

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

BUDGET OF OPINION "JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME."

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A CHIEF IS AMONG YE TAKING NOTES AND SAITH, "HE'LL PRENT 'EM"---SO SAYS SAUNTERER.

When a very pretty woman crosses her silk stockings and disposes of the superfluous drapery so that the best possible view can be given to all interested, take a look, says Barbara Lee in the Philadelphia North American. The ankle is probably very well turned, and the quality of the stocking quite superior, but—

She is just clever enough to try to keep your attention off the fluffy brain, or the lack of it, and the general lack of poise and all characteristics worth while.

If you are interested in the course of flirtation, watch any collection of chickens in the street. Choose a group that has a crement of undergrown men, or overgrown boys, and watch the wriggling, giggling, utter foolishness of the girls as they coquette with the males and play the game with crass ignorance as to the fine points. The main thing that is done is a flattering of the men, and a longing gaze, though heaven knows what for, at the admirers; the voice has a loving tone and there is a willingness to accept any guff that the young gentleman hands the young ladies. But—

This is the way to have a fuss made over you. This is the way to make a noise like popularity. This is the surest way to have great satisfaction, if you are a feather-brained female, in the fact that all other females are envying you.

Do you know a shallow minded woman who tries to cover up her ignorance with a sweet smile? When you mention the biggest event of the day, she looks wise and says nothing. She has never done one thing to add to the little mind that her childhood's experience left her, yet she gets there just the same. Well, take a look at her and solve for yourself the problem of how to make a bluff on nothing. It is a good lesson in life. For this little empty bluffer seems to make a fairly good hit with the men. They think her so sweet, they admire her reticence; they live to answer her questions and to instruct her in their superior, masculine way. But—

If you value all that is really worth a thought in life don't use her methods. Your womanhood is too good to sacrifice in this manner.

When you walk along the street look at the extremists that are legion. There will always be the woman who has the highest possible wing at the front of her hat. Another will have the largest question mark on her cheek in the latest style of hair dressing; still another will have the greatest bustle effect, and behind her will come one who has applied white and red powder with a trowel. Have a look. Then strike for the golden mean that always sounds the note of refinement.

It will be pretty near the time for excursions to the seashore. If you value your soul and the standards of American womanhood, have a look at the groups in bathing costumes behaving with disgusting freedom on the beach. Watch the young girls screaming in childish glee from the heights of the shoulders of husky young men. Have a look at couples lying around in positions that would not be permitted in any other place. See them kissing, hugging, snuggling out in the public gaze with experienced postures. Their mothers and fathers are near—

But it is bathing hour and "young folks will be young folks." May your gaze be profitable in the training of your own son or daughter.

Are you envious of the woman who has her French maid and a jewel casket that is full to overflowing? Have another look. It is not in French maids and emeralds that happiness can be rated. All the money in the world is really very little if there be no peace, joy, love. If you are emphasizing the material things in life, which today are and tomorrow are not, have another look at the true woman beneath the silk gown and the well-waxed hair that money has bought for her. Above all, be not too foolish at judging her a fortunate being. She may wish to change places with you.

You are wondering what in the world Angelina sees in the man to whom she is engaged. You cannot understand how she can pass an hour in his company, not to mention a life-time. Have a look at your own husband. Maybe she thinks the same of him.

Perhaps you live in comfort, and many times a day it is possible to see green hedges, blue skies and gant homes. Just for a change of heart, walk down into the poor sections of the town. See how people "must" live because they cannot get up enough strength to leave squalor and poverty and a despairing fight against insuperable odds. Whatever your misfortune, you will have something more serious to think about. Have a look, but—

Don't stop there. Do something your little way to help things toward a better condition.

At the restaurant table, if you are fortunate enough to be eating in peaceful comfort, look at the large percentage of women who are drinking of beverages that are decidedly hard on their constitutions. If you can see the French knots into which the ladies twist their faces when overcoming a martini cocktail or a highball, you will marvel at the strength of mind that permits them to drink that which is not relished. But it is sporty, so have a look at the sports. And then look the other way.

After all, this looking around is a very profitable business.

Fred L. Boul, war correspondent for a number of newspaper has written a story from Vera Cruz that is worthy of being lifted bodily and transplanted in the editorial columns.

It is an unusual story for a war correspondent to write. Not at all the kind of a story one expects a war correspondent to send back home. But read it yourself. We offer no introduction and append no comment.

"The roughest thing in Mexico is a jeopardized American dollar. You can hear his cries any evening on the Plaza de la Cathedral.

"What," the American business man who has fled from Mexico wants to know, "are we leading in Vera Cruz, for?" "When are our troops going to march on the capital?"

"The American business man left Mexico City hurriedly. He left a business worth, say, $100,000. For all he knows the federals have burned his store and looted his safe.

"He wants to know if there are any such things as the right to property. It is a duty of this United States Government to protect American business interests abroad.

"What is your business in Mexico City, worth?" he was asked.

"One hundred thousands dollars," he said and groaned.

"And you want the American troops to go to Mexico City and save it?"

"I certainly do. I'm an American citizen."

"How long have you lived in Mexico?"

"Twenty-five years."

"Pay attention in the United States?"

"Certainly not. My property is all in Mexico."

"Ever go home to vote?"

"No."

"Then you, who don't care enough about your country to live there sometimes or do vote or pay taxes, want American soldiers sent to Mexico City to save your property?"

"But don't you see that I am not alone in Mexico? There are hundreds—yes, thousands—of Americans in business in Mexico City."

"Exactly," spoke up one of the newspaper men. "The census of 1910 gave 15,000 Americans in Mexico and a total population of 16,000,000."

"Of the 15,000 Americans, we'll say 5,000 are men working for the big mining and oil companies for wages and small salaries. That leaves 10,000 of the big fellows. And you want 90,000,000 people to come to the rescue of 10,000?"

"Well, if you don't do something soon it will be impossible to do business in Mexico."

"Therefore we must teach the Mexicans a lesson. If we were to march on Mexico City, how many Americans do you suppose would die?"

"I don't want any of them to die," the American business man protested.

"But they will die. A lot of them will die. Let's say that one man would die for every $10,000 worth of property owned by Americans. Ten would die for yours. I had to leave the capital in a hurry too. I left behind a piano, a dress suit and some other things. I demand that my property rights be protected. MAYBE A SOLDIER WILL DIE FOR MY PIANO AND DRESS SUIT, ALSO."

"The man who will die for my piano joined the army from patriotic motives. So did the 10 who will die for yours. They are better Americans than you, because they stay at home and vote and pay taxes. They are producers and some day, they will be with the are not no—husbands and fathers of children.

"But, doggone it, haven't I any rights at all in Mexico?"

"Not one. You knew Mexico was turbulent when you came in. You took a gambler's chance, because there was a prospect of big profits. You've lost. That's all—you've lost."

"Then all the little jeopardized American dollars CLAMORED TWICE AS LOUDLY AS BEFORE

"But the army at Vera Cruz sheds few tears with the weeping American dollars!"

COUNTY CANDIDATES WILL HAVE MEETING

WILL WIND UP EXCITING CAMPAIGN TOMORROW NIGHT HERE

EVERY CANDIDATE WILL POSITIVELY APPEAR

WILL TELL THE PEOPLE JUST WHY HE IS A CANDIDATE OF SEMINOLE

The county candidates and maybe some of the outside candidates will speak tomorrow night at the corner of First street and Park avenue and every mother's son of them have promised to speak there will be one of the grandest talkfests of the season. They do not expect to say anything but every one of them will say something and the crowd will listen to them.

The campaign has been rather exciting at times but the speaking has not been any spectacular feature, and just to have some fun out of the campaign some of the candidates have decided to have some real old fashioned speaking bouts and all the candidates will be on the meetings and tell his excuse for living and wanting to be fed from the public trough.

While some of the candidates are not crazy about speaking there are several of them who can make very good addresses and those that gather at the corner tomorrow night will be well repaid for their coming out. It is also understood that some of the candidates will take this occasion to get in some real facts about their opponents as they have been afraid to say anything in print but the Bryan law does not prevent the word of mouth stuff from being promulgated and the meeting will be enlivened by some real debates.

Everybody is invited to attend the meeting and the country people are especially urged to attend and hear the candidates as this will be the last opportunity of hearing them this season, as the law on candidates will close Tuesday night and they cannot be hunted and hunted after that date.

HAS COMMISSION FORM GOVERNMENT

And Green Cove Springs is Coming Strong Among Florida Cities

F. J. Robertson of Green Cove Springs was among the prominent visitors to the city yesterday and paid the Herald office an appreciated call. Mr. Robertson was in the newspaper business in Florida for twenty-five years but recently sold his paper and is now engaged in the manufacture of crates. He is a member of the commission that governs the beautiful little city of Green Cove Springs and states that the city is thriving under the paternal care of the mayor and two other commissioners. Green Cove owns their own public utilities and last year the plant paid over $2500 in profits and all the street lights are supplied to the city free. The tax levy is only ten mills on fifty cent valuation and this is certainly a remarkable showing and one that speaks well for the commissioners and the citizens. Mr. Robertson left this city when he was ten months old, his father having resided here in the early days and owned the first Democratic paper here. He is greatly surprised at the evidence of prosperity on every hand in Sanford and vicinity and paid the city many compliments but thinks that we ought to adopt the commission form of government and get better results. He ships many crates and orange boxes to this city and came down to look after his many customers in this section of the state.

Among the prominent visitors to the city this week is J. F. O'Hara of Jacksonville and one of the largest land owners in the state. He is making a deal in some of the lands around Celery City and will be here several days visiting with his many Sanford friends.

An Important Theme

Will be presented next Sunday evening at 7:30, at the Congregational church. It is this: "Is the Church Indifferent to the Social Problems of Today?" There are few subjects of greater importance to the citizenship of our country today. The answer to this question, by those interested in the church will mean despair or hope to our nation. You are welcomed to hear this theme presented, come and bring a friend.

Nolle Tolar and Ralph Stevens are home for the summer vacation from the medical college at Philadelphia and are glad to be in Sanford. They are students at Jefferson Medical, one of the finest colleges in America and their Sanford friends will be glad to learn that both of these boys are making good and will soon be full fledged medical men.

SPRING TERM COURT BEGAN HERE TUESDAY

THE GRAND JURY IS BUSY WITH SOME VERY IMPORTANT CASES

WILL PROBABLY REPORT TO THE JUDGE TODAY

THERE ARE A GOOD MANY CASES ON THE DOCKET AND THE COURT WILL LIKELY BE IN SESSION FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

The second term of Circuit Court to be held in Seminole county convened last Tuesday with Judge Perkins presiding and Hon. Cary Landis States Attorney at the bar. This spring term of court does not promise much in the way of important cases but there will be many smaller cases in the province of the petit jury.

The grand jury is grinding away on several cases and expects to be busy until next week and by the way, this grand jury is one of the finest ever empaneled. Just glance over the names of them and then thank your lucky stars that you are not before them:

- Grand Jury G. W. Smith, D. G. Monroe, J. D. Abrams, J. J. Giddings, R. R. Robers, R. A. Jenkins, W. V. Dunn, J. E. Pomeroy, A. Routh, W. J. Woodberry, C. C. Woodruff, B. Nelson, J. T. Hickson, Chas. McClure, C. O. McLaughlin, T. W. Williams, R. S. Henderson, A. B. Cameron

C. C. Woodruff acted as foreman and C. O. McLaughlin as clerk.

The petit jury is as follows: E. L. Jones, W. B. Raulerson, C. H. Walsh, B. Nelson, T. Keane, Harry Crippen, H. H. Hill, L. J. Hartley, D. E. Mathers, J. J. Gidney, A. V. Fresh, C. S. Proctor, J. R. Richards, R. B. Smith, L. T. Hunt, A. Routh, W. W. VanNess, Geo. Parker, M. H. Moore, T. W. Williams, C. W. Laing

Delightful Reception

One of the most delightful recent social events was the informal reception given Monday evening by the members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of Holy Cross parish, the faculty of the High School and school board and the young ladies of the Saint Agnes Guild ward, and the invited guests. The parish house was beautifully decorated in the Saint Andrew colors, red and white, cut flowers being used with pleasing effect. Each guest had been requested to represent a book and many of the titles were extremely well portrayed. Miss Helen Rowland, impersonating in a very delightful costume, "Lavender and Old Lace" was winner of the first prize, a handsomely bound book. Miss Saida Williams, representing "Initials Only" was a close second, and was accorded the honor of cutting the Saint Andrew cake, a beautiful example of the culinary art. The cake, iced in white, was adorned with the name "Saint Andrew's Brotherhood" and the Saint Andrew cross in red icing. Miss Williams' very graciously cut the cake and served it to the guests. The color motif extended in the refreshment table decorations. Across the handsome white cloth, broad bands of red ribbon were placed and in the center of the table was a handsome silver candelabra, the five white candles having red shades. Delicious refreshments consisting of grape ice, whipped cream and cake were served by the patronesses of the evening, Mrs. T. A. Neal, Mrs. C. P. Rumph, Mrs. G. A. Speer, Mrs. G. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. M. Hand and Mrs. A. D. Key, who, together with the rector, Rev. A. S. Peck, and several others, were responsible in great measure for the success of the affair. More than fifty guests were present.

At the evening service last Sunday a good audience was in attendance to listen to the presentation of the faith of seventy college students, put in a composite definition of the Christian life; it was reassuring to know that such a virile and workable faith is held by the college men and women of America.

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 a subject will be considered which is receiving much attention today: "Is the Church Indifferent to the Social Problems of Today." A recent article in one of our popular magazines would lead one to think so; is such impression warranted or not by the facts of the case? You are invited to come and profit by the presentation.

Informal Dance

Mrs. F. S. Munson was the gracious hostess of a pleasant informal dance given Monday evening at her studio in honor of Miss Mabel Bamber, a charming visitor from Jacksonville. The decorations were most artistic, red lilies and handsome palms being handsomely arranged. Refreshments were served by Miss Fannie Rahn, Munson throughout the evening. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Munson were Miss Mabel Boyler, Miss Moll White, Mrs. Mr. Lloyd, M. J. Thigpen, Miss Belle Smith, Miss Florence Egnik, Wm. Leffer, G. N. Bishop, Dr. Tom Perkins, Miss Linda Leffer, Miss Besie Schumpert, Mrs. Long of Jacksonville, Mr. Gustavus Clarence Mahoney, Miss Pascha Leffer, Miss Zoia Munson and J. D. Roberts.

W. C. Raulerson is spending the week in the city attending court and renewing acquaintances.

The following cases have been disposed of: Eugenia Powell by J. S. Stephens vs. Atlantic Coast Line Ry., suit for damages; Awarded $300.00.

Grand jury brought in following indictments:

States vs. Kirby Sandlin for bigamy. Plead not guilty, case set for Thursday, June 4th.

State vs. J. J. Jenkins—Rape. Plead not guilty; case set for tomorrow morning.

Sanford looked like the famous deserted village of Goldsmith yesterday as all the stores closed and everybody went to the picnic.

Congregational Church

Last Sunday morning a number of Confederate and Federal Veterans met at the Congregational church for the Memorial service. The church was appropriately decorated, Comrade Munson and wife being especially responsible for this. Miss Aspinwall sang, Kipling's Recessional most pleasingly, and in itself was a great message for all. The sermon was in harmony with the occasion and set forth some lessons to be cherished by some patriots.

At the evening service last Sunday a good audience was in attendance to listen to the presentation of the faith of seventy college students, put in a composite definition of the Christian life; it was reassuring to know that such a virile and workable faith is held by the college men and women of America.

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 a subject will be considered which is receiving much attention today: "Is the Church Indifferent to the Social Problems of Today." Had a Great Trip

Dr. Jas. N. Robson has returned from a trip to Richmond, Va., where he went with a patient and made the trip north in a Ford car returning home by train. Dr. Robson states that he had no trouble whatever with the car and made the trip in record time stopping at every city en route and having the time of his life. On the way home he stopped all along the route and visited his friends and relatives. He saw also his father in Charleston, Mr. Jas. Robson, the well known commission man who though nearly 70 years of age is still active and hearty, and attends to business. Dr. Robson says that going up the country by automobile is the only way and that as soon as St. Johns county puts in their brick roads the trip from Sanford to New York city can be made very easily. The Doctor expects to make the trip next summer and take his family and perhaps several Sanford parties can be induced to take the trip over the mountains.

Bradley is a Bird

F. B. Bradley returned Saturday from Charlotte, N. C., where he has been in attendance at the convention of the southeastern division of the Eagles.

Mr. Bradley represented the local Arie No. 1858 and won the prize of $18.00 as "The Bird that Flew the Farthest" as he traveled the greatest distance of any delegate in order to attend the convention.

Mr. Bradley was honored by a place on the committee of Finance and Resolutions for the coming year.

EAGLES HAD A GREAT PICNIC

Woodland Park the Scene of Great Gathering Yesterday

The Sanford Aerie of Eagles has a way of doing things that is irresistible and whenever they announce that they will pull off an entertainment the public has long since learned that said entertainment will be very successful. So that when their big picnic was announced it was a foregone conclusion that it would be the big event of the season and it was all of that. Woodland Park is well situated for an affair of this kind and is rightly named being in the very center of a fine oak grove where plenty of shade makes the picnic grounds comfortable even at noonday.

Early yesterday morning the hosts and automobiles began carrying people to the park and by the time noon arrived there must have been more than a thousand people scattered over the park and in the pool. Swimming, dancing, the roller coaster and numerous amusements kept the crowds going and the big fish fry and other good things at one o'clock made them feel like tackling the same amusements over again after dinner.

The candidates were out in force and even the grand jury was allowed to attend under the charge of Judge Perkins, States Attorney Landis and the foreman and court adjourned for two hours in order to allow everybody the opportunity of making it a real holiday. All the stores closed at noon and it seemed that every citizen of Sanford and neighboring towns were at Woodland Park to attend the Eagles picnic. Of course everybody had a good time. The Eagles always had it so.

POSTOFFICE BUILDINGS MAY BE QUARTERED

APPROPRIATIONS TO BE CUT BY POSTMASTER GENERAL BURLESON

SANFORD BUILDING WOULD SUFFER ALSO

ON PLAN OF RETRENCHMENT FLORIDA BILLS WOULD BE CUT IN HALF

Washington, May 29.—In a report to Congress Postmaster General Burleson in effect charges Congress with extravagance in making appropriations for a number of postoffice buildings in Florida. He declares that the amounts appropriated are beyond the needs of the service. He submits the following recommendations:

"That a public building for postoffice purposes only be not authorized for any place unless the rental paid for government offices is as much as $1,000 per annum and then only when either the gross postoffice receipts amount to as much as $15,000 or the population to as much as five thousand.

"That public buildings, not exceeding twenty thousand square feet in area, to be used exclusively or in part for postoffice purposes, be divided into classes designated by letters of the alphabet; that the size of such buildings be determined on the basis of two hundred square feet of building area for each of the estimated number of persons to be employed in the postoffice ten years hence, and that the limit of cost for such buildings be fixed in accordance with the following standards, allowing not more than 75 per cent additional to cover the cost of United States court accommodations: Class A, area required 4000 square feet or less, limit of cost $15,000; Class B, area required 4500 square feet, limit of cost $27,500; Class C, area required 5000 square feet, limit of cost $30,000; Class D, area required 5500 square feet, limit of cost $35,000; Class E, area required 6,000 square feet, limit of cost, $40,000; Class F, area required 6,500 square feet, limit of cost $45,000; Class G, area required 7,000 square feet, limit of cost $50,000; Class H, area required 8,000 square feet, limit of cost $60,000; Class I, area required 9,000 square feet, limit $70,000; Class J, area required 10,000 square feet, limit of cost $80,000; Class K, area required 11,000 square feet, limit of cost $90,000; Class L, area required 12,000 square feet, limit of cost $100,000.

"That standard plans of several types be prepared for each class of buildings, and one of the type plans of its class can be used in the construction of every public building except those that must be treated as special projects.

"That an amount equal to 20 per cent of the amount authorized for a government building be fixed as the maximum cost of a site therefor.

"That a limit sum appropriation of $10,000,000 be made annually for public building work, to be expended in accordance with the plan herein recommended.

The postmaster general sets forth what the appropriations are for several Florida cities and what they would be under his plan, as follows: Live Oak—Appropriated, $50,000; cost under Burleson plan, $25,000. Panama—Appropriated, $60,000; cost under Burleson plan, $24,000. St. Petersburg—Appropriated, $80,000; cost under Burleson plan, $46,000.

Bartow—Appropriated, $55,000; cost under Burleson plan, $30,000. Deland—Appropriated, $65,000; cost under Burleson plan, $30,000. CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Will Have Two Weeks At Beautiful Enterprise

Plans are fast being completed for the Florida Young Woman's Conference, to be held at Epworth Inn on Lake Monroe, opposite Sanford, June 24 to July 8th, under the auspices of the Young Woman's Christian Association.

All the joys of out of doors and the freedom of camp life are to be combined with special conference features; simple Bible and Mission study classes, under the technical guidance of the college girls; inspirational talks around the camp fire in the evening or vesper by the lake; talks on the various forms of service which is being given to the world today, and in general, to give these young women who attend a vision of the "more abundant life," and of their place in the world.

The High School girls are expected to come in large numbers, and there will doubtless be many exciting tennis tournaments and water sports between the different High Schools of the state.

The Camp Fire Girls are especially invited to make this their summer camping experience, and they will have opportunity to win many honors under competent leadership. The many beautiful walks around Enterprise offer strong inducements to win the honor of "tramping forty miles in ten days," and in the Deary swimming pool which has been placed at the disposal of the guests during the conference they may learn to be the "two standard diver" or learn to swim their "four standard styles." Besides the honors which may be won in Health Craft the Camp Fire Girls can put their knowledge of Camp Craft to practical use, and as for Nature Lore the Smithsonian Institute is said to be richer in botanical specimens from Enterprise than any other part of Florida.

The young women in our Florida colleges are manifesting much interest in the conferences, and large delegations are expected to come from all the colleges. These girls will have their separate councils under the leadership of Miss Mary Dudley Powell, Student Secretary of the South Atlantic Field Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Representatives of the various young people's organizations will be present, Epworth Leagues, Christian Endeavors, B. Y. P. U.'s, Missionary societies, etc., and teachers of organized Sunday school classes have signified their intention of coming and bringing their entire classes with them. Young people from the Philathea classes, and leaders of all kinds of work among girls and young women are invited to come.

While in the early morning hours there will be classes and courses of an inspirational character for those who wish them, the afternoons will be left entirely free for recreation. This important feature of the conference will be in charge of a competent young college woman.

Tennis, croquet, fishing, rowing, driving and swimming will be among the attractions, and swimming lessons will be given. Among the many delightful walks which can be taken to nearby points of interest is Benson Springs, celebrated for its healing waters, and Green Springs, only a short distance away. Across the road from Green Springs is the home of Bueni Retiro, the first white settler in Florida to branch out from the original settlement at St. Augustine. Near there, is an old Indian Mound, in which arrow heads and Indian pottery may be found even today.

Stone Island, on which lives a well known Florida artist, Lemon Bluff, Woodlawn Park, and Blue Springs will be among the objective points for picnic trips, and automobiles will be prepared to take special parties over to DeLand, which is only twelve miles away. At the conference will extend over the 4th of July a special patriotic celebration will take place on that day.

A number of very prominent speakers have consented to be present at the conference, among them Dr. Jenkins, president of Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., who comes especially to meet the young women of Florida, Dr. R. A. Carnine of DeLand, Dr. George Hyman of Sanford, Miss Emma Tucker, a well known Bible teacher in the south, Mrs. Mabel Stevens of Gainesville, Mrs. B. F. Holland of Bartow, and Mrs. Abner Brown, an accomplished musician and Sunday school teacher from Waco, N. Y. Miss Lena Brown, General Secretary of the Jacksonville Y. W. C. A., will be in charge of the conference, and Miss Mary Dudley Powell, Student Secretary of the South Atlantic Field Committee of the Y. W. C. A. will be there for the college girls.

Application to attend this conference should be made to the Young Woman's Christian Association, 42 West Adams St., Jacksonville, Fla., and each application must be accompanied by the registration fee of one dollar.

Board for the two weeks will be $10.00, and special reduced railroad rates can be secured for parties of ten. Further particulars may be obtained by applying to the Young Woman's Christian Association. As the hotel accommodations are limited those who desire to go should make application at once, so reservations can be made for them.

This conference, which will be conducted like a Girls' Summer Camp, is the first of its kind in Florida, and meets a long felt need, for it offers a rare opportunity to the girls and young women of Florida to combine a delightful vacation trip at slight expense, with the inspirational features of a conference which has heretofore been available to only a few. No mother need fear to let her daughter come alone, and every young woman who would like to take advantage of such an outing is invited to attend.

PERFORMING A DUTY

Every Voter Should Study the Situation Well
At stated periods every citizen is called upon to perform at the ballot box a duty which he owes to himself, to the community in which he lives, to his state and nation, and to his fellowman.

the conscientious and judicious wielding of the ballot on election days, and the man who neglects or fails to righteously perform that duty, hastens the day when posterity will curse him for such neglect and failure; while those who are stalwart and march to the polls and judiciously and fearlessly cast their ballots for the interests and protection of society, hasten the day when these will rise up to applaud and bless them for a duty performed.

Prize. Holly, we thought you were talking about something. We came from where water is only used for laundry and cleaning purposes.

The Sanford Herald's political edition was a hummer. It will prove not only valuable to the candidates, but furnish information to the voter that he could not obtain otherwise.

Thanks and if you stop in Sanford you will need a semi-abdominal bandage in order to carry your load without spilling it. Spelling of water, of course.

Hon. J. N. C. Stockton made many new friends here today meeting the people and he will make many more here tonight when he has the opportunity to address the people. His words ring true and his record is clear and it will be his time to serve the people as their United States Senator.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Reporter-Star of Orlando is due the congratulations of the state press—in fact double congratulations. Joe Hugh Reese, formerly of the Orlando Sentinel and the next representative of Orange county has purchased a half interest in the Reporter-Star and will take charge of the editorial department of the paper.

THAT COUNTY DIVISION

The editor of The Herald is sorry that the Orlando papers or some of the Orange county people are of the opinion that Seminole county intends to take more territory from Orange. This paper made its position very plain several weeks ago but it was not clear enough for our neighbors on the south and they have started the "wolf" cry about county division and want the candidates to announce their position on the subject.

Seminole county wants no more territory. We have all that is necessary at the present time, but as The Herald explained or attempted to explain there is a small strip of land west of the Wekiva that was in the original plan but in some manner was pitched at the last moment and put in Orange. It is only a few miles in extent and but six families live in it but these people are very desirous of coming into Seminole county because they were forced and are now forced to take the train to Sanford and then go to Orlando to attend to their county affairs.

aid promised these families that Seminole would take them in. Representative Lake promised them that Seminole county would take them in and Seminole will. There is no argument over it and there will be none. We hope that with these few words we can remain yours truly, etc.

COUNTY HOSPITALS

Referring to the meeting of the State Medical Association in Orlando the Morning Sentinel of April 15th contained the following:

"An interesting discussion was precipitated yesterday afternoon when Dr. J. H. Hodges of Gainesville offered a resolution that the legislative committee be directed to draw a bill for presentation at the next session of the legislature to authorize the several counties to levy a millage for the erection and maintenance of county hospitals.

"The idea was greatly approved, but there was some opposition apparent. It being contended by some that the commissioners of the counties already had the authority of take care of the indigent sick at the poor houses.

"Dr. Hodges replied to this by saying that a poor house was not a hospital, and all knew what it meant usually to take a sick man to a poor house. He said that a model hospital was needed in many of the counties, if not in all, and that the care of the sick who might be sent to such refuges was at present a burden which was borne by a few in each community.

"The friends of Mr. Stockton have been dignified in everything. They have not in one single instance gone behind the official record of Mr. Fletcher. When this official record was held up to public view sentiment began to grow in favor of retiring Mr. Fletcher and electing a Progressive Democrat who will not make mistakes against the interests of the people.—The Statesman.

MUST BE VERY CAREFUL

From this time on the discussion of the demerits of all political candidates must be done behind closed doors, upon the five points of the corrupt practices law, and then in a low breath! Hush-h! It seems a pity that a candidate may go about the country circulating false tales of his own prowess to a public that has not paid particular attention to his acts of chicanery, and have the law step up and say no newspaper may correct any of the statements made the day before election—unless an eighteen day notice be served on the disciple of Ananias!

If one knows that a candidate has made false statements as to his eligibility and can prove it, if one knows that some candidate has accepted graft in various forms; if one knows that a candidate is dishonest in a dozen ways, and only seeks an election in order that the public may again be fooled and robbed; if one knows all these things, actually knows them, he cannot give the disgusting details to the public without the risk of a fine of enormous size. And it would seem better to let the public, the public which seeks to be come posted as to the misdeeds of a would be official, make the error of placing him in office than to allow the press to make public matters of vital interest.

There seems to be something radically wrong in the rulings of the law. The old time practice of starting some malicious tale at the last moment was one to be deplored; possibly this law was made to prevent such work; but the law seems to be working over time on the subject. Had it said that nothing against a candidate could be published within three days of the day of the primary, without first filing a sworn statement with the said person, it would have allowed time in plenty for an answer—but to make the time eighteen days, nearly three weeks, seems absurd.

However, there is nothing now to be done but to smile and bear the weight, which may fall upon the innocent tax payer because there is no way of legally informing him of the absolute unfitness of some of those who seek political preferment at the polls.—Palm Beach Post.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT

Now that the primary election is less than two weeks off it is a much easier task to forecast the results than it was a short time before public sentiment became so pronounced as it is for certain men in the race for the different offices.

There is little interest in the congressional races in the various districts, and most of the excitement is manifested in the Senatorial contest. The battle has practically been fought, for no new charges will be injected into the race, and unless that great barometer—Public Sentiment—is falling, it indicates the real condition of affairs. John N. C. Stockton will surely represent Florida in the United States senate.

This has been an unusual campaign in that the two leaders have done very little of the campaigning and have left it to their friends to do. As a result, the friends of Progressive Democracy have gone into the highways and byways in an endeavor to have that able exponent of People's Rule sent to Washington, where he may cooperate with such men as are serving the cause for which the people have long striven.

When the campaign opened many of Mr. Stockton's friends feared that the old worn out plea of a second term would militate against him, but the voters of Florida were too sensible to pay any attention to it. There were few voters who had not kept up with Mr. Fletcher's record, and it is this record which has been closely considered with men like Lirimor and Bailey which has caused public sentiment to avert to Mr. Stockton.

The State is glad to see public sentiment so strong for Mr. Stockton. It shows that the majority of our people resent any unfitness on the part of a public official. Florida might have excused the senior senator for voting a few times with the Republicans; they might have forgiven him for sending the Bailey telegram; they might have prevented increasing the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission; they might have explained, and even the Legislature might have passed as a mistake, but when they so closely follow each other the people forgive, but they cannot forget.

The friends of Mr. Stockton have been dignified in everything. They have not in one single instance gone behind the official record of Mr. Fletcher. When this official record was held up to public view sentiment began to grow in favor of retiring Mr. Fletcher and electing a Progressive Democrat who will not make mistakes against the interests of the people.—The Statesman.

PAOLA POINTS

Everybody in this neck of the woods is working for the election of L. P. Hagan as county commissioner. We do not wish to disparage former commissioners, but we have certainly never known what could be done for us until Mr. Hagan held the office. He has already made many improvements in our roads, has been ready to listen to all our "tales of woe," and help us all he could. In fact, he is interested in his job, which we appreciate, and our voters will do their part to continue him in the office for which he seems so especially adapted.

C. D. Pearson attended the postmasters' convention at St. Augustine last week.

F. C. Tate and Claude Wambler returned from a short trip to Jacksonville on Friday.

Mrs. Sarah Smith is expected home from Port Tampa in a few days to spend the summer vacation.

Miss Helen Reasoner spent a few days with the Misses Pearson recently.

Miss Murray, our school teacher of last winter was married shortly after the close of school.

Paola young people spent an hilarious evening lately, taking a straw ride. If all their startling adventures were chronicled too much space would be required. So we will only say that their team of mules were veritable racers, and their driver a son of Ham beyond compare for skill and activity. Some of the young ladies were "spilled out," and had to run for miles before they met the valiant knights who were hastening to their rescue, encountering a wild bandit, whom they caught and made cry for mercy, etc. But the flying team was stopped at last and—"All's well that ends well."

The fine rains of the last two weeks have greatly refreshed all vegetation, and have made animal life much more comfortable, but it is feared did not come in time to save the orange crop. There is yet a chance for a "June blossom," however, and there is no use complaining anyway.

Henry Ward, who is home for a few days from his multitudinous duties with the Ward Fence Co., of Decatur, Indiana states that many hundreds of men are out of employment in the north and that it is a relief to get to Florida where everyone seems to be working and making a living. Bates for Assessor. Editor Sanford Herald: It was with pleasure that I read the comment of Mr. C. H. Laffer, in your election edition relating to the candidacy of Thomas K. Bates for the position of Assessor of Seminole county.

As an old time resident of this section I wish to state that I know of no one who has done so much in the same length of time for this city and county than has Mr. Bates. I have read dozens of letters he has written to the papers lauding our climate, the productivity of our soil and the healthfulness of our location. Mr. Bates has consistently given a booster for us during his residence and it seems a small reward to present to him when we elect him our assessor for the coming period of two years.

I am not prejudiced in favor of Mr. Bates because of his activity in boosting our resources and creating Seminole county but I believe he is the logical man at this time for the place he seeks, primarily on account of his activity in local affairs here for the past five years which has taught him that the holders of tracts of land are asking for their property, thus giving him a definite understanding as to what it should be assessed at per acre.

In digging up unassessed values, Mr. Bates is doing a splendid job for the small property owner who is already paying his full pro rata of the taxes, as the majority of these additional values should have the desired effect of reducing the millage for the year 1914. I believe in Mr. Bates and trust that the voters of the county and they will also believe in him to the extent that he will be re-elected to the Assessor's office, which I deem to be the most important in the county, as it has directly to do with every one of us in a very material way.

Your very truly, CHARLES W. ZANO

GREAT DRAWING CONTEST NOW ON

Trip to Washington and Fine Plauo Given Away. As will be seen by the large advertisement of the progressive and enterprising firm of D. A. Caldwell & Sons, they are pulling off quite a big thing in the way of a prize contest. It has been the custom of this firm for the past year to have at least one drawing contest every thirty days, and those who have been so fortunate in their former contests no doubt will be anxious to enter this contest, which is destined to be the biggest one yet.

The first prize is to be an upright piano of a very handsome appearance and tone, while the second prize is one that every one would like to win, which is a trip from Sanford, Fla., to Washington, D. C., and return and the third prize is a handsome 9x12 art square.

This contest it seems will be conducted along different lines from their former contests or drawings. A member of the firm stated to a Herald reporter that wherein this contest differed from the others was, that in the former drawings all purchasers of small amounts stood equal show with those patrons who spent hundreds of dollars with them annually, while the winners in this contest are declared by the holder of the largest number of votes; but they have made provision for those who might not be heavy buyers, by placing on sale their new Trade Coupon Books, and giving ten thousand votes to any one selling any of these books, which makes this one of the fairest and swiftest contests our people have had the opportunity to participate in.

DICKSON HAS A WORD

Would Speak to the People About School Matters

To the Voters of Seminole County: I presume it is futile for me to continue the controversy with my opponent. In his letter in the special edition of The Herald he gives me a fine opportunity to hold him up to ridicule and derision, but ridicule is not argument and I will not take advantage of it.

Any one familiar with the school laws will see at a glance the absurdity of his position. To those not conversant with the laws I wish to point out the fact that he proposes to abdicate unto himself the functions of examining board, local trustees, superintendent and civility board of public instruction. It is barely possible that the examining board, the local trustees, the superintendent and the other members of the board might object, and he

Saved Girl's Life

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sherrill Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for a gripe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy.

If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

FEW CHINESE IVORY CARVERS

There Are Only Six Expert Workers Distributed Among Forty Shops in Canton.

There are in Canton about forty shops which make and sell ivory articles, the Daily Consular Report states. Each store is small, consisting usually of a showroom, where the cutting is done. Members of the store also usually work in the showroom. The industry may be divided into two stages, cutting and carving. Tasks imported from Siam, constitute the raw material. These are first cut with a saw to the shape capable of being worked by carving. The cutting apparatus consists of a wooden block or vise, a saw and a tub of water. The ivory is secured firmly by the vise, moistened with water and cut to the required shape.

Perfectly flat pieces of ivory as thin as paper were shown in evidence of the skill of the cutter. The cutting finished, the blocks are then carved into shape with knives of many different shapes. These have a short blade and a long handle made of bamboo, like a penholder. Other instruments noted to be in use by carvers were wire saws and a gimlet worked by a leather winding apparatus.

The number of expert workers in Canton is far less than the number of stores, being only about six in number. The term of apprenticeship served by the experts is four years. An apprentice receives no wages, but gets $4 Canton currency as "shoe money" at the end of the first year, $5 at the end of the second year, $6 at the end of the third year and $7 at the end of the fourth year, which is all the compensation he receives. A good worker gets $7 to $8 Canton currency per month. Canton currency silver money is about half the equivalent of gold. Apprentices and good workers are provided with two meals a day, supplied by their employers. An expert carver seldom works in the shop which employs him. He generally works in his own house and can earn about $30 Canton currency a month.

The working hours are from 7 a. m. to 9:30 p. m., with intermission from 9:30 to 10:30 for morning meal, 1:30 to 2 for lunch in a tea shop and 5:30 to 7:30 for evening meals; in all, ten hours a day.

There are about 316 working days in the year, 44 holidays being deducted from the 360 days, which are reckoned one year, according to the lunar calendar.

The Swineherd.

This story is being told of a certain English bishop who has a pleasant habit of chatting with anybody he may meet during his country walks.

The other day he came across a lad who was looking after some pigs by the roadside, and the bishop paused to ask him what he was doing, that being his usual opening to conversation.

"Molodin' swine," the lad replied stolidly.

The bishop nodded his head thoughtfully.

"Ah, is that so?" he commented. "And how much do you earn a week?"

"Two shillings," was the reply.

"Only two shillings," remarked the bishop; then he continued pleasantly: "I, too, am a shepherd, but I get more than two shillings."

The lad looked at him seriously for a minute, then he said slowly: "Mebbe you gets more swine nor me to moid!"

Origin of Trial by Jury.

A trial by jury is an occurrence of which we read every day, but how many of our readers know the origin of such a trial?

The origin of trial by jury is very obscure. All that is known for certain is that from the earliest times the Anglo-Saxons and other Germanic tribes showed a decided preference for the number twelve when forming a committee to determine upon the guilt or innocence of a person.

The legal existence of jurors was first recorded under the Plantagenets. During the reign of Queen Elizabeth a jury which could not agree was sent to prison, and also at the same period a banquet was generally given to the jury by the successful litigant. This latter fact naturally made the jurymen anxious to prove the innocence of their victim, especially when he happened to be wealthy.

The Scorcher. Simon Ford was talking about the French chauffeurs employed by some of New York's multimillionaires.

"These chaps," he said, "often get as much as $250 a month and found just for looking pretty. For they won't clean a car; they won't repair it; they'll only drive it.

"And they drive it fast! They're scorcher! Yes, they're scorcher, both literally and figuratively.

"I heard of an elderly Irish cook who got engaged to a dashing, young chauffeur from Marneffe. She said to her mistress, after announcing this betrothal:

"My husband that is to be, mum, is such a scorcher that it's best to derin'. Saturday he picked me up after knockin' me down with his horse; Sunday we got engaged; and today I had that he already owes me $100."

Revenge.

"Will you marry me, Miss Gussie?"

"No, Mr. Jibbs."

"Oh, thank you! I was so afraid you'd say yes, for you see, the fellows were betting my fellow had the nerve to ask you and I took it up in spite of the risk."

OWES MAN CAR FARE

ONLY A NICKEL, BUT IT IS WORRYING MRS. STANDISH.

Hubby Had Missed the Car, but She Thought He Was on the Back Platform, and Insisted That He Produce.

When the conductor came through he stopped before Mrs. Standish and said: "Fa—ur—urs, please."

Mrs. Standish swallowed a peppermint lozenge whole and said:

"My husband will pay for me."

The conductor looked around on the crowded ranks of femininity doubtfully.

"Where is he?" he asked.

"On the back platform. He stayed out there to smoke."

"There are a dozen men out there," was the reply. "How am I to know which one belongs to you? What kind of looking man is he?"

"Handsome. He is tall, he wears a blue overcoat, and he's got the nicest black mustache, and the kindest brown eyes you ever saw."

The conductor went away, only to return a moment later.

"Say," he said, "he won't pay. He says you ain't his wife."

"Well, what do you think of that?" gasped Mrs. Standish. "You must have asked the wrong man."

"That's what I thought. To make sure I got the right one, I asked every man out there."

Mrs. Standish blushed deeply. "This is outrageous," she said. "I can appreciate a joke as well as anybody, but this is carrying it a little too far. Oh, dear, I wish the car wasn't so crowded so I could get out there. Tell him, please—the dark-eyed man—that I don't want to make a scene, but that if he don't quit playing the fool and pay my carfare I'll be obliged to come out there in a minute."

"Yes, ma'am," said the conductor. Again he retired to the rear of the car. When he came through the next time he nodded to Mrs. Standish encouragingly.

"It's all right," he said. "He paid up."

After a while the car stopped at Mrs. Standish's street. She went out the front way and waited for Standish to join her. But the car passed and he did not appear.

She stood at the corner looking anxiously up and down the street. Soon another car stopped and Standish got out.

"You needn't say a word," he said. "It's your own fault. A truck got in the way and I couldn't catch that car you got in to save my neck. I called to you to get off, but you didn't hear. I worried all the way uptown, I knew you'd be hopping mad because I didn't come inside."

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Standish. "I'm not thinking about that. What I am worrying about is, what on earth did that man think who paid my car fare?"

"You needn't say a word," he said. "It's your own fault. A truck got in the way and I couldn't catch that car you got in to save my neck. I called to you to get off, but you didn't hear. I worried all the way uptown, I knew you'd be hopping mad because I didn't come inside."

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Standish. "I'm not thinking about that. What I am worrying about is, what on earth did that man think who paid my car fare?"

"You needn't say a word," he said. "It's your own fault. A truck got in the way and I couldn't catch that car you got in to save my neck. I called to you to get off, but you didn't hear. I worried all the way uptown, I knew you'd be hopping mad because I didn't come inside."

Favors Organized Labor

Editor Herald: Some question has arisen as to my attitude toward organized labor. Being a man who is almost entirely dispossessed, I am unable to see how this idea became afloat, and to show my attitude toward organized labor, I attach hereto a copy of a letter written me by Hon. J. C. Brown, United States Marshal, Southern District of Florida.

Department of Justice, Office of United States Marshal Southern District of Florida, Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 2, 1913 Mr. T. K. Bates, Sanford, Fla.: Dear Sir—Kindly advise me whether or not you could accept appointment as Deputy United States Marshal at salary of $1,000 per annum. Residence in Jacksonville.

Yours very truly, J. C. BROWN, United States Marshal, Southern District of Florida.

This opportunity came to me unsolicited and I presume as a reward for the interest I took in assisting Mr. Brown to secure the above appointment which is the only position of any importance that has ever been given a wearer of overalls in Florida. I wrote one hundred and eighty six letters to men of prominence, city councils, boards of trade and boards of county commissioners in the Southern District of Florida in the interest of Mr. Brown, securing many valuable indorsements, and besides I was largely responsible for securing endorsements for Mr. Brown from the Governor's Cabinet. In addition to this I wrote many newspaper articles in behalf of Mr. Brown's candidacy and the fact that Mr. Brown secured the position in the face of the very strongest opposition shows that my work in behalf of organized labor must have contained some potency and virility; and that I am not the capitalistic foe of the man who is making an effort to better his own condition and that of his wife and family by allying himself with a trade organization.

Yours very truly, THOMAS K. BATES, Assessor of Taxes. (adv.) 78-4tc

His Didn't Stick. "Robert," asked the teacher, "did you throw any of those paper wads sticking on the blackboard?" "No," replied Robert. "Mine didn't stick."—Judge.

TRICE'S TRUMPETER (Articles Published under this Heading furnished by M. P. A. Bureau, Jacksonville)

The responsibility of citizenship which we will be called upon to exercise at the polls within a few days should not weigh too lightly upon men. Governmental questions of momentous importance are always involved in general elections, and in this state a primary election to all intents and purposes is equivalent to a general election. Officials are to be chosen upon whose unwavering wisdom and unyielding integrity the prosperity and happiness of the commonwealth is involved, and into whose hands, therefore, the tranquility of the people for a time is entrusted. Hence it follows that the franchise is a privilege that should be exercised with the greatest caution and only after the most serious study of resultant conditions to follow. He who undertakes this study by reading or hearing only one side of the questions involved, is apt to become narrow and prejudiced, and equally as unfit to help shape the destinies of his country as the fellow who accepts his patriotic impulses second hand from the cross roads or street corner politician.

For the privilege we now enjoy, nearly a century and a half ago, our forefathers dyed the Atlantic Seaboard a deep crimson with martyr blood, and dotted the forest thence to the Mississippi with the bleaching bones of those immortal heroes who followed Washington. The justice of their acts has been attested by the blessings of Providence, and their wisdom vouchsafed by the unparalleled stability of our government. The rise and fall of constitutional government in name only has filled to a crowded condition the cemetery of nations, but the government of Washington goes on forever. In the firmament of world achievement it is the Star of Hope to which the eyes of oppressed humanity are turned. Therefore, the responsibility is great, and in the manner of its discharge we would give our very best thought.

Bi-ennially, just preceding our primaries, certain sections of our state are infested with all sorts of clap-trap for the guidance of voters. In most cases the agitators are from other states, and their main object is the corraling of the dimes, quarters and dollars of the people. To do this they have learned the Barnum idea of fooling and humbugging the people. Barnum declared the secret of his great financial success was the glory in being humbugged. So others are emulating him, and this is the harvest season with them. It therefore becomes necessary for the people to be alertly watchful for the snares set for them as well as very careful of the brand of political economy teachings they give up their good money for.

One gentleman who abrogates to himself a divine right to think and act for all the people of his community, wrote me last week that people who entertain the views I express in some of my writings ought to be "tarred and feathered and placed in the national museum as a relic of bygone days." I wrote the fellow I hoped he felt better. And I certainly do. There ought to be some enjoyment coming to him in this life. He may not have time for enjoyment in the next. In the long research of an ordinary lifetime I find no record, in modern or ancient literature, or but one individuality who is utterly devoid of toleration. We know him by various names, but more generally as the controlling head of the infernal regions. In this one particular at least my correspondent is rapidly likening himself unto his preceptor.

But I started out to tell you of the advisability of doing some thinking for yourself. Reformers have been with us almost since the beginning of time. They have been so persistent and so arrogant the people found it easier to yield than to contend, hence it became fashionable to give them anything they asked—including the lion's share—of the weekly stipend. But the millennium seems to be receding from the view instead of dawning, as they promised it would. The fault, therefore, must be in the system, and when a system conclusively proves its failure it is time to discard it and return to the moorings of the tranquil days. The moral is, think, Mr. Voter—think! think! and then think some more. When any one tells you a thing analyze it, dissect it, and find out if it is sound doctrine, then act as your judgment dictates. That is statesmanship. Blind following is paganism, the rotting core at the heart of civilization. (adv.)

BONDS OF SANFORD SOLD AT PREMIUM; WERE IN DEMAND CREDIT OF SANFORD ESTABLISHED BY GOOD SALE WILL BE USED FOR MANY IMPROVEMENTS

SOLD AT BETTER THAN 103 AND SIXTEEN FIRMS MADE BIDDERS FOR THE BONDS

Sanford is one of the most flourishing cities of the size in the entire south and not only has the city the appearance in the business aspect, banks, farms, and factories but the credit of the city's credit and standing in the financial world and the best evidence of the city's credit is the sale of city bonds made last Friday. The bonds sold at a premium of better than 103 and there were sixteen firms here to buy the bonds, two of the same having personal representatives. This activity on the part of the bond firms to buy city bonds just at this time when the bond markets are at a low ebb speaks in most glowing terms for our city. It demonstrates more than anything else that our city has the strongest backing of the most agricultural country in the world. It demonstrates that our city is growing so rapidly that the future is assured. It means that the location at the head of navigation on the St. Johns river and the confidence of the citizens is manifested in the confidence of the men of finance who come here to buy the bonds and the price at which they sold is enough to place our city among the most progressive and substantial of the state.

The successful bidders were the firm of Hoehler, Cummings & Prudden, Toledo, their bid being $51,661.00 and accrued interest for 5 1/2 per cent.

The bond money will be used for taking up some of the debts of the city and allowing several important improvements to take place, such as the making of sidewalks to Sanford Heights, improving the lake front and making streets.

In fact the sale of bonds will act as a lever to move this city forward and many improvements will be carried this summer that have been languishing for the past twelve months. The city council and the bond trustees are to be congratulated upon the sale and every citizen of Sanford can feel proud of the fact that the credit of Sanford is above par.

There will be more developments and greater developments in Sanford this summer than ever before and many of the projects were hanging by the bond issue. Not only is the city benefited but private enterprises can now go forward backed by the credit of the city and other men will be willing and anxious to put their money in Sanford enterprises because Sanford looks good in the bonding firms.

Following is the tabulated list of bidders for the bonds as compiled by the bond trustees:

- Issue of $50,000, refunding, but at 5 per cent bonds of the city of Sanford, Florida; $1,000.00 July 1st, 1914; $10,000.00 July 1st, 1914; $15,000.00 July 1st, 1914; $20,000.00 July 1st, 1914. Payable interest and principal, at the National Park Bank, New York City. Bonds opened at 5 p. m., May 29th: Security Savings Bank & Trust Co., Toledo, O., $51,940.00 and interest, 6 per cent. W. F. Miss Norma Herndon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon had the misfortune to break her arm in two places last Friday afternoon. Norma and her sister were riding a bicycle when the handle bars turned throwing them forward and in falling Norma twisted one of her arms under her in such a manner that the member was broken in two places. The break is very painful and it will be several months before she can have the use of it again.

Headquarters in Jacksonville The Florida Growers News has moved their main office to Jacksonville and Mr. Jas. McComb is busy in that city arranging for the same. The News will be located in the St. James building but the paper will be published in the Herald office here. The change of the office was found necessary in order that the Georgia field could be covered better. Mr. McComb, the editor, and George Hoff, the business manager will both reside in Jacksonville in the future.

Those people in Florida who reside in sections affected by the recent cut in appropriations can thank Fletcher for being here when he should be on the job.

APPROPRIATIONS HAVE BEEN CUT

Senate Trims Florida and South Rivers and Harbors Bill

The senate committee cut out several small amounts in the house bill and reduced others, but added many new ones. The new appropriations proposed include: Five thousand dollars for the interoceanic waterway between Pensacola and Mobile; $125,000 Red river, $400,000 Red river $400,000 Jan Juan harbor, Porto Rico.

The committee increased the following items among others: Black Warrior river (Alabama) to $750,000; Chesapeake and Delaware canal to $2,250,000; Harbor of Refuge, Cape Lookout, North Carolina, to $1,000,000.

The committee cut down the house item of $600,000 for the waterway from Norfolk to Beaufort, N. C. to $200,000.

The committee also cut out items of $175,000 for the Oklawaha; $47,000 for the Kissimmee; and $25,000 for the Caloosahatchee rivers, all in Florida.

Playing Great Ball

A. B. Wallace is in the city this week, coming up from Loughman to vote. Wally is now pitching for the Loughman team, one of the best in the state and they have been putting it all over the other amateur teams of the state. His many friends here are giving Father Wallace the glad hand for there never was a boy who had more friends here and elsewhere than Wallace. One of the best ball players and good fellows that ever played in the Sandspur League. Wally is anxious for Sanford to get up a good team this summer and have the great American game become so much imbedded in the minds of the Sanford people to start a crusade for the big league to missions of their teams here. Orlando and other cities of Florida are making efforts to get one of the big teams for what training and Sanford could be a big one here.

Heart Rending Scene Funeral Ship Lands

Bodies of Empress of Ireland Victims are Brought Ashore. Almost a Thousand Souls Go Down With the Ill-Fated Ship

Montreal, June 1.—The latter lists furnished by the Canadian Pacific Railway, a total of 989 persons, perished in the wreck of the Empress of Ireland. The saved number 418.

Quebec, June 1.—Amid scenes of mourning this city today received the bodies of 188 victims of the Empress of Ireland disaster. In the presence of a solemn throng, blue jackets carried the coffins containing the dead ashore from the government steamer Lady Grey, which had brought them from Rimouski and laid them row by row in the black draped funeral shed on the pier. There amid pathetic scenes, many victims were recognized and claimed by relatives. It may be days before others are identified.

Besides the 188 bodies which the Lady Grey had on board, as escorted by H. M. S. Essex, who steamed into port today, eighteen have been identified and taken in charge at Rimouski by relatives. Search of the waters near Father Point, where the Empress of Ireland sank early Friday, has revealed few more of the victims, and it seems probable that the bodies of hundreds of more than nine hundred who perished lie imprisoned within the shattered hull of the steamer.

Investigation into the responsibility for the disaster begun yesterday before a coroner's jury at Rimouski, was adjourned for a week after Captain Henry G. Kendall and the chief engineer of the Empress of Ireland had given testimony placing the blame for the collision on the collier and declaring that the sinking of the liner was hastened by the seemingly deliberate withdrawal of the collier's prow from the hole it had made in the Empress' side.

The Storstad today completed the voyage from Sidney and docked at Montreal. Captain Anderson remained mute on the subject of the disaster, referring inquiries to the charterers of his craft, the Dominion Coal Company. The only statement he made was that the collier's engine had been reversed before the crash came, and that 350 persons were saved by the Storstad's crew. It had been charged at the inquest that the collier lay a mile and a half away from the scene of the disaster and that few people were rescued by her boats.

WATERWAY CONNECTION

St. Johns River to Kissimmee Will Be Agitated

Segment in Jacksonville is now being for a water connection between Lake Tohopekaliga and the St. Johns river. It will be remembered that at one time the city opposed the proposition on the grounds that it was believed that if the channel was constructed it would result in lowering the St. Johns river at Jacksonville or at tide water. But since reports have been made in regard to the matter and it has been demonstrated conclusively that there is no cause for apprehension in this respect, the report of the surveys showing that this section was not at such elevation as was believed and that locks would hold in reserve all the water for the proper channels instead of diverting it from the tide water. In view of the above facts Jacksonville people are now enthusiastic for the water connection.

Over a year ago Isaac Hall made a proposition in favor of the proposed water connections, addressing the people of Kissimmee and St. Cloud in an effort to bring some tangible result in relation to the project. Later the government took the matter into consideration and ordered a survey and finally a report was made public showing that the proposition was feasible and recommending it.

From an old geographical survey recently discovered it is learned that at one time there was a channel between the Kissimmee and the St. Johns rivers. In this survey the fact is developed that at an early period nature provided a channel between the Kissimmee and St. Johns rivers and that it has gradually been closed and the intervening lakes that now appear are the natural reservoirs of the waters from this former channel when the waters receded.

This knowledge dispels all apprehensions that might have been previously entertained that any artificial channel to connect Kissimmee and the St. Johns river would lower the water in the St. Johns at Jacksonville by diverting the waters from their natural course. If, as this survey shows, there was at one time a natural channel between the two rivers, it is reasonable to suppose that the same being between the Kissimmee and St. Johns rivers, much of which is naturally at that level, they land be reason of the natural drainage from nature's channel between the two waterways.

interested in the accomplishment of the canal and will in all probability cooperate with the people in this end of the state by the aroused sentiment in favor of the project. It is believed that the movement will receive such impetus that some effective work will result.

Representatives in both houses of congress will be asked to work for the measure in securing, if possible, an appropriation to carry on the work. It now looks bright for a water connection between the Kissimmee and St. Johns rivers, giving this section an outlet by water for the transportation of its commodities, and which will probably result in greatly reduced freight rates and increased prosperity here.

Rest Room Closed

Monday afternoon the Woman's Exchange and Rest Room, conducted under the auspices of the Welfare Dept., Woman's Club closed for the summer months but the committee having tested the need for a rest room have concluded to re-open in the fall in a more convenient location. For the benefit of the public a few words of explanation may not be amiss. Unquestionably its needs as a rest room have been fully demonstrated and the money contributed by generous public spirited men of Sanford has been well spent. Our registry shows something like a thousand visitors in less than six months to the rest room, and there have been many more who have not registered. Some of our merchants and a few others have objected to the sale of lunches and the exchange, but the expenses of the rest room had to be met in some way and it must be borne in mind that its use for the public was entirely free. The amount contributed by the men of Sanford is $19.00 per month. The expenses of the rest room, $36.00 per month, where then was to come the $17 extra unless by some such means as those adopted? The department in its first year of organization has not been able to finance the rest room, and in addition to the regular expenses there was a plumbing bill and repairs amounting to something like $50.00. Under the splendid management of Mrs. E. M. Vance, chairman of the rest room committee, ably assisted by her committee and Miss Alma Faganaro, the capable and efficient hostess of the rest room, the funds have been economically and judiciously expended.

THAT SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

Teacher is Not in Favor of Coronado Beach

Editor Herald: Sir—Kindly allow me space in your columns to register a protest against the Union Sunday School picnic as planned. I understand that New Smyrna has been chosen, a distance of something like ninety miles on a hot railroad train. Poor weary little children and tired mothers and teachers, provided there is a crowd, at the close of the day, and that the fare including ferry will be eighty-five cents for adults and fifty cents for children. Then there are the usual accessories to be considered, pop corn, soft drinks, chewing gum and all the delights of childhood, to say nothing of the lunch. Individually the amount is not so so large for such a distance, but collectively, in families from three to five or six, what about the cost? What about the little children whose one annual pleasure is a Sunday school picnic? The old fashioned Sunday school picnic in the woods or on the lake shore, with plenty of free lemonade and small eat is far more desirable. In behalf of the children of those parents who can't afford high priced I plead that they

Grand Jury Was Busy

After a week of hard work the Grand Jury of the spring term in the Seventh Judicial Circuit adjourned Saturday afternoon.

Careful investigations were made of all matters that properly come before such bodies and the presentments returned to the court will be handled in the usual way. One of the serious cases was the murder of Tom Mumford near Oviedo on the 26th of last March; five men were indicted and one plead not guilty of murder, but guilty of manslaughter, for his participation in this crime the court fixed the punishment at fifteen years in the penitentiary.

All of the court officials and attaches were of much assistance to the jury and by unanimous vote the thanks of the jury goes out to these able, conscientious and patient men. The Grand Jury also desires to publicly thank the Coca Cola Bottling Works for refreshment drinks during the trial.

By order of the Grand Jury, C. O. McALPIN, Clerk.

C. E. Meeting

There was a most enthusiastic meeting of the Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church held in the parlor of the manse Friday evening, May 29.

Quite a number were present and all seemed very much interested in the work of the new organization. After the exercises and transaction of business the social side of the society was discussed, with the result of a delightful chicken purloo to be given at the home of Mrs. Joe Harold Thursday evening, June second.

All members are requested to be at the manse at 5:30 o'clock on this date, as the conveyances will be there to conduct them to the scene of merriment.

GROWERS LEAGUE IS FLOURISHING

Growers and Shippers in Cover the Entire State

Orlando, May 30.—The executive committee meeting of the Florida Growers and Shippers' League was held in the office of the League at Orlando.

It was decided that during the present season an effort should be made to organize many sections of the state to support the work of the league. It was decided by the committee also to establish a traffic department in the league. Mr. Tenny was empowered to proceed with this organization, and it is expected that the department will be in running order before many weeks. The primary aim of this department will not be to handle claims, although arrangements will probably be made whereby certain claims may be handled for shippers who are members of the league. The major part of the work, however, will be devoted to analyzing freight and icing charges on Florida products in comparison to charges on similar products from other sections of the country. Mr. Tenny explained in detail the character of the work he desires to have done, and the committee were unanimous in feeling that it was very essential that this investigational work be undertaken.

CANDIDATES WERE HERE LAST FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

STOCKTON SPOKE FRIDAY NIGHT TO BIG CROWD

COUNTY CANDIDATES DEVELOPED ORATORY

CAMPAIGN CLOSES IN A GREAT BURST OF ORATORICAL EFFORT SATURDAY NIGHT

Sanford was some political town last Friday and Saturday night and these two nights made up for the lack of politics during the campaign. Hon. J. N. C. Stockton, candidate for United States Senator was in the city Friday afternoon, coming in by auto from the Winter Garden section and spoke on the street Friday night to one of the largest crowds that has gathered here this season. The next senator was introduced by ex-Mayor Spencer after Hon. William Shelley had been introduced by the ex-Mayor and made one of the finest talks to the labor man that has ever been delivered here. Mr. Shelley has been a life long friend of Mr. Stockton's and was full of his subject and he drove home some good solid truths to the men behind the guns. He was followed by Mr. Stockton who handled his subject in a most earnest and capable manner and in a convincing argument made his position toward the people most plain to every one. He took up the different questions of the day and gave the people something to think about. He was most generous to his opponent and stated the truths in a calm and peaceful flow of language that could not be misunderstood and it is a safe bet that his race in Seminole county will surprise even his best friends.

On Saturday night the county candidates held the boards for two solid hours and the large crowd stayed right on through to the last. For the entire campaign. Every candidate who has opposition in the race was obliged to say something and those who could not say much were supplied by those who were very anxious to talk and the campaign has brought out some great orators in the county. Those who attended the meeting were as a unit in saying that the public meeting was the thing and they learned more about the different candidates than they could have learned in any other way. These old fashioned speaking days advocated by the county executive committee and the money levied by them on the candidates was to have been expended all over the county in public meetings but the majority of the candidates were in favor of gum shoe campaigns and were afraid to get up and face an audience. Most of them were afflicted with stage fright and this was the principal reason they did not want public speaking but now that they have learned how it is done, they will probably ask for open meetings at the next campaign.

Yesterday was the last day for making a canvass of the situation and today the big questions will be decided. The campaign has been remarkable for the quiet manner in which it has been conducted and while many of the candidates have used space in the paper and made many statements regarding their candidacy the campaign has been free of personalities.

Let the best man win today and the county will probably go on just the same regardless of the result. Seminole county is bound to take a front rank among the counties of the state and a little matter like the election will not keep it from prospering.
