Thrifty Americans

We are often considered to be a spendthrift nation, with all our money frittered away, but apparently that is a mis-judgment.

George Gallup, with his insatiable curiosity, has been asking people what they would do if someone handed them $1,000. Evidently many of those questioned had dreamed of such a windfall, for they came up with ready answers. The replies were on the whole very sensible.

Thirty-one per cent would save the money, 24 per cent would buy a home or improve the one they had, 14 per cent would buy a car, furniture, clothes, and so forth, with small percentages for other laudable purposes. Only 3 per cent would spend it purely for pleasure. Many of this 3 per cent may never have had any fun, and might be quite justified in having a thousand-dollar fling.

The only way, said to say, that most of the people questioned are likely to get a thousand dollars is by earning it, and that process, by its very nature, makes the spending of the money a matter for careful thought. So the bulk of most people's money will undoubtedly continue to be put to very good use.

Post-War Italian Women

From Rome, where women have for generations led secluded lives, Marie Seton writes that her sex is gradually becoming freed from the fetters of custom.

One whom she considers representative of modern Italian womanhood is the mother of a three-year-old son, and keeps house in a modern apartment for her husband and her father. Dressing modishly, keeping up with public affairs, and coping with the food problem under black market conditions, she manages besides to be an active partner in a business making artistic films.

Italy has been a backward country in many ways, but perhaps there is a chance for her return to the prestige she enjoyed in the days of the Caesars. With women taking active part in business and professional life, enlightened changes may be made, it has been well said that a country rises no higher than the status of its women.

Atoms And Destiny

This is the third year of the Atom Bomb, observes a commentator, and it has split the world. It has accomplished various things of a practical nature, and will doubtless accomplish many more. It holds up to the world a vision of almost infinite power. "Atomic energy" has become a magic phrase, with the scientists of the world competing for its secrets, each realizing that it may destroy the other, or be destroyed by it.

To the average man in the street this new phase of enlightenment and the significance of what we call "matter" may mean little or nothing. But we may be sure that the foremost scientists of the world have at least a considerable view of what it is all about, the possible length of life on this planet, and possibly even of the destiny of man himself.

Reprisals vs. Reason

Very welcome is the statement of the Jewish Agency regarding the action of Iron Zvi Lamm in hanging two British soldiers. We express our deep and heartfelt sympathy to the relatives of the innocent victims of the terrible deed. We beg them and their people not to identify the Jewish people with their national life—with those who are engaged in an effort to perpetrate this foul murder. Reports from Palestine indicate that this represents the feeling of a vast majority of the Jewish community there. They are revolted by a kind of savagery which ironically imitates Hitler—the killing of hostages. They fear world opinion will be alienated.

It would be well if all who have supported the Zionist cause—particularly American agitators and irresponsible politicians—could more sharply dissociate themselves from terrorism in Palestine. For without indirect support from many who would not engage in such barbarity directly, but consciously or unconsciously accept and accept its help, terrorism on the present scale could not go on. The British—whatever credit they get for a thankless task—share the blame for a condition in which reprisals is matched against reprisals. They might have made imprisonment rather than hanging the penalty for Jewish resistance forces such as the criminal machine-gunning of a bus at Tel-Aviv, can justify the cold-blooded murder of hostages.

Those who are not emotionally committed to any side of this struggle must take a positive stand against terror and brutality wherever it appears. They must seek to encourage every element of reason and humanity which still exists in a situation which often appears to have degenerated into a mere clash of terror against terror. No permanent progress in Palestine, no sound settlement, can be based on hate and cruelty. That should now be clear to many who have been morally asleep. If really awakened, they can find ways to halt the senseless terror.

Chinese Reds Stage Eight Hour Assault

NANKING, Aug. 11, (AP)—Government dispatches said today more than 3,000 Chinese Communists had been killed or wounded during an eight-hour assault on the walls of Yulin, in north Shansi province of northwest China.

Other reports said the Reds succeeded in destroying buildings and installations at the Yulin airport before being driven off. Government reinforcements were said to be en route.

Possibility of a Communist comeback in north Shensi was discussed at Yenan provincial capital last week by Chiang Kai-Shek and Gen. Hu Chung-Nan. It was Hu's army which drove the Reds from Yenan, long their capital city, last March.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

EVEN LIBERTY IS UNDER LAW. YOU CANNOT PRESERVE IT AND BANISH GOD'S SPIRIT. Where the spirit of the Lord is there is liberty.—II Cor. 3:17.

Wonder if the Hughes' investigation in Washington is getting on the baseball crowd?

We have a hunch the British would find it a lot easier to tighten their belts if they did more working and less talking.

It looks good to us to see horses on the lake front again. Kissimmee has a club which puts on a beautiful quadrille. So could Sanford.

These people who were asking what the newspapers would use for news once the war was over, evidently didn't know the Senate was going to investigate Howard Hughes and his girl friends.

Work was actually begun on the 12-foot channel from Palatka to Sanford which will bring ocean going boats to Sanford's front door. What deep water will mean to this city is little realized by many who live here, but the years to come may prove that the day that dredge started to work was the turning point in Sanford's career. Henceforth, we will in truth become "The Port of Central Florida."

It is interesting but depressing to see the name of Bobby Jones III among the entries for the national amateur golf tournament. It does not seem so many years ago that Bobby Jones himself was sweeping everything before him in the National amateur, national open, and British open circles when at the tender age of 17 the public first began to hear of him. Now he has a son who is following in his foot steps and threatening to outdo the old man.

John Temple Graves says in the Times-Union that the proper solution to colored voting is in "qualifying." To qualify to vote in Mississippi, one has to believe in certain party principles. There might be a better key to qualify a voter such as requiring him to be able to read a part of the Constitution or sign his name. As Mr. Graves says, "Given whites and blacks educated enough, characterful and responsible enough, situations will, even if not all the way, tend to right themselves."

The Army should not suffer from its new system of promotion which went into effect last week with the signing of a law by President Truman which makes merit the basis of promotion rather than seniority. The Army was not to blame for the old system, since it was in accordance with another law passed by Congress a long time ago. The idea was to prevent favoritism in connection with promotion, and it was based on the theory that all men were created free and equal and remained that way throughout their lives; that is, one officer was just as much qualified for promotion as another provided he had served the same length of time. It failed to take into consideration the fact that some officers apply themselves to their jobs, are conscientious, and deserve promotions; that other officers spend all their time courting other officers' wives and attending cocktail parties. Henceforth, we may have some 60 year old captains and 30 year old generals; and then we will hear charges of favoritism again, and political pull.

Letters pour in to the factory every day addressed to Henry J. Kaiser and Joseph W. Frazer—from those among our more than 70,000 owners who feel that they must express their enthusiasm. These owners, who have driven the KAISER and the FRAZER and the luxurious new FRAZER Manhattan hundreds of millions of miles in every part of the world, emphasize fine outstanding feature above all others—the extraordinary smooth, gliding ride! They say there never was a ride like this! Read typical owner comments below.

Feds Trim Orlando And DeLand, Drop Game To Sens

Near Riot Featured Saturday Night; Lou Bevil Taken From Scene By Police

The Sanford Celery Feds continued their drive for the first division over the weekend as they won two contests and dropped one.

Friday night the Feds came from behind to win a 10 to 8 tilt. Saturday night the locals nipped the Orlando Senators in a nip and tuck battle that nearly ended in a free-for-all by a 2 to 1 margin. Yesterday the Feds invaded Tinker Field in Orlando for a return engagement with the Solons and were defeated in a 2 to 0 affair.

Saturday night Carl "Goose" Kettles opened on the hill for the Feds and was removed in favor of Charlie Bissen. As the Celerymen entered the top of the sixth, the Red Hats were leading by an 8 to 1 margin, but the locals tallied five runs in the sixth and tied the contest in the eighth. Sanford scored two markers in the ninth frame to cap the tilt.

The game Saturday night came to a stormy close when Tommy Hyde, pinch hitting for Gene Major, singled to center field, on which Doug Robertson attempted to cross the plate from second base. A perfect throw from Dave Bride from deep center field, to Catcher Bill Lewis resulted in Robertson being thrown out at the plate. This play was the third out of the inning and the final out of the game.

Manager Lou Bevil and the entire Orlando team streamed on to the field to protest Umpire Elmer Lavelly's decision. Sanford police followed the Orlando players out on the field and escorted Manager Bevil from the field after he became what was termed as "a little too violent."

Saturday night the Players of the Sanford Celery Feds were feted in a "Player Appreciation Night" at the Municipal Park and were given $816.20 by the Sanford supporters. The players also enjoyed food and drinks at the clubhouse after the game as a part of the festivities.

The Feds marched out on the field during the game and were introduced to those present, after which the collection was made for the players.

Yesterday the Senators evened the series as they defeated the Feds at Tinker Field by a 2 to 0 score. Joe Jones went the route for the Senators and Johnny Tomat hurled the nine inning affair for the Feds.

The Senators tallied their first score in the fifth inning on a double by Rex Garrison and a single by John Throop. The final Sen tally came in the eighth as Craig Lybrand singled, was sacrificed to second by Gerry Manning and Lybrand arched home on a Fed boot.

Jones was in hot water from the time the game started till the curtain went down in the ninth, but three fast twin killings by the Senator infielders and several sensational spears of hit balls that seemed destined for extra bases proved fatal to the Feds.

Tonight the locals motor to Leesburg with a tilt with the Pirates and will return to the Municipal Park tomorrow night for a return engagement.

Stock Car Race To Highlight Vacation Season At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Aug. 11. (Special) The famous ocean speedway that has been Daytona Beach's front page since the turn of the century will undertake to write its final 1947 racing chapter here Sunday afternoon, August 17th, with the 14th annual running of the United States Summer Stock Car Championship.

Racing Director Bill France announced the 1947 summer derby will be presented over the hazardous beach-road track at a grueling distance of 110 miles. It is the longest stock car race held in the country this summer.

Upwards of 20 high powered stock cars, with the outstanding drivers on the speedways behind the wheel, will be ready to roll for $2,500 in prize money. The field numbers such "hot foot" favorites as Bob Flock of Atlanta, who established a record here last winter, and Ed Sappington, a fellow Atlantian, who was the 1946 National titleholder; Bob Reed Byron, of Anniston, Ala.; a two-time winner here and the leading muttony winner on the track this summer, with $8,000 of prize cash already stowed in his hip pocket; Wild Bill Snowden, of St. Augustine; Pepper Cunningham of Trenton, N. J.; M. J. Johnson, of New York City; and Glenn Dunnaway of Charlotte, N. C.

In cooperation with the city recreation dept., France is prepared to handle a Central Florida crowd of 30,000 fans. It is the sports highlight of the summer vacation season here.

The Clubhouse

By JIM BECKER
AP Newsfeatures Sports Writer
NEW YORK—One of the key figures in the head-long dash of the New York Yankees to the American League pennant is Frank (Spec) Shea, a rookie right-handed pitcher with a sensational record.

Shea's success is a complete surprise. He was overlooked in most pre-season estimates of the club, toiling with the second stringers in spring training.

Frank (whose nickname dates from childhood frolics—minor spectacles) posted a sensational minor league mark in 1946 with Oakland in the Pacific Coast League, and except for a sudden attack of appendicitis might have been with the Yankees sooner.

Shea won 15 games for Casey Stengel and the Oaks, and lost but five. He had a fabulous earned run average, 1.66. Spec credits the wily Stengel with valuable training on the mound.

"Casey showed me plenty," says Frank. "He instructed me in holding runners on base and holding runners on base and taught me the importance of keeping that ball low."

Shea went on the operating table in the spring of '46 on the very day he was slated to debut for the Bombers. The operation ruined his spring training season, and with it, any chance to stick in the majors last year. So he went to Oakland.

This year he brought his terrific PCL record to the very day he was slated to debut for the Bombers. The operation ruined his spring training season, and with it, any chance to stick in the majors last year. So he went to Oakland.

By mid-season, Shea had defeated every club in the American League.

A native of Naugatuck, Conn., Spec had often been labeled the "Connecticut Yankee." He has even overcome this handicap. Just 24, he was spotted by the Yankees while hurrying for Naugatuck High School in 1938. He inked a Bomber contract the next year.

In 1940 he hurried for Amsterdam, N. Y., won 11 and lost four, and was promoted to Norfolk, Va., the next year. A 13-10 record brought him to Kansas City in the American Association where he slipped into the red—five wins, eight losses, in 1942.

The Army had Shea for three years and he reported to the Yankees in Panama in 1946 after his discharge. He was a working soldier—no baseball.

Shea has a good fast ball. "I like to throw it," he says. "All young pitchers like to show off their fast ball." He has a good slider and curve and is working on a change up.

The game Spec remembers above any other was at Oakland last year.

"I had a no-hitter for eight innings, but I let somebody get a single in the ninth and Glenn Crawford hit a home to beat me, 2 to 1. It was quite an experience."

Babe To Pass Up Women's Western Golf Tournament

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 11.—(AP)—With Babe Zaharias missing, a wide-open scramble for the championship among at least a dozen top-flight stars was in prospect today as the 47th Annual Women's Western Golf Association Amateur Tournament began at the swank Evanston Country Club.

About 160 contestants fed off in the 18-hole qualifying session bidding for 32 positions in the match-play bracket. Single rounds of match play will start tomorrow and continue until the two finalists battle over the 36-hole route Saturday.

Foremost among the contenders is 112-pound Louisa Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., who will be attempting to complete an unparalleled feat in W.W.G.A. history of winning both the Western Open and Amateur in successive years.

The tiny brunette rose to prominence last year by taking the open and amateur, and earlier this season won the 1947 W.W.G.A. open at Atlanta. With the Babe, her most feared opponent, passing up this meet, chances of the 23-year old Miss Suggs of completing a double slam are greatly enhanced.

The field bristles, however, with high-class talent, which includes eight 1947 state champions, Mary McMillin of Green Bay Wis., who upset Mrs. Zaharias 2 and 1 in the semi-finals of the 1946 Western Amateur, and then was routed 11 and 10 in the finals by Miss Suggs; Peggy Kirk of Findlay, O.; Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill.; Alice O'Neal of Indianapolis, Ind.; Mary Louise Cordingley of Des Moines, Ia.; Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore, Md.; Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich.; and Margaret Gunther of Memphis, Tenn.

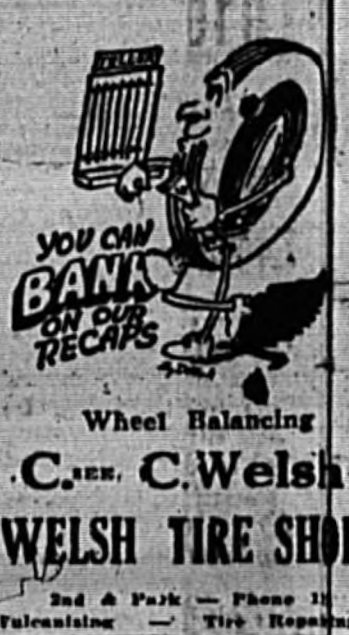

Mrs. Zaharias said she was passing up the Western Amateur, one of the few tournaments she has never won, because of previous commitments.

Blacky Held Dodgers During 16-game Skein

CINCINNATI — (AP)—Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's brilliant sophomore pitcher, had more success against the Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves than any other clubs during his record streak of 16 consecutive pitching victories.

Of his five shutouts, two were against the Dodgers. He allowed Brooklyn but one run in 27 innings, in three games against the permitted season runs, six coming in a 10-6 game. In three of his victories he was found for four runs but in 12 of the games he limited the opposition to three runs or less.

Abie Simon, who sustained two knockouts at the hands of Joe Louis, is now a licensed New York state boxing referee.

Jack Harlan To Bring Credit To Ohio State Team

By VERNON S. GILMORE
AP Newsfeatures
COLUMBUS, Ohio—Ohio State University divers placed 1-2-3-4 in the 1946 intercollegiate championships, but no one diving contest. The Buckeyes have had diving champions to spare since Jimmy Patterson first flipped the trick in 1937.

In 1938-'39 and '40 the Buckeyes' at Patnik carried on—losing only one diving contest during his collegiate career—and that to teammate Earl Clark.

In 1941 Clark annexed the Big Ten, NCAA and AAU crowns. Frank Dempsey and a young freshman, Miller Anderson, carried on the next year to keep things going Ohio State's way.

Back from the wars Anderson co-captained last year's Scarlet and Grey crew, with swimmers Jim Counsellman. Such water aces as Bill Smith, Jack Hill, Bob DeGroot, Jack Ryan and Ello Hrose made the Buck swimmers hard to beat and the sure points in the diving events—as in the NCAA championships—kept them unbeatable.

In the Buckeye tradition Anderson's stiffest competition comes from teammates. Most serious threat to the former Army flyer's reign as the nation's No. 1 diver is a curly-haired, 21-year-old former Navy physical instructor from Philadelphia, Bruce Harlan. Harlan did his first competitive diving while at Baltimore (Md.) Naval Base in 1945; then placed fifth in his first AAU championships.

Four months later, at the AAU outdoor trials, Harlan had improved to the point of placing second against the same competitors. A year later, in the AAU outdoor championships, Harlan copied the water springboard diving championship of the U. S.

Then Harlan enrolled at Ohio State for, as he says, "if you want to beat the best divers you have to work along with them, compete with them, even in practice." And while Harlan, a smart competitor, obviously learns from observing teammates, they also profit from his enthusiasm and willingness to help them along.

Harlan hits the books as well as the diving boards. He is as proud of his B plus rating in his physical education courses as his diving achievements. He was elected to Phi Eta Sigma scholastic honorary and Homophos, freshman activities honorary, at Ohio State last year; also found time to serve as a cheerleader where his tumbling skill thrilled thousands at the Buckeye's football games.

Harlan's termed a "natural athlete" by his coach, Mike Peppe, and OSU Track Coach Larry Snyder. Coach Peppe shuddered while Harlan pole vaulted on the Buck Track squad last spring. Harlan didn't press for a varsity berth in pole vaulting, much to Peppe's relief and Snyder's sorrow. Bruce also did 18 and a half feet in high jump pole vaulting. He was named captain of Lansdowne Pa. high school's wrestling team.

Mike Peppe's swimmers and divers should bring credit to Ohio State in the 1948 Olympics just as Coach Snyder's star

Today's college girl wants simple, smart clothes which can be dressed up or down as the occasion demands.
That's the conclusion reached by the St. Louis Fashion Creators, specialists in junior styles, after a recent poll of collegiate opinion. Extremes in style are banished by the young. They don't want elaborate drapery, drooping shoulders or skirts long enough to hamper their brisk, free stride.

Following the dictates of the girls, the St. Louis manufacturers have turned out a fall collection tailored to their tastes—free of gadget and whimsy, with smooth, rounded, but still packed shoulders, skirts that may be straight and slim, gracefully flared or pleated, coats that stick to the classic line, with only touches evident in collars and pockets.
The all-important black-stuff dress, without which no college wardrobe is complete, receives careful attention from the St. Louis designers, who find many new ways to make them look right for 1947, yet retain the simple, flattering lines beloved by the young.
Wool dresses and suits for campus wear go in for vivid colors, with blue and green in high favor.
Skirts are slightly longer, but not radically so. Many coats are hooded. Faile and taffeta find high favor for evening and date dresses. There's a new, softer look to the silhouette. But basically the clothes that will go to college this fall remain simple, youthful and uncluttered.

Barrett's Address

With respect to politics, Mr. Barrett said that Governor Dewey is still out in front for the Republican nomination though he did not help himself by his recent western trip. Taft has a chance if it is a cinch to beat Truman and Vandenberg. Stassen and Warren were rated as possibilities in that order.

"There is no doubt that Truman will run again," Mr. Barrett declared, "and he cannot be counted out. His statesmanship has improved during the past year and it is now assumed that he will get the bulk of labor vote, partly because of the Taft-Hartley bill and partly because labor will have no other place to go."

Concerning the Senate War Investigating Committee's hearing on Howard Hughes' war contracts, Mr. Barrett said that "it is a whole of amusing but badly managed summer side show."

Elliot Roosevelt has handled himself well, Mr. Barrett said, and will come out okay. Senator Brewster is under a cloud of suspicion, but in the final analysis the investigation will prove that President Roosevelt did take some mighty big chances in an effort to win the war in forty-eight hours. It was easier because it was faster and I think it would be easier if I were to do it again."

Mr. Barrett predicted that minimum wages will be increased by the next session of the Congress to 40 or 45 cents an hour, that a big civil suit will soon be launched against certain New York investment bankers, and that the American occupying of Japan will prove to be not as successful as popularly supposed at present.

Paying high tribute to General Marshall, whom he characterized as "one of the truly great men of this age," Mr. Barrett said antiquated State Department machinery being completely overhauled and streamlined, and is being conditioned to cope with one of the most critical periods in history. He strongly recommended unqualified support of the Marshall Plan and the continuation of congressional cuts in funds for the State Department's overseas information service.

"Russia is trying to divert attention from hard times and oppression at home," he continued, "by constantly hammering away at the capitalist nations. Most of our other members of the Politburo are convinced that the United States is turning its tremendous industrial capacity to the furtherance of imperialistic policies abroad in the hope of capturing the foreign trade of the nations of Europe."

Any talk of a quick and sudden collapse of the Russian government or system he termed as "hammyrot," but added that it might be a gradual weakening which would bring about certain beneficial changes in Soviet policy. Russian troops are returning home with reports of better conditions existing abroad, even in Germany. U. S. propaganda outfit in America is tricking through Russian censorship, and the Russian satellite countries are not happy over the loss of trade with western nations.

Advocating "long term dignified resistance to Soviet expansion," Mr. Barrett said that we must help every nation that wants to stay out of the Russian orbit, and we must step up our own industrial production. We must keep our defenses strong in the knowledge that the best way to avoid another war is to let the Russians know that we are ready for one. And we must make the people of the world know that we have a stable and healthy economy of our own and a strong government which is capable of settling whatever differences arise among our people in a peaceful and effective manner. We must show them we have a system that works.

Such a plan will necessarily cost a lot of money, he admitted, but he insisted that it would cost a lot less than the recent war, and less than another world war. Declaring the Green is the spot to watch in the move toward war, he said that Communists are organizing an international brigade on the borders of Greece in an effort to prevent the government which the United States is pledged to support.

Odom Honored

Odom who got very little if any sound sleep on his trip was still awake near midnight last night and Flight Manager Franklin Lamb said the pilot had rested in bed for a while but there was too much excitement for him to stay there. However, he finally started a well-earned rest a short time later.

Meteor Shower To Be Seen This Week

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (AP)—A shower of perseid meteors will flick across the northeastern sky tonight, the Naval Observatory predicted.

The best time for watching the display will be from midnight to morning light, anywhere in the Northern Hemisphere. Thirty or more an hour is a good average for amateur spotters, the announcement said.

The meteors, which appear annually, keep going for several days and can be seen tomorrow night and thereafter until the shower disappears.

They are visible to the naked eye and Prof. Charles P. Olivier, of the Observatory, Upper Darby, Pa., would welcome from anyone a careful count of the number seen per hour, and the time interval, for scientific study, it was stated.

Goff's Trip

Flying to Detroit from New York with Mr. Chapman on an American Airlines DC-6 flagship, the newest type of giant airplane, Randall visited in the Motor City with his uncle for a week, touring the Rouge Plant of Ford Motor Company, the world's largest industrial plant. He also made a short trip into Canada from Detroit and viewed many other sights around the large industrial city.

Randall returned to Jacksonville Sunday by plane, where he was met by Mr. and Mrs. Goff. "I'm glad to see you," he said, "and I'm glad to see you in Florida, he is certainly the happiest."

Mr. Chapman, who originated the idea of signing Babe Ruth to serve as a consultant to Ford Motor Company in junior baseball, is a former sports editor of The Sanford Herald and the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph and is now night sports editor of the New York Times before joining Ford Motor Company about a year ago.

Rotary Meet

Florida, he said, contributed one-third of the men making up the 31st (Dixie) Division, which during the war trained 3,798 officers and 35,000 men. And "if we had done nothing more," said General Hutchison, "we would have justified our existence."

But the record of the 31st Division in actual combat in the Pacific area, General Hutchison said, showed that it had killed 245 Japs for every casualty suffered, and the 12th Infantry which went into combat for the first time at Attapu, continuous day and night combat for 22 days and eliminated seven Japanese regiments. The 12th Infantry alone, he said, killed 1300 Japs and together with its Medical Detachment, razed the Presidential Unit Citation.

He said that a nationwide drive will soon be conducted to gain the co-operation of business firms in giving their employees time off for military training without loss of regular wages. He also pointed out that the Atlantic Coastline Railroad and the Winn Lovett Grocery Company have already agreed to co-operate.

The meeting was presided over by President Ferguson and speakers included C. J. Finley of Orlando and Roy Wright of Sanford.

Jewel Case

(Continued from Page One) were applied from his trunk while he was living in the U. S. sector of Berlin. The Prince valued the loot at $2,000,000.

"This jewelry we have found is definitely part of the stuff Prince Hermann entrusted to Ferdinand's secret emissary," Carlucci said.

"The Prince, however, hasn't yet seen it for identification purposes. My agent is rounding up more Germans for questioning in connection with the whole case. Some of the leads we have been pursuing involve intrigues and ramifications which point beyond our sphere of operations, beyond the borders of Berlin and into the Russian occupation zone." For this reason, Carlucci said, he would ask help from Russian authorities.

Inquiry Hated

But, Hughes, smiling broadly, told reporters: "I don't really think the hearings will be reopened."

The Hollywood film producer and plane builder, also told questioning newsmen he thought the reason the committee gave for postponement was "ridiculous."

"I think that they postponed it because they didn't want to commit themselves," he said. "I don't believe because they didn't want to commit themselves."

Hughes added at an impromptu news conference that he was "quite sorry" the hearing had been postponed. He said the committee had heard "a lot of accurate testimony from witnesses who were ill informed."

Answering a question as to whether he thought the hearing accomplished anything, Hughes said: "Yes, I think something was accomplished by my coming. There has been a great deal of misconception about this case for example, that it cost $1,500,000 to move the plane to the air when actually it cost only between $50,000 and $100,000."

In reply to questions Hughes said he doubts that the big flying boat will be ready to take to the air by November. As for the photo reconnaissance plane, Hughes declared "I can't exactly say" when it will be completed.

"It's undergoing tests right now, the plane builder added. Hughes had two working contracts— an $18,000,000 contract for the flying boat and a $2,000,000 one for photo reconnaissance planes.

In contrast to Hughes' attitude, Ferguson emphasized to newsmen that the postponement would not halt the inquiry. He said the committee staff will continue to work on the case and declared: "The investigation is not being stopped—definitely not being stopped."

He said "I waited certain information from Hughes which I couldn't get without Meyer's presence."

Hughes, calling the postponement a "total surprise," said he doesn't think he had "a fair hearing."

He said he wanted to withdraw, however, a statement he made on his first day of testimony that his reputation had been ruined. "I don't feel that way any more," he said. "The press and the public have seen the true light."

A reporter asked Hughes why he thought the hearings had no been "fair."

Hughes recalled that Saturday a question was raised about who it was that he said had told him there was a feeling of "hatred" against him by officers at the Army's Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, aviation research center.

Hughes said that he was "challenged" by Ferguson to "remember over the week-end" the names of the officers or officers. He said Ferguson implied disloyalty to the committee hearing ready to give names, dates, and places, and had brought a former employee, J. B. Alexander, here from the west coast to substantiate him.

Hughes said he has the names of five Army officers who had informed him or his employees of dislike by certain Army officers for him and the way he did business at Wright Field contracts. He withheld names of the officers, saying it "might embarrass" them if he "put them on a spot."

USING A LOUD SPEAKER, agents of Haganah, Jewish resistance organization, try to get messages of cheer to refugees aboard the S. S. Ocean Vigor, as it lies off Port de Bouc, France. The ship is one of three British vessels, loaded with refugees from the Exodus 1947, intercepted on the way to Palestine and turned back to France. Some 4,500 Jewish immigrants were refused landing in the Holy Land. (International)

Red Paper Attack

The economist attacked the press freedom campaign conducted by Cooper with a suggestion that his program might allow American News Agencies to "dominate the world." Speaking of the demand for freedom of access to news, freedom for agencies to compete or to exchange news and an end to preferential rates of transmission, the magazine declared: "Mr. Cooper, like most big business executives, experiences a peculiar moral glow in finding that his idea of freedom coincides with his commercial advantage."

Cooper commented: "Surely the economist does not want the activities of all news agencies except the British confined to their own countries, as was largely the case before the British newspapers withdrew their cartel domination over the news activities of many countries foreign to England. If there is commercial advantage in making his news service available in other countries there is, under the plan I advocate, the same opportunity for the British or any other news agency to make its news service available in other countries. For example, the Reuters Agency was quick to see this and is now selling its news in the United States and South America for the first time. x x x."

"Maybe James will consider this (the economist view) also a Russian conception," Zaslavsky wrote. "Not likely. This is a conception of the British monopoly press."

Zaslavsky then concluded: "The question of the dying influence of capitalist monopolies in the newspaper world has been raised and these defenders of monopolies can not escape it."

"No matter how angry James gets, this question is going to come up inevitably at international world congresses. The peoples want peace and the monopoly press is inflaming war in the interest of selling markets and exploiting weak nations."

"We stand for the broadest freedom of the press which serves the people and belongs to the people. We stand for an honest press which is conscious of its responsibility. Such is our conception of the freedom of the press and its conception of real democracy."

Red Tide Menace Is Moving Out To Sea

CLEARWATER, Fla., Aug. 10. (AP)—The fish-killing "red tide" which has plagued Clearwater along Pinellas county's Gulf beaches for 10 days, was reported to have moved out to sea today, the Health Department spokesman said. "Things are pretty clear along the shore."

An abrupt change in wind during the night was credited with saving the beaches from masses of dead fish which had been hovering a few hundred yards offshore at nightfall. This morning the "tide," marked by large patches of recently killed fish, was from four to six miles out in the Gulf.

Beach residents kept their fingers crossed, however, for the current variable winds could bring it back again as quickly as they took it out.

U. S. Charges Reds Planned Greek Regime

Support Of Communists In Greece By Soviet Satellites Said Peace Threat

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 12 (AP)—The American delegation said today that if the United Nations Security Council fails to solve the Balkan problem, the United States is prepared to join with other countries to protect Greece "within the provisions of the charter."

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 12 (AP)—The United States made a direct charge today that Communist groups supported by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria hoped to set up a totalitarian regime in Greece.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy U. S. representative, made the charge before the United Nations Security Council. He spoke after Yugoslavia had accused the United States of deliberately misrepresenting conditions in the Balkans.

Johnson said support of the Greek Communists by the three Soviet satellites was "a peril to peace," but added that the "threat can be checked if firmly faced by the United Nations."

Johnson's representative Dr. Joseph P. Kamp, said that the United States and what he called a "fellow of the United Nations Security Council" to examine the problem closely.

He told the Security Council that the Balkan Balkan Investigation Commission had not yet created the subsidiary group now in Greece.

It was proposed by the United States delegation, he declared.

Attorney General Tom Watson ruled yesterday that Seminole County Judge R. W. Ware is entitled to a salary of $12,200 a year.

This ruling was made in response to a request by Lloyd P. Boyle as attorney for the Board of County Commissioners for an opinion on Florida law governing such salaries after Judge Ware had presented a bill to the Commission which included an increase from $800 to $1,200 a year.

The Legislature in 1917 set a county judge's salary at $1,200 a year. The county population reached 22,000. In 1940 the county population was 22,804 as compared with 18,735 in 1930. The Seminole County Court was created by act of the Legislature in 1923 which set the salary of the judge of the County Court at $600 a year.

City Commission Approves Raise In License Fees

Ruling For Trimming Shrubbery At Intersections Made

A new City license ordinance which provides for numerous increases in license fees for places of business, professions, etc., was adopted by the City Commission last evening. City manager H. N. Sayer reported today.

The new measure, designed to give the City additional revenue, supersedes the license ordinance adopted in 1944. L. Tharp, manager of the Western Union Telegraph office, protested an increase in rate of $50 over his former $100 annual rate.

The Commission also placed on a first reading an ordinance providing for increase in inspection fees of electrical installations, and in line with buildings and plumbing inspection fees.

A list of 27 hazardous intersections where shrubbery or trees obscure the view of motorists was presented by Police Chief Roy Williams. The Commission determined that the owners of such shrubbery be notified to trim within three feet of the ground.

Judge Ware today declared that he had known since 1940 that according to the 1917 law he was entitled to a salary increase but that he had not requested his salary.

The title, which means "Great Leader," will be used in all official state documents, letters and correspondence beginning Aug. 15. The debate provided the direct action since the assembly opened last Sunday and brought the first secret split between the Moslem League and Congress delegates.

Ruhr Talks Will Include German Policy

State Department Indicates Softened Attitude In Statement At Session

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The door was opened for discussion of controversial policy matters affecting Germany as Anglo-American talks began today on ways to boost Ruhr coal output.

Willard Thorp, assistant Secretary of State who heads the American delegation in the discussion with the British, told reporters after the initial session that "any problem which has a direct bearing on coal production in the Ruhr can be discussed."

This statement indicated a softening of a previous State Department attitude that such issues as socialization of the mines should not be topics for conversation since the conference is aimed solely at boosting coal production.

The British government, prior to agreeing to this conference, had asked that the agenda include examination of basic questions like food, transport, finance and other topics.

The State Department had rejected this approach and also turned down a British suggestion that the talks be held in Berlin since the conference obviously would be on a technical level.

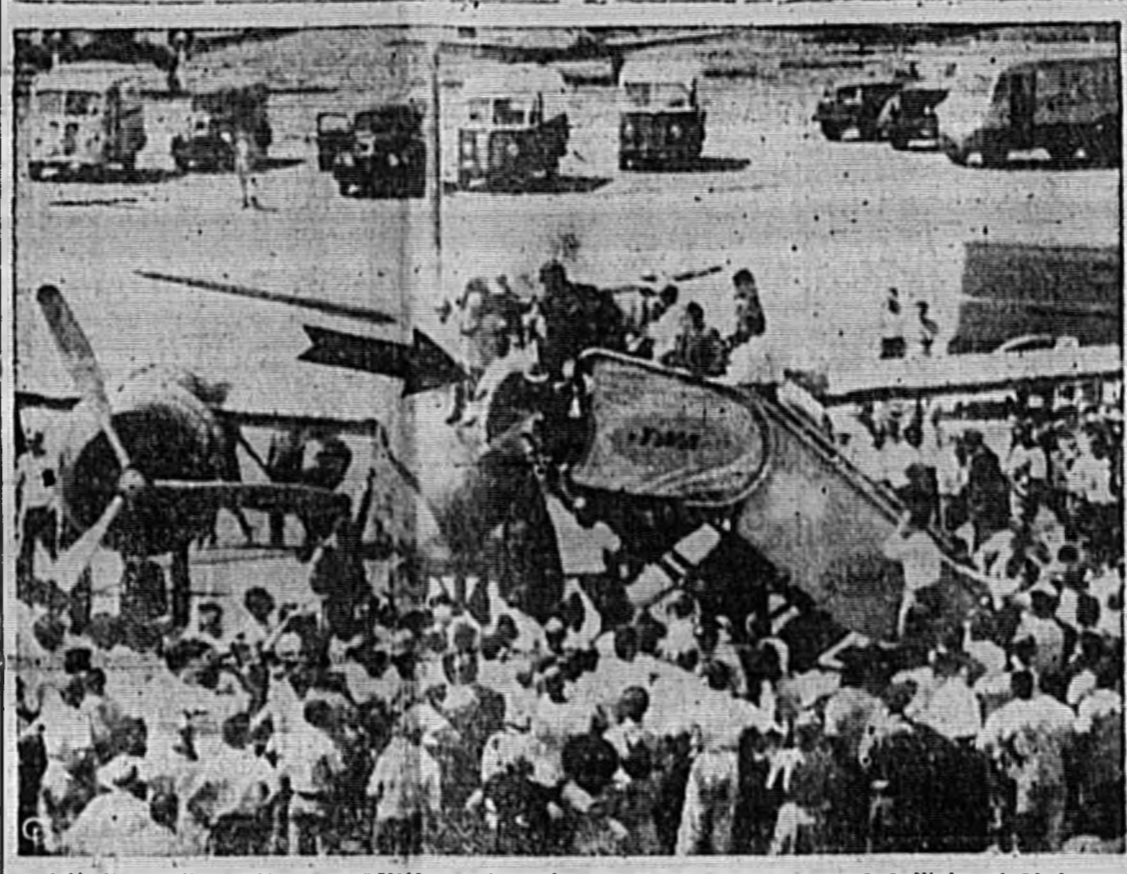

Thorp made it plain in answer to questions that both policy and technical matters would be tackled.

Dutch military authorities said troops in Sumatra had captured Indonesian Republican army orders authorizing an attack in direct violation of the truce which became effective a week ago last midnight.

The Indonesian radio at Jakarta countered that the Dutch had opened attacks in an attempt to wrest control of important mountain passes guarding the rich rubber and tea plantations in western Java. ### Tightner Laws Against Lobbying Are Predicted By Senator

Pravda said the treaty provided that several measures of a military nature be carried out jointly by the United States and Italy in the event of war against a third power or powers.

The incorporation of such articles in the treaty, the paper added, is regarded in Paris as evidence that the long-sought negotiations between the United States and Italy on the above treaty they were also negotiating a military agreement directed in the first place against Yugoslavia.

Clark Orders Monopolists Jailed; CIO Seeks Restoration Of Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Attorney General Clark today ordered an investigation of food, clothing and housing prices.

He instructed the Justice Department's anti-trust division to determine whether "conspiracies exist to maintain or to increase prices in the food, clothing and housing fields."

Jail sentences, rather than fines, will be sought for violators, it was announced.

Such conspiracies will be prosecuted criminally and in those cases the Justice Department will oppose acceptance by the courts of pleas of non-responders (no contest), and upon conviction of the defendants the department will recommend jail sentences for the individual defendants and maximum fines against the corporations.

The statement said the investigation follows a three-month study of the present price situation by Assistant Attorney General John F. Bennett who took charge of the anti-trust division in May.

Clark feels it was added, that "the soaring high prices now continuing in the food, clothing and housing fields, require that a new and more vigorous approach be undertaken in these fields."

Hence, it was stated, the decision to press for jail sentences for individuals violating the anti-trust laws.
