Do you remember how you used to be on the job bright and early to see the circus parade? Remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers, and the big, lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horses, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns, and the glitter of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the big performance in the tent You didn't realize it then, but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement Perhaps you don't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as attractive, just as interesting and far more valuable to you, parade daily before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of everything you want or need, here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth." The whole purpose of any advertisement is to excite your curiosity, gain your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you don't know; to remind you of something you have forgotten; to convince you of something over which you have been hesitating. In short, the purpose of an advertisement is, in one way or another, to make you happier.

"Here Come the Elephants!"

Do you remember how you used to be on the job bright and early to see the circus parade? Remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers, and the big, lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horses, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns, and the glitter of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the big performance in the tent You didn't realize it then, but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement. Perhaps you don't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as attractive, just as interesting and far more valuable to you, parade daily before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of everything you want or need, here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth." The whole purpose of any advertisement is to excite your curiosity, gain your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you don't know; to remind you of something you have forgotten; to convince you of something over which you have been hesitating. In short, the purpose of an advertisement is, in one way or another, to make you happier.

Read the advertisements and see if that isn't so?
