Storm Finally Starts Moving Off Florida

MIAMI (UPI)—A dawdling Atlantic storm started moving westward today and the Weather Bureau said winds may increase along the Georgia and Carolina coasts if the storm maintains its intensity. In an earlier advisory, the bureau had said the storm showed signs of moving to the north-northeast and that this probably would give a measure of relief to the coast which has been battered by high winds and high tides. An advisory warned that all precautions should be continued against above normal tides and beach erosion along the Georgia and Carolina coasts. The storm was located this morning about 500 miles east of Jacksonville and appeared to be drifting westward at about five miles per hour. One ship close to the center reported gale winds of up to 45 knots and 23-foot waves. The Weather Bureau said indications were that the storm will continue slowly westward and winds may increase some along the Georgia and Carolina coasts. "The worst thing about the storm is that it was standing still so long. When a storm moves around, the winds shift and don't get a chance to push the water in one direction," a forecaster said. "That sort wouldn't have been nearly as bad if the storm hadn't just sat out there." The pounding breakers tore up a 20-foot section of sea wall in Jacksonville Thursday, and city officials said another 100 feet were in danger.

Butch Riser Gets Most Valuable Player Award

Butch Riser, husky backfield star for Jim Piggott's Seminole High School 1962 football squad, is the winner of the Peter Schaaf Most Valuable Player trophy which will be awarded for the 35th consecutive year at the All-Sports Banquet next spring. Pressed strongly by senior center Johnny Phillips and senior tackle Gene Williams, 11 judges yet decided that Riser's consistent play was such that he is unquestionably the player the team could not have done without. They agreed with one, a former college ace and former coach, that without Riser "it is doubtful that Sanford would have won a single game." His selection made Riser unique in Seminole High football history. Although over 2,000 boys have tried out for teams during the past 35 years, he is the first to win an honor which his father also was awarded. Jim Riser, the boy's father, played such an inspired game as a lineman for the Seminoles in 1928 that he became the 12th annual winner. Now a veteran Atlantic Coast Line railroad engineer, Jim Riser has remained as one of his school's most loyal followers.

Cuban Talks Get Nowhere; Chinese Reds Pull Back

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy's long conference with Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan failed to lessen the lingering differences over Cuba and pinched up the possibility of new East-West discussion in Southeast Asia. Mikoyan met today at lunch with Secretary of State Dean Rusk but officials said they did not expect this talk to alter matters materially. The White House announced after the three-hour and 20-minute Kennedy-Mikoyan session Thursday evening, that they had agreed Soviet and American negotiators in New York should continue their efforts to tie up loose ends of the Oct. 28 agreement on removal of Red missiles and bombers from Cuba. The U.S. officials added that the White House session failed to make any progress on any disputed points, including the major question of how and when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is going to make good on his promise to permit United Nations inspectors to check Cuban bases to make certain all offensive weapons have been removed. Officials said the danger of new skirmishes in Southeast Asia came up in discussing Laos. The president was understood to have pointed out that a considerable number of Communist North Vietnamese troops remain in northern Laos despite the Soviet pledge to see that they were removed under the international agreement to "neutralize" the kingdom.

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Communist Chinese troops appeared to be pulling out of some areas along the border with India today hours before their scheduled withdrawal. But sources close to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's office cautioned that it still was too early to tell if the movement out of the North East Frontier Agency region was only a token move or the real thing. Information from government sources confirmed earlier military reports that fewer and fewer Red Chinese troops were visible in front of the Indian positions. Even as these developments occurred, India asked Red China for still another "clarification" of its withdrawal plans.

Hospitality Shop Grows At Hospital

Progress is still being made in renovations and remodeling at Seminole Memorial Hospital and the new Hospitality Shop is the latest completion. More than double the former size, the handy shop is a boon to visitors and relatives who often must wait at the hospital, as well as to the staff and employees who can get a quick snack or pick up any one of a dozen items that they might need. The shop is run by the Pink Ladies of the SMH Auxiliary, and is open every day of the week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. They can come up fast with hot coffee, tea, milk, soft drinks or cold hot soup, sandwiches, donuts, crackers, candy, ice cream, potato chips, mints and gum.

Final Zoning Meeting Set

The Casselberry Board of Aldermen Thursday night set a meeting Dec. 13 with the Zoning and Planning Commission at which the two groups will take final consideration on all registered complaints and opposition to the town's new map and proposed zoning ordinance. The meeting was set after more than two hours of listening to verbal grievances at Thursday's night public hearing on the geographical zoning districts and wording of the new zoning plan. Complaints varied from what was thought to be contradictory wording in the ordinance to zoning classifications designated for various areas of the town ranging from the minimum in residential ratings to those zoned commercial. Those registering complaints were asked to submit them to the board in writing before the Dec. 13 meeting.

New Post Office To Open Monday

After 9 p. m. Sunday, Sanford residents will pick up their post office box mail at the new post office on the lakefront. Postmaster Guy Allen said today. Box holders are advised to come in today until 3:30 p. m. and Saturday until noon to pick up combinations for the new boxes they will be using next week. The new postoffice will be open for business at 6 a. m. Monday with clerks on hand to serve business people well before store opening and office opening hours. All mail that is not picked up by 9 p. m. Sunday will be transferred to the new boxes in the new office and box holders can check with the clerk Monday morning to get their mail. Postal workers will be busy behind the scenes all weekend, transferring all equipment to the new facility and getting ready for the Monday opening. Letter carriers moved last weekend and have been operating out of the new postoffice all this week, Allen said. Dedication of the new facility is slated for 4 p. m. Dec. 14 with Rep. Syd Herlong and a representative of the United States Post Office Department expected to be present.

City Approves Line Extension

The Hunt Co. development here, Chamber of Commerce Manager John Krider told the City Commission Thursday as the board agreed extending the utilities lines to the plant at a cost of $5,000. Krider appeared before the commission asking the board to extend the lines to "live up to the city's commitments" to the company. The only commissioner to oppose the extension was Joe Baker, who explained that he felt the city had lived up to all its commitments and saw no reason to keep pouring money into the project. Cost of relocating the lift station and extending the lines was estimated at $5,000. City Manager W. E. Knowles informed Hunt Co. officials late Thursday of the city's decision to extend the lines and was told by Hunt representatives they wanted the lines extended even more. This would increase the project another $500, Knowles said this morning.

Farmers Don't Need Bureaucrats, Baker Says

Farmers should and can solve their own problems, without government intervention, City Commissioner Joe Baker, Seminole County dairyman and farmer told Jaycees Thursday. Baker referred to the administration's farm bill proposal to set national quotas and limit production under the assumption that prices will rise to the desired level. The Seminole County Farm Bureau is opposed to this thinking Baker said, preferring to operate under free enterprise, with no price-fixing and no bureaucracy. He said farmers should push for expanded foreign trade. The farmer's biggest problem is that the price he pays for goods and supplies have gone up 20 percent and the prices for which he sells his goods has only gone up 12 percent, Baker said. The price-cost squeeze is due in part to the growth of the buyer who, dealing with many farmers, takes a large cut between the farmer and the consumer. Baker pointed out that three large food chain stores sell 47 percent of all food sold in chain stores. Five buyers purchase 20 percent of all the celery, he added. "Farmers are, by and large, an extremely independent group, but they must begin to cooperate with each other to compete with other big businesses with which they must deal," Baker remarked. He commended the farm bureau and particularly the Seminole County Farm Bureau as being a good representative of all phases of farming in the county and giving good representation before local, state and federal governments. The approximately 800 farms in Seminole County have assets worth $30 million and provide 40 percent of the jobs in the county, he said. He noted that the agriculture picture in Seminole County has changed in recent years, with citrus production rising, vegetables dropping, and horticulture nurseries on the upswing. Cabbage now leads the production of vegetables, instead of the celery that was the leader for many years. "Agriculture is the foundation of our economy and living," he said, "providing our food, shelter and clothing. We can do without other things, but these things we must have to live."

Piccolo is Important

A five-minute piccolo playing was heard in the new house, the house which was very important. The large array of modern installations gave the conductor great confidence and a feeling of well-being as they prepared for the concert.

One time, the piccolo player was not so happy. He looked around as the piccolo player was not so happy. He looked around as the piccolo player was not so happy.

When we think of the number of people who attend worship regularly it is also thought-provoking. Why is it that people have taken more of us in a year than we were to live up to them?

The important thing is that every Christian realizes that he is important and that when he fails to do his part that the great work of God's plan has a weak spot in it.

Church To Observe Missionary Day

This Sunday will be Missionary Day at the Casselberry Community Methodist Church. Guest speaker at both the 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. worship services will be Rev. Eryn M. Moose Collect $393 For Muscular Dystrophy

By Gladys Wickham
Sanford Moose Lodge members literally put their shoulders to the wheel Saturday in support of the annual drive against Muscular Dystrophy by manning a road block at the four corners of First St. and French Ave. in Sanford.

A total of $393 was collected from passing motorists for this dreaded disease which most frequently chooses as its victims the small defenseless child.

According to E. R. "Woody" Friend, Moose member and Special Events Chairman for the county-wide campaign there are six boxes and 50 coin posters placed in stores and businesses of the city and county which will not be counted until completion of the month-long drive.

Monies from Saturday's road block and from the earlier house to house canvass headed by Mrs. Russell Dallas has been turned into Campaign Chairman Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr. and to Mrs. Catherine Ray, district campaign treasurer, who reports that a total of $984.25 has been collected at this time.

Moose members participating in the road block included Mr. and Mrs. Sam Meschotto, Woody Friend, Lew Lester, Bill Skisliak Jr., Alen Bashara, Al Kilpatrick, Bob Willis, Bruce Aul, Red Farrer, Harold Patterson, Roger Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Price, Mrs. Sally Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Sjoblom, Mr. and Mrs. Garner Gehr and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moore.

All Way Home Starts Saturday At Annie Russell

All The Way Home, the second production of the season will be presented by the Rollins Players Dec. 4th-8th in the Annie Russell Theater.

Taking the leading female role, Mary, is Dana Ivey, last seen as "Hildy" in On The Town. Crick Hatch will star as Jay, the leading male role, the nine-year-old Stephen Wheeler will play a major role as the young son in the Follet family, Rufus.

Stephen, the son of Maj. and Mrs. Joseph C. Wheeler, 2079 Oakhurst Ave., is in the fourth grade at Cathedral School. He has long wanted to be an actor, but this is his first major role.

All The Way Home is billed as an "inspiring drama of human perseverance," but Stephen is more interested in musical comedy. He has studied dancing with Edith Royal for the past five years and has received much training at home, as his mother is a music teacher.

Conservative Party Gains First Success

By Lyle C. Wilson
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frustrated conservative Republicans are on the warpath on both coasts. The decision to substitute action for words in an effort to cut the Modern Republicans down to size leapfrogged from New York State to California.

The idea will spread. This spread trend was assured by the spectacular success achieved Nov. 6 by the Conservative Party Inc. in New York state. CPI racked up 140,000-plus votes with a slate of political unknowns. These were mostly Republican votes which otherwise would have gone to the left-center New York governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller.

CPI now is in a position in New York State to blackjack the Republican party locally. Hereafter, when New York Modern Republicans nominate a candidate fitted out in New Frontier chaps and spurs, CPI will endeavor to withhold its 140,000-plus votes from that candidate.

Articles of incorporation were filed last week in California for a Conservative Party, Inc. One of the incorporators, Howard Jarvis, said the purpose of the California CPI would be to educate voters on conservative issues and to promote the formation of a new political party.

The chances are pretty good that the California CPI will fall flat on its face as a third party. Fall on its face, that is, if it ever gets far enough off the ground to fall. Topple on its face would be more likely, Jarvis and company are Republicans, frustrated by the lefty trend of their party in California and the nation.

But, a third party? Oh, no, Mr. Jarvis. Not if you mean by third party an outfit seeking to nominate and to elect its own candidates. That just isn't in the cards, nor in the polling booths either.

The most CPI of California can hope to do is to build up some minority voting strength in California and then to auction off those votes to any reasonable political bid.

A reasonable political bid would be a promise by California Republican leaders to nominate candidates whose policies would resemble the policies of the New Ivy League Frontier than they would resemble conservative doctrine.

CPI in New York is well on the way to compelling New York State Republican leaders to make such a bid there. Establishment of a powerful conservative force in big New York and big California would have political impact far beyond those states. It would hit hardest at the Republican national convention, perhaps in 1964.

If Modern Republican leaders believed they could not carry either or both California and New York with a Modern Republican ticket and platform, and that they might be able to carry one or both with something a bit less modern, there could be a deal. That is the true function of the conservative rebellion against the Modern Republicans—to make a deal. No other strategy will work.

Annual Opening Gala Of Mayfair To Be Dec. 8
A gala grand opening is being planned by manager Everett Kerr for the face-lifted Mayfair Inn, to be held on the evening of Dec. 8 at the venerable Sanford landmark.

The renovation, which is being brought to completion this week and next, has involved the expenditure of some $85,000 by the hotel owners, the San Francisco Giants, said Kerr. He added that about 70 per cent of this amount was spent locally.

The program for the opening will be a cocktail hour and hors d'oeuvres, a banquet in the main dining room and then dancing in the newly worked over ball room to the strains of a prominent orchestra.

The menu is being prepared under the watchful eye of Chef Gino Galeo, who has joined the Mayfair Inn staff from a well known South Carolina seaside hotel.

The extensive remodeling and redecorating job on the famed Inn has included new chandeliers, rugs and drapes in the main lobby and hallways, redoing of some smaller dining rooms for clubs and small groups, installation of a cigar and notions counter in the lobby and additional lounges.

The work has not been confined to the public portions of the hotel, but has included extensive renovation of the guest rooms.

To Meet Monday
A special meeting of the Women's Organization of Sanford Moose Lodge 1851 has been called for 8 p. m. Monday in the Lake Mary lodge headquarters.

Further preparation will be made for the Dec. 6-7 rummage sale and plans will be begun for the lodge's Children's Christmas Party.

First Baptist WMU To Observe Lottie Moon Week

Next week, Dec. 8 through 14, marks the observance of the "Lottie Moon Week of Prayer" of the First Baptist Church. Each year at this time Southern Baptist Churches everywhere begin the Christmas season in this manner. Prayers services will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings at 10 o'clock. On Wednesday evening at 7:30 William Cowley, a missionary to Nigeria will speak.

This year marks the 75th anniversary of Southern Baptist Foreign Mission work which started in 1888 with one missionary, Miss Lottie Moon, for whom the observance is named. At this time there are 1077 missionaries serving in 61 countries.

The theme for this year's services will be "God's Gift, the Light of the World." Well planned programs are scheduled for each day. The offering goal for First Baptist Church this year is $2,000. This is a church-wide endeavor which is sponsored by the WMU, and all members of the church are invited to attend. There will be a nursery for small children at all services.

Garden Circles

MAGNOLIA CIRCLE
 The Magnolia Garden Circle of the Sanford Garden Club held the November meeting at the Garden Barn in Rustia. Club members met at the home of the president, Mrs. H. K. King and went by car to Rustia. They enjoyed a guided tour of the gardens by the owner and afterwards a program on using the Florida palms and other natural material in our Christmas decorating schemes. There were lovely arrangements on display throughout the Barn.

At the close of the program members held a short business meeting at which time the club voted to accept the building lots offered at a future site for the Garden Center.

After the business meeting and a sack lunch and coffee, they browsed around the Barn many making purchases before returning to Sanford.

Members present were: Mrs. H. K. King, Mrs. F. J. Harris, Mrs. T. J. Taylor, Mrs. S. L. Wiggin, Mrs. F. L. Kinney, Mrs. A. H. Harris and visitor, Mrs. Frank Linsley, Mrs. G. H. Bybee, Mrs. John Wilman, Mrs. Otto Borsdorf, and visitor, Mrs. Lucille Abrams and Mrs. Elwood Smith.

Anna Miller Circle Reviews Activities During Past Year

Members of the Anna Miller Circle met at the Elks Club recently for a social meeting. Mrs. William Cissa was inducted into the circle during an impressive candlelight ceremony presided over by Mrs. Christine Blankenship, president.

Mrs. Harry Adair, secretary, reviewed the accomplishments of the circle during the past year. The group made gifts for each child at the Harry Anna Crippled Children's Home in Umattilla, which were presented at an Easter party and sponsored a magic show for their entertainment.

The Central Florida Mobile Therapy Unit was presented a check from the circle; they sent a crippled child to Camp Challenge. Among their civic activities, they co-sponsored a girl to Girls State; contributed to the support of the Little Red Schoolhouse and subscribed to a bond for the Harry Anna Home.

Mrs. Robert Ziltrower was appointed chairman of the float for the Christmas parade. Snacks were enjoyed by the group during the social hour.

Others attending included Mrs. Clarence Collins, Clay...

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this man (he is 25 and I am 22) for about a year. We love each other very much and have spoken of marriage. He has a terrible temper and when he gets provoked he hits me. He has blackened my eyes and left bruises on me several times. Afterwards he begs me to forgive him and promises he'll never do it again, but he always does. The last time he hit me he cracked three ribs and loosened three teeth. I broke up with him and haven't seen him in two weeks. I now find that my love for him is even greater than before and I want to go back to him, but don't know if I should. Can you help me?

NO GREATER LOVE

DEAR NO: Any man who would repeatedly strike a woman is sick. And any woman whose love is "greater than before" after such abuse is sicker than he is. If you go back to him, you should use the rocks in your head to fill up the holes in his!

DEAR ABBY: I once read that Russians think we worship dogs. "Lies," I cried. Then I looked into the facts. I learned that more is spent each year on dog and cat food than on baby food. That there are beauty parlors for dogs and jeweled collars and leashes that cost thousands of dollars! Dogs (and cats) have been named sole heirs to fortunes. And, Abby, there are even psychologists for dogs! I think dogs make charming pets, but when there are so many under-nourished and unloved children in the world, they should come first.

MOTHER OF TEN

DEAR MOTHER: Considering the millions of dog-owners in the country, you are focusing far too much attention on the few oddballs who lavish thousands of dollars on jeweled collars, mink coats and leave their fortunes to their dogs. Dogs protect the blind, hunt down criminals, protect homes and provide companionship for many, so don't waste your energy worrying about what the Russians think.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to kiss a boy. I am going to a party the first of December and will need the information by then. I thank you.

NEEDS TO KNOW

DEAR NEEDS: How old are you? Anyone who needs information on how to kiss is too young to use it.

DEAR ABBY: My son's teacher kept the entire class after school for 30 minutes. She wouldn't allow anyone to telephone home to say they'd been detained. I was one of the mothers who sat out in my car waiting. My son was late for his dental appointment, and another boy was late for his music lesson. Please don't give me that song and dance about teachers being overworked and underpaid. They have shorter days and longer vacations than office workers, and if they don't like children they should find another job.

IRRITATED MOTHER

DEAR IRRITATED: An effective way to keep individuals in line is to punish the entire class and then let the culprit suffer at the hands of his classmates. But no child should be denied permission to call home.

'The Interns' Starts Sunday

Probing into the private and professional lives of young doctors interning at a great hospital, the Columbia Pictures release, "The Interns," arrives Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre. According to film-dom, "The Interns" is one of the outstanding motion pictures of the year. A wild New Year's Eve party of interns and nurses, and the birth of a baby, are sharply contrasting dramatic highlights in the film. The large cast of stars includes Michael Callan, Cliff Robertson, James MacArthur and Nick Adams as the interns; Haya Harareet, Anne Helm and Stefanie Powers as the girls; Buddy Ebsen, Telly Savalas and Kay Stevens. Callan, dancer-turned-actor, plays an opportunistic young doctor who romances an older woman, to help him make a valuable contact in the medical world, even as he has an affair with Miss Helm. Robertson, on the other hand, throws away his career for love of the beautiful Haya Harareet, who plays a fashion model who has become pregnant. MacArthur, Robertson's friend and fellow doctor, is responsible for Robertson's expulsion from the hospital and from medicine when he reveals his roommate has stolen drugs to help Miss Harareet bring her pregnancy.

Thriller Coming To Ritz

"Rear Window," produced and directed by Alfred Hitchcock, and starring James Stewart, will be the next attraction, beginning Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. Filmed in Technicolor, the suspense drama co-stars Grace Kelly, Wendell Corey and Thelma Ritter, with Raymond Burr heading the supporting cast. Hailed by critics as "Hitchcock at his best," the Paramount film is considered one of the screen's great suspense masterpieces. The story concerns a world-renowned news photographer (James Stewart), confined to his wheelchair with a broken leg, with nothing to do all day but gaze out of his window at his neighbors. He has reason to believe that a murder has been committed in one of the apartments he has been watching, but no one will believe him. The tension mounts as Stewart gets closer and closer to the solution of the mystery and then, in a typical Hitchcock climax, the issue is completely and irrevocably settled. Grace Kelly, at her loveliest, portrays Stewart's career-

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Broadcasting Co. announced Monday it will televise eight post-season football games. They include the Liberty Bowl, Blue-Gray, East-West, and National Football League championship in December, and the Sugar, Rose, Senior and Pro bowls in January.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

When today's hand appeared in a rubber bridge game in Phoenix, Ariz., South threw away the rubber by overlooking the possibility that West might hold seven hearts for his opening preemptive bid. As soon as dummy hit the table South pulled the ace of hearts from E. East ruffed and returned a trump. South ran off a few trumps, went through a lot of useless thought, but still had to lose two diamonds and another heart to go down one. Of course, it was bad luck that East held no hearts and four diamonds, but a little thought at trick one would have let South make his contract in spite of the break. South should have let West's king of hearts hold the first trick. West would continue with the queen and that also should have been allowed to hold. That would give the defense two tricks. The best play for West would be to play a third heart. Now South would play low from dummy, ruff, draw trumps, and eventually discard one of his four diamonds on the ace of hearts.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Are you ready to be a New Frontier woman? If not, you'd better get set. It looks as though that is definitely the new look—in beauty, fashions and even in entertaining. In recent issues of leading magazines for women considerable space is devoted to the supposed Washington trend. One article, called "Clothes for the New Frontier," includes the proper dress for everything from tough football to water skiing and helicopter commuting. (If you don't play football, water ski, or ride in helicopters, at least you can LOOK as though you might.) There is also an article on "Perfect Little Dinners from the White House," complete with recipes for such White House favorites as Seafood à la Françoise, Roast Duckling à l'Orange, and Bombe Glacée Caribéenne. So if you want to be "in" instead of "out" you had better forget about those old American company standards such as roast beef, baked ham, fried chicken and broiled steaks and buy yourself some gourmet cookbooks. And instead of thinking that you can go on with such casual entertaining as back yard barbecues, big cocktail parties and buffet suppers you had better get set for a series of "perfect little dinners." Look over your wardrobe, too, to make sure your clothes aren't over-dressy. The New Frontier look is understated. One other tip: The New Frontier woman, whatever her age, "looks years younger." So forget all that business about growing old gracefully. You've got to look young, or you're out." At least so say the magazine writers. No need to say you have no intention of looking like a New Frontier woman just because your husband isn't in politics, or you don't live in Washington, or even because you are a dyed-in-the-wool Republican. Remember the sack dress you wouldn't be caught dead in? You bought one, didn't you? Well just get it out again, dear, if you want to look chic. It's "in" again—in the New Frontier. Have a look at Ruth Millett's booklet, "How To Have a Happy Husband." Send $1 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 480, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

New Look At Bigness

Robert Hines, board planner of parks, roads and other developments, used to work off the long-planned, soaring bigness: "New York is too tough for 'em."

Of course the long-range planners have always had a constant. They argue that the "practical boys" are just dropping away a sheet, and actually making things worse in the long run.

Maybe the long-range men are about to have their chance. A new study looking ahead to New York City 25 years hence suggests that by then it may be too tough for anybody. And a big planning session in Paris, was just told that even a population of 700,000 may be too big for a city to be physically manageable.

The gloomy report on New York came from the city's own Regional Plan Association, which hints that by 1955 the community may offer most of its citizens "neither the benefits of the city nor the pleasures of the countryside."

In this country, North Carolina has achieved some note as a state successful in luring new industries — and often their top executives. One evident appeal is the "livability" of a region with a good sprinkling of urban centers all under 250,000 in size.

When Big Government does something silly that it oughtn't to have done, the remedy should lie in direct action, not in legalistic temporizing, at least, a New Jersey court has stopped Postmaster General J. Edward Day from selling anyone "counterfeit rarities" of the Dag Hammarskjöld four-center stamp collectors themselves had a better answer to this — a philatelic buyers' strike. Court action shouldn't be needed.

They should refuse to buy any phony rarities. Admittedly they aren't worth a cent more than the face value. Nevertheless 375,000 of the deliberate forgeries were sold before they were taken off the market in compliance with court order and departmental legal advice.

That means that 375,000 chances to rebuke a government official for trying to louse up the whole philately of philately were blown by people who took Day's bait.

Day's explanation was that he ordered the misprints "to prevent the inflated value of a few accidental inclusions from depriving the average collector of the opportunity to purchase the unusual stamp."

This action was entirely out of character for an honest American bureaucrat but nothing strange in the ways of foreign postal departments.

Right after World War I when Germany was flat busted and its currency inflating by arithmetical proportions every few hours, the German Post Office began rolling out millions of counterfeit "rarities."

Stamp Of Disapproval

Every conceivable error was employed which might lure stamp collectors into buying a few sheets, for which no postal service would ever be required. Half a sheet would be printed one way and the other half upside down, creating a center strip of so-called "tete beche" pairs — adjoining stamps facing in opposite directions. Some stamps on a sheet would be printed in the wrong color.

Most of these deliberate mistakes were palmed off on collectors outside Germany. It is doubtful whether the amount of foreign exchange they brought in offset much inflation.

However, in the moral accounting the German Post Office looked very definitely shabby.

And so, we are afraid, does our own Post Office in Washington. Judging by letters to newspapers the reaction of citizenry has been overwhelmingly to condemn the action. Most people seem to feel that a misprinted stamp is a stroke of beneficent fortune to some collector somewhere, that it doesn't hurt the post office and that nobody should try to water down its value by duplicating it deliberately.

The saddest thing about this incident is that it was perpetrated by J. Edward Day, a peppery postmaster general who in the space of two years has spruced up the postal service in appearance and delivery service. Until he blew his top and ordered those phony Dag Hammarskjöld stamps the other day, the only thing radical he'd done was deliver our mail faster.

It takes a fascinating question, so you readers may serve as the jury and render your own verdict. For it is true that we have two very different types of psychology profs at college. The Applied Psychologists like this column but the brain-trainers and "white rat" profs often ridicule it. Why?

CASE N-495: Bill X, is an Ohio college student.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "my psychology profs are divided about your daily column."

"Those who teach Applied Psychology think you are great. But the 'white rat' and 'academic' profs usually ridicule it as being too simple and superficial."

"They say you degrade the dignity of scientific psychology by thus using 2-syllable words."

"Most of us students enjoy your column for its practical help. But we dare not say so in class! We'd be flunked if we admitted to being your fan! And I'm not joking!"

"Why do some of the 'ivory tower' psychology profs grow so enraged at you?"

Bill has indicated the two big divisions among psychology profs—those who can apply what they teach vs. the "brain-trainers."

Among our great Applied Psychologists I need mention only such outstanding men as

Letters

Dear Editor: According to Mayor Carl Stoddard's announcement of his candidacy for re-election as Mayor of Caselberry published in your newspaper on Thursday of this week he apparently wants to take credit for the reasoning of the town.

I, as a member of the zoning board, feel that if there is any credit to be given it should go to the zoning board and its chairman, L.E. Woodhams.

In fact, the truth of the matter is that the zoning board had to change its meeting nights in order to get anything accomplished without the mayor interrupting.

George C. Howard, Alderman

Dear Editor: It was a shame and a disgrace the way many grown people talked through the entire "Star Banged Banner" at the football game Homecoming night.

When a people have no respect for the flag of their nation, the loss of it and its privileges, including freedom are not very far away. Evidently the people of Sanford, or a good many of them at any rate have completely forgotten the price that has been paid in human lives to keep that flag flying.

The conduct of many at that football game was utterly disgusting.

Sincerely,
 Gerald W. Jones.

But brain-trainer profs often resent my simple vocabulary and would me for using 2-syllable words.

Apparently, they are not very familiar with the Bible, for the average word therein has but two syllables!

And they are out of touch with reality, for modern newspaper editors do not believe in wasting space on "jawbreakers" or polysyllables when the same idea can be stated in two syllables.

But what about their charge that my column deals with superficial problems?

Herein I outline the dangerous symptoms of insanity and urge you parents to vaccinate your children against this prevalent ailment.

But is insanity a superficial matter?

Also, I show you the definite ways to prevent divorce. Is the salvaging of marriages a superficial problem?

Moreover, I show high schoolers the dangers of illicit affairs. Is immorality a trivial matter?

Analyze the contents of this column for just one month and you will find the major human problems outlined repeatedly—and in words even high schoolers can understand!

Do you think these "ivory tower" critics of this column might be jealous because students glean more practical aid from their newspaper than from many of their psychology classes?

Or could it be jealousy by Ph.D. of the fact I hold not only a Ph.D. in psychology but also an M. D., and thus am better qualified for discussing problems of both the mind and the body?

"A little learning is a dangerous thing," runs an old adage.

Sometimes profs throw their weight around after winning a Ph.D. degree and thus try to overly impress people with 5-syllable words.

If they'd follow my example and add the M. D. to their Ph.D., they might then realize that the true art of education is to communicate in language people can understand readily.

So send for my booklet "How To Improve Your Memory & Study More Efficiently," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. See if your brain-trainer profs have given you as much for 20 cents.

Phil Newsom Says... 'Presence' Counts In Berlin

BERLIN — A flag flies in front of the home of U. S. Berlin brigade commander Gen. Frederick O. Hartel, coming down at night and going up again in the morning.

To West Berliners it is a reassuring symbol and they watch it closely.

If on any day it did not appear panic might ensue.

For General Hartel's flag is one sign of what is called the American "presence" in Berlin.

Altogether, this presence comes to about 12,000 Americans, about half of whom are dependents—women attending social clubs and children attending schools much as they would at home.

They provide daily reassurance in the German people that Americans stand side by side with them in this city deep inside Communist territory.

To the Germans, the women and children here are almost as important as the American troops—not as possible frontline hostages in case of attack, but rather as proof that freedom is freedom anywhere and that Americans will defend it as quickly here as at home.

As a military assignment Berlin is unique.

For Americans in Germany it is the most sought-after post because housing and living conditions are the best and because Berlin itself is a beautiful city.

Military, it is the only American post totally surrounded by a potential enemy.

Since Berlin is deep inside enemy territory and is a key communications center, they do not expect to be attacked with nuclear weapons.

The most likely tactic, they believe, would be attack by Communist-penetrated mobs.

These mobs would pour through breaches in the Communist-erected Berlin wall, probably to be followed by the East German army and police forces in an attempt to take over Western portions of the city.

Hence, American troops here are experts at mob control.

"And," says General Hartel, "if the Communists do try to come over the wall, we'll have two and a half million West Berliners fighting with us."

Peter Edson Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(REA) — First chance to see if there really is a new and more rational Russian foreign policy in the wake of the Soviet withdrawal of missiles in Cuba will come at the disarmament and similar test has continuous summiting in Geneva.

Chairman Nikita Khrushchev is not the only Russian who has been making public statements in support of disarmament and a test ban. Signals that the Russians are at least willing to talk seriously about peace have been coming from Soviet diplomats further down the line at United Nations in Washington and in Moscow and western European capitals.

The possibility of another Soviet decision is always possible, of course, but after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev deliberately denied President Kennedy of the offensive nature of Russia's aid to Cuba, it is considered less likely that the Communists can get away with another major deception so soon.

The Cuban missile cut the Russians too much in last prestige among the North Atlantic Treaty countries and the Organization of American States for any quick repeat.

In Latin America, even some of the left-wingers seem to be abandoning Castro. The missile base pictures convinced them.

Just how firmly the western European nations are committed to support American firmness against Russia should be developed at the NATO Council of Ministers meeting in December.

If the western European governments believe that a new era of relaxed East-West relations is already at hand, they may continue the post-though-out of their opposition to NATO, now that the Cuba crisis has ended.

The guarantee that Russia will continue on a course of good international relations can come only through sustained western firmness.

A NATO show of force is considered important as a signal to Moscow. This includes a decision on nuclear deployment for NATO. This has been discussed for over a year without decisive action.

It seems to be agreed there can be no western relaxation on Berlin or anything else until a disarmament pact is signed, sealed and executed under inspection.

On the test ban, the Russians have talked much about new, estimated monitoring stations. The United States has no such device. Time after time the Russians have been asked to permit inspection of their instruments. None has been shown so far. The time for the Russians to get up or shut up will be at the Geneva talks.

Khrushchev's public statement that he ordered withdrawal of Russian offensive weapons from Cuba because he is a man of peace is a gag that the U. S. is apparently willing to play along with, for the time being. After all, he did back down from a war.

Why he did this is still unclear. The possibility that it is a draw play, giving him time to regroup, is not being overlooked.

The Communist party leadership conference in Moscow has put far more emphasis on the weakness of Russia's internal economy than it put on the international situation.

One way this situation is being summarized is to say that while the United States has its problems—internal as well as with its allies—Russia also has both kinds of problems. The United States would rather have its problems than Russia's.

The flexibility of American foreign policy has a come through well after a grueling test on the Cuba crisis. A little over a month ago, all effort was being concentrated on how to handle the Khrushchev threat of a Berlin showdown. Cuba was considered secondary.

Today the situations are reversed. It is not expected that Khrushchev will press the Berlin issue in the immediate future. It is clear there will be no negotiations on Berlin until the Cuba situation is cleared up, and many elements of that are yet to be resolved.

Dick West Says Lions Don't Keep In Tune

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As far as I have been able to determine, no composer has ever written a fugue for three lions and a cuica.

This is probably just as well because lions are notoriously undependable as musical instruments.

I base that statement on the experiences of Howard Mitchell, conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra, who recently auditioned a trio of lions at the National Zoo here.

Mitchell arranged the safari in connection with a concert the orchestra is playing this week. One of the numbers of the program is "Samba Concertante" by the Brazilian composer Burle Marx.

Marx, who likes to go all out when he is writing music, threw in parts for a number of instruments not normally heard at symphonic performances.

Among them are a cuica, a reco-reco, two zochalhos, a Brazilian tambourine and a piano with paper over the strings. I had a talk with Marx during a rehearsal and he explained that their purpose was to give the music the true flavor of Brazil.

The cuica, for instance, is supposed to represent a fat man trying to dance the samba. Marx said he had his cousin in mind when he composed that section.

It is remotely possible that some people never heard of a cuica pronounced "kwee-ka." In that case, I should explain that it is a Brazilian drum consisting of a cat skin stretched over the end of a small barrel.

You beat a cuica with a reined stick which has been rubbed with a wet rag. The word cuica means "lion's roar."

It also is remotely possible that some people never heard of a lion (pronounced "Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer"). In that case, they will have to turn elsewhere for enlightenment. Lions are beyond my powers of description.

At any rate, as I was saying, Mitchell took a cuica out to the zoo to see how the lions would react when they heard it. It was expected that they would begin to roar, creating the first cuica-lion quartet. But nothing happened.

Lyman, Oviedo End Season Tonight

Tonight is the night all Oviedo has been waiting for, when the Greyhounds of Lyman invade the site of the home team stadium to start another winning string of the pre-Thanksgiving loss to Tavares in the Tangle Bowl.

Giants Favored In Pro Contest

The New York Giants, meeting only one victory in their final three games to wrap up another Eastern Division crown in the National Football League, will invade Chicago's Wrigley Field for the first time in 16 years Sunday for a meeting with the over-due Bears.

Oviedo Cagers Start Season Next Tuesday

Oviedo High School's basketball team will tee off with the season's opener against Florida Military School from DeLand next Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The Lions, who had a very successful season last year, will be out hunting for game this year among some of the easiest outfits in this section of the state. Made up for the most part of members of last year's junior varsity, it is the fond hope of the coaching staff, headed by Jim Palmer, that many of the 19 schools on the schedule will fall victim to the claws of the willing Lions.

- Schedule:
- Dec. 4 — Florida Military
 - Dec. 7 — Mt. Dora
 - Dec. 11 — New Smyrna
 - Dec. 14 — Sanford
 - Dec. 18 — Howey Academy

Kanner Leads Sunday Bowlers

The Sunday night Mr. and Mrs. League is really rolling along, with Jack Kanner taking both high game and series with a 211/501. Dick Williams came through with a 210 game and Bob Guthrie rolled a neat 191/494. On the distaff side, Martha Jovi led the way with a 202/323 series.

Dark Horses Lead Favorites

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Two dark horses held the lead over goldfom's big names today as the second round got underway in the $20,000 West Palm Beach Open golf tournament. Rod Funseth and Butch Baird ignored chilly winds and overcast skies whipped up by a fierce Atlantic storm Thursday and fired four-under-par 68's over the 1,000-yard Beach Country Club course in the opening round to steal the thunder from such touring purse grabbers as Jack Nicklaus, Gay Brewer and Bo Wainwright.

tion of the Greyhounds to the driving motivation of the Lion to show the home folks what they can do with a team of Lyman's stature in the local football world.

If the Oviedo boys can pull an upset it will make the season for the home-town team, and Coach 'Fourteen Jim' Palmer is keeping his fingers crossed that Jimmy Courier and Ted Bellhorn can see some service tonight and might be able to do the trick. Courier and Bellhorn have been nursing injuries.

Mayfair Golf Tourney Slated For Sunday

Mayfair Country Club will be the scene of an intercity match Sunday afternoon when a team of 30 picked players from the local club take on a similar group from Orlando's Dubadred Country Club in a Nassau style tourney.

George Bilups, publicity chairman for the Mayfair Club, said the two teams will be made up of 20 players each, arranged according to handicap, and they will be evenly matched when they play. This is one of a series of matches held every year by a group of eight mid-Florida country clubs.

Young Keller Chip Off Block

NEW YORK (UPI) — Like father, like son spelled out the sorry story today for Charlie (King Kong) Keller's kid. The elder Keller, you'll remember, was a member of that menacing New York Yankee picket line along with Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Henrich in the frenzied 40's. Then an operation for a ruptured disc finally sent him away from the stadium.

He was a Yankee star until that disc operation in 1947 and after that it was all down hill. Charlie wound it up with Detroit in 1950 and 1951 and later on twice served in emergencies as a Yankee coach. Explaining why young Charlie, when he started, was a Detroit fan.

Miami Practices Defense, Gator Coach Asks Rain

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami's Hurricanes were scheduled for a last light workout today before meeting Florida in the Orange Bowl Saturday night. Coach Andy Gustafson held off contact work Thursday, but gave his team special work in covering kicks. He told the Hurricanes they will have to get downfield fast and tackle hard to thwart Florida's technique of hard blocking on kick returns aimed at springing a runner loose.

Miami has been surprised several times this season by long kick returns, and Gustafson said it could happen easily against the Gators. Florida's Gators packed up to go to Miami today for their season windup and Coach Ray Graves was hoping the damp weather will continue. "Rain always hurts a passing game," said Graves, thinking of Miami's George Mira. "We are a strong running team, and rain won't bother us that much."

Vaught Selected Coach Of Year In Southeast

ATLANTA (UPI) — Johnny Vaught, seldom on the losing bench in 16 years as coach of the mighty Mississippi Rebels, added another honor to his collection today when he was named Southeastern Conference coach of the year by United Press International.

It was not an unexpected victory as Vaught's Rebels, ranked No. 3 in the nation, are headed toward their first perfect season and should be one of no more than three major teams which are unbeaten and untied this season. But it is a victory which has eluded the 32-year-old Mississippi coach the past few seasons simply because his Rebels could not best Louisiana State, annually the toughest team on their schedule.

They broke that hex this season with a 15-7 win over LSU that was more convincing than the score indicates and thereby vaulted themselves into the SEC championship, the Sugar Bowl and a possible national championship and earned Vaught the title he was handed by UPI today.

Vaught received nearly half of the votes and won by a 2-to-1 margin over runner-up Ralph Jordan of Auburn. Alabama's Paul Bryant, who won the title in 1961 when his Tide men won the national championship with a perfect season, was a close third.

William Yorum of Winter Park has been named operational manager and director of racing at Casselberry's Seminole Park Raceway. The announcement was made by track president Clyde Hart.

Yorum comes to the local track for its first year of part-time operation from the position of racing secretary at Freehold Raceway, Freehold, N. J., Lebanon and Hamilton Raceways in Ohio.

ten said, and this makes speculation more reasonable that we have been attracting some new brands of waterfowl.

As a matter of fact, two readers were found this week. The other one works at the paper and probably shouldn't be counted, since she has to read it, but anyway...

Seminoles Start Basketball Dec. 7

Seminole High's basketball team will get a 20-game season off the ground Dec. 7, when it tangles with the Titusville quintet here.

Coach Ralph Stumpf says that it is hard to evaluate the performance of the team before the players have a game or two under their belts but from all appearance now, the boys should have a good season.

Powder Puffers Getting Ready

Final plans are being made for the third annual Powder Puff game to be held in Memorial Stadium Dec. 9. The All-girl teams are holding drills each weekend and a team of Seniors will contest against one of Juniors with Sophomores supplementing both teams.

Names of participants will be announced in the near future, Anne Alken, publicity chairman, said.

Facility Fine, But Oh, Those Combinations

Business started early in the new Sanford post office today... 6 a. m. Clerks were on hand, and so were the customers, picking up keys for drawers and combinations cards for their new post office boxes.

Drawer renters had it made, as did the general delivery customers, but many of the box holders were ready to go back to the Pony Express, as they struggled, some grimly and some with good humor, to fathom the combination formulas and get the boxes open.

Postal workers did woman duty helping the strugglers master the elusive numbers early today, rejecting with those who succeeded and soothing those who were ready to weep... or run.

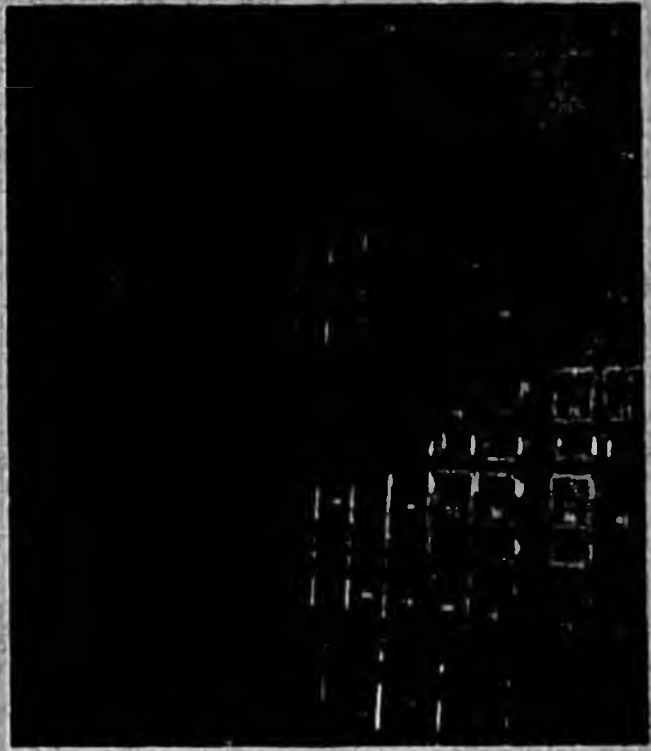

One young boy struggled manfully with a combination for quite awhile before discovering with a start of consternation (and a quick look around for observers) that he was trying to open the wrong box.

But the mail goes out and comes in on schedule, while the words "combination lock" as added to the phrase about "either heat or cold not gloom of night."

Kiwanians and Jaysons will tour the new post office as guests of Postmaster Guy Allen after their noon luncheon meetings this week. Allen will speak to both groups about the new postal rates at their meetings Wednesday and Thursday at the Civic Center before taking them through the new facility.

Once more our state legislature adjourns after falling in the reappointment effort... The job is not a difficult one if — if — each member asks himself the question and HONESTLY answers it "What is the RIGHT thing to do?"

But moral responsibility, it would seem, is pigeon-holed with "politics," in power struggles and self-perpetuation on the public payroll dominate the effort... The constitution clearly states what must be done and who should do it.

Everybody's Busy As Post Office Opens At 6 A. M. To Begin Use Of New Building Workers Found Some Patrons Grim, Some Humorous While Trying To Get Into Boxes.

Disaster Aid Asked For 3 Coast Counties

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant said today he has asked the President to declare Duval, St. Johns and Flagler counties as major disaster areas as a result of damage from an Atlantic storm.

Bryant said he has requested $300,000 in federal funds for the three-county area. The heaviest damage, he said, was in Jacksonville Beach, Neptune Beach and Atlantic Beach.

Damages were so severe, he said, that federal assistance is necessary to supplement efforts of state and local authorities.

Bryant earlier had requested that the President make available federal assistance other than that available through a disaster declaration.

But after flying over the storm-struck area late Sunday, he said, he asked that it be declared a major disaster area.

JFK, agents of damages, said, was based on his own survey plus evaluations by the State Civil Defense Director and representatives of Region Three of the Office of Emergency Planning in Thomasville, Ga.

Cleveland Differs With Plan For 'Temporary Apportionment'

State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. today took sharp issue with big county legislators who are attempting to ask the Federal Court to reapportion the state on a temporary basis.

The populous county plan would give each congressional district three senators, with Dade County getting six seats. In the House, Dade would have 15 representatives.

State Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin has already said he will ask the court to redistrict Florida on the basis of 40 senators and 144 House members.

chance, it will most likely wait until the regularly scheduled session in April, rather than calling another special session.

But if the court decides to reapportion the state itself, most lawmakers feel it would use the legislative plan winning the most support as a guide.

Soviets Refuse Test Proposal

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviet Union today rejected neutral nations' proposals for a nuclear test ban.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin turned down the neutral plan when the 17-nation disarmament conference met in its 86th plenary session.

The neutral proposals, Tsarapkin said, are "an attempt to apply Western control measures to the proposed test ban agreement and therefore quite unacceptable to the Soviet Union."

A Western delegation spokesman said the Soviet stand appeared to block any chance of a test ban agreement before Christmas.

The Russian rejection came shortly after the United States said it is interested in the neutral proposals for resolving the test ban deadlock.

Phone Changes Not Planned Now

There is no proposal "at this time" to remove Sanford from the toll-free calling area of DeBary, Southern Bell Manager Bob Shadden reported today.

Shadden said the first step toward possible extended service for DeBary subscribers into the Orange City-DeLand area is presently underway.

The survey is being conducted by post cards among DeBary residents and involves a monthly rate increase for the extended service, Shadden explained.

In October, Shadden said a real struggle had been under way to get phone service for the new Mackle brothers development, Deltona, for Sanford.

He explained that part of Deltona will be in the Sanford exchange.
