ALBANY, N. PROSECUTOR HAS MENTAL PICTURE OF TRAGIC DEATH

Expect To Soon Have Facts That May Result In Indictment

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. —(A.P.)—A picture of the tragic events of a week ago aboard the cruise liner, from which Benjamin P. Collins was thrown alive into a watery grave, last night was projected in the mind of the prosecutor of Suffolk county with such clarity that he said he expected it to lead to indictments.

Chamberlain's declaration meant a day of quiet development in which the coalition government of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald sought to prevent the disintegration over sea cuts from spreading to other branches of the navy.

The flying tour of the Pacific coast will include a stop at San Francisco, Seattle, and Portland. The Moyle and Allen outfit is reported to have a plane for the purpose.

The governor also believes the Republican bill would give the relief workers "a blank check" on the state treasury.

The district attorney planned to examine virtually everyone connected with the case with the exception of the slain man's widow, whose "fantastic" story of the tragedy he said he has found hard to believe.

GATORS INDULGE IN THEIR INITIAL HARDCRIMMAGE

Four Complete Teams Are Driven Through Strenuous Practice

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Sept. 17.—Divided into four complete teams, the University of Florida football team indulged in the first strenuous scrimmage session of the 1931 season yesterday. Coach Charles W. Bachman matched his first and second strings against each other in the morning period, and closed a hard day with the third and fourth aggregations upward rise yesterday as Link Peppop woot sadoy zowd oal mixing in the afternoon.

Silaby, the veteran full back, reported yesterday morning along with Shaw Buck, the Palatka sophomore candidate, for quarterback.

Coach Bachman stated after the practice that he hadn't had the proper length of time to determine just how the team was shaping up, but for the first day the initial scrimmage was a success. The backs fumbled frequently and misplays were frequent at all times, but additional practice should smooth over these difficulties.

The morning scrimmage was a battle of line crashing play with Jimmy Hughes and Clyde McClelland featuring largely in the gains. In fact, these two star-wart youths, both sophomores, were the only players to gain over five yards on a play.

Al Rogers at his position at left half passed with his usual accuracy to big Joe Hall and followed the interference afforded by Bo McClelland for several content gains.

The work yesterday of Payne Kelly, a 160-pound halfback, impressed Coach Bachman quite favorably, for Kelly was the only Gator to do double time duty in both sessions. In the afternoon, Kelly shifted to the right for hurling a pass but when encountered by two ambitious tacklers pivoted and skirted the left end avoiding the second defense, for a touchdown.

The second injury in camp was sustained by Sparky Simpson, who has been doing well at tackle. Simpson injured his left knee while stopping a play in the line. Homer Seay is still absent from the field of action with his sprained ankle. Homer has been on crutches since his injury a week ago, and will not return to duty for about two weeks according to Bachman.

The first half of the Gators were attired in the regular blue jerseys while the latter part scrimmaged in the orange hued jackets. Coach Bachman expects to use these garments to differentiate his "A" and "B" squads when they clash in the practice game scheduled for Saturday.

The contest will be conducted in the new stadium, and will not be viewed by spectators. Southern conference officials have been asked to officiate and the game will be broadcast by radio. Starting Tuesday all practices except those held on Monday and Friday will be closed from the eyes of the fans, with only players and press representatives allowed to watch the Floridians in action.

Reductions in the operation of all city departments places the budget at $24,445, against $32,630 for the 1930 and 1931 period. The fiscal year of the city begins July 1. Reductions proposed cut the millage from the levy of 17 last year to 12 under the proposed budget.

The board met for the first three days of last week to hear complaints to the tax roll without an objection being raised. The roll for this year is set at $2,591,906.14, while last year it was approximately $2,000,000.

Operating expenses for the fiscal year 1929-30 were $29,629.85, compared to $23,577.98 in 1930-31. This saving represents a reduction of approximately $600 a month, or 19.20 per cent over 1929-30 period, 37.18 per cent over 1928-29, 41.9 per cent over 1927-28. In this respect it was pointed out that the savings in operation actually cover only eight months of the fiscal year, as the board did not take office until October, 1930, and the reduction did not become operative until November. POMPANO, Fla., Sept. 17.—(A.P.)—Reduction of 30 per cent in taxes for this city is forecast in the tentative budget for next year which will be presented to the city council for adoption at its meeting Monday night. It was said yesterday by Mayor Hiram Baker.

Rollins Football Players To Report At Beach Sept. 17

WINTER PARK, Sept. 17.—Bathing suits will be the official uniforms of the Rollins College football squad when candidates report Sept. 17 for early training at Rollins' new rustic ocean front resort at New Smyrna Beach, Fla., according to the announcement sent out by Head Coach Jack McDowell.

On the broad beach over which auts can speed and airplanes take off or land, the Jack Tars will receive 10 days of physical conditioning and training in rules and plays, before they return to Winter Park for the opening of the college, Sept. 28.

"I believe the ocean beaches of Florida are apt to be among the coolest spots in the entire Southeastern United States at this time of year," stated McDowell, "and by opping our training period there we will be able to harden the men up more quickly than is possible any place inland. As our camp is fairly well isolated, he added, "there will be no distractions, and we can concentrate 21 hours a day on putting the team into the finest physical condition possible. As a result, we should not only have a better team, but there should be few injuries during the year."

Rollins' camp, called "The Pelican," was a gift to the college last Spring, by Mrs. Caleb I. Johnson of Orange Park. During the school year groups of students under faculty supervision spend weekends at the resort.

3 Tampa Banks To Loan City $612,000 For Short Period

TAMPA, Sept. 17.—(A.P.)—Bids of three Tampa banks on a loan of $612,000 for 60 days, to be secured by short time notes, were accepted yesterday by the board of city representatives. The money is to be used to tide the city over and to meet municipal operating expenses until taxes for 1931-32 start coming in.

The three banks were the First National, Exchange National and First Savings and Trust Company. Interest at the rate of 6 per cent is to be paid for the loan. Two weeks ago the city board authorized negotiations of a loan to the city of $900,000, but City Comptroller A. B. Stewart stated later that the amount borrowed yesterday would be sufficient.

At the city board meeting yesterday an unusual proposal was submitted to the city by Brown and Sisson, attorneys, who said that clients authorized them to bid for operating all city bridges, promising to save the city $13,177 a year on estimated operating cost, as contained in the city budget. The budgeted amount for operating the bridges is $43,112.

The unnamed clients of the law firm would do the work privately, the city to pay them $1,296.66 on the first and fifteenth of each month. The offer was taken under advisement.

In the fiscal year 1928-29 totaled $14,131.70, and $17,220.04 in the 1927-28 period.

TOMMY ARMOUR, SARAZEN ENTER QUARTER FINALS

Burke, Smith, Walker, Espinosa Are Also Among Undeclared

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17.—(A.P.) The exciting competition for the Professional Golfers' association championship yesterday drew a step nearer to the apparently inevitable clash between the defending titlist, Tommy Armour of Detroit, and Gene Sarazen of Great Neck, Long Island.

The six others who with more or less difficulty accomplished this feat of stars into the quarter-final 36-hole matches were Billie Burke, the open champion, young Horton Smith, of Detroit, Al Espinosa, Chicago veteran, Cyril Walker of Ridgewood, N. J., and two of the younger professionals, Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y., and Denny Shute of Chicago.

Armour, shooting a 73 yesterday morning in the breezy 70-par Wannamoisett course, only was able to finish his first round with a one-hole lead on Walter Murray, of Valparaiso, Ind. The latter, however, could not stand the pressure, for the "Black Scot" annexed four more holes on his second outward nine and coasted in to end the match on the thirty-third green.

Sarazen's victory over Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., was even more decisive. Gene, who has won two P. G. A. championships and was runner-up last year, had another 72 on his morning round and went to four up on Runyan, who carded a 76. Sarazen's second trip out was a par 35 performance, during which he gained four more holes to two for Runyan. Sarazen's par four gave him the twenty-ninth and he concluded the match by halving the next hole to win 7 and 6.

Burke continued his quest for the only other major championship open to him by overwhelming young Bob Crowley, of Haverhill, Mass., 6 and 4, in a match that was never close. Burke was five up when he ended his morning round with a 75. Four strokes under his opponent, he played easily and often carelessly, during the afternoon before winning the thirty-second hole with a par four after Crowley three-putted it.

Willie MacFarlane, 1925 open champion, was in such poor form that Smith dashed him off the course at the thirty-first green, where he clinched his 6 and 5 victory. Horton was never impressive, taking a 77 for his first round and only equalling his opponent's 29 on the second outward trip. MacFarlane took 83 blows during his morning tour.

Salvage Sub May Get Treasures Far Down Under Ocean

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 17.—(A.P.)—Dreams of securing a part at least of treasures having an estimated value of $125,000,000, lying in waters shallow enough to make recovery possible, are entertained by Louis Miller of Richmond, son of Dr. E. C. Miller, secretary and treasurer of the Virginia Academy of Science.

The basis for the dreams which Mr. Miller hopes to make into a reality, is a salvage submarine he has invented, which, he claims, will be able to operate at depths up to 100 fathoms. The device, which can be operated by one man, but will carry a crew of up to six, is described as combining the principles of the submarine and such devices as diving bells and underwater robots.

It can move around under water under its own motive power, be raised and lowered by pumping water in and out of tanks and is designed to place explosive charges around and remove treasures from foundered vessels by operation of mechanical arms extending from it. The submarine is to be carried to the scene of operations by a tender ship and then lowered to the surface of the water, after which it operates as an independent unit.

Dr. Miller, who worked with his son on his invention, has expressed his confidence in its ability to reach many hitherto untapped sunken treasures.

The first project Mr. Miller has in mind, he says, concerns the Merida, sunk in 1911 off Cape Charles with a cargo including 22 tons of half refined gold and silver and gold bullion worth approximately $1,000,000. In addition to this ship Mr. Miller has a file including hundreds of others which have gone down at various times, in comparatively shallow water, carrying with them loads whose value runs to stupendous total.

If a clearinghouse association, like that of the Florida Citrus Growers, could be established among the celery farmers, they would not have to worry about over-production. It's a good idea, Karl Lehmann's, Fred Bender's, or whoever it is.

Speaking of Edna Ferber's characterization of the younger generation, one writer declares, "It is to be feared that Miss Ferber's ideal young people, while they might be as conversational as Whistler, profound as Darwin and intellectual as anything, would, one and all, be as dull as a turnstone." Heaven forbid! Nothing is so stupid as dullness.

Republicans considering a general sales tax as a means of raising federal revenue should remember that their tariff did to business.

National Development

Calling attention to what it believes to be a fact that the national government can well afford to finance and inaugurate a great national development program, the Manufacturer's Record lists a number of important undertakings which, if carried out successfully, would certainly result in much worth while construction. We are not prepared to say that the government can afford it or that the continued spending of money by the government is a good thing. In the long run someone is going to have to pay the bills, and further attempted inflation may make the problem all the more difficult later.

However, we are particularly interested in the Record's plan, largely because its program includes the digging of a sea-level canal for ocean-going vessels across the Florida peninsula. Financed by the national government this would be a great thing for Florida, and one in which many Florida citizens have for a long time been interested. The further construction of great national highways is also listed by the Record as an important part of its program, other features of which are as follows:

"Port developments, widening and deepening of channels and harbors, and marking of shipping lanes are needed.

"Work could be started on the Nicaraguan canal in order that we may be prepared to handle future traffic between the Atlantic and Pacific and with South America.

"A sea-level canal should be dug, connecting existing water courses, across the Florida peninsula, saving time and money in ocean traffic for the growing trade from Gulf Ports and the Middle West to the Eastern Seaboard and Europe.

"A billion dollars could be spent with profit to the nation in speeding up flood control work along the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

"In the field of finance, a national development bond issue would put idle money to work. It would bring about a degree of inflation which many now believe would be advantageous. Under present conditions we are compelled to pay off debts contracted when commodities were priced from 20 to 100 per cent higher than they are now. The added burden upon the nation's debtors of trying to meet their obligations with 30 cent wheat and 7 cent cotton and other products of their labor priced in like proportion has been a major factor in prolonging the depression. We are attempting to operate at a profit with a capital investment based on boom time prices.

"To meet the carrying charges of a construction or development bond issue sufficiently large for such a program would necessarily call for an increase in Government revenue. Would it not be better to pay more taxes to bring about increased employment, which in turn would increase the demand for goods and services, than to donate money for charity? In return for the taxes the nation would be receiving, public improvements of lasting benefit.

"This country is well able to finance a substantial development program. The estimated value of all property in the United States in 1929 shows that the wealth of this nation is more than $350,000,000,000, and that the annual income of the people of the United States is approximately $80,000,000,000. After the close of the war the gross debt of the Federal Government was approximately $25,000,000,000. In ten years this debt has been reduced by more than $9,000,000,000.

"As to the time it would take for even a part of such a gigantic development program to get under way, the Federal Government now has a large amount of work outlined. It could be speeded up. If intense energy was centered on the carrying out of such a plan to relieve depression and unemployment, on the same high plane of patriotism and activity as if we were preparing for war against a foreign power, the whole job would soon be under way. The mere announcement of the adoption of such a plan would have an immediate effect upon the people in reviving confidence and stimulating business in every line."

Get The Gunman First

Pointing out the ineffectualness of the concealed weapon law and declaring that sooner or later the police invariably will discover the honest citizen, who is carrying a gun for self defense or defense of his property, while seldom capturing the criminal gunman, the St. Petersburg Independent insists that it should not be necessary for law-abiding citizens to carry guns, but that so long as the law is unable to cope successfully with the criminally minded, it is.

"In the nation-wide problem of regulating the possession and use of concealed weapons," the Independent says, "it is encouraging to note that the more sensible and by far the fairer plan of making them more available to law-abiding citizens and depriving criminals of the use of them is being advocated and urged by Karl T. Frederick, a member of the national crime commission and of the American Bar association. In a recent article on concealed-weapon regulations he summarized his views and suggestions as follows:

"The fair-minded student of the pistol problem will come to certain general conclusions, among which are the following: (1) There is no pistol problem except where pistols are used in crime; (2) laws relating to pistols have one legitimate purpose and only one, namely, to reach the criminal users; (3) pistols cannot to any great extent be kept out of the hands of criminals, and they ought not to be kept out of the hands of honest men; (4) comparatively little can be accomplished by pistol legislation in the way of preventing crime; (5) the desirable objects which are attainable as a practical matter are, briefly, to keep a record of pistol transfers as an aid to detection of crime, to make possession by criminals illegal, and to make it inexpedient for criminals to use pistols in crime by punishing such use severely. These objects must be attained without seriously interfering with the legitimate use of pistols by honest men. Such use should be encouraged because it is clearly in the public interest."

A survey conducted by the American Legion through 11,000 posts disclosed that between 900,000 and 1,000,000 veterans of the world war are out of employment. It was announced today. The legion's investigation showed that Pennsylvania alone reported 150,000 ex-soldiers out of work. New York has 100,000, Illinois 50,000, Massachusetts and Michigan, 20,000. Georgia was the only state to report that unemployment was not general enough to require aid from the legion. David Lloyd George, the British premier, in a telegram sent today to President Davies declared that the British government's claim to the right to

LATIN AMERICAN TRADE MANUFACTURERS RECORD

American business will participate in the development of a much larger foreign trade with Mexico and Cuba in the next 10 years. Such is the prediction of F. W. Nichol, manager of the International Business Machines Corporation's foreign organization in 77 countries. Mr. Nichol has returned recently from an extended inspection trip through the two countries named. He bases his opinion on the widespread economic growth in Mexico and Cuba expected as the result of governmental encouragement and the further adoption of modern business methods and equipment. He asserts that "both countries are quick to adopt modern methods, due to the fact that many executives and employees are sent to the United States for business training, as well as to the belief prevalent in Latin American countries that improved methods and manufacturing processes are responsible for American industrial leadership."

While the volume of foreign trade between this country and Mexico and Cuba has become large, Mr. Nichol said, there remains a tremendous potential volume capable of development. Realization of this opportunity a finished traveler, having made the return trip alone. She was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Stevenson. She spent two months in Tallahassee teaching primary methods and theories, going from there to Monticello where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. June Turnbull. Mrs. Arrington also visited in Quitman, Ga. and Jacksonville. She was accompanied home by her son, Briggs, who has been visiting in Monticello with his grandmother, Mrs. T. M. Palestine.

The Common Sense of the Clearing House Idea as applied to Florida Citrus

HELPLESS—The grower of a perishable fruit or vegetable who is compelled to send his product a long distance to the consumer through hands other than his own is helpless as to control and knowledge. He cannot find out, except by elaborate effort and much expense, with what or whom he has to compete in a distant market; nor even the ruling price or the quantities offered. COURAGE—The grower of fruit from slowly maturing trees has made a heavy investment and sacrificed years of effort to bring his trees into production. He has watched his trees as they gradually increased in stature. He has gone through anxious uncertainties as to weather and as to pests, knowing that his goal was still years ahead. Such a spirit has stayed with the fruit industry of our nation. It is entitled to the best display of common sense, which the grower should, for his own self's interest, be the first to display. OUR FRUIT—The grower of Florida Citrus is helpless alone, no matter how courageous he has been in nursing his grove through the years. How can he by himself know a market whose condition is affected by shipments from several states and cargoes from the seven seas? SUMMING UP—The industry does not exist for the Clearing House; the Clearing House exists for the industry. It is a common meeting ground for competitive elements to combine for the public good. It does not sell; it tells.

PARTY HINTS

By LEATRICE GREGORY
Here is a delightful way of distributing the gifts at the stork shower—or any shower for that matter.

Give a huge bouquet of garden flowers of every color to the guest of honor and tell her to search about the house until she finds a package to match up with every flower in the bouquet she holds. The name of the donor should be written on a narrow slip of paper and fastened to each flower.

Wrap the packages in different colors of tissue or crepe paper and hide about the rooms, back of cushions, in drawers, on shelves, under the sofa and any place that is not too difficult to find.

The gifts should be chosen according to the needs of the baby and mother for whom they are intended. If baby's layette is already large, then a shower of dainty toilet articles will be as lovely and as welcome as can be. There are never too many things for baby's bath.

Beautifully tinted wash cloths and towels, attractively wrapped bars of pure castile soap, soft sponges cut in amusing animal shapes, talcum powder, hand painted jars to hold the dusting powder, hot water bags, bottles of pure olive oil for baby's skin, floating toys for his bath, a small electric stove for heating his bottle—all of these make useful gifts for the young King or Queen of the household.

The timber will be logged to Neocate, using a tram road built by the Bess people, utilizing that part of the government's line to Dorr Field. The haul will be between 25 and 30 miles, and the price paid was 40 per thousand, based on the standing timber.—Avon Park Sun.

SHARP DECLINES INDICATED IN U. S. FOREIGN TRADING

Income Tax Receipts So Far This Month Are Also Much Less

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—Figures showing sharp declines in the country's foreign trade last month and in income tax receipts this month were released yesterday, as officials in other government quarters noted signs of improvement in some industries.

The commerce department reported an unfavorable trade balance for the United States of $140,000,000 during August, the first time imports have exceeded exports in any month since April 1926. Imports for August were valued at $160,000,000 and exports $165,000,000.

The balance in August 1930 was favorable by $79,348,000 and for the first eight months of 1931 exports exceeded imports by $214,151,000.

Treasury officials said on the $19,496,353 income tax receipts for the first half of September an indication that the month's collection would be the smallest for any corresponding month in 10 years.

The bulk of these payments, $18,100,867, was made on Sept. 15, the quarterly payment date. The total for the month to that date based on incomplete tabulations, was $2,000,000 less than collected in the same period of last September.

These figures, as well as the treasury deficit of $184,151,534 on Sept. 15, were made public at a commerce and farm bureau officials were watching what they believed to be a remarkable indication of improvement in other lines.

Farm loan bureau officials on Monday said they had processed toward 10,000 loans with a large area in the West and Middle West showing a small profit for the year. Low prices, however, have kept the farmers' purchasing power down, they said.

Other departmental observers saw hopeful signs in what they described as the promulgation of overstuffed inventories, maintenance of the strength of the general banking structure, and the partial arrest of commodity price declines.

An air of optimism has become apparent in railroad circles here, despite the great drop in railroad revenues. There is a feeling in these quarters that the

Distinctive Women Called Smarter Than Those Of Rubber-Stamp Beauty

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—Girls who are distinctively ugly present a starker appearance than their counterparts of rubber-stamped beauty in the opinion of Mme. Helena R. Fontaine, world-famous beauty specialist of Paris, London and New York.

It is very gratifying indeed to her that American women have finally awakened to a realization that it is the latter, to develop their own individual charms that to imitate the patent beauties of the past or present. Madame Fontaine asserted that it is now a duty of women to be distinctly and consistently ugly if necessary rather than plainly pretty.

Madame Fontaine admitted that only three or four girls she has seen among the rubber-stamped beauties of that year.

She recently had a young beauty that I had not seen before after they had machine business League president. (Believe they had tried to copy Shakespeare's position as head of the League, but by being out in general free has taken the lives of several of their members.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 18. (AP)—Meyer Shapiro, a Brooklyn racketeer who was known in the underworld for his carefully planned and carefully executed crimes, was shot and killed by a rival gangster today.

Shapiro, a member of the gang known as the Shapiro-Klein party, had been in a variety of illicit occupations and recently was believed to have tried to make an end of his underworld life in a dark hallway.

He had sent word to the rival gangster, Alvin Karpis, and his associate, Benjamin "Doc" Barker, to meet at a public place for a conference, but they never appeared.

Governor To Name State Committee On Unemployment

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 15. (A.P.)—Governor Carlton will appoint a state committee to coordinate Florida's share in unemployment relief work with that of the nation.

This was decided yesterday at a conference here attended by the governor, Edward W. Lane, Florida member of the Hoover committee; Thad H. H. Birmingham, regional director for the national committee, and a group of Florida residents. Lane said the committee probably would be made up of 25 representatives.

representative Floridians. After its announcement, a meeting will be held to perfect organization and develop a relief program in the state. It was indicated the governor would name the committee from Tallahassee within a few days.

Attending the meeting in addition to the leaders were: Edward J. L'Engle, Giles J. Patton, Francis P. Fleming, H. F. Osborne, Arthur G. Cummer and E. P. Owen, of Jacksonville; Cliff

Reeder, former mayor of Miami; A. L. Cuesta, Jr., Tampa; George G. Ware, Leesburg; George U. Nash, Orlando, and J. C. Huskins, Tallahassee, secretary to Governor Carlton.

Recently, since money has been scarce, thousands of new customers have discovered A&P. They were first attracted by bargain prices, but they soon found A&P food the best they could buy at any price.

Money will become easy again, but in the meantime the American people have become food wise. The old myth that high quality and high prices go together has worn thin.

Prosecutor Has Mental Picture Of Tragic Death

"I now have a very definite picture in my mind of what took place on the Collings yacht during last Wednesday night and what happened afterward," Blue said. "I cannot reconstruct the case for the public at this moment. To do so would simply show my hand. In the picture are the forms of certain persons. I cannot reveal who they are."

"The prosecutor would give no hint whether the 'picture' reflected the story of Mrs. Collings, which he refused to accept in full a few days ago—that two men, one elderly, the other a youth, boarded the yacht on the night of the crime while the Penguin lay at anchor in Long Island Sound, offered her husband $100 to take a wounded companion to Norway, tied and threw him overboard because he refused, and then abducted and subjected her to attack by the older man, finally murdering her in a motorboat in Oyster Bay."

The first lord then explained that, while the recent resistance might be condoned, an order had been issued to the fleet that "any further refusal of individuals to carry out orders will be dealt with under the naval discipline act."

Sir Hubert Duff Cooper, financial secretary for the war office, told the commons that the pay cuts "have been accepted in all ranks with a spirit worthy of the best traditions of the army," but he added that a special committee of the army council had been established to investigate all cases of special hardships due to reductions.

The London Police Periodical, the police review, said editorially that British would "not be grateful to any government which in the seal for economy spreads content and dissatisfaction among police."

School teachers also have been protesting by demonstrations and parades against the reductions of their pay under the cabinet's economy program. The commander-in-chief of the home port of the fleet, who has returned from Portsmouth, Devonport and then-
