Good Citizens
 Two good citizens of Sanford are Frederick Cooper and Danzel Lee Long.

The nice thing about Frederick is that he earns his money by delivering papers for the Herald. He has enough money to get an F.B.I. bond and $1.40 worth of stamps.

Douglas has been using his weekly allowance and doing a few little things for money to get stamps.

A boy in the Tennessee Mountains, Wiley Oakley, Jr., acts as a guide for people in the summer. He also collects beetles and other things for museums and gets $10 for every new bug or animal.

The boys and girls of America can get money for stamps by helping their families, delivering groceries and helping farmers.

I have a job in the grocery store this summer.

Maybe everyone can get jobs to buy stamps and bonds to win the war.

News Notes

We welcome Daniel Nugten Jr., S. 2^c of the Naval Air Station to Seminole High School as a senior. We are expecting other fellows from the Naval Air Station who have received permission to finish their last semester in high school.

S. H. S. regrets that Alice Brower, a senior; her sister, Nancy, a sophomore; and her brother, Alfred, also a sophomore, have moved to Orlando with their parents.

The Theatians are busy practicing a one act play that will be presented in chapel in the near future.

The students who have received satisfactory grades are relaxing once more now that semester examinations are over and reports cards are received.

The count taken Monday showed that a total of 210 students and teachers attended church, Sunday. The attendance for the month of January was 64 percent.

Hearing the voice of a different teacher over the communication system every morning giving the devotion and making announcements seems interesting.

E.C. Harper, Jr. was awarded first prize of $2.50 for the most attractive and practical Martin house by judges of the annual bird house building contest sponsored by the Garden Club.

Oviedo School News

The Oviedo Chapter Future Farmers, with their school trailer, helped gather 80 thousand pounds of scrap iron. They were allowed to pick out the iron from and sell to Mr. Doherty for advance work. After paying the school $2.00 per ton for the iron from the chapter made a profit of $22.00 for the chapter treasury.

Another outstanding activity of the chapter was the construction of a machine shop to be used with the O. F. F. Chapter. This building valued at $2000 was constructed at a cost of $1000 for materials.

All the labor was done by the chapter members and they are now finishing the building. One day last week the building was dedicated to the Future Farmers Chapter, and the members and their families were invited to the dedication.

Another chapter member, Mrs. E. J. Brown, has been elected to the position of chapter president.

LIFE OF SAMUEL JOHNSON

By MARTHA CARRAWAY
 Johnson was born the eighteenth of September in 1709, we all should remember.

Samuel was born with many infirmities. A scrofulous taint was one of these virtues.

He lost for a time the sight of one eye, and the other was weak, but he did not cry.

He buckled right down, and won out in the end. With a good sense of humor, which is rare among men.

From sixteen to eighteen he resided at home. And learned very much when he did not roam.

He did not like Greek, but loved Latin art. And also the marvelous works of Petrarch.

Michael, his father, had books and could relate many. But as to money, they didn't have any.

A kind wealthy neighbor sent Samuel to college. Where he, of course, gained some more knowledge.

At Oxford his clothes were ragged and old. And his shoes all needed to be half-soled.

He was ready to become a Bachelor of Art. When his luck ran out and he had to depart.

Michael died in the winter of 1781. And left his property, twenty pounds to his one and only son.

He said that he had been mad all his life. Which was caused by his lonely life.

Samuel was sick of life, but afraid of death. Although he had nothing in the wide world left.

He became usher at a grammar school. Which was rather unusual, as a school.

He wrote a book then which he thought was good. But no one bought it, as he thought they should.

While leading this vagrant and miserable life. Samuel decided to find him a wife.

Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, his wife to be. Was a widow and had children as old as he.

She appeared to all just short and fat. Wearing gaudy clothes and a funny hat.

When she died at the age of 40. Poor Samuel was lonesome to the core.

At an academy he hoped to train many a lad. But after eighteen months, three was all he had.

At twenty-eight, he tried to sell his manuscript "Irene". But not a soul would buy it, so no hope of money was seen.

He got a job in a magazine store. After living in London a year or more.

His poem "London" in 1735. Brought money to him and made him feel great.

Some people thought him superior to Pope. And that gave Johnson help and hope.

Pope was retiring with Sam on his throne. Pope was the rich man; Sam was alone.

Richard Savage was Johnson's best friend. And so remained, most loyal to the end.

Savage's life was signed by a name unknown. But everyone thought this work, Johnson's own.

Johnson was chosen by many eminent ones. To prepare a Dictionary in two folio volumes.

He finished this task after seven long years. And started to work on a book that brings tears.

"Vanity of Wishes" is the book I which tells about Christians and what they have gone through.

His tragedy began long before. Was brought into the story. But "Irene" was the worst produced in that age.

After "Irene" he wrote "The Rambler" full of short essays. On morals, manners, and other man's ways.

In the Spring of 1785. Johnson could not stand any more. The doctors said he was to die.

University Summer School Dean Invites Students To Session

Mr. McKay received the following letter from J. W. Norman, dean of the summer school of the University of Florida:

My Dear Mr. McKay:
 Last summer many students who had just graduated from high school decided to enter the university in June rather than September as they normally would have done except for the war emergency. The freshman class in the summer session was twice what it had been in any previous summer term. It would seem that now with the making of 90 and 100 year old boys subject to draft there may be an even more decided inclination to enter in June rather than in September, for they may not for some time have an opportunity even for one summer of college work. All over the country it seems there is a feeling that all of our young people should get a "toe hold" as President

All problems of higher education are so uncertain in the war time that it is especially difficult to make our arrangements to take care of them in a much better way than we could do if an unexpected overcrowding should come upon us at the last minute. We plan to open the summer session about June 5. Thanking you in advance for your reply, I am as ever, Very sincerely yours,
 J. W. Norman

The "Sally" sales began and the audience had a period of group singing. Afterwards we were entertained by S. H. S.'s own "Benny Goodman", Peter Bukur, who played several pieces that were received with much enthusiasm by the students.

Soviets Pound Nazi Defenses Near Belgorod

Enemy Menaced By Tightening Semi-Circle On Three Sides Of Section

(By Associated Press) Strong Russian forces are pounding through Belgorod a gap in German defenses north of Kharkov, the only point on the 200-mile wide front where the Nazis hold the line from which they launched their 1942 offensive, battlefront dispatches reported.

Industrial Kharkov thus was menaced by a tightening semi-circle closing upon Rostov and against a Kramatorsk wedge to the northwest which might pinch off the whole Rostov defense force.

Belgorod was the second German base and railway center, held tactically through all the Russian counter-offensives of the Winter of 1941-42 and the Spring of 1942, to fall to the Red army in 48 hours.

The city is only 50 miles northwest of Kharkov, industrial capital of the Ukraine, and is 78 miles southeast of Kursk, the big defense center which fell only yesterday.

Along with Belgorod, the Russian base Shebekino, only 40 miles to the northeast of Kharkov, was taken by the Red army.

At the junction of the Rostov-Kharkov line and a branch railway which runs north-south to Gornostayevka, the central point of the Rostov defense, the Red army tried in vain to break through the German line.

On the top of the line, 300 miles south of Moscow, appeared to be left unguarded, suspended by the fall of Kursk to the south and a massive thrust past that German bastion toward Lgov and Kiev, 250 miles to the southwest.

Gas Ration For 10 Counties In State Is Increased

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 10. (AP)—Gordon Moresco, state rationing officer, announced yesterday that 10 Florida counties west of the Apalachicola River would be removed from the emergency gasoline shortage area effective at midnight last night.

The counties are Jackson, Calhoun, Gulf, Holmes, Washington, Ocala, Santa Rosa, Escambia, Bay and Walton.

The immediate effect of the ruling will be to increase the volume of "A," "B" and "C" gasoline coupons from 2 to 4 gallons and to increase the occupational mileage allowed on "B" books from 270 to 470 miles, Moresco explained.

It will make salaried certain essential commodities eligible for mileage up to 75 occupational miles per month and will remove the ban on pleasure driving in those counties, the rationing officer said.

Emergency "D" and "E" books are coming up for renewal at this time, all local war and ration boards affected are urged to request to take books before renewal, according to the rationing officer.

The 10 counties were not included in the original gasoline rationed area.

Navy Spokesman Says New Drive In Pacific Near Guadalcanal Seizure Said Part Of Offensive Action

(By Associated Press) A United States Navy spokesman said today that the largest amount of Japanese troops in the Pacific were today being eliminated, and indicated a new Allied offensive was near.

"We are now going to take offensive action in which the complete seizure of Guadalcanal was an important part," said Capt. Miles Browning, Admiral Halsey's chief of staff.

The triumphant news came 10 months to the day after the nation heard the tragic tidings that Bataan had fallen; that a gallant band of American-Philippine troops had been broken by starvation and disease and their hopes for reinforcement crushed by a strangulating blockade — were forced to yield that blood-stained Philippine peninsula.

American fighting men vowed then that they would avenge their fallen comrades.

Yesterday the pay-off came. The Japs asked for it and they got it—miserable, suffering and defeated—the same kind they dished out to the boys on Bataan.

Their defeat came six months and two days after United States Marines invaded the Solomons in the first American offensive of the war.

48 Hour Week Set By F. D. R. For Industry

McNutt Immediately Applies Work Law To 32 Areas With Labor Shortages

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes told the nation today that the 48-hour week had been established, and at the same time awarded the nation war plans for 1943 "contemplate the invasion of Europe, one of the greatest military operations ever planned in all history."

Mr. Byrnes established the policy by executive order in a double-barreled move to achieve maximum production from available manpower and to meet the manpower requirements of the armed forces.

Mr. Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt last night immediately applied to 32 labor shortage areas President Roosevelt's order decreasing a minimum 48-hour week as a nationwide measure.

Fowler V. Harper, deputy WMC chairman, explained at a press conference that McNutt's order, giving effect to the President's order, applies to no other areas now, but may be extended as the need arises.

All forms of business and industry in the 32 areas and 25 States affected. These areas are: Bath, Maine; Bridgeport, Hartford and New Britain, Conn.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Springfield, Mass.; Acuburg, Conn.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Somerville, N. J.; Baltimore and Elkhart, Ind.; Hampton Roads, Va.; Washington, D. C.; Akron and Dayton, Ohio; Detroit; Mantoloking, N. J.; Sterling, Ill.; Brunswick and Macon, Ga.; Charleston, S. C.; Mobile, Ala.; Panama City, Fla.; Pascagoula, Miss.; Wichita, Kan.; Beaumont, Texas; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Ogden, Utah; Las Vegas, Nev.; Portland, Ore.; San Diego, Calif.; and Seattle, Wash.

At present, the 48-hour week order will apply only to the designated areas, but it will be extended gradually as the need arises until it may become virtually universal.

The Presidential order would make the 48-hour week compulsory for all industries holding government contracts and it is clear that no other place of employment shall be deemed "to be making the most effective use of its manpower" if its minimum work week is less than 48 hours.

It vested McNutt with discretionary authority to make modifications on the 48-hour standard in cases where it was deemed necessary to the national health, safety or interest.

Deputy WMC Chm. Fowler V. Harper explained the effect of the order, said employers engaged in war work and most of whose contracts now will be amended to include a provision for a 48-hour week, would face losses of their contracts in event of violations.

British Launch New Drive Against Enemy In Tunisia

Lt. Gross Tells Recreation Needs Of Service Men

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Lt. M. Gross, director of welfare and recreation at the Sanford Naval Air Station today told Kiwanians at their luncheon at the Hotel Mayfair that "the mere fact of getting service men into hard shape physically is not everything to be considered in relation to their welfare."

He stressed the fact that many of the sailors are young, and away from their homes for the first time in their lives. In addition, there are games and other activities to be enjoyed by the men.

"Our principal job, however, is to condition these men," Lt. Gross added, and stated that it is required that every service man at the station between the ages of 20 and 45, get at least 30 minutes of outdoor exercise daily.

A grassed area at which four or five soft ball games can be played will be laid out, he said. Twelve soft ball teams have been organized, and also a basketball team is being formed to play Rollins, Stetson, the DeLand Naval Air Station and others he said.

Fred Englehart, former physical director of the Army-Navy Y.M.C.A. at San Diego California, was introduced by Lt. Gross as a result of his visit to the Orlando paper and was overjoyed to see him for the first time in 12 years.

He told of their play in the parading by Judge Ware of three of the boys recently arrested in the Miami police department in the matter, as all they can do is arrest the boys caught in the act of looting.

Edward Lane was introduced by Frank Shames, to speak regarding Sanford founders Day and the Sanford Henry Shelter incident in connection with the early history of Sanford.

A hearty laugh greeted his tale of the old gas lamp lighter who mounted on a pony and went around lighting lights, only to be followed by mischievous boys two blocks behind, who put the lights out.

The Rev. J. J. Kelleghan, here on a visit from Gainesville, led the singing. Guests included, W. M. Moody, Lt. Gross, W. M. Laffler and Peter Brock of the Key Club.

Pepper To Make Inspection Of St. Johns River

Rotary Club Will Be Host To Solon At Regular Meeting

Senator Claude Pepper will come to Sanford on Feb. 22 for an inspection trip of the St. Johns River and will be the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club at the Mayfair Hotel, H. J. Johnson, Rotary program chairman, announced today.

While on a tour of Central Florida Senator Pepper will consider the feasibility of increasing the present authorized depth of the St. Johns River from 10 feet to 12 feet, in view of the increased traffic due to war conditions and the construction of a number of military bases and stations along the river requiring the movement of supplies.

"The present depth of the river is 8 feet," Ed Higgins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated today, "and is wholly inadequate for present day conditions. A depth of 10 feet has already been authorized, but it would cost very little more and would require practically no new materials to increase the depth to 12 feet. We hope to gain Senator Pepper's support for this project."

Senator Pepper will come here from Winter Park where he is scheduled to address a meeting at Rollins College on the subject of "After Victory, What?" It will be his first visit to Sanford since shortly before the Pearl Harbor attack when he predicted that the Japanese would strike without warning.

Following the Sanford meeting Senator Pepper will go to Jacksonville to address a meeting at Rollins College on the subject of "After Victory, What?" It will be his first visit to Sanford since shortly before the Pearl Harbor attack when he predicted that the Japanese would strike without warning.

Vichy Radio Asserts Axis Opens Attack To Forestall Offensive Of Allies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Bombing attacks on the Japanese at Kiska in the Aleutians were today reported by the Vichy radio which also said of aerial activity and ground fighting in the Solomon Islands, presumably preceding the withdrawal of the Japanese from Guadalcanal.

Britain's eighth army was officially reported to have started a new advance into Tunisia today, breaking the protracted lull and the Vichy radio asserted the Axis Tunisian forces had launched an attack against the British, to forestall their offensive.

The first word of the British advance came from General Sir Harold Alexander, British Middle East commander, who told newsmen, "The enemy's forces have been completely eliminated from Egypt, Tunisia, Libya and Tripolitania." He said he expected Nazi Marshal Rommel to pull his forces in behind the March Line, some 65 miles inside Tunisia, but expressed he was confident it could be turned.

This preparation for a knock-out blow at Tunis was accompanied by softening attacks on enemy communications in the Mediterranean war theater by Allied bombers.

General Charles De Gaulle Tuesday characterized the new French government in North Africa as "based and fortified" and indicated that it is as far as ever from accord with Gen. Henri Giraud on fundamental issues.

De Gaulle's policy and their adoption of the laws of the French Republic in North Africa.

This referred to the announcement by the new regime set up by Giraud that it would abolish Jewish legislation and review the cases of persons imprisoned on political charges.

These two points coincide with the Vichy policy and their adoption of the laws of the French Republic in North Africa.

Clothes Rationing Is Not Necessary, Says WPB - OPA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—War Production Board (WPB) and Office of Price Administration (OPA) officials today said that clothes rationing is not necessary. They said that the supply of cloth is adequate and that there is no shortage of clothing and therefore no need for rationing.

"Seeking to halt 'scarce buying' of clothing in some parts of the country, they said in a joint statement that 'WPB has not asked OPA to undertake rationing of clothing and no machinery has been set up for such a program.'"

WPB Plans To Break Production Hindrance

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The War Production Board today announced a plan to break production hindrance by "moving valves, boilers, gears, instruments and other products whose shortage is a drag on armament systems."

Orders will be withdrawn from firms having excessive backlog given to plants less equipped with manpower will be provided to plants which have producing capacity but lack labor force.

They are about to draft married men with children in Sanford, when they haven't even drafted any married men in New York City. We think almost anyone can understand something is wrong with this system.

Bill Loyalton, who nearly died the other day in a flying fort, was over England when his eyes were nearly blinded during high altitude tests. It is well known to Florida editors. He was formerly editor of the Miami Daily News.

When Mussolini got some GI's to help him in the Italian foreign minister, during the rape of Ethiopia and there was a new sort of job with the Holy Spirit. In case what happened in Tripoli and happened to the Duke is beginning to resemble the handwriting on the wall.

Some citizens who did not think it necessary to have a receipt for the thousands of dollars that have been made in a point where many new recreational areas are being developed by the Army and Navy are the beneficiaries of its new regulations. Or have it?

Drafting Labor

There is a good deal of agitation in Congress in favor of manpower (and womanpower) draft legislation which would force every woman in the country between the ages of 18 and 49 to register for war work and would make every man between 18 and 45, not in the Army or Navy subject to a labor draft.

If the law goes through (and it certainly will unless voluntary employment is more successful than it has been) men too lazy to work, and women whose financial independence makes it unnecessary for them to work, may find themselves conscripted and assigned to a job in a war industry whether they like it or not.

The manpower problem, however, is not wholly one of finding jobs for people who are not now working. In its broader aspects it is the even greater problem of getting people who have jobs to report for them day after day, to do a full day's work for a good day's pay, of working 48 hours a week instead of 30 or 35, and of doing a job as quickly and as efficiently as possible.

Martin Andersen writing in the Orlando Sentinel tells about his experience with his janitor who used to be a good janitor and was quite capable of sweeping out the place all by himself. Came the wage-hour law and it took two janitors to do this work. Then came the war and even two of them couldn't get it done so he retired to the air base at $26 a week.

"Our janitor, whose salary was frozen at $14 a week," Mr. Andersen writes, "went out to the Air Base and got himself a job for $26 a week. Under the law we couldn't raise his pay, even if we could afford a $26 janitor, but under the law we must contribute through income taxes to allow the government to pay him almost 100 percent more than he was satisfied with for several years before the army came to town.

"Well, we're not kicking. We're just observing the passing picture. The janitor wasn't anything to brag about in the first place. At one time he was a good man; he worked from sun-up to sun-down and did all the janitorial and metal-melting and many another job, working some 10 hours a day. Then came the 40-hour week and we hired an assistant for the janitor. Then came the high cost of living and he asked for a raise. We told him about the law which said we faced a heavy fine and a year in the penitentiary for raising or lowering salaries. But he apparently didn't believe that. He asked. And finally he just got ornery and careless and so he gets himself a fat job at the army air base for $26 instead of the $14 which the government said was all we could legally give him.

Most all of us know of some case similar to that. Most of us could tell a similar story about some white man, as well as some colored man. Laziness is not a characteristic limited by color. And this one janitor who used to work for Martin Andersen did not create the manpower problem. But thousands of men, and women, like him all over the country have created it, are stopping the wheels of industry, are doing their bit toward losing the war.

Louvain's Architect

The death of Whitney Warren at 78 removes a great American architect. He designed the Grand Central Terminal in New York, as well as several of the city's largest hotels. He is best remembered, however, for his reconstruction of the Louvain Library in Belgium, destroyed in the last war by the Germans.

His work on this was attacked not for artistic reasons, but because of the Latin inscription which, translated, read, "Destroyed by German Fury; Restored by American Generosity." Through this seems a fair statement of the facts, it was attacked, in Mr. Warren's words, by "pacifists and politicians" who called the inscription "a legend of hate." Though the wording had been suggested by the late Cardinal Mercier, the Belgian leader during the German occupation, it was opposed by other Belgians, and despite a legal battle by Mr. Warren, was at last omitted.

Now the Louvain Library has been destroyed a second time. If, as cannot be doubted, American generosity again makes good the loss, it is to be hoped that another Warren will arise to create an equally beautiful building. In any case, now that a second demolition has rubbed in the lesson, there will probably be no more opposition to an inscription fixing German responsibility.

SANFORD FORUM

Elder Springs Sanford, Florida Feb. 5, 1943 Editor Sanford Herald, Sanford, Florida

Have we ever stopped to think that Central Florida is the garden spot of the world; the greatest natural health resort in the United States. Nature has done more for this section than any place you can think of. Our people have done a great deal to develop it. Our farmers are as good as you can find anywhere.

We have thousands of beautiful lakes, miles of sweet oranges and grapefruit, great celery fields, vegetable, rivers and lakes filled with fish, forests full of wild game. Have you ever thought to think that our politicians and racketeers have broken about 95 percent of our farmers by unwise laws. Our people should elect common sense honest men to office.

This administration has tried to help us, and to reforest the lands. Instead of our politicians recommending men with common sense, they have had their political workers appointed to these jobs. The ones in these positions tell the farmers how to farm when they do not know the least thing about farming. 95 percent of the farmers they try to teach know more about farming than they do. Our state through the politicians have caused more waste of money than any state in the union. These politicians have caused more suffering, destroyed more farms and homes and retarded the growth of our state. It is our fault, we have not paid attention to selecting the representatives in the legislature and in Congress.

Our government and the legislature have passed the last legislation that will cause the destruction of the state. The present government has passed the law that will cause the destruction of the state. The present government has passed the law that will cause the destruction of the state.

The small farmer hasn't a chance for the over head in the state, but our government has taken all the farmers who can farm, give them a bank and a mortgage and pay them a price for what they produce. Our country could feed the world, but our government has taken all the farmers who can farm, give them a bank and a mortgage and pay them a price for what they produce.

Our country can produce nearly enough to supply the world, but not unless they can get fertilizer, farm machinery, etc., and the government cost of production, and a fair profit. We love to produce, and see things grow and have had it as long as we could make enough to pay for fertilizer, bank debts etc.

NEGROES DO THEIR PART

It is the aim of the Office of War Information to make available to every Negro family in the country a booklet entitled 'Negroes and the War'. The booklet sums up the progress made by Negroes since the Emancipation Proclamation and contrasts that progress with their present position under the Nazi trust for a new program. The thesis of an introductory article by Chandler Owen, Negro publicist, is that, although in this, the land of their birth, they have been handicapped, their opportunities limited, they have nevertheless made a record of progress which they may justly be proud of. He cites, for example, progress in the professional fields: from 1890 to 1930 the number of Negro clergymen in the United States increased from 12,159 to 26,031; of teachers from 15,008 to 34,139; of doctors from 208 to 3,905; of lawyers and judges from 331 to 1,247. In contrast he quotes the Hitlerian thesis in 'Mien Kampf' that 'the Negro is a criminal abomination to train a born half-breed until one believes a lawyer has been made of him. For it is training exactly as that of a people.' The booklet follows up Mr. Owen's article with pictures and descriptions of Negro accomplishments as farmers, professional men, government officials, scientists, athletes, artists, musicians, etc. It touches on projects government has undertaken in their behalf: farm loans, drug clearance, health programs, schools. Finally, it presents the Negro's part in the war in defense work and in the armed forces. It cites two Negro divisions, many regiments Negro officers, Negro fighting or training in every branch of the service. Here, too, the Negro has felt some of the same hardships that have made his general progress slow. Yet, Mr. Owen says, and the record of achievement corroborates him, most of the 13,000,000 Negro American citizens say with Joe Louis, 'We're going to do our part, and we'll win because we're on God's side. The aim of "Negroes and the War" is to build morale among Negroes; to show them their tribute to the land of their birth puts upon the rest of Americans a renewed obligation to uphold, in practice as well as theory, the ideals of justice and humanity which put the nation on God's side.'

Two States Discuss Laws On Marriage

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 10. (AP)—Florida and Georgia legislators will have a conference in Atlanta February 17, about uniform marriage laws that would require either state of intention and physical examination. Speaker Richard H. Simpson of the Florida House announced a Florida House Committee of Commerce committee, which includes two House members, would confer with similar Georgia representatives. J. L. McMullen of Live Oak, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will make the trip, along with Rep. G. W. Sanchez of Live Oak, and Rep. Hirt Byrd of Jacksonville.

Profit Margin From War Sales Limited

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Undersecretaries of War and Navy joined Tuesday in announcing a broad general rule that the margin of profit which a company makes on its expanded war sales may be limited to one-half or one-third of the margin of profit on peace-time sales. This statement was made in an announcement by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal who said that experience has indicated the advisability of a statement of certain of the principles which guide the War and Navy Departments in negotiating contract prices and also in renegotiating such prices. "The weapons which the Nation needs to equip the Army and Navy should be produced at a modest profit," the statement said. "The first incentive everyone must be the preservation of America, and no country whose young men have been called upon to offer up their lives will tolerate inordinant war profits."

Girl Athlete Is Newest Threat To Amateur Golfers

By DELTON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 10. — May be you didn't see that little item out of Los Angeles the other day. It was just a tiny squib, but big news for golf. It said that America's greatest all-around woman athlete was eligible for amateur golf competition.

Babe Diddrikson may be the girl to beat in the next U. S. women's golf championship, whenever that will be.

The Babe, now Mrs. George Kahanian, was ruled ineligible by the U. S. Golf Association in 1936 because of her professionalism in other sports. Two years later, she applied for reinstatement as an amateur and now her request has been granted.

Babe was a golf star from the start, just as she was a standout in every other sport she took up. She shot a 95 her first round, soon chopped that down into the low 80's, and won medalist honors in the first tournament in which she played with a 77. Six months later she won the 1935 Texas championship.

Shortly afterwards, the U. S. G. A. barred her from amateur tournaments but she continued to play in open events and won the Eastern open in 1936, and the San Francisco match play open last year.

Babe quickly gained fame as a long hitter (she knocked out 200 yard shots with a putter under the impression it was a No. 1 iron). The last time we saw her play she was weak with the short irons, losing most of her strokes around the green. If she has improved her short game, she'll give any of the girls a battle and win most of them.

A few years ago this observer saw Babe play in her first open tournament against men. It was at Hot Springs, Va., and we recall how a pair of name pros ruined their chances of winning by trying to outslug Babe from the tee—and failing.

That same journey also saw the debut of another star, a local country assistant pro. This competitor grabbed the lead and held it for three rounds. He handed one into the woods in the last round, lost a half dozen strokes trying to get out, and lost the tournament to Billy Burke. The youngster's name was Sam Snead.

Babe first caught the national headlines in 1930 when the women's national track and field championships were held in Dallas. She set U. S. records in the 100 and 200 yard dashes, and finished second in the broad jump. Prior to that she had won local titles in basketball, boxing, tennis, football, tennis, basketball, gymnastics, rifle shooting, cycling, speed skating, handball and squash.

She was an all-America cage forward in 1930 and star of the national championship Dallas team.

And in 1932 came the Olympic games, with Babe winning first place in the high hurdles and the javelin throw. That really made her a national figure and established her as the country's top woman athlete.

Her name was used in advertising a commercial product and she was suspended by the Southern A. A. U. So she turned pro, although the A. A. U. soon reinstated her as an amateur.

Her advent into golf was purely accidental. She was on her way to buy a dress but as she passed a sporting goods store, her eye caught the shiny steel heads of golf clubs displayed in a window. She couldn't resist the temptation. So she postponed the purchase of a dress and bought the clubs instead.

Mail Restrictions Are Clarified By Local Postmaster

Complaints from the public of delayed or lost mail to members of the armed forces indicate that there is wide misunderstanding of how this mail is handled and the difficulty of delivering mail overseas, Mrs. Maie Holly, acting postmaster, stated this morning as she outlined the procedure and restrictions involved in mailing parcels and letters to service men.

Reflecting that the mail system is more satisfactory than during the last war, there have been fewer complaints from anxious relatives and friends, although the volume of mail is larger. A memorandum from the postmaster general states:

Delays in the mail to armed forces may be caused by various factors. Heavily continued. Transportation of the mail sometimes must be postponed so that more urgent need for arms, food or more military and naval personnel may be filled first. Ship sinkings account for much loss of mail. Censorship holds up many letters.

Ships must travel in convoys, in the interest of safety, and a convoy can start only when the last ship is loaded and ready to depart. This tends to slow up the voyage, as does the fact that convoy sailing includes round-about means of reaching a destination. Incorrect or incomplete addresses on mail makes it impossible to deliver the article.

Very small letters are the most satisfactory means of corresponding with men and women overseas since they are given priority over ordinary mail. Mail to the United States from overseas is more rapid and regular because ships and planes on return trips have more space available and the location of addresses in this country is more stable than soldiers who are constantly being transferred and moved around overseas.

No parcel shall be accepted for mailing to personnel of the United States Army, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard who are stationed overseas if it weighs more than 5 pounds, or exceeds 15 inches in length, or 30 inches in length and girth combined. This includes parcels addressed in care of the Postmaster at New York, N. Y., or San Francisco, Calif.

For the present, it is not necessary that an approval request be obtained from the addresses cycling, speed skating, handball and squash.

She was an all-America cage forward in 1930 and star of the national championship Dallas team.

WHY SO MUCH SHOUTING ABOUT PRE - WAR FURNITURE ?

IT'S BETTER THAN ANYTHING YO'LL BE ABLE TO BUY FOR YEARS . . .

Just compare furniture made within the past six months with good old Pre-War stuff . . . they simply are not in the same category. Curtailments of manufacture, restrictions and general shortages of materials have drastically affected the quality of new furniture . . . so the wise buyer will select Pre-War merchandise if it is available. Mather still has a fairly good stock on hand but it is being moved out every day, and the management hopes all the old friends of the store will go some of it.

Allied Military Leaders Plan New Pacific Offensive

MacArthur Says Japs Did Not Evacuate New Guinea Area; All "Perished"

(By Associated Press) A concerted offensive against Japan was foreshadowed today with an earlier disclosure by the British government that high-ranking American, British and Chinese military leaders have met and agreed on "offensive plans."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today virtually called Japan's Mikado a liar, saying Gen. Tomaraki Horii and his army did not evacuate the Buna area of New Guinea at the end of January as the Japanese claimed but "perished."

This pointed commentary was included along with the announcement of the fresh Allied ground victory on the approaches to Salamaua and Lae, the next Japanese bases of importance since the victory at Buna sealed triumph for the Allies in the Papuan peninsula. The communique announced that the main Jap force has been encountered in the Waris region, some 35 miles southwest of Salamaua, and forced back for miles, after which our artillery continued to pour it on the retreating enemy.

The communique's blunt giving of the lie referred to yesterday's statement in a Japanese imperial headquarters communique that its troops pulled out of Buna.

"It is a complete fabrication and must be regarded as propaganda rather than a military report," snapped MacArthur's version of the battle.

MacArthur had given the lie directly to the Japanese and his language was typically forthright and laudatory.

He said "the necessity for such subtlety" as the Japanese claim that their troops had evacuated Buna "is a complete fabrication and must be regarded as propaganda rather than a military report."

Plans Explained For Giant Bond Purchase Program

Areas Represented To Choose Names For Flying Fortresses

Plans for a War Bond purchase campaign to buy Flying Fortresses to bomb the Axis, were today explained to Mayor Edward Higgins, by Karl Lehmann, deputy administrator of the Florida War Savings Staff of the United States Treasury.

Mr. Lehmann, en route to the Land to address representatives of the citrus industry concerning the drive, was accompanied by J. F. Braxton, of Orlando, associate administrator in charge of the agricultural division of the War Savings Staff. Mr. Braxton is head of the educational bureau of the Citrus Nitrate Company, which has been chosen by the company for War Savings work.

The bond buying plan to purchase bombers was initiated by Florida citrus growers, and the matter was actively taken up by John A. Snavely Jr., who acting as president of the Florida Orange Festival at Winter Haven, called off the mid-winter festival in order to get the campaign started in the 30 citrus growing counties.

Smaller counties which cannot sell enough bonds to buy a Flying Fortress, may name a medium bomber, which costs $175,000 or a pursuit plane which costs $75,000, he said.

In addition to the proceeds of bond purchases by growers and workers, all amounts in excess of the bond sale quotas of the counties would be devoted to the purchase of Flying Fortresses.

Mr. Lehmann highly praised the efforts in War Bonds selling by V. J. Speer, Seminole County War Bond savings chairman, and his assistants.

Axis, British Clash In Ben Gardane Area

Unconfirmed Report Says English Have Been Driven Back To Tripolitania

(By Associated Press) Britain's eighth army was today officially reported to have stormed 20 miles into Axis held southern Tunisia and its vanguards were clashing with Axis troops in the Ben Gardane sector, while a Vichy radio broadcast an unconfirmed report that Marshal Rommel's forces had driven the British back into Tripolitania.

The American fifth army and the British first army, as intended western units holding the battle weary French now being re-armed for a big push.

In the air, Allied planes from the east and west and Marine one ship and left another sinking off Tunisia, strafed Axis troops, pounded at Trapani docks in Sicily and raided the Neclan naval base of Palermo.

Last night Gen. Sir Harold Alexander expanded the opinion that the British line 60 miles in Tunisia and only 40 miles long, could be easily broken by motorized forces sweeping around its end, but he did not say the line was now under attack.

However, he expressed the belief that Marshal Erwin Rommel would sustain his depleted Italian and German forces behind that system of French fortifications as long as he was not threatened with being cut off.

The German radio has been heralding an impending attack from the west for several days, and the Italian high command's communique yesterday betrayed Axis concern over "massed motorized vehicles and concentrations of troops of the British which it said were extensively bombed by the Axis air force formations."

In Tunisia there was inactivity by the last units, but American Flying Fortresses, the spearhead of the Allied air armadas which are out daily to destroy German air power, blanketed the Axis air field with bursting bombs which showed 25 to 40 planes parked about the landing strips.
