers.

Asked if the Axis prisoners would be put to work in industrial plants, Mr. Stimson said they might, but not in war-munitions factories. He declined to reveal the location of the prison camps, but added that they are sufficiently large to "handle this catch and some more."

In response to several questions as to what agency will handle the employment of the prisoners and the various kinds of work they will be put to, Mr. Stimson said these problems are still under study. They will perform types of labor permissible under the articles of the Geneva Convention, he said, but emphasized firmly that "they will not be used as strike breakers."

Under the Geneva Convention prisoners must be afforded protection against violence, "abuse, public curiosity and exploitation of any kind. Prisoners of war, except officers, may be required to work at any project not directly connected with military operations.

Prisoners employed by the Federal government will be paid at the rate of 80 cents a day, Mr. Stimson said. When working for a state or private contractor, their pay will be at a rate decided upon in advance between the employer and the prison camp commander concerned. The rate, however, may not be less than that of 80 cents a day paid by the Federal government.

Officer prisoners may not be compelled to work. (The Geneva convention provides that they must be paid, nevertheless, in accordance with their grade and in line with specific arrangements between the enemy powers. The allowance for German and Italian officer prisoners will be the equivalent of $30 a month for warrant officers and first and second lieutenants; $30 for captains, and $40 for those in the grade of major and above.

Enlisted men among the prisoners who are not provided employment will be given a monthly allowance of $5. Non-commissioned officers will be assigned to supervisory work only, unless work of this nature is not available and they specifically requested a remunerative occupation.

Prisoners may not be made to work longer hours than the civilian population engaged in similar work in the locality, which, except in emergency, will not exceed ten hours daily, counting the time consumed in going to and from work. In all respects, prisoners will be treated with the respect due honorable captives, Mr. Stimson said. The free mail privilege, accorded to United States military personnel will be granted to them.

Rations for prisoners will be the same as those provided United States troops.

The Geneva convention stipulates that orderlies must be provided to officer prisoners from among the enlisted prisoners. These will receive pay at the rate of 80 cents a day.

Prisoners will be required to wear the clothing they had at the time of their capture unless it is unfit for use.

Prisoners' uniforms will be [illegible]

Pfc. Silver Dollar And J.P. Morgan Are Both At Camp

SECOND ARMY MANEUVER HEADQUARTERS, SOMEWHERE IN TENNESSEE, May 24,—J. P. Morgan doesn't make much of a dent in the monthly payroll of a Red signal company, now on Second Army maneuvers in Middle Tennessee. For that matter, Pfc. Silver Dollar of the same company is leading J. P. for Army salary honors inasmuch as he draws $54 a month to Private Morgan's fast fifty.

But that doesn't bother telephone lineman J. P. Morgan; he dishes out the wisecracks while Silver Dollar, a cook's helper, dishes out the chow to him.

"Hi-yo, Silver!" begins the badinage barrage, as Dollar steps up for a mess kit of edibles.

"Well, if it isn't J. P. Morgan —begging for food again," is Dollar's prompt retort.

"Bounce yourself on a counter, Silver Dollar; you have a phoney ring," says Morgan.

Dollar, who lives at 2540 Howard Street, Redwood, Calif., isn't the brightest coin in his family realm. His sister is Gold Dollar, and his brother William is always referred to as Dollar Bill. The neighbors call Silver's stepson "The Almighty Dollar."

Rather than adopt a more conventional name in civilian life, Dollar capitalized on it. He had it prominently displayed on his business card, which he presented to prospective customers while making his rounds as a traveling salesman. The customers, usually curious about the unusually [illegible]

Gunder Haegg, The Flying Swede, May Surprise American Runners

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK.—Everyone seems to believe Gunder Haegg, the swift Swede, will run over our homebred gallopers in his upcoming races here. He may, but very few foreign track stars have been able to boast of their performances in America.

The so-called "supermuscle"—Nurmi and Kohelmainen—could, but most of the others would just as soon forget their lay-along.

Haegg possibly is another superhuman. All evidence indicates he is. No one ever put on such a record-breaking spree on the Gyale fireman. Haegg [illegible] mile—seven new world records in two months. And he didn't break the records. He shattered them to pieces. Our [illegible]

Paavo dropped out of the longer race, saying he had eaten too much pie and had contracted a tummy ache. There were some observers though who said Nurmi feared the possibility of defeat if he tried to tackle Ray after racing Ritola. Paavo definitely would have had his hands full that night for Ray set a new world record of 4:11 for the mile.

Jess Willard Says Louis Firpo Was Best Of The Lot

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Features

DALLAS—The big guy looked back through tempestous years—the savage heat of Havana, the bloody gore of Toledo, the night one mighty blow sent the great Jack Dempsey flying from the ring —and acclaimed as the greatest fighter he ever saw: Luis Angel Firpo, the Wild Bull of the Pampas.

Jess Willard, gray about the temples, but still keen-eyed and with a voice that roars like a cannon, passed his accolade on to the man who never was champion.

..."Firpo was the best fighter of them all," he mused. "Sure Jack Johnson was good, Dempsey was great Joe Louis is a fine boxer. But Firpo was big, tough and game.. and he could hit.. hard enough to drill a hole through you.

"He really won over Dempsey and if he had gotten what was coming to him would have been a great champion. You know Dempsey was helped back into the ring that night he went on to knock out Firpo. It's against the rules of boxing for a fighter to be helped by the crowd." ....

Few, if anyone, ever listed Firpo at the top. There probably will be few to agree with big Joe today, but Willard ought to know he was there. The 60-year-old former world's champion fought the gaint of the Argentine, in addition to two men rated among the greatest of all time—Johnson and Dempsey. Of course the fight with Firpo came while the aging ing comeback.

Willard—then 42—was attempting Movie Profits

Willard said he was in Dallas conferring with lawyers relative to claiming profits he says should be his from the showing of the Willard-Dempsey fight picture, taken at Toledo July 4, 1919. Jess said he still owned a fourth of that picture and he figured its use brought in at least $5,000,000.

Jess is serving a greeter at a cafe here.

"I'm getting along pretty good," the 250-pound Jess grinned when asked his financial status. "I made a million and a quarter out of fighting—or rather, I made most of it in show business as a result of my boxing. I have managed to rear five children and give them college educations." ....

His two sons, Jess, Jr., and Allen, are in the service—Jess as athletic director at an air field at Amarillo, Tex., and Allen with the ski troops at Leadville, Colo. He also has three daughters.

Willard looked hale and hearty. "I must be in pretty good shape," he commented. "I fell on the ice a couple of months ago and broke my ankle and it took only three weeks to heal."

Could Have Beaten Dempsey

Jess won the title from [illegible] at Havana at the age of 35, lost it four years later to Dempsey. It had only one other title in four years—with Frank [illegible]. At my best I could have beaten Dempsey or [illegible] quite, if he did quit because I was about to quite myself.' Also, there were 100 prominent writrs covering the fight. Don't you think it's a reflection on them, that years after the fight they are told it was a frame-up? Yet, at the time, those capable, experienced men didn't see a thing wrong."

Abortion Rise Laid To Fear Of Loss Of War Job

Birth-Control Group Reveals How Plants Penalize Pregnant

NEW YORK CITY, May 24, (AP)—Fear of being discharged as a penalty for becoming pregnant has led to an increase in abortions among women workers in war plants in the South, according to a survey by Dr. Claude C. Pierce, medical director of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., pioneer of the birth-control movement led by Margaret Sanger.

Dr. Pierce, reporting the results of his survey last week at the offices of the federation, 501 Madison Avenue, said abortions were responsible in large measure for increasing absenteeism among women in the nation's war plants.

"Abortion is classed as 'sickness" and 'sick leaves' are responsible for as much as 90 percent of the absence in some factories," he said. Women workers, he added, were found to be absent 75 percent more than men in many plants, although the average has been put at 33 percent.

Dr. Pierce, long associated with the United States Public Health Service, declined to disclose the names of plants which he said were discharging women for becoming pregnant, but he cited a recent study by Dr. Charlotte Silverman, of the United States Department of Labor's children's bureau in Washington to support his statement that women were being penalized for the consequences of their sex.

She said that many of the seventy-three war plants which she investigate discharged pregnant women as soon as their condition became apparent. Only twenty-six kept records of the number of pregenancies and, of these, one, employing 20,000 women, reported that 18 percent of its women employees had been pregnant, 2.5 percent resorting to abortions and the rest giving birth.

Dr. Pierce pointed out the danger of abortion. The illegal operations prove fatal to 8,000 to 10,000 women annually, he said, and "at least eight women are rendered sterile for every one who dies." He believed the figures would increase as a result of the industrial penalty against some of the 6,000,000 women in the nation's war plants.

The federation, which is campaigning for "drastic revision" of industrial health policies in many plants, is advocating nation-wide adoption of four "practical suggestions for improving maternal health conditions in our stepped-up war industries":

1. Abandon the practice of dismissing expectant mothers as soon as pregnancy is reported.

2. Permit expectant mothers to work as long as their health permits under adequate medical supervision during time on the job. (Women can work up to the eighth month of pregnancy without endangering health if the work is not too strenuous, it was said.)

3. Give assurance of re-employment after the baby is born and of the retention of seniority privileges.

4. Give [illegible]ly supervised child-spacing information to those married women who wish to postpone pregnancy either because of poor health or inability to care for another child at the time.

Russian Front Action Now In North Central

Reds Report Capture Of 4 Settlements As Air Battles Continue Unabated

(By Associated Press)

Land action on the Russian front moved from the south to the north central sector, where the Russians today reported the capture of four settlements but on the whole uneasiness continued with great softening up air battles unabated.

Col. Nikolai Akimov asserted the Germans evidently have been unable to recover from the recent blows, but warned it is a mistake to think the Nazi military might has been smashed, the Moscow spokesman pointing to signs of summer campaign preparations.

Planes of the Russian Black sea fleet have sunk seven of a fleet of 11 German landing boats, motor-torpedo boats and transports along the 45-mile stretch of the coast between Anapa and Kerch northwest of Novorossisk and have set fire to two more, the Moscow radio said earlier today.

Trapping the enemy convoy off the lazoon area at the mouth of the Kuban river, on the lower side of the Taman peninsula, the Russian planes sank two out of three big German landing boats, each with 200 troops aboard; three out of four first landing boats, one out of two motor-torpedo boats and one out of two big transports, Radio Moscow said in a broadcast recorded here. One of the leading boats, carrying ammunition, blew up.

The surviving motor-torpedo boat was set afire, and the surviving transport burst into flames after being heavily damaged, the broadcast said.

Laws Respecting Child Labor Are Eased For Some

Fruit And Vegetable Packers May Hire Children Of 14-16

Atlanta, Ga., May 26 (Special) —As a means of aiding the nation's war-time food production program, the Children's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor has modified its child labor regulations to permit the employment of children between 14 and 16 years of age in the fruit and vegetable packing industry.

Request for such modification, on account of the manpower shortage, was recently made by operators of southern packing sheds and a public hearing on the question was held May 3 in St. Louis, Mo. In addition, the Placement Bureau of the War Manpower Commission advised Katherine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau, that it is necessary for the sheds to operate after 7:00 P.M., and that the shortage of labor in many packing areas makes it necessary to employ minors between 14 and 16 years of age after 7:00 P.M., during the peak packing season.

Henry Ford's Son Dies At Age Of 49

Ten Day Illness Due To Stomach Trouble AndUndulent Fever Results In Death

DETROIT, May 26, (AP)—Edsel Ford, 49, only son of Henry Ford, founder of the great Ford industrial empire, died at 1:30 A. M. today at his home at Grosse Pointe shores, a Detroit suburb. The younger Ford, chief executive of the Ford Motor Company for 24 years, died from a condition developing from a former stomach malady for which an operation was performed 16 months ago.

Undulant fever also was present. He became seriously ill 10 days ago and, although his condition improved during the week end, he took a turn for the worse during the night.

His four children Henry, Benson, William and Josephine—were here at the time of his death. His sons, all in the armed forces, had been granted leaves.

Sole heir of one of the greatest and most rapidly accumulated fortunes ever amassed and one of the most talked-of but least known figures in an industry in which his name was a by-word, was Edsel Bryant Ford, only child of Henry and Clara Bryant Ford.

Appearing in public even less frequently than did his father who was noted for shunning the spotlight, Edsel Ford was always reserved, taciturn and aloof, so much so in fact that for years one of the common questions concerning him was whether he was a real or an adopted son of (Continued On Page Three)

Captain Galloway Finishes Course At Fort Benning

Capt. John L. Galloway of Company C of the Florida Defense Force, who returned Monday from Fort Benning where for a week he attended the new school for State Guard officers, today urged all members of Company C to report for duty Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Armory for drill and to hear an account of his trip.

The need of several more men to become members of the Company and attend drills regularly was emphasized by Capt. Galloway.

He stated that at Fort Benning he had spent a very beneficial week and had gained valuable information along military lines which should be of great help in running the local organization. Included in this training was riot duty, and village fighting, and on the administrative end, lectures on these subjects. There was also considerable practice in the use of sub-machine guns, he added.

"The Army is co-operating splendidly with the State Guard, which is looked upon as a necessary organization for the home defense," Capt. Galloway said.

The boxing bouts between teams of the Sanford and Melbourne Naval Air Stations, scheduled to be given Thursday evening at the Municipal Ball Park, have been postponed until 8:30 o'clock Tuesday evening June 1, according to Lieut. Morris H. Gross, welfare director at the local station.

One of the treats promised at that time will be a free-for-all bout of negro mess cooks, numbering five or six, and all in the ring at the same time, he said.

Leo Butner Clears Bar At Over Six Feet In High Track Meet

Sailing through the air with the greatest of ease, as an old song would put it, Leo Butner, competing at high noon at Seminole High School's big Field Day on Friday afternoon, cleared the bar at six feet, one inch, according to Morris Ferguson, athletic director.

Ernest Brotherson tore up the track in the 100 yard dash to win in 10.4 seconds. At shot put Gene Singletary came out ahead by heaving the ball 43 feet, which was 10 feet short of his record, due to sore arm.

Competing with ten teams the relay race was won with a time of one minute and 59 seconds by the following team: Al Brock, Emmett Bowden, David Jackson, Malcolm Hamill and Elly Smith.

Miss Charlotte Cross, sophomore, throwing the basket ball for distance in the morning events for girls; made a throw of 63 feet 10 inches according to Mrs. Lee Samuel, director.

Anne Lovell and Martha Hagan tied for first place in the running broad jump with a distance of 14 feet, 10 inches. Other events were obstacle races and a 50 yard dash with eight teams competing. The brown team of girls won the most points.

Other games played by the girls groups were: diamond ball, basket ball, volley ball. Stress was put upon group play from which the girls could derive the most physical benefit, according to Mrs. Samuel. Winning teams were extended an invitation to attend the Ritz Theater by Manager Charles Morrison. The faculty acted as officials for the events which had been postponed from Wednesday until Friday because of rain.

Camp Winona For Boys Will Open On June Eighth

Camp Winona, a summer camp for boys, in Volusia county will open for the seventeenth season on June 8th. The camp will run in two one week periods. It will run through noon on June 14. The second period will begin June 14 and run through the afternoon of June 20. Boys may attend either or both periods, announcement by H. E. Morris said today.

Special activities have been planned for this summer that will give the boys special training physically, mentally and spiritually. The camp will be directed by H. E. Morris with the following young men helping: Bill Fleming, Al Brock, Pete Rice, Hugh Whitehead, Rex Fox, Jere Dortmuny, Billy Herndon.

Located about 5 miles north east of DeLeon Springs in Volusia county, the camp is equipped with seven large screened cabins, a recreation hall, dining hall and has an excellent clear water lake for swimming.

The camp is affiliated with the National Red Cross program in Life Saving and Water Safety. First Aid, the National Rifle Association in target practice and will offer any boy scout desiring to advance an opportunity to be instructed by excellent leaders.

The camp will be restricted to 75 boys each period because of the limited equipment all boys interested are urged to contact Mr. Morris as soon as possible and make reservations.

Curfew Ordinance Given 1st Reading By Commissioners

Measure Bans Minors From City Streets After 11 At Night

A curfew ordinance, making it unlawful for minors under 17 years of age to be on the streets after 11:00 o'clock at night unless accompanied by a parent, guardian or other adult member of the family was given its first reading Monday evening at the meeting of the City Commission, City Clerk H. N. Sayer said today.

The Commission instructed Fred B. Wilson, city attorney, to proceed in the City's name with condemnation proceedings against property owners on Park Avenue between the railroad station, at Fifteenth Street and Twenty-first Street who have failed to deed the right of way necessary for widening of this link in the State highway.

Section one of the curfew law [illegible] that it shall be unlawful for any person under the age of 17 years to remain or be found upon the streets, avenues, alleys, public ways or parks of the City after 11:00 P. M. Exceptions are [illegible] accompanied by his or her parent, guardian or a [illegible] (Continued On Page Three)

Volie Williams, Jr. Takes Flying Course

Aviation Cadet Volie A. Williams, Jr., was recently [illegible] among a large class of [illegible] pilot cadets departing from the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center in Texas to take advanced training at primary flying [illegible]

Members of the class were among the thousands of cadets selected by Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Congressman R. E. Thomason of Texas, ranking member of the House Military Affairs Committee, and Senator Burnet Maybank of South Carolina member of the military affairs committee of the Senate. After reviewing the class Secretary Patterson declared them "a fine body of men," while Congressman Thomason stated that "they made me feel good over the future of the nation."

The cadets have completed [illegible] phases of their training [illegible] at the Army Air Forces Classification Center, and at the Pre-flight School for pilots, the two units which make up this military establishment, the largest aviation cadet training center in the nation. They will receive their first actual flying training at the primary fields.

Legion Will Award School Honor Medals

American Legion certificates of School awards and medals will be presented by Comdr. Bill Thorne and Past Comdr. Ned Smith of Campbell-Lassing Post, to a boy and a girl of the graduating class at Lyman School at Longwood Thursday evening, and to a boy and a girl of the graduates at Oviedo High School, Friday evening.

School awards are the highest civilian awards that the Legion presents, Comdr. Thorne stated. To boys they are awarded on the basis of the highest total percentage found of the following qualities: honor, courage, scholarship, leadership and service. Qualification for award to girls is on the basis of courage, character, service, companionship and scholarship.

Rhineland City Is Target For Giant Bombers

Duesseldorf Hit For Fourth Super Raid In Attacks Near Dortmund Record

(By Associated Press)

Allied air armadas stormed at another of Hitler's broken arsenal cities and fire grimed island ramparts of Italy in two frontal assault, war announcements from London and Africa reported today.

The Rhineland city of Duesseldorf was the target last night of approximately 400 giant bombers in RAF's fourth super raid of the month. The attack approached or equalled the record 2,000 ton bomb assault on Dortmund Sunday night. Twenty-seven planes were lost.

From Northwest Africa yesterday nearly 600 planes swarmed over Sicily, Sardinia and Pantelleria and delivered what was described as one of their most successful raids on Messina, the Sicilian ferry terminal. Another force of Liberators from the African desert dropped an additional 11 tons of bombs on Messina teaming up with Flying Fortresses to grow at shaky Italian resistance.

Washington diplomatic observers, meanwhile, expressed doubt Italy would be invaded this summer, contending easier roads lead to Berlin, the major European objective.

Official word from Allied headquarters in North Africa said every American and British air squadron in the Mediterranean is ready to keep the non-stop offensive rolling against Europe from the south.

This month already has brought industrial Germany four great saturation raids, including two of the top-weight bombings of the war.

From the fact that the RAF carried out the greatest raid in history against Dortmund Sunday night, after being close to 750 planes since the first of the year, informed sources foresaw the ultimate strength of the frontline bomber force mounting so high this summer that the sheer weight of the attacks would cripple Germany's ability to defend herself and leave the skies clear for almost continuous assaults.

Hendricks Voices Vigorous Protest Against Ceilings

Vigorous opposition to the OPA proposal to lower the ceiling price on potatoes effective June 1 to $2.80 was voiced today by Representative Joe Hendricks in a telegram to H. H. Lehman, manager of the Sanford State Farmers Market.

Mr. Hendricks said that he is taking the matter up with Price Stabilization Director James Byrnes. His telegram is full is as follows:

H. H. Lehman

Have just received information from OPA that ceiling prices on potatoes have been increased thirty cents per hundredweight up until June first at which time potatoes all over Florida will have ceiling price of $2.80. This is most disagreeable action that I have seen taken in regard to a matter that I have tried to handle with the OPA yet.

It simply means that the potato growers of the Hastings section will fund to lose thousands of dollars on their potatoes. Owing to the fact that because of freezes they were late in digging Hastings potatoes were not selected as early potatoes and they are receiving now $4.10 per hundredweight the new price ceiling will give them $2.80 until June first.

"But then they will be compelled to sell for $2.80 and they are hardly half through with the digging of their crop. I was in the Hastings section last week and drove through the potato fields and know that with the lack of labor and other conditions they will not be half through digging by June first.

"The potatoes around the Miami section have already been dug and sold for $3.75 but the potato growers at Hastings are to be penalized because of circumstances over which they have no control. I am not at all pleased with this and expect to make a vigorous protest not only to Mr. Prentiss Brown, Administrator of the office of Price Administration but also to the Agriculture Department and to the office of the Honorable James Byrnes, the Price Stabilization Administrator.

JOE HENDRICKS.

Post Office Will Distribute Blanks For Ration Book 3

JACKSONVILLE, May 26. (AP)—Florida post offices began late last week distribution of post-card application blanks for the state's estimated 2,000,000 consumers' supply of War Ration Book No. 3, which will be put into use sometime later as a replacement for war ration books one and two.

Everyone will require one of the new books. Extreme care is necessary in making out the applications, Chauncey W. Butler, district OPA director, pointed out. Newspapers as well as distribution posts in each community will supply correct information on procedure.

"An application," said Butler, "must be made for each group of persons who are related by blood, marriage or adoption and regularly live at the same address.

"Print plainly the names and birthdates of all persons covered by the application. Do not list persons in the armed forces. Be sure that the names of all family members who are entitled to a ration book are listed.

"Every application must be signed by the person usually the head of the family to whom the ration books are to be mailed. This signer's name is required at four different places on the application."

Application blanks are being placed in postboxes, are delivered by carriers on all mail routes—one to each home and are also available at general delivery windows. Distribution of the blanks is scheduled to be completed June 5.

Heads of households are required to fill out one simplified blank for each household, listing thereon the name and age of each person entitled to receive a ration book. When filled out, the card must be mailed before June 10 to the state mailing center whose address is already printed on the reverse side of the card. They require a 3-cent stamp. Cards should not be taken to local rationing boards.

Distribution of Book III to those householders who applied for them will begin about June 20 and will be complete in August.

No Relief Seen On June 15 TaxPayments

Income tax installments on 1942 taxes due June 15, must be paid in spite of legislation now before Congress embodying provisions of the various Pay-As-You-Go plans, John L. Fahs, collector of the Internal Revenue at Jacksonville, state recently. This includes March 15 payments now past due.

Mr. Fahs also advised that the bills are now being prepared in his office for the June 15 payment and will be in the mails between now and June 1. Taxpayers are, therefore, requested to give this matter their immediate attention and upon receipt of their bills make prompt remittance. The remittance should be attached to the bill in order to guarantee proper credit, he added.

"Sitting In With The Lawmakers"

While newspaper men cover[illegible] before some guy jumps up [illegible] but don't feel and starts talk[illegible] people, the blind [illegible] children.

[illegible] Murray of Polk got so fed up with it last week that he urged his colleagues to quit taking up so much time making campaign speeches and get down to earth with their remarks. If all the words uttered on behalf of the "old folks" since the session began could be transformed into dollars, it would month look like a mere pittance. No one really expects to DO anything about the oldsetters, but like the weather, they are something to talk about.

Emptiest gesture of all came when the cigarette tax was under discussion in the Senate and Senator Chett urged that everyone over 65 years of age be exempt from the tax. Senator Sturgis nearly sprained an ankle hopping out of his seat to inquire if it was going to be necessary for everybody to procure a birth certificate when making purchase of a package of cigarettes.

The Governor's cigarette tax bill traveled through legislative channels as smoothly and speedily as the Seaboard's "Silver Meteor", to pass both House and Senate with little or no real opposition. After a weak effort to delay action in the House, it went to a vote and was passed by a large majority. George Innes arose when it was all over and, giving a tobacco auctioneer's chant, said: "Sold to the Governor of Florida!" Even opponents of the bill got a laugh out of that.

[illegible] Governor Holland signed the bill outlawing secret fraternities, sororities and similar organizations in public schools. It does not affect institutions of higher learning but provides penalties of suspension or repulsion from public schools for pupils who become members, pledge to become members, or solicit membership on school boards are given fouil authority to enforce the act.

The House Bill designed to regulate labor and put a stop to racketeering, which would have prevented the sale of working permits, outlawed the "closed shop" and required unions to file Secretary of State, found no favor in the Senate which tossed the House measure in the ash-can and wrote its own version which is much lenient and even if passed would fall far short of curbing the evils at which such legislation is aimed. It is very doubtful that the House will concur on the new Senate Bill, and indications are that the session will end with no action taken.

By a vote of 51 to 19, the House vigorously slapped down an effort of the State Welfare Board to expand its supervision and control over boarding homes for the aged and blind. Representative Martin of Hillsboro, opposing it, termed the measure "just another bill to increase operating expenses of the Welfare Board and employ more inspectors, supervisors and busy-bodies to go around and investigate the old folks and spend money that should be going directly to the relief of the oldsters."

He pointed out also that the action of the Federal Bureau does not suspend or otherwise modify State and local Child labor laws.

The new order is effective at once and will continue in force for the duration of the war unless sooner terminated by Miss Lenroot, Director Johnson said. The order permits employment of children of the ages specified, from 7 P.M., to 10 P.M. in fruit and vegetable packing sheds for a period of not more than eight workweeks in any calendar year, under the following conditions.

They must work while school is not in session; not more than 40 hours a week, nor more than eight hours a day; they must not work more than six days in any seven day period; a meal period of not less than 45 minutes must be allowed after not more than five hours of work during each day of employment. The packing shed operators must maintain and preserve a record of all such employment, including the names and addresses of the children.

Young Fox Terrier Nurses Two Pigs

TAMPA, May 26, (FNS)—Ripley ought to investigate this yarn, which appeared in last week's issue of the Glades County Democrat, published at Moore Haven:

"A 2-year old fox terrier owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Frierson has adopted and is nursing two pigs which are about to outgrow their 'mother', Mr. Frierson states.

"The pigs are the only survivors of a litter of nine, and were taken from their mother by Mrs. Frierson who was afraid the sow would injure them in their pen. While the two were laying in the yard of the Frierson home, the fox terrier adopted them, and although she has never had puppies is furnishing the pigs with plenty of milk. The pigs are thriving on the fare, weighing between 9 and 10 pounds each. The fox terrier weighs twelve pounds.

"Several months ago the dog adopted and nursed a litter of kittens which had been left motherless."

Action Completed By Legislature Regulating Labor

Modified Senate Measure Is Accepted; Time Change Dies

TALLAHASSEE, May 26 (AP)—Action was completed by the legislature yesterday on a bill regulating labor unions and it was sent to Governor Holland for his approval. It will go into effect immediately after he signs it.

Final step was House acceptance of the Upchurch bill substituted by the Senate for one passed earlier in the House. The original bill was more drastic prohibiting the closed shop but Rep. Clay Lewis, of Gulf, advised the House to accept the Senate version.

The Senate killed 26 to 9 a House approved bill that would have placed all Florida on central war time.

The portion of the state east of the Apalachicola river including the population centers of Jacksonville, Tampa and Miami now is on eastern war time while the area west of the river is on central war time.

TALLAHASSEE, May 26 (AP)—The Legislature passed on Monday a liquor curfew bill recommended by Governor Holland as part of his program to curb venereal disease and prostitution in Florida. The Senate passed the House approved measure 24 to 9.

The bill prohibits the sale of liquor by the drink between mid night and 7 A. M. on week days, and between midnight Saturday and 7 A. M. Monday sales by the bottle are prohibited between 2 P. M. and 7 A. M. on week days and all day Sunday.

The Senate also passed 26 to 1 a bill giving State county and city health officers authority to commit persons infected with venereal disease to State Board of Health venereal disease hospital for quarantine and compulsory treatment.

The bill also directs that sheriffs of chiefs of police turn over to health authorities any persons in their custody charged with or convicted of a misdemeanor who are infected with venereal disease to health officials for compulsory treatment.

Ten years of insanity will be ground for divorce in Florida if the couple concurs in a bill passed by the House 57 to 16.

Representative Graves of Indian River sponsored the bill, he explained it would allow divorce to be granted if one party to a marriage has been legally adjudged insane and has been confined to an institution for six or more years.

The bill contains a retroactive clause so that if a person already has been insane for 10 years suit for divorce may be filed.

RACIAL DISORDERS
MONTGOMERY, May 26 (AP)—Governor Sparks today said the situation "seems to be quiet" at Mobile, where troops stood guard against a recurrence of racial disorders at a shipyard when brought slight injuries to eight persons and left an estimated 10,000 negro workers idle the day, no likely danger of further disturbance.

Henry Ford.

"What kind of a man is Edsel Ford," was a question heard frequently both in and out of automotive circles. Few could answer it. Reared by his father with a great objective of fitting him to manage the huge Ford industries when the elder Ford might have to shed these responsibilities, Edsel Ford grew up apart from the ordinary walks and activities of life.

At 22 he was made vice president of the Ford Motor company. Three years later he became treasurer. This was in 1921, the year Wall Street unsuccessfully sought control of the Ford company. The elder Ford probably could not have selected a time of greater stress in which to test his son's ability.

Edsel was not quite 24 when the United State entered the first world war. The Ford company was engaged in the production of steel helmets, airplane motors, artillery caissons, Red Cross and army medical ambulances and "eagle" boats, an effort to apply the principles of mass production of motorcars to the manufacture of naval craft.

When the general drafts of the nation's man power were made, counsel for the Ford company appeared before the draft board and asked exemption for Edsel on the ground that his presence at home was essential to a war industry. Many men close to him pictured Edsel as wanting to go overseas with the A. E. F. but staying at home at the stern decision of his father. After being made more or less of an issue in congress the exemption was granted.

Edsel Ford was born on November 6, 1893, in a two story, red brick house on Bagley, now the heart of Detroit's downtown district. His father at the time was employed at $40 a week at the engine room of the Detroit Edison plant and had just completed in his off hours, his first gasoline driven "horseless carriage."

When Edsel became old enough he was sent to the public schools. He finished the grade schools at 14, and was then sent to the Detroit University School. Graduating from the latter institution he took up his training in his father's plant instead of going to college.

Edsel Ford was married November 1, 1916, to Miss Eleanor Clay, a niece of J. L. Hudson, one of Detroit's leading merchants and philanthropists. They had four children, Henry Ford II, born in 1918, Benson Ford, in 1920, Eleanor Clay Ford in 1922 and William Clay Ford in 1925.

Edsel was largely responsible for the interest taken by his father in aviation and persuaded him to undertake the development of airplane manufacturing at Dearborn, site of the parent plant of the Ford company. He offered the Edsel B. Ford prize for the annual national air tour and sponsored and contributed very largely to the expedition of Commander Richard E. Byrd to the South Pole in 1929-1930.

He was a member of Detroit art commission, made a number of notable gifts to the Detroit Art Institute and was a member of numerous Detroit clubs and the New York Yacht Club.

It's The Gimmies Again

We do not know much about the merits of the coal miners' demands for higher pay but it seems perfectly clear that this controversy and the failure of the government to do anything conclusive about it have precipitated a series of strikes in other parts of the country which are as damaging to the war program as the coal strike.

The claim that the miners should be paid from the time they enter the mines until they emerge, and not just from the time they actually begin to work, a matter of an hour or two every day in some instances, seems reasonable enough, and one is only left to wonder why John L. Lewis has never done anything about it before in all the years he has been president of the United Mine Workers.

The only argument against it now is that if the people of this country begin devoting their energies, their thoughts and their time, to righting all the wrongs which exist in this country, the larger task of preventing a far greater wrong, the triumph of Nazi Germany, may be lost sight of and neglected altogether. Then the miners would not only not get portal-to-portal pay, they wouldn't even have the right to ask for it, and they wouldn't get time and a half either.

We dare say that every working man in this country can find something wrong with the contract under which he works or the method by which he is paid. And practically everyone thinks he ought to get more money. Take the doctors, for instance, they frequently have to take cases, perform operations, answer accident calls, in the middle of the night, for which they know they will never receive a dime.

Such cases of course have to be handled. But why should they have to perform operations at their own expense on well known dead-beats who wouldn't be trusted by any merchant in town? Why shouldn't all bona fide charity cases be paid for by the government and why shouldn't adequate provision be made by the government to compel people who can afford it to pay for their doctor's services?

And why should the salaried man who has been working for $50 a week for years have his salary frozen in spite of the rising cost of living and not be permitted to make a cent more now than he was before the war even though his business is good and he is entitled to an increase? Why should the sons of coal miners, whose fathers have spent years learning their trade in order to make $48 a week, be able to go into the shipyards where after a few weeks of instruction they are paid $100 a week.

Yes, there are many injustices in our social order, just as there always have been and always will be, but we in this country, unlike those of many other countries, have the right to do something about it. That is, we have that right in peace times, and even in war times, in so far as it does not interfere with the prosecution of the war.

But we had better be sure we do not let our own selfish desires make us forget the big job that has still got to be done.

Tax Talk

Time passes and the world moves, but Congress ties itself up in knots and talks and talks and talks about income taxes, apparently incapable of action. Is it mental confusion that delays this essential legislation, or timidity? To most people the matter seems clear enough.

An income tax law is needed that will produce the money to carry on the war, and taxpayers mostly know it and are ready to pay, and they want to pay from current income while they have the money, instead of "paying for dead horses" after they have spent it.

The nation's pockets are bulging with war earnings, and the only thing required to drain off the money into the national war chest, before it is spent, is action by Congress establishing the rate and method of payment.

Call it the Rumi plan or anything else—it makes little difference. This so-called "forgiveness" of last year's income tax liability by "skipping a year" could be argued about forever, like points of religious doctrine.

Essentially it is like setting the calendar forward, which hurts nobody when people have once accepted it. Taxes are paid as they accrue, just as salaries and wages are, and that is simpler and better than always dragging last year's tax liabilities into this year. It is net results, rather than precedents, that are important. The plan has small defects but large merits. And it is time for results.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

Don't be surprised if this column reaches you in longhand one of these days. George Burr, Secretary of the State Defense Council is going around with a gleam in his eye looking for typewriters which are soley needed by the Army and Navy, and he cast a loving and affectionate glance at mine the other day.

I imagine there are other folks besides the Military who would like to do me out of my typewriter, but they can have it, for the Declaration of Independence, Constitution and Bill of Rights were all written with pen and ink and while it might be a bit tough on the linotype operators, I can have my say in long hand if the time ever comes.

My first reaction to this typewriter drive wasn't very enthusiastic. I just couldn't quite figure how they expect to fight a war with typewriters but when I learned that the machines really were needed at the fighting front for use in bombers, Jeeps and on ships for quick and accurate transmittal of vital orders and messages, I changed my view.

Another thing that impressed me was that all State and Federal boards, bureaus and commissions are being called upon to surrender from 10 to 50 percent of their machines which ought to be good enough. Here in Tallahassee [illegible] surrender [illegible] typewriters [illegible] every [illegible] turning in [illegible] formation.

Last week I learned something I never knew before when attending a hearing of the Ringling investigating committee. Testimony of witnesses revealed the fact that the State of Florida owns around a third interest in Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus. While taxpayers from time to time might have felt that they were supporting a number of "white elephants", I doubt if many of them realized they were messed up with a sure 'nuff circus.

Florida's interest is in the form of stock left in a trust fund by the late John Ringling, and while no one seemed able to estimate its true value, it was generally represents a substantial sum, admitted that the circus interest This is in addition to the Ringling Estate and Art Museum willed to Florida by Mr. Ringling.

From testimony given the committee it appears that no effort is being made to keep up the property because of leaks in the roof of the Art Museum valuable and irreplaceable art objects are rapidly deteriorating. Water has entered some of the priceless paintings to mildew and fracture to wrap while the structure is [illegible] years have passed no settlement has been reached. In the meantime the weather, waterbugs, roaches, rats, and mice are making themselves happily at home among the art treasures and unless steps are taken to protect the property we may wake up some day and find that the lawyers on one hand and the bugs on the other have reduced the State's interest to a mere pittance and a mess of rubbish.

It is the aim of thehrdlhrdlrdl Lawyer Caldwell, who has been on the job for about a year, at a salary of $6,000 and expenses, told committee members that while he didn't have anything definite to offer at this time, he was "working" and he thought if all went well he would be able to bring about a settlement next year.

In the meantime, bugs and roaches, like citizens and taxpayers, paid no attention to the hearings, evidenced no interest in its findings, and "Time Marches On."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

HOUSTON, Tex.—Lieut. Crocker of Kelly Field, San Antonio, hopped off from Ellington Field here at 5:21 A. M. Central time for a proposed non-stop gulf to Canada flight. He expects to land at Selfridge Field near Detroit by 7:00 o'clock tonight.

The Valdez Hotel was the scene of the most joyous event in the history of the Junior and Senior classes of the Sanford High School—the Junior banquet to the Seniors last night.

Ralph Woodruff drew "Hay Fever", Prof. McKay was made to sing the school song and he asked the assistance of all present and sang "Old Sanford High".

Mrs. Joe Meisch and Mrs. Frank Meisch motored to Orlando where they spent the day combining business with pleasure.

Last evening Mrs. Stella Arrington, Mrs. W. M. McKinnon, Misses Helen Terwilliger, Carolyn Spencer, Mildred Huston, Mary Robinson and Mrs. Raymona Raynor were hostesses at a surprise shower at the home of Mrs. Arrington on Magnolia Avenue, honoring three of the June brides, Misses Coralie Tillie, Ethel Moughton and Harmina Johnson, all members of the Primary Teachers Club.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

BOSTON — James Roosevelt, son of the President, said last night J. P. Morgan, "his partners and probably many others like him in a lesser way, have in no way violated the letter of the law and have acted strictly within their legal rights."

Announcement was made today by Mr. and Mrs. Jno. D. Jiakins of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia Elizabeth, to Vernan Douglas Crawford of Sanford, son of J. D. Crawford and the late Mrs. Crawford of Lawrenceburg, Tenn.

Miss Harriet Brown, vice-president of the host society, presided over the regular meeting of the City Union of Sanford Young people held last night at 7:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church. The meeting opened with the devotional, led by Herman E. Morris and a brief song service. Joe Cowart then rendered a vocal solo, "The Trumpeter", honoring those who gave their lives in the World War for the preservation of the noble ideals of humanity.

WATERMELON SHIPPED

Groveland, May 26, (FNS) The first car of 1943 Lake county watermelons was shipped over the Seaboard Air Line Railroad to Chicago last week. It contained 864 melons and brought Clyde Revels, the grower, $1,000. This is the record price for Cannonball melon here, averaging $1.15 per melon.

The melon crop is reported to be short this year, due to several reasons, and is estimated at only about two-thirds of a normal crop in Lake County.

WASTE is the enemy of our war effort—right here on the home front. It's the tool of unwitting "Sab-oil-teurs". And a "Sab-oil-teur" is one who WASTES FUEL Oil, by the inefficient use of his electric appliances.

Electricity is produced efficiently without waste of fuel oil. Improper use of your appliances wastes fuel oil just as surely as if it were lost with a torpedoed tanker.

Our Coast Guard and Navy and Air Patrol guard against saboteur subs — you must be on guard against "sab-oil-teuring" in your home.

● Keep your refrigerator and oven doors closed as much as possible. ● Prepare complete oven or one-burner meals often. ● When you've turned off your range unit and removed the cooking utensil, use the residual heat to warm your dishwater. ● Keep all appliances in good repair. At the first sign of trouble, call your repair dealer.

Truthseekers Class Has Meet In Annex

Mrs. C.C. Priest opened the meeting of the First Methodist Church Truthseekers' Class Monday in the annex with a devotional program. The annex was attractively decorated with quantities of summer flowers.

Upon the resignation of Mrs. W.R. Endenfield, who is ill, Mrs. T.E. Wilson was named to serve out the term of treasurer of the class. Mrs. R.F. Crenshaw made her yearly secretary's report and reported on correspondence and Mrs. John Vaughen disclosed the number of cards sent to the sick members. All other standing committees made routine reports.

Mrs. Brody Williams explained the need for repairs on Church property.

Following the business meeting a social hour took place and refreshments consisted of citrus juice and wafers. Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Crenshaw and Miss June Widell were hostesses.

Present were: Mrs. Priest, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Vaughan, Mrs Williams, Mrs. Crenshaw, Mrs. Olive Wells, Mrs. C.J. Harrison, Mrs. S.R. Lord, Mrs. C.A. Ponder, Mrs. C.B. Goodhue, Mrs. Martha Moffitt, Mrs. Mabel Blount, Mrs. Emma Abrams, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. F.R. Mitchell, Mrs. W.K. Clark, Mrs. W.E. Smith and Miss Widell.

Officers Elected By Royal Ambassadors

Officers were elected at a supper-meeting of the Royal Ambassadors, auxiliary of the First Baptist Church's Woman's Missionary Union, in the annex recently.

J.R. Ashley, counselor, explained the duties of the officers and aims and achievements for the coming year were outlined to the following new officers: Leslie Harvey, ambassador in-chief; Joe Duggar, first assistant; Zeno McNab, second assistant; M.A. Cagle, chapter recorder; Charles Holtzclaw, chapter scribe; Raymond Linsey, chapter steward; Billy Hardy, chapter custodian; John Keeling, chapter herald.

Following an inspiring talk by the Rev. W.P. Brooks, Jr., it was announced that meetings will be held the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

The organization is fostered by the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church. Acting as hostesses for the supper were: Mrs. S.K. Keeling, Mrs. Lindsey, Mrs. W.A. Cagle, and Mrs. L.H. Harvey. Ten boys were present.

Party Given For Mary Jean King

Mary Jean King was honor guest at a party celebrating her third birthday Monday afternoon at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Maxwell.

Carrying out a pink and white color scheme, the favors were tiny pink baskets filled with candy and pink lemonade was served with the birthday cake.

Elizabeth Franklin Is Hostess To Class

Miss Elizabeth Franklin was hostesses to the Philathea Class of the First Baptist Church last evening at her home, 611 Myrtle Avenue.

Routine business was conducted and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. T. M. Faulk in serving the members: Mrs. J. M. Stinecipher, Mrs. Walter Fraley, Mrs. A. B. Holloway, Mrs. Clayton C. Bustin, Mrs. Neil Brigham, Miss Vera Phillips and Miss Ruth Cone.

The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in June at the home of Miss Vera Phillips.

Large Audience Sees Munson Piano Recital

An unusually large audience attended the annual Memorial Piano Recital to Mrs. Jeanne Stembridge Munson in the Seminole High School Auditorium Monday evening given by the pupils of Mrs. Fannie Ross Munson.

Several three piano ensemble numbers were played with excellent co-operation and understanding by the performers. Nine pianists played Haydn's difficult "Gypsy Rondo" with remarkable ease to open the program. Mohn "Polka Brilliant" and Keelling "Hungarian" were played also on three pianos by six and nine pupils, respectively.

The program this year was enhanced by the appearance of Miss Elizabeth Virginia Pippin, harpist, and Gladys Isle Pippin, accompanist students of Stetson University, DeLand.

The program moved smoothly as each student from the youngest to the oldest performed with perfect ease and poise and played difficult numbers in marked good style and ease in technique. The appreciation of the audience was attested by the hearty applause and assisted encores.

Miss Pippin's voice has a quality sweetness and informality. Miss Pippin sang as an encore "The Janitor's Boy" by Jacques Wolfe. Miss Gladys Pippin interpreted moods of the song numbers in perfect taste and voice support.

Palms and marble pedestals of stationary accentuated the classical simplicity of the stage decorations with two large bouquets of white gladiolus, one of which was placed beneath the large portrait of Mrs. Munson, which hung on the left of the stage.

Ushers for the evening were Mrs. John Kelley, Misses Lettie Caldwell, Catherine Clark, Norma Jean Sayer, Caroline Lee, Dolores Lee, Patsy Lyon and Owen Kelley.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 26. The eighty-third session of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States will open at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday night, May 27 in Montreat.

The body will be made up of 129 ministers and the same number of ruling elders as total commissioners to represent all of the 88 Presbyteries in the Assembly.

The meeting is expected to continue six days.

Hon. Charles G. Rose of Fayetteville, North Carolina will preside at the opening session as Moderator and his successor will be elected that night.

Summer Drinking Is Winter's Snow

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—City people who dislike shoveling the snow from their walks can sympathize with Forest Ranger Art Randall. He had to climb to the top of Mount Thorodin and shovel the snow from the top of the mountain into a huge tank.

That chore was necessary because the snow is the only drinking water source for the fire lookout stationed on the mountain this summer.

It's The Way They Throw 'Em That Makes Chunkers Famous

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor

ANGEL'S EAT SHACK

Henceforth will be closed all day on Mondays due to the shortage of help.

J. Price Angel

NEW YORK.—Carl Hubbell, the screwball pitcher, is the last lefty you'd call a screwball.

Tradition says baseball southpaws are screwballs and unpredictable. But old Long Pants, calm, dignified and regular, disproves the legend. Goofy Gomez once insisted Hub should be legislated out of the lefthanded union and be made to chunk with his right arm.

But Hub to diamond fans is synonymous with screwball—that's the pitch that made him famous. Down through the years other flingers have become identified with some particular pitch—Christy Mathewson and his fadeaway, Eddie Cicotte and his shiner, Carl Mays and his submarine delivery, Urban Faber and his spitball, Bucky Walters and his sinker, Dutch Leonard and his knuckle ball, Jim Tobin and his butterfly, which is a knuckler, too; Claude Passeau and his slider and Walter Johnson and his fast ball.

These are just a few that Paul Derringer, the big Chicago Cubs hurler, and I recalled in a gab fest the other day. There are others.

Perhaps there are some fans who don't know just what these various pitches are, so here's a little dope about them.

KNUCKLER—So-called because the pitcher grips the ball with the knuckles of his hand. The ball doesn't turn over as it approaches the plate and travels comparatively slow. That's where the expression came: "I could count the seams on the ball."

BUTTERFLY—A knuckler that seems to float and flutter. The pitcher throws it with his fingernails on the cover.

SINKER—A fast ball that breaks an inch or so to the right and down, the reverse english of a curve. Batters have a tendency to hit ground balls off it.

SCREWBALL—Something like the sinker, except that it breaks twice as much, is slower, and is thrown with a flip of the wrist.

FADAWAY—Same as Hubbell's screwball, except thrown by a righthander.

SLIDER—A shortened curve and a faster ball. It breaks only a bit and rather rolls away from the batter instead of making a big break. It's a deceptive pitch, spins like a curve, and batters think that's what they are getting.

SHINER—A spinning fast ball that rails away from the batter. It's illegal now. Pitchers would rub a shiny spot on the ball and this would make the ball break downwards, if the pitcher threw it with the shiny spot on top, and out, if the doctored area was held to the side.

SPITBALL—Also illegal now. When this pitch was permissible, chunkers chewed slippery elm, moistened their fingers and made a wet spot on the ball that made it dart down and out. The ball revolved slowly.

SUBMARINE — Mays, Elden Auker and others threw the ball underhanded and that brought the expression.

There are different kinds of curves, too. A sidearm curve breaks away from a batter, an overhand breaks down and a three-quarter delivery curve breaks down and out.

Various knucklers throw their specialty with different grips on the ball. Brooklyn's Fred Fitzsimmons has the backs of his index and middle fingernails and the heel of his thumb pressed against the cover. Tot Presnell used to dig the tips of his index, middle and ring fingers into the seams. Dutch Leonard uses only two finger tips. Presnell pitched sidearm only but he could make the ball break in any direction. Since the ball doesn't spin, the stitches "catch" on the air to cause a "flutter" just as the ball reaches the plate.

Umpires behind the plate find knuckle-ball pitchers the toughest to observe. "The ball zigzags when it nears the plate" one arbiter explained, "and it may break inside or outside. With a knuckler on the mound, an umpire has to be slow in calling a ball or strike until he is sure of what it is."

Auker was a bad one for the men in blue, too. He kept his submarine ball low and the low ones are more difficult to judge. Bob Feller kept them on their toes because his good curve was thrown with almost as much speed as his fast ball.

Gulf Coast Section Opened To Fishing

Another section of the Gulf coast of Florida was opened to commerical and sport fishermen Monday, when the Navy announced vessels will be permitted to operate at all times in a three mile wide strip bordering Wakulla and Franklin counties, except in certain "danger areas" which may be designted as such by any o fthe armed forces of the United States.

Previously, the western limit of a similar inshore strip starting at Horseshoe point, Dixie county was the St. Marks range, but the new order extends approved fishing grounds to the borer line between the Seventh and Eight naval districts—the Apalachicola river, or approximately the 85th meridian.

Explanation Given For Errors Made By By OWI Officials

By JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON. The Office of War Information has several times got its official tail caught in the Congressional wringer, and has been forced publicly to admit error and bias.

How an agency largely staffed by competent newspapermen can commit a series of glaring boners that would shame the average journalism student has puzzled observers in Washington. It's a long story.

Efforts have been made to put all the blame on New Deal idealists in OWI. Such an assumption is unfair. But ol' debbil "system" that works so ponderously in the government is the villain.

The OWI news bureau is roughly patterned after a newspaper editorial office. However, it is so hedged about with red tape that no editorial staff, however brilliant, could operate efficiently.

For instance, OWI has a copy desk like any newspaper. On a newspaper, a copy desk is charged with catching and killing bad grammar, errors of fact and personal opinions written into the story by the reporter.

The copy desk has complete authority. A reporter can cry his eyes out over the way the desk butchers his story, but unless he can prove the desk editor is cold turkey wrong, the revisions stick. In short, no copy is sacred and no writer is a sacred cow who can write no wrong.

It's different for the copy desk men at OWI. They're vulnerable little fat boys in a pasture full of touchy sacred cows, which are the other federal bureaus.

OWI is a clearing house for federal information from other bureaus, save only the armed forces. The other agencies are the "reporters" in this information set-up. They write the stuff, and forward it to OWI for final clearance. But the OWI can't even correct mistakes in grammar or obvious factual errors without permission of the originating agency.

They tell of a girl scribe for one bureau who squawked murder about the "violation" of her copy when an OWI blue pencil jockey suggested it was wrong to use a plural subject with a singular verb.

The stories submitted to OWI are prepared by paid press agents. They don't give the agency that pays their salaries any the worst of it. Some of them follow the prudent rule of buttering the boss with fulsome flattery. In normal newspaper practice, the copy desk would butcher out this personal goosegrease. Not so at OWI, where the hogtied copy desk can't change a letter without anguished moos from the sacred cows.

Under the OWI clearance system, it usually takes eight hours for a story to win approval from every agency even remotely affected. This is supposed to prevent conflict and ill-feeling between agencies. In one utterly trivial recent release, it was mentioned that the tennis racquet supply was adequate. Some mental giant along the clearance line wrote in "except strings." His correction necessitated a long check with a WPB materials branch, half a dozen other clearances, and the story was found originally correct.

It's a basic rule in normal newspapering that both sides of a story must be given in controversial issues. However, when Agency A is involved in a dispute, seldom does its press agent include pertinent data unless it reflects glory on his bureau.

The desk men at OWI can't reject his copy, and insist it tell both sides. (That's how the "Battle Stations for All" pamphlet emerged as a fine kettle of propaganda for tax policies favored by the Treasury.)

For the blurb geniuses giving their all for their bureau bosses, this set-up is like living on Paradise Avenue in Press Agent's wonderland. Nothing could be sweeter from a press agent's standpoint than a copy desk that's handcuffed and can't hack his copy without his permission.

There are indications that OWI is more than a little tired of being the whipping boy for other agencies' daydreams. There's word out that OWI chiefs are demanding and soon will get ample authority to do a job.

British Tugs Save Torpedoed Ships

LONDON, (AP)—Thousands of tons of war cargoes which German U-boat commanders have reported as at the bottom of the sea have been rescued by the ocean-going tugs of Britain's Boys' Navy.

The little ships sometimes go as far as 500 miles out to save many merchant ships which otherwise would have been unable to make port. Most recent of their exploits is the rescuing of a merchant ship, part of whose bo whad been sheared off by a torpedo.

Other Cities' Loss, Is Gain For Knoxville

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP)—The Civil War and a snowstorm were responsible for two businessmen settling in Knoxville.

Jesse E. Miller came from a small Illinois town 50 years ago to visit the old battlegrounds of the Civil War. He stopped by a milling firm, was offered a job and climbed to the general managership of the firm.

Florenz Rebort, who had just arrived in America from Italy, was caught in a snowstorm that delayed his train, enroute to Memphis, in Knoxville. He strolled down the main street, liked it, and hasn't moved to Memphis yet.

Doctor Suggests Cure For Meat Shortage

HOYS, Kas. (AP)—After Alf Landon had discussed the meat situation with Dr. C. D. Blake of Hays, and indicated some additional meat wouldn't be out of place in the Landon diet, Blake sent him a big female chinchilla rabbit, suggesting he try that for a meal.

Alf wrote back that the rabbit didn't relieve his hunger one bit since his children, Nancy and John, promptly appropriated it as a pet. So Dr. Blake sent Landon a big chinchilla buck and suggested that the Landons grow their own rabbits.

WINCHELL IN FLORIDA

Hollywood, May 26, (FNS)—Two famous radio commentators, Walter Winchell and Jimmy Fidler, have accepted invitations to appear on the program at which St. Anthony school will be presented with one of the two flags awarded in the entire country for service in selling war bonds and stamps during April. Winchell will come up from Miami Beach where he is taking a vacation, and Fidler will fly from Hollywood, Cal. for the occasion. The program will be broadcast over station WFTL.

BILTMORE TAKEN OVER

Palm Beach, May 26, (FNS) The Palm Beach Biltmore, formerly the Alba Hotel, has been taken over by the Federal Government for some 2,200 SPARS, the Woman's Auxiliary of the U. S. Coast Guard.

The hotel is said to be one of the costliest structures ever erected in Florida. The land on which it stands adjoins Bradley's Beach Club.

New BREAD RECIPES Low Cost Tested From the kind to the U. S. in 1943

Too few people appreciate the versatility of fish. Here a tasty stuffing "dresses up" a fish served whole, and as you will see, extends its use far beyond that of the fish alone.

BAKED STUFFED FISH

For fish weighing 3 to 5 pounds, clean and scale and remove tail and head. Rub with salt inside and out. Stuff and sew. Place fish on well greased dripping pan. Bake 10 to 15 minutes at 500 degrees then reduce heat as fish browns to 425 degrees and bake 30 to 45 minutes longer, depending on thickness of fish. Do not baste oily-meated fish. Baste dry fish every 10 minutes or cover with thin slices of salt pork.

BREAD STUFFING

5 cups bread cubes
1/3 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped onion
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon salt
1/4 cup shortening

Combine the crumbs, parsley, salt and pepper. Meanwhile melt the fat in a frying pan, add onion and celery and simmer gently until tender. Mix with seasoned bread cubes. (If dry bread is used, moisture should be added.)

New Agency Is Created To Aid On Home Front

Byrnes Is Appointed Head Of New Office Of War Mobilization By President

WASHINGTON, May 28, (AP) — President Roosevelt today created a new Office of War Mobilization to be directed by James F. Byrnes, who will exercise virtually complete powers over all home front war efforts.

The new office is to develop unified programs and establish policies for the maximum use of America's natural and industrial resources for military and civilian needs, effective use of manpower outside the armed forces, maintenance and stabilization of the civilian economy and adjusting the economy to wartime conditions.

Byrnes' job as Economic Stabilization Director will be taken over by Judge Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky, now a member of the District of Columbia U.S. Court of Appeals. The President said we are entering a new phase of the war effort calling for streamlining. Byrnes will also serve as chairman of the War Mobilization Committee.

The six-man War Mobilization Board, set up with vast powers, also includes Chairman Harry Hopkins of the Munitions Assignment Board and Donald Nelson of WPB, Chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee Vinson and Secretaries Stimson and Knox.

WASHINGTON, May 28, (AP)—Conclusion of the strategy conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill was viewed in some quarters as marking the beginning of the final phase of the war in which the United Nations are destined to undertake a full-scale offensive in both the European and Pacific theaters.

[illegible] meeting was announced by Roosevelt with a statement merely that "complete agreement" had been reached on future plans.

Informed persons here speculated thus on future developments: The war in Europe is expected to be won by next year at the latest, but in the Pacific the conflict may run until 1945 or 1946.

WASHINGTON, May 28, (AP) —OPA Chief Brown told a press conference which followed sharp words between two of his top aides yesterday that if his ranking advisers "can't get along, I'll pick the one I think is best and let the other one go."

He made the statement as an attitude of policy, not specifically naming the two officials who had just tangled in a you-get-out-or-I-will sort of row. They are Lou Maxon, deputy administrator in charge of information, and Dr. J. K. Galbreath, deputy administrator in charge of price control.

Maxon told reporters Brown would have to give him complete control over OPA policies and personnel or he would leave this afternoon. Galbreath told them that if Maxon got the job he would quit. Then Maxon said that if he did get the job he would give Galbreath 15 minutes to pack.

Maxon has been threatening to leave for some time unless given more authority over those he terms "the professors in OPA."

Brown told the press he wanted to say nothing for a few weeks about the controversy except that "I want to straighten out the absurd statements about a breakdown in OPA."

Another Picnic Slated At Evansdale Sunday

The USO outing for service men at Evansdale Park again proved so successful that another picnic is planned for this coming Sunday, William Weiskopf, director, stated today.

There will be plenty more hot dog sandwiches and coca colas provided and sailoresses and hostesses are requested to bring more salads, which seem to go well with the wieners. The bus for sailoresses will leave the USO building at 1:30 P.M.

P. S.—Any WAACS or WAVES in the vicinity are also invited.

New York Potato Famine Broken As 118 Cars Arrive

Grocery Concern Forecasts Ample Quantity Thruout June

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—War Food Administration today embarked on a search for idle farm machinery, announcing it would be requisitioned and sold to farmers who need it.

NEW YORK CITY, May 28, (AP) New York's two-month-old potato shortage was definitely broken early this week with the receipt of 4,248,000 pounds, it was announced by the Department of Agriculture, while the Atlantic Commission Company, produce buying affiliate of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, reported there should be a larger than normal supply through June.

At the same time other major food commodities were also in the spotlight as follows:

EGGS—An acute civilian shortage by late summer or early fall was held inevitable by New York market experts due to government prohibition against WAC shortage.

BUTTER—A rush to sell butter to the government before the June 1 subsidy program begins may re- (Continued on Page Four)

Sanford Boys Enter Armored Force Center

FORT KNOX, Ky., May 28, (Special)—Among the thousands of selectees now entering the armed forces, the following men, Pvt. Clyde Gilbert Lane, son of Mrs. Nellie Lane, P.O. Box 132, Chuluota, Fla. Pvt. Clyde C. Muse, son of Mr. Clyde C. Muse, P.O. Box 14, Lake Monroe, Sanford, Fla. Pvt. William K. Brown, 423 W. 18th St., Sanford, Fla. have entered the Armed Force Replacement Training Center for their basic training in the newest and hardest-hitting branch of the Army.

The men will be put on a twelve-week training program which has been systematically laid out into two six-week periods. The first six-week period will be devoted to the organization of the Army and Armored Force: insignia of rank; military courtesy and discipline; care of clothing and equipment; and many other fundamentals which will enable them to become good soldiers.

During this period the men will be classified according to their knowledge and ability, so that they can start their second six-week period in specialized training. These special courses include: light tank, medium tank, scouting and patrolling, mortar, anti-tank, machine gun, assult gun, and reconnaissance.

A graduate of Seminole High School in 1940, aviation cadet Carter also was graduated from North Georgia College, Dahlonega, Ga. in 1942.

John Ford Urges Organization Of Growers' Group

Appointment Of Vegetable Committee By Bureau Is Asked

Urgent need for a state wide vegetable growers committee to be created as an integral part of the Florida Farm Bureau, to cope with problems menacing the welfare of vegetable growers constituting a "$60,000,000 Florida industry," was stressed last evening by John Ford, executive secretary of the State Farm Bureau, at a meeting in the City Hall of the Seminole County Farm Bureau.

Introduced by President Leo Butner of the County Bureau, Mr. Ford stated that the Florida Farm Bureau had decided not to propose legislation to create a "Florida Vegetable Growers Commission" as embodied in a recently proposed bill, due to the fact that the majority of members did not want to encourage additional governmental boards bureaus or commissions.

In the place of this, Mr. Ford proposed creation of a vegetable committee within the framework (Continued on Page Three)

Jack Torrance Takes Officer Training

Staff. Sgt. John William Torrance, NCO phase supervisor in the armament school of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command at Lowry Field, Colorado, has been selected by the Aviation Cadet Examing Board for a Technical Officers Course in Advanced Arment at Boca Raton, which was due to start last Tuesday.

Japs On Attu Are Split Into Small Units

Stimson Reveals Casualties In Aleutian Islands Are Relatively Light

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP) Indications today were the Japanese force at Attu was rapidly being broken into small points of resistance as the Navy reported an attack on the third small main enemy position south of Lake Cortes.

After two days of violent, hand to hand fighting United States troops on Attu island have cracked the ridge defenses guarding the main Japanese position at Chichagof harbor.

A small area at the head of the harbor is one of two main positions still held by enemy forces on the westernmost Aleutian island. When it falls the Japanese will hold only a ridge line about three miles to the south between Lake Cortes and Lake Nicholas. The ridge line already is under American pressure.

An American foothold on the high ground dominating the Chichagof position of the Japanese was won Wednesday. A United States warship had turned its heavy guns on enemy shore installations the day before and started numerous fires.

Prior to issuance of the navy communique, Secretary of War Stimson discussed the Attu situation at a press conference and reported that American casualties had been "relatively light"—127 killed, 399 wounded, and 118 missing.

"We have reason to believe that Japanese losses have been much heavier," Stimson added.

Amplifying this, informed authorities said it would not be surprising if the Japanese losses a- (Continued on Page Three)

Florida Seedmen Will Hold Meeting Here On July 7

Between 90 and 100 members of the Florida Seedmen's Association are expected to attend their annual meeting here July 7 and 8, at which time officers will be elected, J. J. Rice of the Burpee Seed Company and executive vice president of the Association, stated today.

Discussion of the outlook for seed growing stations, especially as related to war time agricultural problems will be among the topics brought up, he said.

Among the officers of the Association attending will be H. R. Bingham, president, a resident of Jacksonville; R. H. Simpson of Monticello, second vice president of the seedsmen, and speaker of the House of the State Legislature, who is one of the largest seed growers of crotalaria and water melon seed in the State; and E. A. Martin, secretary and treasurer, from Jacksonville.

The season will be streamlined and limited to business, Mr. Rice stated. Names of guest speakers will be announced later, he said. The Valdes Hotel will be headquarters for the convention, which seedsmen from all over the State are expected to attend. The meeting last year was held at Orlando.

Sgt. Orman Ward Writes Of Events In War Theater Of South Pacific

From some wild and lonely isle in the southwest Pacific, has come another letter to The Herald from T-Sgt. Orman E. Ward, formerly of Sanford, telling of life in these far off regions. Last Fall Orman wrote an interesting letter of his trip across the Pacific to New Zealand, and now continues an account of his adventures, as follows: "I can now tell you a few of the other places I have been since we left New Zealand a year ago. Here they are:

"I have been to Suva, Fiji and Latopia and Sinotopia and Nondia and Lavopia and Ladonia, the New Heberides and Australia, all nice places, also a few more I can't tell you about yet.

"I can't tell you where I am at now, but can tell you that when it is 2:00 P. M. here, it is 3:00 A. M. yesterday there. Also we are south of the Equator and west of the International Dateline.

"There is not one house on this island—not one woman, no whiskey, beer or wine—nothing but swamps, jungles and a few natives.

"We don't even get paid off here for we could not spend it anyway. I've got a few dollars in my pocketbook that are almost worn out from carrying around so long. Guess we will get a good sized check when we do get paid off again. I surely have been to lots of different places and seen lots I would love to tell you about but can't.

"I also went to school back in Fiji for two months fixing teletype machines and all makes of typewriters, and also telephones and switchboards, so you can see that I have been busy since I have been overseas. They have sent us from one outfit to another so that there are but 14 of us left after we lost our old outfit and our Lieutenant, so they take one by one and put us with different outfits on different islands to take care of their radios and other stuff.

"I also have worked on lots of Jap's radios and transmitters, and their telephones. Also they had a few German radios and telephones also. I hope to write you again soon and have something else to tell you then.

"Oh yes, I just thought of a clipping we found in a paper where some women in Orlando, Fla., wanted to know thow they thought the women were going to keep their Pants up with no more rubber.

"Ha,Ha,—some of my Pals said she should be here—she would not have to worry about keeping them up—it's too hot to wear any here. I don't think the New Zealand and Fiji and Australia women let things like that worry them; it's too hot, here, I guess.

"A white woman would sure scare us all to death if we saw one! but as the old saying goes: "Death where is thy sting."

Closing Exercises Are Held In Three Seminole Schools

Rev. Pulley Offers Lyman Students Three A's Of Life

Commencement exercises were conducted at the Lake Mary School Wednesday evening, at Lyman High School last evening and are scheduled to be held at the Oviedo High School this evening at 8:00 o'clock.

Addressing the Lyman graduates Rev. Frank Pulley chose as his subject "the three A's—adaptability and authority." To achieve all of these in the game of life, he said, "Be authentic, meant being able to choose the right authority to obey and follow and by adaptability meant being able to adapt oneself to the times, as men and women are living in wartime.

Rev. Joe Tolle, speaker for the Lake Mary students of the topic "Traveling On" used illustrations tangible examples of "why we should take the right road of life."

The Lyman program included selections by the orchestra under the direction of I. M. Dollison, invocation and benediction by Rev. Hurt, Fuller, salutatory address by William Hartley and valedictory address by Dorothy Holland, a special message by Supt. I. W. Lawton and the presentation of diplomas by Principal C. W. Udell.
