Postoffices And Other Government Buildings Are Given Construction Boon
Measure To Save Useless Delays
Work Begins Soon On All Projects Which Are Contemplated

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Construction of new postoffices and other federal buildings throughout the country will be speeded up by a bill which today passed the House of Representatives. The measure, authorizing expenditure of $100,000,000 in addition to a like amount already appropriated for the construction of postoffices in the District of Columbia, will also authorize the government to make it possible for the office and treasury departments to plan for new buildings in cities not provided for under the present program.

The bill allows the expenditure of $100,000,000 annually, to be allotted on a pro-rata basis among the various cities to be built. It also provides for the construction of new buildings in cities where the present program is not being carried out. ## HOOVER URGED TO ANNOUNCE HIS CANDIDACY

Supporters Of Cabinet Member For Presidential Nomination Are Trying To Get Him To Make Final Decision

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Hoover's presidential candidacy, which has been flowing more freely under the political surface for months, may be shoved boldly into the open within the next two weeks. The tactics of his supporters in Ohio have brought the cabinet candidate to a fork in the stream. In one direction lies a spirited and probably savage fight in the primary against Senator Frank B. Willis, they point out, and there is more than one likelihood that any appreciable number of Ohio's 51 delegates ever will be won under the Hoover banner at Kansas City next June.

If Hoover takes the advice of the majority of his "handlers" in Washington he will formally announce his candidacy within two weeks and authorize the posting of his name in Ohio on Feb. 24, the last date on which presidential candidates may file in the state. The men upon whom he has thus far relied for political guidance are advising him to do this—almost insisting upon it.

1928 HUDSON IS OF EXCEPTIONAL VALUE TO BUYER

Performance Of New Car Is Described As Phenomenal By Manufacturers; Three New Body Types Are Introduced

Once the new wheelbase Hudson presents a new series of standard models which meet the demand for exceptional Hudson performance in a group of cars of phenomenal Hudson quality value.

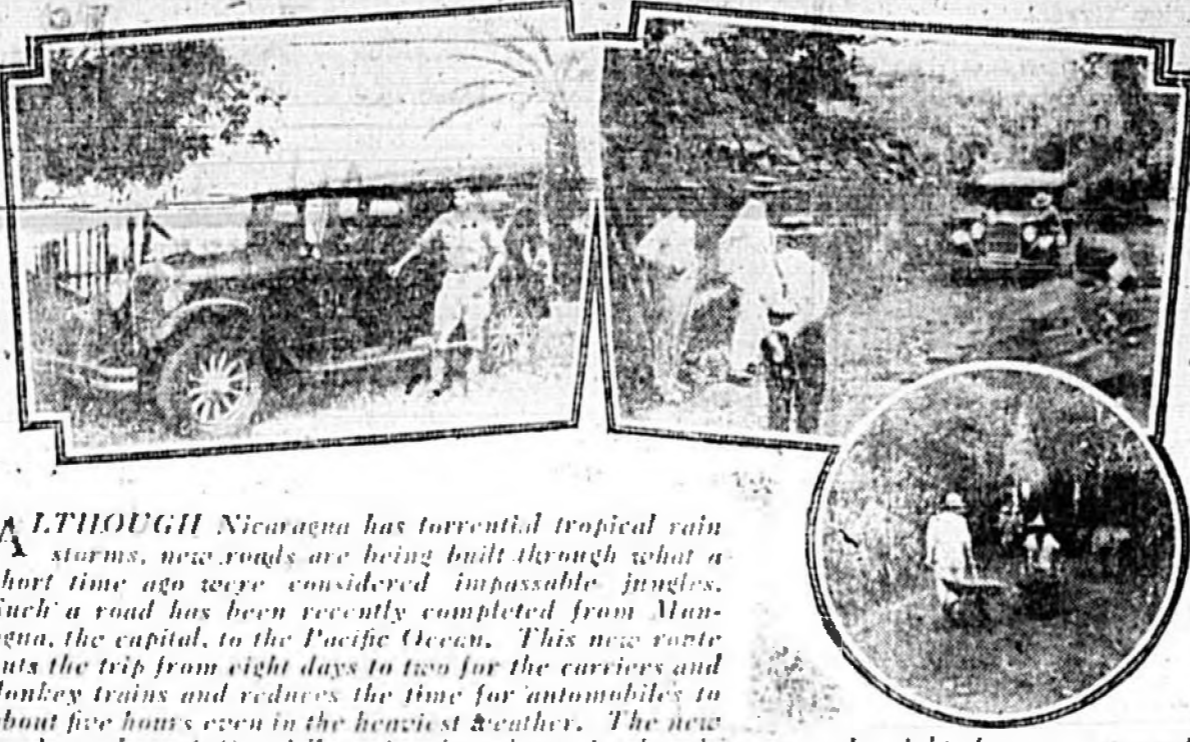

The new Hudson makes a notable contribution to the growing vogue for cars of American design and efficiency to make swift use of the world's greatest highway system.

Three new body types, a coach and four-door sedan and a coupe with rumble seat are available on a chassis which is precisely the same as the longer 127-inch Hudson chassis except for length. Later in the year there will be added an attractive roadster with rumble seat.

The new Hudson hood is long and high with a deep, slender radiator of new design. Headlamps, Colonial in character, are carried on a nickel-plated cross bar and braced by vertical standards from the frame. Contrasting with the light radiator design, fender with door openings, sweep widely out in one clean arc to a rounded edge. A sculptured, flat-winged figure caps the radiator. The distinctive character of this Hudson front end is carried back into the body with low, flat roof lines with wide fenders sweeping back to meet short running boards and with windows of low, clean lines.

Within the body is a complete new arrangement of mechanical parts and interior are deep for extra room and upholstery. Cushioning and upholstering. Cushioning and upholstering. Cushioning and upholstering.

Nicaraguan Officials inspect New Road From Managua to Pacific in Dodge Brothers Car Despite Tropical Storm

ALTHOUGH Nicaragua has torrential tropical rain storms, new roads are being built through what a short time ago were considered impassable jungles. Such a road has been recently completed from Managua, the capital, to the Pacific Ocean. This new route cuts the trip from eight days to two for the carriers and donkey trains and reduces the time for automobiles to about five hours even in the heaviest weather. The new road cut through Canal Zone jungles, shown in the pictures at the right, became a sea of mud shortly after the inspection in the Dodge Brothers car (left) began. With but few delays the trip was made on schedule according to the Nicaraguan Minister of Public Works, Mr. Gustavo Lopez, who accompanied the party.

which these cars have been designed and constructed. From space to working 1000 lbs. cars are now expected to have phenomenal performance. The engine quality obtained by Hudson's means having a long, semi-elliptic spring gives a sense of security to the driver. The high compression of the Hudson high compression engine is a power plant. A rain storm in the road and these roads in Honduras and Nicaragua show the new road.

NEW CHEVROLET WIDELY PRAISED BY AUTO BUYERS

Outstanding Developments In Engine And Chassis Are Subject Of Much Commendation; Other Changes Are Noted

Wildfire enthusiasm kindled throughout the country when the new Chevrolet line for 1928 went on display took particular account of the many mechanical innovations embodied in the new car.

Thousands who viewed the new models noted that the wheelbase was increased and bodies made roomier and more beautiful, also that the mechanical features had been developed to a measure heretofore unknown in the low price class.

Outstanding developments in the engine and chassis that received widespread endorsement were the increased speed and power of the new car, easier steering, four wheel brakes of new design, shock absorber springs marking an advanced trend toward riding comfort, and smoother engine performance.

The last mentioned feature was achieved by the use of constant clearance alloy "invar steel" pistons which make for smoother, more efficient motor performance. Further contributions toward this end were gained by raising the compression ratio and by stepping up the valve lifts. Through these changes maximum power is developed.

Other changes in the engine are the addition of a breathing system to the intake manifold, a new silencing engine valve, and a new silencing engine valve.

internals, while the rear brakes are the energized external, self wrapping type. Front and rear brakes have been proportioned to prevent side drag or pull. Each Brake has an individual adjustment at the wheels, while "stops" have been provided to make the adjustment process especially easy. Easy initial pedal application throws the front brakes into action. Further application throws front brakes harder into action and also brings the rear brakes into full play, so that it is possible to slide the rear wheels on dry pavement by using full pressure but not the front wheels.

The effect of this, according to Chevrolet engineers is to get uniform wear on the brake lining. The springs also are of extraordinary interest. Realizing that all uncomfortable spring action is the result of rebound after striking a bump, Chevrolet engineers set about to increase the friction of the springs and thus check the rebound.

Chevrolet Firm Will Banquet Sales And Service Force At Local

In appreciation of the splendid results achieved by the sales forces as well as service department, White-Higleyman, Inc., local Chevrolet Dealers, are giving a banquet tonight to their force at the Forrest Lake Hotel.

J. C. Trawick, one of the salesmen, said that he took no particular credit for selling Chevrolets, because it was only necessary to let a prospect drive one of them, and it was then easy to take his order.

A. T. White, member of the firm, made the following statement: "We attribute a great deal of our success in delivering Chevrolets to the fact that first the cars are delivered to us at the Atlantic Coast Line depot here in Sanford and are not driven great distances by inexperienced drivers, and again every car is thoroughly serviced by competent mechanics before it is delivered to the owner. And also to the fact that we have cars to deliver."

"We are more concerned about a Chevrolet prospect after he has purchased his car than we are before, and ask every owner to let us know his car in and let us know again after he has driven it a week or so.

Those attending the banquet were: S. D. Higleyman, T. White, secretary, C. Trawick, salesman, H. V. Duan, bookkeeper, Hodge, shop foreman and mechanic.

Sanford's First Effort

This afternoon marks the opening of Sanford's first automobile show at the Hotel Forrest Lake. Nine of the city's leading distributors have joined in staging this event, which gives promise of being an annual affair. It is an enterprise which has required much work on the part of those who are staging it and reflects the cordial relations which exist between local members of this line of business. It is a most praiseworthy effort and deserving of the hearty support of Sanford and Seminole County citizens.

Coming early in the year when practically every automobile manufacturing company has just announced its new models, the local show is particularly timely. The exhibition will have the added advantage of the reams of publicity that have filled the newspaper columns recently on the success of the National Automobile Show, the most notable event of its kind in the country. Other shows have been staged in practically every large city of the country and all of them have served to whet public interest in the newest innovations in the motor world. With people in a curious mood, the local exhibition should meet a most cordial reception.

Eighteen models will be on display, two from each distributor. The hotel lobby and ball room, with their most attractive surroundings, are peculiarly adapted to exhibiting the automobiles to an advantage and showing what refinements and perfection the makers have achieved in furnishing the new transportation fancies and necessities. Representatives, who are familiar with the various features of each model, will be on hand to demonstrate and explain the attractive details in construction and equipment.

One fact which the dealers are stressing, and we think it an excellent idea, is that no high pressure salesmanship will be indulged in. The chief purpose of the show is to give the public an opportunity to examine the cars and compare their qualities without undue interference. The distributors desire to show their goods first and do the selling later. In this aim they are quite right; with any other in mind they would be unsuccessful in attracting the people.

The Herald believes that when the show is over, its value will have been demonstrated. Dealers and the public alike will have benefited by it and that is what is most desired.

Another Important Experiment

Recent experiments in New York state have demonstrated the practicability of another phase of radio development. Radio communication between moving trains and railroad signal towers has been tried before, but not with the success which crowned the efforts made on a New York Central train last week.

General Electric officials stationed in a tower at Schenectady conversed clearly with New York Central executives traveling on a freight train. A fifty-watt radio transmitter was installed in the locomotive, getting its power from the headlight generator on the engine. A brass rail on the tender served as an aerial and on the caboose was placed a wire antenna. By means of a transmitter inside the cab, the trainmen and engineer were able to talk without difficulty.

The significance of the experiment may readily be seen. It bids fair to revolutionize present methods of communication on trains. Time, on a recent issue, set a three-fold value, describing it as follows: First, train crews need not signal one another with lanterns, flags or whistle-blasts, brakemen need not descend over moving cars tops to deliver messages to engineers, second, train dispatchers can give orders without stopping trains. Third, the voice complements automatic train signals.

IN DEFENSE OF THE SOUTH

FORE MYERS, TROPICAL NEWS

"Repeated efforts to humiliate to the credit of the South, by 'browbeating' her face the three-fourths and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution have been met by Senator Swanson of Virginia with a strong rebuke in an article prepared for the New York Times. Senator Swanson makes it plain that the South has no intention of being bullied into a trade with the North involving the eighteenth amendment and he expresses the resentment of leaders of southern thought when he denounces 'partisan vituperation' and 'the threatening language which has been so often applied to the South.'"

The senator's asperity does not cloud his logic and his statement of the attitude of southern states toward disfranchisement of the negro is a bright line in a welter of misrepresentation and misunderstanding. By reference to the supreme court decision and the congressional record he shows that no southern state has ever deliberately violated the fifteenth amendment, which provides that 'the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.'"

Education and other qualifications which have been set up have been repeatedly approved by the United States supreme court, by the southern states and the United States. It is not only members of the Union to impose such requirements in accordance with the Constitution. As president of a club this far. Of considerable interest in the state campaign this year is the new vote and its influence upon public affairs. The new voters are most likely to be swayed by interest in the state's development, for that is a vital question that Florida must weigh this year and continue to study for years to come. The voters in coming elections in Florida ought to think how they can further the state's growth rather than to bestow official honors.

HATHAWAY CLUBS

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

Formation of Hathaway clubs throughout Florida is an evidence of the strong state-wide appeal Mr. Hathaway's campaign is making. The clubs are being organized through a spontaneous genuine interest in his candidacy. Indications are that a large number of clubs will be organized and they will constitute an irresistible force against Al Smith and will vote in the national convention. We consider this an ample and practical manner of announcing. It provides the voters with the only important thing they will want to know as regards the presidential choice of delegates.—Jacksonville Journal.

The normal increase in the vote ought to be about ten per cent for four years, and since approximately 145,000 votes were cast in the primary of 1924, it may be reasonably expected that there will be not less than 160,000 votes this year. The increase in population may swell the votes to 175,000, for there are many newcomers who will cast their first vote for governor in Florida this year.

The new voters are not so much interested in jealousies, factional differences, or the residence of a man, whether it be in Milton, Orlando, Miami, Fort Myers or any other city, as they are in fitness to lead the state through the course of expansion it is now in. They will reach their decisions upon the basis of a man's capacity, proved by performance, and his record of achievement and public service. This situation will undoubtedly help Mr. Hathaway's cause, and the formation of clubs throughout the state will help to crystallize the sentiment among both old and new voters.

METHODIST ENTERTAINMENT

On Friday evening the Intermediate Department of the Methodist Sunday School was most pleasantly entertained by the teachers and officers at the Church, annex. Pink and white, the color scheme was effectively carried out with... Relay races, games and contests caused the evening hours to pass all too soon. The department was divided into two groups and the losing side was made to put on an original stunt, which was "Auntie's Way I went to Florida." Refreshments of salad, sandwiches, saltines, and hot chocolate were served late in the evening. Favors of unique Valentines were given. About 25 enjoyed this enjoyable affair.

ENGLISH PONDER BETTY NUTHALL'S TENNIS CHANCES

Thunderbolt-Like Overhead Service Expected To Crush All Opposition; Mother Says Daughter Is In Fine Trim

LONDON, Feb. 7.—(INS)—One of the great nationwide discussions in Britain at this moment is—will Betty Nuthall attempt to crush all opponents this year with a devastating, thunderbolt-like, Tiltensque overhead service during the great lawn tennis tournaments?

"Players, spectators and newspaper readers discuss the point from every angle and the main question put is:—'Would Miss Helen Hills be more troubled by the overhead smash than by the present fast awkwardly-breaking impetuous underhand service?'"

"I obtained the opinion of Mrs. Nuthall, who manages her daughter's affairs down to the slightest detail, on the point. She answered very frankly and explicitly, 'Betty,' she said, 'has been practicing an overhead service for three years. I now believe it is very good service. I think very few women players have an overhead service as good.'

Coached By Husband

"I have followed implicitly the wishes of my husband, who taught Betty her game stroke by stroke—one stroke at a time. It was his wish, when she began to practice an overhead service when she was thirteen, that she should not attempt to use it in any way until she was twenty."

"The time has now arrived. In the preliminary tournaments this year, Betty will use the overhead service. We shall both, very closely, watch its effect."

"If, after two or three months' trial, I come to the conclusion that this method is less effective than her underhand stroke, then I shall advise her to return to the old method, which in the main, has set well."

"But, please, do make it known that Betty is not adopting the overhead service just because Miss Helen Hills is coming here, and champion on more equal terms. To say that as many people are because she wishes to meet the player on more equal terms. To say that as many people are saying it would be unfriendly and unfair to Miss Hills, a great sportsman."

"Please make it clear that Betty will play the overhead service just in the normal evolution of her game and its value to her game will be decided entirely on its results."

This declaration by Mrs. Nuthall will interest all lawn tennis fans for two solid reasons.

The first relates to Betty personally. During the winter she has put only grown considerably taller, but she has also put on a good deal of weight. Physically, she now dwarfs Miss Hills, and many of her admirers are wondering whether she will retain the fleet footed activity for any length of time which, in the past, has been one of the great features of her game.

Movie Contracts

Apart from this, many of her friends are asking whether her "movie" contracts will not interfere very seriously with her tennis. She takes her new occupation very seriously, and the mental effort might go far to diminish the light-hearted nature of her tennis—litter one of her greatest assets.

The second reason affects her chief opponents in Britain. Mrs. Godfree (Miss Kitty Mc Kane), Miss Joan Fry, Miss Eileen Bennett, and Miss Gwen Fay. All formidable antagonists. Mrs. Godfree has beaten Miss Hills twice in important games and now fully recovered from her operation, a stronger and in much better health than for several years past. The other three are at the height of their game and many people are convinced that Miss Bennett will beat all her rivals at Wimbledon next June.

All these players play the same driving game with a severe service. To many, in consequence, it seems that Betty Nuthall, changing her accustomed service, will be playing into their hands, and will render herself less formidable.

Children Entertained By Mrs. A. A. Meneely

Saturday being the third birthday anniversary of Master Andy Meneely, Mrs. A. A. Meneely entertained a number of children most delightfully at her home on Palmetto Avenue, in celebration of the day.

Suggestive of Valentine were the decorations and other details. The rooms of this lovely home were adorned with red sweet peas and baby breath. The birthday table was most attractive with its central decoration of a large white birthday cake, topped with three red tapers, and imbedded in asparagus ferns and red sweet peas. Placed about the centerpiece were tall red tapers in silver holders.

The afternoon was merrily spent with games of all kinds played on the lawn. A number of contests were featured, and the prize for pinning the small heart nearest the center of a large red heart was won by Carol Jean Nix.

Late in the afternoon the kiddies were asked into the dining room where refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Meneely. Favors of gay colored caps with horns and whistles for the boys, and novelties for the girls were given.

Dependables Class Met Monday Evening

Miss Florence Spurling and Mrs. George Wells were hostesses to the Dependables Class of the Methodist Sunday School, Monday evening at their lovely home "The Oaks" on Mellenville Avenue.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Earle E. Jones, and routine business carried out. It was decided that ten dollars of the pledge would be given to the Methodist orphanage at Benson Springs. Mrs. Roy G. Williams presented a beautiful framed picture as a wedding gift from the class.

Capades, containing lines of paper on which was written the name of a class member, were given each one present and the enclosed names are to be kept a secret and each one to do something nice for the person whose name he drew. Letters to write as "The Capade" on class sisters during the month of February.

At the close of the business meeting the girls were invited into the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with Valentines and red tapers, and a bound one paper was served.

Those who attended were Mrs. E. C. Smith, Mrs. A. K. Snowmaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Garrett, Mrs. Roy G. Williams, Mrs. Ruth M. M. Lumley, Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. Frances Hagley, Mrs. Burke Stealy, Mrs. Herman Middleton, Mrs. Earle E. Jones, Mrs. Lattie Lyle, Mr. W. E. She is a most capable woman, and has held many important offices not only in this city but throughout the state. For two terms she was state registrar, serving also for two terms as state treasurer and also as secretary. # SANFORD VISITED BY PENNSYLVANIA FARMERS' GROUP

(continued from page 1) eight, Cambria and Savannah. After completion of the Florida itinerary, the delegation will follow a route which will include visits to Valdosta, Macon, Atlanta, Marietta, City, Asheville, Bristol, Roanoke and Winchester, Va.

Purpose of the yearly tours is expressed by Mr. Bollinger as follows: "For a number of years I have been a firm believer in travel for farmers. I have always believed that farmers, like other people, can learn much by travel that would come in unlearned without it. We began our organized travel for farmers by arranging local auto tours in 1918. Soon we toured farms in nearby states. In 1926 we surpassed all previous efforts when 84 people took a 1,000 mile trip to the fruit and vegetable section of New York and part of Canada.

"Our former tours were designed to teach better farm methods and management. The tour of this year makes no such pretense. It is nothing more than a tour of general information and recreation. All travel is educational and in just sense this tour will be no exception. Already I am indebted to agricultural leaders, a largest agency and its chambers of commerce for assistance given toward this end."

"Unrestricted Electric Power Essential To Nation's Welfare"

Says the Chicago Tribune

"We call for an unrestricted flow of electric power through the nation. Unrestricted, for the purpose means unrestricted by politics. We are against laws and regulations which would prevent linking up the nation's great power generators, soon water and steam, into a unified super-power system."

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

Unrestricted Electric Power Essential To Nation's Welfare

When the people are subjected to overmuch government, and the wise old adage is borne out by the sixth century, B. C., the head is thrown into confusion. The greater the number of laws and enactments, the less power there will be. Therefore, the ruler says "so long as I do nothing, the people will work out their own salvation."

It has come to be generally recognized by the public today that prosperity is largely a result of the greater use of electric power, and that for further improvement with respect to individual economic power and leisure time it has no better friend than the electric light power companies of this country. Within forty years, electricity has revolutionized America's standards of living and of work. The extent of its contribution to the general welfare has been made possible only through the sustained and scientific administration of the electric power industry.

Because of inefficient management and the maintenance of the American principle of individual initiative, the electric light and power companies have been able to obtain in their service the highest type of business leadership, scientific men and necessary capital.

And yet, the electrical era has only begun. Its future rests in the hands of the public who know its benefits. From that public falls the duty of the principles which have made America the electrical leadership of the world.

Manager Of Fruit Growers Association Says Present Season Very Satisfactory

By F. L. Skelly, Manager, American Fruit Growers Association

In all my nineteen years experience in the marketing of Florida citrus fruits, this season thus far has been the most satisfactory and the most profitable.

Prices realized have been 100 per cent better than last season; yet up to this time practically the same amount of oranges from both California and Florida and approximately the same amount of grapefruit has been shipped as during the corresponding period last season. But Florida fruit this season has carried well; has been of good quality, and has consequently given the consuming public excellent satisfaction; while a year ago our fruit did not give this same satisfaction; did not perfect its maturity until January, and in January we had two freezes, with the result that considerable poor quality fruit went to the markets throughout that season.

We hear much about the winter sale in New York. At the December 29 sale in New York, the most critical market in the United States, California sold 25 cars of oranges at a general average of $5.10 per box, against Florida's 12 cars at $6.15 per box—an average margin of $1.05 per box in Florida's favor. A careful comparison of general results being obtained in New York and other markets on Florida and California fruit in this year would be familiar with the details.

For some reason, or without reason, very little is heard in Florida this season about this situation, but if California were selling oranges in New York, and other markets, at such a premium as Florida it would be published from Key West to Apalachicola. The fact is, and very reasonably, that California does well when it has good fruit and Florida likewise does well when Florida has good fruit, but California generally puts out its very finest fruit in New York, while much Florida fruit goes to that market at times, which is really not what a critical shopper or buyer would consider "New York quality."

Practically 50 per cent of this season's Florida crop has now been marketed. This leaves not only a smaller percentage of the crop than usual at the time, but with an unusually light total crop the year it means that the actual volume of Florida fruit yet to be shipped is much less than normal after this date. The best months for the use of citrus fruit are yet before us. We are unable to determine the extent of the damage to citrus in the recent cold spell but do not believe it will be heavy. We have good reasons to look for excellent prices throughout the remainder of this season on Florida fruit off fair to good quality.

I have merely sketched the immediate situation, but it is worthy of note. An impression is apparently prevalent, particularly among many who are not themselves intimately associated with the industry, that the citrus industry in Florida is in a desperate situation. The general line of thought is that the citrus industry is in a desperate situation, that the citrus industry is in a desperate situation. They are generally hasty conceived panacea suppressed salvation.

The marketing of a large crop is in the majority of the crop is in the hands of large producers as well as many of which are inefficient; ready to sell their sincerity any reasonable price for the successful sale of large problems to be met, into practice what in the assurance of experience gives the industry, that the citrus industry in any of its phases
