"Captains Courageous" To Be At Ritz Sunday, Monday

Rudyard Kipling's Saga Of The Gloucester Fisherman Is Filmed For Screen With Feature Cast Of Stars In Lead

One of the great sea stories of modern literature, Rudyard Kipling's thrilling saga of the Gloucester fishermen, comes to the Ritz screen Sunday and Monday with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picture of "Captains Courageous," with Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas in the leading roles.

For the first time in his screen career Freddie Bartholomew plays a wholly American boy, a wide departure from any previous role. As Harvey Cheyne he is the pampered son of a millionaire who has never known the meaning of work and worthwhile effort. Bound for Europe on a super-liner he falls overboard off the Newfoundland banks and is picked up by a fishing dory manned by Spencer Tracy, the latter playing the part of Manuel, a Portuguese fisherman. This role, the most colorful that Tracy has yet had, rivals even that of the priest in "San Francisco."

The boy is taken to the fishing schooner "We're Here," captained by Lionel Barrymore as Capt. Dink. His tale of being a millionaire's son is attributed to the shock of having fallen overboard. He is put to work and gradually his regeneration begins. The hardy, heroic Gloucester fisherman makes a man of him.

Mickey Rooney, teamed with Freddie Bartholomew in "The Devil Is a Sissy," again appears with him in "Captains Courageous" as Dan the captain's son. The large supporting cast playing the schooner's crew includes Charley Grapewin, Jack Larue, John Carradine, Walter Kingsford, Donald Briggs and numerous others.

When Edgar Allan Poe reviewed books, he often included disparaging remarks about the authors' characters.

Movie Thriller Has New Angle As Part Of Plot

It seems impossible these days to get a new angle in a movie thriller, but the screen achieves it most ingeniously in "Talk of the Devil," the British and Dominion film which shows Friday night at the Ritz Theater. Ricardo Cortez and Sally Killers are co-starred, with Basil Sydney as the "heavy."

The story tells of an American, Ray Allen, cursed with the gift of mimicry who is persuaded, under the supposition that it is an innocent prank, to imitate the voice of a noted London financier over the telephone. The "faked" voice brings financial ruin and death to the father of the girl he loves. The girl, moreover, is faced with the horrible charge of patricide. Allen sets about desperately to save her, and to remedy, so far as is possible, the gruesome results of his practical joke.

How he unmasks the villain who used him as a cat's paw finishes the most dramatic sequence of a tale that is packed with tense situations. Suffice it to say that, by an act of poetic justice, it is the same gift of mimicry that brings about the villain's doom. Here is an original story, backed with aptly dialogue, with unobtrusive comedy, moving with a fast pace to its unique and ingenious ending.

The action is thrilling, open to border at times on melodrama, but without ever losing its realism.

Of small fruits, strawberries are richest in sugar content.

The Successor To "Mutiny On The Bounty" Stage Players Win New Honors In Screen Play

In the filmisation of Rudyard Kipling's magnificent sea epic, "Captains Courageous," coming to the Ritz screen, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presents a fitting successor to its triumphant "Mutiny on the Bounty." Shown above at the wheel of the fishing schooner, "We're Here," are Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Freddie Bartholomew around whom the thrilling action of the heroic Kipling story centers.

Land Rush Picture Filmed For Screen

Once again, in motion picture history, the land rush into Oklahoma territory has been filmed on a grand scale.

It was first done several years ago for the picture "The Maroon," one of the most successful ever made. Now First National has staged an elaborate reproduction of the event for "The Cherokee Strip," a new picture starring Dick Fox, singing cowboy. The photograph shows Saturday at the Ritz Theater.

The scenes, in which hundreds of extras, horsemen, wagons, buggies and even ox teams took part, were staged on the great plateau known as Lasky Mesa, where spectacular scenes of "Charge of the Light Brigade" were filmed.

Ritz Picture Features Established Stars In Mystery Story

Three established stage players win new honors on the screen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's mystery picture, "London By Night," which shows Tuesday at the Ritz Theater.

George Murphy, former Broadway dancer, more recently in pictures, has his first dramatic role and proves his ability without question. Rita Johnson, likewise a product of the theater, who starred in George M. Cohan's "Fulton of Oak Falls" and other plays, makes her screen debut in the feminine lead and assures her career in Hollywood.

Leo D. Carril, also a former stage actor, appears in a role of mystery and promises to become a make-up wizard of the Leo Chaney school. Others in the cast are uniformly good in their respective parts.

DEATH SHADOWED THEIR LOVE

Henry Fonda is one of those daredevil lineamen who live high but not long, and Margaret Lindsay is the one girl he loves and doesn't leave, in "Slim," Warner Bros.' electrifying melodrama which plays at the Ritz Theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Girl Who Poses For Magazines Is In Ritz Film

Terry Walker, famed "magazine cover girl," is one of the blondes who causes the trouble in "Blonde Trouble," the gay comedy romance with Eleanor Whitney, Johnny Downs, Lynne Overman and Benny Baker, which plays Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater.

Miss Walker became an actress when Hollywood studio executives were impressed with her portrait, which appeared on a magazine cover, and started a search which lasted almost a year to find her. She was seen for the first time in films in the recent comedy success "Mountain Music."

"Blonde Trouble" is the motion picture treatment of a recent stage success by Ring Lardner and George S. Kaufman. It tells of a youngster who went to New York to make good in the song writing business and soon found himself up to his ears in trouble.

FILM LOVERS

George Brent and Beverly Roberts have the best roles of their careers as the stars of "God's Country and the Woman" the Warner Bros. Technicolor production which shows Friday at the Ritz Theater.

"Slim" To Show Wednesday At Ritz Theater

Drama Of PowerLine Portrayed In Film Featuring O'Brien

A class of American workers whose trade has never before been touched by the movies—those adventurous and hardy lads who string electrical power wires across the remote waste places—are depicted for your entertainment in the Warner Bros. melodrama, "Slim," which is scheduled to show at the Ritz Theater Wednesday and Thursday.

The popular Henry Fonda, borrowed from another studio for this one picture, carries the title role of "Slim," a young farm lad who, fascinated by the work of a wire-gang crossing his father's land, becomes one of them, with the aid of "Red," a jovial and gallant wire-stringer who is portrayed by that perpetual favorite, Pat O'Brien.

They are both in love—after a while—with "Cally," a hospital nurse, who is none other than the lovely Margaret Lindsay. But there's no enmity between them; they're great pals and comrades, each willing to offer his life to save the other's—and that's what it comes to in the end.

"Slim" was made from a best-selling novel by William Wister Hines. It has what are described as breath-taking scenes, with the high-tension gang building towers 100 feet high, scrambling up and down them, and stringing wires across them, sometimes in the face of blizzards and dust-storms. It's no easy life, apparently, that these lineamen lead. They're always on the move—town to town, state to state.

One of the pals of the two boys is Stuart Erwin, who never fails to win laughs. The boss of all the gang is J. Farrell MacDonald, who in this picture turned in his one-thousandth performance before the cameras.

PROGRAMME FOR WEEK OF AUG. 15 AT THE RITZ

Sunday, Monday—A Mighty Box Office Triumph—Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore, Melvyn Douglas in Rudyard Kipling's "CAPTAINS COURAGEOUS."

Tuesday—The Big Day—Register at the Matinee. Thrill-a-minute mystery romance. Made in America by Metro—"LONDON BY NIGHT."

Wednesday, Thursday—Margaret Lindsay, Pat O'Brien, Henry Fonda, Stuart Erwin in "SLIM." Also "BLONDE TROUBLE." A comedy based on the famous Ring Lardner-George S. Kaufman Broadway Stage Hit.

Friday—Sally Eilers, Ricardo Cortez "TALK OF THE DEVIL." Return looking "GOD'S COUNTRY AND THE WOMAN."

Saturday—Play SCREENO—Marjorie Lord, Fred Stone, "HIDEAWAY." Also Dick Foran "CHEROKEE STRIP."

AT THE PRINCESS

Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 21 and 22—William Boyd "BORDELIAND." Also Roland Young in "THE MAN WHO COULD WORK MIRACLES."

STRIKE FODDER. Strike-affected steel plants in Ohio were humming with activity, but CIO leaders insisted that hundreds of men still were refusing to work. Here is one of them carrying a bag of food from a commissary maintained by the union in Cleveland.

LADY FIGHTERS. Sturdy, pantalooned peasant girls of Japan have daily military drill to qualify them as soldiers in case their country goes to war. These hardy daughters of the soil are less than 16 years old, but have physiques and strength of mature women.

SWAPS HIS MOP. University of Pittsburgh's alumna, Dr. Edward Lee Harris, who earned education's highest degree while working as janitor, then fell and traded his mop for a mechanical engineering profession. He will head the chemical department of that Ohio institution.

THE BATTALION BEAUTIFUL. With Japan's war fever daily soaring to new heights, even women and girls offer to go to the battle front. Here is a group of "sailor girls" participating in rifle drill in Tokyo. They are required to attend lectures and drills in national defense, handling of rifles, use of gas masks and administration of first aid. They look toward the China war front unafraid.

GOED WITH IT. When James J. Goetz, 16, of the Brooklyn Armory, in a Brooklyn hospital, watched fourteen pounds, eight and a half ounces, according to the scales—and the same kept her head off the balance beam. His mother weighs 150 pounds.

Judiciary Committee Okeys Nomination Of Alabama For Supreme Court Job

G. O. P.'s Serve Notice Of Fight

Confirmation Will Be Called Up Before Senate Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today the Supreme Court nomination of Senator Black, Alabama Democrat. Voting down all proposals for delay, the overwhelming Democratic majority on the committee agreed to report the liberal Alabamian's nomination favorably and at once.

Democratic leaders planned to call the nomination up in the Senate tomorrow for confirmation. Republicans already, however, had served notice they would seek its reconsideration for a hearing scheduled at least a bitter debate over the appointment. The committee turned down requests for general hearings on the nomination and also refused to delay action long enough to permit Black to appear and be questioned about his views on judicial procedure.

Financial Success Of Future Farmer Body Is Recounted

Survey Sees General Business Prospects "Extremely Good"

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A new high for the recovery movement likely will be established this fall, economists felt today, and the stock market likely will discount this by going into new highs for the year. Poor's Investment Advisory service summarizes the fall outlook as follows:

1—Activity in most lines of business is expected to increase somewhat more than the usual seasonal amount during the autumn.

2—A continuation of the present upward trend in stock prices is anticipated. Many issues should show sharp gains from present levels.

3—Low inventories, combined with higher demand, should stimulate a rising commodity price trend.

4—Sentiment will improve following the adjournment of Congress. Washington developers will determine many important trends during the remainder of the year.

5—Bank loans and new financing will expand. Money rates will tighten. Second grade bonds should trend higher along with rising earnings. High grade issues are likely to weaken.

Famous Flyer Will Seek To Find Russians

Jimmy Mattern Plans Dawn Takeoff Upon Search For Daring Over-Pole Aviators

FAIRBANKS, August 16.—(AP)—Jimmy Mattern, noted American aviator, made preparations today to leave at dawn today in his speedy twin motorized monoplane to search the Arctic wastes for the six missing Russian flyers.

Mattern arrived only last night after a record-breaking non-stop flight from Oakland, California, to join the search for Sigismund Levensteyn, Soviet Ace Pilot, and his five companions.

The American flyer said that he would traverse the 148th meridian in quest of a clue to the fate of the daring Russians who disappeared Friday on a 4,000-mile flight over the North Pole from Moscow to Fairbanks.

The last word received from the ill-fated aviators came Saturday morning when a signal corps station intercepted a brief, partly unusable message.

Previous statements indicated that the famous flyer and his companions might have been safe somewhere in the vast Arctic regions, but lack of further communications has caused considerable anxiety.

40-Pound Snapper Caught Off Beach By Lloyd F. Boyle

A 40-pound red snapper, considered by many anglers to be the largest caught near Daytona in the past 5 years, was landed yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Lloyd F. Boyle.

Fishing with light fresh-water tackle while the other members of his party used "plog lines and window weights for sinkers," he added a nine foot shark to his catch prior to a driving storm which forced the boat to come to port.

He expects to have it mounted to be sent to the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C. Other fishermen in the group registered catches of large sharks, weighing about 800 and 900 pounds. Included in the group of anglers were: Richard Hickson, H. A. Nelson, of Deland, Theodore Pope, Charles Dunn, Jr., Charles Dunn, Sr., Howard Long, John Hunter, Harry Thurston, Fred Bolly, Pete Peterson, C. E. Clem, Roy Pippin, Gus Schmah, St. Clair White, W. A. Patrick, George Gray, J. B. Little, and Mr. Boyle.

The group fished about 62 miles out to sea from Daytona Beach.

Funeral Service For Gaffney Held Today

Jury Indicts Woman Who Poisoned Many

CINCINNATI, Aug. 16. (AP)—After receiving evidence in what Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcall termed "the biggest mass murder in this country," a Hamilton county grand jury today indicted Mrs. Anna Lee, 31-year-old mother, on charges of murdering many. Juror Outcall charged her with "malicious and premeditated murder" of George O. Sellman, 57, who died suddenly July 4, and Jack Wagner, 75, teamster, who died June 23. Police have since other unsuspected deaths under scrutiny, four of which were of elderly German men with whom Mrs. Lee admitted having been friendly.

American Fugitives Flee Shanghai As Shell Fragments Rake Steamer; Land, Sea, Air Forces Continue Fray

SHANGHAI BOMBARDMENT KILLS HUNDREDS

This striking air view of the heart of Shanghai along the famous waterfront Bund shows where hundreds were killed during a bombardment as Chinese and Japanese aerial forces clashed. Three Americans were victims of the bombing. The arrow points to a spot where 200 or more were killed. The key to identifying numbers: (1) Corner of Nanking Road and the Bund where many Chinese were killed and an American wounded, (2) Cathay Hotel, (3) Palace Hotel in the lobby of which Dr. Robert Reischauer, Princeton University professor, was killed, (4) Broadway Mansions from which many Americans fled, (5) French Catholic Hospital, near where two other Americans were killed, (6) British consulate, (7) Post office, (8) Embankment Apartments, residence of many Americans, (9) American consulate, (10) Customs house, (11) Hongkong-Shanghai bank, (12) National City Bank of New York, (13) Chase National Bank, (14) Garden bridge over Soochow Creek where American marines erected barbed wire.

Chinese Airplanes In Battle Formation

Rain Bombs On Jap Base Of Operations

Both Sides Claim To Inflict Losses

By The Associated Press. The first American fugitives from the incessant aerial bombardment of Shanghai fled today through gauntlet of bursting shrapnel. Beginning the mass flight from the undeclared war between China and Japan, the group of 200, mostly women and children, boarded the steamer President Taft after a perilous two hour trip by tender.

United States sailors kept the frightened passengers some, with infants in their arms, huddled below while shell fragments splintered the deck floors and railings above.

In a matter of hours it was expected more than 600 American refugees would be started for home end safety aboard the liners President Taft and President McKinley.

The British and French made similar evacuation arrangements, and Chinese warplanes flying in massed battle formation rained bombs again on Japanese sections and the waterfront in an attempt to destroy the Japanese base of operations.

The Chinese attack was answered by a dawn offensive by Japan's land, sea and air forces that spread all through the rich Yangtze valley, heart of China's commercial wealth.

Both sides claimed their air squadrons inflicted heavy losses on the other. The Japanese embassy at Nanking was ordered closed. But it was not known whether this meant a break in Sino-Japanese diplomatic relations.

The population of the world was estimated at more than 2,000,000,000 in 1936.

Gaffney Case Still Continues Mystery

Officers of two counties are continuing search today for evidence which might unravel the mystery connected with the death of Eugene Gaffney, Orlando bartender and former professional baseball player, whose body was found in the scrub oak south of Altamonte Springs last Friday morning.

Sheriff C. M. Hand stated today that apparently the Orlando dead had died from exhaustion, whether or not there were wounds inflicted by an unknown assailant remains to be decided at the coroners inquest to be held, probably, late this afternoon.

Aims Of Rotary Are Related At Weekly Meeting

District Governor Of Organization Tells Of Club's Expansion

Aims of Rotary International which were promulgated recently at the international convention in Montreux, Switzerland were presented to the members of the Sanford Rotary Club today by Roland Horton, district governor of the organization.

He brought out the fact that it had been previously supposed that Rotary could not be extended beyond North America. Later, when clubs were organized in the British Isles, it was thought that further extension was impossible.

Mr. Horton declared that because the club had continued to grow even beyond those points organization of groups in China and India might be started.

He stated that Morris DuPerry, a Frenchman who was recently elected president of Rotary International, presented the following definition of Rotary to the members of the club in Switzerland:

"Rotary is a world-wide association of men of good will drawn from the ranks of all trades and professions, holding all sorts of opinions, following all the creeds, yet inspired by the same ardent desire to be of service to their fellow man and sharing the same ideal of endeavoring to banish everything that tends to divide and bringing into action all that which may help to unite mankind."

"A Rotarian is the living emblem of usefulness and Rotary is the connecting link between men and nations."

AMERICANS DIE IN CHINA WAR

Dr. Frank J. R. W. Lord Returns From Trip Through Eastern U. S. Area

Experiences while traveling in the northern part of the United States were related this morning by Robert W. Lord, who recently returned to Sanford. He was particularly interested in the sights of New York City, he visited the Aquarium, the Broadway district, the slums, Chinatown, and many of Gotham's most famous buildings.

The airport of the Pan American Airways presented an unusual sight for him. The Bermuda Clipper, the Cavalier belonging to the British Imperial Airways, and the P. A. A. Clipper III, which soon alone its route from Port Washington and England, were being made ready for flights at that time.

Experiences Told By People Caught In Shanghai Fray

Thrilling And Tragical Scenes Are Painted Of Recent Warfare

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15.—(AP)—War in Chinese and Japanese in this luxurious metropolis meant adventure to Americans—some of it thrilling, some tragic. Ten members of the original four party caught in the conflict were prepared to depart home Thursday without their leader—Dr. Robert K. Reischauer of Princeton University. He was killed by a bomb explosion.

Those who will leave aboard the Japanese steamer Tatsuta Maru are Lee Drey of St. Louis, Mo.; George Seranton of Harbor Beach, Mich.; Jane Gantonn and Anthony Cornell of New York city; William Verhage of Mankato, Minn.; Alice McGinnis of Boston; Paul Amos of Princeton, N. J.; John Masland of Philadelphia; Harlan Cleland of Harwichport, Mass.; and Dr. Robert Potter of Fresno, Calif., now the leader.

"We are all o.k. and this is a great adventure but I wish we were home," Amos said. "The four party moved to the Palace hotel believing the Astor, house unsafe," he said, describing the bombing.

"Most of the members were playing bridge, but I was walking along the (Wangpoo) river when I saw Chinese airplanes flying in battle formation toward the Japanese crules Idzumo.

"The Idzumo fired. I ran toward the hotel and a Chinese bomb landed 40 yards from me—Everything was chaos. The detonation was stunning. Huge slivers of glass fell to the street from windows.

At some times wonder what would become of us if we didn't have almost daily rains to cool things off and bring refreshing relief from the morning heat.

The United States navy is pushing new construction at the rate of $100,000,000 a year. With so many nations on the map these days we feel this expenditure of our first line of defense is well justified.

The tax will be levied on the sale of goods and services. It will be levied on the sale of goods and services. It will be levied on the sale of goods and services.

The Horrors Of War

Events in Shanghai Saturday, when aerial bombs dropped in the International Settlement, took a heavy toll of life, should serve to impress the world with the awful possibilities which modern warfare offers for civilian populations.

The release of the bombs apparently was accidental, probably due to damaged bomb racks caused from shrapnel, or it is possible that it was due to faulty aiming. At all events, it is hardly reasonable to believe that the Chinese would bomb their own people.

Assuming that the bombings were accidental, we can get a fairly good picture of what the results might have been if a real concerted attack had been made. As it was, some 900 persons were killed and 1200 wounded amid scenes of incredible horror. Pandemonium, screams of the injured and dying, the terrific din of bursting shells, blood-splashed streets and sidewalks, horribly mangled bodies—this is a picture which should make other nations think many times before considering war.

In other days battles were fought on the battlefield and unless one lived in the immediate vicinity, the ruthlessness and savagery of war was not apparent to civilians. Now the picture has been reversed. It is the civilians who really see war at its worst. Soldiers at the front have every means of protecting themselves and they are prepared to take "what's coming," but in the cities and towns the people are at the mercy of bombing planes and have no chance to protect themselves. Women and children are the most likely targets.

Perhaps the carnage in the Far East and in Spain may help to sober the judgment of other peoples and make them realize that the next world war will be brought to the front door of every single individual. There won't be any need for troops to leave for the front amid the plaudits of the townspeople. Soldiers might as well stay home and meet death in their own front parlor.

Hard Lines For Sportsmen

It never seemed to us that there was much sense in destroying all the deer in certain sections of Florida in order to eradicate cattle ticks, but if responsible state agencies say this is the only way to protect the cattle industry, then we must believe it is the best thing to do.

However, we feel the same way as does the Florida searchlight which believes "a blow to Florida sportsmen was struck this week at Orlando, when at a joint meeting of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board and the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, it was decided to systematically slay all of the deer in Glades, Orange and Osceola counties, in order to rid this section of the cattle fever tick.

"It has been claimed by the Live Stock Board for the past two years that the cattle industry is seriously jeopardized in South Florida by the wild deer running at large and propagating fever ticks in the cattle areas, and the Board has insisted that the annihilation of these beautiful wild animals is necessary to a proper tick eradication campaign.

"Henry Wiesenfeld, until recently Chairman of the Game and Fish Commission, has been able to postpone the inauguration of a program that will eliminate this greatest of Florida's game animals, but with his retirement it now seems that the boards are in harmony to go ahead.

"Perhaps this drastic move is necessary in order that the cattle industry may survive, and if this be so, we reluctantly yield, but with poignant regret when we remember the hundreds of happy occasions in our boyhood and young manhood when we have followed the dogs to the kill and then regaled ourselves around the camp fire with delicious venison, bringing back the head and the antlers of the proud stag to adorn our habitation; after the taxidermist had 'strutted his stuff.' As reluctantly as we yield, we are compelled to take a parting shot by making the inquiry what the two boards propose to do about the coons, possums, wildcats, catamounts, skunks and other wild life and animals in the area, and to ask the boards to tell Florida sports lovers whether or not their plan, after systematic destruction in these three counties, is to move on into the others until Florida's fleet-footed antelope is extinct."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

The foreigner giving the name of Brody who was arrested near the plant of the Sanford Public Service Company on suspicion of being a German spy, was released today as there was insufficient evidence against him to warrant his detention. When arrested, he was acting in a suspicious manner and had several phials of medicine on his person. People at first thought he was going to try to poison the drinking water in this city. We have showed by the arrest of this man that Sanford is always on the alert.

Chinese Airplanes In Battle Formation Rain Bombs On Jap Base Of Operations

"World war incidents were nothing compared to my harrowing experiences on a four-mile bicycle ride from my home in the Kiangwan area where I was isolated between Chinese and Japanese firing—to the international settlement amid bursting shrapnel and bombing guns.

"For the past few weeks tension was gradually increasing in the Kiangwan area with intermittent pistol shots audible since the arrival of Japanese troops. The real trouble started when Chinese and Japanese clashed near where I was living with a Chinese family.

"Peace preservation corps members (Chinese kenardems) were entrenched in nearby potato and cotton fields with machine guns, sandbags, rifle pits and road barricades. On the following day both the Chinese and Japanese brought big guns into play and anti-aircraft guns were frequently fired.

"I flew the United States flag over my quarters in the two-story plaster house. For safety I moved my bedding to the ground floor and slept nightly in a five-foot iron bathtub although I am six feet two inches tall.

"Shrapnel in Room Pieces of shrapnel burst into the room, passing through both walls but, amazingly, no bullets actually hit my quarters. I believe both Chinese and Japanese were respecting the United States flag which was affording me protection.

"Early Sunday, when bombs exploded overhead breaking the windows, I decided to leave. I pumped up the bicycle tires, tied up my portable typewriter, shaved kit and personal belongings, attached the flag to the bicycle and started for the settlement dressed in a bathing suit and khaki shorts.

"I peddled through a rain of bullets and though I met no Chinese, numerous Japanese patrols shouted 'banai!' (Hurray) and smiled. I expected to see piles of bodies but I saw none although the road was the center of cannonading.

"I lived four days on a can of salmon and half a loaf of bread, arriving safely at Japanese lines at Hongkong."

explained. "Some peculiarity of structure or location, unusually poor blood supply, a very poor connection between the appendix and the rest of the digestive tract all suggest themselves as factors which might enable the bacteria, usually present in all the lower digestive tract, to be so troublesome."

Analysis of the three families indicated, Professor Baker added, that the appendicitis strain cannot be due to chance or the influence of environment.

Appendicitis Seems To Be Hereditary, Scientist Reports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Appendicitis, one of the commonest human troubles requiring surgical treatment, is apparently a hereditary disease, a midwestern scientist reported yesterday.

E. G. Stanley Baker of Wabash college, Crawford, Ind., announced in the Journal of Heredity that he had found that infection of the appendix, resulting in inflammation, soreness and rupture, "runs in families."

He found it running through four generations of one family, in which 12 cases occurred. A second appendicitis-susceptible family was found without any special searching," he added, and a third was reported to the journal simultaneously.

The trouble is not that a child is born with an infected appendix, the Indiana scientist declared. Instead, it inherits a predisposition to the disease in the same way that other persons are believed to inherit a predisposition to cancer.

"Since the immediate cause of appendicitis is usually bacterial infection, it is impossible to say exactly what weakness may favor the onset of such a condition," he explained.

Negro Lynched In Tennessee By Masked Men

Tipton County Sees First Lynching Since Reconstruction Days After War

Judge Calls For Murder Charges

Describes Lynching As One Of Worst Crimes In History

COVINGTON, Tennessee, Aug. 17.—(AP)—An impassioned plea for first degree murder indictments against Tipton county's first lynching mob since the War Between the States came from Circuit Judge R. B. Baptist today a few hours after the searchers found a bullet-riddled body of a 35-year-old negro.

Describing the lynching of Albert Gooden as "one of the most horrible and disgraceful crimes in the history of our county," Judge Baptist declared that "every one participating, aiding or abetting therein, is guilty of murder in the first degree."

Gooden's body was found several hours after six grim men, their faces masked with handkerchiefs, took the negro from Sheriff W. J. Vaughan at points of guns and then whisked him away into the night.

Attorney General Flies To His Work In Lone Star State

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Attorney General William McCraw of Texas pilots himself to work and his work is likely to take him anywhere in the state from the Rio Grande to Panhandle.

A licensed pilot, McCraw owns a plane in partnership with a friend and seldom uses an automobile or train to get from the state capital to any other Texas city. His hops from Austin to Amarillo, nearly 500 miles by air, in a little more than five hours for the round trip.

Loss Of Texas Laid To U. S. Imperialism

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 17.—(AP)—United States students at the University of Mexico's summer school were told recently Uncle Sam's "imperialism" was responsible for this nation's loss of Texas.

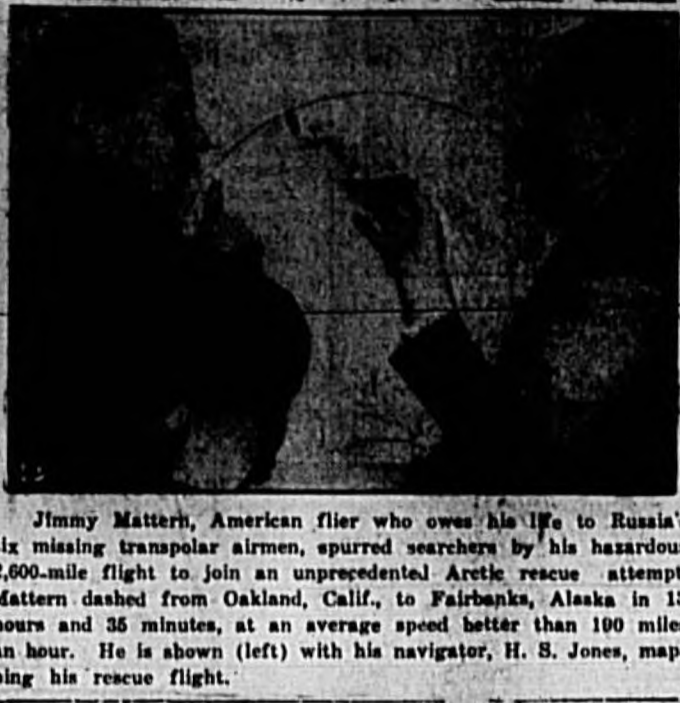

"Texas independence was not gained through any high-minded desire on the part of Houston and Austin," Victor Velazquez, professor of diplomatic relations, said. "Mexico was the victim of two contradictory currents: the desire of the United States to expand, and the efforts of Europe to limit that expansion."

Franco's Men Hit Santander On All Sides

Fall Of Biscay Capital Is Predicted Within One Week; Thousands Killed

HENDAYE, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's legions lunged against the tottering defenses of Santander from five directions today. The insurgent tactics predicted the fall of the Biscayan capital within a week.

One powerful column which ripped open a path with hand grenades and bayonets was reported to have routed the Spanish government troops from Ercudo Pass, Santander's last mountain stronghold on the south, and to be within 30 miles of its coastal objective.

The insurgent command claimed the government's northern defenses had been demoralized. The important manufacturing city of Reinos, about 30 miles south and slightly west of Santander in the heart of rich mineral lands, was captured by one insurgent column yesterday.

Mattern Joins In Search Of Missing Transpolar Fliers

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 17.—(AP)—James Mattern, noted American flier, was enroute here late Sunday to settle a four-year-old debt of gratitude.

Pilot Sigismund Levanoffsky and five companions, missing on their flight over the North Pole from Moscow to the United States.

Mattern joined other experienced Arctic pilots in searching the barren Arctic wastes for the big Russian monoplane, believed to have been forced down as it approached the Alaskan coast. Other searchers had flown about in several directions all day Saturday without finding any trace of the plane.

U. S. War Cemetery In England Is Dedicated

BROOKWOOD, Eng., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The only American war cemetery and memorial chapel in England were dedicated Sunday in the presence of Ambassador Robert W. Bingham and members of the British cabinet.

Rifle volleys and strains of the Star Spangled Banner echoed across the English woodland, last resting place of 528 American soldiers and sailors who served in the World War, as the dedication drew to its close.

Robert G. Woodside, vice president of the American Battle Monuments Commission, made the address dedication the last of the 11 memorials erected by the commission in Europe.

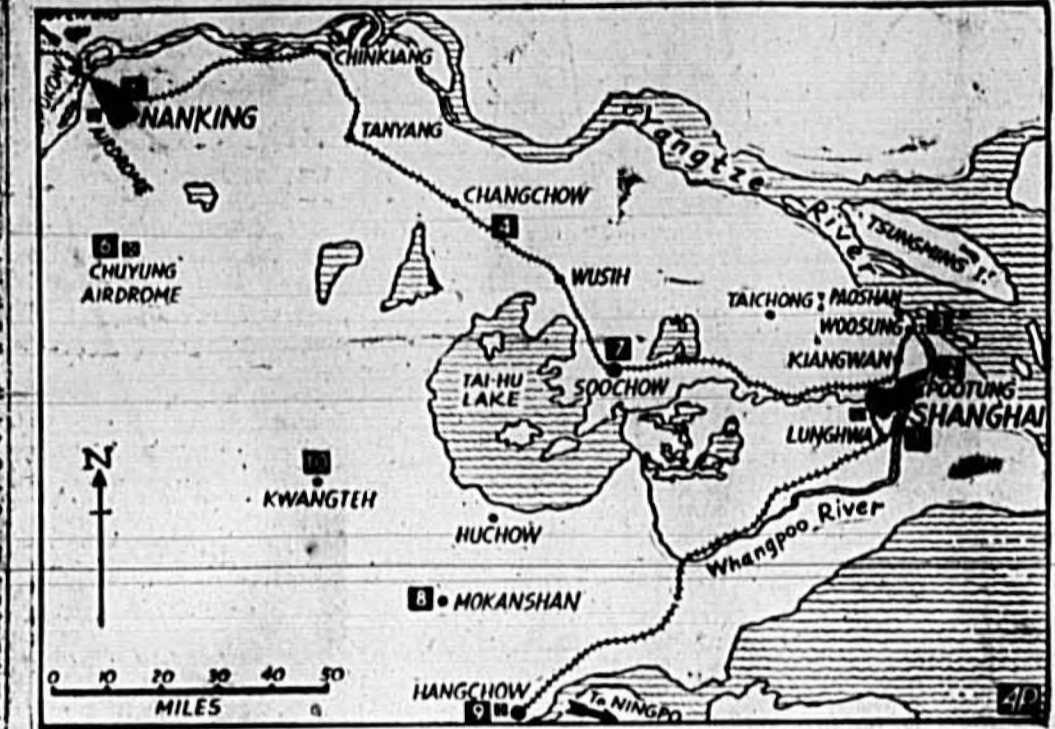

Additions To Municipal Zoo Heighten Interest And Draw Numerous Visitors

The many new contributions to the Sanford Municipal Zoo will greatly add to its appeal to tourists, according to James Moughton, superintendent of Parks.

Shell Splinters Spray Death And Guns Roar Out Terror In Battleground Of Shanghai

SINO-JAPANESE WAR ZONE

Sino-Japanese aerial warfare maintained its center in the stricken Shanghai area Monday, Aug. 16, but also extended westward all the way up the Yangtze river to Nanking, the Chinese capital. Principal points involved in the developments included (1) Shanghai itself, where both sides braved for more heavy fighting and Chinese put heavy guns at Pootung (2) as American women and children were moved safely to Woosung (3), where the liner President Taft awaited them. Japanese aerial attacks were reported to have cut connections on the Shanghai-Nanking railroad (4), but it was reported from Nanking (5) that Japanese planes were brought down while raiding the Chuyung airdrome (6) Japanese claimed to have raided Chinese air bases at Soochow (7), Hangchow (8) and Kwangteh (10). Many foreigners in the Hangchow area were believed to have moved to Mekanasha (9), mountain summer resort.

100,000 Troops With Every Implement Of War Fight For Goal No One Can Foresee

Darkness Reveals Three Huge Fires

2,000 American, English Women Already Have Fled Territory

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Shell splinters sprayed peaceful foreign home areas with death by day and great guns roared out terror tonight for the Chinese-Japanese battlefield of Shanghai.

One hundred thousand men with guns and bombs fought on to a goal none could foresee. Fires ringed the city. Unconfirmed reports said Chinese troops had pressed hard on Japanese positions along the line northeast of Shanghai facing the Whangpoo River beyond the international settlement.

Darkness disclosed three huge fires started by Chinese bombs and shells within Japanese lines. Japanese big guns bombed after dark in a renewal of the duel which earlier today threw shell fragments into the French concession where most Americans in Shanghai live. Concession police were unable to learn the number of dead or injured but estimated fifty persons, all Chinese, were struck by shrapnel or shell splinters.

Business utterly collapsed. More than 2,000 Americans and British women and children fled from Shanghai. They played hide and seek with death down the Whangpoo River to reach waiting liners under the blazing guns of the Japanese fleet.

Sunset found the "French Town" ready for another dark night of sleep. Foreigners and Chinese alike feared a repetition of last night's terrific battle over the Pootung industrial area across the Whangpoo River from the concession.

At dusk the guns of the Japanese warships in the river began a terrific bombardment. The direction of shells could not be ascertained. There were no estimates of the casualties in outlying areas and it was believed many were added to thousands already killed and wounded in the five-day battle.

MISSING AVIATORS

FAIRBANKS, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Aviators of three nations gathered on the rim of the Arctic today for a search into the bleak wastes where six Russian trans-Polar fliers vanished last Friday. Wind, rain and lowering clouds which swept ominously across the top of the world temporarily halted the American Russian and Canadian airmen from launching the hunt.
