Titusville Comeback Killed

Gainesville Crew Cops Sanford Title

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Editor
When they lost their initial Sanford Men's Softball tournament game, the First National Bank of Titusville had left quite an impression on both the conqueror and the folks who took in the game.

seventh the Gainesville crew went to work with four straight hits that produced the final two rallies. Ted Feaster, the D & H leadoff man singled after an inning man went down on strikes.

Wall had two home runs as did Maple. Waldren found the outer limits on one shot as did Galloway. All told C-H had 18 hits in the victory.

Titusville put all of their eggs in one basket in the title game, scoring six times in the fourth frame. While it gave them a 6-3 lead it was not enough to withstand the late slugging of the Gainesville crew which tallied twice in each of the final two frames to pull out the victory.

Mike Maples had a homer and George Waldren a home run and a single to lead the C-H crew over Indian River.

After horrendous playing conditions Saturday night things had to get better for the remaining entries in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Softball Tourney.

Because of Perry's ability to lose a "super fork ball" the major leagues has begun an investigation of its own to determine what, if anything, is being done by its pitchers.

Stuart's were hopped up for their first meeting with the Steamers and blanked the local crew by an 8-0 count forcing still another game to decide the title.

Third place went to 45-year-old Lloyd Ruby of Wichita Falls, Tex., fourth to Mike Mosley of Clermont, Ind., and fifth to Johnny Rutherford of Ft. Worth, Tex., who drove firmly on after brushing the first turn guard rail seconds after the race started.

Gambling Threat Cited Do Sports Need Their Own 'FBI'?

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The public gets little protection from the millions of dollars that they spend on sports events, said John L. Brennan, president of the National Tracks Security, Inc., a security and investigative organization for 34 of the nation's harness tracks.

Brennan believes that the integrity of sports is more vulnerable than sports managers want to admit. Gamblers, he contends, are a constant menace to professional athletes, and the major sports are not doing all they can to ensure that the public gets a totally honest game for its dollar.

Postal Employees Buy Surplus Equipment

... the bargains are used electric typewriters worth up to $400 new selling for $45. declared surplus at this time. Bewise-bis said last year the local postal facility sold a typewriter to an employer for $2.50, the value offered by a supplier as trade-in on a new machine. Among the bargains are used electric typewriters worth up to $400 new selling for $45. Postal officials said the sale was arranged because the service is moving from its huge, ornate office building on Pennsylvania Avenue to a new $30-million headquarters purchased in the L'Enfant Plaza complex across from the Mall. "By selling to the employees we may not only possibly give them a bargain but we are saving the expense of having the equipment moved," a postal spokesman said. "The articles are not of sufficient quantity to warrant formal competitive disposition by GSA (General Services Administration)," he said. The Postal Service is not bound by regulations that require most government agencies to turn disposable property over to GSA. That agency then makes the items available to other government organizations, or sells or donates them to state or local governments or approved non-government organizations. Last Thursday morning, postal workers spilled onto the Pennsylvania Avenue sidewalk for the first two-day sale, which featured several hundred wooden and metal desks, many to their executive size, for $35 to $15; leatherette couches for $50 and matching chairs for $35; 200 to 400 wooden office chairs at $8 apiece, and 40-odd electric typewriters and office machines—some worth upwards of $600 new—for as little as $45. By Friday afternoon, most of the items had been sold on an "as is" basis. This meant that the Postal Service took no responsibility for the condition of the items and the purchasers had to carry them away at their own expense.

Gas Rationing Plan Needs Nixon's OK

DALLAS (AP) — A detailed national program for compulsory rationing of all motor fuels lacks only White House approval, a government official was quoted as saying today. The Dallas News reported that Duke Ligon, director of the Office of Oil and Gas of the Interior Department, said the plan calls for mandatory allocation of crude oil to refineries and of finished products—including gasoline—down to the consumer level. "I'm talking about everything from crude oil on—you name it," the News quoted Ligon as saying. "Everybody would be on it. "We're on the brink. We've got the whole program ready. We would have announced it five days ago except that we wanted to get Gov. Love's approval." Colorado Gov. John A. Love was named Friday as President Nixon's new assistant on energy matters.

William Simon, deputy secretary of the Treasury and chairman of the Oil Policy Committee, planned to discuss the program with Love at dinner Monday night, the News quoted Ligon as saying.

In a recent interview, Love seemed to oppose mandatory allocations. Ligon reportedly said the new White House energy chief opposed direct consumer rationing and favored voluntary allocations "but at that point he had not talked to Simon" and was unaware of the mandatory plan and the reasons for it. Ligon also is executive secretary of the Oil Policy Committee and has been charged with policing the administration's voluntary allocation program since it was announced May 10.

Pressure on the voluntary program has increased because of the wheat harvest that started in Texas and is spreading northward toward Canada, he reportedly told the News. Voluntary guidelines called for farmers to receive top priority in getting fuel, but this was not the case in many instances, the News quoted him as saying.

Lung Cancer Claims Actress Betty Grable

Betty Grable, with a coy smile, early in World War II. Almost three million copies of the pin-up picture which showed her shapely legs to their best advantage were distributed, mostly to GIs who displayed them in their barracks or carried them in sea bags or footlockers with their personal belongings. The photograph was made by 20th Century-Fox studio while she was under contract there. Through the years, the blonde singing and dancing star maintained her trim measurements: 37-24-35. Her 42 movies during the 1930s and 1940s grossed more than $100 million. She set a record of 12 consecutive years in the top 10 of boxoffice stars. The Treasury Department in 1947 listed her as the highest salaried American woman. She earned more than $3 million during her career. Her movies included "Million Dollar Legs," "How to Succeed in a Millionaire" and "Follow the Fleet." In 1956, she made her last film, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Miss Grable had posed in a white bathing suit, gazing over her shoulder in a 1947 photo. She was diagnosed with lung cancer in 1964. She died at St. John's Hospital. She was 56. Turnpike 'Fill-ups' Win State Judge's Order

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A judge has ordered two oil companies to supply their two Florida turnpike service stations along the 265-mile, limited-access turnpike with enough fuel to meet motorists' "needs and demands." It said the order Monday in state Transportation Department suits against Union Oil Co. and American Oil Co. which sought an injunction to force supplies.

Leon County Circuit Court Judge John A. Rudd Sr. also said other oil companies should voluntarily supply their stations along the 265-mile, limited-access turnpike with enough fuel to meet motorists' "needs and demands." It said the order Monday in state Transportation Department suits against Union Oil Co. and American Oil Co. which sought an injunction to force supplies. If gasoline is rationed at the station "irregular injury will result to the motoring public" including "traffic congestion, unnecessary delay in traffic flow, increased number of stranded motorists," the judge said. He said the station's contracts with the state require them to provide full services for 24 hours a day and "equally important, a business that will project a good image for the defendant company and the state of Florida." Transportation Department attorney Betty Stinson told the judge at a hearing last week that the American station was out of gas and the American station was rationing fuel to $2 worth per car. She said limited gasoline at one station would have a domino effect up and down the turnpike during heavy traffic on the Fourth of July holiday. The department also had filed suit against five other oil companies. Mobile, Standard, Texaco and Sunoco were granted continuances after attorneys told Rudd their stations had enough gas to last through next week.

Bermuda Is Bracing For Hurricane Alice

The National Hurricane Center predicted that Hurricane Alice special advisory No. 3 9:30 a.m. EDT Tuesday, July 3. Emergency precautions should be rushed to completion over Bermuda immediately. All interests on Bermuda should take immediate precautions for hurricane conditions with winds of 75 mph. The outer fringes of Alice will begin affecting the island this afternoon and the center should pass very near to Bermuda this evening. Winds over Bermuda should begin picking up within the next few hours, becoming gale force this afternoon and reaching near hurricane force this evening. Early satellite pictures and reports from a military recon plane indicate that Alice strengthened during the night and is now a hurricane. The forward speed also increased and Alice is now bearing down on Bermuda.
