WINE VERSE FOR TODAY

GREAT POWER FROM GOD
 I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall hurt you.—Luke 10:19.

PRAYER—O Father, help us to find that power by doing those things we fear to attempt.

THOSE WHO ROAR

From The Stratford Magazine) Presidents have not made known how they came to office. The butterfly in sunny hour carrying each seductive flower—Experimental bumble-bee, An oriole above his tree; A moth whose all-consuming aim Was devoured in scorching flame; Whisking the very birth of time, Ambition never used in slime; Abolish crawling, legless things, I want forbearers hoarse winged! —Margaret Lathrop Law.

Believe it or not, Sanford is a city of twenty thousand souls.

To date no City of Sanford has found their way into The Herald's swap column.

The Miami News points out that although the Macdonald ministry was a Labor cabinet, it didn't work.

The Times-Union editor writes laudably on the "Protection For Willa Powel"—particularly wild chickens, he presumes.

The girl of today who is waiting for the perfect man will be the old maid of tomorrow who always looks under her bed.

For a while it seemed that if Mahatma wouldn't go to England, England would have to be brought to Mahatma.

The price of most metals has materially declined but some folks are still holding their brass at a premium.

The Payne Whitney estate increased $3,000,000 between the time of his death and the distribution of his legacies, which shows what a good business man he was.

If those New York kids could read the newspapers and see what is being said about their new names of "cops and gangsters," someone would like to put on the spot. Those kids aren't playing they're serious!

Our unemployment problem will be materially aided next year by the political situation—numerous candidates for office, campaign managers, publicity directors, and all the rest.

California peach growers have agreed to cut out 11,000 acres of peach trees in a drastic effort to help the price. Over-supply is the trouble with the peach market, as it is with cotton, wheat, and most of our industries. It is better to anticipate over-supply and prepare for it in advance, than to wait until it hits you and then destroy 11,000 perfectly good acres of peaches.

In spite of unemployment, Bolshoi propaganda and what not, the people of the United States have plenty of confidence in their government. Secretary Mellon put $500,000,000 worth of 1 1/2 percent long term certificates on the market and in two days time had subscriptions for more than one billion dollars' worth. Deficits are the people realize their government is fundamentally sound, and the condition of Germany, England or other countries.

Writers tell of an old gag by cheap New York news-hounds selling. They rush down a residential section yell "Fire!" It has all the same effect as if one of them dashed down First Street shouting "Fire!"

W. H. Long says the subject has been called many times but he says the subject is too vast to discuss.

Hugh S. Cumming two weeks ago in which President Hoover at his own request was informed that the general health of the nation is satisfactory, in fact, is excellent. Attempting to determine the amount of national charity which will be necessary next winter in order to take care of unemployment problems, President Hoover had asked how the health of the nation in this period of depression compares with that of 1928 and 1929 when practically everyone was well employed.

Among other things the report said: "The general mortality, the infant mortality, the sickness in the country was less in the winter of 1931 than in the winters of full employment of 1928 and 1929. The public health has apparently never been better than it has been over the past six months. It is a most creditable showing of the effort which the country made last winter and one for which the voluntary organizations and local officials are entitled to a very great deal of credit."

The present high degree of public health indicates two very potent factors: first, that the seriousness of the unemployment situation is being materially relieved through the regular charity organizations; second, that, while people worry more during hard times and are apt to make themselves sick, such evil influences are to a large extent counteracted by the fact that in hard times people do not eat too much and that such moderation is more likely to be good for them than the usual inclination to over-eat.

This, at least, is the conclusion the President reaches after reading the report of Dr. Cumming. We hope that the health of the nation can be preserved through another winter and that those who do not starve to death, do not freeze to death either. If not, perhaps next summer their health will still continue good.

Trade Can Be Stimulated

The present need of aggressive salesmanship is lamented by the Manufacturers Record which declares that never before in the history of this country have the American people, particularly the merchants and industrial leaders, had their hard times with such composure and apparent willingness. Sitting still waiting for business to pick up, will not get them anywhere, the Record insists. There is plenty of business for those who go after it. The success of some businesses would seem to indicate.

"Some concerns are getting ahead because they are showing energy and determination in salesmanship," the Record continues. "They have developed new ideas and thus have stimulated trade. The need is for a more progressive sales spirit to overcome the lassitude of the buying public. There is need for directing boards and banking groups in control of great corporations to provide the men on the firing line—executives and managing heads—with the means to promote business."

"This depression differs from those of the past, not alone in its world-wide aspects, but also in the apathy which has been manifested in the let-down of American aggressiveness. A supine attitude will not overcome the evident determination of buyers to purchase nothing until present supplies completely run out, or until positive need drives them into the market. Granted that such a position on the part of buyers is discouraging, it is nevertheless true that their need will be made more apparent and their requirements be more quickly filled if they are urged to buy and shown why they should buy."

"Fortunately for industry, supplies are running low. Shelves in many stores are more nearly bare than for a long time; empty boxes preserve the appearance of real stock. As we approach the Fall season it is timely to speak of the great need of a definite aggressive policy to increase demand. This driving power is essential to the restoration of prosperity."

Co-operating With The Press

Last June most newshawks in Washington were surprised and delighted with the extraordinarily free and frank way in which Acting Secretary of State William Richards Castle kept them posted on the diplomatic negotiations which led up to the acceptance of President Hoover's debt moratorium. Last week the State Department's Correspondents' Association presented him with a silver cigarette box to show their appreciation of his candor. I declared Mr. Castle gratefully:

"I said to the President: The negotiations are going to be very difficult and pretty technical. With your permission, I would like to keep the Press very fully informed." The President said: "Tell them everything. You have carte blanche to keep them fully informed of everything that's going on."

"That I tried awfully hard to do and I must say that all that enormously increased my respect for the Press. Many of the things were very technical and I was terribly shaky on them myself. I tried to express what I thought was true but I must admit I read the press reports the next morning to find out what was true, because you took my rather vague words and interpreted them into what was actually true."—Time.

KARL LEHMANN, who recently resigned as secretary of the Orange county chamber of commerce after nine years of most effective service, has accepted the secretaryship of the Seminole county chamber of commerce, effective September 1. This is one of the best pieces of news to break lately. It was feared that Mr. Lehmann's activities might be moved to another state. Florida's fortunate in this. Seminole county is specially so. There have been many secretaries of chambers of commerce in Florida—some of them good, some indifferent, some downright poor. Karl Lehmann belongs in the first class, with superlative rating. He is a live wire, and knows Florida and really appreciates and loves it. The constructive work he has accomplished during his Orange county connection is beyond valuation.—Tampa Times.

DISADVANTAGES OF THE "DOLE"
 NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

The National Association of Manufacturers made public yesterday a summarized presentation on compulsory non-contributory public unemployment insurance, the result of an analysis of reports, discussions and viewpoints gathered within the last few months from manufacturers, accountants, university professors, financiers, industrial personnel and others who are making a study of the subject.

The association announces that if "does not deny the existence of an unemployment problem; nor if it opposed to unemployment insurance which may be provided

The law made in women's clothing, characterized by naive historical inaccuracies that with opportunity describe a given hat as "Empress Eugenie," "1890" and "First Empire"—all three, when in fact it is not even any one of those—a sudden leap thrust itself into the American scene. And women, apathetic to the historical truth of their attire, but mightily concerned with its looks, are in a great-to-do acquiring hats that aspire with widely varying success to achieve a saucy downward tilt over the right eye.

It is all very thrilling indeed—for women. Men, for a considerable part, are engaged in their traditional role of again inveighing fatuously against this strange side of new feminine apparel. To them it ever has been inexplicable that otherwise generally intelligent creatures should uncomplainingly—nay, even gladly—heeders in far-away Paris. For men the whims and dictates of couturier do not do such things—at least, so hurriedly. So far as clothing is like, it is only the starting link in a contemplated complete scheme of social insurance to be paid for by national and state governments and which ultimately will include insurance for industrial accidents, non-industrial accidents, industrial diseases, ill-health, disability, maternity, old age and death.

2. Successful advocacy of public unemployment insurance will lead inevitably to the establishment of a social security system of public doles.

3. When a nation starts with one kind of public social assistance or contributions or doles, it is difficult, if not impossible, to prevent unwarranted increases in expenditures in the particular field and a wide spread of similar increasing public expenditures in other fields.

4. The experience of foreign countries demonstrates clearly that if one form of public social insurance is obtained, others follow inevitably.

5. It is a presumptuous and prospectively fatal policy to overburden the efficient and self-supporting by reducing their possibilities for bettering themselves, in order to maintain the inefficient and dependent.

6. All large masses of people who have really progressed industrially have done so by practicing the economic virtues of industry, thrift, foresight, economy and mutual helpfulness. This is the economic gospel taught by Benjamin Franklin and all genuine friends of the poor.

7. Laws establishing doles born the public treasury against persons of old age, sickness and unemployment, will almost certainly result in a weakening of incentives to reliability and job-steadiness. The regular receipt of money for which no equivalent in work is rendered makes against everything that is good in the receiver's life; the innate ill of idleness are increased.

8. Claims of the social reformers who advance the "compulsory wage reserve" to correspond with the "dividend reserve," as a means of compulsory public unemployment insurance, are plausible but false. The real desire of the reformers seems to be to use this indirect method to achieve general redistribution of wealth; this aim should be brought out in the open and argued upon its own merits, instead of being camouflaged in the cloak of indirection.

9. Vastly important from the point of national economy is the effect of mounting tax burdens upon the larger accumulations of capital which are necessary to provide for industrial replacements and expansion—if these savings are curtailed then industry will decline and unemployment increase.

EMILY DICKINSON
 Crystal Spirit
 Burning-glass,
 Through whom the rays
 Of living would pass.

Focused to
 One point of night,
 Concentrated
 Intense delight!

Never lonely
 Could you be,
 Garrisoned by Immortality.

Stars like daisies
 And daisies like stars,
 You would pore on
 For calendars.

A yellow moth
 Or insect that hums
 Would chariot you
 To millenniums.

Emilly, Emilly,
 Teach us how you
 Hobbled with wonder;
 How may we, too,

Taste of your glory
 To slip through each sense
 Perpetual rapture
 Of unfulfilled suspense!

BEING CONDUCTED
 Orlando Evangelist Seeking To 'Build Up Kingdom Of Christ'

By R. C. WILLS.
 The entire citizenship of Sanford is cordially invited to the evangelist from Orlando who is preaching straight Gospel messages to profane Christians on the practical ethics of every-day living and exemplifying Christ to a lost world.

This work is inter-denominational in its plans, co-operates with every real true follower of Jesus in trying to rescue the lost and bring them to Christ before it is forever too late. The sole object is the salvation of all men from all sin.

The Rev. E. C. Wills, from Orlando, who is doing the preaching is an ordained elder in the Methodist Church, South, and has had wide experience in pastoral and evangelistic work. He is not here to tear down but to build the kingdom of Christ,—to preach Christ in all His fullness and love to meet the needs of a chaotic world when men's hearts are failing them for fear, looking after the things which are coming on the earth. Thus as the church people are revived and the Holy Ghost works upon the hearts of men, will the work of the church prosper and souls be brought to Jesus.

No wild fire, hot fire, fool's fire or false fire is tolerated upon the altars of the Lord here, but as God's people tarry before God, erect an altar, lay on the offering, does the Holy Ghost come with fire and burning to consume the dross and destroy the work of the devil.

Wednesday evening the Evangelist's text was in Prov. 6:11 to 13. And the theme was "THE TERRIBLE END OF A MIS-SPENT LIFE." He said in part, "Man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever. God never intended man to be miserable but endowed him with intelligence and reason, opened to him resources of happiness and gave him the right to choose good or evil.

"Fatalism is an error dishonorable to God. Universalism is a lie damning to man, and we are responsible for the choice we make. If we pursue the right it leads to happiness and Heaven. If we choose the evil and hold on to it, it leads to misery and perdition. The text contemplates men living in sin. The worldly minded begins with bright hopes but ends in despair. The lustful and licentious abandoned to vice, lost to principle and dying in despair is the victim of remorse too horrible to year City, Spitzbergen, last night quoted Captain Jaeger of the steamship Ingvar as saying he heard radio signals from Sir Hubert Wilkins' Arctic expedition and the smoke of their launch ascends up forever.

"Those who neglect salvation may be rich, moral, cultured, respected, but they cannot escape the damnation of hell without true repentance and restitution, faith and confession to the Lord Jesus Christ.

"Backsliders who have turned from Christ, crucified HIM and put HIM to an open shame as if the death of Pilate and the Jews was not enough, drive again the nails into His hands and feet and thrust the spear into HIS' heart until Calvary's tragedy is enacted over and sin gets in its deadly work.

"Lukewarm professor, you have a name to live but you are dead. You profess to represent Christ but you deny HIM by the way you live. You teach men the way to heaven and then they stumble over you into hell and as a result, the text declares that "THOU SHALT MOURN IN THE LAST DAY." You can all abandon sin if you will and choose Christ and walk with HIM here below and be saved from everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord."

Everybody is cordially invited to attend, help in the singing, pray for a great revival in Sanford and a mighty turning to God. The services begin promptly and Sunday services will be announced in due time.

John A. Swanson, State's attorney of Cook County, Illinois, yesterday asked Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, of Wayne County, for the names of Chicago and Cook County women members of the society as the basis for a check with the missing persons bureau.

Gillis said that when he completes his investigation of the Friendship Society, he will begin an inquiry of the Berry Social Club, also of Detroit, under the instructions issued by Gov. Wilbur M. Bruce yesterday to investigate thoroughly all such organizations.

LARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 2 (A.P.)—A mass of information concerning missing persons in the past of Harry F. Powers was scanned by authorities yesterday while Powers' attorney appeared to defend him on charges of slaying two women and three children.

The officials said they were receiving mail and telegrams from hundreds of persons throughout the United States who have friends or relatives missing. They said they would investigate the cases to determine whether Powers, who corresponded with many women through a matrimonial agency, was responsible for any of the disappearances.

An attorney for the prisoner, accompanied by a physician who examined Powers, spent an hour in the man's cell. The authorities claim they obtained a confession from Powers last Saturday.

Chief of Police C. A. Duckworth said Powers' wife had changed her attitude of faith in her husband's innocence. He quoted her as saying she was "through with Harry Powers—I wouldn't give him turn-of-logs for a hundred million dollars."

The bodies of Mrs. Ahta Eicher and her three children, found near the Quiet Dell garage that Powers built near here, were examined yesterday in Pittsburgh. The ashes were to be sent to their former home in Park Edge, Ill. Charles Flemming of Northburg, Porshy P. Lemko, advised a woman, brother-in-law of Mrs. Eicher, he would leave for Clarksville last night to find his relative's body.

There was no indication when Powers was arraigned on the murder charges.

Canon Repeats That He Never Opposed Probe

(Continued From Page One) ment I made on Aug. 30 that I have never opposed a grand jury investigation if the department of justice decides the law and the facts warrant such a procedure. I insist I have not violated the federal corrupt practices act; first, because the provision in that act concerning the election of presidential electors is unconstitutional, the Supreme Court having decided that presidential electors are state officers and if so, Congress is not empowered to legislate concerning the election of such officers.

"Second, nevertheless, a full report of all money expended by the headquarters committee of anti-Smith Democrats was made by the treasurer to the clerk of the House of Representatives.

"Third, all other money placed in my hands for campaign purposes was expended by me personally in the state of Virginia for the defeat of the Smith Democratic presidential electors.

"Fourth, no proof can be presented that one dollar was expended by the headquarters, or by me personally, for the election or defeat of congressmen or senators.

"Fifth, I did not apply one dollar to personal uses from the campaign funds placed in my hands. The personal notes which it was testified before the committee, I paid in 1928 were paid out of my personal resources, just as I had been paying for many years similar obligations incurred to maintain the Richmond Virginia, our prohibition daily. All campaign contributions deposited in Richmond, and the Blackstone personal accounts, were checked for general and Virginia campaign purposes."

Other Properties Of Flagler Estate Are Not Affected

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 3. (A.P.)—Scott M. Loftin, vice president and one of the receivers of the Florida East Coast Railway company, which Tuesday went into receivership, announced yesterday that other properties of the Flagler estate would not be affected by the order.

Other properties owned by the estate are the Florida Times-Union, Jacksonville, and the St. Augustine Record, St. Augustine, and the Florida east coast hotel chain.

Mr. Loftin and William R. Kenan, Jr., New York, president of the road and co-receiver, qualified yesterday a federal judge here yesterday and posted bonds of $40,000 each as receivers.

Breeder Of Chickens And Pigeons Is Winner Of Many Prizes

Central Florida's champion raiser of squabs, pigeons, and Silver White Wyandotte chickens, J. A. Bistline, pioneer Longwood resident, is still receiving compliments on the comprehensive radio talk he made at Gainesville several days ago in which he described the squab industry, its beginning and its development.

Mr. Bistline, who is nationally known as the breeder of prize winning Silver White Wyandotte chickens which have won prizes at important shows throughout the country, including the annual Madison Square Garden show in New York City, in his radio address, had the following to say concerning the industry:

"The squab industry of Florida was started many years ago, yet for some reason it has not grown to the extent that it deserves. "There were successful squab farms of over 2000 breeders here in Florida more than 25 years ago. I have been operating a squab farm of my own of over 2000 breeders at Longwood for the past 20 years. During that time there have been numerous changes in ways of feeding, kind of feed, and marketing conditions. "The handicap to the pioneer breeders was the marketing. For three or four months during the winter they could find a good market at almost their own price, to the fashionable hotels and clubs. But, they had no market when they will not get the winter price. Do not neglect the grown birds, as birds confined here this to keep them toned up. Feed them greens, such as collards, rape, lettuce, and such vegetables, twice each week, in flypens.

"Squabs are much less work to care for than poultry, as the parent birds build their own nests, hatch and feed their young until market age. Pigeons only lay two eggs at one setting. It takes 17 days to hatch, the male setting in the nest from about 9:00 o'clock in the morning until about 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon, and the female setting the rest of the time.

"The first week they feed the young partly digested food known as pigeon milk. After the first week they feed the whole grain. Male and female both feed the young. After about four weeks they are ready for market, and should be fully feathered at that time.

"In preparing squabs for market they should be taken from the lofts early in the morning before being fed. Killing is done by inserting a sharp knife in the mouth cutting the jugular vein and striking the brain, which causes them to bleed freely, and die quickly. After they are plucked of feathers, they are placed in cold water for from three to five hours. They are then washed clean, and placed on ice until thoroughly chilled, when they are ready for shipment, packed in crushed ice, with the birds packed head downward.

"It is very important that breeders are kept properly tuned, that is, the same number of males as females. If you have an extra male in the pen, he is going to steal some other bird's mate, and thus there is a fight which results in broken eggs, or crushed little we find some divorces, and some bigamists. Whether the pigeons acquire these bad traits from the human race, or the human race from the pigeons, I don't know. But at any rate, they are very much alike in this respect.

"A good breeding pair of pigeons will consume about 100 pounds of feed a year. The large commercial flock of pigeons will produce an average of one dozen squabs per pair, each year. Some individual pairs will produce as many as 18 squabs in a year, but they are very few. With good breeding stock, proper care, and careful marketing, nice profit can be made on breeding squabs for markets in Florida."

In spite of the bad weather conditions the chicken supper given at the Lake Monroe school Friday evening under the auspices of the Athletic club, proved a success. A large crowd of young people and the older folks too, were there to partake of the chicken, rice, salads, pickles, cakes, pies, coffee and other good things so beautifully served later in the evening cakes and pies

"Where have you been all my life?"

When the right one comes along . . .

You wonder why you wasted time on the others! This been-waiting-all-my-life feeling has hit millions of smokers, men and women both . . . when they broke open their first Chesterfield package and caught its more pleasing aroma . . . when they lighted their first Chesterfield and knew, that minute, that it was milder—not sharp or biting.

And after a few puffs, they knew that the taste was better. Here were the cigarettes they had always hoped for, and looked for.

Here were the cigarettes that satisfy! Satisfy—that's the word that "fits."

The right tobacco—the CHESTERFIELD kind of tobacco, Domestic and Turkish—cured and aged, blended and cross-blended in the right way. Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy and that science knows about. The paper is just right. Everything about them is just right. Notice the difference. They Satisfy . . . and—they're milder. Smoke as many as you like!

GOOD . . . they've got to be good!

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

The Glants made a clean sweep of their five game series with the Braves as they stepped out and won a double bill yesterday. Seibold was the victim of the first game which ended 5 to 2 in favor of the Glants. Seibold, while Ray Hubbell, pitching eight hit ball, went all the way for the Glants. Leach and Terry, hitting doubles, each drove in three runs, leading the Glants in their 13-hit attack on the Braves. . . In the second game, Ray Parmelee held the Braves to four hits, beating them 3 to 1. It was his first start for the Glants and he had fine support from his mates, who got nine hits off Zachary and Cunningham.

Believe it or not, the last place Reds whipped the Cubs twice in one day! Johnson stood the Cubs on their heads, holding them to seven hits in the first game which the Reds won, 7 to 4. Hendrick and Durocher led the 12-hit attack on Root, May, and Smith, with Hendrick getting a triple with the bases full in the first, as a thriller. . . The Reds staged rallies in the fifth and sixth to win out 8 to 4 in the second game. Larry Benton was touched for 10 hits, but they were scattered. The Reds got a dozen off Bush, Sweetland, and Welsh, with Durocher again getting three for four, and driving in three runs.

In the American League, the Senators made it two straight from the Athletics when General Alvin Crowder held them to six hits to win 5 to 2. The Sens made only six hits off MacFieff and Earnshaw, but they were all timely, especially homers by Bluege and Manush. The feature of the game was Crowder's pitching. Not a Mack reached second base until the ninth inning. He weakened then, and allowed three hits and two runs.

Babe Ruth's 38th homer of the year aided the Yanks in beating the Red Sox 7 to 6 in a hard fought game. The Yanks got 10 hits, and were led by Jorgens, Ruth and Combs, while the Sox got eight hits, with Warstler, Webb and McManus leading the parade. Rhodes and Andrews did the Yank hurling, while Lisenski and Moore pitched for the Sox. McManus hit a homer too.

The Browns earned an even break in their double bill with the Tigers when Blacholder staved off a ninth inning rally in the second game which almost spelled defeat for the Browns. Sorrell pitched the Tigers to a 7 to 3 victory in the first game, giving up 10 hits. The Tigers got 11 off first and Kinney. Four doubles played an important part in the win. Goslin hit a homer, and two doubles in five trips for the Browns. . . In the second game, Blacholder was nixed for 12 hits, but he got such fine support from the field, that victory remained on

MCLUCAS FINDS TWO PROMISING BOYS IN OUTFIT

Odham And Vincent Seen As Among Most Outstanding Backs

By PETER SCHAAL. Although it is never his policy to indicate just what preferences through practice sessions preparatory to a football season, Coach Leonard McLucas, casting a quick glance among the 50 or more boys assembled at Municipal Park yesterday afternoon in the third workout, found two players who made these two penetrating eyes gleam momentarily, indicating that at least two men were making their mark as prospective members of the team this year.

These two players are Skinny Vincent and H. R. Odham, the first a square shouldered, square-jawed, squarely built machine, hard as nails, and possessing a pair of legs which, from the speed he has already shown in running about the field, indicate that he is to be the fastest man on the squad this year, as well as one of the most powerful. Vincent saw but little service last year, but gave his heart to what he did see. This year, there will be a few players on the entire squad who will have a chance to meet him out of a halfback position, if he keeps on going as he has since Monday.

The second of the two is a tall, lanky, cotton-topped boy with a smile which belies a stern, purposeful, and energetic nature which an observer can see behind his mask of youthful exuberance. Odham had lots of chances last year, and came through in great shape, although he was considerably under weight and no match for the powerful tackling and blocking of some of the teams' opponents. This year Odham declares that, with about 15 more pounds added, he will be hard to stop. He and Vincent ought to make a great pair of halfbacks, for both of them have a speedy, weaving style of running which is unusual for the average high school player.

As Coach McLucas continued his survey of the material he has in hand, he appeared to be interested in the preliminary work of Dub Fitzminger, his lefty, leading candidate for fullback honors; Usher Kanner, the tall center who declares that he will make local football fans forget there was ever such a person as Dan Hansell; the side of the Browns, who made only nine hits off Haggsett, Goslin, Kress and Bettemourt did the heavy hitting for the Browns, in fact, they did all of it.

After the lowly White Sox had beat them 3 to 2 in the first game, the Indians got going and managed to earn a 4 to 4 tie in the second game, which was halted in the sixth on account of darkness. Both Faber and Harder gave up eight hits in the first game. Watwood and Tate did the big hitting for the Sox, but Sullivan's single, scoring Faber in the seventh, gave the Indians the tie score. It was his second hit of the day off Thomas, who gave up nine hits as compared to the seven up by Hudlin.

Girls Diamond Ball Team Will Play Boys

The girls diamond ball team will play the junior boys team tonight on the lake shore front. The boys have one of the best teams of their size in this section of the state, and it will take extraordinary playing on the part of the girls to defeat them. On the other hand it is believed that Sanford has the greatest girls team in the state and will give the boys a battle for supremacy. Anyway you look at it, it will be a good game and worth anyone's time to attend.

A CHALLENGE

"Inasmuch as the Seminole Dry Cleaners Diamond ball team have the second half, and as most of their players leave within the next two weeks for college, the Chase team, winners of the first half hereby challenge the Cleaners to a three-game series to settle the league championship, first game to be played next Tuesday night, other two games to be arranged at the time first game is played. While it is admitted the Cleaners have a pretty good team, the Chase team is composed of some of the best in the city and have enough confidence in their ability to believe they will come out winners in the series."
