

SEMINOLE COUNTY CALLED TO DO HER FULL DUTY IN BUYING LIBERTY BONDS

Campaign This Week Will Sell Seminole's Share

The campaign for the sale of the second series of Liberty Bonds is on in earnest in Seminole and under the able leadership of Hon. Forrest Lake who has been appointed chairman for the county the campaign will be waged from every part of the county in a most systematic manner.

Mr. Lake of the Seminole Bank, F. P. Forster of the First National and O. L. Taylor of the Peoples Bank will make ten minute talks at the theatres this week and other officers of the various banks will assist in various ways. All the organizations of the city will enroll in this great work and it is this week that will tell the tale.

Uncle Sam is depending upon the Liberty Loans for the success of the great struggle and not only does the Liberty Loan furnish the sinews of war but it furnishes the spirit that assists materially in putting the pep in our men and our allies and discourages the enemy in many ways. Both sides are watching the Liberty Loan for signs of America's strength and while there is no weakening on our part the best indication of our whole hearted interest in the war is the manner in which we take the Liberty Loans.

Every one in this county should make strenuous efforts to take part in this loan not only for patriotic purposes but for your own individual investment. Uncle Sam does not entail any hardship upon you in asking you to take a Liberty Bond. They are the best investment in the world and the bonds will be sold on easy terms that will place them within the reach of every man in the county. America is expected to shoulder the largest part in the war and the largest part of our responsibility will be in financing the allies as well as our own forces and only by the Liberty Loan can this country do this. It is our duty to come in on this second loan and help to make the democracy safe not only for the people of this age but for those who are to follow and the ones who cannot go to the front will in after years exhibit with the same degree of pride as would the soldier exhibit his medals, the Liberty Bonds that made it possible for the United States to take such a large part in winning this war.

There are hundreds of reasons why we should buy all the Liberty Bonds that we can buy. There is not one reason why we should not buy them.

See that Seminole county does her part.

Chicago Wins New York, Oct. 15.—At an early hour this morning ideal weather was promised for the 6th world series game which is thought will be more largely attended than any of the other games. The line at the gate began forming at midnight and at 9 o'clock this morning it became so long that traffic was obstructed causing the managers to open the gates ahead of time.

The game opened with New York in the field, Benton in the box and Rariden behind the bat. Chicago failed to score in the first half. Chicago put in as her battery Faber and Schalk. New York also failed to score in the last half of the first. The first runs were made in the first half of the fourth when Chicago made 3. The score remained the same until the last half of the fifth when New York made 2.

In the first half of the sixth Peritt took Benton's place in the box. Chicago succeeded in shutting New York out for the remainder of the game and in the first half of the ninth made another run, the totals Chicago 4 runs, 7 hits and 1 error; New York 2 runs, 6 hits and 3 errors.

The Organ Dedication The new pipe organ recently installed by the Picher Co. of Louisville, Ky., for Holy Cross Church was blessed at the 11 o'clock service last Sunday morning before a congregation of people that utterly taxed the seating and standing capacity of the church building. For the services of the day Mrs. Fannie S. Munson, the church organist, presided at the organ, giving in detail the elaborate musical program as outlined in the last issue of The Herald. Mrs. Lucille Aspinwall Takach was the soloist in the offertory anthem. A large choir was present which rendered the "Steiner" communion service. The Reverend Rector was the preacher. The choir having been reorganized was vested in the usual manner of city parishes. It is now a mixed choir of men, ladies and boys, the crucifer being Hawkins Connelly. This feature reminded the longer residents of Sanford to now some years ago when General Sanford and his family were residents and attended Holy Cross Church then there was a vested choir, even at that time. The solemn Te Deum was sung as a special act of thanks giving at the end of the morning service.

At the night service of evening prayer the parish choir was augmented by many members of the vested choir from St. Barnabas' Church, DeLand. Rev. Fr. Alleyne made the address at night, bringing the congratulations from his parish in DeLand. The Very Rev. James G. Glass, Dean of St. Luke's Cathedral, Orlando, was to have been the preacher but was summoned at the last moment to attend with the Bishop an ordination at St. Andrew's Church at Tampa.

The large congregations at morning and at night of the parishioners and friends of Holy Cross all speak the highest praise for the power and the sweetness of the new pipe organ. The people of Holy Cross are certainly to be congratulated in this very great asset to their church and it is thereby a great and an additional attraction to our city.

South Florida Press Meets Saturday a gathering of the editors of newspapers in south Florida was held at Plant City. It was in many respects a notable meeting, and those who attended received both pleasure and profit from the discussions and the fraternal association.

Wayne Thomas, president of the association made an ideal host, and entertained the visitors with a sumptuous dinner at the Robelawn Hotel. Fine addresses were made by Gilbert D. Leach of the Leachburg Commercial executive agent of the Florida Publishers' Auxiliary; E. R. Jones of the Arcadia News; Walter M. Haynes of the Sanford Herald and A. L. Cleveland of the Fort Meade Leader. The program was lightened up by an amusing monologue by our own inimitable "Deep Sea" Green.

The association elected Editor G. Gallemore of Bartow as president; E. R. Jones, Arcadia, vice president; W. M. Haynes of Sanford, secretary; and Mrs. C. V. S. Wilson of Sarasota, as treasurer. Sebring was selected as the next place of meeting. Editor P. A. Ruhl presenting the claims of that little city in such an irresistible way that the editors were unable to resist his allurement.—Lakeland Telegram.

After Petrograd The Germans' most striking military move since the attack which resulted in the fall of Riga was started Friday on the same Russian front when German troops landed at Oesel and Dago Island at the mouth of the Gulf of Riga. Heavy units of the main German battle fleet covered the movement with their guns, silencing the Russian land batteries which tried in every possible way to hammer the landing parties.

Grain Is Burned New York, Oct. 15.—Grain intended for export and valued at more than a million dollars is apparently a total loss after flames have been raging many hours among the elevators of the New York Dock Co., in Brooklyn. The fire is not yet under control and is one of the worst in the history of the New York water front.

LECTURE ON TRACHOMA LAST NIGHT

Dr. McMullin Now Has Cases Well In Hand

Dr. W. H. Cox, state health officer together with Dr. John McMullen, U. S. Health Dept., are in Sanford handling in a very efficient way the trachoma cases found to exist in Seminole county. These experts are being ably assisted by our local physicians. All city and county cases were yesterday congregated in Sanford and prompt disposition either by treatment or operation was made of them. Certainly with the efficient and direct supervision being lent by the state health officer results to be accomplished will mean the stamping out of this trouble with in a short time. Dr. Cox and Dr. McMullen are especially pleased at the cooperation given them here and insist that if the same cooperation is extended them in other sections, the troublesome trachoma will soon cease to exist.

It is pleasing indeed to the parents of this county to see the individual interest being manifested in their children by Dr. Cox and his efforts in securing the valuable aid of Dr. McMullen are decidedly appreciated. Certainly the methods adopted and the active and direct work being carried on will secure results that must mean much in the health branch of the entire state.

Last night a very interesting stereopticon lecture was enjoyed at the High School auditorium under the supervision of Dr. McMullen. The lecture covered a broad, interesting scope and tends to act as a preventive for future trouble through the channels of first hand knowledge and results. Without doubt, but state health department is an efficient organization and by lending their deserved assistance, Florida will realize a health asset never before experienced.

St. Johns County Votes Dry St. Augustine, Fla., Oct. 15.—In the wet and dry election held in this county today the dry forces won by a margin of fifty or more votes.

Milk Grasters Chicago, Oct. 13.—Evidence to prove the existence of a nation-wide plot by milk producers to raise the price of that commodity has been presented to federal authorities by the attorney general of Illinois. Ramifications of the alleged conspiracy included a plan of raising a fund of five thousand dollars to place a man friendly to the Dairymen's International League of the Hoover commission formed to fix a just price for milk.

PRESIDENT MADE APPEAL LIBERTY DAY

Special Holiday For Patriotic Gatherings Everywhere

Washington, Oct. 14.—President Wilson, in behalf of the Liberty Loan, tonight issued a proclamation setting aside October 24 as "Liberty Day" and urging the people of the nation to assemble on that day in their respective communities and "pledge to one another and to the government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support."

"Let the result be so impressive and emphatic," the President urges, "that it will echo throughout the empire of our enemy as an index of what America intends to do to bring this war to a victorious conclusion."

The President's proclamation follows: "By the President of the United States of America."

"A proclamation. The second Liberty Loan gives the people of the United States another opportunity to lend their funds to their government to sustain their country at war. The might of the United States is being mobilized and organized to strike a mortal blow at autocracy in defense of outraged American rights and of the cause of liberty. Billions of dollars are required to arm, feed and clothe the brave men who are going forth to fight our country's battles and to assist the nations with whom we are making common cause against a common foe.

"To subscribe to the liberty loan is to perform a service of patriotism. Now, therefore, I, President Wilson, President of the United States of America do appoint Wednesday, the twenty-fourth of October as Liberty Day, and urge and advise the people to assemble in their respective communities and pledge to one another and to the government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support. On the afternoon of that day I request that patriotic meetings be held in every city town and hamlet throughout the land, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury and the immediate direction of the Liberty Loan Committees, which have been organized by the Federal Reserve Board. The people responded nobly to the call of the first Liberty Loan with an over subscription of more than 50 per cent. Let the response to the second loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequalled support to hearten the men who are to face the fire of battle for us. Let the result be so impressive and emphatic that it will echo throughout the empire of our enemy as an index of what Americans intend to do to bring this war to a victorious conclusion. "For the purpose of participating in Liberty Day celebrations all employees of the Federal Government throughout the country whose services can be spared, may be excused at 12 o'clock Wednesday the twenty fourth of October. "In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. "Done in the District of Columbia, this twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and seventeen, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and forty-second. (Signed) "Woodrow Wilson," "By the President: "Robert Lansing, Secretary of State."

COMMISSION MANAGER FORM OF GOVERNMENT MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT

Committee Will Make Interesting Report at Grammar School

The committee appointed by Chairman Neal at the mass meeting at the Grammar School last Wednesday night will make their report tomorrow night at seven o'clock at the Grammar School.

This committee was ordered to investigate thoroughly the present system of city government and the commission form, the city manager form and the commission manager form and report at the meeting tomorrow night.

The committee has worked faithfully upon this report and has the facts to present at the meeting that will settle this question and the call will be made for an election to decide whether the citizens of Sanford want a change in their city government.

The question has been widely discussed not only by the committee but by the citizens generally and if there are some who have not attended the meetings or have not heard the discussions they should be at the meeting tomorrow night where they will be able to make their decision. The question of the commission form of government confronts the people of this city NOW and should be settled NOW and there is not time to hedge or delay the matter for the city election is close and it is up to the voters to decide at once. This matter has been discussed and will be fully discussed in a free and open manner tomorrow night. The meeting is open to everybody and every man in the city who is interested in his city and wants to see it forge ahead should be at the meeting and express himself. Tomorrow night at the Grammar School.

Ladies Register All the ladies who have not registered can do so at the Rest Room until November 1st. Those who have not registered should avail themselves of this opportunity and show their love of country and desire to assist in the great crisis.

"Motherhood" at Star Wednesday "Motherhood," with Marjorie Rameau is by far one of the most gripping, interesting, exciting, emotional features, aside from being stupendous and massive, ever shown in Sanford. It comes to the Star Wednesday, after a long and successful tour throughout the north having experienced one of the biggest runs in the history of filmdom. In many of the largest theatres all records were smashed and shattered by this wonderful picture. It is a true saying and an old and true adage that "Where there is smoke there is fire" and there surely must be some reason for the crowds that congregate to review this vivid picture. Among some of the scenes that are embodied in the above are: Authentic pictures of the French soldiers marching to war. Loading and firing of the big guns. Looting of a French Village and the treatment the inhabitants receive. Horrors of the war that are not told in stories of the battlefield. It is a tragic picture of war, lust, battle, love and peace. A two reel Keystone comedy will be shown in addition to the above and DON'T FORGET—WE NEVER RAISE THE PRICE. Special ladies' and children's matinee at 3:15.

The first meeting of the Auction Bridge was held on Monday afternoon with Mrs. R. A. Newman as hostess. The Auction Bridge is the oldest card club in Sanford. It was organized by Mrs. B. W. Herndon about eight years ago. This club disbanded every summer and the members all look forward with much pleasure to their first game in the fall. The prize Monday afternoon—a box of embroidered handkerchiefs was won by Mrs. Morse. Those present were Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Connelly, Mrs. Deane, Mrs. Gallo-way, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Thrasher, Mrs. Puleston, Mrs. Hal Wight and Mrs. W. C. Hill.

SANFORD BOYS IN U. S. NAVY

Morris Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Spencer and Allen Jones, son of Mrs. Minnie Jones, who joined Uncle Sam's navy at the beginning of the war and are now on some of the big ships. Morris has just returned from a trip to France and Allen is expecting to leave any moment on a trip across the water. Both boys are making fine records and Sanford is proud of them and all of her soldiers and sailors.

Among The Theatres

"Motherhood", Coming to the Star soon. Watch for the date. "Motherhood" shows big battle scenes.

If you would see the battlefields of war—the battlefields just as they are today in foreign lands—if you would all but hear the thundering of the mighty machine guns, the singing of the flying airmen, the thud of falling earth, the moans and cries of wounded men—you may see them with all the kid action of living war in the Mutual Film Corporation's stirring picture play of war, "Motherhood," in which Miss Marjorie Rambeau plays the leading part.

There is much of the small encounter, the entanglement in the wire, the short pithy exchange of rifle fire on the battle plains. There are the long weary marches through rain and mud. There are the days of hunger and misery. There are the days and nights in the trenches without sleep and without ample protection from the elements. And most spectacular of all, there are the great battles with their toll of life.

Many of the scenes were taken in France. They are real and depict the actualities of war as every one will know when they see them. There could be no more accurate picture of what is today transpiring in Europe.

"The Flame of the Yukon", "The Flame of the Yukon" is the name of the new Triangle play starring Dorothy Dalton, which will be exhibited at the Star Theatre Friday. It was written by Monte M. Katterjohn and produced under the supervision of Thomas H. Ince.

Dorothy Dalton appears as a sort of Alaskan Carmen, queen of the dance hall girls, known throughout the Yukon country as the "Flame." She is the trump card of Black Jack Hovey, proprietor of the Midas cafe, the most popular resort in the lively mining town. One night a stranger comes to the place and instead of tricking him, as Black Jack orders, she finds herself interested in him and aids him to make his way on to the gold fields. The man's influence over her is for the good, and she decides to go straight, but the gangster and declare she will flame higher and fiercer than ever after her brief period of goodness.

WILL MAKE EXHIBITS

Delco System to Demonstrate Electric Lights

There will be shown at practically every state, county and district fair this fall a modern and simple device for producing electricity on the farm and making the electricity do the work which is now more or less laboriously performed.

While electric generators have been in use for some years, they have not until recently been practical for farm use. They have been of the old belt-driven type, cooled by water and were continually giving trouble because of the water having been boiled away or frozen. This new type of dynamo is in one self contained unit with the engine; it is air cooled, and may be operated by kerosene even more readily than by gasoline. This greatly reduces the fuel cost, which, in view of the present high price of gasoline, is particularly important. Their construction is so simple that they are set in motion by the movement of a lever and will stop automatically when the battery is full. Children readily operate them, the only instructions necessary being a single demonstration.

There is scarcely any kind of work that is not easily done by them. They light the home, the barn, the dairy, or any place where light is desired; and brilliant electric light may be had by the simple pressure of a button or the turning of a switch. Attached to the pump, they keep the tank filled with fresh water; and the luxury of running water for house, barn or dairy, is enjoyed just as in the city supplied by the costly water works system.

Current from these machines will operate the churning, the sewing machine, the corn-sheller, the thresher, the cream separator, in fact any farm machinery of this sort to which it is attached. In a word, it provides the farm with the comforts and conveniences, due to electricity the same as are enjoyed in the large cities.

No one should miss the opportunity to see these remarkable machines in operation at state and county fairs. Compared to the comfort and even luxury which they afford in the country districts where electric current is unobtainable, the cost of installing them is small; and when one sees and knows that they will really do all that is claimed for them and more, it means the installation of a plant in the home at the first opportunity. Actual demonstrations of these Delco-Light plants will be made at practically every fair and undoubtedly it will prove one of the most attractive of all exhibits.

Class Violin Pupils

"Miss Helen L. Warner, violinist, of the faculty of the Rollins College Conservatory of Music will have a class of violin pupils in Sanford on the Saturday of each week hereafter, beginning tomorrow Saturday, Oct. 13th.

Miss Warner is a delightful violinist as well as a teacher of ability and long experience. Last year she headed the violin department at the Penn Hall School, Chambersburg, Pa., where she made a marked success of the work. She is a graduate of the Allen Freeman Music School of Scranton, Pa., and of the Northampton, Mass., Institute of Music Pedagogy.

For the present Miss Warner will give her lessons at the home of Mrs. Henry S. Wight of this city. She will be there tomorrow from nine a. m. to four p. m."

Miss Warner is to be one of the soloists next Wednesday at the dedication of the new organ at the Church of the Holy Cross here in Sanford.

Snapper Abounds In Australia.

The snapper is the characteristic Australian fish. It is found all round the Australian coasts at some time of the year, also in New Zealand and part of the Indian ocean. In haunts where the ocean bed is rock strewn or rubble, some think the snapper ought to have been on the Australian coast-of-arms, because he will remain when kangaroo and emu are gone. Snapper is the deadliest morsel to the shark, but its large, beautiful eyes take in 25 points of the compass.

IN SOCIETY'S DOMAIN

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST IN AND AROUND SANFORD

The Auction Bridge Club held a business meeting at the home of R. A. Newman Tuesday morning. It was decided to eliminate refreshments. The Sanford women are trying to do their bit. We all realize it is best not to give up entirely our little clubs and circles. It requires a great deal of strength and courage to do each day, with our boys away—but if we are to keep up sane and normal, we must have diversion, let's entertain but do it in the simplest way. The next meeting of the club will be Mrs. Puleston Monday afternoon.

The dances at the Parish house every Thursday evening are proving a great success. Young people are coming from Oviedo, Geneva, and Chuluofa to attend them and our own Sanford boys and girls are there each time. The Parish House is an ideal place for dancing, the floor is good and it is always cool and comfortable. A three piece orchestra plays all the latest one steps and fox trots, delicious refreshments are sold. Half of the money is to be used to send anything to the drafted boys they may need or want. Amber.

Although today we know that amber is a hard, resinous substance which originated from the exudation of extinct cone-bearing trees in prehistoric forests, the ancients—particularly the Greeks—regarded amber with superstitious reverence because of its mysterious origin and its equally mysterious properties. When set on fire it burns slowly, and when rubbed it becomes warm and attracts light objects to itself much as the lodestone attracts iron. The Greeks explained amber as the tears dropped by Phaeton's sisters.

Lands near Sanford that were considered fit only for vegetables were planted to cotton, with the result that a considerable quantity of the fleecy staple will go to swell Semple's roll this year. Everything considered, Florida is a wonderful state.—Aolajachicola Times.

Sanford is hungering and thirsting for the commission form of government, with a city manager. Might work, but if there is a job we would not hanker after it. It is that of manager of a small city. A one-armed man with the hives is in clover in comparison with the troubles that would encompass this guy.—Lakeland Telegram.

HOPE FOR THE TAX PAYER

Since Miami is contemplating a change of government to the city manager plan, the following experience of Topeka, Kansas, is worth noting. Cappers Weekly says: "This year federal taxes have increased enormously, and almost everywhere state and county taxes have increased. But with taxes mounting on every side, the City of Topeka did not increase its levy. The reason it didn't is because it has the commission form of government. Not only has the tax levy of Topeka not been increased, but several miles of streets are being resurfaced without cost to the property owners—because the City Has the Money.

"Kansas recently has introduced the manager plan into its state government being the first state to extend the system to the management of state institutions. When the state's machinery has been fully adjusted to it, the same results may confidently be looked for in state management."—Miami Metropolis.

ARE WE COUNTY GUARDS?

By a decision of the supreme court it is shown that the law passed by the last legislature, providing for the establishing of county guards, for duty within the county in which they are organized, is in conflict with the constitution of the state. This law provides that such guards may not be organized to serve outside the county in which they are organized, while the constitution of the state provides that "every able bodied man between the ages of 18 and 45 constitute the militia of the state" and that "the governor of the state is commander in chief of the state's militia."

By this ruling it will be seen that if you are able bodied and between the ages of 18 and 45 years, the governor has a right to call upon you for service anywhere within the state, regardless of whether or not you are a member of the county guards. Such being the case, the wisdom of becoming a member of the Home Guards is apparent. The state is now without trained militiamen—without military protection. Disturbances may arise at any time, the quelling of which may necessitate the calling upon our citizens for aid. To refuse such aid would be to render yourself liable to a heavy penalty—possibly imprisonment. Being drilled and armed and under the leadership of cool and efficient officers you are better fitted to cope with any situation that may arise than you would be without this training. Therefore, if you had entertained any idea of leaving the guards on account of this ruling of the supreme court, it would be wise to re-consider.

We do not believe a single man of Company B will leave the company on that account. In fact, we believe it will prove an incentive that will stimulate interest and cause the members to be more regular in drill attendance and create a desire to become more proficient in drill and the use of firearms.

To leave the company for fear that we may be ordered for service outside the county would be a stigma on one's courage that could not be easily erased.—Manatee Banner.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

Sanford's effort to get in the class of progressive cities and adopt a better form of government is bringing this city into public notice and the following from the Tampa Tribune is among the notes of various papers although we cannot glean just whether the "Trib" is for the city manager commission form or not.

The first thing known Sanford is going to plunge right in over her head and come up from the water with a brand new form of government; if all reports of the interest being taken there in the proposition be true.

And, in our judgment, Sanford will have made a great advance when she makes the change provided she gets a real commission form of government and not some political hybrid such as some cities in the state now enjoy (?).

A commission form of government means just what the word indicates—government by commissioners, men chosen and delegated to do specific things and to be held strictly accountable for those things.

The term does not imply or presuppose a form of government wherein there are so-called commissioners and a so-called legislative body. This is to us but something like having more than one mayor; and in most instances one is enough.

The true commission form of government also presupposes the selection of men big enough and brawny enough to do their duty as common sense and business judgment dictate without fear or favor of any man or set of men. When a city has chosen three or five or seven men and placed each one in the position over some distinctive branch of the city's business where it can say to him "Why, have you done thus?" or "Why did you not do so?" then that city is in position to get real return for every cent spent from its budgets and get them quickly and quietly.

We believe the time is coming when there will be simplified form of city government on the commission plan which will solve these vexing problems of municipal progress; and then there will be a haste to adopt the plan by all cities which today are burdened or cumbered with a heavy top administration or a cluttered up system of combined mayor, council and so-called commissioners.

HELP WIN YOUR OWN FIGHT

Patriotism alone should be reason sufficient for every American who can possibly raise the money to subscribe for Liberty Loan Bonds. When the fate of the Nation depends upon its finances, every loyal citizen will cheerfully respond to the call for assistance, Americans who have kept posted on the progress of the world war need no urging, but those who have only a superficial knowledge of the awful horrors that have drenched Europe in blood and tears seems unable to project themselves into the maelstrom. That the war will ever come close to them or to affect them personally is beyond their conception. All Europe slept under the same delusion until the Prussian monster was ready to spring. What followed? Belgium was overrun by hordes of Huns. The people were enslaved, their country laid waste, their women outraged, their children murdered. Northern France met the same fate. Serbia was depopulated. Even England, the nation whose isolated position promised immunity, owing to her great fleet has been invaded by fleets of aerial craft and defenseless towns and cities have been bombarded from the sky, the toll in deaths being heavy. Prussia does not war only on armed forces. The baby in the cradle is slaughtered as callously as are the wounded prisoners of war. Can we pay too high a price for protection against such horrors? If brought face to face with a situation that Europe has faced for the last three years there would be no hesitation about paying any cash price to escape it. Now it is well to remember that the government is not asking you to give one cent to the defense of the nation. The government asks that you loan your money so that the war may be prosecuted to a successful end that will forever rid the world of the Prussian menace. You will get the best security in the world and a very liberal interest on the money you lend. You will be lending money to the government to protect you; to protect your family; to protect your property and to enable you to continue your prosperous pursuits in security and peace. This is not a rich man's war. It is a war in behalf of democracy, freedom, justice and right in which the poor man has as much at stake as has the rich man. The poor man's wife is needed as much as the rich man's millions. When the committee calls on you be ready to take your share of Liberty Loan Bonds.

The Soldier Woman

Letters from a Washington woman to her sister in another state telling how one woman is cooperating with the United States Food Administration. Washington, D. C., Sept. 28. Edith Dear—I was never so mistaken in my life as I have been about the food pledge which the food administration has asked every housekeeper to sign. I did not get a card, I did not see a card, I did not want to see a card. I had a notion that it demanded all kinds of skimping.

"We skimp enough as it is," I told Jack. He did not answer me at once, Billy, clamoring for his morning kiss was excuse enough.

"They stand in line with their little cans, over there in Belgium, waiting hours upon hours for their small portion of milk—tiny codgers like Billy," he reminded me quietly. "That settled it! I got ready right after breakfast and went down to the headquarters of the food administration. I asked to see the pledge card. And when I had read it my shame deepened. It asks nothing that any American woman would not be proud to do.

The pledge reads: "I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself to carry out the direction and advice of the food administrator in my home, insofar as my circumstances permit." Following that is room for the signature and address.

The card further states: "There is no fee or dues to be paid. The food administration wishes to have as members all of those actually handling food in the home. All men and women over fifteen are eligible." "Is that all," I asked, ashamed of the ideas I had had about it. I signed it without more ado.

Whereupon I was given the home card, designed to be hung in the kitchen. It tells clearly and in few words just how every woman can "do her bit" in winning this war. I find that the program is not one of skimping in any sense of the word. It is merely a request that we substitute food stuffs that cannot be sent to the soldiers for the food stuffs that can and must be sent.

I showed it to Jack when he came home and told him I had become a soldier-woman.

"For there is nothing in the food pledge that is not necessary if America is to be the bread basket of the world. Moreover it asks no hardships of anyone," I said in honest confession of my fault in the morning.

The United States Food Administration will send you the "home card" when your signed pledge is received. In the meantime, dear Edy, I'll write to you more about mine later.

Love to all from (Signed) Frances.

If We Could See Ahead
If we could see as far ahead
As we always see behind;
We'd save a lot of trouble
And regrets of every kind.
When the inclination seized us,
To kick some wandering pup,
We could clearly see the coming bite,
It's then we'd pass it up.

The empty gun would get a rest,
No more in foolish fun
Would we attempt to scare a friend
And start him on a run.
And get a shock from the report,
As one more angel flies
From this weary, wicked world
To home beyond the skies.

The God of Love would quit his job,
And give horse sense a chance
To settle case of sudden love
We would refrain from running bills.

If we could see ahead of us
The active dunning guy.

It would assist to stop regrets,
And making each one pause,
By simply glancing just ahead,
Thus checking troubles cause.
Oh, yes, a blessing it would be;
And Fate would be so kind,
If she would aid to see ahead
Same as we see behind.

The trachoma scare looks like somebody was lax in their duty if all this was allowed to spread here in our midst. Of course I am no doctor and know nothing about how quickly this disease acts but it should have been discovered long before it had taken hold on our children. Of course we can all give thanks that the government physician is here to give treatment but nevertheless the mothers are worried to death over the prospect of their children having to be operated upon. However, it will now be stamped out and absolutely eradicated but where does all this talk about school inspection come in if any kind of disease can spread in our schools as trachoma has spread not only in our schools but in other schools of the state.

The new form of city government is concerning not only our own city but other cities in the state. Some people here object to bringing up this matter while we are concerned about the war but I really think that the war is bringing up these subjects right now and if there is any chance to save in the management of the city government why not save it when we need to most. There is no time like the present to have a general house cleaning in every branch of not only our own households but in city and county and state and national government and believe me the war will bring it about. Now is the accepted time to investigate everything that will save us a nickel.

RED CROSS SAVES SOLDIERS

Organization Acts on Theory That It Is Better to Heal Wounded Fighter Than to Pension His Family. Long ago some one remarked that an ounce of taffy is worth a ton of epilepsy. A 10-cent bunch of violets to the living outweighs a $50 funeral wreath for the dead.

That's the motto of the Red Cross, says a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger. It is much cheaper to soothe and heal a wounded soldier than to pension his family.

Erecting monuments at Gettysburg and Valley Forge is well enough fifty or a hundred years after the events, but a dollar for the stricken soldier equals a hundred dollars in marble over his body.

Red Cross money is an insurance policy. What does it insure against? Philadelphia's $3,000,000 will surely preserve scores of lives. So it insures against death itself, which is something an ordinary insurance policy does not do.

Wipe out Philadelphia's hospital and how many more persons will die every year? Doctors tell me the number would be many hundred.

Despite the battle front of hospital facilities and the death rate will jump enormously. So your Red Cross dollar is out upon a practical errand—not a sentimental, stazy journey.

It is certain to be invested in the life of a liberty soldier, which is a good enough investment for me.

HOW TO MEASURE HUMIDITY

Device That is Satisfactory Consists of Combination of Two Thermometers and Vessel of Water. You do not have to invest in a barometer, or expend your personal moisture by hurrying to the nearest "observatory," whether at a drug store or at a weather bureau, to ascertain the degree of humidity.

The instrument in the weather bureau kiosk marked "relative humidity" is supposed to show the percentage by weight of water vapor in the air, 100 per cent being when the atmosphere can hold no more in the form of steam. The maximum weight of steam that the atmosphere is capable of holding is dependent on and increases with an increase of the temperature.

Another device for measuring the relative humidity is a combination consisting of two ordinary thermometers, one having the bulb covered with a wet cloth or a wick extending into a vessel of water.

Puma Nearly Extirpated. The puma, the most athletic and powerful of all cats for its size, is a coward only where man is concerned. There is abundant evidence of its having tried to effect a truce with mankind; showing a decided tendency at times toward actual friendliness; but its appearance, its horrifying cry, its night wandering and its tendency to prey on man's domestic creatures have marked it with enmity, and its persistent destruction has cleaned it out of all but the wildest sections.

Economy in Dress. People who dress well on moderate means never make the mistake of having too many garments at one time. It is better to take good care of one's belongings, brushing, cleaning and mending when necessary and replenishing them with new as needed.

Items of Interest for the Man Behind the Plow

Poison the Cutworms

Cutworms are found of any succulent plant, and are troublesome to most truck and garden crops. They gnaw off the young plants just above the ground, making them worthless. If truck or garden ground has been permitted to grow up in weeds or grass this summer, the worms may be plentiful and some measure to get rid of them must be taken.

The following methods are recommended by J. R. Watson of the University of Florida experiment station. Plow the land at least ten days before transplanting the plants. During this time many of the cutworms will leave or die of starvation, and the remainder will develop a good appetite. A day or two before the crop is to be set out, cut some green and succulent plants such as collards, rape or cowpeas, and dip them into a strong solution of paris green, about an ounce to a gallon of water. Scatter this about the field after sunset for the hungry worms to feed upon during the night.

Instead of the green material, poisoned mash known as the Kansas Mixture may be used. Take 20 pounds of bran or cotton seed meal and mix with it thoroughly one pound of paris green. Into 2 1/2 gallons of water, pour 2 quarts of syrup or molasses, and grate into it three or four lemons or 6 or 8 oranges. The rind should be grated or ground very fine and added to the solution as well as the pulp and juice. To the mixture of bran and paris green add this solution until the whole mass is thoroughly moist, but not sloppy, so that it will fall in small flakes when sown broadcast on the land. There will be little danger of fowls or other birds picking up enough of it to poison themselves. Bitter molasses or stale bran should not be used in making the mixture. The bait must be made up fresh each day from sweet, fresh material.

In a small garden or in a field where there are but few cutworms, the easiest, cheapest and quickest method of dealing with the worms is to go through the patch in the early morning and look for plants that were cut off the preceding night. By scratching the soil away from the base of the plant the cutworm may be found at a depth of not more than an inch. They may not more than an inch. They may be collected and fed to the chickens.

How to Use Corn Meal

Corn as a food, is not unknown in the south. In fact, many families make it one of the chief foods for the family. Now that eating corn and its products was a mark of patriotism during the war, the south can be counted on to continue to show a marked degree of that kind of patriotism.

Yet corn used meal after meal, prepared in the same way for each one may become tiresome or monotonous, says Miss Agnes Ellen Harris of the University of Florida extension division. To guard against monotony it might be well to learn of the many dishes that can be prepared for home use from corn and its products.

Many ways of using corn as human food are given in Farmers' Bulletin 565, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and perhaps many of the ways mother used to use it and which wife has forgotten are described in this free bulletin. The making of scrapple is discussed, and this is a valuable method of disposing of many parts of the hog at butchering time.

For those who have made a study of the nutritive values of foods, the average composition of corn refined and dried for grinding is given as follows: Water, 10.9 per cent; protein, which is of special interest because it is the nutrient which builds and repairs the tissue of the body, 10 per cent; fat, 4.3 per cent; starch and sugar, which are fat are the chief sources of energy, 71.7 per cent; crude fiber, 1.7 per cent; and mineral matter 1.5 per cent. The value to the body as a source of energy is 1,795 calories per pound.

A comparison of the composition of corn and other cereal grains—wheat, rice, rye, barley and buckwheat—shows that these cereals differ little among themselves in composition—so little in fact that except where great exactness is sought they may be considered as a group of interchangeable foods so far as their nutritive value is concerned. The value of corn as a source of energy to the body is the highest of all these cereals.

Harden Hogs Before Killing

Farmers who fatten hogs on peanuts complain that the packers discount the price of such animals. The University of Florida extension division contends the such discounting is not always justified, for hogs may be hardened on corn or other foods, and that when the farmer goes about this properly he should be credited with producing a good hog that will dress out well and with which no serious objection can be found.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture sustains this viewpoint and says there are sufficient experimental data at hand "to prove that soft-hogs can be made firm if they are fed the proper feeds or combination of feeds." Continuing the Department says:

"Corn alone will harden soft-bodied hogs if fed during the latter part of the feeding period for 4 to 8 weeks, or as large a part of the ration during the entire time the pigs are on feed." Because of making a slow growth, and the prohibitive price, feeding corn alone is not recommended. "A ration composed of two-thirds corn and one third cotton seed meal is an excellent hardening ration if the hogs are not to be fed for more than 21 days.

"Sweet potatoes have considerable value in a properly balanced ration. If hogs harvest the sweet potatoes, they are doubtless a cheaper feed than corn on soils that yield from 10 to 15 times as many bushels of potatoes as corn. The roots are low in protein, however, and some grain should be given in addition."

Velvet beans are recommended as a grazing crop, and it is estimated that one acre will furnish as much grazing as an acre of peanuts.

Chufas yield well and are recommended as a fattening forage for hogs. "Some protein food such as tankage or cottonseed meal should be added in addition to balance the ration; for the chufas are largely starch and contain little protein."

"The object in pig feeding is to grow a pig with plenty of size and scale and one that will fatten quickly and economically. It is impossible to do this on pasture or roots alone; grain must be added to the ration. In feeding a grain ration on roots or pasture, more success has been attained by giving an amount equal to 3 pounds per hundred pounds live weight than when fed in lesser amounts. Many farmers use the self feeder, giving the pigs free access to such feeds as corn, mill feeds and tankage while on pasture, and obtain excellent results. The practice tends to shorten the feeding period and procures pork with slightly less grain per unit of gain."

Planning for a Potato Week

Wheatless days and meatless days have been promulgated by the Department of Agriculture. Not until now has the Department set aside a week and named a food that might form the greater part of the diet during that time. The week of October 22 to 27 has been named Potato Week, and this statement is made: "Three purposes will be accomplished by a Nation-wide potato week in which every one will make a special effort to eat potatoes. The first of these purposes is to encourage the eating of the tubers because at that time it is expected that potatoes will be the most available and economical starchy food; the second is to save wheat during this period; and the third is to encourage the general use of potatoes as a wheat substitute by the American householder."

Unless prices drop considerably, the sweet potato will be found more economical in Florida than will the Irish potato. This state has an abundance of sweet potatoes and Miss Agnes Harris of the University of Florida extension division has devised numerous ways in which they may be utilized for food to avoid becoming monotonous in the diet. These recipes may be had by addressing her at Tallahassee, Fla.

Growing Potatoes Without Potash

Since the price of potash in commercial fertilizers has reached an abnormally high figure, if it can be obtained at all, much interest is taken in the possibility of continued production of Irish potatoes on land with out the addition of some potash to the soil. Some crops were grown this year without the use of potash, but most of them were on land that had been heavily supplied with this element in previous years. Just how long profitable production can be continued is not known, says the University of Florida experiment station.

Some work to determine this fact has been done by the Maine station. Potatoes have been grown profitably for two years without potash, and while the plots were on sod land, the facts remain that the land had been planted to potatoes previously and had been given a fertilizer rich in potash. By a series of plantings with and without potash they determined that it paid to use goods with 2 per cent potash even at the present abnormal price. Also that a profitable yield can be obtained without the use of potash for at least one year. "If it should happen that potash is absolutely obtainable," says the report, "growers may still plant on land that is in good heart with the prospect of obtaining a profitable yield."

How Money Gets into Circulation

Money is sent from treasury to sub-treasuries and from these it is distributed to banks. It is drawn out of banks to be used in payment of wages, salaries or exchange and thus gets into circulation.

Man's Mind Like a Garden

A man's mind may be likened to a garden which may be intelligently cultivated or allowed to run wild; but whether cultivated or neglected, it must, and will, bring forth. If no useful seeds are put in, then an abundance of useless weed seeds will fall therein and will continue to produce their kind.—James Allen.

Admit One Only

Peter was left in the house and told not to leave until mother returned from the store. When she came back she found a sheet of paper on the door saying: "I'm playing with Ray. The key is under the rock on the step. No one but mother go in."

First Circular Saw

According to British technical publications, the first circular saw was invented by one Murray, a wood turner at Mansfield, England. The first saw of this kind was about six inches in diameter and was used on a wood turning lathe operated by water power.

Relic of General Wolfe

A new and valued addition has just been made to the museum of the Chateau de Plamzey. It consists of a cabinet containing a portion of the garnet silk sash worn by Gen. James Wolfe on the day he became the "victor of Quebec" in 1760. In addition to the sash are the original letters that prove unmistakably the authenticity of the relic.
