

NEW YORK INSIDE

NEW YORK, April 29.—The National Academy of Sciences...

One of these sea lions goes by the name of Teddy, and he has always been my favorite among the sea lions...

Teddy never grew very big but he was lively and had all the instincts of a first class clown...

But I took a real liking for Teddy, and so did his keeper, James Savage, because of a last he got himself into...

When he notices his sea lions looking unhappy and riding high, the keeper gives them stones instead of fish for supper...

Davis, Marlon Gov, Eleanor and Ruth Roberts, Annie and Laura Lee, Lucas Chappell, Geheviene Barry of Asopka, Blais Padgett of Crescent City, and Miss Martha Fox and W. F. Carter, Jr.

Members of the younger set were entertained at a "charming evening party" given by Fern Ward and Ruth McDaniel at the home of Mrs. Harry Ward...

Prices on the banned material range from $10 to $50 a volume. Office boys, college students and stenographers rent them...

Paralleling the new lease on life taken by the New York Society, for the Prevention of Vice, the bootlegging of banned books has become quite an industry...

And like the bootleggers, they also pick up on their customers. Many an unsuspecting seeker after banned books has been sold for fancy prices perfectly legal literary material, under the designated for those who can locate a copy of the book...

One representative from Dutch county introduced a bill providing for the creation of a fifth district...

The greatest recent jobs on the censor's list have been "All Gails on the Western Front"...

Consider, too, redistricting for the purpose of defining a fifth congressional district. The fourth district, largest in size...

AMERICAN IN FLORIDA

Excellent publicity for Florida is found in an article by John H. Perry, owner of the Jacksonville Journal and the Pensacola Journal...

The news from Florida is good news. All that has happened in the past has been a spur to greater effort for the future.

"Florida has no economic ills that publicity and advertising cannot cure. These are the time."

"Five years ago there were a few good roads in Florida. Today there is a network covering the state."

"When the Everglades are drained, as they will be, Barron Collier will have a million acres of land more fertile than the Valley of the Nile."

"During the boom somebody talked about making paper in Florida. Today they are doing it."

"The only spot on the map where newsprint can be made in the United States cheaper than Canada can ever hope to sell it is in Florida...

"Florida's winter climate has not changed. The Gulf Stream still follows its old course, the sun still shines upon Florida's palm-fringed beaches."

"Florida does immensely better by its winter visitors than it was able to do only a few years ago. It houses them better, feeds them better, gives them better roads to motor on, better waterways for their boats, and charges them, on the average, much less."

"Florida is increasingly easy to get to. Five years ago there was not a single continuous paved highway southward from Washington. Now one travels on concrete from Maine to Virginia...

"Florida and the Gulf country are just beginning, by comparison. Their advance from practical isolation has been made within a generation. They have passed unscathed through every catastrophe."

Sarasota's Art Museum

If ever a community had a Santa Claus, Sarasota can boast one in the person of John Ringling, circus magnate who has not only wintered his great combined shows here for the past several years but has also taken an active interest in practically every other development for which that progressive city is famous...

"At last the date for the opening of the John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art has been set. October first it will be formally opened to the public. This is also the date on which the art school will open its doors to students. We may put it down, therefore, that October 1, 1931, will be a red letter day in the history of this city."

The museum of art is unquestionably the greatest collection of paintings in the south and will prove an object of great interest to all Florida visitors. When it is known, it will attract thousands of tourists to Sarasota every year and will become much more an object of interest than the Bok Tower.

"We understand that there is to be associated with the art school a two year curriculum of regular college work. This means that in addition to the art instructors, there will be a number of college instructors and we shall have the beginning of a real college in Sarasota. Just what all is involved in the opening of this art school it will be difficult to surmise, but it must be apparent that it is possible for it to be the beginning of great things for Sarasota. We cannot conceive of a more favorable environment for a real collegiate institute than this city. In addition to a superb climate, we have a situation on Sarasota bay and adjacent to the Gulf which provides an ideal place for a student body. Here all kinds of sports and recreations can be pursued throughout the entire winter and every condition is favorable to student work."

"We shall not be surprised if, in the course of a few years, Sarasota should develop into a great educational center. It already has a national fame due to the location here of the On-of-Dove School. The art school is going to add very materially to the attractiveness of Sarasota as an educational center. This is an ideal location for a girls' school and a boys' military academy and we see no reason why we should not have these schools established here. The Sarasota people in the north are getting their share of the benefits of a restricted character and another benefit is that they have been able to see that in this city there is a place for them to go to when they are in Florida."

Party Hints

If your apartment is large have active games for the party. If the space is limited you might have your guests and start card, checkers or domino games—or even tidely-winks. Then have you tried the one of throwing cards into a hat? If not, this is a good time to do it.
Place a hat bottomside up about twelve or fifteen feet away, take a pack of cards and try (try) to flip the cards one at a time in the hat. I've known a group of people to spend hours at this game.
For refreshments, invite your guests into the kitchen where there is a loaf of white bread, one of brown, a pound of butter, cheese, jelly, hardboiled eggs, a can opener, a can of pork and beans, coffee and cookies. Pile old silver, pie tins, paper plates and tin cups nearby. Everyone gets what he wants.

- MEATLESS MEALS
Meat is a favorite food among English and American people, who consume more of it per person than any other nationality. Though most of us insist upon a majority of meat built up about a meat entree, both economy and health will be served by preparing an occasional meatless meal.
Not all of the useful proteins are contained in vegetables as substitutes, but fortunately the missing ones can be obtained in milk, cheese and eggs without the organic acids and other substances which sometimes cause doctors to bar meat from some of their patient's diets.
The housewife problem, then, in preparing meatless meals, is to collect an assortment of meats and menus so appetizing that the absence of meat will not be noticed by the family.
At intervals, of course, a plain vegetable plate can be served; string beans, small beets, a boiled potato, carrots, broccoli or cauliflower, boiled cabbage, spinach, peppers stuffed with corn. However, if such a menu turns up too frequently it will certainly bring a protest from the family.
Eggs and cheese will furnish the best materials for putting flavor and substance into a meatless meal. Such dishes as Spanish eggs reconcile diners to the absence of steaks or roasts.
Spanish Eggs
Ingredients: Six eggs beaten slightly, one large tomato chopped, one small onion chopped, one tablespoonful butter, one teaspoonful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper.
Cook the onion in the butter for about five minutes, add the chopped tomato and cook another five minutes. Pour in the eggs and seasonings and scramble them. Turn them out on a hot platter and garnish with toast triangles.
Butter Roast
Ingredients: One and one-half cups dry kidney beans, 3 tablespoonful salt, 1 to 2 cups grated cheese, 2 tablespoonfuls chopped onion, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1-2 cup milk.
Soak beans 24 hours. Cook until soft in water in which the salt has been dissolved. Drain; chop; add onion, cheese, bread crumbs, more salt if needed, and enough milk to moisten. Form into a loaf. Bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes.
Vegetable Loaf
Ingredients: one-half cup cooked green peas, 1-2 cup cooked green string beans, 1-2 cup chopped boiled carrots, 1-2 cups milk, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1-2 teaspoonful salt, 1-2 teaspoonful pepper, 1 egg.
Put peas through a sieve, cut beans in small pieces, then combine with vegetables. Add to them the milk. Slightly beaten egg, creamed and seasoned. Turn into greased baking dish and bake in a moderate oven until firm.
A vegetable loaf which will improve the taste of any common vegetable can be prepared by putting two to four
