It's Back To The Drawing Board

Tax Cut Compromise Vanishes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It's back to the drawing board on a tax cut compromise.

A key group of House Democrats Thursday refused to consider a multi-year, across-the-board tax cut proposal, dashing hopes of an early agreement between Capitol Hill and the White House.

Reacting to the news, acting White House press secretary Larry Speakes said President Reagan's position "remains firm: across-the-board, multi-year tax cuts are just as essential to economic recovery as across-the-board budget cuts."

Earlier Thursday, the chairmen of the House and Senate tax-writing committees emerged from a meeting with Treasury Secretary Donald Regan indicating prospects for a compromise had "brightened."

Over a bacon-and-eggs breakfast in the secretary's office, the three discussed a tax cut package proposed by Senate Finance Committee Chairman Robert Dole, R-Kan., that included a 25 percent cut in tax rates over 33 months and tax changes such as modification of the so-called marriage penalty.

The administration wants a three-year, 30 percent across-the-board cut in tax rates. It also supports most of the additional tax changes in the Dole compromise, but had hoped to defer action on those until later this year.

But when House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., presented the proposal to the 22 other Democrats on his committee, they balked at the key elements of the plan.

Rostenkowski said the "main thread" of the meeting was "the Democrats are worried and concerned about the across-the-board tax cut" — a key element of the Dole plan and the administration's position.

He said across-the-board cuts — which mean those who pay the most in taxes get the most benefit — "don't do much for working Americans."

He also said, "There wasn't any enthusiasm for a multi-year tax cut."

Rostenkowski added, "This certainly does not conclude my participation in discussions with Secretary Regan and Bob Dole." But he said no further meetings were scheduled.

Democratic rejection of the compromise raised questions of whether the administration would turn its back on Rostenkowski and try to forge another coalition with conservative House Democrats who were crucial to the president's recent budget victory.

One of the leaders of the Conservative Democratic Forum, Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, D-Miss., expressed disappointment over the Democrats' decision and said his group probably would meet next week to discuss their next step.

Montgomery was one of four Southern Democrats who met with administration officials last week to discuss a tax cut compromise paralleling the one presented by Dole.

Navy Denies Plane Unsafe

Pilot Error Blamed In Crash

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The Navy insists the A-6 warplanes, like the Prowler electronic warfare jet that crashed on the USS Nimitz and killed 14 crewmen, are safe despite a recent history of fatal accidents.

Just before the explosion-scarred Nimitz edged into Pier 12 at the Norfolk Naval Base Thursday, the Navy released a list of 15 previous accidents and 20 deaths involving the Grumman-built A-6 aircraft since November 1979 — including two prior incidents on the Nimitz.

"There's no indication there's anything at all wrong with the A-6 aircraft," Vice Admiral G.E.R. "Gus" Kinnear, commander of the Atlantic Fleet Naval Air Force, said after viewing videotapes of the crashlanding Tuesday aboard the nuclear carrier. "I fly them myself."

But the Navy was concerned enough about the A-6 accidents in February 1980, to order them grounded 48 hours for maintenance checks. A Navy spokesman said no common mechanical problems were detected.

Kinnear told reporters that the review of the videotape recording of the crash indicated the pilot of the EA-6B Prowler warplane, Marine Lt. Steve E. White, may have been at fault.

"Pilot error is an obvious thing they (the tapes) are going to point to," he said. "But there may be other factors."

Fourteen crewmen were killed and 48 others injured when the Prowler, an electronics counter-spy jet of the A-4 family, shot high and missed its mark on the deck, skidding forward and ramming 18 parked jets on the steel flight deck.

One crewman aboard the Prowler remained missing and is presumed dead, the Navy said. The 13 other bodies were removed from the ship Thursday.

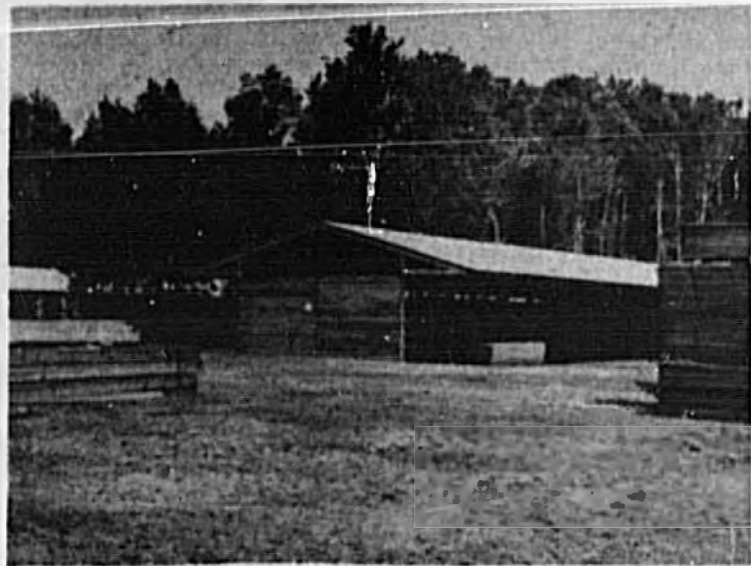

Four of the 48 injured were undergoing treatment today for severe burns.

Rear Admiral R. Byron Fuller, overall commander of the Nimitz carrier group, named a accidental aircraft mishap board and will question witnesses to the crash. A Judge Advocate General's board will also investigate and determine whether crewmen were performing their jobs properly.

Navy officials said the investigation could run "one month to a year."

Crew members lined the perimeter of the carrier's 4½ acre flight deck Thursday as it edged up to the pier and abounded, whistled and waved to anxious well-wishers on the Norfolk dock. Cheers went up from the crowd. Banners directing returning crewmen to loved ones and friends dotted the pier. One read, "I'm here."

Replacing the aircraft destroyed and others severely damaged will cost $213 million.

These stables are part of those to be completed by October and will house 500 horses. Stables for 500 more horses are to be built next year.

Jimmy Wilkerson watches as the track of his $750,000 JW Training Center is under construction near Oviedo. Harness race horses will be training at the facility in the winter months.

Former Casselberry Man Injured In Nimitz Crash

Randall F. Toonk, an aviation controller formerly of Casselberry, was getting off duty at 1 a.m. The weather had been good and the landing exercises had proceeded uneventfully Tuesday night.

Amber fog lights lit the huge sea-going airstrip as the nuclear-powered Nimitz piled the relatively calm Atlantic waters about 60 miles east of Jacksonville.

Then it happened. A Marine jet crashed, then slid beyond the bow line and plowed into a parcel of planes on the carrier's landing deck.

"It took the nose off of an A-7 and kept going starboard and then it hit an F-14. When it did that, it exploded," said the 39-year-old Toonk who miraculously received only minor injuries in the accident.

A small piece of shrapnel from the exploding planes hit him in the right calf.

With 14 men dead and 47 others injured, Toonk's wound wasn't considered serious enough to be fully treated at the time. He is scheduled to undergo surgery on board ship Saturday for removal of the shrapnel.

Toonk, a member of the class of 1960 at Seminole High School, now lives in Jacksonville with his wife and two children. His father Randall, however, still resides in Casselberry at 801 Coldwater Drive.

The elder Toonk said he heard about the crash aboard the Nimitz on the radio Wednesday morning. He was concerned, but not hysterical, he said. A retired 25-year Navy veteran himself, "I've seen those kind of accidents happen," he said. As a chief aircraft machinist, "you get steeled against that sort of thing. All you can do is hope for the best."

Toonk said he got a telegram from the Navy following the crash saying that his son had been injured and returned to duty. "There were no details about the injury, but if he had gone back to work, I knew it couldn't have been too serious," he said. "I was relieved."

Toonk said he talked to his son Thursday night after the Nimitz docked in Norfolk, Va. "He's doing O.K.," he said. He paused and added, "It could have been a lot worse."

It was for many of the Nimitz crewmen. Four severely burned sailors are lucid but still face a critical recovery period, doctors at the Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio report.

The men had burns that covered from 32 to 73 percent of their bodies and three of them suffered third-degree burns that will require skin grafts in the next few weeks.

A Brooke spokesman identified the four patients as Airman Recruit Richard Simpson, 22, Gray, Maine; Petty Officer 2nd Class Richard M. Hokanson, 21, Hauppauge, N.Y.; Airman Apprentice George W. Butz, 23, Hockess, Del.; and Seaman Apprentice Stephen Pass, 21, Calhoun, Ga.

Medical officials said the four men were the only victims aboard the Nimitz burned "seriously enough to necessitate admission to the burn center."

Harness Practice Track To Open In Oviedo

J.W. Training Center, a harness racing practice track, is under construction in the Oviedo area and will open for business in October, if the county's planning and zoning commission and the county commission approve.

The $750,000 facility, located on a 76-acre tract one mile east of Oviedo, off State Road 438, is planned as a training center for harness race horses from the eastern seaboard, Kentucky and Florida.

The owner, Jimmy R. Wilkerson, an 11-year resident of the area and originally from Kentucky, is building the track and will be its operator.

Plans include the construction and operation of a feed store, a half-mile training track and stables, and a complete jogging and exercise trail on the perimeter of the property, Mrs. Wilkerson said.

Wilkerson said he expects to complete construction on stables able to house 500 horses by the October opening. By next year, the track should be able to house an additional 500 horses, he said.

Wilkerson previously operated a lumber yard in Longwood. He and his wife and family have been involved in harness racing and have owned their own stable of harness race horses for the past three-to-four years, she said.

Of the 20 race horses in their stable, their major horse at this time is a pacer, Temples Taurus, by Truluck out of Atalanta of Adios, Oregon. Temples Taurus, now racing in Delaware, is under training and driving by George Harp Jr. The Wilkersons race their horses at Pampano, Louisville, Lexington and in Delaware.

Mrs. Wilkerson said if approval for the commercial operation at the track is received, horses will be brought in from the north for winter training purposes.

The number of stables at the Oviedo track will be greater than those currently at the Ben Ben White Raceway in Orlando, she said.

The Wilkersons are asking the county for a change in zoning for seven acres of the property from agriculture to general commercial and wholesale. A hearing is scheduled before the county planning and zoning commission at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Wilkerson said if the rezoning is not approved, the Wilkersons will use the track for their own horses. —DONNA ESTES

'Almost Miraculous'

Reagan Praises Habib Mission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan greeted peace envoy Philip Habib at the White House today, saying his Middle East mission has been "tremendously successful, almost miraculous" in restraining Israel and Syria from the "very verge" of war.

When Habib flew to the troubled region three weeks ago, "the guns were all cocked and ready to go," Reagan said of the troubleshooter, who he called back to Washington this week for consultation.

"So I think it's been a tremendously successful, almost miraculous thing so far that he has done, and we're all grateful, very grateful to you," he told Habib.

Habib returned to Washington Thursday and met today with Reagan, Secretary of State Alexander Haig and other foreign policy advisers in the Oval Office to report on his attempts to prevent a major conflict in Lebanon. He is to return to the Middle East within several days.

"From the very verge of war, we've had three weeks of peace, thanks to Ambassador Habib," Reagan told reporters during a brief picture-taking session.

"I think the great measure of success, as I say, was three weeks of shuttle (diplomacy)," Reagan said.

Asked whether the Israelis had promised "to stay their hand," Reagan said: "Well, he's just returned, and I haven't had a chance to talk to him. But as I say, I think the great measure of success is that he has had three weeks of tireless shuttle diplomacy between three capitals."

Asked whether Habib would return to the Middle East, Reagan nodded.

Habib has been flying to Israel, Syria and Lebanon. But he also went to Saudi Arabia to confer with the government and the U.S. has been relying on Saudi assistance in seeking to keep the peace.

Israel and Syria are at odds over missiles Syria has placed in Lebanon, an occupation that triggered another reported clash Thursday while Habib was homeward bound.

Drought Appears Over

MIAMI (UPI) — The National Weather Service says the weather patterns of the last few days appear to indicate the rainy season has begun and that would spell at least a temporary end to south Florida's drought.

"Conditions are right. I think we're in the rainy season pattern right now," said forecaster Ray Biedinger of the National Weather Service.

The advent of the rainy season means that late afternoon thunderstorms develop over the Everglades west of Miami, Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach almost every day, dousing the area with rain.

Some Longwood Sewer Rates Would Triple If Rate Hike Approved

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Customers of Longwood Utilities Inc. may soon see their monthly sewer bills tripled if the Public Service Commission approves the utility's rate increase request.

Citing high costs for expansion and plant improvements as well as not having a rate increase for three years, the utility is asking it be allowed to charge $22.05 per month, a $14.69 increase over the current $7.36 monthly charge.

And, while only about 750 homes and businesses in the Longwood area are presently served by the utility, future expansion will see that number grow to some 1,800.

The firm is owned by Florida Residential Communities, Inc. of Altamonte Springs.

According to Howard Lefkowitz, president of Longwood Utilities, the increase is necessary to keep pace with operational improvement costs which have sky-rocketed in the past few years.

Lefkowitz said the utility is operating in the red and has lost $140,000 since ownership was restructured in 1974, most of it in the last three or four years. "We have based our request on a carefully calculated formula," he said. "It isn't just a figure pulled out of the air."

"While rates have not been increased at all in the last three years," he said, "we have spent many thousands of dollars for new equipment, the replacement of lines and plant refurbishment. It is just impossible for us to continue the quality of service at rates that are nearly four-years-old. He added that Longwood Utilities' current rates are among the lowest in the entire six-county Central Florida Region.

Richard Byrd, rate analyst for the PSC in Tallahassee, said the Longwood Utilities application was received Thursday. The firm had previously requested that 1980 be used as the "test year," a relatively new procedure, Byrd said, in which the utility can designate a 12-month operational period for which the PSC will analyze and compare expenses, revenue and other related data.

Byrd said the application process, which may take about eight months, will include an audit of the private utility by the PSC's accounting, rate, and engineering departments, to see if the increase is justified. They will then make their recommendations and a customer hearing will be held. The PSC staff will then consider the recommendations and customer input on service and problems with the utility and write up its own recommendations and send them to the staff attorney.

If any customer of the utility objects to the rate increase they can request a formal hearing at which they must substantiate their objection. After the hearing the staff would make its final recommendations and the attorney would prepare an ordinance for action by the commission.

Meanwhile, the utility hopes to receive permission for an interim rate increase. The company's last increase was three and a half years ago when the monthly fee went from $4.59 to $7.36. The firm serves approximately 750 customers now but hopes to complete a new 400,000 gallon treatment facility in August enabling it to serve a total of 1,500 units to which it has been committed since 1974.

The utility company now has three 100,000 gallon processing tanks, Lefkowitz said. When the 400,000 gallon facility is completed one of these will be disposed of and the other two kept in reserve. He said the rate base has been calculated only on the cost of converting to the 400,000 gallon system.

The facility is located north of the intersection of E. E. Williamson Road and Longwood Hills Road.

The city of Longwood, which in the past has negotiated unsuccessfully to purchase the sewage treatment facility, recently agreed to bill Longwood Utilities, Inc. customers on its monthly water bills.

Longwood Utilities plant expansion program is taking place in the northwest section of the city of Longwood, one of the fastest growing sections of the county.

The firm currently serves an area from Longwood Groves on the east to Shadow Hill on the west to the Longwood Hills Road on the north and on State Road 434 on the south. It serves commercial centers such as 434 Center and Township Plaza as well as the residential areas.

Bat-Wielding Neighbors Join Chase

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — They came out of their homes armed with baseball bats and rakes, the neighbors who knew about the Lamparelli family's encounters with a man who broke into their home four times in the last month.

Besides the break-ins, there have been harassing telephone calls, death threats and acts of vandalism. The Lamparellis believe the arrest Wednesday of John O'Sullivan, 28, of Buffalo will end their problems.

There was a police officer waiting for the burglar who entered the Lamparelli home Wednesday. Officer Paul Reing said the intruder struck him and tried to flee, but Reing fired a warning shot that alerted the sympathetic neighbors.

"There were all kinds of people — even 70-year-old ladies — cheering for me and chasing this guy with baseball bats and rakes," Reing said. "The way they were cheering, I felt like the star in a football game," he said.

The chase ended with the arrest of O'Sullivan, who was charged with burglary, assault, resisting arrest and obstructing governmental administration. Police said harassment charges were pending.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israeli Attacks Reported Just After Habib Departure

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Palestinian sources reported Israeli commandos slipped into Lebanon and blew up three houses today in the third attack on guerrilla centers in the two days since U.S. peace envoy Philip Habib left the Middle East.

Israeli military sources, which confirmed the earlier attacks, denied the assault on the south Lebanon village of Majdal.

The reported assault followed an Israeli air attack Thursday that destroyed Palestinian anti-aircraft missiles and a night sea-borne commando raid backed by gunboats on the Lebanese coast south of Beirut.

The Palestine Liberation Organization said the Israeli attacks "expose the reality of the conspiracy weaved by Philip Habib during his tour." He returned to Washington for consultations Wednesday.

Palestinian sources said Israeli commandos entered the village in the United Nations buffer zone adjacent to the rightist frontier enclave held by Israeli-backed Maj. Saad Haddad early today and blew up three houses.

Poles Weep For Wyszynski

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Up to 60,000 Poles wept unashamedly, held candles and heaped the sidewalks with flowers as the body of their beloved Cardinal Stefan Wyszynski was carried under a driving rain into a Warsaw Church to lie in state today.

"He never made mistakes. He taught us how to live," Solidarity leader Lech Walesa said of Wyszynski, whose death at 79 Thursday from cancer united church and communist state in mourning for the prelate who came to symbolize the conscience of the nation.

9th Inmate Joins Death Fast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — An IRA convict who gave up his hunger strike was replaced by a new faster, but Britain's Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in a surprise visit to Belfast dismissed the fasts as the "last card" in a discredited cause.

Shortly after Mrs. Thatcher arrived in Belfast Thursday, a gunbattle flared in Londonderry and an undercover British soldier shot dead two hooded IRA gunmen and wounded another.

Hundreds of youths poured into the streets of the Catholic sections of Londonderry, hurling gasoline bombs and stones at troops. The rioting continued until after dark but police said there were no injuries among security forces.

Martin Hurson, 27, serving 20 years for attempted murder and now the ninth IRA hunger striker, replaced Brendan MacLaughlin who gave up a 14-day fast Wednesday because of a perforated ulcer, the provisional IRA's political wing Sinn Fein said Thursday.

MIA's Remains Returned

HANOI, Vietnam (UPI) — Vietnam informed a special U.S. team today the remains of three American airmen, missing in action since the Vietnam War, had been found.

Vu Hoang, director of the Vietnamese Office Seeking Missing Personnel, said the remains would be turned over to the Americans as soon as Vietnamese forensic specialists had formally completed their verification.

"I have said many times and I reiterate, there are no American POWs alive in Vietnam and all remains discovered have been handed over to the American side," Vu Hoang told UPI. "We have no interest to keep them."

The announcement was made after the second meeting in Hanoi between the Vietnamese and a three-man delegation from the U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center, based in Hawaii.

Sun Yat-sen's Widow Dies

PEKING (UPI) — Soong Ching Ling, honorary president of China and widow of the founder of the Chinese republic, Sun Yat-sen, died at her home in Peking today, the official Xinhua news service said. She was 90.

'How Far Remains To Be Seen'

Prime Rate Starts To Dip Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — From Washington to Wall Street, analysts watched the interest rate wondering if it was at last settling down after its latest blast of bad news.

The nation's third largest bank, Chase Manhattan, Thursday cut its prime lending rate to 20 percent from 20 1/2 percent, followed by Manufacturer's Bank of Los Angeles, Chemical Bank and Marine Midland Bank lowered the more sensitive broker loan rate to 19 1/2 percent from 20 percent.

But it was hardly the kind of bankers' stampede that raised the prime to near-record levels in the first place.

"Many bankers will be reluctant to lower the prime so soon after greasing it up until they see if the money supply continues to behave and if the Fed pushes the funds back up," said William E. Sullivan, senior vice president of Bank of New York.

The interest-rate watch diverted attention somewhat from an international trade deficit the Commerce Department Thursday said expanded once again in April to $3.5 billion — a symptom of some backsliding from the nation's oil conservation efforts.

The deficit for March was only $451 million, with oil imports falling back to 1975 levels.

Added evidence the high interest-rate fever may be ready to break, at least temporarily, was the federal funds rate that banks charge each other for loans — down to about 17 1/2 percent Thursday after two weeks in the 19 to 20 percent range.

Expressing some new interest rate optimism, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said rates "over the next several months should be coming down." But he added: "How far down... remains to be seen."

Selph Vies For Young Republicans Post

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Carl Selph, immediate past president of the Seminole County Young Republicans (YR), will be vying for president of the Florida Federation of Young Republicans Saturday at a convention in St. Petersburg.

The 33-year old certified public accountant has been active in young Republicanism for the past 18 months. He headed the Reagan campaign in Seminole County where the fifth largest percentage of win was registered for the GOP presidential nomination in the state.

The Florida Federation includes more than 30 clubs with over 1,000 members statewide. Young Republicans are between the ages of 18 and 40.

Jim Stelling, current president of the Seminole County affiliate, said today Selph's election platform includes "pumping up the federation to the 2,000-to-3,000 membership it ought to have."

Selph is also a member of the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee and heads its candidate selection and promotion committee.

Stelling is leading the official Seminole County delegation of nine voting delegates and 13 other local club members at the Colonial Gateway Inn convention center. Stelling noted that Selph has received the endorsement of all five Republican Seminole county commissioners.

Stelling said the purpose of the YR is to develop, promote and support Republicans for public office.

In addition to electing new officers the convention will hammer out a YR platform stating the goals and philosophy of the organization, independent of the state and national party. U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum is to be keynote speaker at the banquet Saturday. Another guest speaker will be U.S. Rep. Bill Young of St. Petersburg.

At an executive board meeting of the federation Sunday, the Seminole County delegates will bid for the federation's quarterly board meeting to be held at the Holiday Inn at Lake Monroe in August.

There is no active young democrats organization in Seminole County.

Attorneys Argue Again If 'Crazy Joe' Should Die

By BRITT SMITH
Herald Staff Writer

Defense and prosecuting attorneys got their last chance Thursday to argue before Seminole Circuit Judge Robert McGregor why convicted murderer Joseph R. "Crazy Joe" Spaziano should live or die.

Following the hearing, McGregor set June 4 as the day he will pass final sentence in the case, the second time in five years.

McGregor sentenced Spaziano to death in January 1976 for the August 1973 murder of an 18-year-old Orlando nurse, but was ordered by the Florida Supreme Court in February to do it again after the High Court found that McGregor erred the first time around.

Security was heavy for Thursday's hearing. Spectators entering the first-floor courtroom were checked for weapons by law enforcement agents armed with metal detectors.

The focus of Thursday's proceeding was on McGregor's imposition of the death penalty despite the 13-member jury's recommendation that Spaziano be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Assistant Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Dean Moxley argued that McGregor was justified in ordering death, contending that the jury would have done the same thing had they known Spaziano's true nature. But at the time, "all they knew was that Mr. Spaziano had two prior convictions — one in 1967 for grand larceny and one in 1968 for petty larceny."

They were unaware of Spaziano's Aug. 13, 1973 conviction on charges of forcible carnal knowledge and aggravated battery in connection with the Feb. 9, 1974 assault of 16-year-old Vanessa D. Croft. Spaziano was accused of forcing the Orlando girl to perform fellatio, choking her unconscious with a belt, and then cutting her eyes, leaving her partially blind. He was sentenced to life imprisonment plus five years for that offense.

Moxley also recounted how Spaziano had raped and tortured Laura Lynn Harberts before finally killing her. The girl's decomposed remains were found in an Altamonte Springs garbage dump on Aug. 22, 1973.

"The whole point to Mr. Spaziano was to inflict a slow, painful death," he said. "This defendant is a monstrous, violent, felony offender. His crime was particularly heinous, atrocious, and cruel. Mr. Spaziano showed a complete lack of pity and conscience. There can be only one fit punishment — death by electrocution."

Ed Kirkland, one of Spaziano's attorneys, took exception with Moxley's argument, claiming that the jury would have ordered the former Outlaw motorcycle gang member be put to death had they known about the Croft case "as a pure speculation. And that is not this court's job. You can't kill this man based on speculation."

Defense lawyer Jerry Schwarz argued that the jury, "as the conscience of this community, has spoken in this case. Their recommendation of life should be upheld."

Thursday's hearing was necessitated by the Supreme Court's Jan. 8 ruling in which the case was remanded back to McGregor for resentencing because the judge had relied on information not available to the jury or defendant while deciding whether to impose the death penalty.

That information was contained in a confidential portion of Spaziano's pre-sentence investigation (SI) and dealt, in part, with crimes for which the 34-year-old Spaziano had been arrested, but not convicted.

That was an apparent violation of state law which limits judges during sentence deliberations to take into account only offenses of which the defendant was found guilty.

The justices pointed out that the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that lower court judges are also restricted to considering only information which the defendant has an opportunity to explain or refute.

Spaziano had no access to the confidential PSI and so could make no comment on it.

Spaziano is currently on Death Row awaiting McGregor's ruling.

DICTIONARY VS. LAW BOOK

It was all just a matter of semantics, a difference of definitions. Ingeborg "the Goat Lady" Morris had Merriam Webster on her side.

Seminole County Attorney Robert McMillan had state law on his.

Circuit Court Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. has to decide which carries the greater weight.

The controversy centers around Mrs. Morris' insistence that the 16 miniature goats she keeps at her Lake Brantley Shores home are pets. McMillan, however, contends they are livestock and therefore forbidden by county law from being kept in a residential area.

- ★ Police

Mrs. Morris and McMillan argued their cases before Mize Thursday. A ruling is expected Monday.

Mrs. Morris, of Oak Drive in Forest City, referred to a dictionary during Thursday's hearing to bolster her argument that livestock are raised for profit on a farm or ranch and eventually end up on someone's dinner table. But her goats "are my pets, my loved ones," she said, adding that she plans neither to sell nor eat the animals.

McMillan countered by quoting a Florida statute which specifically defines goats as livestock.

Thursday's hearing was the latest skirmish in a battle which has been going on between Mrs. Morris and the county for nearly a year. Twice — on Oct. 13 and again on Feb. 23 — Mrs. Morris was hauled into court where she pleaded no contest to charges of violating the county ordinance which prohibits livestock in residential areas.

She was fined $25 the first time, but sentence in the second case has not been passed pending Mize's ruling on the county's request for an injunction prohibiting Mrs. Morris from keeping her goats.

APOPKA MAN KILLED

A 70-year-old Apopka man was killed in a one-car accident in Forest City Wednesday after he suffered an apparent heart attack at the wheel.

Dead at the scene was Arthur P. Nails of 3615 Anna Dr. According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Nails was driving down State Road 436 near Academy Drive about 9:11 a.m. when he slumped over the wheel of his car. The vehicle swerved into a parked car, crossed the road, and struck a utility pole.

Wednesday's fatality brings to 14 the number of traffic-related deaths reported in Seminole County this year.

Timber Needs Harvesting

There may be some money to be made as a result of the fires which swept across nearly 2,000 acres of eastern Seminole County earlier this month, but time is running out.

County Forester Mike Martin said much valuable timber was damaged by the fires, but added that most of the wood is still usable. However, if these trees are not harvested within the next 6-12 weeks, insects and disease will make the wood weak and useless," Martin said.

Landowners in the burn area are requested to contact Martin at 223-2500 extension 186 "and I'll get in touch with the buyers and maybe we can get these trees harvested."

IN BRIEF

Blood Specialist Accused Of Gene-Splicing Violation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government may cut off hundreds of thousands of dollars in grants to a California blood specialist who violated federal guidelines by apparently being the first to use controversial gene-splicing techniques on humans.

Dr. Martin J. Cline of the UCLA medical school was accused of using genetic engineering to treat two young women with fatal blood disorders without permission of his school, or the governments of Italy and Israel where the experiments took place.

The National Institutes of Health asked its committee on funding Thursday to decide whether to terminate the $650,000 in federal grants now held by Cline, who resigned recently as head of the hematology-oncology division at the UCLA School of Medicine but remains on the school's faculty.

Cline's experiments "violated both federal regulations for protection of human subjects and NIH guidelines for use of recombinant DNA," said Dr. Donald S. Frederickson, director of NIH.

Motive Sought In Slaying

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Police hunted today for a motive in the slaying of millionaire Telex Corp. founder Roger Wheeler and said they couldn't discount the possibility his bearded killer may have been a professional hit man.

Detectives questioned witnesses to the slaying under hypnosis Thursday and released composite drawings of the assailant and the driver of a Ford LTD used for his getaway.

Wheeler, 55, whose interests ranged from computers to Jai Alai, was shot in the face pointblank Wednesday while sitting in his car in a country-club parking lot, following his weekly golf game. Witnesses said the killer and his driver were both in their 40s.

New Orleans Bows To NRA

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Bowing to protests from the National Rifle Association, the City Council has eliminated a controversial three-day waiting period for people who want to purchase guns.

The waiting period, mandated in legislation sponsored by Councilman Sidney Barthelemy, was approved three weeks ago by a 6-0 vote with no public opposition.

The NRA lobbied for its repeal, however, citing numerous loopholes and the likelihood it would chase thousands of gun buyers to surrounding parishes and drive local dealers out of business.

A law passed Thursday to replace Bathelmy's legislation removes the three-day waiting period and, in addition, prohibits convicted felons from buying guns. It also requires an immediate phone call to police headquarters by dealers for a quick computer check of the applicant's background.

The City Council was spurred to act on gun control by a rash of violent crimes.

Chicago Faces Shutdown

CHICAGO (UPI) — Industry has snatched every available hotel room, bicycle shops report a booming business and charter buses are booked solid today in anticipation of a collapse of the city's mass transit system.

The long-threatened shutdown appeared more likely after the Regional Transportation Authority, the umbrella agency for the rail and bus lines serving some 1.25 million daily commuters, distributed the last of its money and fuel Wednesday.

The Legislature, divided along party lines and suburbanites against city dwellers, made little progress Thursday in hammering out a funding solution.

Republicans made public a set of conditions under which they would approve Chicago transit funding, including a renegotiation of contracts with bus drivers, many of whom earn up to $30,000 annually with overtime, making them the highest paid in the nation.

Grain Law Repeal Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Budget constraints have prompted two congressmen to introduce a bill to repeal a law that waives interest charges for the first year grain is held in the farmer's field reserve.

The bill, if enacted, would save an estimated $165 million in fiscal 1982, the Congressional Budget Office said.

Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., one of the sponsors, said Thursday, "The administration has indicated that, because of budget pressures, it will not accept 1981 crop grains into the reserve unless the requirement for the first year interest waiver is dropped."

Since the 1981 wheat harvest is beginning, "this problem must be solved quickly, without waiting for congressional action on the overall 1981 omnibus farm bill," he said.

Brady Has Pneumonia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House press secretary James Brady, shot during the attempted assassination of President Reagan, has developed pneumonia but doctors are confident it will clear up.

The problem is "a significant infection" but "antibiotics should manage it," said Dr. Dennis O'Leary, chief of clinical affairs at George Washington University Medical Center.

The pneumonia was discovered Thursday in Brady's left lung. O'Leary said it is "highly manageable."

Brady has remained at the medical center and has undergone three operations to speed what is expected to be at least a year of recuperation.

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Bonds For Jail Expansion

Pending In State Senate

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham's $390 million plan for issuing state bonds to finance county jail expansion — a major item in his anti-crime package — is pending over the weekend in the Florida Senate.

Supporters of the measure are hoping city and county commissioners, many of them facing the unpleasant choice of raising property taxes to build new jails or releasing dangerous criminals to comply with court orders, will pressure lawmakers to vote for the huge bond issue next week.

A pending amendment by Sen. Tom Lewis, R-North Palm Beach, would double the county share of jail expansion. Under the amendment, the state would finance 60 percent of the cost with bond money, instead of the current 40 percent.

Sens. Ed Dunn, D-Daytona Beach, and Joe Carlucci, D-Jacksonville, argued against the Lewis amendment until the time of adjournment Thursday — then advised Senators that they will surely be hearing from their county officials during the weekend.

Hurricanes A Threat

MIAMI (UPI) — The U.S. coast from Texas to Cape Cod is "more vulnerable than ever before" to a hurricane, the acting chief of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration says — only days from the start of this year's big-storm season.

"Today more than 60 million persons live in the gulf and Atlantic coastal regions," James P. Walsh told a news conference at the National Hurricane Center.

"In the summer and early fall, millions more vacation along the seashore, on barrier islands, capes and the keys. Evacuation routes from these areas are limited and will be congested if escape is necessary."

The official six month Atlantic-Caribbean hurricane season begins Monday — though short-lived Tropical Storm Arlene gave it an early start, forming May 8 off the southeast coast of Cuba. It died in the Atlantic without doing any harm.

Murder Inquiry Re-Opened

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI) — A new inquiry has been opened in the murder of millionaire citrus and cattle baron Charles Von Maxcy, reportedly as a result of new information provided by a former prime suspect in the slaying which occurred 15 years ago.

"We are looking at the matter on the basis of fairly recent information obtained in Massachusetts," State Attorney Quillian Yancey said Thursday.

The Tampa Tribune reported the investigation was reopened as a result of testimony given to a Bristol County, Mass., grand jury by John Sweet, 65. The testimony, according to the newspaper, implicates William Kelly in the 1966 murder-for-hire slaying of Von Maxcy.

The millionaire was found stabbed and shot at his plush home near Sebring on Oct. 3, 1966.

Sweet was convicted in 1968 of first-degree murder in the case, but the conviction was overturned on appeal and the charge was subsequently dropped because the state could not produce key witnesses.

Kelly, 39, of Brockton, Mass., was a suspect in the original murder investigation but no charges were ever brought against him because of a lack of evidence. Prosecutors contended during Sweet's trial that he hired Kelly and Andrew Von Etter, also of Massachusetts, to kill the millionaire for $31,000.

Kelly is currently under indictment on several theft and drug charges in Massachusetts.

Youths Charged In Death

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Two teen-aged boys have been charged with manslaughter in the death of a 12-year-old boy who overdosed on the pain-killing drug Darvon. Police say the two urged the younger boy to take the pills and get "a buzz going."

Daniel Kirk died less than an hour after swallowing 30 of the pills Wednesday night, police say.

The two suspects, one 14 and the other 16, were charged Thursday. Their names were not released.

Everett Rice, director of investigations for the Pinellas Sheriff's Office, said the 14-year-old apparently got the drugs from his mother without her permission.

Bikers Must Wear Helmet

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Motorcycle riders apparently won't get a chance to feel the wind in their hair and bugs in their teeth while speeding along Florida Highways — at least legally.

The House rejected a plea from bikers Thursday that they be given freedom of choice and gutted a measure that would have lifted the state's requirement that motorcycle riders wear helmets.

An amendment in effect killing the bill was adopted 56-46 and parliamentary maneuvering made it almost impossible for the vote to be reconsidered before the session ends next week.

Group To Appeal Nuke Ruling

MIAMI (UPI) — A citizens group says it will continue its fight to keep Florida Power & Light Co. from doing a multi-million dollar repair job at its Turkey Point nuclear power plant — although the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has dismissed the group's objections.

"We are going to file an appeal," said Neil Chonin, an attorney for Floridians United for Safe Energy. "We are taking it as far as we can."

The commission this week dismissed the group's two-year-old objections to FPL's plan to repair six steam generators at the plant south of Miami.

The repair work, estimated two years ago to cost about $226 million, is now expected to shut down the plant's two units from six to nine months.

House OKs Cancer Drug

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — An experimental cancer treatment now available only in the Bahamas would be legal in Florida under a bill approved Thursday by the House and sent to the Senate.

The measure (CS-HB 747), passed 102-3, also would clear the way for other "unconventional" cancer therapies under highly controlled conditions after July 1, 1982.

The Bahamas treatment — known as immunomodulatory therapy (IAT) — involves injection of a serum made from blood components. Florida would be the first state to legalize it.

IAT's developer, Dr. Lawrence Burton, a zoologist, says the serum appears to bolster the body's immune system to control cancerous cells.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER THE ADOPTION OF AN ORDINANCE BY THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA.

Notice is hereby given that a Public Hearing will be held at the Commission Room in the City Hall in the City of Sanford, Florida, at 7:00 o'clock P. M. on June 22, 1981, to consider the adoption of an ordinance by the City of Sanford, Florida, as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 1359
AND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA, TO ANNEX WITHIN THE CORPORATE AREA OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA, UPON ADOPTION OF SAID ORDINANCE, A PORTION OF THAT CERTAIN PROPERTY WEST OF AND ABUTTING EL CAPITAN DRIVE AND BETWEEN SANTA BARBARA DRIVE AND FLORENCE STREET; SAID PROPERTY BEING SITUATED IN SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA, IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE VOLUNTARY ANNEXATION PROVISIONS OF SECTION 171.044, FLORIDA STATUTES; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY, CONFLICTS AND EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, there has been filed with the City Clerk of the City of Sanford, Florida, a petition containing the name of the property owner in the area described hereinafter requesting annexation to the corporate area of the City of Sanford, Florida, and requesting to be included therein; and WHEREAS, the Property Appraiser of Seminole County, Florida, having certified that there is one property owner in the area to be annexed, and that said property owner has signed the petition for annexation; and

WHEREAS, it has been determined that the property described hereinafter is reasonably compact and contiguous to the corporate area of the City of Sanford, Florida, and it has further been determined that the annexation of said property will not result in the creation of an enclave; and WHEREAS, the City of Sanford, Florida, is in a position to provide municipal services to the property described herein, and the City Commission of the City of Sanford, deems it in the best interest of the City to accept said petition and to annex said property;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE CITY OF SANFORD, FLORIDA:

SECTION 1: That the following described property situated in Seminole County, Florida, be and the same is hereby annexed to and made a part of the City of Sanford, Florida, pursuant to the voluntary annexation provisions of Section 171.044, Florida Statutes: Lot 5, Block 27, DREAMWOLD, 4th Section, Plat Book 4, Page 99, Seminole County, Florida.

The above described property is further described as a portion of that certain property lying west of and abutting El Capitan Drive and between Santa Barbara Drive and Florence Street, said property being situated in Seminole County, Florida.

Bumps In Road For The U.S., Japan

Relations between nations, like relations between people, become more sensitive as they become closer. It is with our relationship with Japan, our ally in the North Pacific.

The U.S.-Japan Connection has been disturbed lately by a series of incidents. We should be aware of Japanese feelings in each instance.

The collision of a small Japanese freighter and a big U.S. nuclear submarine in the Korea Strait wouldn't have been such a concern if the submarine had stopped and given assistance. The circumstances suggested a lack of U.S. military concern for Japanese lives and property, a subject of great sensitivity in Japan.

The lifting of the U.S. Embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union caught the Japanese somewhat by surprise. Having embargoed some of their trade with the Soviets, at expense to themselves, in order to show solidarity with us on the Afghanistan issue, they believed they should have been consulted before we took action on our own to resume trade with the Russians.

The language of the joint communique issued in Washington after a recent meeting of President Reagan and Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki included the word, "alliance," a term so controversial in Japan that Suzuki's foreign minister had to take the blame and resign from the cabinet in order to absolve Suzuki. The Japanese people shrink before any suggestion that they have entered or are about to enter a full-fledged military alliance with any nation.

A similar furor arose among the Japanese over the statement by a former U.S. ambassador to Japan, Professor Edwin O. Reischauer, that U.S. warships and planes carry nuclear weapons into Japanese harbors and through Japanese airspace. There is general horror of nuclear weapons in Japan, resulting from the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

World War II traumatized Imperial Japan. Gen Douglas Mac Arthur, heading U.S. occupation forces, imposed a new constitution that renounces the use of force in international affairs. In foreign policy, the Japanese people remain profoundly pacifistic and, in a sense, isolationist.

Our two countries are linked by geopolitics, by economic interest and by shared cultural values. But we remain alien from each other in many aspects of national experience. A continuous effort at mutual understanding is needed.

A Staunch Symbol

No one could be better suited than Arthur Burns — that staunch symbol of American economic stability — to his newly conferred rank as U.S. ambassador to Germany.

And nowhere, it would seem, will Ambassador Burns be more appreciated than in West Germany, where fiscal integrity is accorded only slightly less respect than godliness.

Arthur Burns has several important qualifications for the task of representing the United States in the capital of its foremost ally. First, there is the close personal relationship and confidence he enjoys with President Reagan. Burns was a principal adviser to the president during the transition period and is one of the chief architects of Mr. Reagan's economic recovery program.

This close relationship, together with the new ambassador's international prestige as an expert in economics and finance, should assure him a warm welcome in Bonn, where the much-admired German economic miracle is beginning to lose some of its luster. His appointment was immediately hailed, in fact, by the German government as a sign of the importance President Reagan attaches to German-American relations.

Burns was distinguished by his high-level service to three administrations before becoming an economic adviser to Mr. Reagan. He was chairman of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers, and chairman of the Federal Reserve Board under Presidents Nixon and Carter.

Few men in public life could carry such prestigious credentials abroad to a post where economic issues will be of an importance rivaled only by the military alliance that binds the United States and Germany.

Around

The Clock

By SYBIL MITCHELL GANDY

Set in the glittering pomp and splendor of celebrating year-end achievements, high schools all over the nation stage banquets and assemblies to award trophies, ribbons, banners and certificates.

No doubt, thousands of high school seniors savored the thrill of being honored the "best this" and the "most outstanding that," experiencing moments that can never be relived but certainly never to be forgotten.

And Seminole County high schools were no exception. Among the many outstanding awards ceremonies was the Lyman High School senior awards banquet recently.

Students were praised for everything from writing and citizenship to electronics and foreign languages. Lyman students, additionally, walked away with more military honors and scholarships than any other high school in the county.

Five outstanding Lyman seniors took the Air Force ROTC Scholarship: Stefan Aleksevitch, Joseph Beadies, Beth Irlandi, Elaine Strawn and Michael Zajkowski.

Donald Cooper captured a double honor spotlight when he won both the Marine ROTC Scholarship and the Naval Academy Scholarship. Joseph Beadies also took a second scholarship from the Naval Academy.

Matt West was awarded the Air Force Academy Scholarship while Kathryn Lunsford, the only young lady to receive a military award, was the West Point Academy Scholarship winner.

And that's not all! Although Katherine Burkett and Joe McClintock were not chosen as National Merit Scholarship winners, they made the finalist list. And that was good enough for old Lyman High who recognized these students for competing so well in this national contest.

Seminole Community College got into the act of presenting awards when the SCC Board of Trustees Scholarship was given to Paula Pell.

Vocational Achievement awards were given to James Collier, Dale Scott Peebles, Timothy Ingram, Gary Peters, and Sylvester Washington. Gloria Broadbent took the college's Music Scholarship.

Additionally, a distinguished host of other honors were given by local area clubs and institutions. Among the most coveted was The American Society of Certified Engineer's Award, given to Robert Gaylord; the Disney Foundation College Scholarship presented to Linda Kohl; and the Junior Achievement Scholarship from the Arthur Anderson Foundation given to Shailesh Adhav.

Special scholarships additionally presented were the Rollins College's Central Florida Scholarship to Melanie Moody; The Longwood-Winter Springs Area Chamber of Commerce Scholarship to Pamela Randolph; and the Rotary Club of Seminole County South Scholarship to Deborah Van de Graaff.

Tidbits From The Capital

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A Republican politician who has been mentioned prominently as a future presidential nominee may be in for some rough times within the next few weeks.

The reason? He is likely to be named as a co-respondent in the divorce action filed by Hank Parkinson against his wife, Paula, the Washington "lobbyist" who claims to have had trysts with a number of congressmen. Parkinson has filed for divorce on the grounds that his wife committed adultery with "prominent persons holding high positions in the government of the United States."

Mrs. Parkinson, who was featured in an undraped Playboy pictorial on Washington women, has become a popular fixture on the talk-show circuit. She says that she is writing a book that will name the influential legislators who enjoyed her favors.

But those names may be made public long before her book is published.

It has been reported that Mrs. Parkinson will soon give a sworn deposition as part of the divorce action and that she has promised to answer all questions fully. The deposition would be filed as part of the public court record; this would enable reporters to cite names and details from the document without fear of incurring libel suits.

Sources close to Mrs. Parkinson say that one of the relationships that "he will be forced to describe involved the Republican figure whose presidential aspirations may well be shattered as a result.

When John Anderson was waging his independent candidacy for president, high-ranking Democrats had little good to say about him or anyone involved in his campaign.

But to show that grudges are not carried very long in politics, the Democratic National Committee recently announced its hiring of Anderson's fund-raiser, Tom Mathews. He will raise money for the party at least through the 1982 elections and most likely through 1984.

Mathews comes to the Democrats with the extensive list of contributors that he developed and used so successfully for Anderson. It is hoped that the Anderson donors will be so dismayed with the Reagan administration that they will give heavily to the Democrats in an effort to remove the Republicans from the White House in 1984.

More and more money in each campaign year is being distributed by business-related political action committees. Traditionally, prominent Democrats have received a substantial amount of this money because cautious businessmen, although personally conservative and Republican, have wanted to remain on the good side of the Democrats should they win re-election. This practice may come to an end in 1982.

Now that the Republicans control the Senate and have a chance of taking control of the House, more and more business PACs see no need to balance their giving. So, the consultants are telling the Democrats to expect much less from the business PACs in 1982 — and virtually nothing in 1984 if the House is then in Republican hands.

JACK ANDERSON

'Bill Of Rights' For Small Business

WASHINGTON — Before the first asphalt went down on Wall Street, a love affair began to blossom between Big Government and Big Business. Yet the nation would be better served if the government would listen to the entreaties of a worthier suitor: the individual entrepreneur who has historically been the backbone of the free enterprise system.

In the best American tradition of worshipping financial success, many officials of the Reagan administration have made it their first priority to attend to the needs of the corporate giants. The American small businessman, meanwhile, could become an endangered species. He is reeling from the after blast of skyrocketing inflation and interest rates while being battered by abusive tax laws and government regulations.

What small businessmen need is a Bill of Rights that will give them a fighting chance to coexist with the big guys. Here, then, is my own suggestion for a Small Business Bill of Rights:

1. RIGHT TO COMPETE. Individual

Now to get his stamp of approval!

BUSINESS WORLD

'Wither Goes The World?'

By GARY KLOTT
UPI Business Writer

TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (UPI) — The unsettling scenario of future events, given in the clipped British accent of the esteemed economist, intruded on the tranquil evening quiet of the secluded estate.

It is 1982 or 1983. The financial markets are jittery, exhibiting the same kind of nervous instability and volatility of 1980 and 1981.

But the signs are even more ominous. Inflation has resurged at the same time gross national product is falling.

The unthinkable happens.

All the computer models used by stock market forecasters simultaneously arrive at the same conclusion. Investment advisers all send out the same recommendation to their clients:

SELL.

The stock market crashes. The Dow Jones index plummets 40 percent.

The U.S. falls into the grips of the second Great Depression.

"Everybody's looking at the same computer models and everybody's going to sell, sell, sell," Norman Macrae told the hushed audience.

While most of America was fleeing to beaches and parks for the Memorial Day weekend, some 30 people retreated to the seclusion of the Tarrytown House executive conference center in suburban New York for a three-day discussion on "Wither Goes The World," one of the center's series of weekend forums.

The panelists were Macrae, a well-known British writer and deputy editor of The Economist in London, and Herman Kahn, the prominent socio-economist and founder of the Hudson Institute, a leading think-tank.

Unlike the fictional scenario he penned of events leading up to the next global war for the best-selling novel, The Third World War, a collaborative writing, Macrae places more than a 50 percent probability on the scenario for a "brief but spectacular slump" being played out.

The proliferation of computer models and the widespread attention paid to analysts who use them make them a potential trigger for disaster, Macrae said.

The day market guru Joe Granville put out his sell signal last January, he noted, the market lost $40 billion in value. Imagine if all investment advisers sent out the same sell signal at once, Macrae said.

Kahn conceded the possibility of a market collapse. But, expressing considerably more faith in the economic policy of the Reagan administration, Kahn predicted an economic boom beginning late this year or next and lasting 3 to 4 years with growth on the order of 3 to 4 percent a year.

The reasons: the impact of a tight money policy, "the removal of nutty regulations," the increasing experience of the labor force, budget cuts and new investment.

The discussions ranged over a number of other topics, including:

NATIONS — "China cannot be a great industrial power quickly," said Macrae.

Kahn: Mexico will likely have a 7 or 8 percent annual growth rate, making it "a seriously big country by the end of the century."

CITIES: "Houston is the most successful city in the U.S.," said Kahn.

Macrae basically believes Disneyland is the best-run community in the world.

SAVINGS AND LOANS — The nation's S&Ls "are technically insolvent," Kahn said, but they can be saved through mergers or if deposits are made tax-exempt.

SPACE — Kahn: How fast space colonies develop will depend on whether there's any advantage to living in space. Except for the views, there doesn't appear to be any. But there will be a space "hotel" established by the 21st century so tourists can catch glimpses of the spectacular views.

ROBERT WALTERS

It's No Solution To Social Ills

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The pioneering federal agency that long has been dedicated to aiding the nation's impoverished and powerless citizens now is being consigned to supervising youngsters while they learn softball or needlepoint.

Action, the government's innovative volunteer agency, has quietly abandoned as its primary mission the campaign to empower low-income citizens so that they can initiate and influence the decisions that affect their daily lives.

Instead, Action will promote a package of palliative "youth programs" to treat the symptoms — but not necessarily the causes — of drug abuse, illiteracy, suicide, premarital pregnancy, criminality and runaway children.

"Poverty is not included in this list," says an internal memorandum prepared for Thomas W. Pauken, the newly installed Action director, and distributed to the agency's regional, state and local offices throughout the country.

That approach represents a marked departure from the tradition of attempting to provide the poor with more power and control over their lives and helping them to build their own communities and neighborhoods.

Pauken's predecessor, Sam W. Brown Jr., stressed "programs that help (people) define their own problems, set their own goals and deal effectively with the huge economic and political institutions that often unilaterally shape their lives."

But Action's new approach supplants idealism, inspiration and dedication with a highly conventional, unimaginative program in which television and auto repairmen, service organizations and "traditional community leaders" are to be enlisted to combat a variety of youth problems.

The agency's planning memo goes so far as to suggest that the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association be enlisted in a campaign against drug abuse, even though that industry trade organization seldom displays any overriding concern about the problem of stimulants and depressants manufactured by its members falling into the hands of wayward teenagers.

Prior to his confirmation by the Senate, Pauken sought to minimize the importance of the internal memo, claiming that it represented only one potential direction for the agency and suggesting that the document might be a forgery.

But following the Senate vote in early May, Action issued a public statement that "Pauken envisions new program initiatives to help troubled youth" that are virtually identical to those outlined in the memo.

At the same time, Pauken is planning to abolish Volunteers in Service to America, which has been the most daring and creative Action program. VISTA, the domestic counterpart of the Peace Corps, is specifically mandated by federal law to "assist in the solution of poverty and poverty-related problems."

But both Pauken and the White House are supporting efforts to weaken that commitment and to eliminate the $28 million specifically earmarked for funding VISTA programs each year.

REGULATION. Many a beleaguered small businessman spends most of his time filling out government forms and complying with government regulations. The thousands of regulatory laws are written with Big Business in mind; it's unreasonable to expect General Motors and Mike's Garage to meet the same government standards and reporting requirements.

RIGHT TO FAIR TAXATION. The tax laws are full of loopholes that favor the big corporations. The small businessman who files as an individual or partnership is socked with double taxation of dividends and inadequate investment tax credits. If he manages to show a profit or break even in spite of these handicaps, inflation alone will push him into a higher tax bracket.

RIGHT TO AFFORDABLE WAGE SCALES. Though organized labor will raise howls of protest, it makes sense to give small businesses relief from minimum wage regulations. Workers will be better off if small firms are free to create new jobs.

7. RIGHT TO EQUAL INTEREST RATES. Discrimination against small business borrowers must stop. Bankers justify charging small businesses two or more points above the so-called prime rate, while giving big borrowers rates three or four points below the prime. The argument is that the little guys are bigger risks. But small businesses have no monopoly on failure—as Lockheed and Chrysler have demonstrated.

8. RIGHT TO GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS. The record shows that small businesses are 24 times more efficient in creating new products and technologies. Yet only a paltry 3.4 percent of the federal government's contracts for research and development go to small companies. All told, they manage to get only about 26 percent of government contracts.

Small can be beautiful. But if America's small businesses aren't given a chance to survive, future generations may never be able to see just how beautiful they were.

These people are saving electricity in their new Watt-Wise™ homes.

"Our Watt-Wise package is saving us $30 to $40 a month on our electric bill."
Thomas and Lois Romeny of Miami

"We try not to compare electric bills with our neighbors. We don't want to embarrass them."
Roy and Cheryl Pihlgren of Mangate

"We've been very happy with the house and especially happy with the size of the electric bills."
Edward and Bertha Gentner of Sarasota

"Why spend money on electricity when you could spend it on something else?"
Richard and Maryellen Renaud of West Palm Beach

"Spend a little now to save a lot."
Robert and Jean McMahon of Cocoa

People can be generous in praising a Watt-Wise Living™ home. Because it's very easy to save electricity - and money - when you live in one. What's Watt-Wise Living? It's a combination of features that meet FPL's energy-saving standards, while maintaining your standards for comfort.

Watt-Wise homes have cost-saving features like extra ceiling and wall insulation, solar or heat-recovery units for water heating, a higher-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump. Power savers like fluorescent lighting and a microwave oven, and thermally efficient windows and doors with glass areas planned to minimize heat build-up. All features that can be easily included in the construction of a new home.

Today, FPL's Watt-Wise Living program is one of the wisest investments you could make. Stop by your local FPL office and pick up a free brochure. Who knows, you might be paying us more compliments than money next year.

Watt-Wise Living. It saves you more than it costs. Ask your builder.

Running Backs Spring Loose In Jamboree

Lake Brantley's Kevin Besaw breaks loose for a big gainer.

Seminole's Victor Williams (27) sheds the last tackler on 67-yard touchdown burst.

Lyman's Vince Presley (38) makes his move behind Jim Farley (40).

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Despite the fact that no team scored more than one touchdown per quarter Friday night before 1600 fans at Oviedo in the annual spring jamboree—one gets the distinct impression, it will be an offensive year.

Fast backs, Super fast backs. Ones that outrun linebackers with angles and defensive backs which aren't supposed to get outrun. Slashing backs. Tough, Tom Matte-type plodders who get their yardage inside and outside.

Both were quite evident on each of the six teams in last night's six quarters of mini-action.

And maybe some defensive deficiencies, although the coaches are more apt to point out the quality of the backs at this stage of the year. Spring bloomers and optimism. The bloomers are usually defense and pessimism.

Blocked Punt Dooms Hawks

Apopka 7 Lake Howell 0

Lake Howell Coach Mike Blacaglia found out one thing about his Silver Hawks very early. They were mistake prone in the initial setback to Apopka. Two clipping penalties. Two interceptions. Two lousy-looking draw plays that resulted in huge losses. A blocked punt setup the Blue Darter score at the Hawk 13.

Curtis Barnes broke through to swat it back in Scott Grant's face. Arnell "Neil" Lykes ran for five and three yards. Will Singleton punched for three twice and a touchdown at the 4:48 mark.

The extra point made it 7-0. On a third down and five, wideout Nat Edmonds took an end around and galloped 27 yards. The yellow hankie dropped and it came back.

With three minutes to play, Mark Frick blocked a bomb to sophomore tight end Fred McNeil who gathered it in for a 40-yard gain. Once again, a clipping penalty brought the ball back into Howell territory.

The interceptions followed, blunting any further Silver Hawks attempts. Frick was impressive—at times—once with 20-yarder to Edmonds which wasn't called back.

Apopka used Lykes, who was one of the top runners in the Five Star last year, as a decoy most of the night. Singleton ran well. Quarterback Brian Pitts threw well.

'Quick Vic' Stuns 'Hounds'

Seminole 8 Lyman 1

The Fighting Seminoles wasted no time in unvetting their lightning-quick back. After fullback Lenny Sutton plunged into the line, Victor Williams took a pitch and burned 67 yards down the sideline for a touchdown.

"I thought it would be a big gainer, but I was surprised Victor pulled away from everybody. Two guys had the angle on him," said an impressed Posey.

Apparently the Greyhounds speedster Vince "9.9" Presley felt insulted. On the sophomore's first sweep left he ran over a couple and outran the rest for a 70-yard TD.

That old clipping penalty struck again, however. Presley's run was brought back along with the apparent touchdown.

Undaunted, sophomore Duane Johnson guided Presley, fullback Jim Farley and Theo Jones down the field on a mixture of traps, sweeps and powers. Johnson three in a 21-yarder of his own to Steve Rogers for a first down at the 29-yard line.

The drive fizzled there, though, as tackle Billy Painter came up with two roughneck plays, the second on a draw to Jones to halt the fourth down attempt.

Taking over at the 23, Sutton banged away three times and Joe Calloway fooled the Greyhounds with a run for a first down.

Sutton, "Quick Vic" and Johnnie Littles took their turns following monstrous Isaac Williams just about wherever they wanted to go. The big play came with 30 seconds left at the Lyman 32.

On fourth down Jeff Litton dropped back and lofted a perfect screen pass to Sutton in the right flat. Lumbering Lenny followed an entourage of blockers down the sideline. When he ran out of blockers, he proceeded to run over the remaining defenders until Brett Harwell finally subdued him at the three-yard line.

The clock ran out before Seminole could score, but the impression had been made. Twelve plays, 73 yards using speed, power and a little coaching savvy (draw play).

Defensively for the 'Hounds tackle Frank Lawton made two nice tackles before hurting an ankle. Lyman's Lonzo Collier stuck a few people as did Greg Register and Antonio Davis for the Tribe.

Besaw Buzzes Blue Darters

Lake Brantley 7 Apopka 8

Brantley's Buzz Saw, Kevin Besaw combined with fullback Rob Brown to move the Pat's 57 yards to the Darter 13 before three Ulysses Harper cramped Fred Baber on the last of three incompletions.

"We're going to give him (Besaw) the ball," understated Coach Dave Tullis about his slashing workhorse. "Besaw's real durable, but Brown can run too."

And so can the Darter's Joe Pitts as Brantley found out two minutes later when Pitts nudged up the middle, crossed to the right sideline and dashed 38 yards for a score. The extra point was wide.

Baber made quick work of the Apopka lead. Three plays into the drive he hit freshman Billy Dunn for 12 yards. Besaw buzzed for a first down at the Darter 41. Brown rolled for nine to the 32.

On a fourth down play from the 27, Baber found Mac Lantrip on a flag route for a touchdown. Greg Miller hooked the point after just inside the left goalpost for the winning margin.

Apopka leaves town 1-1.

Audie Who?

Oviedo 7 Lyman 0 (overtime)

Defense showed its face in this excellent extra season matchup. Oviedo's Robert Isner made two superb stops on Lyman's initial drive which ended at midfield.

The Lions drove to the 42, but were forced to punt when the 'Hounds stiffened. Three straight Presley sprints moved the ball to the 41 of Lyman with 26 ticks to play.

Lamar Smith, the Lions' undersized defensive tackle, however, sacked Johnson and the clock ran out forcing the extra session.

Oviedo setup at the 10 with four chances to score in the tiebreaker. They needed just one as Mike Oliver bolted off right tackle for the TD.

Jones bunched for one before Pat McConigal belted Presley at the line of scrimmage. Johnson went to the air, but David Jacobs dropped the pass at the two.

Ironically, on the next play, Jacobs ran an open route, but Johnson threw behind him in the end zone. Lyman goes home 0-2, but Vince Presley has all the coaches mumbling "Audie Who?"

Magaro Magic

Lake Howell 6 Seminole 7

Somewhere between the time of the opening quarter and this contest, the Silver Hawks lost their shivers and turned into a tenacious defensive ball club.

Rikki Magaro ripped off 16 big ones on his first carry. Frick threw incomplete twice, but Sutton misplayed a punt and Billy Mosblech came up with the loose ball at the Tribe 33.

Frick to Carlos Poyas got 10 yards before Magaro ran for a first down at the 14. Scott Grant, another slasher who had a big year last year, ripped off eight more to the six.

Magaro then followed 6-foot-4, 220-pound freshman Jim Royal into the end zone for a 6-0 edge with 8:10 left to play. Victor Williams batted down the extra point kick.

Seminole's sprint, slash and power offense immediately went to work. "Quick Vic" had two bursts of eight and nine yards. Junior Donald Simmons rambled 19 and 11 behind 1. Williams for a first down at the six.

Simmons and V. Williams were shut off on successive attempts. Sutton bulled for four tough ones to the two. On fourth down Coach Jerry Posey went to Sutton again, but Mike Palmer and Grant met Sutton head on to kill the drive with 1:44 to play.

As before, the Tribe failed to cash in. But, look how they got there. Twelve plays of different variations and almost six minutes of game time consumed.

After Troy Quackenbush was caught in the end zone, Seminole took over at its own 20. Littles made a one-hand grab of a Calloway pass and was promptly severed by Magaro in the loudest collision of the night. Both survived, barely.

In a last ditch attempt, Calloway found tight end Frank Rowe twice for a total of 27 yards to the Howell 28. Victor Williams hauled in a pass to the 24 with eight seconds left.

Posey attempted to call a time out, but it apparently fell on deaf ears as the clock ran out as the referee stood over the ball with the Tribe offense lined up for its last shot.

"The ref said we couldn't start until the down marker was moved," said Posey. "I thought it took him a pretty long time to move it a yard and a half."

Seminole and Lake Howell both go home 1-1 and feeling the same way—semi-satisfied.

Crummy Call

Oviedo 7 Lake Brantley 7 (overtime)

"It was a pretty crummy call, wasn't it?" admitted Lion-hearted Joe Montgomery after he passed up a potential game-winning overtime chip shot field goal for a dive play which resulted in a fumble.

Oviedo was in trouble early. Doug Brown picked off a Chris Kessinger pass and setup the Patriots at the Lion 15. On the third play, Besaw swept left for a first down at the one-foot line.

On the next play he went in and Miller converted the kick for a 7-0 advantage. Oviedo put its "instant offense" to work forthwith. The Lions' "Do Everything Man" Lamar Smith lofted a halfback pass to Jimmy "Ham" Hamilton good for 30 yards.

On the very next play, Kessinger, showing shades of brother Troy, lofted a perfect 40-yard spiral to Hamilton for a quick six points. The two-play series look a whole 37 SECONDS. Kip Sopp drilled the extra point.

Besaw showed his durability on the next drive. He carried nine of the 12 plays and converted five first downs during the sequence. Mike Freeman gave him some breather yardage.

When the drive reached the five, however, Smith and Todd Duncan stacked up Besaw forcing a Miller field goal try from the 22 which went wide to the left.

Only 1:30 remained, but Kessinger and Jodie Huggins marched the Lions into Kipp Sopp field goal range. Huggins to Hamilton went for 11 yards and a first down at the 23 of the Patriots was the key play.

With just seven seconds to play, Sopp lined it up. He had booted a 53 yarder in the "Varsity-Senior" game last week. This one would be 49.

"I probably messed him up," confessed Montgomery about Sopp's forthcoming boot where he got more ground than ball. "I should have just let him kick it, but I wanted to try a fake. Then I changed my mind."

In the overtime George Dumas stole a first-down Brantley pass in the endzone and Oviedo's fumble ended the evening. The Patriots go home 1-0 and undefeated. The Lions stay home 1-0 and surprising.

"Vince Presley is a real stud," said Montgomery when asked to evaluate his Five Star Conference opposition. "Lake Howell has a great tailback (Scott Grant) and I like their tight end (Fred McNeil)."

"So what if that other guy (Mark Layton) doesn't play. Besaw is really tough on the sweep and Lykes is really good. I like Sutton for Seminole. He's scrappy," attested "Monty."

And what about the Lions, Joe? "Oh, we're pretty good. We're only a 3A school and we scored on each 4A team we played. We'll do all right," promised Montgomery.

Poppa Jay's Works On Railroaders

For the second game in a row, the Poppa Jay's batters came out swinging, pounding a dozen hits enroute to a 12-4 win over the Railroaders Thursday in the Sanford Little National League.

In other games, Clem Leonard Shell topped Sanford D.A.V. 7-5 while first place First Federal dumped Cardinal Industries 12-4.

Poppa Jay's fell behind 1-0 before taking the lead with six runs on four hits in the top of the third. Winning pitcher Willie McCloud had the big hit of the inning, a double.

The Railroaders scored one run in the bottom of the third, but Poppa Jay's then boosted its lead to 12-2 before the Railroaders scored their final four runs in the bottom of the sixth.

McCloud went the distance for the win, striking out 13 while allowing just four hits.

Jeff Blake and Ronald Blake each had a double and single for the winners, while Dexter Debrae, George Goffman and Joey Sheehan each rapped two singles.

Sanford D.A.V. scored a single run in the first, but Clem Leonard Shell picked up a pair of runs in the bottom of the second when Sean Roberts rapped a two-out double after Willie Grayson singled, and then scored on an error.

D.A.V. tied the score in the top of the third on a solo home run by Reginald Lawrence.

Consecutive singles by Ira Hall Jr., Dwight Everett and Shelton Slater produced a pair of runs in the top of the fourth as D.A.V. took a 4-2 lead.

Clem Leonard Shell regained the lead with three runs in the bottom of the fourth, scoring without a hit.

Stubborn D.A.V. tied the score again in the top of the fifth, but Clem Leonard Shell took the lead for good with two runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Slater opened the D.A.V. half of the sixth with a double and Roberto Fonseca followed with a single. The next batter went down swinging before Kevin Harden was doubled off second for the final out. Grayson and Leonard Lucas had two hits apiece for Clem Leonard Shell.

Lawrence was three for three with a home run and two doubles for D.A.V. Slater had a double and single.

Kalvin Davis pitched five and a third innings of no-hit baseball to pick up his fourth win without a loss. Davis came in to pitch after Cardinal Industries had scored four runs in the first inning and he shut them out the rest of the way. Davis finished with 10 strikeouts.

Andy Griffin had two doubles and a single for First Federal's.

In today's action in the Sanford Little American League, first place Atlantic Bank plays Flagship Bank at 5 p.m. at Westside Field, while Triple I.I.I. Trucking plays Butch's Chevron at the same time at Fort Mellon Park. Jack Prosser Ford plays Krayola Kollege at 7 p.m. at Fort Mellon Park.

In today's Sanford Junior League games at Cham Park, Masters Cove Apartments plays Rotary at 5 p.m. and Elks plays Knights of Columbus at 7 p.m.

Roofing Caves In

Defending champ Adcock Roofing was handed a 15-13 upset loss at the hands of Seminole Sporting Goods Thursday in the Sanford Pee Wee League.

It was only the second loss of the season for Adcock and the first loss of the second half.

Rinker Materials moved into sole possession of first place in the second half with a 3-0 record by beating Ken Kern's Garage 15-14.

Clem Leonard Shell had to battle from behind three times before beating Butch's Chevron 15-14 in Thursday's other game.

Seminole Sporting Goods took an early lead with two runs in the top of the first, but Adcock Roofing roared back with four runs in the bottom of the second.

Seminole Sporting Goods, which was winless in the second half before beating Adcock, regained the lead with four runs in the top of the third.

Both teams scored four runs in the fourth and Seminole Sporting Goods pushed five runs across the plate on three hits in the top of the fifth. Adcock managed three runs in the bottom of the inning, but fell two runs short.

Winning pitcher David Lambert had three hits for his team and Mike Wilk had two.

John Bryant was four for four with a triple and double for Adcock.

Rinker Materials fell behind 7-1, but then tied the score at 7-7 with six runs in the top of the third.

Rinker's pitcher, Elbert Williams, the eventual winner, shut out Ken Kern's in the bottom of the third and his team scored six runs on just one hit in the top of the fourth.

Ken Kern's Garage scored four runs in the bottom of the fourth and had one runner thrown out at the plate before stranding two runners.

William Mays had two of Rinker's three hits.

Leonard Richardson was three for three, all home runs, and Scott Lewis had one homer in three trips to the plate.

Butch's Chevron scored five runs in the top of the first, with Shawn Washington belting a bases-loaded double for the big hit, but Clem Leonard Shell bounced back with six runs in the bottom of the first. Michael Merthie had a three-run double to key Clem Leonard's attack.

Butch's Chevron put six more runs on the board in the second, using an RBI double by Deckory Williams and a three-run homer by Kerry Wiggins.

Clem Leonard Shell cut the margin to one run with four runs in the bottom of the second. Merthie again had the key hit, a bases-loaded triple.

Butch's Chevron added one run in the fourth, while Clem Leonard was shut out in its half of the inning thanks to an unassisted double play by second baseman Deckory Williams after the first two Clem Leonard Shell batters reached base safely.

Butch's Chevron scored two runs without a hit in the top of the fifth, but Clem Leonard Shell won the game with three runs in the bottom of the inning. Bruce Taylor drove in the winning run with a single, the only hit of the inning.

Celery City Printing Co. 'Runs Off' Seminole 11-1

"Each of the players deserves to be on a championship team," said Sanford Celery Printing Co. Coach Sory Reno. "They play hard and as a team."

As so far that has been the case. Celery City 400 sits atop the age 14 and under "B" division Soccer League Standings.

No one in Central Florida is playing harder than Darrand Richards, Steve Sapp and Scott McCaskill. Just ask Seminole 401, who was blown out by Celery City 11-1 last Saturday.

The victory improved CCCC's record to 7-1-1. They play Pine Hills 400 Saturday at the Valencia "A" field.

Richards scored five goals including three in the final period when Celery City exploded for eight. Richards' initial score came on an assist from Steve Sapp. McCaskill, who moved from his regular sweeper position to forward, tallied the next two goals one of which came on a penalty kick for a 3-0 halftime bulge.

McCaskill started the second half blitz with a goal on a penalty kick. Sapp followed with a goal on his own as did Richards for a 6-0 lead.

Sapp scored his second and third goals of the game, the second on a fine assist from McCaskill. Richards closed the scoring against overmatched 401 with three straight scores.

Hai Pooey, who blanked Seminole in the nets the first half and then moved to halfback, assisted on the first one. McCaskill aided Richards on the second and Sapp helped out on the third.

McCaskill finished the day with three goals and two assists.

Age 12 and Under
Sanford Rich Plan of Florida 201 used a hat trick from Sheldon Richards to rout Pine Hills 203 7-1 Saturday for a "B" division victory.

Rich Plan is 3-2 for the year.

J. J. Partlow added two goals as did reliable Alex Piquer. Right halfback Walter Williams came through with three assists and Mike Lyons was outstanding defensively.

Rich Plan meets Southeast Orange 201 at Union Park Saturday at 11:30 a.m.

In a "C" division contest, Southeast Orange pushed across a second half goal to nip Sanford Kiwanis 2-1.

Ruffero Matipano scored the only goal for Kiwanis 200, who fell to 1-4-1 for the year. Nicky Patis had a good game at center forward.

Kiwanis hosts College Park 200 Saturday at the Sanford Airport beginning at 12:45.

Downtown 203 dropped Sanford Boatworks 4-3 despite three goals by Chris Ray. Boatworks fell to 2-2-2 for the year.

The four Downtown goals came in the second half. Defensively Tim Deppen and Chandler Tyre played well. John McCaskill aided Richards on the second and Sapp helped out on the third.

Boatworks plays Winter Park 204 at 11:30 Saturday morning at the Sanford Airport.

Age 10 and Under
Despite an excellent game in the net from Chon Gann, Sanford Joe Creamons 600 was shutout by Winter Park 601 3-0 last Saturday in "B" division action.

Murphy Wolford and Chris Kirkgard assisted Chan on the defenses for Creamons who dropped to 1-10. Saturday, Creamons hosts Downtown at 10 a.m. at the Sanford Airport.

Age Eight and Under
Chris Morse scored a second half goal, but it wasn't enough to avert Sanford Burger King 800 from losing to F. C. United 800 3-1 in "B" division action.

3-3-2 Burger King travels to Union Park Saturday morning to take on Southeast Orange 201 at 11:30.

Age 10 and Under
Southeast Orange 001 scored twice in each half Saturday to upend Sanford Dell's Auction 000 4-1 in "B" division play.

Greg Bean had the lone Dell's tally as the 000 club dropped to 5-4-2 for the year. Saturday Dell's goes to Aloma school to play Matiland 001 at 2:30 p.m.

Winter Park 061 whipped Sanford New

Smyrna Speedway 3-1 Saturday in "B" division action. The loss moved Speedway 081 to 2-4.

Saturday at noon the Speedway travels to the Valencia "C" Field to meet Pine Hills 080.

In "C" division play, Downtown 081 pushed in three second period goals to blank Sanford 001 4-0. Sanford 001 hosts Pine Hills Saturday at Valencia.

Youth Baseball Reschedules Games Saturday

A Sanford Pee Wee League-Sanford Little National League doubleheader is slated for Saturday at Fort Mellon Park.

The two games were rained out last Tuesday.

In the 5:30 p.m. opener, first half winner Clem Leonard Shell plays Ken Kern's Garage in a Sanford Pee Wee League tilt. Both teams are 1-1 in the second half.

In the 7 p.m. nightcap, league-leading First Federal plays the Railroaders as it tries to inch closer to the Sanford Little National League pennant.

Perry Teaches Valenzuela A Lesson

Atlanta (UPI) — They came to see the kid pitch but stayed to cheer the old man.

In a classic confrontation, 42-year-old Gaylord Perry outpitched 20-year-old rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela Thursday night to give the Atlanta Braves a 9-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers and chalk up his 293rd career major league victory.

Through the first 3 1/2 innings, the 26-year-old Valenzuela had given up only one hit and retired nine in a row; Perry had faced only one batter more than the minimum; and the game was scoreless.

Then the roof fell in on Valenzuela.

With one out, Dale Murphy and Chris Chambliss had back-to-back singles and Glenn Hubbard walked to load the bases. Bruce Benedict singled home Murphy and then, after Chambliss was cut down at home, Perry hit a two-run screwball into right center for a tying run single and the rout was on.

By time the inning ended, seven runs were in and Valenzuela was in the shower, charged with his second loss of the season after having gotten off to an 8-0 start, including five shutouts.

"It's not the end of the world," Valenzuela said through an interpreter after the game was over. "I know I'm going to win some games and I'm going to lose some games. All of the sudden (in the fourth inning), I couldn't get my screwball over the plate and when I went to my fast ball, they plastered it."

Perry, 4-3, lost his shutout in the sixth innings when Ken Landreaux's two-out double, the fourth hit off the Atlanta pitcher, scored Pepe Frias. But he was still ahead 9-1 (the Braves also scored twice in the fifth) and wasn't worried.

Reds 7, Giants 4

The Reds' victory over the Giants was marred by the loss of team stalwart Johnny Bench, who fractured his left ankle. An eighth-inning throwing error by reliever pitcher Gary LaVelle ignited the Reds on their way to a five-run rally. Pirates 3, Cubs 1

Dale Berra's three-run double highlighted a five-run fifth to lift the Braves. Eddie Solomon, 3-3, gained the homestand.

homestand.

Rangers 6, Twins 2

Leon Roberts' three-run homer capped a four-run eighth and Rick Honeycutt scattered seven hits to boost the Rangers. It was Honeycutt's second complete game of the year.

NLRB Averts Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — The umpires are the only ones who will be calling "strike" in major-league baseball tonight.

A strike by the major-league baseball players has been averted for at least a week, and very possibly longer. It depends on a decision to be made in Federal District Court in Rochester, N.Y., over a preliminary injunction filed against the owners' Player Relations Committee and the clubs by the National Labor Relations Board.

Representatives of the players and owners, appearing before Judge Henry F. Werker in U.S. District Court, agreed Thursday to extend the players' strike deadline pending the outcome of a preliminary injunction filed against the Player Relations Committee by the NLRB.

If the injunction is granted, probably next week, it would delay for a year the provision of the Basic Agreement regarding the owners' implementation of their free-agent compensation proposal and the players' right to strike over that proposal.

The NLRB has filed a charge of unfair labor practices against the club owners, accusing them of refusing to bargain in good faith.

Gardening

Improve Watering Efficiency

By ROBERT J. BLACK
IFAS Extension Horticulturist

One of the most important factors in successful gardening is knowing when and how to water.

Most maintenance techniques such as fertilizing, pest control and pruning have easy-to-learn rules to follow. But watering has no specific rules to follow, because when to water and how much to water depends on the kinds of plants, type of soil, time of year and the weather conditions.

So, if you think your particular watering problems are different than your neighbors', you're probably right.

Here are a few ideas you can use to improve your watering efficiency.

Water only when plants need watering. Use a coring device or shovel to dig down in the soil to see if it is wet or dry. If the soil in the root zone feels dry and crumbly, additional water is needed.

Keep a close watch on the lawn. If it looks as though it is wilting, it needs water. If the edges of the grass leaves start to curl and take on a dull bluish-gray color, water the lawn immediately.

Lawns should be watered in late evening, at night, or early morning, when winds and temperatures are low. Late morning, mid-day, and afternoon irrigation usually results in loss of water from evaporation. Also strong winds are more likely to blow at these times, resulting in poor distribution of water over the lawn.

When watering, give the soil a thorough soaking. Frequent, light sprinklings waste water and do little to satisfy the water requirements of a plant growing in a hot, dry soil. Watering in this manner often promotes shallow root systems which increase susceptibility to damage if watering is omitted for a few days.

Wet the soil to a depth of six to eight inches. This type of watering allows the moisture to penetrate into the soil where roots can readily absorb it. A general rule is to apply from one-half to one inch of water every two weeks in winter and once each week in summer. However, because all soils and plants are not alike, some adjustments in the amount of water applied may be needed.

To determine when a sprinkler has delivered one inch of water, place cans or cartons at intervals in the spray pattern, and water until the water level in the cans averages one inch.

Water should be applied only as fast as the soil will absorb it. Watering with a hose nozzle turned on full force can do more damage than good. Fast-flowing water runs off quickly carrying soil with it and exposing plant roots to the sun.

More efficient watering can be accomplished with soaker hoses and sprinklers. Soaker hoses do a good job, but they don't cover as large an area as sprinklers.

Another method of watering is drip or trickle irrigation. Drip irrigation supplies plants with constant moisture at a low delivery rate through the use of low pressure plastic tubing installed on or below the ground surface. Low pressure nozzles (emitters) attached to plastic tubing release water at a slow rate into the soil around a plant.

By wetting only the root zone area of the plant, there is a dramatic saving in water, weeds are not encouraged to grow and plant growth is accelerated. This increased growth occurs because the plant is not subjected to wet and dry cycles which normally occur with other irrigation methods.

The water lance and the ponding method are good ways of watering trees and shrubs. A water lance is a sharp-pointed tube attached to a water hose which is used to inject water near the root system of a plant. The water should be injected very slowly because a strong stream may dig subsurface holes causing air pockets which damage roots.

Ponding is a common method of watering newly-planted trees and shrubs. A pond is a saucer basin built by making a ring of soil two to three inches high around a plant. A slow-running hose or soaker hose can be used to fill the pond.

These guidelines can make your gardening endeavors more successful and should reduce water bills significantly.

CRAZY HATS

Call it "old hat" if you will, but just a few short years back, buying a new hat was the sure cure to lift a woman's spirit. Broad smiles and beautiful bonnets in the accompanying photos may indicate there's still truth in the old notion.

The Garden Club of Sanford ended the 1980-81 season with a "Crazy Hat" contest at the May general business meeting and luncheon.

The idea was for clubbers to design and create a chapeau using plant materials. And some real beauties showed up.

The contest winners were as follows: Jackie Partain, Central Circle, prettiest hat; Mary Schmitt, Rose Circle, most original hat; and Lou Woodruff, Camellia Circle, craziest hat.

Jessie Brisson, all decked out in a wide-brimmed picture hat fashioned of fern and daisies, was awarded a silver bowl for having the most blue ribbons in the club's recent annual flower show.

The clever creations brought many a smile as the clubwomen recessed for the season and that's not "old hat". — DORIS DIETRICH

'Cold And Bossy' Too Busy To Listen

DEAR ABBY: What's my problem? My husband doesn't want me to talk to him. Gerhard asks me not to talk to him during mealtime because he's "busy" eating. He doesn't want me to talk to him while he's driving because he's "busy" driving. And God forbid I should try to talk to him while he's reading or watching TV!

Abby, this is very hard on me because I come from a large, talkative Jewish family and I love to talk. Gerhard is half-Norwegian and half-German. (Cold and bossy.)

He calls me from work every day to find out what was in the mail. Then I get to talk.

Please put this in your column. Gerhard never misses "Dear Abby," and it's the only way to tell him what I think.

ESTHER IN FLATBUSH

DEAR ESTHER: If this is the only way of telling Gerhard what you think, face it, Esther, your marriage is floundering in English, "kaput" in German, "ferdig" in

Dear Abby

Norwegian, and "in dredd" in Yiddish. DEAR ABBY: National Secretaries Week appears to be going the route of the office Christmas party and the company picnic for boorish managerial behavior.

A few weeks ago, our audit managers took their two secretaries out for a lunch which lasted four hours, and consisted mostly of drinking, a pastime the managers were obviously more accustomed to than their two young ladies. Consequently, on their return to the office, the secretaries were bouncing off the walls and vomiting on everything from a typewriter to the car upholstery en route home.

Ours is a Fortune 500 company and there is not much one can do with entrenched management; however, by printing this you may elicit some words of wisdom from your readers as to how young secretaries can best cope with such situations.

DISMAYED MALE IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR MALE: Young secretaries can begin by knowing their capacities, and not exceeding them.

DEAR ABBY: May I clear up the answer you gave to A NICE GIRL? She said she had Herpes Simplex and had not slept around, and neither did her husband.

I am also a victim of Herpes Simplex 2, and I contacted it without having had sex with anybody but my husband. And my husband has never had sex with anybody but me!

Doctors call Herpes Simplex 2 a venereal disease because it can be spread by sexual intercourse, but apparently that is not the only way a person can get it.

I have been plagued by it for two years, and I still resent my own doctor insinuating that I must have caught it from another man because I got it before my husband.

I may not know much about Herpes, but I do know what I have and have not done, so how about printing this letter—for me and a lot of other "nice" people out there who are innocent but have Herpes 2?

INNOCENT VICTIM

DEAR INNOCENT: I believe you, and here's your letter. For more information on this subject, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: H.E.L.P., P.O. Box 100, Palo Alto, Calif. 94302.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MOTHER OF TWO IN BALTIMORE: One does not get VD from picking up heavy objects in a shipyard. Your husband must have picked up something else.

GARDEN OF THE MONTH

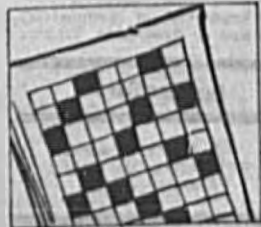

Mrs. Joseph Noqueira's sign of the times is the Garden of the Month award for May presented by Central Circle of the Garden Club of Sanford. Located at 130 Club Road, Sanford, the grounds are cared for by Mrs. Noqueira. According to Virginia Chapman, the grounds are "really beautiful and landscaped so well." Mrs. Chapman said Mrs. Noqueira has a rose section and flowering plants interspersed among the shrubs.

Donna Duck Returning Home In A Limousine,

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Donna the duck will return home in a limousine Saturday to a welcome featuring her anxious mallard mate, champagne and a ribboned package of corn.
Donna was recuperating at Black Mountain Animal Hospital where veterinarians surgically removed a 3-foot arrow from her breast Monday.
The duck was healthy enough to go home today but U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department officials decided to be cautious and keep her an extra day.
"We're going to send a limousine to pick up the duck," said Sahara Hotel spokesman David Dearing. "We've been talking to the experts about the best way to bring her back so she won't be frightened."

At the golf course pond which Donna, her mate and four ducklings call home, a reception committee will be waiting with champagne — for the people, not the ducks — and Donna's favorite food, raw corn.
Authorities reported Thursday Donna's mate, who has been chasing other female ducks around the pond, seemed nervous.
Officials have been gathering evidence against an unnamed teen-age boy believed responsible for the shooting.
"We have purposely kept the suspect's name from the media for his safety," said Humane Society spokesman Dart Anthony. "We've gotten a number of very serious calls from people wanting to make him pay very seriously and dearly for shooting Donna."

Gertrude Goose Still Eluding Game Wardens

MENOMONEE FALLS, Wis. (UPI) — For two weeks Gertrude the Canadian goose has eluded game wardens who want to remove a broken 20-inch arrow from her thigh.
Wardens Doug Hoskins and Jeff Labudda have tried to capture the goose with fishing nets to no avail. They are considering tranquilizing her with a dart gun, drugging her food or blinding her at night with bright lights.
If captured, the goose would be taken to a bird rehabilitation specialist retained by the Department of Natural Resources.
Gertrude was spotted Wednesday morning feeding with her mate at a 2-acre pond on the Richard and Cecilia Kloster hobby farm.

The goose does not appear to be suffering, said Hoskins. He said she flies and swims well and it doesn't appear any of her vital organs have been damaged.
"This is an act of vandalism ... not an act of hunting," said Hoskins, who noted the penalty for shooting a goose out of season is a fine of $192, confiscation of the weapon used and loss of hunting and fishing privileges for three years.
Because the goose is a migratory bird, there also would be federal fines, said a DNR spokesman.

11 Mothers Sue Bendectin Firm

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eleven mothers who took Bendectin, made for the early pregnancy treatment of nausea, say the drug caused birth defects in their children and they have sued the drug's manufacturer.
The 11 separate lawsuits were filed Thursday in U.S. District Court in Manhattan against Richardson-Merrell Inc. of Wilton, Conn., maker of the drug. The company has manufacturing plants in Cincinnati, Greensboro, N.C., Hattboro, Pa., and Phillipsburg, N.J., as well as 28 factories in 19 countries.

All the women gave birth in Britain. Another suit was filed against the company Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn by a Queens woman who asked for $363 million in damages for birth defects in her infant daughter, allegedly caused by Bendectin.

Richardson-Merrell began marketing the drug in the U.S. in 1957 and in Great Britain in 1968.

Sanford, Florida — Friday, May 29, 1981

No, you're not nuts. This squirrel really is water-skiing. In fact, you might say that Twiggy, one of Sanford's best-known residents, is positively nuts about the sport.

Lou Ann Best, she's the one on the left, towels off Twiggy the water-skiing squirrel after a practice session in preparation for "Twiggy Day" Saturday. Lou Ann, along with her husband Chuck, trained Twiggy as a baby to ski and now travel the country showing off their unusual pet.

Twiggy Takes Off

It would be a faux pas to expect Twiggy the squirrel to fetch nuts for winter storage.

Twiggy does no fetching, thank you, for nuts or anything else. Human beings fetch for Twiggy. She is coddled, manicured, shampooed, and downright pampered.

Twiggy is a star, perhaps the world's only water-skiing squirrel, certainly the only one in Sanford. She has appeared on national television shows like "Real People" and "Good Morning America," and has been written up in newspapers all over the world.

Local residents will get a chance to see Twiggy do her stuff Saturday when she gives four demonstrations of her aquatic expertise as part of a special downtown business promotion. Chuck Best, Twiggy's owner, will put his bushy-tailed celebrity through her paces at 11 a.m. and again at 1, 3, and 5 p.m. in a pool to be set up on Magnolia Avenue between First and Second streets.

Twiggy's feats of aquatic derring-do are expected to draw 1,000-plus spectators to the downtown area to ooh and aah at the athletic rodent as if Farrah Fawcett were modeling spring fashions.

While Twiggy's star may not have risen as high as Ms. Fawcett's, still, she doesn't work for peanuts. Best won't say just how big a splash Twiggy has made in his bank account. He simply smiles and points out that his star critter has her own company — Squirrel Co. — which markets Twiggy T-shirts and miniature remote-controlled motorboats similar to the one used in the act. And negotiations are underway with two companies interested in having Twiggy promote their products.

All that, of course, is in addition to boat shows and conventions all over the country, performing before thousands of people from California to Chicago.

Twiggy had to overcome a bad start in life to claw her way to the top. At two months old, she fell out of her tree during a bad storm and was found by a little girl, who, having heard of Best through his roller-skating French Poodle named Moose, gave the squirrel to Best to nurse back to health.

Seeing Twiggy as a challenge to his animal-training skills, Best proceeded to take the furry grey squirrel from the trees to skis, and within the space of a couple of months had Twiggy zipping around on a pair of styrofoam skis like a Cypress Gardens pro.

A star was born and Twiggy really began making waves. It may sound nutty, but newspapers as far away as Australia carried the story of the small town squirrel made good. Twiggy appeared on local TV shows, eventually graduating to the big time, showing up on "Real People" five times, surely a record for water-skiing squirrels.

Sanford will honor its famous resident Saturday with a people-sized key to the city.

City fathers best make two keys. Now that Twiggy has her water-skiing act down pat, the word is that she is branching out, taking up a new sport which could again thrust the three-year-old rodent into the limelight.

And now, hee-er-er's Twiggy... the roller-skating squirrel!

Jaclyn To Play Jackie

Former "Charlie's Angels" star Jaclyn Smith will portray one of the most celebrated and emulated women in the world — Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis. Miss Smith has landed the part of Mrs. Onassis in a three-hour motion picture for television to air next season on ABC.

"To fulfill the vision of writer Steve Gethers' insightful and affectionate portrait of one of the world's most luminous personalities, ABC reviewed virtually every major female star, as well as scores of unknown performers, and ultimately tested nearly a dozen candidates," said Stu Samuels, ABC's vice president of motion pictures for television.

JACLYN SMITH

"With the casting of Jaclyn Smith in the key role... we will convey the romantic and moving story behind Jacqueline Bouvier's courtship and union with young John Kennedy. We will look at these two glamorous and charismatic figures who emerged from American society to capture the imagination of the country and the world, and who, in January, 1961 became America's first family."

Purcell to act

After covering the zany acts of everyday folks on NBC's "Real People," co-host Sarah Purcell will get into the real acting herself; she is scheduled to star in two television movies and a series pilot during the next two seasons.

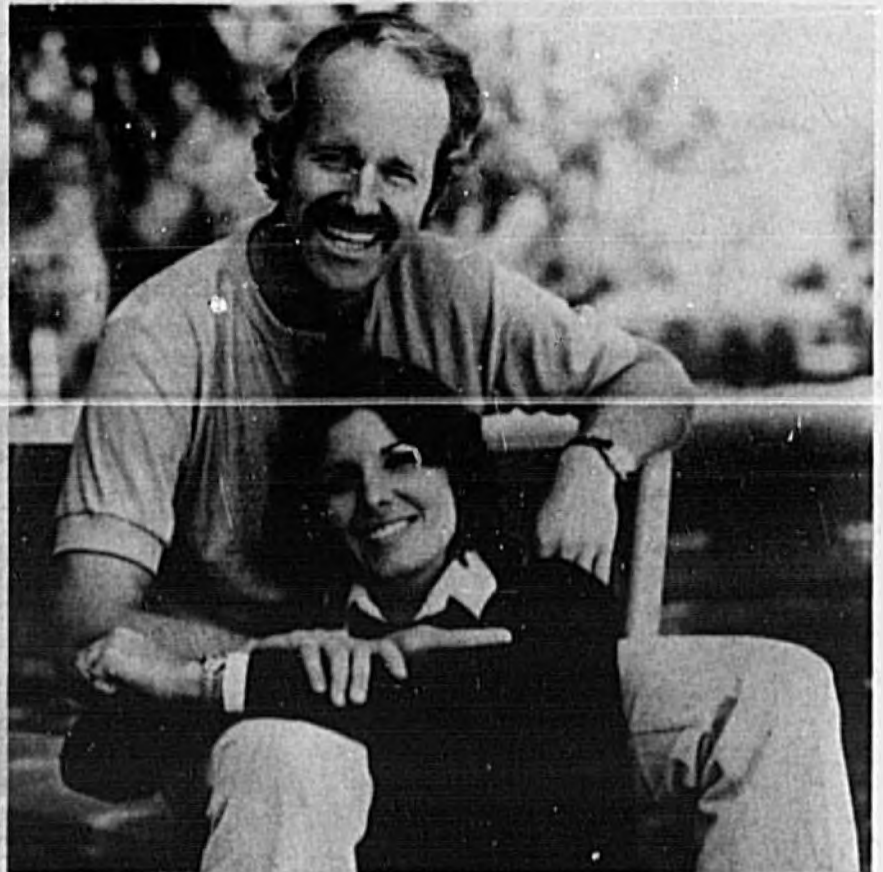

She will continue co-hosting and producing segments for the hit series "Real People." Recently, she produced segments for "Real Kids," two special editions of "Real People," which focused on the world of youngsters.

Miss Purcell has done some acting previously. She starred in the TV movie "Terror Among Us," and appeared in "Billy Jack Goes to Washington," "Guide for a Married Woman" and episodes of "Wonder Woman" and "Charlie's Angels."

Pianists on PBS

Some of the world's best pianists will compete for $12,000 in first-prize money in the prestigious Van Cliburn International Piano Competition, Sunday, May 31 on PBS. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

The winner will go on a concert tour with some of the world's leading symphony orchestras and will perform Leonard Bernstein's 1980 piano composition, "Touches," which was specially commissioned for the Van Cliburn competition. Only applicants who have accumulated formidable music credentials are accepted into even the earliest stages of eliminations.

SINGLE PARENTHOOD

Susan Saint James and Mike Farrell experience the perils and pleasures of single parenthood, in "Sex and the Single Parent," a motion picture-for-television to be rebroadcast on "The CBS Saturday Night Movies," Saturday.

Young Poets

These poems are by Seminole County students kindergarten through 12th grade. They resulted from the Florida Poetry In the Schools program taught by poet Bob Wlahoff of Oviedo and Evelyln Mantz of DeLand. Pupils are provided with a general theme, but are not told what they should write.

THUNDER
The thunder is like a jack-in-the-box
That jumps out unexpected
With loud big moans
And scary groans
That keep me up all night.
But when morning comes
And it is done
And I have had my fright,
I go downstairs and eat my breakfast
And think about last night.
When I think real hard
And think some more,
It wasn't all that bad.
It was kinda like a lullaby
But very very sad.

You are such a nice vegetable
It is a shame to eat you,
But I am very hungry and my stomach would like to eat you now for a hearty lunch.

but the ball broke the window.
I felt sad
but I taped it up.
I could not see anything

Simmons' Enthusiasm Shows In 'Never-Say-Diet Book'

By NANCY M. REICEARDT
HOLLYWOOD — There may be a lot of summer women watching the daytime soap operas in months to come — if, that is, they've had a chance to read about and practice the weight loss program of Richard Simmons (who plays himself, the director of the diet and exercise class, on "General Hospital").
Simmons (who claims, "the only time I was thin was the day I was born") has penned the latest in d-i-e-t books — he never says the word aloud — aptly entitles, the "Never-Say Diet Book," (Warner Books, $14.95).

The last time I looked the book was number four on the New York Times best seller list. And with little wonder. As you read it you can't help but be motivated by Simmons' enthusiasm. Viewers who have seen Simmons' exercise classes in the "OH" disco know what I mean.
As a former fatty himself — at one time the 5 foot 7 inch Simmons weighed in at 260 pounds — Simmons is out to help the rest of us who need to lose those pounds.

"General Hospital's" diet whiz Richard Simmons (who plays himself on the soap) is seen here surrounded by many diet "no-no's."

PAIR STAR IN 'SURVIVAL'

Robert Carradine and Melissa Sue Anderson star in a dramatic motion picture-for-television. "The Survival of Dana," depicting the contemporary problems of affluent teen-agers, to be rebroadcast on "The CBS Tuesday Night Movies," Tuesday.

'Mister Rogers' On Competition

"We often talk about living in a highly competitive world, about preparing our children to go out and compete in the marketplace of people and ideas," says Fred Rogers, explaining his choice of competition as a subject. "I think we need to take a closer look at what competition means and we need to look at the deep feelings it can arouse. How parents help their young children deal with competition within the family and beyond may have a lot to do with how 'successful' those children will feel when they're grown." The TV special for parents, "Mister Rogers Talks with Parents About Competition," to air on PBS Saturday, will be followed during the week of June 1-5 by five all-new programs on the award-winning children's series, "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood."

Competition, Rogers points out, begins as soon as a baby becomes aware that mother's love and attention have to be shared with others. Feelings of rivalry may become intensified when a child sees a baby brother or sister taking up a lot of time in mother's arms or lap. All children have times of wondering, "Why can't I always be first?" says Rogers.

Learning to share, learning to take turns and learning to be part of a group are all aspects of learning to deal with competition says Rogers. In school, a child finds both intellectual and physical competition and, along with them, the disappointment that comes with losing — whether as a close second or coming in last.

At the deepest roots of competition, there's a need and a desire for love. The sadness that comes from losing often comes from the feeling that others are loved more than we are. People want to win because people want to be loved.

"There's no doubt in my mind that we often overemphasize the value of winning," maintains Rogers. "Striving to do our best can be truly character building, but I've known of some coaches, for instance, who make children feel they are 'losers' as people whenever their teams lose. That can be character destroying. No one who does his or her best should ever be considered a

FRED ROGERS

'loser.' " Creative self-expression is one area of particular concern to Rogers, who sees a competitive approach to creativity as potentially harmful and often inappropriate.

"Whatever we make or do, as children or as adults, has its own value because it's a unique expression of who we are," Rogers insists. "There may be times, of course, when our work is compared with the work of others and even judged in a competitive arena. But whether or not it wins a prize doesn't make it more or less valuable as an expression of ourselves." (Rogers himself was awarded an Emmy last year for Outstanding Individual Achievement in Children's Programming.) "True competition should be with oneself, to strive to grow in healthy ways in whatever we do," adds Rogers.

Baker And Lynley Played Harlow In Movies

DEAR DICK: I'm writing because I want to know about Jean Harlow. I'm pretty sure I saw a movie about her — was there one? And did Loni Anderson do a movie about her on TV? But in the movie Loni did, the character died in a car wreck, while the real Jean Harlow became sick and died. DIANE HARVEY, Plainwell, Mich.

Jean Harlow, alias the Platinum Blonde, has been the subject of a couple of movies. Carroll Baker played her in a '65 film, and, just after that, Carol Lynley in a better one. Loni Anderson played Jayne Mansfield, not Jean Harlow, which is why she died in a car wreck — that's the way Jayne died. In fact, Loni's film was "The Jayne Mansfield story," so there shouldn't be any confusion.

DEAR DICK: Could you please clear up a discussion between myself and my three co-workers? I have always heard that Slim Whitman was blind. They say he is not. Who's right? C.M.L., Springfield, Ill.

The majority wins. Country singer Slim is not blind — in fact, he once had a career choice, to play baseball or go into music. He was a very good ball player. And he served in the Navy in World War II. He always has had his sight.

DEAR DICK: Is Clark Gable still alive? If he is, how old is he? If not, what year did he die? And how old was he in "Gone With the Wind?" CAROLYN MEGYES, Taber, Alberta, Can.

The news takes a while to get to Taber. Gable has been gone for 21 years now. He died in 1960. He was 38 when he made GWTW and 59 when he died.

DEAR DICK: We would like to know where George

Ask Dick Kleiner

By DICK KLEINER

Gobel was born and if that is his real name I am so glad he's back on TV again. CLARA ANDREE, Saginaw, Mich.

Ol' country boy George is from Chicago. And, yes that's his real name.

DEAR DICK: My wife says Harry Morgan played the bartender in "High Plains Drifter," starring Clint Eastwood. Please clarify this for us. AL MABERRY, Salsburg Springs, Texas.

Morgan wasn't in that film.

DEAR DICK: Who played Mr. Wilson in the old "Dennis the Menace" show, and is he still living? D.S., Marshfield, Wis.

Joseph Keenan was the original long-suffering neighbor of that rotten kid. He died after the first four seasons of the show and was replaced by Gale Gordon for the balance of the run. Gordon is still living.

DEAR DICK: I'm recalling an old TV series, "One Step Beyond." Was Red Serling on that? JOE PAYTON, Springfield, Mo.

No, that was John Newland who was the host of that one. Serling was the host of "The Twilight Zone." Both of them told strange, scary stories.

DEAR DICK: I used to be a fan of Hayley Mills, but haven't seen anything of her in years. What is she doing now? BETTY CLARK, Freeport, Texas.

Hayley has been playing mother, and has been living with Leigh Lawson (he was in "Tees") for some years. They are in Hollywood now, and Haley recently was the host on a Walt Disney TV hour.

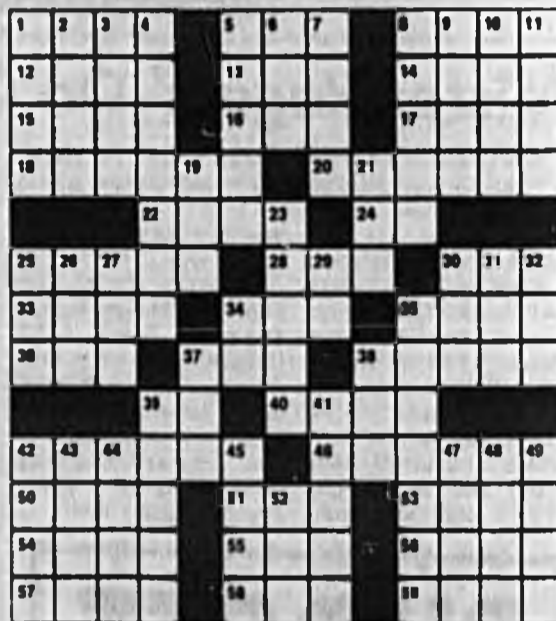

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me where I can find records by Patricia Brewer? I've asked around the no one can help me. You are my last hope. BERNICE WARD, Vancouver, Wash.

Courage! I think your problem is that you are thinking of Teresa Brewer. I'm sure if you go to a record store with that name, they can find some of her LPs for you.

DEAR DICK: My husband says Rita Moreno is Yul Brynner's daughter. He says he heard that on a TV talk show. I say he's crazy. Please answer quickly! L.L., Joplin, Mo.

Somebody's crazy. Rita and Yul are unrelated.

Alda's 'M-A-S-H' Slips Into Fatigue

By DAVID HANDLER
NEA

No sitcom has enjoyed the combined critical and commercial success that "M-A-S-H" has for the past nine seasons. Not to mention lavish media attention — books, documentaries, magazine articles. It seems like everyone in the world loves "M-A-S-H." Everyone in the world except me.

I watch "M-A-S-H" the first couple of seasons, mostly because I was a fan of the movie. I didn't think it was a bad show but it seemed forced and repetitious. I got tired of it and haven't watched it since. A few weeks ago I decided to catch up with "M-A-S-H" to find out what I've been missing.

It wasn't hard at all. The show is in blanket syndication while it continues to run. One recent Monday night I watched four episodes. I ended up watching a total of four new episodes and eight reruns.

Coming in cold, two things seemed obvious to me. First thing I noticed was that star Alan Alda, who plays Hawkeye Pierce, has turned into a self-indulgent, sloppy performer. Second thing I noticed was that "M-A-S-H" has run out of ideas, run out of jokes, run out of stories, run out of gas.

Mostly, "M-A-S-H" is a vehicle for Alda, who also doubles as creative consultant. That means he does whatever he wants. He has outgrown the character of Hawkeye and now serves up a personality that is part Woody Allen, part Groucho Marx and spiced with dashes of showbiz patter, ham, non sequiturs, cuteness, coyness and sensitivity. Lots of sensitivity.

He hogs the camera, gets all the laughs. He's become TV's Barbra Streisand.

Alda is a reasonably pleasant TV leading man who suffers from the delusion that he need merely sneeze to be profound. The show is living under the same delusion. Most of the time there aren't even any plots, just taking off points for monologues and reminiscences.

In one episode it's raining. ("I don't want to say it's wet out," quips Hawkeye, "but on the way over I saw a duck carrying an umbrella.") Everyone sits around reading letters from fourth-graders and answering them.

Another week it's a heat wave and everyone gets grumpy. "Let's play turkey rousting," snaps Hawkeye to B.J. (Mike Farrell), who keeps turning on the light in the middle of the night. "I lie here roasting and you keep turning on the light to see if I'm done."

If a sitcom starts hanging its stories on the weather you know it's wearing thin.

One show I saw was an entire monologue for Alda. His jeep hits a mine, he has a concussion and spends the episode with a Korean family who don't understand a word of English. He tells them a story about vomiting on someone's shoes in college, sings "I'm A Yankee Doodle Dandy" substituting the word "herring" for "dandy," romances an ox and imitates Olivier in "Richard III." For 30 minutes.

The only episode I saw that lived up to "M-A-S-H's" reputation didn't feature Alda. A coincidence? Charles Winchester (David Ogden Stiers) just eludes being shot by a sniper and becomes introspective because of it, starts interviewing dying patients to ask them what it feels like. The gang gets worried about him. Ultimately, faced with a roomful of wounded soldiers who need a doctor, he pulls out of it.

This was good ensemble situation comedy — funny, sad. And Stiers is a solid performer. So are Mike Farrell and Harry Morgan, who plays Colonel Potter. Personally, I've never had much use for Jamie Farr, who plays Klinger, or Loretta Switt, who is Hot Lips.

So I guess I'm still not a "M-A-S-H" fan. It seems like the only way you can be one is if you think Alan Alda is a genius. I just think he's out of control.

Cosby Doesn't Want 6

NEW YORK — Tony Orlando, who is subbing for the vacationing Jim Dale in "Barnum," is starring on Broadway just 19 blocks away from the ghetto street where he was born. A fairy tale, right?... Comic Morey Amsterdam is about to produce a movie entitled "The Man Who Made Lincoln Laugh." It's about a comic of the day who broke up old Abe. Maybe it was old Morey... Come '82 Telly Savalas will produce and star in "Freedom or Death." Telly's got an itch to get behind the camera and he's determined to begin scratching it next year.

Now, about Dolly Parton. The Riviera Hotel in Vegas is unloading its highest salary ever for her: $350,000 per week! From Dolly herself: "I need a lot of money because you can't imagine how expensive industrial bras are!" When we met she was wearing a sequin gown so tight that it would have had to wear out from the inside. I asked her if she eats before a show. Giggled Dolly: "Honey, ah ain't never missed a meal in mah life!"

From Bill Cosby: "Raising children is tough nowadays. I know because I've got five kids. You know why I've got five kids? Because I don't want six!"... Is Lucille Ball writing her autobiography?... The two Desis — Desi Arnaz Sr. and the papa, Desi Arnaz Sr. — waltzed through a hotel lobby together. Everybody mobbed Junior... Tom Jones has a set pattern: He has dinner about 2 a.m. after his performance, bakes in a sauna until about 7, calls it a night around 10 a.m. and wakes up daily at the crack of 5 p.m.

Baseball's Lost Innocence

Bouton Says We're Better Off For It

NEW YORK (NEA) — The Yankees still haven't invited Bulldog Bouton back for an Oldtimer's Day ceremony. And he's not holding his breath. "I'll never be forgiven for what I did," he believes.

It's been 12 years since Jim Bouton wrote "Ball Four," his hilarious first-person account of major league baseball that was just a tad different from what fans were used to reading on the sports pages then. Twelve years since he was branded a "leper."

Stein & Day has released the book under the title "Ball Four Plus Ball Five." Bouton has added new chapters on his varied media career since publication of "Ball Four" — from New York TV sportscaster, to co-star of the movie "The Long Goodbye," to the disastrous TV sitcom version of his book, to his comeback in 1978 as a 39-year-old knuckleballer for the Atlanta Braves.

"Ball Four" is well worth re-reading. It's a landmark in sports journalism. Bouton shattered our illusion of the sports hero by revealing — in all those memorable anecdotes — that many were boozers, womanizers, peeping toms and, well, not very bright guys. Or nice.

Jim "Bulldog" Bouton: "They're not supermen. It's wrong to idolize mediocre people who happen to have a singular skill."

Who could ever feel the same way about Mickey Mantle after Bouton revealed that a club-house man had to forge Mantle's autograph on the Yankee souvenir baseball because Mantle refused to do it himself.

"At the time I had no intention of destroying heroes or de-mythologizing athletes," recalls Bouton, who at 42 is a lot slimmer than when he earned the nickname Bulldog. "I just wanted to write accurately about a group of funny, interesting guys. Now, looking back, I think we're better off for it. The milk and cookies image wasn't true. They're not supermen. It's wrong to idolize mediocre people who happen to have a singular skill."

We lost our innocence after "Ball Four" came out. So did baseball. It's less of a game now, more of a business. Today's fan pays as much attention to how much Dave Winfield makes per game in a Yankee uniform ($10,000) as to who's on first.

On May 29 the players may strike over the issue of owner compensation for free agents.

the players. Why should they give up rights or freedoms to help the owners out? But I think it's time for a different perspective. We should ask ourselves whether any of them — players or owners — should make that kind of money. We should ask ourselves what responsibility they have to the fans and to the taxpayers who build those stadiums and foot the bill for those sweetheart leases.

"The money players get is outrageous for what they do. They don't deserve it based on the contribution they make to society. Policemen, firemen, school teachers deserve it. But we don't pay people for what they contribute. We pay for their commercial worth."

Strange talk from a man whose blasts at owners in "Ball Four" helped bring about the free agency revolution? He thinks not. "The pendulum has swung back," he says. "The system used to be unfair to the player. Now it's unfair to the fan."

Happily re-married, Bouton lives in New Jersey and remains busy on the lecture circuit. His comeback with Atlanta in '78 was blasted by many baseball people as a stunt to collect material for another book. He now calls it a mid-life crisis.

"It's clearer to me now than it was then. I think I needed to get away from home. I was restless. I was looking for the peace and simplicity of baseball. In baseball there's nobody to blame but yourself. You know instantly whether you've had a good day or not. The clarity of it tugs at you." Does that mean he's bitter that the Yanks haven't invited him back?

"It's crazy," he says. "Mickey Mantle has gone on to beer drinking fame. He brags in TV commercials that he can't make up his mind what beer he likes best. Whitey Ford bragged in his own book about how he used to scuff up the baseball. But I don't resent it at all. It underlies what I said about the baseball establishment in 'Ball Four.' It's a commentary, much better than anything I could say myself."

Sarah Bernhardt: One Of America's Favorites

Sarah Bernhardt, the legendary French actress whose stage presence and exotic personality bewitched turn-of-the-century America, is recreated by Lilli Palmer in an adaptation of Ruth Wolff's stage play, "Sarah in America," to air Wednesday, on PBS.

It is not possible to pinpoint when Rosine Bernard, an illegitimate child born in Paris on Oct. 23, 1844, became the legendary Sarah Bernhardt, "the most famous French woman since Joan of Arc." But by the time the transformation had taken place, "the Divine Sarah" was a force to be reckoned with — bright, vain, wild, impetuous and generous.

Beginning in 1880 (and ending in 1918), Bernhardt made nine tours of the United States, traveling from north to south and from coast to coast. She was paid in gold and reportedly earned close to $9,000,000 during her long career — but she always seemed in need of money.

Ms. Wolff notes that "We all know Sarah Bernhardt, but perhaps we don't realize that the reason she is so famous to us is because she spent a goodly portion of her adult life in this country.

"She saw more of this country than most Americans," says Ms. Wolff. "It is astonishing to discover in how many by-ways, how many forgotten towns, it is still said, 'Sarah Bernhardt played here.'"

Miss Bernhardt also performed in theaters across Europe, Russia, South America, Africa, Australia, almost always to acclaim. "I should be the one to bow," so gallantly remarked the czar in St. Petersburg when Lilli Palmer as Sarah Bernhardt.

Bernhardt curtsied before him.

She could be, and enjoyed being, a prima donna. She also had unfailing willpower. Ms. Wolff says, "In our absorption with the histrionic oddity, we often forget the woman who was driven by creative fire, the indefatigable worker, the human being."

Miss Bernhardt preferred soliloquies with emotional soliloquies and extended death scenes. Even when her acting style had become outdated, she managed to move and impress a new generation by the extraordinary force of her portrayals.

She was brought up in a convent, and once aspired to be a nun. At 16, she began her training as an actress with the Paris Conservatoire. In 1862, at 18, she made her debut with the Comedie Francaise, but resigned a year later rather than apologize for an incident of insubordination.

In 1864, she gave birth to an illegitimate son, Maurice, whose father was prince Henri de Ligne. (Maurice eventually would manage Miss Bernhardt's own theater in Paris in the 1890s.) In 1883, she married a Greek aristocrat, Jacques Aristide Damala, but they were legally separated one year later. Though she had numerous relationships with men, she preferred to be free.

Miss Bernhardt's knee, which was injured in 1905, plagued her for 10 years before her leg was amputated in 1915. In 1912, she appeared in the short film, "Queen Elizabeth," making her the first great actress to perform on film. Years earlier, she had recorded her voice on a disc for Thomas Edison.

An indomitable figure who once said, "The secret of my life is will," Miss Bernhardt was shooting scenes for the film "La Voyante" when she died in Paris on March 26, 1923.

True-To-Life TV Characters Affect Real Life

By RUTH THOMPSON
Question: Does art imitate life or does life imitate art?
Answer: In movies and television dramas, if those can be called art (and sometimes they can) it's a two-way street.
 In a tragic true-life court case some years ago, a physician admitted to the mercy killing of a terminally ill woman, whom he had killed after he ran out of ways to ease her pain. This man had decided to become a doctor after reading Lloyd Douglas' novel, "Magnificent Obsession."

(In movie, versions of Doubles' novel, the doctor was played by Robert Taylor and Rock Hudson.)
 There are no studies recorded on whether TV medical series inspire recruitment to medical schools. However, until he became the host of ABC's "Good Morning America," David Hartman was much in demand to address medical society meetings because of his doctor role on "The Bold Ones" and his producer-narrator role on medical documentaries.
 It is certain that the man

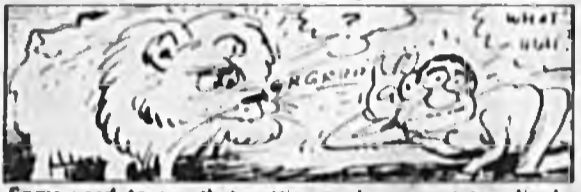

most asked to deliver the commencement address is Alan Alda, who plays the most irreverent of surgeons, Hawkeye, in CBS' "M-A-S-H."
 In his long run as Perry Mason, Raymond Burr also undertook a batch of speeches for lawyer's associations. Later, in his role as the police chief in "Ironside," he was sought to address law enforcement groups.
 Probably no one past or present on the television scene, however, is so closely accepted as "one of us" as is

Robert Walden — the Joe Rossi of CBS' newspaper drama, "Lou Grant."
 The "Lou Grant" series wins wide praise from journalists for its authenticity. All the characters ring true; so why the extra identification with Walden-Rossi?
 Walden muses that maybe it's because Ross is both tense and intense... a dedicated workaholic about his job but flawed, too, to the point where he finds it hard to take criticism.
 There is another point to the authenticity, though, and the journalists know it. Robert Walden can write a news feature as fast and as well as those who have made news reporting their prime careers.
 Pressed to discuss it, Walden, a graduate of City College of New York, says, "I do write. I'm working on a novel now. But I never

ROBERT WALDEN aspired — nor do I now — to be a journalist." However, when asked — and so far half a dozen major papers have asked him to write an article for them usually on their premises — he's sat down to a keyboard and come up with printable pieces.

 "I find it's good for me to take that into my role. For instance, I recreated an experience on the show from my experience at the Washington Post. Then I realized something was missing. In Washington, my shirt was dripping with sweat when I finished and I was running for the antiperspirant. So to make it real on camera, I poured water on my shirt — to convey that this is stress."

Some used to say that putting one's ear next to a lion's ear would cure deafness.

KAZARIAN BEATS THE PRICE!

By STACI BIENVENU
"IF YOU'RE UNDER 25; if you own a van or a pick-up, or if you just need immediate minimum Auto or Truck Insurance coverage—you need to call me."
 Yes, according to Ralph Kazarian, "You may be paying too much for your Auto Insurance..."

Mr. Kazarian is fully aware that we, as drivers, are tired of reading deceptive ads about how we can beat the high cost of our auto insurance, but there is something definite that sets him apart—specialization. He's an unusual man in his line of business, for he is willing to give hard-luck YOUNG DRIVERS a more-than-fair chance on their auto or truck insurance.

"I feel that young people, in many cases, are unjustifiably charged high rates, and I know that many may be short on cash. That's why monthly payments are our specialty. Furthermore, there are a large number of drivers under 25 that are paying high rates due simply to their age; others are penalized because of their personal tastes in automobiles. Finally, customers who need minimum insurance coverage are turned away repeatedly. To overcome these situations is my whole reason for being in business."

Yes, this all sounds quite promising, but just how can Ralph Kazarian afford to offer a truly better price to you and me?

"I've shopped for years to find companies who offer the best possible rates for my particular customers. As a result, I broker business with 30-35 Auto, Truck, Motorcycle, Motor Club, Mobile Home & Motor Home Insurance companies that target their effort to my particular customers. This allows me to give my customers the insurance they need at the price they want to pay."

And Mr. Kazarian has proved himself to be quite successful in his approach. After 15 years in the business, he's established himself as an institution within the auto and truck insurance business in Florida.

To prove his ambition and determination he's opened eleven offices in the last two years in the Central Florida area—in addition to his Orlando office which is located in the Bright-BLUE Building at the corner of Mills and Colonial (898-2454).

There are two additional Ralph Kazarian offices located in the Orlando-Sanford area: Altamonte Springs (834-2454) and Sanford (323-2454).

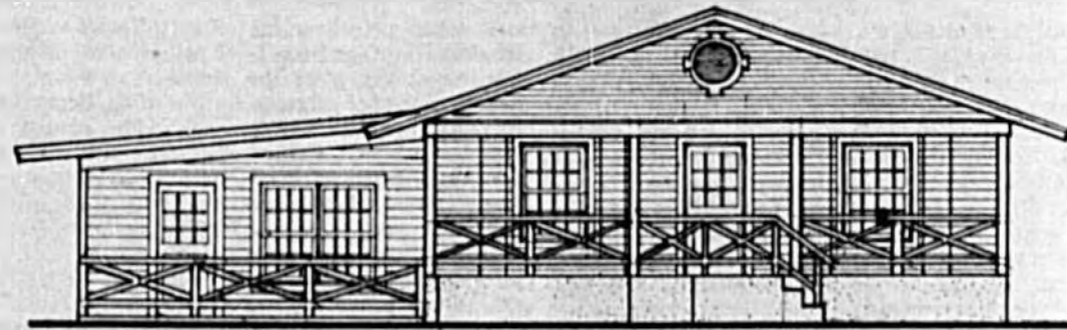

So... if you're really interested in finding out how to get the insurance you need...at the price you want to pay—stop by one of Ralph Kazarian's offices.
