

Some Scoffed

By JULIUS C. BYERS
 There are those who scoffed at the Bible, said it was an obsolete book, and said that its life was coming to an end. However, time has passed, and the Bible has remained at the top of the best seller lists. Men have burned it, women have thrown it away, and scattered its leaves to the four winds, but it is now in greater demand than ever before. Indeed, we are told that a Bible is printed every six seconds which means that 10 Bibles are printed every minute. However, the popularity of the Bible does not guarantee that its truths are being grasped and applied to life. In fact being misinterpreted, misused, and the scriptures are constantly misinterpreted. For ages many have treated the Bible in a superficial manner. For instance a lady of my acquaintance opens her Bible, closes her eyes and points to a scripture verse when attempting to make a decision or find an answer to a problem.

James Chapel of the American Bible Society tells of a chaplain who was approached by a soldier who asked several questions for the verse in the Bible that would stop bleeding. He said that if you put one hand on a certain verse and the other on an injury the bleeding would stop. The Bible is not a book of magic and should never be treated as such. The Bible is a great source book for man's spiritual living. It reveals the truths of the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the salvation of lost souls. However, these truths will not be miraculously revealed to us from the pages of a Bible that remains unopened and unused on the living room table.

Stable Is Church; But Only Sundays

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Once they came to the stable dressed in their finery and locked over thoroughbred race horses. They made their selection and then went to wager their money.

Still they come to the white concrete block building, Down Surling Road past the Gutz and Dolls Bar, 10 1/2 S. Sewing and Alvarado and Zeck's TV repair service.

But only on Sunday. And the stakes are higher. What was once the thoroughbred stable of Norman Smith is now St. Maurice's Catholic Church.

A wooden altar occupies the space that was the tack room. The loud clear voice of St. Maurice's pastor, the Rev. David Russell, booms through rafters and echoes from walls at two masses each Sunday.

A native of Brainerd, Minn., and an ordained Roman Catholic priest since 1964, Father Russell said "The spirit of our religion is happily the soul of our religion. We feel that the building in its simplicity emphasizes the people in their majesty."

The youthful-looking, boyish priest and his stable church attract parishioners of all ages. Retirees sit side by side on borrowed chairs with long-haired youth.

A pretty mischievous girl strums her guitar and sings a hymn from the altar during communion.

"We are basically in the process, not of building, but of restoring," the stable said, Father Russell.

His plans call for: —Rebuilding to replace the 250 metal folding chairs borrowed from other Catholic churches in the area.

—Refinishing individual iron water troughs from the old stalls to hold the holy water.

—Replacing the outside stable doors with the wooden ones that held the horses in their stalls.

Already the parishioners, working in spare time, have dismantled the stalls and hayloft.

This lumber went into picnic tables and benches which have been placed among the palms in front of the stable. After each mass, coffee and donuts are served and Fr. Russell table hops with a personal word for each parishioner.

The priest looks upon this as "an extension of the altar and a continuity of the Christian community."

The Smiths throughout farm was purchased several years ago by the Archdiocese of Miami. It was not until June of 1970 that Fr. Russell, then serving in an editorial capacity on the Roman Catholic newspaper, "The Voice," was sent to the Lywood-Fort Lauderdale line to begin the parish of St. Maurice. The home on the 26-acre plot is used as the rectory. Construction is under way now to convert the area behind the stable to a parking lot.

Father Russell hopes "the simplicity and honesty of the church in the stable will attract all the people. I'm gratified that both kids and retirees are showing up each Sunday in increasing numbers."

Must Keep Your Cool When Dealing On Drugs

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, AP Religion Writer

If you discover your son or daughter is using drugs, don't turn the youngster over to police or go into a rage and order him out of the house.

"Keep your cool and don't panic. These tips were offered at a conference on the drug crisis and the church at Gaines Regional Assembly grounds near Santa Fe, N.M., last week, sponsored by the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission.

Instead of calling the police, a parent who learns his child is using drugs should call a physician and seek his advice and help, said the Rev. Dr. Herbert H. Barnette, a professor of Christian ethics.

Usually he said, a physician will be sympathetic and know what further steps to take for rehabilitation.

He said turning a youngster over to police could be one of the most damaging things a parent can do, and might turn the youth permanently against his parents and result in his expulsion from school and imprisonment.

Prison could mean a "post-graduate course in real crime," the professor added.

Dr. Barnette, of Louisville's Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, said one of the first things a parent should do is to talk openly with their youngster about his problem—and listen, as well as give advice.

"The victim of drugs needs to be heard rather than harrassed and harassed," he said.

"Scare tactics" to try to frighten children off drugs would only cause them to "turn a deaf ear" because they usually know more about drug effects than their parents.

Such tactics, he said, simply cause "further alienation."

If the youngster has become a pusher—a drug peddler—and won't voluntarily seek help, the parents may have to notify authorities, he said adding.

Councilman Blasts County Road Plan

By MARION BETHEA
 Considerable controversy has emanated from a contention by Casselberry Councilman Dr. Edith Duerer that the county is using road and bridge fund moneys to pay for roads outside cities and have only cooperated on a road within the city limits once in the last ten years.

Dr. Duerer has also accused Casselberry should receive $15,000 instead of $87. According to law, the county is obligated to refund to cities one-half of road taxes which are collected within city limits. The current $8 mill in road taxes which was levied by the county for 1969-70 amounted to $1,774 collected within Casselberry based upon the 1969-70 property assessment. One-half of this or $887 is budgeted to be paid to Casselberry.

Dr. Duerer cited that a $3.6 million growth in Casselberry's valuation according to county figures should have been closer to $6 million with $4.9 million in building permits issued during this period. When the clerk's office ascertained the assessed valuation of properties in municipalities for the purpose of establishing the valuation to be applied to the road and bridge moneys for payment to the municipalities, Dr. Duerer contended that the figures did not include certain annexation which took place during the year. However, figures were received by Deputy Clerk Ashby Jones, who stated that the total figures did include annexation petitions which were forwarded to the county. Further, Clerk of the Court Arthur Book with advised that all such petitions were accepted and codified into the tax rolls and that the figures had included all annexation.

Commission Chairman John Alexander said that although Casselberry had received $500 this year, that in a "ballpark" figure they could receive $10,000-12,000 next year based upon a 1.58 mileage. Alexander also said that it was an administrative procedure for payment to be based upon the previous year's tax rolls.

U. S. Senate Nominee Choices: Bryant-Cramer

During July the nation's unemployment rate increased to 5 per cent of the work force, says the Labor Department. Or did it? In big figures the number of unemployed was 4.5 million. This is an actual decrease of 100,000. However, since unemployment "usually declines more sharply in July," it is written as a rise of 275,000 "on a seasonally adjusted basis."

Miss Lormann, D. C. Guthrie Exchange Vows

by MELEND CASSELLBERRY
Miss Sandra Marie Lormann and Dennis Craig Guthrie were united in Holy Matrimony, Aug. 22, 1970, at 2 p. m. at Community United Methodist Church, Casselberry.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS CRAIG GUTHRIE

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Allen R. Lormann and the late Mayor Lormann of Longwood, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Guthrie of North Orlando.

Miss Lyma Lormann attended her sister as maid of honor and Carol Muir served as the matron of honor. They were pink silk shantung formal gowns fashioned along the A-line featuring Empire bodices with scooped necklines and short capped sleeves defined by tiny bows and Venice lace, scalloping the bottom of the panel. They wore tulle veils over a Dior satin bow which were accented with deep pink roses and miniature pink carnations. They carried Edwardian hand bouquets of deep pink roses and pale pink carnations accented with saal foliage and long pale pink satin ribbons.

Given in marriage by her twin brother, Jim Lormann, the lovely bride was radiant in a formal gown elegantly designed of imported organza and Chantilly lace, fashioned along a slim silhouette. The Chantilly lace bodice highlighted with pearls and bugle beading was designed with a scalloped, Sabrina neckline and long, tapered sleeves terminating in points. The semi-circular lace was applied on the A-line skirt, which cascaded into a flowing chapel train.

Her four-tiered bouffant cathedral veil of silk tulle was fastened by medallions of matching lace, lavishly sprinkled with pearls and iridescents. She carried a cascading cathedral bouquet of white elegance roses and white cattleya orchids accented with natural foliage and white satin shower streamers with removable orchid corsage.

Bridal Parties Fete Debra McLain

Debra McLain, Aug. 28 bride-elect of Henry Bowlin, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower, Aug. 6, at the K. F. German home. Hostesses for the event were Betty Kirkendall and Mary Ann Gorman.

Upon arrival at the party, Debra was presented with two lovely long stemmed roses which were complimented with natural ferns and a shower of white ribbons.

The party decor and refreshments carried out the homey, chosen colors of apricot and white. The refreshment table was covered with a beige linen tablecloth and was centered with a most attractive arrangement of daisies which was flanked by two crystal candlesticks.

Nuts, mints and punch were served as accompaniments to a very special cake which was also decorated in the bride-elect's selected colors. All table appointments were of lead crystal and cut-glass.

The assembled guests amused themselves with games, much chatter and appropriate remarks as the honoree opened her mountain of lovely gifts. Special guests were Mrs. Ralph McLain, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. H. A. Manning, her grandmother and Mrs. U. V. Bowlin, mother of the groom-elect.

Invited to enjoy the delightful affair were: The Meses, Gene Taffer, A. T. McArdle, Gloria Simpson, Daryl McLain, Leon Tachiedel, Francis Culbert, Bob Brisson, Lonnie Bridges, Pearl Scott, Vernon Hardin, and Dorothy Brubaker. Also the Misses Barrie Taffer, Linda McArdle, Jan Simpson, Cathy Swagerty, Carol Stowell, Gaymarie Tachiedel, Regina Culbreth, Diane Bridges, Sally Gage and Vicki Hardin.

Several games were played and a prize was won by Mrs. Stafford, Onnie Bridges, Thomas Cobb, Jr., John Carter, C. J. Jessup, Dick Schmidt, Edward Smith and Gene Est-ridge.

BEDWETTING
Bedwetting, prevalent in 20 per cent of early school-age children, is a recurrence of an earlier habit in more than two-thirds of the cases. More boys than girls are bedwetters. The habit is more common among children in large families, and in those from broken homes, reports Warren F. Dolge, MD, and associates, University of Texas, Galveston Medical Branch, in a study of 9,411 school children.

IMPETIGO
A skin infection children often bring home from school can lead to serious complications. Dr. Walter T. Hughes, of the University of Louisville, Kentucky, reporting in Modern Medicine, warns that "impetigo contagiosa" can lead to more serious illness including pneumonia, and a kidney disease. Those complications are more likely to occur in small infants.

Impetigo usually appears on the exposed areas of the body. It spreads rapidly, is highly contagious, and should be treated by a physician. Impetigo remains communicable until all lesions have healed, Dr. Hughes explained. "Thus, family members should be protected as much as possible, and advised to bathe daily with a hexachlorophene soap."

The physician further advises that "contaminated clothing, towels, washcloths and sheets be kept separate and boiled or machine-washed and dried thoroughly" to prevent reinfection.

YOUTH FAVORS Government Control

Distributed by NEA

American young people favor government regulation of prices as an anti-inflationary device, but oppose regulation of wages, business profits and personal income, according to the National Gilbert Youth Poll.

The poll, which is based on 14,000 youth nationwide, showed the strongest opposition to the regulation of all prices, with 66 per cent of the respondents favoring government control. The lowest degree of opposition came among college students, 49 per cent of whom were against regulation. There were regional differences, with 74 per cent of the respondents favoring government control in the East and 66 per cent in the West.

Regulation of business was also opposed by 66 per cent of the respondents, showing the strongest opposition, 74 per cent, while the South was 61 per cent in favor of government control. While distinct majorities opposed government regulation of personal income, wages and business profits, 58 per cent of the respondents favored government control of prices.

The findings of the National Gilbert Youth Poll are available to the entire youth population in the United States through the National Gilbert Youth Poll, a free service which will provide the poll results to any youth in the United States.

Mini-Computer May Save Lives

WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Three scientists have created a computer that they say may save thousands of lives by warning heart patients of a possible heart attack.

The device, called VIDA-Veridical, Implantable Diagnostic and Assessment System, is a small, portable computer that can be implanted in a patient's chest. It monitors the patient's heart rate and rhythm, and can warn the patient of a possible heart attack before it occurs.

The device is being tested in a clinical trial at the University of California at Los Angeles. The scientists say that the device could save thousands of lives each year by warning patients of a possible heart attack before it occurs.

1 Man Arrested; Another Coming

Indictments handed down by the Seminole Grand Jury Friday afternoon, Aug. 28, have resulted in the arrest of one person. A second person is expected to turn himself in to the Sheriff's Department early this afternoon.

Tracy W. Estes, 42, of Longwood was booked Friday afternoon on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcoholic beverages. He was released on $300 bond. He is to report to the Circuit Court on Friday, Sept. 4 at 11 a.m. to appear before the judge presiding.

Estes was arrested on Feb. 17 of this year by the Altamonte Police, but the case has never come to trial. Altamonte Municipal Court, which would handle the case, is presided over by Judge Gene Stebbins, an Altamonte attorney.

The second person will be served with a capias (a writ issued by a judge commanding the sheriff to arrest the person named) today, said Sheriff John Polk. "There is no bond set on the second person, he will be released on his own recognizance," he noted. "Hopefully he will appear today," said the sheriff. "Word has been left at his office that the Sheriff wants to see him."

The capias must be served and returned to the office of Art Beckwith, the Clerk of the Seminole County Court, before the person named can be made public.

After the tragedy of this past weekend... a murder apparently caused from dope... how in the world anyone can condone marijuana with the rationalization "that you can always kick the habit later on..."

I forget which of the candidates has it as a part of his platform, but I back him... "anyone convicted as a dope peddler should get the death sentence!"

It's about time we quit pussy-footing around on this subject... and crime generally.

And since we're on the subject of crime, the nation's capital is a horrible example... but the following is actually a 'repro' of a letter which the Americans for Constitutional Action sent out to their friends... on their letterhead...

Eleven Persons Arrested Massive Gambling Raids Staged

At least 11 persons were arrested Sunday by a combined force of 23 Seminole County deputies, Florida Beverage Department agents and five county establishments where alleged liquor and gaming violations were reported to authorities.

The foray started near Sanford around 9 a.m. when a house on West 18th St. owned by Jerry Martin, 61, 1216 West 11th Street, was entered and monetary, card and dice tables smashed by six wielding agents. Martin was arrested on charges of operating a gaming establishment and possession of alcoholic beverages for resale, according to H. G. Baker, State Beverage Department.

He was later released from the county jail after posting total $2,500 bond.

According to Baker, the raids came after several illegal liquor buys were made by undercover persons.

Duane Harrell, Seminole County chief deputy, reported 12 deputies, nine beverage agents and Constable Chester Boyd and his deputy, were involved in the raids.

Besides the Chicago Plats house owned by Martin, another Sanford area raid was made at the Mulehead Inn at Midway, where Ester Moore and James Woodrow Moore, husband and wife, were arrested.

Moore was booked on unlawful sale of alcoholic beverages charge and his wife was charged with possession of alcoholic beverages for resale.

Both were released after posting $500 bonds.

The sheriff's deputies, beverage agents and Constable Boyd raided three Oviedo area places and arrested Benny Boston, 65, Stephens Street, on possession of alcoholic beverages for resale without a license charge; Elizabeth Boston, 59, same address, was charged with possession of alcoholic beverages for resale and sale of alcoholic beverages without a license; Jessie Smith Sr., 41, Oviedo, was charged with permitting the sale and serving alcoholic beverages; Jessie Smith Jr., 17, his son, was charged with sale and serving alcoholic beverages; Alberta James Jacobs, 56, Oviedo, was jailed for sale of alcoholic beverage without a license charge; Leroy James,

Hagen Filing Appeal

By MARION BETHEA

Complications in the supervisor of elections office in the coming elections is anticipated from a filing on Friday by Circuit Court Judge Bernard Muszynski that Fred H. Hagen seeking the Republican nomination for a state house seat in District 44 was disqualified.

Judge Muszynski ruled that Hagen failed to comply with the recently enacted "resign to run law" by not tendering his resignation as a member of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council. Hagen opposes incumbent Rep. E. Pope Bassett.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Kathryn Gillespie, a GOP committeewoman, and involved both the Orange and Seminole County Commission as nominal parties, being elected officials. Mrs. Gillespie charged that Hagen was a public officer in his capacity as a member of the council.

Hagen's attorneys argued that the seat on the planning council did not come under the "resign to run law" because it was an appointive, non-paying position. However, Mrs. Gillespie's attorneys countered that Hagen had a part in administering some public moneys that this constituted a public official.

50, Oviedo, was charged with possession of alcoholic beverage without a license for resale violation; Aletha (Honey) Smith, 49, 1009 W. 11th Street, Sanford and Ivory L. Washington, 71, Sanford, were also booked on unlawful sale of alcoholic beverage charge.

Decide Jurisdiction Authorities Awaiting Autopsy

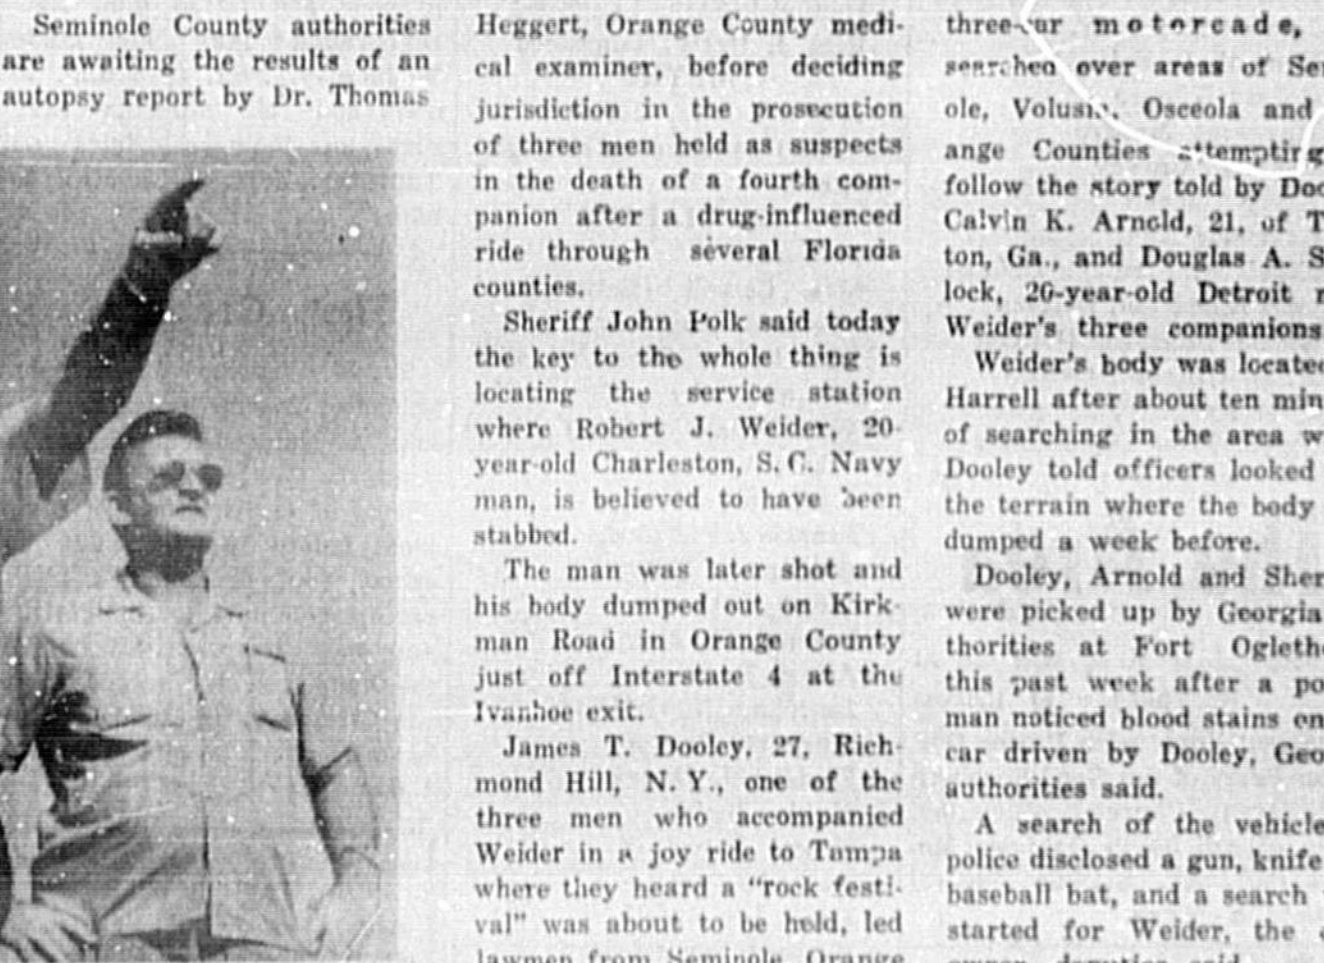

Seminole County authorities are awaiting the results of an autopsy report by Dr. Thomas Heggert, Orange County medical examiner, before deciding jurisdiction in the prosecution of three men held as suspects in the death of a fourth companion after a drug-influenced ride through several Florida counties.

Sheriff John Polk said today the key to the whole thing is locating the service station where Robert J. Weider, 20-year-old Charleston, S.C. Navy man, is believed to have been stabbed.

The man was later shot and his body dumped out on Kirkman Road in Orange County just off Interstate 4 at the 17-mile exit.

James T. Dooley, 27, Richmond Hill, N.Y., one of the three men who accompanied Weider in a joy ride to Tampa where they heard a "rock festival" was about to be held, led lawmen from Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties; Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents and Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., police to the spot where the man's decaying remains were discovered by Duane Harrell, Seminole chief deputy, at approximately 8:45 p.m. Saturday night.
