$46 Million Fraud Charged

Briton Bilks Thousands Of U.S. Investors

From staff and wire reports
ORLANDO — A British citizen now in jail in the United Kingdom has been indicted by a federal grand jury here on charges relating to his defrauding more than 3,000 U.S. investors of $46 million.

Alex Herbage, 55, is charged with mail fraud and interstate transportation of property obtained by fraud in the indictment returned Wednesday.

According to the indictment, Herbage promised to invest the victims' money in gold bullion, commodities and European currencies through his company, Caprimex Co.

The indictment alleged Herbage instead used the money to purchase an estate in Scotland, an English manor house, Rolls Royce and Mercedes-Benz cars, paintings, sculptures and other expensive artworks, lease an apartment in Paris and charter private jets.

The assets were part of a scheme to

Hazardous Waste Firm Considers Alternate Sites

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Fearful that the county commission may not grant a special exception to permit a hazardous waste transfer station on Silver Lake Road, an official of Hazardous Waste Consultants Inc. told the Seminole County Code Enforcement Board Thursday she is considering three other sites.

Nearly 100 homeowners were vocal in their opposition to the Silver Lake Road site.

Fat Vindett, vice president and manager of HWC was ordered by the code board in June to halt the firm's transfer station operation on agriculturally zoned property on the north side of W. State Road 46 near Miranda Lake. County staff said hazardous waste facilities are not permitted in any zone except industrial.

Ms. Vindett appeared before the board Thursday asking how she can get a time extension on the order which gave her until Sept. 30 to cease the operation there or face fines of as much as $200 a day.

But Ms. Vindett said she may have to ask for more time. But she has three other possible sites for the transfer operation.

- A 1.34-acre tract north of Charles St. and west of County Road 427, near Charlotte Street, which is almost surrounded by territory within the city limits of Longwood.

- A 1.37-acre parcel north of State Road 419, one-half mile west of SR 434 near the intersection of Old Sanford-Oviedo Road. This site is almost surrounded by territory within the city limits of Longwood.

- A 2.68-acre site on the northwest corner of Riverview Avenue and SR 46, west of Sanford.

Ginny Markley, county zoning coordinator, said Ms. Vindett has asked for special exceptions for the three sites.

If the Board of Adjustment approves of any one of the three sites, Ms. Vindett said she will be able to move from the W. SR 46 location by the deadline and will not need the county commission public hearing on the Silver Lake parcel.

If none is approved and the county commission does not overrule the Board of Adjustment on the Silver Lake property, she said she will need more time to move the operation from the W. SR 46 tract.

To seek the extension she was advised by Code Enforcement Board Chairman Sara Jacobson to bring expert witnesses with her to the board meeting on Sept. 26 to show that the waste chemicals are not potentially flammable or hazardous.

"I'm nervous about what may be a dangerous situation," Miss Jacobson said, adding she would have to be convinced that her fears are unfounded before she

Crime Rate Up; Why Unclear

From staff and wire reports
TALLAHASSEE — Murder is on the decline, but the number of major crimes in Florida is up 10.1 percent this year, and authorities are blaming the drug trade.

But whether the increase in the crime rate is the result of more crime or more investigative efforts is in doubt.

"The drug flow is not necessarily increasing. We didn't say that there were more drugs," said Fred Schneyer, information officer for the Department of Law Enforcement.

Instead, he said, drugs appear to be involved in an increasing variety of crimes.

By way of an example, he said illegal drugs have become so common that some people who sell stolen goods in south Florida are now being paid off in drugs.

He said stepped-up enforcement could also have influenced the statistics and make it appear that there is an increase of crime when actually only more arrests have been made.

"It stands to reason that as you have more police activity on a crime you would have more (statistical) activity on that crime," he said.

"Florida's continual battle with foreign narcotics importation and domestic drug use and cultivation is a major factor in the increased crime volume," said Robert Dempsey, commissioner of the Department of Law Enforcement.

Between January and June this year, the state recorded 396,281 compared with 359,934, a rise of 36,347, according to a report released Thursday by the FDLE. That figures out to a 10.1 percent increase.

Figuring the crime rate per 100,000 of population, the increase comes to 6.9 percent.

Last year the number of major crimes reported in the state increased by 3.4 percent, ending two years of decline.

Fewer murders were reported in the state so far this year, but reports of robbery, rape, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and vehicle theft have all jumped.

Auto theft jumped by 10.7 percent and robberies were up 7.6 percent.

Dempsey said the drug problem complicates the crime

Sanford Man Killed After Being Hit By 3 Cars

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A hard-of-hearing retired grave digger was struck by three cars and killed as he walked on U.S. Highway 17-92 south of DeBary Thursday.

Frank Hicks, 85, of Apt. 92, Redding Gardens, Sanford, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. He is the 65th traffic-related fatality of the year in Volusia County to date.

Hicks was walking north in the northbound lane of 17-92 around 11 p.m. when he was struck from behind by a 1966 Buick driven by Robert Phillips, 50, of 35 Volusia Drive, DeBary, according to an FHP report.

After the Buick struck Hicks, he was run over by a 1982 Dodge driven by Janice Clark, 31, of Almerander Ave., DeBary, and shortly after that was run over again by a 1977 Ford driven by Herbert Winland, 37, of 31 Bougainvillea Drive, DeBary.

Friends and relatives of Hicks say they have no idea why the Sanford native would be walking near DeBary, though it apparently was not his first jaunt to the area.

"He was there about six months ago, maybe longer," said his 89-year-old brother, John H. Hicks, also of Sanford.

"He rode his bicycle over then and a man brought him back. He don't have a bike now so he must have walked," said Hicks.

"He was with me all yesterday morning," said Hicks. They shared a couple of soft drinks around 11 a.m. Hicks said his brother was in a good mood and was as sharp as ever. "He had a good mind. He wasn't crazy. But you never know what can happen," he said.

Mrs. Bonnie Johnson, manager of the Sanford Housing Authority apartment complex where Hicks lived, described Hicks as a friendly man and said she saw him just before 5 p.m. at the complex apparently getting his mail.

She said she made a big wave so he could see her since his hearing was bad.

Picked Lotto Numbers At Random

Assembly Line Workers Share Jackpot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three winners will share a record $41 million lottery jackpot, including a factory worker who said Thursday he "just picked at random" when he filled out a ticket for himself and 20 fellow employees.

Celso Manuel Garcete and two others who have not been identified were the only holders of winning tickets in a Lotto contest that produced the largest total prize in the history of North America.

Garcete, 44, of the New York City borough of Queens, said he and the other assembly line workers at the George Hantscho Co., in Mount Vernon, N.Y., which manufactures printing presses, each put $1 into a pool and bought 21 Lotto tickets.

New York State Lottery Director John Quinn said the three winning tickets were sold in Albany, N.Y., Mount Vernon, N.Y., and the borough of Brooklyn. Each winning ticket holder will get $13,666,667 paid out in annual checks over a 21-year period.

He said the winners would be introduced at a news conference Friday.

Garcete, a Paraguayan who does not speak English and spoke through an interpreter, said the group had a written informal agreement they would share the money equally.

Another member of the group, Peter Lee, 38, of Yonkers, said

Some Pupils Eligible For Free Lunches

Children whose parents or guardian are unable to pay full price for school lunches have the option of receiving free or reduced price lunches under the National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs.

To receive the free or reduced price meals parents should fill out an application available to students at the start of the school year, the Seminole County School Board said in a report.

The information provided on the application is confidential and will only be used to determine eligibility for the program. Applications may be submitted at any time during the school year and information contained therein may be verified by school officials.

Applicants will have to report total monthly household income, listed by the amount received by each household member, names of all household members, the social security number of all household members 21 years old or older; and the signature of an adult member certifying that all information provided is correct.

Households are also required to report increases in income over $50 a month or $600 a year, and should notify school officials if any member becomes unemployed or if there is a change in household size. Such changes may make children eligible for free or reduced price meals even though they may not have been eligible earlier.

Under provisions for the program the principal of each school has been designated to review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent or guardian is dissatisfied with the ruling of the principal that parent has the right to discuss the decision with a determining official. Formal appeals may be made either orally or in writing by contacting Eldon Chambers, director of food service, at 323-4220.

Feminine Pursuit

LAWRENCE Mass. (UPI) — Ralf Traugott, 32, of Lunenburg, Mass., said he has received "phone calls by the hundreds" and a carton full of love letters from women across the country since he was freed from the TWA plane hijacked to Beirut. The women say they can tell from his picture how well they would get along with him and they want to meet him.

"I tell them I have a girlfriend, but they say, 'I know and I don't care,'" he said.

'Stormy Seas'

Imports Driving Southern Fishing Industry On The Rocks

Commercial fishing is a traditional economic stalwart along the coasts of the South Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico, but problems such as imports and insurance are battering the industry and driving some fishermen ashore.

In particular, the shrimp industry — the heart of commercial fishing in the Gulf and South Atlantic — is being challenged by outside troubles.

In 1984, imports accounted for 71 percent of American shrimp consumption — a record — and overhead costs dug deeper into U.S. shrimpers' financial hulls.

"The shrimp industry pretty much drives the fishing industry in the Southeast," said Richard Raulerson, a spokesman for the National Marine Fisheries Service in St. Petersburg. "It's fair to state that because the shrimp industry is facing very stiff competition from imports, the long-term outlook is clearly not good."

"We expect there will be an exit [of fishermen] from the industry, but it's hard to detect so far because it appears many people are trying to hang on. But if things deteriorate from here, it seems clear there will be less fishing — two years from now than there are today."

Shrimp is the No. 1 fishery in the United States with American shrimpers doing more than $488 million in business in 1984 — 97 percent of that in the Gulf and South Atlantic.

But shrimp availability is high across the United States, and with cheaper imported shrimp from Central and South America — Ecuador is at the top of the list — prices continue to plummet.

Based on a study using 1967 dollars, the price of shrimp was $1.35 per pound in 1979 but only 95 cents per pound in 1984.

Combine those figures with increased shrimping costs and it's easy to see why shrimpers — and others like them — are fishing in stormy seas.

"In some instances, we're probably harvesting the maximum that can be harvested," said Jerry Sansom, executive director of the Organized Fishermen of Florida in Melbourne. "We probably need to back off harvesting some because there are probably already as many people in fishing as the industry can support economically."

"But it's not unlike other industries around the country. A lot of the traditional industries are in a rather mature state. You've got to keep looking for something different, something new."

While traditional fisheries such as grouper and red snapper remain solid catches, there is not much expansion from year to year.

Sansom said clams, calico scallops, yellowfin tuna and deep-water crab are among the new and expanding fishing industries in the South.

"We didn't even know we had deep-water crab until a few years ago," Sansom said. "There's always something out there that people haven't developed a taste for yet."

Flounder, always a reliable fish for southern fishermen, was an even bigger catch in 1984.

"Flounder was sort of a good news story in the Southeast," Raulerson said. "Landings were one-third higher in the Southeast (over 1983), while landings of flounder in other parts of the country were down. Because of that, fishermen in the Southeast got bigger prices for those bigger catches. They gained at the expense of some of the other fishermen in the country."

But rising overhead costs, particularly marine insurance, is hooking many fishermen.

The insurance industry has been hit so hard by losses from a rash of sinking and huge crew injury awards that very few companies will write marine insurance any more. Costs have doubled and tripled for boat owners, if and when they can find coverage.

"It's very critical. They've been hit tremendously hard. It's not so much a question of rates; it's a question of whether they can get the insurance or not," said Kell Freeman of the National Marine Fisheries Service in St. Petersburg.

Says Sansom, "There are some operators out there who may be paying 20 to 30 percent of their gross for insurance. A lot of them may not have that much profit margin in there to start with."

"I wouldn't say there's a flock of people leaving the business, but I'd say in the last year there are more people who have decided the margin is too slim. That's a hell of a reason to have to get out of the fishing business," Sansom said.

But Sansom is not overly distressed about the future of the fishing industry, particularly in the South Atlantic or along the Gulf Coast, where more than 40,000 people are employed in the fishing business. He says the outlook is "positive," but it will require some scrambling on the part of fishermen.

"I think the key word for the industry is flexibility," Sansom said. "Our industry has probably been bound by tradition more than most, but making money in the fishing industry in the future isn't going to be like walking down the road and finding a bag of money."

"There is potential there for folks who are smart and willing to do things a little bit differently than the way things have been done in the past. I think there's a bright future. But we might have to change our ways a little to get there."

Doctors Baffled By Amoebic Disease

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Doctors are baffled by a rare brain infection apparently responsible for killing a Florida first-grader who they tried to save with experimental treatment.

Billie Jo Nobles, 8, died at Shands Hospital Tuesday about a week after contracting primary amoebic meningoencephalitis apparently while swimming in Starke Lake near her hometown Ocoee.

PAM is caused when an amoeba, called pathogenic naegleria and found near lake bottoms, enters the nose and travels down the olfactory nerve to the brain and spinal cord, causing severe swelling of the brain tissue, Dr. Ella Ayoub, who treated Nobles, said Wednesday.

"The amoeba causes a rapid swelling of the brain and surrounding tissues," Ayoub said. "It is manifested by severe headaches, high fever and vomiting and is usually confined to children before the age of 15."

The infection was first reported in Australia about 20 years ago, Ayoub said, and is now most prevalent in the Southern United States. The chances of contracting PAM are about 1 in 2.5 million.

"When the children dive into the lake, water is forced up their noses," Ayoub said. "From there, the amoebas in the water travel up the olfactory nerve, ending up in the brain and spinal cord. We are not sure why the disease is restricted to children, but it is thought it has something to do with the anatomical development of their noses."

Nobles first complained to her parents of headaches and a "queasy feeling" on Saturday, Ayoub said. She was admitted to West Orange Hospital in Orlando Sunday, where doctors performed a spinal tap that confirmed the PAM infection. She was transferred to Shands Monday morning on the brink of a coma.

Ayoub said the treatment he tried on Nobles Monday night was purely experimental, involving injection of antibiotics into the brain tissue.

The organism has been shown to be susceptible to antibiotics used in treating a fungal infection," Ayoub said. "We tried to bypass going through the blood with the antibiotic and go directly to the site of the infection in the brain."

"The procedure involved injecting antibiotics through a tube directly into the brain tissue. It has been used only once, on a girl in California, who is the only known survivor of the disease."

Ayoub said the infection acts quickly and symptoms soon appear.

"The symptoms of PAM usually appear in three to five days, sometimes less," Ayoub said. "They usually lead to a coma. More times than not, the coma leads to death."

Long Term Presser Probe Jeopardized By The FBI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI failed to inform the Justice Department that it allowed Teamsters President Jackie Presser to make payments to "ghost employees," jeopardizing a 32-month investigation of the union leader. The Washington Post reported.

The Post said FBI Director William Webster only learned of Presser's role as an informant and the agency's elaborate scheme late into the investigation.

Federal prosecutors in Cleveland were never told the FBI approved of Presser's ghost-employee scheme, which they were investigating, the newspaper said.

A "ghost employee" neither reports nor works for an organization but receives a paycheck.

Attorney General Edwin Meese III said the FBI's handling of the Presser case "is being looked at at the present time internally."

Sources told the Post the ghost-employees scheme adhered with Justice Department guidelines that permit some illegal activity to snare more important criminals.

Son Of Tobacco Heiress Charged With Her Murder

NAPLES (UPI) — The son of a millionaire tobacco heiress was arrested Thursday in a car bombing that killed his mother and brother and wounded a sister in the driveway of the family home, investigators said.

Steven Benson, 33, was arrested in Fort Myers, where he lives, and taken to Naples to be charged with two counts of first-degree murder and one count of attempted murder, agents of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms said.

Tobacco heiress Margaret Benson, 63, and her son, Scott Benson, 21, were killed in the July 9 explosion. A sister, Carol Benson Kendall, 40, was injured in the blast.

Investigators said a search this week of the family home in Naples led to the arrest but declined to elaborate.

Authorities said Margaret Benson left a $10 million estate.

Wednesday, Circuit Judge Hugh Hayes revoked a will that attorney Wayne P. Kerr wrote for Margaret Benson in 1983, naming him as executor.

The ruling made valid a second will drafted this year by Naples attorney Guion T. DeLoach at Margaret Benson's request, authorities said. The second will named Steven and Carol Benson as co-executors.

Margaret Benson was the wife of Edward Benson, the late chairman of the board of the Lancaster Leaf Tobacco Co. of Pennsylvania. Her husband died in 1980 shortly before she moved to Florida.

Margaret and Scott Benson were sitting in a Chevrolet Suburban in the Quail Creek subdivision when the vehicle exploded. Investigators said the bomb went off when Scott Benson turned the ignition key.

They said Kendall survived because she had opened the door but had not yet entered the car when the bomb went off. They said Steven Benson was in the house at the time of the explosion.

The home is located near the Quail Creek Country Club golf course. Margaret Benson was a member of the club.

Be Safer, Buy A U.S. Car

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new insurance industry study concludes that Japanese-made automobiles afford less protection against injuries and sustain more damage in accidents than larger American-built cars.

The study confirms what most people already suspected: in general, bigger cars protect you more in an accident and sustain less damage," said Brian O'Neill of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

The study, by the Highway Loss Data Institute, was based on model years 1982 to 1984. The two institutes are supported by the insurance industry.

The report said the 181 most popular cars in the United States vary greatly in the likelihood of insurance claims for the occupant and vehicle crash damage.

The study showed Japanese-made models dominated the list of cars with poor experience in both categories and that big domestic cars fared well. European cars generally were judged to be good on the safety side but sustained more than the average damage.

The report said models with the worst injury and vehicle damage losses are the Nissan Pulsar, Mitsubishi Cordia, Chevrolet Chevette and the Plymouth Colt two-door, which is made by Mitsubishi.

Models with the best results in both categories are the Oldsmobile 88, Buick LeSabre, Mercury Grand Marquis and Chevrolet Caprice, all four-door autos.

Also scoring high are the Dodge Caravan, Plymouth Voyager, Chevrolet Caprice and American Eagle 30 — all station wagons or vans, and the two-door Ford Crown Victoria.

The report said that among the small two-door cars, the model with the worst injury experience — the Nissan Pulsar — is more than twice as bad as the auto with the best experience, the Saab 900.

The findings should provide a good prediction of the experience of current models of the same cars unless the 1985 and 1986 models are completely redesigned, the study said.

Pair Sues City Over Use Of Fire Lane

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

The owners of a Casselberry video game arcade are suing the city and the police department because officers keep issuing them tickets for parking their car in a nearby fire lane while they unload heavy bags of coins.

In a second suit filed Wednesday, a Sanford woman is suing the city of Sanford because she tripped on a city-maintained sidewalk.

In the first incident, a civil suit seeking an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000 was filed Wednesday by Jayne Drake Wayson and George Wayson, both of Orlando and owners of The Fun Place, in Seminole Plaza, Casselberry. The five-count suit is against the city of Casselberry and Police Chief Fred McGowan, who was in charge of the officers who ticketed the Waysons' vehicles.

The suit is the result of the city's and the Waysons' inability to reach an agreement regarding the use of the fire lane in front of their business.

The Waysons maintain they need to park periodically in the fire lane every week between 6 and 8 a.m. to unload bags of coins which sometimes weigh 25 to 30 pounds. They state in the suit that such an activity is permitted by the city code of Casselberry.

The city, however, wants the Waysons to limit when and how long they park in the fire lane and to have an officer nearby when the money transfer takes place, according to letters in the suit file.

The escalating disagreement began with a parking ticket Aug. 27, 1983 and festered with the subsequent issuing of three more parking tickets, according to letters in the suit between lawyers representing the couple and the city.

According to the Waysons, County Judge Wallace Hall dismissed the Aug. 27, 1983, parking ticket finding that the couple could use the fire lane for loading and unloading, according to city code. They state in the suit that the ticketing officer testified that vehicles working for several business in the plaza park in the fire lane and that they were never ticketed.

Following the dismissal of the ticket the couple continued to use the lane. On Dec. 2, 1984, they each got a ticket for parking in the lane. Wayson was further ticketed for parking in the fire lane April 14, according to the suit.

They state the city is not following the decision and opinion of Judge Hall that they could park there from time to time.

According to letters in the suit, the city has requested the Waysons to meet with city representatives and work out their problems but apparently such efforts were not successful.

The couple want a circuit judge, which represents a higher court than a county judge, to order the city to allow them to park in the fire lane and further to declare the city code regarding the parking in the fire lane unconstitutional.

The Waysons state in the suit that the code is "so vague that a person of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning."

The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. No trial date has been set.

In the second suit filed Wednesday, a Sanford woman is suing the city of Sanford claiming the city failed to properly maintain a sidewalk.

Emily T. Jameson is seeking an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

She states in her suit that on Nov. 8, she tripped on a "protrusion" sticking out of a sidewalk beside Palmetto Avenue. She states in the suit that the city failed for years to maintain the sidewalk, allowing the protrusion and also allowing the sidewalk surfaces to become uneven.

She states she suffered injury, pain, mental anguish and medical expenses. She asks for a trial by jury.

As of Wednesday, the suit was unsigned and no trial date had been set.

Historic Designation For Downtown? Sanford Eyes Proposal To Preserve Old Time Atmosphere

To preserve downtown Sanford's old-time flavor, the Sanford City Commission is expected to declare part of the area a historic district.

Commissioner John Mercer has proposed that a part of downtown Sanford from Myrtle Avenue to Sanford Avenue and from Commercial Avenue to Third Street be designated a historic district. A smaller part of that area, from First Street to Second Street and from Palmetto Avenue to Oak Avenue, is all ready registered as an architectural historic district with the Department of Archives and History, according to Sara Jacobson, chairman of the city Scenic Improvement Board and an owner of a downtown business.

The commission discussed the proposal at its Monday workshop and is expected to approve it at its regular meeting next Monday.

The plan has the backing of the Scenic Improvement Board, which listed establishing a historic district as one of the goals in its 16-page plan to beautify the city.

Along with declaring the area, which contains some buildings which date back to the early 1900s, a historic area, the commission also proposes creating a historic district council.

The council would monitor development in the district to ensure it would be in keeping with the historic nature of the area. Before building anything in the district, a developer would have to get a "certificate of appropriateness" from the city, Miss Jacobson said.

She predicted the proposal would be upheld in court if challenged by someone not conforming with the rules.

Miss Jacobson said with all the construction downtown the proposal is needed to make sure the historic nature of the area is preserved.

The board backs the plan, she said, because the district is an important drawing card for Sanford.

South Seminole County may be more affluent and modern, she said, "but what we have that is unique is our historic flavor."

Orlando Man Pleads Guilty To Forgery Charges

An Orlando man caught with a stolen credit card has pleaded guilty in Circuit Court to two counts of forgery.

Robert Russell Olin, 53, entered the plea before Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler who set Oct. 21 for sentencing. Olin could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records, Olin presented the stolen card at Albertsons on State Road 434, at Wekiva Springs Road, Longwood, March 22. When the store clerk made a call to check on the validity of the credit card Olin left the store leaving behind the items he was buying and the card, a sheriff's report said.

Olin was nabbed outside the store by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy.

He was being held today in the Seminole County jail in lieu of bond.

Slack, Lantrip Near Starting Spots For UCF

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

The contributions of Seminole County football players to the University of Central Florida program have not brought rave reviews in the past six years.

In the early years, Casselberry's Billy Giovanetti was a top performer, earning Division III All-America honors in 1981 as a hard-hitting linebacker.

This year, however, first-year UCF coach Gene McDowell said he expects more from the area west of UCF. McDowell said Thursday night that Darin Slack, a sophomore quarterback from Lake Howell, and Mac Lantrip, a tightend from Lake Brantley, are "neck and neck for starting positions."

Slack and Lantrip are joined by Oveido's Tom Johnson and Lyman walk on Willie Perkins as the countians vying for positions with the Knights. McDowell said Lake Mary's Donald Grayson, one of the Knights' blue chip recruits, has decided to brush up on his grades at Seminole Community College before entering UCF later this year. Brian Hamman, a top-notch offensive lineman from Lake Brantley, decided not to play.

"The football in Florida, and Seminole County in particular, has gotten much better in the last five years," said McDowell, who kept an eye on the Sunshine State as an assistant coach at Florida State. "We don't feel the need to recruit out of state because of the talent in Florida."

McDowell, however, did say when he is contacted from out of state and the prospect is too good to pass up, he will take a look at the young man on film.

That situation occurred concerning Tony Lanham, a rifle-armed quarterback who is currently going head to head with Slack for the No. 1 job. "Darin had a better spring practice but Tony did better in the spring game," said McDowell. "They have been almost even this fall."

McDowell said he came upon Lanham after a phone call from Tony's father. Tony went to Kentucky his freshman year but that was the year (Jerry) Claiborne took over for Fran Curci," said McDowell. "Tony was a thrower in high school. Claiborne was going with an option attack so Tony left."

Lanham moved to Northeast Mississippi Junior College where he turned in a good year. "His daddy called me, we looked at the films and were impressed," said McDowell about his 6-3 sophomore.

While McDowell is still sizing up his quarterbacks, he is very familiar with his defensive end turned tightend, Mac Lantrip, a standout player for the Patriots several years ago, began his college career with McDowell at Florida State.

The muscular Lantrip, however, returned to this area last year and enrolled at UCF with an eye toward the '85 campaign. McDowell said he is happy to be reunited with Lantrip and happier with the attitude the ex-Patriot is showing.

"Mac knew we were short at tightend," said McDowell. "He was doing a great job as defensive end but he came to me and volunteered to move to tightend. You got to like that. He's not No. 1 yet. But he's really pushing Brian Makar and he has a chance to beat him out."

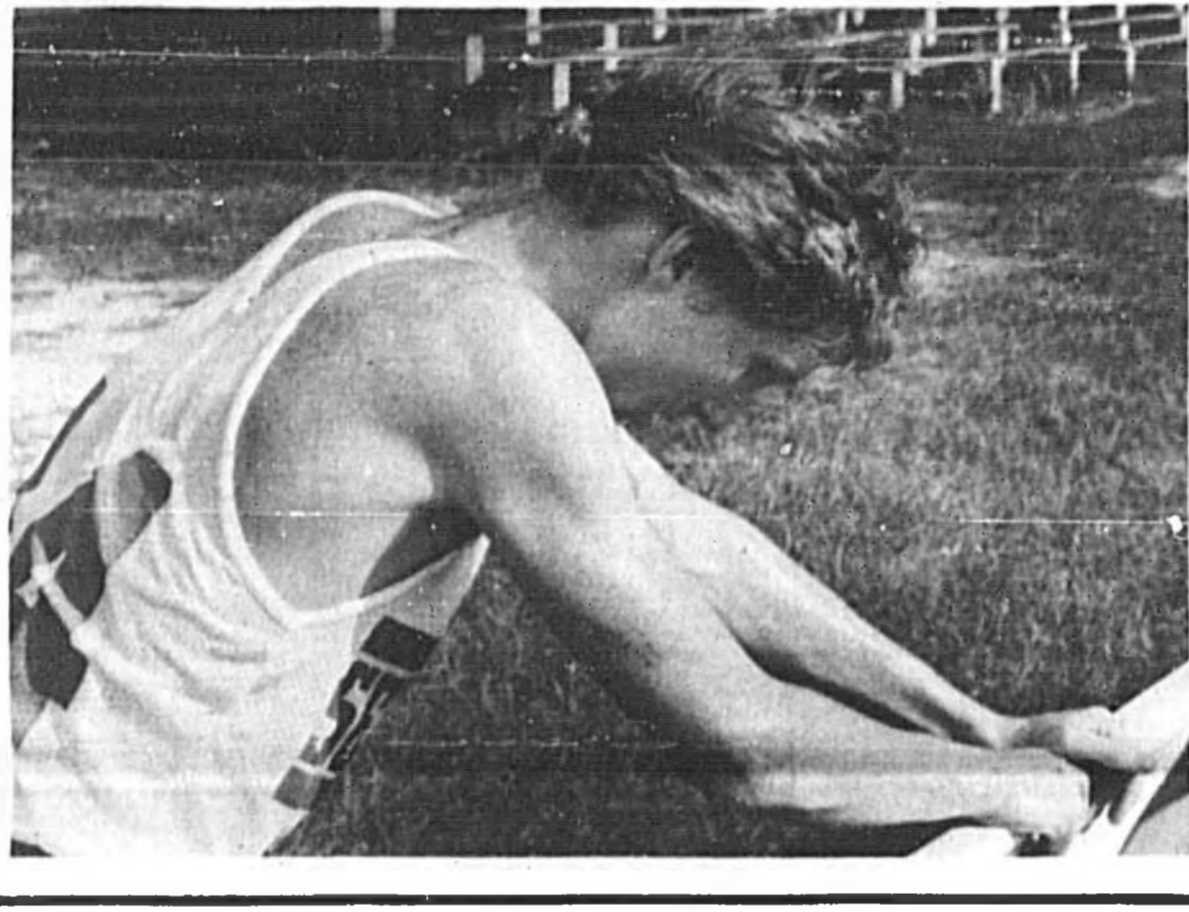

McDowell said he expects Johnson, a junior, and Perkins, a sophomore, to make sizeable contributions. "Johnson is a second-team guard right now," said McDowell. "Perkins has only been out a couple of days because we just got his eligibility cleared up. He had a rough first day but looked a lot better the second."

Agony Or Ecstasy?

Will it be agony or ecstasy? That's what Seminole County's prep cross country runners are wondering as Saturday's Seminole Summertime Jamboree approaches. Probably a little bit of both. The meet, held every year at Seminole Community College, is the first test of endurance for the county's prep standouts. At the right, Seminole's state 4A mile champ Billy Penick takes a breather. Above, left, Lake Howell's Lisa Samocki pushes toward the finish line. Above, right, Seminole's Dorchelle Webster closes her eyes as she reaches the end of the chute. The first race begins at 5:30 p.m.

Johnson, Miami Agree To Terms

MIAMI (UPI) — For the first time in a long time, there was some good news at the Miami Dolphins training camp Thursday.

Tight end Dan Johnson, one of four starters out of camp in contract disputes, agreed to terms on a multi-year contract and should begin practicing with the team next week. Terms of the deal were not released.

Johnson's signing reduces to four the number of veterans out of camp in contract disputes. Three — starting linebacker Bob Brudzinski, starting safety Glenn Blackwood and quarterback-receiver Jim Jensen — do not have contracts. All three are represented by Howard Slusher.

The fourth holdout is No. 1 quarterback Dan Marino.

Linebacker Bob Brudzinski is one of four remaining Dolphin holdouts.

Johnson, entering his third year out of Iowa State, has started every regular season game since 1983. He spent his rookie season in 1982 on injured reserve.

Koreans Go After 2nd Title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — Mexico, which advanced with a 2-1 triumph over Morristown, Tenn., will try to deny Seoul, South Korea its second straight Little League World Series title when the teams meet Saturday.

D.H. Kim hit a three-run homer and had two doubles Thursday to send Seoul into the championship game of the Little League World Series against Mexico with a 16-0 trouncing of Binbrook, Ontario.

Seoul, which topped the Altamonte Springs National League All-Stars last year in the title game, sent 12 batters to the plate in collecting six hits and seven runs in the third inning. Three homers accounted for eight Seoul runs, including S.J. Lee's three-run shot and pitcher Kyung-Hwan Cho's two-run blast.

Cho, who went the distance for Seoul, allowed six hits and struck out nine. He fanned five straight in the second and third innings. Ten of 11 Seoul players had at least one hit.

Starter Paul Griff, the first of four Binbrook pitchers, was the loser. Second baseman Todd Zavitz, who finished on the mound for Binbrook, was 3-for-3. Aaron Nasby also doubled for Binbrook.

In the second semifinal, both Mexico runs were unearned. The deciding run came in the top of the sixth — the final inning — on a mental lapse and error by Morristown shortstop Richie Conway, who provided his team with its only run when he homered in the first.

Leonardo Ramos opened the sixth for Mexico with a single and advanced to second on a bunt by Omar Mendez, who was safe at first on a fielder's choice.

Santiago Villacusa then fired to right fielder Brian Shepard, who threw to Conway. Thinking it was the third out, Conway threw the ball to the ground as Ramos raced home with the winning run.

Conway, who committed three errors, ran into more hard luck in the bottom of the inning. After he was hit by a pitch, pitcher Brian Cornwell doubled to center and Conway, attempting to score the tying run, was tagged out between third base and home.

Mexico got its first run when Conway bobbled Ramos' grounder for his first error. Ramos eventually scored on two wild pitches.

The starters for both teams went the distance. For Mexico, Mendez allowed only four hits, struck out 10 and walked none. Cornwell permitted seven hits.

Hustler Riggs Depicts Challenge Impossible

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Sounding just like the hustler he is, Bobby Riggs terms his task as "mission impossible."

How sincerely he believes this, only the 67-year-old con man knows for sure.

Riggs, who has earned a princely sum with various self-promotions through his long life, is assured of at least $100,000 tonight when he teams with Vitas Gerulaitis in a doubles match against Martina Navratilova and Pam Shriver.

Known as The Challenge, the best-of-five sets match is scheduled to start at 9 p.m. EDT at the Atlantic City Convention Center.

"We're giving 48 years away, and in tennis to keep the competition even you can't give more than five years away," Riggs said Thursday. "When guys in the 50s try to play guys in the 45s, they're in big trouble. And when the 45 guys try to play the 40 guys, forget it."

"Vitas and I are up against mission impossible. Why else do you think these women would agree to play this match? If you were playing golf this would be like a 2-stroke handicap each hole. The girls are extremely confident."

Riggs added, "I'm going to look like I'm in triple slow motion. But I like a longshot."

Quite possibly, Riggs doesn't believe anything he says, and is saying what he says to throw all the pressure on the women and perhaps boost their confidence to an unsafe level. Regardless, he's the one with less to lose than any of his friends.

"We've gotten a lot of needles about it," Shriver said. "I'm sure Vitas has too. I don't think anyone will throw us out of the locker room. I hope we don't have to face that."

The winning team will split $300,000 with the losers settling for $200,000. The match will be carried by cable television to parts of the United States, Europe, Australia, Southeast Asia and Central America.

Flat Banks

Seminole's Eddie Banks looks to the flat for a receiver while Alan Kendall, right, looks down field. Banks, normally, a running back will be used to throw the halfback pass this year, according to head coach Dave Masure. Childress Stays Unsigned, But Houston Inks Johnson

United Press International
What can you buy with $1.7 million? Apparently, a No. 2 draft pick, but not a No. 1 choice.

While the Houston Oilers' offer of $1.7 million is the reason No. 3 overall pick Ray Childress won't sign, that amount Thursday appeared their No. 2 choice Richard Johnson — another first-round pick — enough to come to terms.

The signing of Johnson, a cornerback picked 11th overall, leaves only Childress, a defensive end from Texas A&M, and New York Jets wide receiver Al Toon unsigned among NFL first-round picks.

Childress said Monday he was willing to split the difference between the $1.7 million offer and the $2 million he wants. The Oilers' offer is for four years, including a $700,000 signing bonus.

Elsewhere:
— New Orleans Saints coach Bum Phillips said he will not choose the starting quarterback for Saturday's pre-season game against the Tampa Buccaneers until the day of the game.

Football

"It keeps all of them competing right down to the last minute for the job," Phillips said of his three prospective quarterbacks.

Dave Wilson is listed on the first team on the Saints' depth chart, with 1984 starter Richard Todd No. 2 and USFL defector Bobby Hebert is No. 3.

— At Miami, Dolphins coach Don Shula got a look at yet another quarterback when Joe Pisarcik practiced with the team.

— The Lions, looking for some backup help in the secondary, signed free-agent cornerback Clarence Chapman. Chapman last played for the USFL's Michigan Panthers in 1983 and 1984.

— The Jets, in dire need of offensive tackles, claimed veteran Sid Abramowitz on waivers and signed free agent Steve August. The Jets kept their roster at 60 players by cutting tackle John Kasperaki and placing inside linebacker Troy Benson injured reserve.

Rawley Cools Off Dodgers, 2-0

Strawberry's HR Lifts Mets; Cards Win, 2-1

United Press International—As the Los Angeles Dodgers demonstrated, baseball is truly the American pastime. You can be rich one day and dead broke the next.

After scoring 15 runs and collecting 22 hits against Philadelphia pitchers Wednesday night, the Dodgers got only four hits off left-hander Shane Rawley Thursday night and lost to the Phillies, 2-0.

"One thing about this game is that you can't save the hits," said Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda, referring to his team's 15-4 rout of the Phillies Wednesday night. "We had some chances tonight but didn't cash them in. Jerry Reuss pitched well enough to win."

"We wore them down last night," joked Phillies Manager John Felske. "The difference tonight was Rawley. He was outstanding, he had good stuff, a great fastball."

Rawley, 10-6, struck out three and walked three posting his first shutout since July 17, 1983, when he was with the New York Yankees.

The 30-year-old left-hander also contributed two hits, including an RBI double.

The Phillies turned three double plays in support of Rawley.

"I had a little trouble getting my rhythm early but once I settled down I felt I was in control the rest of the game," Rawley said. "I felt just as strong at the end of the game as I did at the first few innings."

N.L. Baseball

Padres. The loss was the fourth straight for the Expos, who have been blanked in three of those games. Tim Lincecum had two of the Expo hits to raise his batting average to .304.

Mets 7, Giants 0
At New York, Darryl Strawberry drove in four runs and Terry Leahy, 2-1, hurled a three-hitter to lead the Mets to their 14th victory in 18 games. Strawberry hit a two-run homer off loser Vida Blue, 5-6, in the sixth inning and added a two-run infield single in the seventh as the Mets notched their 14th victory in the last 18 games.

Pirates 5, Reds 1
At Pittsburgh, Rick Rhoden went 2-for-3, drove in a run and scattered six hits in eight innings in lifting the Pirates to victory. Cincinnati player-manager Pete Rose collected a single in four at-bats to move within 13 hits of breaking Ty Cobb's career record of 4,191.

Cardinals 2, Astros 1
At Houston, pinch hitter Brian Harper singled in a run and reliever Bill Dawley walked Mike Jorgensen with the bases loaded to highlight a two-run ninth inning that gave the Cardinals their victory. The triumph enabled St. Louis to remain one-half behind the first-place Mets in the NL East.

Cubs 3, Braves 2
At Atlanta, pinch hitter Thad Bosley drilled a 3-2 pitch over the right-center field fence to lead off the ninth, helping the Cubs complete a three-game sweep of the Braves. Bosley, batting for reliever Ron Meredith, 2-0, homered off Rick Camp, 2-6.

Atlanta's Craig McMurtry faces a tough task tonight when the St. Louis Cardinals invade Fulton County Stadium. The Braves' right-hander will try to keep Joaquin Andujar from winning his 20th game. The game will be televised on WTBS beginning at 7:35 p.m.

Becker Survives Scare, Turns Back Sadri In 3rd

MASON, Ohio (UPI)—Boris Becker, the 17-year-old Wimbledon champ, survived a scare, but still advanced to the quarterfinals of the $375,000 Association of Tennis Professionals Championship.

The young West German was extended to three sets in Thursday night's third round before rallying to beat unseeded John Sadri of Charlotte, N.C., 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

"I thought I had him beat," said Sadri. "But the guy is a great shot-maker. He's going to be a great player."

Becker, seeded fourth in the tournament, meets unseeded Hank Pfister of Bakersfield, Calif., in the quarterfinals to-night.

Two quarterfinal matches will be all Swedish affairs — top-seeded Mats Wilander vs. No. 5 seed Stefan Edberg and second-seeded Anders Jarryd against No. 6 Joakim Nyström.

In the other quarterfinal, Tim Wilkison of Asheville, N.C., who upset third-seeded Yannick Noah of France Thursday, meets Jimmy Brown of Largo, Fla.

Becker and Sadri were deadlocked 4-4 in the third and deciding set before Becker finally took control. He broke Sadri in the ninth game and then finished strong, keeping Sadri without a point in the final game.

Asked if he was worried about being upset, Becker said, "I thought always I had a good chance to beat him. I knew he had a very good serve, but my returns were better and I put the pressure always on him. He had to take some risks."

"It was a good match, best match of the tournament for me," added Becker. "I played better and better as the match went along."

In other third round results, Wilander celebrated his 21st birthday by beating Ken Flach of Prairie Oaks, Fla., 6-1, 6-4; Jarryd defeated Marc Flur of Durham, N.C., 7-5, 6-4; and Edberg ousted Tom Gullickson of Palm Coast, Fla., 6-4, 6-2.

Also, Nyström beat Terry Moor of Memphis, Tenn., 2-6, 6-4, 7-6; Pfister defeated eighth-seeded Henrik Sundstrom of Sweden, 6-0, 8-1; and Brown eliminated Bill Scanlon of Dallas, 7-5, 6-1.

Angels Stall Yankees

United Press International

The California Angels treated the New York Yankees Thursday to a dose of Witt.

Mike Witt threw 176 pitches, but stuck around to get the last laugh when pinch-hitter Bob Boone's two-out single in the bottom of the ninth inning scored Bobby Grich from second base with the winning run, propelling the Angels to a 3-2 victory over New York.

The loss snapped the Yankees seven-game winning streak in which they averaged seven runs a game. New York had scored 21 runs in the first two games of its series with the Angels.

"Witt pitched a super game and it took that kind of pitching to stop us," Yankees manager Billy Martin said.

Witt, 11-7, struck out 10 and allowed eight hits in pitching his sixth complete game. The 6-foot-7 right-hander had to take a cortisone shot in his elbow after his last start.

He also put a stop to Don Mattingly's 19-game hitting streak, holding the Yankees' first baseman to an 0-for-5 night.

Grich led off the ninth with a walk off Rich Bordi, 4-5. Juan Beniquez then bunted and Pagliarulo tried for the force at second, but his throw was late, putting runners at first and second.

"I thought he (Grich) held up," Pagliarulo said. "Meach (shortstop Bobby Meacham) said it was a close play so why not give it a shot?"

Martin did not see it that way. "He (Pagliarulo) did not have a shot at him, not a shot," Martin said.

Dave Righetti relieved and looked as if he might pitch out of trouble when he induced pinch-hitter Rod Carew to bunt into a pop out and struck out Jack Howell. But Boone, who has been sidelined recently with a groin injury, lined a single to left.

It was down over the plate, I put the meat of the bat on it, Boone said of the winning hit. "Sometimes they go through and sometimes they don't."

The Angels had tied the score 2-2 in the sixth. Gary Pettis led off with a single and Dick Schofield lined a shot to left-center that Ken Griffey relayed to Meacham, whose throw to catcher Butch Wynegar nailed Pettis at the plate. Brian Downing then cracked his 16th homer, a blast over the left field wall off starter Ron Guidry.

Dave Winfield's run-scoring single gave the Yankees a 1-0 lead.

New York took a 2-0 lead in the fourth on a two-out RBI single by Meacham.

Red Sox 8, Rangers 4
At Boston, Bill Buckner and Marty Barrett each scored twice, helping the Red Sox snap a six-game losing streak. Mike Trujillo, 3-2, making his first start at Fenway Park and only the fourth of his career, scattered eight hits over eight innings. Dickie Niles, 4-7, was the loser.

Royals 7, White Sox 3
At Chicago, Steve Balboni's two-run, sixth-inning homer deep into the left field seats triggered a four-run rally that sparked the Royals. Danny Jackson, 12-7, was the winner. Dan Quisenberry recorded his 30th save.

Mariners 4, Orioles 2
At Seattle, Phil Bradley drove in three runs with a double and homer, and Matt Young scattered five hits to record his first victory since June 25 to help lead the Mariners. Scott McGregor, 10-11, took the loss.

Tigers 5, A's 3
At Oakland, Calif., Darrell Evans led off the 13th inning with his 20th home run, lifting the Tigers Evans' shot to right field came off Keith Atherton, 4-5. Bill Scherrer, 2-1, was the winner. Chuck Cary, making his major-league debut, struck out the side in the 13th for his first save.

The Pittsburgh Pirates failed again to achieve their first three game winning streak of the season. They dropped an 8-5 decision Wednesday to Cincinnati and have now gone 10 games in a row without a win.

The Reds have come from behind in 26 of their 61 victories and have won 19 times in their last 61 bat.

Los Angeles Steve Yeager attended the party yet failed to share in the fun. The Dodgers ripped the Philadelphia Phillies 13-4, getting 22 hits Wednesday against five pitchers. Yeager, however, went 0 for 4.

When Milwaukee's Jim Gantner ignited a game winning outburst with a single in Wednesday's 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins, he also broke an 0-for-14 slump.

Kansas City outfielder Willie Wilson, struck in the back of the neck while attempting to steal in Tuesday night's game, was released from the hospital Wednesday but did not attend the Royals' game in Chicago. He is expected to be back for Thursday's series finale against the Sox.

Productive Fall Garden Needs Organic Material, Fertilizer

In the past few weeks, I've talked about getting your fall vegetable garden started, and in another week or so, you should be ready to go. So, today, we'll wind it up with a discussion on organic material and fertilizers.

As you're well aware of most of Florida soil is sandy and relatively infertile. Adding organic matter and other plant nutrients to a vegetable garden usually pays off in greater productivity. Mixing organic matter in your garden soil improves the soil's ability to hold water and nutrients around the plant roots. And, it helps maintain a stable soil pH, or acid level. This is important as plants can't make good use of fertilizer unless the soil pH is correct.

Organic matter helps in several other ways. It supports bacteria and other beneficial micro-organisms. And, it provides both major and minor plant nutrients which are released slowly. This allows the plants to use such nutrients before they are washed away by rain or irrigation water. Organic matter also helps make use of certain nutrients which are naturally present in the soil. Some elements, such as nitrogen, are found in compounds that won't dissolve in water. In these forms, the nutrients are unavailable to plants. But, as organic materials decompose, certain chemical reactions take place, forming new soluble compounds that will release the needed elements.

Animal manure is an excellent source of organic material. In fact, for organic gardeners, it's probably the best substitute for both other types of organic matter and commercial fertilizers. The manure should be composted or if fresh should be worked into the soil about three weeks before planting. Spread the manure evenly over the surface of the garden area, and work it into the soil with a rake. If you use cow or horse manure, you'll need about 25 pounds for every 100 square feet of garden.

Alfred Besesen
Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 161

With poultry manure, you can get along with about 12 pounds per 100 feet.

For best results, you should supplement the manure application with superphosphate, which is available at most garden supply centers. Use two or three pounds of superphosphate with every 25 pounds of cow or horse manure. One or two pounds with 12 pounds of poultry manure. Organic gardeners may want to substitute ground rock phosphate, or raw bone meal, for the superphosphate. Regardless, be sure the materials are mixed into the soil at least three weeks before planting for best results.

Now, manure may not provide adequate amounts of the major plant nutrients — nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium. And, even if they are present, the relative proportions may not be sufficient for good vegetable production. So, unless you insist on following strict organic gardening practices, it's a good idea to broadcast some common fertilizer, such as 6-6-6, along with the manure.

You can't judge fertilizers by appearance. To obtain the proper types of fertilizers you must understand the label. First, the label will identify the manufacturer or distributor. Next, if the term "organic" is used, there will be a statement identifying the type of material as well as how much is natural and how much is synthetic. For example, natural organic nitrogen is released slowly. So, if fertilizer containing a high percentage of this material would be good for lawns, helping them stay green without causing spurts of extra fast growth.

The key information is found in the "guaranteed analysis" section of the label, the small print. If you will a series of numbers such as 6-6-6, 8-8-8, or 6-8-6, tell you which, and how much of the primary plant nutrients the fertilizer contains. That is, the numbers show the guaranteed amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium in the fertilizer. A fertilizer labeled 6-8-6 contains six percent nitrogen, eight percent phosphorus, and six percent potassium. Thus, a hundred pound bag of this analysis contains 20 pounds of plant food. The other 80 pounds is accounted for by conditioners and fillers required for even spreading.

You'll see the terms nitrate nitrogen, ammoniacal nitrogen, water-soluble organic nitrogen, urea nitrogen, and water insoluble nitrogen. Plants use nitrate, water-soluble organic, and urea nitrogen fairly quickly. They may work well in a vegetable garden. But, they won't last very long, because they're rapidly leached out of the soil by rain and irrigation water. On the other hand, ammoniacal and water insoluble nitrogen will last longer in sandy Florida soils.

Following the basic analysis is a statement of the maximum amount of chlorine the fertilizer contains. Excess chlorine may be injurious to certain plants — both vegetable and ornamental species. But, small amounts can be beneficial under some conditions.

This is a rather complicated discussion. I hope some of the basic points have been clarified. To obtain the proper fertilizer for your specific vegetable and ornamental gardening needs, you must understand the information on the labels. When in doubt, check with your favorite garden supply center, or the Agricultural Center at Five Points in Seminole County. And, don't forget to mix in a generous quantity of animal manure, compost, or other organic material into your garden spot. Happy gardening!

National Group Offers Help For Stutterers

DEAR READERS: My attention has been called to a handicap that afflicts millions of people, but because it isn't life-threatening in the physical sense, it is minimized. It's the only handicap I know of that is openly ridiculed and made the butt of jokes. It's stuttering.

People who stutter are terrified to answer a telephone, speak up in a classroom, apply in person for a job, ask for a date, order in a restaurant, etc.

Because stutterers are afraid to talk, they are thought to be less intelligent than the average person. Some famous people who were stutterers, but overcame it: Thomas Jefferson, Charles Darwin, Jack Paar and Anthony Quinn, to name a few.

When a stutterer stutters here's what not to do: Don't insert words, or finish phrases for the stutterer. Don't say, "Just think before you speak, and don't talk so fast." These seemingly helpful suggestions don't work.

What can help? There's a National Stuttering Project composed of members who form self-help groups in every state. I have seen their materials and newsletters, and recommend them highly.

Dear Abby

For information about this organization, write to National Stuttering Project, 1209 Seventh Ave., San Francisco, Calif. 94122. Please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I have not been married very long and I need to know how to handle this.

My husband is a very good-looking man who gets a lot of attention from the ladies. His job (attending) puts him on display so to speak, where he can meet a lot of attractive women. Some of them get friendly when they're half-loaded, which is very handy for him because he doesn't have to pay to get them drunk. He also works late hours, which doesn't help our marriage. He should get home by 2 a.m., but sometimes he's not home until 5 or 6. I think he's cheating on me.

Well, I found a strange set of keys in his pocket, so I took them and hid them. I see him going crazy looking for those keys, but I don't say anything. I would like to know whose keys they are.

Should I ask him? You can print this. He never reads your column.

DEAR NEEDS: Don't ask him whose keys they are. A man who cheats will also lie.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED IN DICKINSON, TEXAS:

You have good reason to worry. According to the Mayo Clinic Health Letter, "Cigarette smoking greatly increases your chances of acquiring bladder cancer. Cigarette smokers acquire bladder cancer two to five times more frequently than non-smokers. The hazard increases with the number of cigarettes you smoke daily and the number of years you continue the habit."

Man's Tongue 'On Fire'; Fuel Could Be Medicine

DEAR DR. GOTT — For three years, my husband, 79, has had an agonizing condition in which his tongue and mouth burn terribly during the night. He's been to many specialists, but no one has been able to treat the condition successfully. He has severe chronic obstructive lung disease, but no one has said whether this might cause the mouth condition. Can you offer any diagnosis?

DEAR READER — Sometimes medicine can cause mouth irritation and pain, as can some forms of neuralgia. Your husband's symptoms are unusual, since they occur only at night. I wonder if he could be doing something at night to bring this on; perhaps his dental cleaner is affecting his mouth. Could there be something in his diet, such as alcohol? Does he take one kind of medicine at night? An oral-surgery clinic at a teaching hospital might help him solve this puzzle.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 82 and no matter what I eat, I have a terrible taste in my mouth three or four hours later. What could cause this?

DEAR READER — The sequence of events you describe suggests at least three possibilities.

(1) Food may be catching in and around your teeth and, as saliva digests it, an odor and unpleasant taste may form. Try to clean your teeth after eating. Also, certain foods may react chemically in your mouth to cause the unpleasant taste. Try altering your diet. Add some yogurt as your last course.

(2) You may have an infection in one of your salivary glands. When you put food in your mouth, these glands are stimulated to produce saliva. If infection is present, the infected material may be secreted with the saliva and cause an odor. Check with your doctor or dentist.

(3) The fact that the bad taste develops three or four hours after eating raises the possibility that you may have a digestive disturbance. By four hours after a meal, the food is well digested and is on its way to being excreted. Your doctor or a gastroenterologist can determine whether your digestive process is operating normally.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Two years ago I developed shingles. Right now I need eye surgery, but my doctor thinks I should wait, since the shingles are broken out. What do you think?

DEAR READER — It would be very unusual for the blisters of shingles to remain for two years. You may have continuing pain, tingling or discomfort, but not a rash. Visit a dermatologist to Find out what is going on. Your ophthalmologist is correct in refusing to operate on an eye that is in an infected area. If the rash is on a part of your body away from the eye, he may consent to operate once the dermatologist has begun treatment.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Here is another deal based on taking away the opponents' idle cards. This time declarer got it right.

After East had won the club ace and returned the three to South's king, declarer artfully placed the spade jack on the table. West was not taken in. He quickly played the ace of spades and gave his partner a club ruff. East now returned the heart jack. South won the ace of hearts and played a spade to the king as East discarded a diamond.

If hearts were 3-3, there would be no problem. Since they are not, what should declarer do? The usual approach to such problems is to leave a trump outstanding and play out the high hearts. If they do not split, declarer always has a chance that the long trump will be in the hand with the long hearts, and the last losing heart can be ruffed in dummy.

From declarer's point of view, that was not likely to work on this deal. West had already shown up with five clubs and three spades. If he had four hearts, he would have been dealt a singleton diamond, which he would probably have led.

Declarer decided to take away the opponents' idle cards. He played the diamond ace and ruffed a diamond high, returned to dummy's spade nine and trumped another diamond. But East was already in trouble. On the third spade he had to find a discard.

If he threw a diamond, the forthcoming diamond ruff would make dummy's last diamond good. If he chucked a heart, that suit would run for declarer. So 10 tricks were made via a squeeze.

Sahara Dust Cloud Moves Toward Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — Central Florida skies are expected to be a bit hazy this weekend as a cloud of Sahara dust blows into the state.

The dust, a not-so-threatening byproduct of the drought in Africa, is moving across the Atlantic toward Florida and is expected to arrive this weekend, weathermen said today.

The cloud of dust from North Africa's Sahara desert is 1,000 miles wide and will make the sky look a little hazy and make previously clean cars look a little dirty, they said.

"It's a monster," Gil Clark of the National Hurricane Center said of the cloud's size. "It doesn't hurt anything. It's just a nuisance for people with clean cars."

"Usually they don't get much further north than south Florida, but central Florida will probably get some of the haze this time," Clark said. "It comes out as a white haze. It's not rust colored because as it crosses the ocean it loses its bigger, red particles."

Joseph Prospero, a scientist at the University of Miami, said the clouds have been four times more common in south Florida in recent years because of the African drought.

He said there are two ways to detect the presence of the dust. One is the thin reddish film detectable on cars and other metallic surfaces and the other is the hazy sky.

"The whole sky looks kind of milky," Prospero said.

Death Sentences Upheld

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Supreme Court Thursday upheld death sentences in three separate cases, including the case of the abduction and murder of an 18-year-old heiress on her last night at work at Stuart convenience store.

The justices reversed a fourth death row inmate's murder conviction, saying Robert Larry Gibson should undergo psychiatric evaluation before being brought to trial.

J.B. Parker was one of three men sentenced to die for taking part in the 1982 murder of Frances Julia Slater, granddaughter of multi-millionaire outdoor motor manufacturer Ralph Evinrude and entertainer Frances Langford.

Slater took the late shift job in the L'Il General store — against her family's wishes — to earn spending money. She had agreed to quit, however, telling her family the night of her murder was to be her last in the job.

Parker told police he waited in the car while two accomplices, John Earl Bush and Alphonzo Cave, entered the store and emerged after robbing it and kidnapping Slater. He said they drove to a secluded area where Bush stabbed Slater and shot her in the back of the head as she begged for her life.

At Parker's trial, Bush's girlfriend testified that Parker told her in his prison cell that he shot Slater but planned to let Bush take the blame. Her mother and sister supported her testimony, saying the girlfriend repeated the story to them.

The justices ruled unanimously that Parker's trial judge should have barred the testimony of the mother and sister as hearsay, but said the mistake was not grave enough to affect the outcome of the trial.

The justices also dismissed Parker's contention that blacks were improperly excluded from his jury, saying Parker's lawyers failed to prove the state excluded jurors on the basis of race.

In Gibson's case, the justices ruled 6-2 that the state failed after 7 1/2 years to prove the accused was competent to stand trial.

Justices James Adkins and James Alderman dissented without comment.

Gibson confessed to the 1976 robbery-murder and rape of a Dade County woman. Gibson's trial was delayed until 1984, however, because repeated psychiatric evaluations determined he was too mentally disturbed to assist in his own defense. His last psychiatric evaluation was in November 1981.

The court majority said the trial judge would have held another competency hearing before proceeding with the trial.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Plane Fire Touched Off By Explosion In Engine Chamber

MANCHESTER, England (UPI) — An engine explosion turned a British Airways Boeing 737 into an inferno, killing 54 people, and only quick action by the pilot and crew saved the lives of the other 83 people aboard, authorities say.

The flames engulfed the plane so quickly most of the dead were found still strapped in their seats. Fifteen people were injured, five seriously.

Gil Thompson, Manchester airport chief executive, called the explosion of the engine a "freak accident" and said he saw no reason to ground Boeing 737s.

The plane was speeding down the runway at about 110 mph, preparing for takeoff, when the engine blew up. Thompson said the explosion that triggered the fire apparently occurred in the compression chamber of the engine.

The fire "went through the wing, which of course has the fuel tanks. Once it was ruptured, the fuel then saturated the total fuselage at the rear," he said. The plane's three flight recorders were recovered and were being examined.

6 Killed In Clash With Police

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Six blacks were killed in clashes with shotgun-toting police and at least 24 people were injured as new racial violence flared in black townships across South Africa today.

The violence erupted after the government banned Sept. 1 meetings marking the anniversary of riots that sparked South Africa's worst wave of racial violence.

Police Commissioner Gen. Johan Coetzee Thursday outlawed gatherings marking the anniversary of riots that erupted in Sharpeville Sept. 1. Eighteen towns around Johannesburg — including Sharpeville — had planned gatherings to mark the anniversary.

The violence that began in Sharpeville a year ago initially was directed against rent hikes. But it led to nationwide anti-apartheid protests spurred by introduction of a new constitution giving limited government representation to Asians and mixed-race "coloreds" but continuing to deny the nation's black majority any voice.

One neighbor, and friend for 40 years, said today that she figured something had to have happened to someone she knew because she had a fitful night sleeping.

"I knew something was wrong," said Savannah Stephens, a family friend and neighbor for more than 40 years. She attributed her restless night to Hicks' death.

"What in the world was he doing there that time of night?" said Mrs. Stephens.

She said she chatted with Hicks "He'd talk you to death" — Thursday and was shocked to learn from his niece today that he was killed.

"I am just so upset. I'd take a drink if I could," she said. She said Hicks moved to the apartment complex in March after his home at 709 Cypress Ave. was condemned.

Hicks' home was condemned Jan. 28 by the Sanford City Commission because it was in an "extremely dilapidated condition," according to city hall employees. Records show the house was listing, caving and riddled with termites. Though Hicks did move into a public housing unit, he still owned the land the house stood on, according to records at city hall.

No charges have been filed, though the accident investigation is not complete yet, according to FHP.

Cabinet Approves Controversial Seawall

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Cabinet has embarked on an experiment in coastal protection under which property owners may be granted exemptions to state rules if they guarantee to repair any damage they cause.

The vote to do so came over the objections of Gov. Bob Graham, Attorney General Jim Smith, Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter, the Department of Environmental Regulation and the Florida Audubon Society — each of whom argued allowing any exemption to strict seawall guidelines might undermine the state's new coastal protection law.

But after lengthy debate Tuesday, Secretary of State George Firestone, Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, Comptroller Gerald Lewis and Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington extracted a $90,000 guarantee from the owners of the 500 Beach Road condominiums on Johns Island and gave their blessing for the $250,000 seawall.

"Frankly, I think they're crazy to offer those kind of concessions, but these are people who are protecting their property," said Firestone. "For Lord's sake, let's not prevent people from protecting their homesteads."

The whole deal is contingent on an assurance by Department of Natural Resources lawyers that the guarantees could never be broken.

Residents of the $3.2 million condominium building — including Rosemary Smathers, the mother of former Secretary of State Bruce Smathers and the ex-wife of former U.S. Sen. George Smathers — became alarmed when the storm that ravaged Florida's eastern coast last Thanksgiving left their homes perched within 15 feet of the breakers.

They enlisted Ma Smathers' son to argue their case for a 15-foot long, underground steel wall to prevent further erosion. DNR staff and environmentalists argued against the wall, however, saying seawalls promote scouring water, erasing that eventually destroy entire beaches.

Instead, the DNR said the condo owners should spend $100,000 to sink pilings to anchor their homes to the sand, and should simply dump new sand on the beach to replace the erosion damage. They said the alternative could eventually be replacement of the entire beach by seawalls.

Graham sided with the DNR, saying it would otherwise encourage investment in oceanfront homes that lack adequate safeguards against erosion. Graham said Indian River County officials yet require no anchoring pilings for new beachfront buildings — 14 years after 500 Beach Road was built without them.

"I think the fundamental issue here is whether we're going to deal with our coasts through socialism or free enterprise," Graham said. "I hope that by political action here today we make a decision that we're not going to go down the path of socialism — that we are going to let people live by their economic decisions."

Firestone insisted his motion amounted to an experiment — not a precedent that could ever be applied elsewhere on Johns Island or elsewhere in the state.

Florida Audubon Society President Charles Lee called the vote a bellwether as to which Cabinet members favor tough beach protection and which are attentive to "special interest lobbyists."

Smathers said his former Cabinet position had no bearing on Tuesday's vote.

can vote to grant a time extension.

Ms. Vindett said she will be asking the county commission to postpone a hearing scheduled for Sept. 10 on her appeal of the Board of Adjustment's denial of a special exception to permit a hazardous waste transfer station on the Silver Lake Road property. It is a one-acre tract she planned to lease from Cobia Boat Works. The request was denied after residents of the N. Lake Jesup area and Sanora, as well as owners of nearby industries vehemently opposed the hazardous waste transfer site being located there.

She said she will ask the commission to reschedule the hearing for Sept. 17. Land Development Coordinator John Dwyer said the Sept. 10 hearing has already been advertised and the county commission may be considering a postponement at the 7 p.m. meeting that day. He said an attempt will be made to advise the key opponents to the issue of the postponement possibility.

Ms. Vindett said the postponement may be necessary because she is asking the county Board of Adjustment at its Sept. 16 meeting to consider granting special exceptions to permit a hazardous waste transfer station on the three potential sites.

Ms. Vindett said Thursday HWC is the only company licensed to handle hazardous waste in Seminole County. She said the barrels of waste, none of which are explosive or radioactive, are kept within trailers and transported to federally approved hazardous waste disposal sites within 10 days after being placed at her firm's sites.

Ms. Vindett said it was Hazardous Waste Consultants employees who aided the county recently in disposing of hazardous chemicals found in a garage of a Forest City home. She said the Seminole County fire department called her for assistance. The chemicals were destroyed at the county's Okcala landfill near Geneva.

Top W. German Spy Tracker Defects

BERLIN (UPI) — The head of West Germany's counterespionage department has defected to East Germany, the East German news service ADN said today.

The announcement, expected to rock Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government, came a day after West German intelligence sources reported the official — Heinz Tiedge — had disappeared and might have been an East German agent.

The sources said Tiedge was suspected of being a "mole" — an agent planted in the West German government years ago by East Germany. Three other suspected East German "moles" have slipped out of West Germany in the past three weeks and were believed to have returned to the East.

But they were small fish compared to Tiedge.

Tiedge became head of Department Four — West Germany's counterespionage department — four years ago and was supposed to devote most of his time to tracking down East German spies.

Authorities said he may actually have blocked action against Eastern agents for years.

The East German news service said Tiedge, 48, had asked for asylum in East Germany and that his request was being considered.

Tiedge was the highest West German official to defect since Otto John, the head of the Office for the Protection of the Constitution, disappeared into East Germany many years ago.

The Kohl government was expected to have to explain why its security checks had not resulted in the dismissal of Tiedge.

Even before the Eastern announcement of his defection, special reports that intelligence authorities had brushed aside warnings about Tiedge.

West German television, in interviews carried Thursday night, reported that Tiedge's "lifestyle" was inappropriate for an intelligence official.

A former housekeeper said he drank too much and left files marked top secret, some of them in English, strewn around his home in Cologne.

"maintain both his lavish lifestyle and his credibility as a successful financier," the indictment said.

Robert Ogden, head of the Justice Department fraud section in Washington, said Herbage use a "classic Ponzi scheme" — using money from investors to pay off early investors to make it appear the programs were thriving.

A Harvard County investor was quoted as saying he lost about $12,000 with Herbage but he knew of others who lost $150,000 and $500,000.

A Lake County businessman said he lost $5,000 and "looking back, I feel pretty stupid for not checking it out more thoroughly." But, he said, Herbage's companies sent him monthly statements that his 1982 investment had grown 20 percent the first year and about 10 percent the next year. Then he read an article in Harvard's last December on Herbage's schemes and shadowy past.

U.S. Attorney Robert W. Merkle said the Justice Department will begin extradition proceedings soon.

Herbage was charged with 23 counts of mail fraud and two counts of interstate transportation of property obtained by fraud.

The maximum penalty for each count of mail fraud is five years in prison and a $1,000 fine. The maximum penalty for each count of interstate transportation is 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

There was no information on why the investigation was handled by the Orlando grand jury.

he bought the tickets at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Memorial Stationary store in Mount Vernon. Lee said he has been playing Lotto for five years.

"I couldn't sleep last night. One of the other fellows called me and told me that we won," he said.

Lee said he would not quit his job as a result of winning the lottery.

"I'm going to put my two kids through college," said John Felczar, 46, of Yonkers, another member of the group.

But, Frank Bauer, 52, of Yonkers was not as sure about what he would do.

"I'm going to wait a while before I decide what I'm going to do with the money," he said. Quinn said 578 bettors managed to pick five of the six winning numbers and thus each won a second prize of $2,611.50.

The winning combination was 14-17-22-23-30-47.

Quinn said, "Rumors have been flying that there were winners all over, places like Des Moines, Iowa, and London, England, but that was incorrect. We have three winners validated."

There was no confirmation that Rosa Rota of the Bronx, who had claimed in a call to a radio station that he had won, actually had a winning ticket.

Millions of other Lotto players had to cancel their dreams.

Sandi Trimble, who works for a medical publishing firm, SCP Communications in Manhattan, left a warning on her office computer asking fellow workers to be kind to employee Carol Murphy.

"Returning the clothing she charged at Bendels the other day is awful enough, but having to cancel the Jaguar XKE and calling the real estate agent to let the eight-bedroom, seven-bath Mediterranean colonial Cape Cod in Scarsdale go is downright humiliating," the message said.

The jackpot was the largest lottery prize in North American history, surpassing the $40 million won last September by Michael Witkowski, 29, of suburban Chicago, who split the money with his father, sister and brother.

Just hours before the televised drawing, vendors sold more than 21,000 tickets a minute, New York Lottery spokesman James Nolan said.

The jackpot was as large as it was because nobody picked the winning six numbers in the seven previous drawings, which are held each Wednesday and Saturday.

Miami Family Killed In Wreck

WINTER HAVEN (UPI) — A Miami couple and their four children embarked on the first day of their vacation died instantly in a grinding crash between their pickup truck-camper and an empty livestock semi-tractor trailer Thursday.

The Florida Highway Patrol identified the victims early today as Evangelista Valentin, 54, driver of the pickup truck, his wife, Atilia, 43, and their four children, Lourdes, 16, Nelida, 15, Reynaldo, 12, and Jesus, 7.

Copley said all six victims were thrown from the pickup-camper and were dead at the scene.

The accident occurred about 12:35 p.m. Thursday at U.S. 27 and State Road 540, just five miles east of Cypress Gardens.

Seniors Say It's A Great Way To Meet New Friends

Loose Lips Sink 'Hits'

You can actually work up a good sweat, players claim

'We implore Thee dear Lord to lend wisdom to the senior citizens, golden age and similar adult groups, the president's councils on aging, physical fitness, poverty, etc.; the colleges and universities and their physical education textbook writers, all these and more O Lord, that they may then finally come of age shuffleboard-wise and look intelligently with a scientific attitude of mind into what the shuffleboard of this day and age actually is, and consequently, enjoy the blessings of Your miracle of shuffleboard, namely pleasure, enjoyment, physical exercise, longevity of life, the independent use of one's own intellect thru the strategy entailed herein, and, finally, the greatest open avenue available to meet new friends.'

from The Shuffler's Prayer

It's a game of skill, strategy and stamina, ... but not too heavy on the stamina. Just enough to give granny and gramps a little exercise. But don't think that shuffleboard, long considered an activity strictly for the doddering infirm, is a sport solely for wimps and the over-the-hill set.

It requires mental, if not physical, toughness. And like accomplished practitioners of any sport, shuffleboard players must have that killer instinct.

"If you don't want to win you don't play," said Mattland's Doris Goodkind, who gets in a hot, puck-pushing game at the Casselberry Senior Center whenever she can round up an opponent.

"I try to beat my opponent all the time," she said.

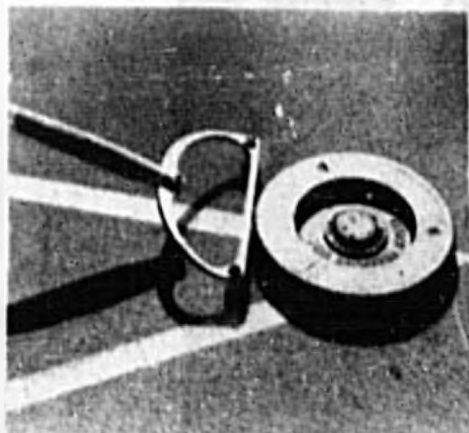

The beatings have been coming all too regularly of late and her usual challenger is "sick of that." He now refuses to play.

Mrs. Goodkind, a widow who is coy about her age and admits only to being over 65, said she has played the sport of seniors for many years, starting on the posh courts of Palm Beach. But she's strictly a pleasure seeker and not queen of the court.

She may not be a champ, but Mrs. Goodkind has skill and style when cueing her puck down the court.

"You have to be aggressive," she said. "You have to block your opponent so he can't get your disc out of it's space. You just can't shoot a disc without thinking what your opponent will do."

Shuffleboard is a game best played,

A pair of early-morning shuffleboard players indicate to their opponents how many points they just scored. On the cover, Karl Berg, left, of Longwood, and Mike Kuck, Sanford, engage in a little shuffling.

This is no game just for the doddering infirm. Even college kids play.

The Big Push

Mrs. Goodkind said, in the Florida spring or fall. But Casselberry's Jack Beltz and wife Edith Agnes defy the Ole Sol of summer by taking to the Senior Center's shuffleboard courts at dusk when it's cooler. They can hardly wait. But then, they're addicted.

It's an addiction Beltz, a former harness racehorse trainer, has yielded to for the last 18 of his 77 years.

"It's a nice game," he said. "And you don't have to be really physically fit like for baseball or running."

But you don't have to be old, either. Beltz said many college students frequently vie with seniors for time on the courts.

Despite what may be a growing popularity, shuffleboard is unlikely to become an Olympic event any time soon. Even in Florida where an estimated 80,000 shufflers belong to about 450 different shuffleboard clubs, it's a sport shunned and scorned by the uninitiated.

But for those in the know there is an International Pro Shuffleboard Classic and other tournaments in which to compete. The non-pro hotshot senior shufflers meet in Sanford each November to test their skills in the Golden Age Games.

Some strive for the medals and rise as the cream of the shuffleboard crop, but the glory for most players usually doesn't extend beyond a bit of court-side praise and gloating. And maybe a small wager here and there.

Television spurns the shufflers. Not even ABC's "Wide World of Sports," known for such esoteric athletic offerings as shark fighting and curling, will give them a tumble.

Last year's top pro shuffleboarders each pocketed about $500 in winnings, a far cry from the rich rewards of sports held in higher public esteem. But what the heck, as long as you can slap disc with cue your good times are up to you.

When it comes to developing skill and style, you're on your own. There are no instructors at schools or civic centers, no one to teach the finer points of the game. Shufflers are self-taught. Fear not, however. The basics of the sport are simple:

Two players, with four discs each, one set red and the other black, alternate shoving the discs with a long-handled cue from the base of one triangle toward a second triangle painted on a smooth-surfaced court 28½ feet away.

One player takes all his shots from the right side of the court and the other shoots from the left. All shots must pass beyond the lag line, which is three feet above the point of the target triangle. If it doesn't that disc is disqualified and taken off the court.

After all eight discs have sailed down the court points are earned for each disc that comes to rest completely within one of five numbered spaces. Any puck touching a line is out of the game and if a disc is completely within the "10-off" rectangle at the far end of the triangle 10 points are taken from the score of the player who launched that puck.

'Puttin' On The Hits'

Don't These Folks Have Anything Better To Do?

By David Handler
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I'm still reeling from watching "Puttin' on the Hits." This is no mere syndicated TV series. This is a major statement on idol worship in modern American culture.

This is truly diseased. "Puttin' on the Hits" is kind of like Ted Mack's "Amateur Hour," only no talent is required. Contestants come out on stage dressed and coiffed just like their favorite pop singer. Then a record is cranked up and they lip-synch along with it.

No mere game show this. This is fantasy fulfillment. For two minutes in the spotlight, any poor slob can be Rod Stewart or Tina Turner.

For this chance, contestants spend seemingly hundreds of hours practicing the gyrations, the facial expressions, the hand gestures. These folks work as hard as the ones who go on "Dance Fever," only these folks aren't doing anything.

Not that you'd know it from a quick glance at the show. After all, the audience is screaming, the music blaring, the lights blinking. After all, fantasy has become reality.

This is truly diseased. Not that it's necessary, but there are cash prizes. The most convincing star look-alike wins $1,000 and moves on to the $5,000 semifinal round and a shot at $25,000. Win that and I suppose you also get a bronzed set of your lips.

Contestants are judged on three categories — originality, appearance and lip-synch ability. The judges are real, which is to say actual, pop celebrities like LaToya Jackson, Bonnie Pointer and Johnny Rivers.

I watched as they judged how convincing a utility worker name Wali was as Teddy Pendergrass. And Tricia Lashment was as Trena Marie. And the Medley Six were as the Jackson Five (strong on dance steps, if not on math).

And all along, the same thought was on my mind: Don't the people who go on this show have anything better to do?

The perpetrators of this no-talent talent contest are, not surprisingly, two of TV's front-rank sleaze practitioners — Dick Clark and Chris Beards. Clark you know about; Beards co-created that other sick monument to celebrity, "The Gong Show."

The host is someone named Allen Fawcett, who has a very nice smile and who looks to be made of molded plastic. He has little to do. It's the contestants who are the show.

I still can't believe how hard these people work at this. There must be a more productive use for their time.

And for ours.

In This Production, The Cars Were The Stars

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Car buffs paid an estimated $2 million for autos that starred in movies, including the 1929 Duesenberg roadster used by Hette Davis and Joan Crawford in "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" and Jack Benny's famed Maxwell.

The Duesenberg brought the highest bid, selling for $362,000 Sunday at an auction that drew 10,000 nostalgia buffs, celebrities and car collectors from around the world. Benny's Maxwell brought $18,100.

A battered 1920 Ford stake truck driven by Henry Fonda in the "Grapes of Wrath" was sold for $4,300, while a Triumph motorcycle that Fonzie (Henry Winkler) rode in "Happy Days" went for $3,200.

More than 200 cars and about 20 other props were sold — including a chariot used in "Cleopatra" for $800 and the spaceship used in the "My Favorite Martian" TV series for $750.

"What we have here is the ultimate garage sale, Hollywood style," said auctioneer Rick Cole.

The 1929 Duesenberg, which was also used by Clark Gable and Carole Lombard in movies, generated the most heated bidding before being purchased by Mark Smith of The Old Philadelphia Motor Co. in Ft. Washington, Pa.

Another hot item, a 1930 Duesenberg limousine used in Mel Brooks' "Young Frankenstein," sold for $180,000 to Fred Weber, a private collector from St. Louis.

A 1933 Chevy roadster used by W.C. Fields in "The Bank Dick" went for $13,000 to Rick Ducommun, a comedian from Los Angeles; a 1937 Cadillac V-12 town car used by Jimmy Stewart in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" went for $28,500; and a 1939 Lagonda Roadster used by Greer Garson in "Mrs. Miniver" sold for $27,000.

The vehicles came from Pacific Auto Rentals and MovieWorld — both once major suppliers to Hollywood studios.

Here's Something For You Charles Bronson Fans

Dear Dick — I am a big Charles Bronson fan. Could you please give me some information about him — age, nationality, marital status, how many movies he's been in. — K., Amarillo, Texas.

Bronson is getting up there — he's 63 now. His real name is Buchinsky (sometimes I've seen it as Buchinski) and he is of Polish descent. He is married to his frequent co-star, Jill Ireland. He's made dozens of movies — he's lost count, because he had many bit parts before he became a star — and was in three TV series in his pre-star days. They were "Man With a Camera," "Redigo" and "The Travels of Jamie McPheeters."

Dear Dick — Where should we write to request information regarding a movie we would like to buy, rent, see on TV, cable, somewhere? I had rental shops here look with no success. Help! — F.L.M., Canton, Ohio.

Most rental shops have catalogs of movies that are available on cassettes. If it isn't in those catalogs, it just isn't available. You can call the program directors of your local TV stations and request that they show the film which they might do, if they happen to have it in their library or know where they can rent it.

Dear Dick — My question to you is: In the summer of 1932 I met a young man in the park across from a post office in New Orleans. He told me he was from Dallas and was hitchhiking to Hollywood to get in the movies. This young gentleman was about 18 or 19 and about 150 pounds and 6 feet tall. A real Southern gentleman. I gave him a ride to Shreveport, La. Could this Texas gentleman be James Garner? —

Ask Dick Kleiner

E.P., Bargserville, Ind.

Not hardly. In 1932, James Garner was only 4 years old. He may have been precocious but I doubt that he was standing in a New Orleans park, hitchhiking to Hollywood.

Dear Dick — I thought I read that Karl Malden, the actor, had died. If this is true, can you give me the date? — I.S., Dyersburg, Tenn.

Check your glasses or your memory. Malden is very alive.

Dear Dick — I have recently seen some reruns of "The Addams Family." Could you please tell me if everybody that was on the show is still living? — J.H., Birdsboro, Pa.

No. Unfortunately, the mortality rate on Addamses has been high. Only John Astin (Gomez Addams), of the main characters, is still living. Carolyn Jones (Morticia), Jackie Coogan (Uncle Fester) and Ted Cassidy (Lurch) are all dead.

Dear Dick — Whatever happened to the movie, "Von Richthofen and Brown?" with John Phillip Law and Don Stroud. Over the years, I've never seen it on TV and wonder whether it was ever released for public viewing. — E.J.C., Pottsville, Pa.

Yes, it was released, and does make occasional TV appearances, but it is a second-rate film at best.

Dear Dick — My cousin says that Lisa Whelchel of "Facts of Life" is 35, married and has a daughter. I say that she is in her early 20s, unmarried and has no children. Who's right? — Unsigned, Houston, Texas.

You are, Unmarried Lisa Whelchel just turned 23.

Mr. T Jumps Ship During Filming Of A-Team Episode

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mr. T, the burly, bejeweled star of television's top-rated "The A-Team," mutinied during filming of an episode aboard a cruise ship last week, members of the TV crew say.

TV crew members said the muscular actor and former bodyguard refused to continue shooting "The A-Team" episode last Wednesday after his feelings were hurt in a dispute in the dining room of the luxury liner Tropicale, sailing in Mexican waters.

According to one witness, the trouble began when Mr. T found the unit production manager, the wardrobe lady and sound and camera workers sitting at his assigned dinner table.

The interlopers refused to give up their seats and apparently made fun of Mr. T and one of his three bodyguards, the witness said.

The aggrieved actor demanded that producer Stephen J. Cannell fire the people involved, but Cannell ignored Mr. T's threat to stop filming until the offenders were cast adrift.

Mr. T and his bodyguards responded by jumping ship — going ashore in a hut.

...Shuffleboard

The first to total 75 points wins the game.

Pretty simple, huh. But wait... Any disc placed perfectly in a numbered space may be made worthless by an opponent who with his disc knocks it from its slot on the court.

So an early "score" doesn't mean you'll still be on top at the end of the game.

Experienced players create complex barricades to protect their scoring discs and block an opponent's shot.

To have an edge in the game,

'If you don't want to win you don't play.'

Doris Goodkind,
Maitland shuffler

the Sanford city courts about 20 years ago and built over 300 courts last year.

Of course you don't have to have your own court to play shuffleboard. There are Sanford's courts to play on and a shuffleboard club, which can be reached through the recreation department at city hall.

For more information on informal games at the Casselberry Senior Center call 831-3551. Games also abound at private apartment complexes, but most players sit out summer's play waiting for the game to heat up in the fall.

Beltz said, it helps to have misspent your youth in a pool hall. The skills and strategy required in shuffleboard pretty well match those seen in billiards, he said.
