

Bob Feller May Be Deferred From Draft Because Of Ailing Father

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The disclosure that pitcher Bob Feller has been sponsored for $7500 a year to provide medical treatment and travel for his ailing father led to speculation that the strikeout king might be deferred from Army service. Noting that the Philadelphia Athletics' Benny McCoy was deferred under a presidential ruling that selectees should not be president, cautiously made this brief statement: "If I have a correct interpretation of the McCoy ruling, then Bob Feller's status is more than a borderline case. However, before any action is taken in this matter, we will give it considerable more study." The News summarized the situation this way: Because of poor health, father William Feller is no longer able to make his Iowa farm a paying proposition. He is urgently in need of medical treatment and year-around sunshine and must spend some time each year at

Chapman Ready To Defend Title At Omaha Tourney

OMAHA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Dick Chapman, the defending champion, checked in at the Omaha field club Wednesday and thus made official the preparations for the U. S. Golf Association's 45th amateur championship, which opens here Monday. Chapman, who has been helping to keep army fliers fit at the Montgomery (Ala.) training base, was a credit to his pupils. He looked in the pink, if a bit on the tan side, and said he'd stopped off en route in North Carolina and Tennessee to keep his golf game similarly tuned. The champion made a proper impressive entrance, accompanied as he was by Mrs. Chapman and his personal golf pro, Leo Walper of Washington, D. C.

Chapman, according to the pairings released today by the U. S. G. A., will be paired for the two qualifying 18-hole rounds on Monday and Tuesday with Mario Gonzales, the slim Brazilian who is the 160-man field's only foreign star, Chicago, one of the New York sectional eliminations. Chapman will tee off at 1:08 P. M. C. S. T. for the first round and 10:06 A. M.

First of the genuine contenders to start in the race for the 64-match play berths will be Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who missed by one stroke in the New York sectional eliminations. But Bobby Jacobson of Deal (N. J.) withdrew, and Billows got his spot—an 8:07 A. M. start, with Otto Greiser of Baltimore and Gene Milbourn of Omaha for partners.

Ward, likely to go into action the favorite despite his loss to Billows in the Great Lakes invitation, has been paired with only losing Jr., of Chicago, one of the half-dozen he rates as top threats, and Bill Welch of Houston, Tex., who won the U. S. public links crown last month.

Chapman is one of the few outfielders who have arrived so far. He found the course in fine shape along the fairways, and with the greens, which suffered during the recent heat wave, expected to improve provided the current spell of cool, evening, continues. No one as yet has managed to dent the field club's par of 72. Godman, who has been playing steady, not spectacular golf, equalled it Tuesday. But Stanley Davies, the club pro, expects there'll be at least one man able to give the ball a going-over in the qualifying rounds, and says it will have to be a man who keeps the ball on a run "because there's too much trouble if you go off it."

The Mayo clinic. His physicians insist he must spend the winter in Florida.

Bob's mother has suffered recurrent headaches since she was hit by a foul ball in Chicago two years ago. He also has a young unmarried sister. Bob never has kept a large cash balance on hand and if the army took him, he would be forced to turn in insurance policies for their present value. "That's precisely what the latest ruling in the McCoy case says a prospective draftee is not required to do," the News continued, saying that it presented the facts simply because Rapid Robert's position in the public eye naturally makes it almost impossible for him to take any action.

Miami Group Would Buy Out Tropical Park

MIAMI, Aug. 21.—(AP)—James Donn, secretary of the Gables Racing Association, operator of the Tropical Park horse track, said Wednesday he headed a local syndicate negotiating for the purchase of a controlling interest in the plant for "a little over a million dollars." Donn confirmed that the state racing commission had asked for a re-organization of the track's officials.

He said that E. W. N. Belcher, president of an off-shoot summary of the track, and George W. Langford, Miami real estate operator, were associated with him in the syndicate, which seeks 51 percent of the track's stock. The deal, he declared, had not been consummated.

Defense Work Isn't Lagging, Roosevelt Says

President Sharply Assails Figures Mentioned By Senator Byrd Of Virginia

Plane Output Is Admittedly Slow

Surveys By War Department Show Estimates Being Met

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Sharply assailing the figures cited by Senator M. Byrd (D-Va.), President Roosevelt asserted today that while American defense production never had been completely satisfactory, on the average it was up to estimate.

Roosevelt, commenting on Byrd's statement made earlier in the week that defense production is lagging seriously, asserted in a War Department check showed Byrd was wrong in all categories except planes.

President Roosevelt said last night he thought that Democrats in Congress who have joined "obstructionists" of national preparedness were "in the wrong party."

In a message to the national convention of the Young Democratic Club, the President said: "Like the rest of you, I know that domestic politics would play no part in our defense measures. To some extent our hopes are resting on a multitude of the so-called 'obstructionists' who are serving us better on the other hand."

That portion of the President's letter may prove to be the only statement of a political nature made at formal sessions of the convention since Homer M. Adams, national president of the club, has announced the gathering would devote itself to matters of national defense, leaving politics aside.

"I would be the last person," the President continued, "to dispute or limit the right of every citizen to express his own opinion and to express it, and I know you are with me as to the preservation of that most important freedom. But whether an individual who campaigns against the principles and policies of a political party retains the right of membership in that party is a different question."

"Patriotism is immensely more important than party loyalty, but when party loyalty goes hand-in-hand with devotion to our country, and a determination to keep that country free and safe there is no division of allegiance. I have no doubt that the youth of this nation... I only ask you to keep your ranks clear and clean of whatever subversive influences may seek to cut through the north of our country's protection."

Subversive Activity Charged To Official

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Earl Southard proclaimed his loyalty to the United States and denied all charges of subversive activity Thursday before a court martial conducted by a secret marshal of Foreign Wars.

Southard, secretary of the Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee, was recently convicted on charges of subversive activity in the V. F. W. by National Commander M. M. Moore. He was accused of subversive activity because his name appeared on a committee pamphlet which advocated "no involvement" in the European war.

Nazi Siege Columns Drive Toward Town From 3 Directions; Losses Said High

New War Theater In Iran Is Seen

London Is Ready To Dispatch Troops If Reich Units Stay

Its Associated Press—Russian troops were reported checking the German siege columns storming toward Leningrad today as thousands of the city's civilians volunteered for service in the people's army.

Moscow said after four days of bitter fighting on the outer perimeter of Leningrad's defenses, the Nazis appeared to have made no significant progress.

Thousands of Leningrad civilians were reported volunteering today for the people's army as German siege columns pressed on the city from three directions and threatened to blast it if it was defended.

All through the night, the Russians said, Red Army troops battled in late summer rainstorms to check the main Nazi drive around Novgorod and Kingisepp.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, asserting the "enemy's casualties are unbelievable high," reported more than 1,200,000 Russians had been taken prisoner. The Nazi were silent on German losses.

Amid this critical hour in the 62-day old struggle, a new theater of war appeared on the verge of opening in the oil-rich kingdom of Iran (Persia).

London indicated that Great Britain was ready to send troops into the country unless Riza Khan Pahlavi's government complies with a Russo-British demand for the ousting of 3,000 Germans.

In the Far East, Japan expressed anxiety lest American-made bombers sent to Russia might be kept at Vladivostok, Soviet Pacific port which the Japanese have termed a "northern Singapore," and a threat to their island empire.

Simultaneously, Thailand (Siam) warned its people to dig air-raid shelters as a "common sense" preparation.

The Russians, their northwestern metropolis of Leningrad, already in danger and their armies likewise in bad case far to the south in the Ukraine, admitted early today a reversal at the center.

The Soviet command in its early morning communique acknowledged that its troops had been forced to abandon Gornel, on the lower central front.

Fighting was said to be continuing, however, in the final sector as distinguished from the town itself.

The Russians previously had reported a successful counter-offensive at the center which, although it was not specifically mentioned by Moscow, appeared to have been somewhere in the Gornel vicinity.

Loss of the town thus strongly suggested that this maneuver had come to grief and was now a defensive action.

As to the other and familiar theaters, Moscow's war bulletin merely reported continued severe fighting without indicating the results.

In the greatest area of struggle, the Russians in effect admitted that the crisis for Leningrad was very near at hand and there were in fact highly roundabout reports that German advance units actually were within 12 1/2 miles of the city.

But the Soviet, while conceding in the words of the northern command that the city was under "direct threat of attack" and implying that the Nazi drive to the Black Sea had not been halted, officially disclaimed any panic or fear.

To the contrary, Foreign Vice-Commissar (Losevsky), official Moscow spokesman, declared the struggle had "only begun," estimated that 2,000,000 Germans already had fallen dead or wounded, most of them dead, and vowed that Germany would be beaten in the end "no matter how many months or years we have to wait."

Cattlemen Told Chances Are Good For River Flood Control Project

Seminole County cattlemen were cheered today by a report that they stand "a good chance" to get emergency flood control projects to relieve their flooded pastures.

The report was made by W. J. Steel, Orlando attorney, who went to Washington in the interests of the cattlemen. Mr. Steel declared that he was favorably received in the capital, and that the War Department has ordered surveys of the two areas which are now flooded—the St. Johns and Kissimmee River valleys.

Cattlemen of the two areas have said they stand to lose $1,500,000 by the high waters which have ruined thousands of acres of their summer pastures, and made it necessary to put their stock on winter pastures.

A lot of the men I attacked in Washington didn't know about the trouble we're having down here, and didn't know how important the cattle industry is to Florida," Mr. Steel said.

Mr. Steel asked for two emergency projects: one to extend the Elbe Canal to the Indian River, which would drain the St. Johns River Valley; and another to dig a short canal from Lake Cypress to Lake Kissimmee, which would relieve conditions in the Kissimmee Valley.

"Because the cattlemen in these two sections are faced with a disaster, we are asking for emergency disaster relief projects," the attorney said. "There is already a Federal fund for disasters, and Congress wouldn't be the appropriate additional funds."

After heading Mr. Steel, the War Department immediately ordered Colonel W. C. Weeks, chief of the district engineer's office at Jacksonville, to make a survey of flood conditions in the two valleys.

The War Department engineers will make their recommendations about the emergency projects on the strength of Col. Weeks' findings, it was indicated.

Mr. Steel also announced that Congress has approved a general flood control bill which includes funds for revising surveys of the two valleys for the purpose of determining the justification for permanent flood control measures.

DeLand Replies To Orlando's Charge

DELAND, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Sheriff B. E. Stone, replying to a charge that Volusia County officers had treated Orlando Air Base soldiers in a "ruthless, unscrupulous" manner, Thursday said "soldiers are not immune to civilian laws."

The controversy between Army officers and Volusia county officials was precipitated by arrest on a traffic charge of Sgt. George Dougherty of the Orlando Air Base by two Florida highway patrolmen Saturday night.

He was held in jail an hour and 10 minutes with a $25 cash bond had been arranged.

Highways To Latin America

"Nearly 200,000 American motorists will visit Mexico this year," Michael Scully, well-known author on Latin-American subjects, writes in the current Rotarian magazine. "Along the highway that eight years ago was just a scar through primeval country they can sleep in modern hotels and eat in air-conditioned restaurants. Their cars are serviced at well-equipped stations."

Touring has already become Mexico's first industry, Scully reveals. It will bring more to that country this year than any export. Population along the highway zone has tripled. The use of cars has increased 60 percent in ten years. The use of cars has increased 60 percent in ten years. The use of cars has increased 60 percent in ten years.

Most important, while the highway is only half finished, it has already united Mexico and broken down many local prejudices, for people meet "strangers" along the highway daily. And the money spent in Mexico comes back in purchases of increased numbers of farm, garage, electrical and household implements.

Already one-third of the remaining link of nearly 1,000 miles of road is being tackled. Below Mexico, where 1,500 miles of road to the Panama Canal is needed, 400 miles have been built and paved, 600 miles are good in any weather, and the remaining 500 miles are surveyed and the most vital bridges already built.

Transportation is the major problem of Central America. It costs less to bring rice from the Orient than to transport it across the countries of Nicaragua and Costa Rica from the East coast to the West! For that reason, plus the impossibility of marketing crops from the interior, as much as 95 percent of arable land in some countries is left fallow.

But while the road is not yet completed, "don't think of the road as a project that awaits the ceremonial cutting of a ribbon before its benefits are apparent," warns Scully. "It is already serving its primary purpose in Central America as in Mexico."

British Filers in Florida

A group of fine British boys who have been learning to fly during the past ten weeks at the Lakeland flying school received their diplomas the other day from the hand of Governor Holland and prepared to leave for Alabama where the next phase of their training course will take place.

Those British lads who stepped up to Governor Holland at the Lakeland School of Aeronautics, saluted, received their diplomas and saluted again were aglow with optimism, good health and eagerness," comments the Lakeland Ledger.

The spirit of never-say-die was in their lusty voices as they made the room ring with "God Save the King." They afforded a reassuring insight into the unshakable morale of their people back home.

They looked much more robust than they looked 10 weeks ago when they arrived here to end their long and perilous trip from England and their public and private expressions of appreciation for the hospitality shown them here were sincere. They have had a good time learning about Americans while learning about aviation.

And now they're moving up. They left yesterday afternoon for Gunter field, Montgomery, Ala., where they will get more advanced training. They saw the impression that they want very much to hurry along with their training and get back home to the job of blasting Hitlerism to bits. They are deeply convinced that there will always be a free England and they seem impatient to have a hand in preserving that freedom.

What a dramatic contrast between the happy occasion in which they were principals in sunny and peaceful Florida yesterday and the holocaust toward which they are headed because a single individual has gone mad and caused his people to follow him.

Realist

"Well, Uncle Joe," the real estate man said to an old Negro who had just paid the last installment on a small farm, "I'll make you a deed to the farm now it's paid for."

"Boss," the Negro replied, "if it's all do same to you, I wish you'd give me a mortgage to do place."

The surprised real estate man protested that Uncle Joe didn't seem to know the difference between a deed and a mortgage.

"Well, mebbe not," said the Negro. "But I owned a fahn once an' I had a deed an' de First National Bank had a mortgage, an' de bank got de fahn!"—Readers Digest

W. A. Percy, author of the charming book, "Lancers Along the Levee," says that "The South's two deficiencies are character and education, which, after all, are world deficiencies. These terms are in no wise synonymous. The deepest-dyed villain may have a college diploma and an ignorant may possess some of the highest principles of manhood, though I will admit the chances are against him."

A French statesman said that any attitude his country might take in trying to "take" Germany "was none of our business." Maybe not now—but see you later.

The W. C. T. U. takes heart as it scans its report of a decline in 1940 of 15,777,726 gallons in liquor sales for the year ending July 1; on a per capita basis it fell from a little over 14 gallons per person to slightly less—13.94. But the latter is a considerable amount.

The President has put the seal of condemnation on that growing evil, installment buying, or in other words, pledging yourself to pay for something you can get along without and cannot afford.

Carl Frederick Palmer thinks the German army has passed the peak of its man power and adds, "The strongest armies get fought out."

Young men will be interested to read that the President has signed the bill relieving from military draft on request, any man who has reached the age of 28 on July 1 of this year or on the same date in any subsequent year.

Some one says the brilliant mind is like a church's spire; it is the first to catch the light and holds it the longest.

Would you believe it? A Toledo, Ohio, store advertises "15,000 varieties of quality foods."

The narrow margin of one vote by which the extension of war service was carried in the Lower House was non-partisan; 182 Democrats voted for it and 65 against while 21 Republicans supported it and 138 were opposed.

Miss Merryday Weds John H. Hintermister

Miss Helen Glenn Merryday, daughter of Mrs. Henry Crull Merryday of Madison, became the bride of John Henry Hintermister, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hintermister of Sanford, on Wednesday, Aug. 20, at 8:20 o'clock in the evening at a beautiful home wedding at the home of the grandmother, Mrs. Thomas John Beggs in Madison.

The Rev. A. Preston Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church at Madison, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives.

The reception rooms of Mrs. Beggs' home were open on a side and were beautifully decorated with greens of magnolias and Confederate jessamine. An altar was fashioned in a background of magnolias, jessamine, white asters and burning white tapers, and the couple knelt upon a prayer bench of white satin pilasters.

The bride who was given in marriage by her uncle, Thomas J. Beggs, Jr., wore a gown of white net and Chantilly lace, and her shower bouquet was fashioned of white roses and lilies. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, a gift from the groom which had been his mother's and his grandmother's. The bride carried the two wedding handkerchiefs of her grandmother, Beeggs, and her grandmother Merryday. The maid-of-honor, Miss Ann Beggs Merryday, sister of the bride, was gowned in a model of green net and lace, and the matron-of-honor, Mrs. T. W. Davis, aunt of the bride, in a model of pink chiffon. Their flat bouquets were of pink gladioli with centers fashioned of green net.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of pink net with costume hats of matching material. Their bouquets were similar to those of the maid and matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were: Miss Mildred Brinson, Miss Anna Lee Kelly, daughter of Madison; Mrs. Clarence Noe of Jacksonville; Mrs. John Marshall Green of Ocala; Miss Jessie Merryday of Palatka; and Miss Helen Lawrence Marks of Jacksonville, co-matron of the bride.

Junior bridesmaids were the Misses Frances Beggs of Madison and Helen Glenn Matthews of Orlando.

Little Anne Morrow Mckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Mckler, was flower girl in a frock of pink net and carried a pink basket of rose petals. The ring-bearer was William Turner Beggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Beggs, Jr. Pillow-bearers were Jimmie Hardee, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hardee, Jr., and Nat Norfleet, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Norfleet. Train-bearer was Mrs. Davis McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McClure.

Best man, his brother-in-law, Clarence Rice, Jr., of Jacksonville, groomsmen were Albert Fitts and Sam Marks, Jr., of Jacksonville, John Pope of Sanford, Carl Starsted of Lake City and Sam Smith of Madison. Acting as ushers were the bride's cousins, Gordon Ashley and Sam Smith of Madison.

The bride's mother wore a gown of pink chiffon and her corsage was of roses and asters. The groom's mother, Mrs. John H. Hintermister, was gowned in a model of white with gold lace. Her corsage was of purple asters with purple and gold ribbons.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the bride's home. The bride's table covered with white lace was balanced at one end by the wedding cake which was adorned with white roses, and at the other by a mound of white asters festooned with white satin ribbons which extended the full length of the table and were held in place by white wedding bells and tube roses.

Stewart Says:

London Newsmen Had Advance Word On FDR-Churchill

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

ACCORDING to accounts from London, newspapermen knew in advance, all about the plan of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt for a conference at sea, but the British censor wouldn't let 'em publish it. In this country there's no censor, so why didn't they publish their suspicions, but only suspicions were available; our capital's correspondents couldn't get anything definite until after the historic confab was all over.

Even then, apparently, the original intention was to have the news come initially from London.

That is to say, a London cable, received here on the afternoon of the same day that the meeting occurred, conveyed the information that Major Clement Attlee, British lord privy seal, was to broadcast a tremendously important announcement which Americans would do well to tune in on, with their radios, at 9 a. m. Washington time, on Aug. 14, the day following the Roosevelt-Churchill get-togethers.

Well, evidently it occurred to somebody in the know, that it would be a little too raw for words to make the United States dependent upon London for first advice concerning OUR president's chat with Winnie Churchill on the former's so-called "vacation cruise."

Anyway, Presidential Private Secretary Steve Early scribbled hastily around and, at midnight, (Aug. 14-15) several hours after receipt of cabled tidings of the coming Attlee statement, notified the Washington correspondents that he'd have something vitally interesting to tell 'em at 8:30 in the morning—just in time to beat Attlee by about 30 minutes, though not soon enough to get into print with it ahead of Attlee's broadcast.

Correspondents nettled

Of course extras were issued as fast as type could be set and brass could switch out the papers.

Nevertheless, I've heard some growing among Washington correspondents.

The boys' thesis is that Britain seems to be having a lot to say concerning American publicity, which they consider is none of John Bull's business.

That's not long ago the war department circulated Yankee military post commanders thusly:

"The director of British censorship, western hemisphere, has brought to the department's attention several letters written by United States army personnel to individuals in foreign countries in which mention was made of matters pertaining to military establishments. While the cases reported appeared to be the result of indiscretion, measures must be taken to cause this practice to be discontinued. All personnel of your command will be directed to omit all reference to matters pertaining to the national defense in personal letters written by them, especially to foreign countries."

Colonel William A. Smith, commander at Fort Devens, Mass., noted his copy of this circular on the fort's bulletin board, which is how it happened to get into the newspapers.

It wasn't played up very prominently at the time, but, in connection with the Attlee matter, it began to be considerably commented on by capital correspondents.

Recent British Angle

They don't take the position that one shouldn't be exercised relative to leaks that may be useful to potential enemies of Uncle Sam, but they're decidedly resentful of the suggestion as coming from a BRITISH "director of censorship."

Moreover, he's a director for the "WESTERN HEMISPHERE."

"Does that include the United States?" the scribes are asking.

They've been urged to censor themselves voluntarily and they're pretty good about doing it. There are a lot of things they can't find out, but when they do stumble upon something that needs hushing and they're requested to hush it, the generality of 'em acquiesce pretty readily, but they don't want some BUREAUCRAT, even in some far-off Britain, censoring the Western Hemisphere.

Well, there's a good bit of Washington correspondents' nervousness over the possibility of our news

Jacksonville Navy Boys Challenge World Champs

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 22—(AP)—The big Southeastern Air Station has six boxers who not only think they can whip any other outfit's team but are gunning for world titles. They came here at the request of Lieutenant Commander Gene Tunney to help with the Navy's physical education program.

Probably closest to realizing his ambition is George Abrams of Washington, D. C. A boatwain's mate first class at the air station, Abrams twice defeated Billy Soose before Billy won the middle-weight championship.

He lacks Soose in a non-title engagement in New York July 30. Should he win he would be in line for a championship shot in the fall.

Others of the air station's best-baiting crew are Steve Bell, also New York, middleweight; Cal Cagni, Cliffside, N. J., welterweight; Tommy Tucker, New York, light heavyweight; and Frank Forenda, Jersey City, N. J., heavyweight. They too are boatwain mates, first class.

Belloise, unsuccessful in two attempts to lift the middleweight crown, is on the comeback trail and last month defeated Vic Delauri, a major hurdle in his path.

Netlow trounced Kay Kaplan and last month defeated Vic Delauri at Champion Zitzie Ziv's welter crown.

Cagni has beaten some of the outstanding fighters in his weight class. Tucker's last appearance was in the semi-final bout on the Conn-Louis card, the youngster of the group, has won 19 of his 31

Tropical Park Is Attempting To Meet Demands

MIAMI, Aug. 22—(AP)—Negotiators predicted that the Gables Racing Association Thursday would be reorganized to the satisfaction of the Florida Racing Commission, so that dates may be assigned in time for a thoroughbred season at Tropical Park starting in December.

Members of the racing commission, after waiting three days for a decision of the reorganization, left Miami for their homes apparently intent on withdrawing Tropical's dates until its ownership is changed.

Senator Ernest R. Graham headed a fight to prevent racing at the track in suburban Coral Gables unless "undesirable elements" were removed from its ownership.

Apparently to meet this requirement, James Donn, secretary of the Gables Racing Association, is leading a Miami syndicate seeking to acquire 81 percent of the stock for a price in excess of $1,000,000.

"I think we'll have this worked out to the complete satisfaction of the racing commission at an early date," Donn said Thursday.

Donn and racing officials declined to comment as reports the track had been served an ultimatum to reorganize or quit. His lease Park has been allotted its usual mid-winter dates.

EACH one of the many men who are daily stepping out of the doors of the telephone worker into the wilderness of our nation's confusion, is a member of the telephone organization, but a stranger to our nation's citizens. They are men, strong, steady, disciplined and imbued with the true spirit of service which develops steadfastness and self-sacrifice under the crucible of emergency. But telephone workers are not men who acquire their training and the discipline gained in maintaining the Bell System's service.

While their job is not one of producing their share to the nation, they do have a share. They are the men who, when the nation is in a state of emergency, are the first to be called upon to maintain the communication lines that are the lifeblood of our nation.

Upsets Feature Final Rounds Of Double Net Meet

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass., Aug. 22—(AP)—Blond Jack Kramer, of Los Angeles, and Ted Schroeder, of Glendale, Calif., defending titlists, reached the semi-final round, and two seeded women's teams were upset Thursday in the sixtieth national doubles tennis championships.

The 30-year-old Californians, defeated once this season and twice in seven tournaments, played with confidence and precision to eliminate the unseeded tandem of Ed Alloo, Berkeley, Calif., and Bill Talbot, Cincinnati, 4-4, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 in one of two men's quarter-final matches.

Former national singles king lobby Riggs, of Chicago, and Irene Mako, of Los Angeles, one-time partner of Don Budge, were extended to five sets, longest match of the tournament, to stop the challenge of the intercollegiate champions, Charles Mattman, Forest Hills, N. Y., and Ted Glewne, of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-4, 3-6, 5-7, 4-6, 6-4.

Paul Lukas, stage and screen star, lasted only 90 minutes in his tournament debut but supplied the best comedy and color of the week. Lukas, who flew

Philadelphia, advancing with surprising triumph over seeded tandem Miss Cation and Miss Harland, a couple of 'teen-age' players, playing only their second tournament as partners, routed Barbara Bradley and Jane Stanton, of Los Angeles, seeded third, 6-3, 6-1.

The Arnold-Knowles combination overcame a one-set deficit to conquer the fourth-seeded team of veterans Helen Jacobs, of Greenville, Del., and Valerie Scott, of England, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Top-seeded Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, of New York, and her partner, Margaret Osborne, of San Francisco, continued as favorites by smothering Mrs. Virginia Wolfenden Kovacs, of Oakland, Calif., and Margaret Jesse, of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-0.

Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, and Dorothy Bundy, of Santa Monica, Calif., seeded second, were tested thoroughly by Helen Bernard, of New York, and 18-year-old Louise Brown, of Los Angeles, but won, 6-3, 6-4.

By concentrating their fire in the final two sets on Miss through, who kept on the run, committed errors at crucial stages.

Billows Warm Up For Shot At Amateur Meet

CHICAGO, Aug. 22—(AP)—Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for six years a star but never a winner in national amateur competition, gave his golf game a smooth tune-up Thursday for next week's national amateur classic at Omaha by winning the first Great Lakes amateur championship at the Knollwood Club.

Billows took the title with a 6 and 5 victory over husky 19-year-old Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, to clinch three days of match play.

Billows swept aside every opponent, including Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., former national amateur titleholder.

Against Stranahan, Billows had the kind of game which, if maintained next, will make him a major factor in the Omaha show. Two up after the first 18 holes, he and Stranahan were tied, 2-2, at the 36th hole. Stranahan, of Los Angeles, and Hope Arnold, of New York, paired with Dr. William, of New York, in the veterans' doubles. They lost to Leroy Vinal and Edgar Hathaway, consistent pluggers, 6-3, 6-4, 9-7.

Billows lost the 19th as his opponent holed out a 35-foot birdie putt. Then came the 20th and the match's turning point. With a chance to halve the hole or possibly square the battle, Stranahan three-putted from 20 feet, losing the hole to become two down. Then Billows, firing two pars and a birdie as Stranahan's game wobbled, won the 21st and 24th to become five up.

Billows took the 27th with a birdie four as Stranahan scrambled to a bogie six and they halved the next three. The match ended at the 51st green, which both reached in two. When Stranahan missed the long putt which he needed to sink to keep the match alive, he conceded a halve on the hole and the match.

10 Days Are Left For Buying On Easy Credit

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—(AP)—The public, it was learned today, still has at least 10 days of easy installment credit ahead of it.

The federal reserve board, which is formulating restrictions on line payments, was reported authoritatively to favor a September 1 effective date and to be considering an industry plea for postponing it until September 15.

The nature of these restrictions is expected to be made public tomorrow, but they are also believed by responsible officials to follow closely tentative rules made public last week.

The tentative regulations provided a minimum one-third cash down-payment and a maximum limit of 18 months to pay the balance on new and used automobiles, airplanes, boats, outboard motors and motorcycles; 20 percent down and 18 months on refrigerators, washing machines, trunks, vacuum cleaners, electric dishwashers, air conditioning units, and radio sets; 15 percent down and 18 months on oil burners, stokers and furnaces, water heaters, plumbing, and complete air conditioning systems; and 18 months' credit limitations on cash loans under $1,000 and home renovation loans. All other items would be unaffected. Cash and regular charge account transactions also would be exempt from the initial rules.

Leningrad's Defense Said Holding Against Assaults

Reich Headquarters Admit No. 1 Of Struggle, But Finns Claim Gains

Nazi Losses Are Said 2,000,000

Soviets Report They Have Lost 700,000 In Two-Month War

Reinforced by troops rushed from Leningrad's Red Army defending the old capital of imperial Russia were declared to be holding firm today under violent aerial assault on three sides of the siege-bound city.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters gave no details of the 61-day-old struggle, asserting briefly:

"Operations on the east front continue according to plan." In the past, such references by the Nazi High Command frequently conformed with stiffening Soviet resistance.

While stemming the twin Nazi drives from the south and southwest, the Russians faced a greater immediate danger from Nazi-allied Finnish soldiers striking down the Karelian Isthmus from the north.

The Finns asserted they were within 50 miles of Leningrad. In a summary of the 61-day struggle, the Russians declared Nazi losses aggregated 2,000,000 killed, wounded or captured. Their own losses were placed at 700,000.

German military authorities meanwhile put the lives of thousands of Frenchmen, under arrest in occupied France, in pawn to halt the acts of violence against the Nazi army of occupation.

The Finns claimed last night to have captured Kivimaki on the Karelian Isthmus, thus pushing down to within less than 50 miles by rail from Leningrad, but it appeared that in the city there had been no material worsening of the Red position against complementary German offensives.

Russian reverses along the "cradle of the Soviet revolution" and so the Bolsheviks described Leningrad in vowing bitterly before the memory of Nikolai Lenin that the invaders should never take it—were said by the Finnish command to have been tremendous.

It was asserted that five Red divisions had been destroyed or routed; that Kakisalmi, a port on the northwest shore of Lake Ladoga and itself about 75 miles northwest of Leningrad, also had been taken; that the important Red outpost of Viipuri (Viborg), 32 miles west of Kivimaki, had been flanked; that 62 miles of the northeast shore of the Vuoksi river, which runs southward down the Isthmus, was in Finnish occupation.

In accomplishing all this, the Finnish command declared, a system of Russian defenses built (Continued on Page Four)
