40 Minutes In The Dark

Five hundred residential and commercial customers in downtown Sanford were without electricity for 40 minutes and longer Monday afternoon after an unidentified truck driver backed his truck into a power pole at Poplar Avenue and First Street

However, the Sanford Sewage Treatment Plant was directly affected and took over an hour to restore. City Utility Director S.M. RiCharde Jr., said the plant continued to operate during the period as the storm by-pass motors automatically come on when there is a power failure.

The area affected was mainly confined to an area east of French Avenue north of First Street and west of Palmetto Avenue. William Sanders, consumer service supervisor for FP&L, said the City Hall and the County Courthouse were in the affected area, but lights were not out in the courthouse Traffic signals were out and police officers directed traffic at the main intersections.

The Seminole County Commission today stymied efforts by the state to introduce the controversial, weed-gobbling white amur into three Seminole lakes in an effort to curb the growth of pesky Commissioners deadlocked, 2-2, over whether to allow the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to place the weed carp into Lake Orienta, Lake Of The Woods and Mirror Lake, three South Seminole bodies of water affected by hydrilla. Action was postponed until the Florida Cabinet on Jan. 6, 1977 decides which state agency has the responsibility to monitor pollution-fighting activities in the state of Florida. #### Thai Official Claims Soviets Put Missile Silos In Laos

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - A top Thai foreign policy expert says intelligence reports show that the Soviet Union has built missile silos in the "high mountain area" of Laos. He says the silos could be used to direct missiles against either China or Thailand.

Thanat Khoman gave few details in his television talk Monday, and he did not indicate if any missiles had been installed in the silos. He cited "some intelligence reports" as also showing that the Soviets have "many military facilities in the highlands of Laos."

TOKYO (AP) - Communist party Chairman Hua Kuo-feng says that if the radicals led by Mao Tse-tung's widow had not been suppressed, there would have been "a major civil war" and foreign aggression in China, the official news agency Hsinhua reported today. Hua told a Christmas Day session of the National Agricultural Conference there would be a party cleanup next year because Mao's widow, Chiang Ching, and her supporters recruited new party members in violation of the party constitution, improperly promoted cadres and put "bad elements" into top party

Refugees Flee Battles

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) Thousands of refugees have fled two black townships outside Cape Town to escape bloody street battles between black militants and migrant workers. Bands of migrant workers roamed streets on Nyanga's outskirts Monday, wielding clubs and curved knives. Farther inside the town, young black militants carrying axes, knives, rocks and pickhandles guarded their homes.

Officials reported that at least 24 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in two days of fighting Nyanga and Guguletu.

Carter, Cabinet Meeting At Georgia Island Retreat

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga. (AP) -President-elect Carter is calling his cabinet into private session at this secluded island retreat to exchange views on an economic stimulation program that he hints might be less expensive than originally anticipated. The program is expected to include a combination of tax cuts and government job programs. Carter said after a meeting with his economic advisers on Monday that he will make a final decision on the tax cut portion of the plan "within the next 10 days."

BOSTON (AP) — Two fragile yellow pages bearing the first half of the Declaration of Independence have turned up in a Boston attic, and the minister who found them thinks they're straight from the quill pen of Thomas Jefferson. The National Archives isn't ready, just yet, to agree that the Rev. James K. Allen has found the long-lost original, but an expert there says he's fascinated. And the Rev. CHICAGO (AP) - The battle to succeed Mayor Richard J. Bilandic appeared to have enough votes among the 50 aldermen who make up the council to turn back any bid by Wilson Frost, the City Council president pro tempore.

Capt. ## County Allots $250,000 For Job Training Program

By ED PRICKETT

County officials today agreed to pump an additional $250,000 into a federally funded jobs training program in Seminole County. The County Commission's decision to reallocate the federal dollars will mean jobs for one year for about 300 of Seminole's

The extra dollars were freed after Seminole two weeks ago received an additional $1,122,974 to restock the depleted Title 6 of the Comprehensive Education and Training Act (CETA) program.

CETA Director Jim Bedsole said about 300 additional workers can now be placed in such a federally funded jobs training program. The program works hand in hand with private industry. The government, in essence, pays a part of the expenses to private industry to hire and train new workers.

One change, however, is that the On The Job Training (OJT) program will be administered by Bedsole's office, not the Florida Employment Service. Formerly, state officials handled the OJT program. At first the program operated with about $100,000. With the $100,000, about 53 persons are being trained in new job skills by private employers. Of OJT, Bedsole said, "It's good for the

The county commission is the go-through agency for all CETA grants. As such, county officials demanded the state assume the liability for the program, but the state

Ralph Prescott, Sanford's office manager for the state employment service, said he wasn't sure what impact today's decision would have on his agency.

Bedsole, however, said the county's CETA office will pick up all 53 workers currently being trained under the auspices of the state. CETA workers are distributed to city, county and local governmental agencies, including the school board, social agencies and agencies involved in the mental health

Frankenstein A Paper Tiger

The story of "Frankenstein" is generally only imperfectly grasped. The chief result of the fictional tale of the monster created by Dr. Frankenstein has been to induce vicarious chills and thrills, particularly around Halloween time.

The story serves that function, of course, but, if one closely examines the original text, rather than being entertained by the many movie versions, the tale carries a philosophical and practical import as Experimenting with forces little understood and desirous of creating a more perfect and efficient human being, Dr. Frankenstein created a creature he thought he could control. Instead, he brought into being a monster which, refusing to obey him, not only attacked the populace, but in the end turned on and destroyed its creator.

The lesson is that power, once in being and placed at the disposal of fallible human beings, increasingly tends to obey only itself.

Our governmental apparatus, now threatening our freedoms, is a horror story in point. Growing law-by-law and regulation-by-regulation, each and every one of which was introduced and imposed for "a good purpose" in the mind of its creator, government today for all intents and purposes is a giant, mindless bureaucracy answerable only to itself. Worse, every attempt to reduce its power and scope seems to result in a further expansion

Take the case of Max Weil, a pension plan consultant from New York City whose tale of woe was related in a recent news service story. Appearing before a 14-member commission created by Congress last year to do something about the overwhelming tide of paper flowing out of official Washington, Weil was quoted as saying:

"You see before you a very frustrated, exhausted individual who has given much of his time, on a voluntary basis, in an attempt to make the Employment Retirement Income Security Act

But the paperwork is overwhelming, Weil groaned. "My clients are all mad at me. . . because all I'm doing is filling out forms. This drives us to No one really knows how much government paperwork there really is, the story said, "but the cost of producing and processing all of it is estimated at $40 billion a year." Other horror tales touched on in the wire story:

 IRS forms for a single year, if stacked, would be two miles high. - The 10 billion sheets of paper churned out by the Government Printing Office annually would fill

50 professional baseball stadiums. - In New York City, 53 forms must be filled out and processed before a welfare recipient receives the first check. — Harvard university employs 26 people, at an annual cost of $300,000, to prepare reports required grants. Judging from testimony given before the commission - running to 5,000 pages - "the problem is not merely bad, it is terrible. People have come in droves, many clutching stacks of government forms, reports, booklets and position papers to prove their point. . . All that paper is by the government in connection with federal

inundating administrators everywhere." Mideast Impasse

The vote was 122 to 2, with the United States and Israel voting no, when the General Assembly of the United Nations adopted a resolution on the Middle East recently. The vote was overwhelming to resume the Geneva peace conference by March, with Palestinian delegates participating.

The United States and Israel took the position that Palestinians should not participate. It is essential, however, that the Palestinians participate in any negotiations aimed at establishing a permanent peace agreement. They obviously must be a party to such an agreement if it is to have any chance of success.

But Israel understandably refuses to negotiate directly with the Palestinians as long as they refuse to recognize Israel's right to existence as an independent state.

The Palestinians won't acknowledge Israel's right to exist as long as Israel refuses to negotiate with them. The impasse stands in the way of progress in the Middle East. It could be broken if the Israelis felt confident enough in their own position to be forthcoming on this issue. They should take the initiative toward peace by agreeing in advance to negotiate whenever the Palestinians recognize Israel.

Poor P.R. Problem Of Business

usiness has such a poor image with the public? Well, one reason is because business is accused of a lot of things that simply are not true.

A recent issue of the AFL-CIO's newspaper, which has a circulation of about 70,000, carries an editorial cartoon showing a huge, overstuffed Santa Claus labelled "Profits." Standing beside this figure, is a pair of pants several sizes too large for him, is a much skinnier, forlorn-looking individual labelled "real wages." Get it? Profits, the AFL-CIO wants us to believe, are much fatter than the salaries of the average working

But are they? They are not. According to the Dept. of Commerce, over the past 10 years, employe compensation - which includes not only paychecks but also social insurance and pensions as well - has risen a whopping 136 per cent. During this same period of time, corporate profits have risen only 48 per cent.

Furthermore, over the past decade, personal savings are up 129 per cent; whereas, corporate savings are down 28 per cent. Compensation of employes, - the income of people on payrolls is roughly 30 times as great as dividend income today. Even the tax collectors collect nearly twice as much from corporations as do the stockholders.

HERE'S TWO WAYS TO SAVE ON YOUR TAXES THIS YEAR WHILE SETTING UP A RETIREMENT PLAN.

How many times have you thought about setting up a good retirement plan? Well, now there's a way to do it and save money on your taxes this year and every year until you retire.

Plan 1 IRA

If your employer doesn't have a pension plan or profit-sharing plan, then you are eligible to set up your own First Federal of Mid-Florida IRA account. Here's how it works. Each year you deposit 15% of your earned income up to a maximum of $1,500.00. Then, each year you can deduct the amount of your deposit from your earned income for tax purposes. You're not taxed on the money until you retire and by then your tax liability usually is much less. It's a great way to save for retirement while saving on your taxes

The government has provided for a penalty for early withdrawal.

Plan 2 KEOGH

If you are self-employed you can save on your taxes by setting up a First Federal of Mid-Florida KEOGH account. The account builds with First Federal of Mid-Florida's high interest rate until you retire. And all the time your retirement funds are growing you can deduct your annual deposits from the earned income portion of your tax return (you can even deduct the interest your money earns.) It's a realistic way to save for retirement while getting a tax break now.

The government has provided for a penalty for earv withdrawal.
