Sanford Will Give Up Membership In State Ball League

The Sanford team would be the final game, and added that he had been informed that the team was ready to take over the Sanford franchise as soon as it had been relinquished.

Sanford is in the position of a man who is just waiting for someone to come along and push him to the wall," Mr. Watson said.

He added nothing constructive had come out of the conference yesterday with State League Secretary Peter Schel of Orlando and that he had been unable to convince Henry Gray, president of the league. Gray was reported to be on the Gulf of Mexico on a fishing trip.

Watson did not release figures as to what drove his club into "red," but he declared that you would print would be "red."

Sanford team at present time is in the State League cellar, having games behind seventh place and with 14 games won and 14 lost.

The team started the season in the hands of Guy Lacy, veteran pitcher. Lacy was released and Bill "Ray" West" Redwood, former manager of the club since 1927, was recalled to lead the team back into the red in the present fight.

Czech, Mexico Threats Of War Have Subsided

Bombers roared over the heart of Canton for the third time in three days, dumping tons of explosives on the burning city and bringing the toll of the week-end raids to an estimated 1500 dead and 5000 wounded.

Terrified Chinese were fleeing from the burning city, crowding the waterfront across from Shamsen island, where foreigners live, and bringing acute danger of an exodus of refugees to the international zone.

British sailors stood guard on the island, while foreigners ducked into air raid shelters to escape fragments of shrapnel from anti-aircraft guns which sprayed the foreign quarters.

The destruction in the thickly populated waterfront areas, only a short distance from Shamsen, was appalling. Scores were trapped in burning buildings or crushed under tons of debris.

Twenty planes soared over the city, concentrating their attack on government buildings and the Wongsan railroad station areas, where the Kowloon railroad to the coast intersects with the Canton-Hankow railway leading to the north. Approximately 50 bombs were dropped.

Military aviation experts said the changed tactics of the fliers indicated the planes may have been piloted by foreigners, probably Italians.

Chinese reported one of the Japanese planes was shot down in flames by anti-aircraft guns, and another report said a Japanese plane, apparently disabled, had been forced to land.

The concentrated fury of the bombings, centered in the most congested districts, led observers to believe Japanese were launching a long-expected aerial drive designed to destroy the chief port of entry for war equipment on the China coast, and to shatter the morale of the south China populace.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

LIVES IN HARMONY WITH DIVINE LOVE WILL COMMIT NO SIN: Against thee, O Lord, have I sinned. Psalms 51:4.

One wonders whether Hitler has really subdued, or whether he is just resting.

We see where they are having a terrible drought in Europe. About the only thing that grows over there is bombs.

On June 3 the Duke and Duchess of Windsor celebrate their first wedding anniversary. And they are still married.

John Temple Graves writes optimistically on the theory that cotton is king. And as everyone knows, modern kings are unemployed bankrupt.

Washington Merry Go-Round says there is no doubt that the Townsend Clubs played a tremendous part in the renomination of Senator Claude Pepper.

Mystery planes flying over Japanese islands without dropping bombs may be Russian. It would be no feat at all for Russian planes at Vladivostok to blow Tokio off the map.

Hitler and Mussolini have had a big time during the world, but we are inclined to believe they are mostly paper profits, says the Sanford Herald. We think they are false prophets. Miami Post.

Gov. Cone issues orders against the operation of marble machines. They are as much against the law as slot machines, he says. "It is very important that enforcement officers do their duty and break up this slot machine subterfuge."

Did you know that the basis for a $100,000,000,000 credit expansion has been laid by recent government moves? All that is necessary for the greatest wave of prosperity this country has ever seen is for this vaccination to take. The basis for credit expansion is confidence, confidence on the part of the people who borrow and lend money.

Czechoslovakia has answered Germany's threat of invasion with a mailed fist. Not only have she been called out, but every man and boy between the ages of 6 and 60 have now been summoned for military duty. Even women are being organized and trained in air defense work. If Germany doesn't mind her p's and q's, she's liable to find her neck invaded by the Czechs.

Senator Thomas of the Senate Labor Committee says he favors the wage hour bill but with "necessary exceptions" for businesses which cannot afford to increase their payrolls. But with such a provision would the senators from the northern industrial areas support the bill? If it is not going to put out of business southern industries which compete with northern manufacturers, how will it benefit northern senators to vote for it?

As if to show the present status of our much vaunted civilization, a "rationlike derby" is being arranged in Little Rock, Ark. to aid in Fourth of July activities. More than 500 rationlike tickets will compete for a $250 prize when thrown into the air from a huge ring, and winners will be the only ones to receive occasional checks of $250.

Thousands of spectators are expected to see the show, which is being put on by the Little Rock Ration Derby Association.

The Democratic Split

The extent to which the New Deal high command is going to punish Democrats who voted against the President's Supreme Court bill is perhaps better illustrated in the Iowa Democratic primary than it was in Florida. After all, Mark Wilcox voted against the Administration not only on the court plan, but also on the wage and hour bill, and the government re-organization bill.

In Iowa Senator Gillette has been a consistent New Deal supporter from beginning to end with the exception of the court bill. So confident was he of re-election over his opponent Representative Wearin, that he had not even taken the trouble to go home and campaign until a few days ago. Then he left his duties in Congress only when Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins came and openly for Wearin.

Mr. Hopkins is not a voter in Iowa, any more than Jimmy Roosevelt was a voter in Florida. But Mr. Hopkins is a native son, well and favorably known there and contemplated to carry considerable weight with the voters. What is even more important is that thousands of unemployed workers would be out in the cold, without anything to eat, were it not for the millions of dollars which Mr. Hopkins has to distribute as he pleases on public works.

Now all Mr. Hopkins said was that if he were a voter in Iowa he would vote for Mr. Wearin on his record. He would probably insist that in such a campaign statement would be knowing the WPA in a politics, and the President will continue to say that he will take no part in local Democratic campaigns. But when a WPA worker in Iowa hears his big boss in Washington name his preference, he is pretty apt to recognize which side his bread is buttered on. You don't have to administer castor oil to a WPA worker to get him to vote right.

Just what the effect of this interference in local Democratic campaigns will be remains to be seen. Undoubtedly Senator Gillette has many friends in Iowa who will stick to him regardless of what Mr. Hopkins says. While Mr. Wearin with the Administration support may win the primary, it is not at all inconceivable that he will not be accepted in the general election by Senator Gillette's friends, and that the Republican candidate, strengthened by disaffected Democrats, may be chosen for the Senate.

In this connection the fact should not be overlooked that the great majority of Iowa voters are Republicans anyway. Even though the state has gone Democratic in the last two elections, it could not have done so without the support of Republican voters who bolted their ticket. It is not regarded as an unpardonable display of treason in Iowa to vote for a Republican, and just some such little irregularity as policies in the WPA may suffice to return many present Democrats to their former Republican allegiance.

Nor should the fact be overlooked that what is happening in Iowa is also happening in other states. In Pennsylvania it was genial Jim Farley who told Democrats how to vote and was rebuked at the polls. The better pulling power of government money was illustrated in Oregon when Secretary Ickes who has charge of the PWA supported and succeeded in electing his man by a narrow margin. In practically every other state in the union just such tactics are being employed.

No less an authority than Sena or Wheeler, Montana Democrat, says that the result of all this will be the election of Republicans not only this year, but also in 1940. The Senator may be unduly pessimistic, but it seems entirely probable that the number of Republicans in the House and Senate will be increased and that if the split in the Democratic party continues to widen a Republican president in 1940 is not inconceivable.

To many an impartial observer it would seem that someone high up in the Democratic party is making a tactical blunder.

THERE IS A very old custom with respect to knocking at the doors of houses in London which has been strictly adhered to, in some places, for more than 100 years. By the manner of knocking the visitor informs the household of his station. A servant belonging to the house rings the bell only; a strange servant knocks once; a messenger knocks once and rings twice; the postman always knocks twice; a gentleman or a lady gives half a dozen quick knocks; a nobleman generally eight or ten very loud knocks.—Henry Ashberry in Maclean's.

A GENTLEMAN who prefers to remain anonymous has a unique system for curing that periodic wanderlust that grips us all. He figures out where he'd go, and then, instead of going, subscribes to the leading newspaper of his proposed abode. "After reading it every day for a month, I'm usually cured," he explains. "I always find that things are a lot worse somewhere else than they seem to be here."—A. B. Cahlan in Boulder City (New) Journal.

YESTERDAYS, TODAYS, TOMORROW

"I am not afraid of tomorrow, the success may crumble into for I have seen yesterday and I wreck, the wreck may rise into love today," said William Allen success.

We dwell today in the house we built yesterday; tomorrow we may lose it, it may crash or burn; or we may build a new and better one.

It depends upon our stature of today whether we can stand today the mistakes of yesterday and see the beauties and glories of tomorrow.

From the thrift of yesterday we should reap the joys of today and the comforts of tomorrow.

It is not enough, Mr. White, that we love today; we should live it and use it, profiting by the yesterdays we have seen, preparing for a fearless tomorrow.

What Reader, did you do with your yesterday? What are you doing with your today? What will you do with your tomorrow?

CASTLE IN THE AIR... Strange as it seems, no part of the Waldorf-Astoria, world's largest hotel, touches the sidewalks of New York which "surround" it!

In order to diminish traffic vibration, engineers who designed the structure laid plans to place on huge "stilts" sunk deep into the earth. These strong girders, cushioned on lead and asbestos, support the Waldorf-Astoria about two inches above the sidewalk.

Due to the fact that the New York Central Railroad tracks run under Park Avenue, a hotel official says, "the traffic of trains below, if the building touched the sidewalk, would create a vibration."

Consequently, the foundations of the Waldorf-Astoria are sunk way below the road bed, and rest on lead and asbestos cushions. This is to kill any possible vibrations.

The steel columns supporting the building stand in the fashion of stilts, and clear the sidewalk for about a couple of inches. It is an amazing fact that the expansion of the steel caused by heat or cold will vary one or two inches throughout the year.

BEGINNING OF TIME... Complicated but amazingly accurate was the calendar system of the Ancient Maya. Strange as it seems, they used no less than five separate systems of counting:

- 1. A year of 365 days, made up of 18 months of 20 days each, plus five extra days, the latter being considered very unlucky.
- 2. A year of 360 days.
- 3. A period of 290 days.
- 4. A lunar semester.
- 5. Periods of nine days each.

There was also a Venus calendar and other variations, according to Macneil Rios, Maya authority of Tulane University.

For years a mystery to scientists was the question: From what date did the Maya measure time? The answer to this—5,011,738 B. C.—was found by Dr. Hermann Beyer, an associate of Rios, who discovered a key hieroglyph which had been used as a headstone on the grave of an American archeologist, John G. Owens, who in 1893 died of fever while studying the Maya ruins of Copan!

New Cage Being Constructed For Leopards At Zoo

Construction was begun this morning on a new and larger leopard cage at the Municipal Zoo, superintendent of Parks James Moughton said.

Mr. Moughton stated the old quarters for the zoo's two leopards were too cramped and confining for the animals which, he pointed out, are the most active of all the great carnivorous animals.

The cage will be 20 feet long and part of it will be 18 feet high. Inside the highest part, an oak will be placed. The upper limbs will be lopped off so it will fit in the cage thus giving the leopards a home as nearly like their native habitat as limited funds and labor can provide. The bottom of the cage will

Florida's Crop Of Peaches Estimated At 51,000 Bushels

TALLAHASSEE, June 1.—(AP)—Florida the land of citrus fruit and vegetables, also produces peaches.

It isn't such a big production when compared to Georgia's 3,120,000 bushels, North Carolina's 2,213,000 bushels, and Arkansas' 2,297,000 bushels.

When the federal crop reporting board announced the production of 51,000 bushels for this year, it listed Florida's output at 51,000 bushels.

The state Department of Agriculture here confirmed the information that Florida does have some peach orchards. They are not large, and the production does not go into the big commercial marketing centers. Instead, the Florida peaches are sold and consumed locally.

Alachua county produces peaches and there are scattered orchards in some other central areas. Most of the orchards are situated in the northern tier of counties close to the Georgia and Alabama state lines.

The agriculture department said weather and soil conditions have been favorable this year, and the estimated production is 10,000 bushels higher than that of last year.

Mihalic And Langston Lead Sanford's Attack With Two Hits Each While Parrett Leads Deland Outfit

By JULIAN STENSTROM
Herald Sports Editor

The Lookouts captured a 4 to 1 decision over the Deland Reds last night at the Municipal Athletic Field before a small gathering of Sanford and Deland fans. Big Chief Cook, righthander, set the visitors down early behind excellent fielding by his mates.

Cook went the entire distance on the hill for the Lookouts and held the Reds to eight scattered hits while Harry Rice, Red manager who went the route for the visitors, was nicked for seven hits by the local aggregation.

Cook fanned five of the Reds while he allowed six of the visitors free passes to the initial sack. Rice walked two of the Lookouts while sending three down via the strikeout route.

Leading the hitting for the contest were Mayo Langston, Pete Mihalic and Jolly Parrett. Mihalic and Langston collected two hits in four tries while Parrett singled twice in three of five at bats. Both of Mihalic's blows were doubles.

The scoring began in the second inning when the Lookouts pushed over their first run. With two out, Joe Buggerio singled to center field. He stole second and scored when Louis Musso singled to deep right field.

The Reds knotted the score in the fifth inning when Rice trip

Champ Remains For 15 Rounds Against Negro Challenger

By JACK CUDDY
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, June 1.—Featherweight Champion Henry Armstrong, devastating dandy and dynamo, last night added the welter crown to his trophies by halting Barney Ross into a bloody, helpless hulk and into retirement.

The unanimous 15-round decision made the bulldozed Los Angeles negro the first man in history ever to wear the two crowns simultaneously.

Ross, black haired, glitter-eyed Chicago scrapper, lost like a true champion. He weathered one of the most merciless beatings ever given anyone in the ring and was virtually helpless during the last half of the bout.

Henry Watson, president of the Sanford Baseball Association, today surrendered the franchise to the Lookouts in the Florida State League but the baseball club will continue to operate.

At Gainesville, Gray announced reception of the telegram and replied "I have accepted the franchise and will continue to operate the club at the present time as a League Club". Gray, however, declined further comment. He is empowered to operate the club for a week.

From Rex Packard, local baseball enthusiast and director in the Florida State League, came the announcement that "the franchise will positively stay in Sanford."

Spending-Lending Measure Causes Split In Senate

Roosevelt Requests Solons To Approve Bill Minus Strings

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—The Senate split into diametrically opposed factions yesterday after President Roosevelt urgently requested legislators to pass the $1,217,000,000 spending-lending bill without attaching strings which would prevent "the selection of those projects which can be got under way most speedily."

Administration supporters said that the President's letter, in which he asserted the "unemployment situation has grown worse" and that a quick attack on it was imperative, was an argument against current inactivity on Capitol Hill to earmark huge slices of the funds for specific projects. They said the Administration wanted a free hand to select projects.

On the other hand, Senate conservatives quickly announced that they interpreted the letter as an endorsement of earmarking. They said they had a list of flood control, rivers and harbors and army housing projects which could be started quickly.

Behind this conflict was a struggle with major political aspects. During Senate debate the last few days, critics of the Administration charged political use of relief funds. The accusation was heard that money in the spending-lending bill would be used to beat fees of the Administration. Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, said relief money apparently was to be employed to defeat senators "because some one doesn't like the color of their hair."

Proponents of earmarking said these charges showed that Congress should keep strict control over appropriations. In addition, they expressed belief that their earmarking movement would succeed because it would allot money to projects in the home districts of many members of Congress.

Administration men, denying political motives, argued that to tie the hands of the President would be to prevent the mobilization of relief dollars quickly in the areas where they were most needed because of acute unemployment.

Meanwhile the welfare board bought in a truckload of surplus commodities for distribution and the WPA increased its rolls by 75 in an effort to relieve what officials described as a "very serious economic situation" resulting from the fishermen's suspension of operations in a dispute over low prices, and the reduction of fishermen's income because of poor catches.

Britain Will Offer Peace Proposal To Factions In Spain

English Believe Both Sides Will Welcome Settlement After 22 Months Of Fighting

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—Japan agreed today to meet almost all the demands for restitution of American property in China and for the right of unhindered return of Americans to their posts there. The action came as a result of a note of protest yesterday.

The State Department said Japan informed the United States it was dispatching an investigating commission to China to investigate the situation.

London's old role of wavering the olive branch in Europe's paganet of discord was reported expanding on the orders of Prime Minister Chamberlain today as the war in Spain appeared headed toward neither deadlock.

Increased government resistance, especially in the air, seemed to be stalling Gen.issimo Franco's drive against the Teruel-Velencia highway with forces on both sides fighting within 100 miles of the coast.

The new stalemate would be directly on Prime Minister Chamberlain's proposal to negotiate peace arrangements between the Spanish factions. There was a strong British belief that both sides were sick of the 22 months' old conflict and would welcome a peace pact.

With the Spanish war settled, Chamberlain then would be able to fulfill his rapprochement pact with Franco's Mussolini of Italy.

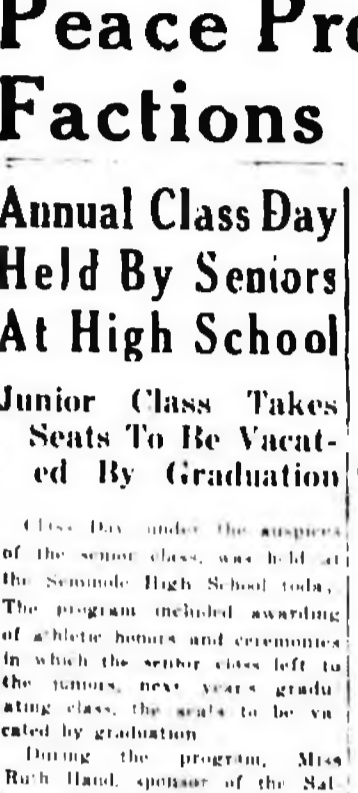

The British cabinet also was understood to have approved Chamberlain's plan for greater pressure for settlement of difficulties between Czechoslovakia and her German minority to ease the tension between Berlin and Praha.

With that problem answered he might be able to draw Adolf Hitler into a new four-power security pact embracing Italy, Germany, France and Britain.

New German Czech friction developed yesterday with the five-hour detention of a friend of Hitler, Miss Unity Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale of England, by a Czechoslovakia road patrol.
