Texas Import Will Be Aid To Uoff Squad

(Editor's note: Squads will play an important role in Florida football fortunes during the 1934 season. This is one in a series of stories on the outstanding sophomore prospects of a 70-man varsity squad, 35 are second-year men.)

(GAINESVILLE.—Tom (Sonny) Langham, an import from the Texas handle state, could be a major surprise to Gator fans and opponents this year. A brief exposure to varsity play last season may provide a nucleus with the experience he needs to come into his own this year.

This big, hard running back from Pecos, Texas, where he attended high school, as a prep athlete Sonny won his spurs in three sports, winning nine varsity letters along the way. The fullback Langham ran from the All-District team last season, was named All-District team member in the All-State football game and was selected to participate in the All-State track meet in his last two years.

A letter-winner for Florida last season, Brody stands 6 feet, two inches, and weighs 215 pounds. As a freshman in 1933, he fulfilled the hopes of Coach Woodruff and his staff when he carried the ball 47 times, averaging 4.4 yards per carry. Most of this yardage was gained where the going was at the absolute roughest, proved somewhat by the fact he had no long runs to rely on. He averaged 15 yards per carry. He played three sports at Miami Jackson, earning ten letters in football, track and basketball.

Was Started 40 Years Ago

LONDON—A page in the history books flipped over this month in Europe.

Just 40 years ago—in the words of a British foreign minister—"The lamps are going out all over Europe."

The anniversary of what became known then as "The Great War" was officially ignored. Most people seemed to have forgotten—or they did not want to remember.

But in the English countryside an old man remembered. Winston Churchill has said over and over again that the last world peace in the last prize he seeks to win. He's still trying. Churchill at 79 is the only top-tier—governmental or military—of those fateful August days still in power. Few others are even still alive.

Forty years ago, as the 39-year-old First Lord of the Admiralty, Churchill won praise for having the Royal Navy already mobilized and at battle stations when Britain went to war with the Kaiser's Germany. Resting at his country home in Kent this week, the same Churchill kept his thoughts to himself—and the world speculating on whether he intends to retire as Prime Minister.

The anniversary of the outbreak of World War I caught attention only in a few reminiscences—and warnings—in the newspapers. European attention was devoted more to the uneasy peace in the world today, and focused on Asia.

The London Evening News, in a commemorative editorial, "Last We Forget," said:

"The forces then mobilized in Europe have never properly stood down. The threat has been there, through 40 years of lost ideals and bitter disillusionment."

And the London Daily Telegraph wrote:

"In August 1914, our country had the opportunity of allowing a Pax Germanica to be imposed on Europe and rejected it. Twenty-five years later the same prospect faced us in an even more ambitious form and was refused."

"It would be an ill day when a Pax Sovietica became the only alternative to another world war and we had to take a similar grim but inevitable decision, even though in company with strong allies."

Germany, beaten in World War I and again in an even greater war—World War II—found itself a divided nation in a divided world. Among the West Germans, allied with the West, the anniversary passed unnoticed. The East Germans, under Soviet dominion, made mention of it either.

France, torn today by suspicion of a recaptured Germany and fear of Communist aggression, was more concerned about straightening out colonial affairs in Indochina, Tunisia and Morocco than anniversaries.

Belgian newspapers carried front-page anniversary stories. There was casual mention on the inside pages of Dutch papers of the flight of the German Kaiser Wilhelm to the Netherlands and his death there in 1941.

For the men near the Kremlin, where the Russian czars once were crowned, August 1914 was the forerunner of another anniversary to them—the revolutionary conversion of all the Russians and more to communism. Moscow radio used the anniversary to assail the Americans, who did not get into World War I until 1917, and accused them of forgetting "the lessons" of the first world war.

W. German Economy Still Booms

West Germany is the biggest creditor while Britain runs a deficit.

Germany's surplus in the EPU passed the one-billion-dollar mark in June.

During the first five months of this year West German industries have produced a surplus worth of goods to billion countries—22 percent more than a year ago. Imports also set a new record of $1,500,000,000 but left a comfortable trade surplus.

The government is moving swiftly to liberalize trade in a bid to stimulate both exports and imports. New tariff reductions will become effective on Sept. 1.

The association for the Promotion of German-American Trade predicts that West German sales in the United States this year will top the 1953 postwar record of 300 million dollars. German exports to the United States have increased five-fold since 1949.

Chief products sold in the United States are precision instruments, optical equipment, fertilizer, scrap metals, steel pipes and machine tools. The Germans buy American wheat, hard coal, tobacco and cotton.

For a nation whose currency was all but worthless six years ago, West Germany now has accumulated gold and dollar reserves of $1,563,000,000 compared with $1,187,000,000 at the end of 1953.

Employment has just passed the 16 million mark. One year ago, 5½ million Germans were employed compared with 14½ million in 1952 and 13½ million in 1949.

Of the industries which have bounced back since the war are motor vehicles, chemicals, electric power, optics, steel and machinery are in the vanguard.

The automobile industry turned out 430,000 vehicles in 1953 to put West Germany in third place in Europe behind Britain and France. Production this year has outdistanced France. The Germans hope to overtake Britain and become the world's biggest motor car producer outside the United States. Plant expansions planned or under way will add a capacity of 300,000 vehicles annually.

With all this, there are some dark spots in the economic picture.

Investment capital is short. Con-

Sheppard Re-Arrested While Eating Cherry Pie At Father's

CLEVELAND—His freedom cut short by a first-degree murder indictment, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was back today in the city's 8th Street jail cell, he occupied from July 30 until Monday morning.

The handsome, 33-year-old osteopath was eating cherry pie in the kitchen of his father's home when sheriff's deputies came to rearrest him. They let him finish eating.

He was there for supper after visiting with his 7-year-old son. The boy has been living with an uncle since the July 4 morning when his mother was clubbed to death in her bed.

The deputies arrived at the senior Sheppard's home an hour after six men and nine women grand jurors returned the indictment charging that the athletic osteopath "unlawfully, purposely and premeditatedly killed Marilyn Sheppard," his 31-year-old pregnant wife.

Sheppard had been free on $50,000 bail for 29 hours. During most of that time, the grand jury listened to a parade of 15 witnesses testifying on the case. They deliberated about 10 minutes.

Common Pleas Judge Arthur H. Day set 9:15 a. m. Friday for the arraignment of Sheppard, who will then enter a plea. Since his first arrest July 30, Sheppard has maintained his innocence and clung to his story that a prosaic kitchen fight and injured him in a fight.

The osteopath and his parents displayed no emotion as handcuffs were clipped over his husky wrists last night.

His mother rushed to fill a tan paper shopping bag with a red sweat shirt, blue hobby trousers and other clothing. She tucked in some oranges and bananas.

Sheppard kissed his mother as they stood in the front hall. His father grasped his hand and said, "Take care of yourself, son."

At the county jail, Sheppard showered, changed clothing and was returned to his old cell on the fourth floor.

Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan, waiting for him, complained that "it was unnecessary to pick him up now," since he was out on bond.

Corrigan, whose petition for bail was Sheppard's release Monday, said he would seek release on bail again at the arraignment.

Susan Hayward Awarded Divorce, Custody Of Sons

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Actress Susan Hayward has a divorce today, along with $1,200,000 in assets and custody of her two sons.

Actress Barbara Barker, the erstwhile husband has the family station wagon.

This was the decree yesterday of Superior Court, where the actress' suit was vigorously opposed by Barker. The trial last June in closed testimony that Barker threw her into the swimming pool at her home, and that Miss Hayward stuck a cigarette in his eye.

Barker received the privilege of visiting the 9-year-old sons on alternate weekends. At one point in the litigation he turned over a $100,000 settlement because it would have been paid in $10,000 yearly installments and would look like alimony.

Barker wanted half the community property, but Miss Hayward successfully contended that all this was hers because of a prenuptial agreement permitting her to keep all she earned after their marriage in 1941.

The decree ruled to be hers in addition a million-dollar movie contract and $250,000 in cash. Barker's bank account, it was testified, amounted to about $5,000, and in 1952 and 1953 he earned $663 while the actress was earning $73,658.

The source of their marital trouble, Miss Hayward testified, was Barker's refusal to work. He in turn, charged she was an "icy woman" and "an absentee mother."

Baruch Proves Capable Navigator

BROOKVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch, who will be 84 tomorrow, proved to be a sharp-eyed navigator yesterday during his first helicopter ride on a $100,000 contract to ferry the 101st Airborne Division from Laguna Airport to the Long Island estate of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt for a party opening a hospital benefit drive by the Long Island Industry Fund.

The pilot had trouble spotting the Vanderbilt estate, however, and circled the area.

Then Baruch recognized his own home below and guided the pilot to the Vanderbilt house five miles away.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Stanton Babcock, 59-year-old veteran of war in the Pacific and diplomacy in the United Nations, moved into the No. 3 post of the permanent U.S. delegation to the U. N. today.

Chief Delegate Honore Cabot Lodge Jr. named Babcock to succeed John C. Ross, member of the American delegation since 1946. Ross resigned, Lodge said, because of urgent family and personal reasons but agreed to stay on until Oct. 15 as a delegation consultant.

Senators Agree On Congress Not to Funding

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two veteran legislators, Republican Sen. Millikin of Colorado and Sen. Mansfield of Montana, a Democrat, said today there is no doubt about it—the 83rd Congress has been anything but "do-nothing."

Millikin, chairman of the GOP conference, said in an interview: "There's no question about it, we've put through an amazing amount of legislation. And don't think the people won't be aware of it when they start comparing the campaign promises of Gen. Eisenhower with the performance of this Republican Congress."

Mansfield, questioned separately, said: "No, this certainly has been no do-nothing Congress." But much of the work accomplished, he said, has "not been in the interests of the people."

Millikin and Mansfield spoke out after both houses of Congress, with an eye to going home by the end of the week, put on another demonstration yesterday of how they can speed through legislation when they want to.

The House lost little time on a compromise farm bill, sending it to the Senate 288-47 despite some last-ditch cries that it would do the farmer no good. The Senate got into more debate, but wound up forwarding the measure to the White House for signing on a 41-26 post-midnight roll call that routed a number of senators out of bed.

The legislation, a major item in President Eisenhower's program, carries out in modified form his request for flexible federal price supports on major crops and makes other important changes in the farm law.

Also speeded to the President, by voice vote in the House, was the compromise atomic energy bill he asked to allow private industry into the atomic energy field and to permit a limited exchange of nuclear information with America's allies. The compromise included a provision for compulsory sharing of private atomic patents for five years that the Senate had insisted on.

COMBINATION COMMUNIST BAN

Yangtze Flood At Record High

TOKYO (AP)—The rampaging Yangtze River swelled to another new record high at 5 p.m. yesterday, Peiping radio reported today.

The river, which apparently ran wild through central China hit 29.7 meters (97.44 feet) yesterday at Wahan, a tricity industrial complex at the junction of the Yangtze and Han rivers, Peiping said.

Peiping claimed the "dike" for work guarding (Wuhan) is standing firm.

This report contrasted with those of China travelers who observed apparently the Yangtze for hundreds of thousands of square miles in its worst flood at record history.

Baseball Formula

Branch Rickey, who is acknowledged in baseball circles as an expert, recently stirred up discussion with an article he wrote for Life Magazine. Rickey is general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. His article cited a formula Rickey worked out with the aid of statisticians, to measure why one baseball team wins and why another does not. He also presented a formula for measuring the worth of batters and pitchers.

Rickey admits that it will be a long time before club owners and managers will agree that his formulas work or that they can be used to evaluate players. He concedes that there are factors that statistics cannot measure—such as individual courage, player personality, determination, and aggressiveness.

It would be easy to ridicule Rickey's idea. But in recent years baseball has become more a game of skill and science and less a game of sheer power and physical prowess. While it is not likely that the painstaking statistics he compiled and the formulas he propounded will affect the game immediately, it is certain that baseball experts will study them to see what use can be made of them. Baseball does not make changes readily but it has grown to be too big a business to turn down any suggestion for improving itself without consideration.

Red Athletic Program

There is speculation that the next Olympic games may see Russian athletes scoring more triumphs in individual events than they have ever scored before.

The reason for this is the government of Russia has been putting more and more emphasis on athletics. Individual athletes are trained at government expense, and pampered, fed, clothed, housed and coached under official supervision. Athletes have moved into the "upper classes" as far as income and privileges are concerned.

Russia wants victories. It wants its athletes to surpass the West's for propaganda purposes. Observers report amazing progress in training specialists in various sports. Experts believe that unless the West

And he went out and wept bitterly.—Matt. 26:75. Peter was a shambling changeable weakling but Christ knew how to make him a firm rock. That was a miracle far greater than miracles of healing the body. Did he mean to teach that no man is a hopeless failure?

While Senator McCarthy may have the spotlight when it comes to fighting Reds on a national scale, folks on Florida's rapidly growing West Coast are more concerned right now with another "red" problem that threatens the area's future growth and prosperity.

The red menace is nothing new. For a matter of over a hundred years, a mysterious "Red Tide" has appeared periodically in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico, that has killed fish by the millions, hurt tourist business and brought staggering losses to commercial fishermen and charter boat operators.

The red tide is caused by an organism known as Gymnodinium aureolum, believed to be present at all times in these waters and ordinarily harmless. For some reason not explained, these tiny organisms multiply so rapidly they impart to the water a reddish tint sometimes reaching a density of sixty million organisms to a quart of water. When this happens fish of every description are killed by the millions, and thousands wash ashore where they must be quickly disposed of.

Thanks to the efforts of Florida's congressional delegation, particularly George Smathers, Congressman Courtney Campbell, Congress has voted $3,000,000 to help fight the plague.

Working on the problem are the largest naval installation in the U. S., Public Health Service, Florida State Conservation Department and scientists of the Marine Laboratory of the University of Miami and the University of Florida.

BEEF—Cattle prices were high for a period of time and many tried to get into the act and beef production was on the increase. Supply reached a peak, prices began to tumble and dropped so low that the cattle-men old and new lost money. This situation was nation wide.

Signs indicate that Florida's cattle industry is making adjustments. Cattlemen are working harder than ever to produce more feed, to provide more winter feed, to improve their animals by breeding, feeding, and other practices, to hold their production costs low. They are more determined than ever to produce high quality beef.

Base's Centennial Being Observed
VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—Did you ever hear of a community raising $200,000 to throw a birthday party for a naval shipyard?

It is a bit unusual. But the citizens here have chipped in that amount to celebrate next month the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Mare Island Naval Base by brigadier David G. Farragut, later to become America's first admiral.

The long, low island at the northern end of San Francisco Bay had been bought by the Navy for $43,000, and was the first link in its chain of defenses of the Pacific Coast.

But Mare Island—named after a lady horse that fell off a haystack and swam ashore—has produced many another hero since Farragut in the last 100 years. Through five wars it has built 600 naval vessels, repaired thousands of others, served for a century as a major base of America's sea might.

It is to be hoped that our government will never set out to prove American athletes are the best in the world. Of course we take pride in the accomplishments of American teams and individuals. But we do not want to see the purpose of amateur sports perverted in a contest with Communism.

Italian Sea Queen
New York recently gave an appropriate welcome to the liner Cristoforo Colombo, Italy's newest quiet of the seas. Helicopters, freighters, passing harbor boats, and other liners greeted the ship which symbolizes the progress made by Italy in the maritime business since the end of World War II.

Descriptions of the furnishings of the ship emphasize the luxury and beauty and craftsmanship that went into its construction. Italy's leading naval architects, artists and sculptors had a part in it. Decorations are on the Christopher Columbus motif—the coat of arms of the great discoverer, paintings of scenes in his native Genoa and of souvenirs he brought back from his first journey to America add interest and beauty.

The Eisenhower Administration really is making amazing progress in getting its legislative program through Congress.

Don't believe for a minute the unpopularity claims of New Dealers. The real reason for the present Congress is that this is a do-nothing Congress. That is just plain propaganda intended to discredit Congress, a few major pieces of legislation with respect to the regular appropriation bills.

WASHINGTON (AP)—At this moment it's the uncertainty which is the most distinguished feature of the maneuvers to produce, or not to produce, a law banning the Communist party.

Congress hasn't passed such an act yet. The uncertainty extends in three directions:

(1) Whether Congress, anxious to get home this week, will actually approve such a measure; (2) whether President Eisenhower would let it become law; and (3) what effect it would have if it came law.

America by 1975 will use almost the quantity of minerals it is using this year. Demand for minerals as a whole may rise 90 per cent. Demand for iron, copper, lead and zinc might rise 40 to 80 per cent in the next quarter century.

The National Association of Manufacturers cites figures from the resident's Materials Policy Commission of June, 1952, to emphasize the great growth that lies ahead of us.

It shows that beyond the rise in demand for lead, zinc, copper and iron, there might be a 300 per cent increase in use of fluorapatite, 100 per cent increase in use of aluminum, and 1800-2400 per cent increase in use of magnesium.

Lakeland Leads FSL By 2 Games After Twin Kills

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Lakeland scored two games out front in the Florida State League pennant race last night by sweeping a doubleheader from Deland 6-0 and 6-3.

Ranney Handle singled in the winning run in the opener. In the tightest of the night, who now have won six straight, led the issue with four runs in the third inning. Lakeland's Herm Niehaus ran his home run total to 21 with circuit blows in both games.

The pitching decisions went to reliever Bill Boyette, in the first game, and Dick Donnelly who tossed an eight-hitter.

Third place Deland snapped a four-game losing streak with an 11-8 victory over Jacksonville Beach. Lou Teti, the winner, had a shutout until the ninth but was shelled from the mound by a seven-hit Sea Bird barrage good for eight runs. Leo Simard saved the situation.

Jim Davis pitched Daytona Beach to a 4-3 victory over Cocoa in the second inning tripled in what proved to be the decisive run.

Illegal Devices Used In Fishing Told By Director

TALLAHASSEE—The fact that the use or possession of telephone devices, magnets, generators, or any other type electric equipment capable of taking, stunning, or shocking fresh water fish is illegal in or upon the fresh waters of the state was pointed out today by C. W. Packer, director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

The possession or use of dynamite, traps, rigs, nets, seines, barrels, spears, strainers or any other device except hook and line, rod and reel, bob, spinner, troll, or trot line or artificial bait is also prohibited in or upon the fresh waters of Florida, unless specifically permitted by the commission upon permit issued by the director.

Packer emphasized the fact that heretofore it was only the use of the above named devices that was illegal but the regulations have been changed to include possession in or upon the waters of the state, as well as the use of this type equipment in Florida's fresh waters.

Boston Outfielder Injures Arm

BOSTON—Boston Red Sox outfielder Jimmy Pierall hustled back from Washington today for examination of his throwing arm, apparently injured by a blow to the plate in Monday night's exhibition game with the New York Giants.

He said, "I don't know what it is, but it feels that I've pulled something. I couldn't throw the ball across a room."

29 Americans In 3rd Round Of Golf Classic

LONDON, Ont.—Dale Morey was unimpressed. Dynamic Billy Goodloe refused to be rattled.

As a result, Goodloe, the Valdosta, Ga., roundman, was still in the Canadian Amateur golf championship today while Morey, Indianapolis veteran, watched from the sidelines, victim of a big upset.

Morey fell before Garth Simonson, a slow-playing civil engineer from Stratford, Ont., in yesterday's second round. The score was 4 and 2.

Goodloe, meanwhile, was unperurbed by a costly error made by his caddy and defeated Howie Johnson of Houston, Tex., 1 up.

Goodloe held a 1-up lead going to the 16th hole. But he lost it by putting green by removing the pin then putting the grass down again.

"The incident didn't upset me a bit," he said, and went on to prove it by winning the 17th and having the 18th.

Twenty-nine Americans headed by defending champion Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., shot past the second round. They will try to survive two elimination rounds today, when the field will be cut from 64 to 16.

Advancing with Cherry were Campbell; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City; Bruce Coid of Portland, Ore.; and Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga. Harvey Ward of San Francisco, moved by default.

Lower Leagues Produce Talent In Unusual Amount For Majors

By FRANK ECK
One of the remarkable things about the 1934 baseball season is the unusual rookie crop. Time was when a minor league hot shot had to pass many scrutinizing eyes in AAA ball before he was brought to the big time.

Things have changed in this era of the lively ball and the battle for fan patronage. Today the player in Class A ball appears to be getting a better break than ever. Some players from even lower leagues get a chance to make the grade.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees may have hit the nail on the head when he said:

"Sometimes a good way to find out if a kid can swim is to pitch him off the dock. Of course, you take some chance on the lad drowning. But with a life-saving crew in the bullpen it's an interesting experiment."

Stengel said this back in April while talking about Bob Grim, the 24-year-old Brooklyn-born right hander who impressed in spring training.

Today Grim is the leading Yankee pitcher, having shown 15 victories in his first 19 decisions. Last season he toiled at Binghamton in the Eastern League. He is one of the many Class A boys who have graduated with flying colors.

Others who have made a similar jump this season are:

- Jack Shepard and Curt Roberts, both from Denver to Pittsburgh.
- Frank Sullivan, Albany to Boston.
- Tom Fligan, Binghamton to Philadelphia A's.
- Dan Schell, Shenectady to Philadelphia A's.
- Henry Aaron, Jacksonville to Milwaukee.
- Aron, Shepard and Roberts are like Grim. They were added just before the season started. Their managers wanted to make certain.
- Aron got his chance when Bob Thomson broke his ankle. He now bats fourth for the Braves.
- He has been one of the hitters responsible for their August surge.
- Finigan was tracked third among the A's third basemen last March but Manager Eddie Joost now rates him No. 1 and a 300 hitter.
- Schell was regarded as "a year away" but when the Phillies slumped, Danny got his chance.
- He delivered while batting third.
- Tom Brewer, 22, has made the grade with the Red Sox after two years pitching in the Army. At 11-Tom, N. C., in 1931 he was 19-0. Ernie Banks of the Cubs came Olson's training camp here yesterday and brought Bebe here for a brisk 10-round workout in Newman's Gym.

Castellani, remaining at his Bermuda Palms training quarters in San Rafael, worked the last four of 153 rounds he has boxed since July 14.

Meanwhile, Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, visited the Castellani camp and said he was pleased with the setup for the fight. He expressed hope the gate for the televised bout would exceed $200,000.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Franchot Tone's attorneys say he has settled the fight he won the girl—at least temporarily. Tone later divorced her and she renewed her interest in Neal.

Tone's suit contended his injuries were covered by his $109,000 Lloyd's policy. But the insurance company maintained—Tone's attorneys contend—Tone's injuries were caused by his own negligence. Tone went to the hospital for repairs to his face, but it is lost of intoxication.

Children's Group Aids 613 Young In Half Of Year

Six hundred and thirteen different children were served by the Children's Home Society of Florida in the first six months of this year, according to a report issued today by Fontaine LeMaistre, Jacksonville, president.

The complete report of the six months indicated the following services provided by the society: 613 different children under care and supervision.

79 children placed in adoptive homes.

77 adoptions of previously placed children completed.

150 prospective mothers assisted.

725 visits made to own parents or relatives.

185 court hearings attended.

423 office interviews held.

110 visits to prospective adoptive homes.

202 visits to references.

285 homes awaiting study at June 30, 1951.

78 approved homes on June 30 awaiting children.

300 visits to children placed in adoptive homes.

180 different children in receiving homes.

18413 aggregate days in receiving homes.

14921 aggregate days in board ing homes.

431 physical examinations.

1011 visits to children in board ing homes.

433 visits to children in receiving homes.

Because much of the financing of the society has been from will bequests, which of course are un- foreseen, and in recent years smaller in volume, there has been a temporary period of deficit financing. In the first six months of this year this deficit was about $20,000 but indications for the fu- ture are optimistic.

society has closed its receiving home there, and the property is now used for temporary care in emergencies by other organiza- tions.

at six months point to operation practically in the black through a reorganization process that has been going on.

"If the work of the society is to continue on its established mag- nificent scale yearly contributions will have to be enlarged so that they, coupled with the results of will bequests, can provide the funds to cope with the constantly increasing demands being made on the Society," according to the president. "Many more couples in the state seek to adopt children than are available or can be seen to be available in the foreseeable future. Fortunately, however, children in need of such care are being helped, and that is the primary reason for the existence of the Society—to help every child in the state that has need of its services."

Bride Selling Poses Problem

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The centuries-old practice of a tiny Albanian minority in Yugo- slavian—selling girl brides—poses the government one of its toughest social problems.

President Tito's Communist re- gime has been trying, principally through education and propaganda, to stamp out the practice, but it is slow business.

The difficulty was pointed up recently in a report from the district of Oravac in the southern Yugo- slav province of Kosmet. Young girls still are being sold to hus- bands there for as much as 300,000 dinars ($1,000). Even worse, said the report, greedy fathers are sell- ing their daughters in old men who can pay the highest prices.

Bride selling is a custom of Moslem Sciptays (Albanians), a custom as old as the opposite prac- tice of a girl taking a dowry to her husband. To this day many young Sciptays leave their native villages to find jobs in more re- warding areas. Often they even go abroad. They live frugally, save their money and then go home to buy a local girl as a wife.

The report on the present situa- tion said that in recent months fathers in the district sold 45 girls

Red China Cruiser Reported In Port

HONG KONG (AP)—Independent Chinese reports published here to- day said Red China's only cruiser, the Chungking, has been recon- structed and returned and is now in the north Chia harbor of Tsing- tau.

The report aroused unusual in- terest because of Peiping's current campaign of threats to invade For- mosa.

Formerly the British light cruiser Aurora, the Chungking was ply- ing to the Chinese Nationalists after World War II.

Her crew defected to the Reds from the Shanghai anchorage in 1949 but Nationalist bombers sank the ship at a mooring in Hulutan harbor, Manchuria. Recently there have been reports that the Commu- nists refloated her and took her to Port Arthur for refitting and rearming by the Russians.

In estimating distances, the Chinese once used a double scale of mileage. One was for "uphill miles" the other for the shorter "downhill miles."

NO DOGS' LIFE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—"Buster" the Dalmatian dog who tried out as mascot with the fire department sits forlornly in the humane society's shelter, a victim of technological unemployment.

It isn't Buster's fault. Firemen said he qualified for the job. He even hopped up into the seat of the aerial ladder truck when the fire bell rang.

But then firemen looked around them. The department wasn't right for Buster. Brick and pa- vement completely surrounded the downtown station. "Not even a place to bury a bone," they said as they bid Buster goodbye.

In estimating distances, the Chinese once used a double scale of mileage. One was for "uphill miles" the other for the shorter "downhill miles."

Nurse Lady

By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN
CYNTHIA shut the door to Wait's office before he could charge his mind. She hung her nurse's cape around her, got her purse. She would surprise him. She would bring back a hot sandwich, roast beef or barbecue. He would eat it. She would see to it that he did it. It was up to her to lock after him, not only as his assistant nurse, but because she was the man she probably would have to look after the rest of her life.

Besides the cold herself, as she hurried back, bearing her purchases carefully on a tray, she wanted to put Wait in a good frame of mind before Norman's mother arrived for that interview. She wanted him to make some attempt at being gracious and appreciative.

If only she thought, he would put his best foot forward and do some. And again she wondered as she opened the door into his private sanctum once more, if she would have to keep endeavoring to get him to do this for the rest of her natural life.

Summed up thus, it loomed as a rather forbidding prospect.

"Here we are!" She assumed a cheerful expression. She set the tray down on his desk, almost on a pile of papers, with a flourish. She whipped off the snowy-white napkin. "Now there, doesn't that look tempting? And I brought hot cups and saucers, too, didn't I? We can have lunch together."

She felt somewhat as she did when trying to persuade one of the children to try something difficult that would benefit them. Well, in a way, Wait was nothing but a child. Most men were.

"Hum... Well, I must say it looks rather tempting. He took time to remove the papers to a safe distance. He raised a little, leaning back in his swivel chair. He watched Cynthia as she poured the steaming, fragrant coffee.

He had not commented on her bearing his lunch, nor had he invited her to sit down. But she did. She even pulled the extra straight-backed chair, reserved for those who came to see Dr. Bellars professionally, closer. She gave him her warmest smile, although she said she did not feel very happy.

"I knew it would taste good," she told him. "It will be good for you, too, Wait. And I hope it will put you in a good humor."

"What do you mean by that?" He put down his cup and looked at her as though he really did not know.

"I mean that I want you to try to be as courteous and as charming as you can, Wait, to Miss Brandt."

"Oh. So you want me to play the little gentleman?"

"You know I don't mean that."

"I understand. So you need not be so concerned. I suppose it is because she happens to be related to that Brandt fellow... Through I can't for the life of me see why."

FP&L Authorizes New Generator For Palatka Plant Site

Florida Power and Light company directors today authorized construction of a new generator at the Palatka power plant of a 90,000 kilowatt generator.

Originally planned as a part of the FP&L's current $332 million, 10-year expansion program, authorization to proceed with construction of the huge boiler, generator and other equipment was given after the directors reviewed Florida's growth trends and engineering estimates.

"Florida is continuing to grow even faster than we had anticipated," said Robert H. Fife, president and general manager. "Although the Palatka plant is comparatively new, having been completed just three years ago, the population growth and expanding business and industrial activity in the northern part of the state indicates that we should now more than triple its original capability."

FP&L already has two big plant additions underway in south Florida—a new 90,000 kilowatt generator scheduled for completion at Cutler this fall and another 135,000 kilowatt unit underway at Cutler for completion next year.

"We expect to start construction at the Palatka plant very soon," Fife said, "and will push construction so that the new generator will be in operation by the fall of 1954."

"Our expansion is pacing Florida's rapid growth," he said. "In his third year of our 10-year, long range program, we are running $10 million ahead of original estimates."

News of Men In Service

Word has been received that Pfc. Ronald Hold has arrived in Iceland, and is scheduled to remain there for one year serving with the U. S. Army. Pfc. Hold, a 1953 graduate of Seminole High School, left the United States the latter part of July.

As a member of the 82nd, he will make periodic parachute jumps, receive advanced training in military tactics and participate in the training exercises and maneuvers held by the division throughout the year.

Pfc. Cobb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Cobb of Rt. 1. He entered the Army in August of 1953 and received his basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C. He has completed five jumps and has been awarded the Parachutist Badge and Good Conduct Ribbon.

Prior to entering the Armed Forces he attended Seminole High School and was employed by the Western Electric Co.

Holy See Permits English In Rites

MILWAUKEE—Archbishop Albert G. Meyer of Milwaukee told the National Catholic Liturgical Conference recently that the Holy See has granted permission for the English language to be used instead of Latin in certain Catholic ceremonies and blessings in this country.

Archbishop Meyer said he was authorized to announce English could henceforth be used in the sacraments of baptism, marriage and extreme unction and some 25 other ceremonies and blessings. The permission does not extend to the mass, he said.

Number Of 'Soft' Posts Small Among 2,500 Working In FOA

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Some 2,500 men and women of the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA) are fighting this battle in 50 countries of the free world. Their casualty list is long.

FOA is the major channel through which the United States sends dollars, food, equipment, know-how and skilled Americans to the needy peoples and nations of the world.

Life for these men in some countries means ease, exciting scenery, splendid living—and at times too much work to enjoy such advantages.

But for most, living conditions are unpleasant, morale-killing or downright dangerous. It is a far cry from the "gray train" life which some critics have depicted.

Depending on experience and knowledge, the pay ranges from $7,000 a year up for technically qualified workers. In addition, they get special allowances which in some countries include a housing allotment, a cost-of-living adjustment, and a "hardship differential" amounting to a maximum of 25 per cent of base salary.

The pay is lower for secretarial, clerical and other less specialized jobs.

The number of "cushion" posts is small—they're mostly in the European countries and some in Latin America, says an FOA official. Even these assignments have their drawbacks: poor housing, high prices, bad health conditions.

Albert A. Gallo, chief of the regional projects office for the Middle East, South Asia and African areas, says jungle life and Americans often can't mix. Tropical diseases and jungle dangers fell a large number of FOA pioneers and "failure to adjust to local conditions" causes "psychic breakdowns" among workers and their families.

Americans must undergo hardships in carrying through the technical cooperation program of FOA

—the sharing of American knowledge and skills. This is done by providing teachers, experts and technicians to work with local populations on agriculture, health, education and other similar projects. FOA has asked Congress for $131,600,000 for next year's program.

Miss Anne Whatley, deputy of the Pakistan-Afghanistan division, recently made a four-month inspection tour of her territory. She tells of American technicians, going 200 miles into the desert to teach villagers how to be healthier, eat better, develop small industries they could carry on in their cottages. The technicians lived in local housing with no bath or flush toilets, ate C-rations, broiled in 116 or 117 degree heat and underwent whiplash sandstorms.

Alan Laffin, a civil engineer by profession and director of the Latin American mission, said Americans at the new FOA mission in Surinam (formerly Dutch Guiana) meet with untamed jungles, isolation, "lots of insects," and scarcity of food.

And with a grin he indicated that astute heart is needed, because—"Occasionally an alligator will fall into your swimming pool."

"Poisonous snakes or boas frequently are found on desktops or making off with dogs."

"Sometimes jaguars get into the outlying district of the city."

All FOA employees are briefed fully before they go overseas or into a foreign land about the rigors and dangers many will face. But still they go. Here are some of the typical reasons:

"Lawrence Myers, back in Washington from Greece: 'FOA people are sincerely concerned with two things: The general policy of strengthening the West against the East and the general humanitarian reason. There is a considerable sense of accomplishment. I think the record is remarkable.'

Carl Olson, assistant director of the Jordan mission: 'The FOA program is one of the vehicles by which I feel I can contribute to the peace of the world.'

Commenting on these "peace crusade" pioneers, FOA Director Harold Stassen says:

"Armed with a textbook, simple tools, or a spray gun to banish malaria, these dedicated men and women are helping greatly in making the true American spirit known to the world. They are helping to lay the foundation for the lasting peace which is the common hope of people everywhere."

Automobiles Are Menace For Middle-Aged People

NEW YORK, N. Y. — The danger of being crippled or killed by a car is actually greater for middle-aged persons than that from such diseases as diabetes or tuberculosis.

Sixty per cent of the automobile accidents to pedestrians happen to persons over 45, according to Sidney Margolius in the September issue of the Journal of Living magazine. Between 45 and 65, you run a 50 per cent greater risk than people aged 25 to 44. And if you are over 65, your chance of being hit by an auto is twice as great.

People who have never driven a car make up 90 per cent of all fatal accidents to adult pedestrians. This, says Margolius, is because they place an unrealistic reliance on the ability of a driver to stop his car quickly.

The most dangerous places for accidents are not in the heavy-traffic areas, but in quiet neighborhoods where you think you are safe and therefore are less careful. The worst time is after 5:00 p. m., because the ability to see well in the dusk or dark deteriorates rapidly after middle age.

To insure your safety as a pedestrian, the Journal of Living article suggests the following:

Always wear something light-colored at night. Light clothing helps a driver see you at twice the distance he would when you wear dark clothes. Even carrying a white handkerchief helps.

Cross only at crossings. Three out of five pedestrian accidents happen in mid-block.

Be especially careful in bad weather. One out of six fatal accidents happen in rain, snow or fog.

Give yourself plenty of free space before crossing roads without traffic lights. It takes a car going 50 miles an hour 220 feet to stop, and 317 feet at 60 miles. Consider 250 feet in both directions as your danger zone.

Regard all drivers as unpredictable! Always act as though it is up to you to save your life as a pedestrian—and you will!
