

BIGGEST POWER PLANT IN WORLD OPENED IN RUSSIA

To Furnish Electricity For Population Of 16,000,000 Persons

STANLEY F. RICHARDSON, DNEPROSTROY, U. S. S. R., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Bands blared the international red flags waved and thousands of spectators cheered yesterday as the Soviet government dedicated the largest hydro-electric plant in the world to the cause of Socialism.

The occasion was the formal opening of the gigantic Dneprostroy dam, part of a project which eventually will supply an area of 70,000 square miles and a population of 16,000,000 with electric power.

One of the features of the ceremony was the formal announcement by M. I. Kalinin, president of the Union Central Executive Committee, that the order of the red banner of labor had been awarded to Col. Hugh L. Cooper and five other Americans who participated in the building and equipping of the great enterprise.

The other Americans honored by Frank Fier, a member of Colonel Cooper's New York staff, and Winters and George E. Bindler of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, and Charles Thompson and William Murphy, of the General Electric Company.

The same award went to Alexander Winter, also an American, who is the government's chief engineer and who becomes vice commissioner for heavy industry despite the fact he is not a member of the communist party.

The ceremony was held in the shadow of the dam in a natural amphitheater adjacent to the power house containing the world's largest generators and turbines, manufactured by the General Electric. The rest of the work was done by the Newport News Company.

The participants in the ceremony were workers and officials actually employed in the construction, several battalions of soldiers and a detachment of sailors, officials, both of the U. S. S. R. and the Ukrainian government.

The plant has been only partially completed. Two of the five generators already in place hummed an accompaniment to official declarations that Dneprostroy marks the greatest step toward realization of Lenin's dream of an electrified Russia. In formally dedicating the project with the name "Le Plant," Mr. Kalinin contrasted the depression and the closed factories in other parts of the world with the gathering speed of Socialist construction.

His quoted Joseph Stalin, head of the communist party, thus: "There is no fortress which the Bolsheviks cannot conquer."

On a speaker's stand decorated with red banners and bearing the hammer and sickle insignia was Colonel Cooper, who made a brief speech through an interpreter in which he said the plant "stands as a challenge to all those of your country and elsewhere who previously doubted the wisdom of your government."

In an earlier statement to newspapermen, Colonel Cooper advanced recognition of the Soviet Union by the United States.

Former New York Broker Is Suicide Victim In Miami

MIAMI, Oct. 11.—(AP) Edwin J. Fuller, 50, senior member of the New York brokerage firm of E. M. Fuller & Company which failed in 1921, died yesterday in a hospital here of a bullet wound to his head which investigators believe was self-inflicted.

Mr. Fuller was found wounded Friday night by his wife and a servant shortly after he had been notified by his attorney he would be unable to stay execution of a mortgage on the home.

Fuller was on his bed unconscious clutching a revolver in his right hand. The bullet had entered the right temple.

Fuller was indicted in 1923 after the failure of his firm. In several hearings in creditor's action to recover assets of the company, name of Arnold Rothstein, a noted gangster was brought in the case when Fuller testified he had lost $251,000 to the number betting on baseball.

Fuller came to Miami in 1924 and entered real estate activities on the west coast. During 1925 he had a small fortune in real estate. During the last year and a half, however, he had lost most of his property.

Amendments To City Budget Are O. K. To Bondmen

(Continued From Page One) of the Commissioners that night. The Commissioners' letter, which the Commissioners consider as a supplement to the original proposal and therefore constitutes part of the agreement between the two groups, is as follows:

"Replying to Mr. Lamson's letter of Sept. 30, 1932, submitting certain requested modifications of the proposals outlined in the letter of the Bondholders' Protective Committee, City of Sanford, Florida, of Aug. 6, 1932, supplemented by our letter of Aug. 30, 1932, we are instructed by the Committee to advise you as follows:

"1. At the time of submitting its proposals of Aug. 6, 1932, to you, the Committee contemplated that it would derive a substantial amount of cash from the collections of delinquent taxes, which would be applicable to interest on bonds. This was one of the major factors influencing the proposal of the Committee contained in such letter respecting cancellation of interest coupons maturing Jan. 1, 1933 and July 1, 1933, upon the terms and conditions mentioned in such letter. You, of course, are familiar with the fact that $13,000 of delinquent taxes were collected in cash during the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1932. To yield now to your suggestion that the collections from delinquent taxes be used to purchase bonds on the open market for cancellation means a reduction from the anticipated realizations of the Committee for interest of more than 10 percent of the amount expected under the terms outlined in the letter of the Committee of Aug. 6, 1932. Nevertheless, the Committee is willing to make this concession to evidence the desire of the Committee to co-operate with the city officials and the taxpayers even in a manner which involves substantial monetary loss to the bondholders.

"2. By its letter of Aug. 6, 1932, the Committee agreed to use its best endeavors to devise a plan during the next fiscal year whereby the interest obligations accrued and unpaid as of Sept. 30, 1932 could be discharged as a general obligation of the city, subject, however, to the approval of the depositors and subject, also, to a satisfactory record of tax collections on the city's part. The formulation of a plan which would be acceptable to the city and the depositors, despite the obvious conflict of interest, will necessarily require time and serious consideration. The plan, to be successful, must demonstrate to the bondholders that they should make some sacrifice in this regard upon conditions which will be at least acceptable, if not completely satisfactory, to them and to the city.

"The formulation of such plan necessarily involves an exchange of views between the members of the Committee and possible discussions with bondholders. Of course, time has not been available for this purpose since Sept. 30, 1932, now will it be possible to formulate such a plan prior to the time when your budget and tax levy should become effective. It is therefore requested that you accept the assurances of the Committee that it will use its best efforts to formulate and submit a plan before the end of the fiscal year. The Committee contemplates the formulation of such plan at its earliest convenience, and does not propose to defer such plan before the end of the present calendar year. The Committee has every reason to believe that such plan, when submitted, will be accepted by the great majority of its depositors.

"3. The form of the second paragraph of the Committee's letter to the city of Aug. 6, 1932, indicates that all interest received from the city during the fiscal year commencing Oct. 1, 1932, will be applied towards interest accruing Jan. 1, 1933 and July 1, 1933, and such is the intention of the Committee. It is now brought to the attention of the Committee that if the appropriation and tax levy for the current year are made for interest coupons, as distinguished from items of interest included in the judgments of the Committee against the City, considerable expense will be involved in the handling of coupons, insurance of funds, etc., in addition to clerical assistance in keeping records respecting payment of coupons at irregular intervals; whereas as the same result in dollars and cents can be obtained if the appropriation is made and a tax levied for interest items included in the four judgments of the Committee against the City. If the budget and tax levy are set up for interest items in judgments, any payments on account of such judgments will be regarded as the equivalent of payment on account of the coupons maturing Jan. 1, 1933, and July 1, 1933. If 50 percent of the City's 1933 tax roll is collected and the part appropriated to the Committee's judgment is paid, the Committee will surrender to the City the coupons maturing Jan. 1, 1933 and July 1, 1933, and the City will return the receipts given during the year by the Committee, for payments on account of the judgments. In short the change here suggested is one merely for the sake of convenience and does not affect the net result either to the City of the Committee."

Budget Adoption Halted By Writ Of Outside Bondowner

During the meeting the Commissioners authorized City Clerk F. S. Lamson to pay the salaries of City Attorney Wilson and Special Officer W. W. Owens under the terms of last year's agreement, and authorized him to continue the acceptance of City of Sanford bonds in payment of delinquent 1929 and previous year taxes provided 1930 and 1931 taxes are paid in cash.

The Commissioners also ordered vacated certain streets and alleys in Victoria Park.

They condemned the brick store building at the south-east corner of Oak Avenue and First Street. They authorized City Engineer Fred T. Williams to prepare plans relating to the enlargement of the P. D. S. boat dock to a width of 40 feet, and discussed the possibility of so constructing the dock that it would be an adequate freight terminal for some years to come.

Jesse A. Cook, who constructed the new City water aerator, was given the contract to build a water meter storage room under the aerator. He had submitted a bid of $120.

J. A. Takach was given permis-ion to use a small plot of ground near the City's former hot-house at the rear of the Eckerson Fruit Canneries, Inc., plant.

They authorized Attorney Wilson to draw up an ordinance which provides for a license of $10 for each truck from which a person sells merchandise of any kind, except farm products, to retailers.

Upon hearing a report of City Clerk Lamson that all but two accounts had been closed out with the budget figure allowed for the year 1931-32, the Commissioners authorized him to transfer funds from the contingent fund to cover a small overage in the inspection account and the Sanitation account. This overage was caused, Clerk Lamson said, by the extra expense incurred through the adoption of the new milk ordinance.

However, what that much better than bring together in the midst of boundless wealth, or securing a divorce after losing an eye or a leg, as is so frequently the case with the rich?

Uninformed Voters

Our government, says Arthur Brisbane, is like a baby learning to walk. The infant stumbles along, swaying from one side to the other, now rocking back and forth, sitting down ker-flop, crawling on hands and knees, up again to career along as preciously. An angel in Heaven, seeing that child in action for the first time, might well say, "Put him back in bed, for Heaven's sake! Do you want to break his neck?"

The answer is obviously, "If he would ever learn to walk, he must make the effort the best he can, taking the falls when they come". And, as Brisbane points out, that is the answer to our governmental problem. Men must learn to govern themselves. They have been trying for thousands of years. They have stumbled along in an almost hopeless fashion at times. Again and again they have fallen down. Many a neck has been broken. We learn slowly, but we do learn. Comparing our government today with that of Nero or Caligula, we can see progress.

Learning to govern one's self in this complicated age embraces many things, not the least of which is exercising the privilege and duty of the franchise and voting in a well informed and conscientious manner. Many of our Seminole County citizens are not qualified to vote in the November election. Only three more days remain in which they can pay their poll taxes. Unless before the end of the week they are fully qualified, they will have failed their country in their duty as citizens.

Out of the 120,000,000 persons in the United States, between thirty and forty millions, if former totals are any criterion, will vote next month. What will these millions vote for? Will they vote for a change, to end the depression, to stimulate business, to get jobs, or will they vote for men, ideals, principles and policies? Will many of them know what they are voting for, and could they set down in black and white what they hope to accomplish as a result of their voting?

How many qualified voters in this country today know what the Democratic party stands for and what the Republican party stands for? How many have read their platforms, or have studied the speeches of the party leaders? Brisbane says that not more than one percent has any definite ideas at all what it is all about. If this is true, the other ninety-nine percent will be voting blindly. To what success can popular government look if this is the case?

It is not enough to vote, in order to assure ourselves of a good government. It is equally important to be well informed concerning matters of state. With newspapers available to everyone, with radios broadcasting the speeches of party leaders almost every night, and with countless periodicals analyzing the policies and platforms of every candidate, there is no logical reason today for anyone to be uninformed.

A Significant Meeting

Whether or not it was the richness of the surroundings of the Widener home which may have influenced their optimism or whether it was a sincere belief that business is on the upgrade, members of the "Committee of 100", which gathered at a dinner tendered by the Philadelphia sportsman, almost unanimously agreed that the depression has about run its course.

The "Committee" embraces many of the outstanding leaders in the industrial and financial world and they were holding their annual get-together in the north, the home location of the organization being in Miami Beach. Those at the dinner included such personalities as Harvey Firestone, Frank Seiberling, W. W. Atterbury, Daniel Willard, Henry L. Doherty, S. B. Kresge, DeWitt Page, Professor Irving Fisher, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, and Gar Wood.

The purpose of the meeting was to renew friendships and boost America, but boosting America did not mean from an artistic or cultural sense but from an economic point of view. That this country has eclipsed the rest of the universe in worldly goods is recognized and was in a manner revealed by the treasures which Mr. Widener displayed to his guests, treasures which came from other lands rich in artistry but poor in money.

A Mazarin tapestry prized at $1,000,000 by its owner, 14 Rembrandts, rare Chinese porcelains, eight Van Dycks, Iafahan rugs, a Raphael Madonna, a Gutenberg Bible, Donatello sculptures, a case of Dresden figures and another of Ceflini jewelry were among the objects which dazzled the group of wealthy men who admired the works of art of other peoples. These business leaders undoubtedly were better qualified to draw business charts than to appreciate art criticism a painting or a piece of China, and it is this fact which lends credence to the opinion that they may see a silver lining.

The Sanford Music Club held its first meeting of the season Saturday afternoon at the studio of Mrs. Fannie S. Manson, the new president. The great pianist and composer, Franz Liszt, was the subject of the afternoon's program. Those taking part were: Miss Ellen Mahoney, Mrs. Munsell, Mrs. Ernest Tolar, Miss Mabel Bowler, Mrs. Cecil Butt, and Mrs. O. W. Brady. The club is this year beginning its third year as a club under very gratifying conditions. The members expect to resume their chorus work when their leader, Mrs. Hoy, returns, and are planning to do a great deal of good, as well as fine work, in preparation for the grand concert they will give next spring.

The board of county commissioners met on Monday evening with Commissioners Woodruff, Dillard, Weaver and Merrill in attendance. Communication from Alvin Vaughn of the loss of two acres at or near Geneva bridge was presented. The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Vaughn that the county can not pay for the loss of the miles. M. M. Smith appeared before the board in reference to the exchange of the Etha Club property for the land building property. Upon motion it was ordered that the board, as a committee meet with the committee of the Etha Club and report the result of their conference at the November session of the Board.

County Residents To Pay For Library Use

It will soon be necessary for patrons of the Sanford Library who reside outside the City limits to pay a small annual fee for using the books and magazines comprising the collection in that municipality owned plant. Monday night the City Commission decided that they must take steps to make the library more self-sustaining. Learning that several hundred library patrons reside outside the City limits and throughout the county, the Commission decided that they should not pay for the costs of operating the plant. They were instructed to this

FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES TAMPA TRIBUNE

The reduction of freight rates is of course the best sort of news to Florida citrus growers. It ought to prove profitable as well to the railroads, giving them more tonnage. The railroads propose a reduction of from 25 to 35 percent to southern destinations with a reduction in the minimum carload of more than 100 boxes, to go into effect Nov. 1. Technically, the rates are known as experimental truck competitive rates.

Plans for the "experiment" were made after railroad officials were approached by a committee from the Clearing House and the Florida Citrus Exchange outlining the benefits that would accrue to both the railroads and the citrus industry. High minimum loads required and the freight rates charged by the railroads led to severe competition by trucks. It is further said that this competition actually decreased the volume of fruit consumed in the Southeast.

The trade in this "truck area" became fearful of over-buying, never knowing what to expect in the way of supplies, because the trucks pour fruit into their markets in erratic fashion. The result has been that the volume consumed in these markets has been considerably less than the normal rail movement without truck competition would have been. Putting the proposed rate into effect, therefore, should stabilize the market to take more fruit, besides saving the growers at least one-fourth on whatever they ship by rail to the South-eastern states. The railroad passenger business also way profit; lower rates this winter are expected to Florida from the East and Middle West, inasmuch as trans-continental lines have announced substantial reduction in winter tourist rates for the round trip. The only low rate Florida has had in past years has been 20 percent off for the round trip, and that applies only as far south as Jacksonville. Meanwhile travelers have been turning to the automobile and the bus. A winter-tourist rate like that to California should mean a big increase in railroad passenger travel, and bring thousands of additional visitors to Florida.

Millionaire Club Members Express Optimistic Words

(Continued From Page One) for any candidate of any party for an office to declare specifically what he will do if elected to reduce adequately the cost of government," he explained, adding: "Until and unless the expenses of the federal government are quickly reduced one billion dollars and of state and municipal governments three billions more, hopes of any real business recovery and diminution of employment are illusory."

Governor Carlton, of Florida, was even more optimistic. "Florida real estate is just as liquid as many of the stocks and bonds," he said, explaining that even in uncertain times "Florida has a monopoly in many things which the nation demands in bad as well as good times."

Governor Carlton pleaded that residents and the nation at large have faith in Florida's resources, faith in our government, and faith in our own energies.

Clayton Sedgwick Cooper, president of the club, said the attendance established a new record.

"This is proof to me," he declared, "that America's business is getting better. Otherwise, so many important men would not be able to leave their desks even for a day."

He announced the guest list included such personalities in the business world as Harvey Firestone and Frank Seiberling, tire magnates; W. W. Atterbury, and Daniel Willard, railroad presidents; J. B. Ford, Detroit; S. B. Kresge, and Byron D. Miller, of the Woolworth Company; Henry L. Doherty, utilities magnate; Frank E. Gannett and Frank B. Shuts, newspaper publishers; A. R. Erskine, Charles B. Warren and Charles F. Kettering, of the automotive industry; Dr. Joseph H. Adams, international sun-ray specialist; Col. Communist Party Expels Twenty Of Its Members

MOSCOW, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The central control committee of the Communist party today expelled 20 of its members some of them prominent leaders of the Soviet regime since the days of the revolutionary movement.

The group included Gregory Zinoviev, former head of the Communist Intern and Leo Kamenev, brother-in-law of Leon Trotsky, military leader of the revolution now exiled in Turkey.

Other members of the group were former followers of Trotsky and members of the right wing of the party.

They were charged with circulation of anti-party literature opposing the present policy of collectivization of farms. The Communist ended today with the statement saying it "noted the end of the capitalist stabilization period" and predicted the imminence of fierce class struggles culminating in wars and revolutions.

BORAH OFFERS 4-POINT PLAN FOR RECOVERY

"First—world markets have been destroyed and the great problem is, how to restore them.

"Second—the monetary systems of the world have been broken up and demoralized, and the problem is, how to restore them, and how to adapt them to present conditions.

"Third—the last 25 years have witnessed such an increase of waste and extravagance in the government—that taxes are now literally destructive—to own property is to invite ruin.

"Fourth—by reason of adverse economic forces and the change in money values, debts have piled up beginning with the farm and ending with government until men are no longer working with a view to build, to construct, to develop, buy to pay, as it were, for a dead horse.

"In discussing these matters, let me say I do not criticize the efforts which have been made in the way of extending loans and in extending credit by the government, but I do say that unless we find a solution for the problems which I have stated, there is no ultimate relief in the policies thus far pursued.

"The first proposition I wish to present is that commodity prices cannot be permanently raised and the purchasing power of the people cannot be restored until the great post-war problems, which have destroyed commerce and broken up trade, are adjusted.

"The second proposition to which I direct your attention is the money question. * * * The farmer cannot get sufficient credit or find sufficient currency to pay the expenses of gathering his crop. A great deal is said about an honest dollar. That is precisely what we desire, what everybody would have.

"Nobody is proposing to abandon the gold standard, although 28 nations have done so. But it is my contention that much can be added to the use of gold and with perfect safety. We have sufficient gold in this country to give a basis for a sufficient amount of currency with which to do business and afford the people a medium of exchange."

Bid Of Miami For Summer Tourist Is Called Successful

MIAMI, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Miami's first serious bid for summer tourist traffic more than justified the effort, in the stated opinions of transportation agency officials and merchants.

Summer tours and summer cruises both featuring low trip rates—brought into the state, an estimated $500,000, the transportation men indicated.

Records of three steamship companies whose vessels carried more than 10,000 summer tourists to Miami in the five months just past, placed the average expenditure of each visitor at $14 during his stay here.

Railway companies, likewise sponsoring summer tours from the north to all points of the state, reported that while travel had not been excessive in the five month period, it had nevertheless been highly satisfactory in view of existing economic conditions.

Figures as to their traffic were not available. Representatives of land transportation lines were unable to give a definite figure as to the expenditures of their patrons during Florida visits, but estimated the average daily expenditure for each person to be between $1.50 and $7.50, as compared to the $10 a day estimate of several years ago.

Two States May Fight For Tax On Reynolds Estate

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The inheritance taxes on the $18,000,000 estate of the late Smith Reynolds yesterday became a matter of interest to two states, New York and North Carolina.

The New York state tax commission said that if his will should be probated as offered in New York the state would collect nearly two million in inheritance taxes.

A. J. Maxwell, North Carolina revenue commissioner, said his state will take "any steps necessary to protect this state" in the collection of the Reynolds estate inheritance taxes.

According to his will as filed for probate in New York last week, Reynolds was a resident of New York state. However, Maxwell expressed the view the will was executed and probated in New York for the probable reason that, as a minor, Reynolds could not make a legal will in North Carolina.

North Carolina officials gave no estimate of the amount their state might receive in inheritance taxes under the will. Normally, however, it would be about $1,800,000.

Of this amount, he said, $700,000 would be grapefruit. This compares with last year's commercial crop of 18,000,000 boxes.

CAL COOLIDGE BACKS HOOVER IN RADIO TALK

(Continued From Page One) the abandonment of the gold standard. Under the leadership of President Hoover, this calamity was averted. The passage of these measures was finally effected by emergency legislation. In June, the financial integrity of our government appeared to be permanently established. Congress hastily adjourned and our gold began to come back.

Termining the Republican Party the "most efficient instrument for sound popular government ever entrusted with the guidance of a great nation," Mr. Coolidge said: "No government has ever yet been devised that could make the people prosperous all the time. But a bad government will constantly keep the people in distress."

"Some people are saying that as things could not be any worse, we might as well try a change. That is a very dangerous principle to apply. Things are much worse in other parts of the world; they could be a great deal worse here than they are now. It had not been for the vision, the courage and the leadership of President Hoover.

"Before we decide that we want to have a change, we ought to determine what the chances are for securing improvement. We shall be most likely to find progress in holding fast to that which experience has proven to be sound and just and true."

The charge has been made, Mr. Coolidge said, that the Republican party and its candidates show no solicitude for the general welfare of the common run of people, but are interested only in "promoting the interests of a few favored individuals and corporations."

To this charge, Mr. Coolidge replied:

"In the course of our economic progress, we have become a great organized industrial democracy. It has been the theory of the Republican Party that the welfare of the people could be best promoted by strengthening and enlarging that system. We have sought to create a condition under which the ordinary man would have the best possible opportunity to find a market for whatever he had to sell, whether of production or labor.

"We have tons of millions of wage earners in this country. The Republican Party has never believed that they could be furnished with suitable permanent employment unless someone could derive a reasonable profit from employing them.

"We have advocated strengthening the position of the employer in order that he might pay better wages to his employees, enlarge the consumptive capacity of the people and increase the market for farm and factory. . . . all ways the end has been to improve the well being of the ordinary run of people."

"Discussing unemployed relief, the former president said: 'The fundamental remedy is not some form of pauperism, but a return to the self-respecting, self-supporting and independent existence.' . . .

"Since the main causes of our difficulties lay in a failure of the credit, the first objective should be to restore credit. That is the policy which Mr. Hoover has constantly advocated. . . .

"He has no wish to assist any corporation for their own sake. He has been seeking to preserve and restore the independent economic condition of the great mass of people."

"This, then, was the reason for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, that has already benefited more than 30,000,000 people. . . .

"All this seems perfectly plain and obvious and so elementary."

Chicago Exposition Will Be Ready For Opening Next June

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Chicago's Century of Progress Exposition is taking form. Eighty per cent of the work necessary has been completed and officials predicted yesterday there would be no delay in the opening scheduled for June 1, 1933.

More than $8,000,000 of a $10,000,000 bond issue to finance the project has been disposed of, $7,000,000 of which has been expended in preparation for the fair. From now on the sizable group already constructed.

Officials back of the project said there is a feeling of more confidence among the nations of the world, six months ago there were indications that only three foreign powers would be represented, but since that time sixteen others have taken at least two of the three steps considered necessary for representation. These are acceptance of the invitation, agreement on a site and definite action to make use of the plan selected.

Approximately 450,000 visitors have passed through the exhibition gates since last June.

"We are now told we ought to have a competitive tariff. Those words are not new but their meaning is not very definite. Judging from the prices of almost all commodities now selling in our markets for less than the cost of production, our producers are not suffering from any lack of competition. . . .

"We are told again that by reducing our tariff, we can increase our foreign commerce. Every foreign nation wants our tariff reduced. No foreign nation wants to increase our commerce. . . . About two-thirds of our enormous imports and all our exports are free of duty."

An independent nation, he said, out to keep within its own control the authority to determine its own revenues and regulate its own commerce.

"If imitating proposals and securing their adoption constitutes leadership, President Hoover is a leader. If saving the country from an impending disaster after another provides any basis for gratitude, President Hoover is entitled to gratitude. . . .
