Attorney Fees Soar In Yankee Lake Tug-Of-War

Sanford racked up $14,774.10 in attorneys' fees last fall in its still unresolved efforts to implement one of two wastewater management programs. Of this figure, more than half, or $8,173.70, went for attempts to acquire Yankee Lake through negotiation and condemnation.

On Monday night, commissioners authorized payment of these and other legal fees, which cover September, October and November, and retained two attorneys to supplement the city's Yankee Lake condemnation effort.

When Commissioner John Mercer balked at the $5,000 advance requested by one of the new Yankee Lake attorneys, City Manager Frank Faison said, "I strongly urge you to please approve the request," and then thanked the commissioners for adopting the recommendation.

Faison also described the city's efforts to successfully implement a wastewater management program as being "life threatening," and "the key to our future development."

In addition to attempting condemnation of Yankee Lake for its wastewater management project, the city is conducting a tandem effort to continue dumping effluent in Lake Monroe. Sanford's battle with the state Department of Environmental Regulation on this front resulted in $1,657.50 in attorneys fees last fall.

The balance of the $14,774.10 in waste project legal fees, $4,942.90, was incurred during counsel's preparation of the $15 million bond Sanford has yet to float for its wastewater management program. Although Yankee Lake litigation has delayed the issue indefinitely, when Sanford does go to the financial market it will take with it the bond validation that attorneys obtained last fall. Legal fees charged to Sanford cover the 74 hours that went into overall preparation of the 1985 issue.

Counsel's billing for the waste management program efforts it undertook last fall encompasses more than two-thirds of the $22,196.85 in legal

That Sinking Feeling

Residents Flee As Ground Caves

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The first signs that a sinkhole was growing under a south Seminole County home were cracks in the swimming pool in June. Nearby homes have experienced cracks in their concrete structures and the underlying cause of the potential sinkhole may be under the entire subdivision.

Today, only one homeowner has collected evidence that his house is threatened by the potential sinkhole, but that is because only two test holes have been drilled.

"The operant word is unpredictable," said Orlando engineer William Shestak. "We're dealing with Mother Nature, which sometimes tricks us for the better or worse."

Shestak, whose company took sample bores to determine what was going on underground, said the weak soil could be an isolated pocket or horizontally as big as "the CNA Tower," in Orlando.

While experts were collecting information on site, Gilbert Eckloff and Paul and

Cites Differences With Colleagues

McClanahan Quits Housing Authority

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Citing "management philosophies" that "obviously differ greatly" from those of his fellow commissioners, Sanford Housing Authority Chairman A.A. McClanahan resigned from the authority today.

A letter detailing the rationale behind his "necessary action" will be submitted this afternoon to Mayor Betty Smith and SHA Executive Director Elliott Smith, McClanahan said.

Although the move comes less than a month after Commissioners Velma Williams and Alexander Wynn asked him to consider stepping down, McClanahan said today his decision to leave the authority "had nothing to do with their suggestion."

He added, however, "It is very obvious I can't work with the board."

He predicted that at Thursday night's SHA meeting, vice-chairman Wynn "will be moved right into" the chairman spot and Ms. Williams will become vice-chairman.

The other remaining members of the authority are William Long and Robert Frazier, who, according to McClanahan, are incapable of serving as overseers of the authority's multi-million dollar annual budget. He said Frazier, a retired railroad employee, and Long, the tenants' authority delegate, "don't understand the ramifications of dealing with that kind of money," McClanahan said.

This contention has prompted McClanahan to call for the authority's membership to be expanded from five to seven members.

"There should be broader representation," he said. "The authority should contain a cross-section of the business community; people who know what they're doing."

McClanahan's resignation comes almost six months to the day after his city commission appointment to a chairmanship he described as "difficult right from the beginning."

According to McClanahan, the authority's four other members "consistently took positions contrary" to his own. The resultant "frustration" culminated last month, he said, when a Sanford legal service filed suit after Wynn, Frazier, Long and Ms. Williams voted to ban the agency's free legal clinics from housing property.

Faced with a lawsuit, the authority reversed its position last month, during the same meeting at which Wynn and Ms. Williams suggested that McClanahan consider stepping down as chairman.

The sentiments were expressed during a discordant discussion of comments McClanahan made to the press regarding Executive Director Smith's sight impediment. Wynn and Ms. Williams questioned the propriety of comments McClanahan made regarding the affects he felt the impediment had on Smith's managerial abilities.

The discourse also led to Ms. Williams' indicating she was unaware of the state Government in the Sunshine law which prohibits private discussion of administrative business.

"If you were so concerned...why not just call us?" she asked McClanahan.

"Now they can hold their sessions before (SHA) meetings and decide what they're going to do," McClanahan said today.

Montessori School Appeal To Be Heard

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Commissioners are scheduled to consider a request for the building of a Montessori School at E.E. Williamson Road and Interstate 4, when they meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the county services building.

The Sharidan Aquatic Club is appealing a board of adjustment decision which denied a special exception in October for construction of the Todd Montessori School.

Enrollment for the facility, pre-school through sixth grade, is expected to be between 175 and 250, according to Susan Todd, a spokesman for the project.

In other business Tuesday, the commission will also hear the following rezoning requests:

A. K. Schoemaker Jr., rezoning from agricultural to general commercial and wholesale district for one acre on the south side of 25th Street, west of Airport Boulevard.

Harvey D. Rivers, rezoning from agricultural to industrial for eight acres on the south side of Celery Avenue, west of Cameron Avenue.

Marlin Detweiler, rezoning from retail commercial (C-1) to retail commercial (C-2) for less than one acre on the south side of State Road 436, west of Bear Lake Road.

Irwin Golub, rezoning from agricultural to single family dwelling district for 15 acres on the east side of Tuskwilla Road, 1,200 feet north of State Road 426.

SCC To Kickoff 'Dream Auction' Campaign

A "kick-off" breakfast for Seminole Community College's Dream Auction '86 Wednesday is the first event in the annual fund-raiser that will culminate with "dreams" being auctioned to the highest bidders Feb. 20.

During past auctions those dreams included vacations to London, Mexico, and Hong Kong and prizes from hand-crocheted baby bibs to Pulitzer Prize nominee editorial cartoons to a Fiat automobile. One prize included the future winnings of a horse running in a race in Hialeah.

All of the prizes are donated to the college and the money bid on the several hundred trips and prizes benefits a scholarship trust fund. The state also kicks in $4 for every $6 the college raises.

"We expect our attendees (at the breakfast) to become quite caught up in the excitement of the event and its potential, and have encouraged them to announce any special "dream" items they are donating to begin the auction countdown on a high note." The breakfast is at 8 a.m. in the SCC

Cookery.

The 1985 auction raised $100,000 for the scholarship fund and was attended by about 450 people at the Sheraton Matland, where the auction is scheduled to be held this year. Over 500 items were auctioned off with about 30 percent of them going for more than retail price. The auctioneer was State Rep. Art Grindle.

Admission to the auction including dinner will be $50 per person.

For more information, call SCC at 323-1450.

Nation Begins Celebration

Local Events To Mark First King Holiday

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The first commemoration of the birthday of the late civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., as an official national holiday will be Monday, Jan. 20. Several events are planned locally in advance of the day.

The Lake Monroe (Bookertown) Community will commemorate the death of the slain civil rights leader with a candlelight march Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. from Providence Missionary Baptist Church on Douglas Avenue.

The Afro-American Society of Seminole Community College will present its fifth annual Heritage Jubilee '86 Saturday at 8 p.m. in the SCC Concert Hall in the Fine Arts Building to commemorate the first national celebration of the Birth of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Recipients of the 1986 distinguished service award will be Mother Alberta Jones, a member of New Mount Zion Missionary Baptist Church and Deacon Cleveland Dubose, a member of New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church.

Featured guests will be Generation: Voices of Love and Homage and the Muller Family in concert at 8 p.m.

A special commemoration program will be held at Providence Missionary Baptist Church in Lake Monroe at 3 p.m. on Jan. 19.

All of these events are open to the public.

In Atlanta, the youngest son of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. kicked off a weeklong national celebration of his father's birthday with a challenge to carry on King's dream with deeds and not just words.

"There are many who talk the talk," 24-year-old Dexter Scott King said in Washington Monday, "but few who walk the walk."

In Atlanta today, U.S. Education Secretary William J. Bennett was set to make one of the major speeches of a day devoted to youth and students — after spending an hour teaching a third grade class at John Hope Elementary School.

King was born Jan. 15, 1929, but his birthday will be celebrated by federal law on Jan. 20 this year to give workers a long weekend. It is the first year King's birthday has been a federal holiday.

The question of whether to celebrate King's birthday remains controversial in many parts of the country.

In Georgia, it is a state holiday, but many towns and counties are refusing to acknowledge it. Gov. Joe Frank Harris rejected a request from the Ku Klux Klan for permission to demonstrate on the Capitol steps during the holiday.

Italy Asks Interpol To Find Alleged Achilles Lauro Hijacker

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Three months after Palestinian gunmen hijacked the cruise ship Achille Lauro, Italy has asked Interpol to track down Mohammed Abbas, the alleged mastermind of the raid. Prosecutors Monday formally requested the international police organization issue a worldwide alert for Abbas, the Palestine Liberation Front leader who was allowed to flee Italy Oct. 12 despite a U.S. warrant for his arrest.

If Interpol locates Abbas, the Italian Justice Ministry would ask the country in which he had taken refuge to arrest him and extradite him to Italy, authorities said.

Sicilian prosecutors issued an arrest warrant for Abbas Oct. 25, charging him with conspiracy to commit homicide, kidnapping and hijacking, membership in a terrorist group and possession and transportation of weapons and explosives.

Crocker Meets S. Africa Officials

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — U.S. envoy Chester Crocker, turning his attention from Namibian independence to South Africa's internal affairs, met today with four cabinet ministers closely involved with the reform of the country's apartheid race laws and was to meet with black dissident leaders before leaving for Washington later today.

During a meeting Monday with President Pieter Botha, Crocker delivered a personal letter from President Reagan. Johannesburg's Citizen newspaper said today Reagan urged Botha to speed up the reform of apartheid, the country's system of institutionalized racial discrimination.

In Johannesburg Monday, Winnie Mandela, wife of jailed civil rights leader Nelson Mandela, lost an appeal against a government order barring her from Johannesburg and Soweto, where she has a home.

In race-related violence, police said two men and a woman were killed Monday in Stutterheim, about 450 miles south of Johannesburg, when a black officer fired a shotgun and a revolver into a crowd of about 1,000 blacks attacking his home.

Rockefeller Visit Spurs Protest

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Armored police vehicles patrolled the debris-littered streets of downtown Buenos Aires today following a night of anti-American demonstrations against a visit by banker David Rockefeller.

Five people were reported hospitalized with injuries, one of them in serious condition, following the street battles Monday night in which police fired water cannon, rubber bullets and tear gas at crowds of youths who chanted anti-U.S. slogans and set fire to bags of garbage in the streets.

Sanctions May Soon Hurt Libya

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — Libya, its economy already hurt by falling oil revenues, could feel the impact of President Reagan's economic sanctions by midyear, according to western diplomats.

Libya has already exceeded its OPEC quota of 900,000 barrels a day for crude oil production by 400,000 bpd in an attempt to maintain overseas earnings, the authoritative Middle East Economic Survey said Monday.

Oil revenues, however, have dropped from a peak of $22 billion a year in the early part of this decade to $8 billion last year.

Queens Politician Hospitalized After Mysterious 'Kidnapping'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The top-elected Democratic official in Queens, found bleeding and incoherent when stopped by police for weaving along a city highway, says he was kidnapped — but remembers little about the abduction.

Questioned for the first time since police pulled him from his car early Friday, Queens Borough President Donald Manes — executive of the New York City borough of 1.8 million — Monday told police he found two men in the back seat of his car when he left Queens Borough Hall after a party Thursday night.

Manes said the two men drove him around the streets of Queens for hours, but said he could not remember how he got his injuries, what his abductors looked like, or why he was kidnapped, said Chief of Detectives Richard Nicastro.

Navy Surgeon Goes On Trial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The court-martial of a Navy surgeon charged in the deaths of five patients had the prosecution handing out human hearts and holding a medical lecture in attempt to prove incompetence killed the victims.

Testimony opened Monday in the trial of Navy Cmdr. Donal Billing, former chief heart surgeon at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland, who is charged with five counts of involuntary manslaughter and 24 counts of dereliction of duty.

Kate Smith Undergoes Amputation

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Relatives of Kate Smith say fans have flooded the hospital with flowers, get-well cards and telephone calls since the beloved singer underwent surgery to amputate her right leg two days ago.

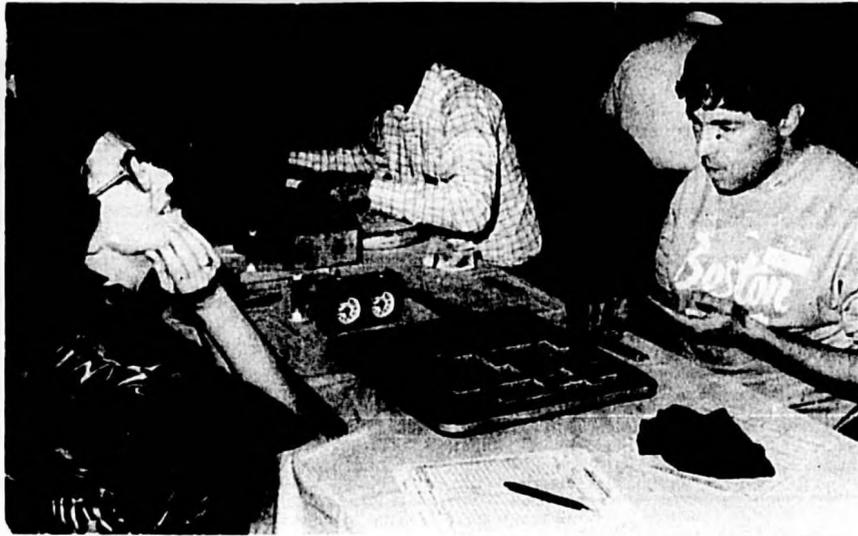

"Lots of love has been pouring in," Smith's sister, Helen Smith Steene, said Monday.

"I have not been able to put the receiver down before it rings again, so truthfully there are a lot of calls and they are from really interested and loving people," Steene said.

vouchers the city commission approved Monday night. The charges were submitted by the city's law firm, Conklin, Porter and Holmes, and cover services provided at $65 an hour. City Attorney William Colbert said today he expects to submit a voucher to the city next week for payment of his December fees.

A breakdown of the fall billing includes $1,462.50 for the 22.5 hours that went into preparation of the city's defense of three annexations it approved last fall. Seminole County filed suit against Sanford to invalidate the measures, contending they created serpentine land patterns which violate state law.

The city was also charged $503.75 for the 7.75 hours that went into preparation of the lease awarded John Smith for development of property along Lake Monroe. The $5,456.50 balance of the voucher charges predominantly addresses insurance claim settlements and counsels' review of city zoning enforcement efforts.

Regarding the new attorneys hired by the city, Colbert said Thomas Julin and Marcia Lippincott will enable "an effective litigation team" to proceed with Sanford's efforts to obtain Yankee Lake from Seminole County.

Julin will be paid $115 an hour for his expertise in state Government in the Sunshine law violations and Ms. Lippincott will research appellate procedures for Sanford at $100 an hour. In response to Mercer's reservations, Colbert said he will ask Julin to consider waiving his $5,000 retainer fee.

Sanford hopes to acquire Yankee Lake as site for an effluent disposal system. The county, however, purchased the land from Jeno Paulucci in November for $7.5 million and a guarantee that the sewage plant at Paulucci's Heathrow development would be closed and its waste rerouted to the facility the county plans to build at Yankee Lake.

Julin and City Attorney William Colbert spent Friday at the county services building sifting through the county's 10 cartons of Yankee Lake and Heathrow data in an attempt to gain insights into their investigation of whether county commissioners violated the Sunshine law when entering into a purchase agreement with Paulucci.

At an evidentiary hearing in December, Sanford was given until Jan. 15 to submit amendments to its condemnation suit and Colbert said Monday he intends to do just this.

Although he declined to discuss what the additional pleadings would consist of, Julin said last week a claim involving Sunshine law violations may be entered against the county as a means of invalidating the Yankee Lake purchase.

Rounding out Sanford's legal contingent in the Yankee Lake proceeding is Ken McIntosh, of the city's law firm, the county, in addition to its in-house counsel, has retained attorneys Howard Marsee and Ross Stanton to protect its interests. Marsee and Stanton have yet to submit vouchers for their services. County Finance Coordinator Nancy McMillan said today.

The DER has mandated Sanford to cease disposing effluent in Lake Monroe and offered the city financial incentives to comply. One of these is a grant that would partially cover the cost of Yankee Lake and last fall, according to the vouchers approved Monday night, the city's law firm spent 113 hours attempting to acquire the property. An unsuccessful negotiation process was followed on Nov. 8 by the filing of the condemnation proceeding.

At the same time the attorneys were attempting to assist Sanford's compliance with the DER mandate, they were also attempting to invalidate it. According to counsel's billing, 25.5 hours went into preparation of Sanford's rebuttal to a state administrative hearing office decision that sided with the DER.

However, both Sanford and the DER acknowledge the odds are against this effort's success.

Clara Canatella, who share the house at 1062 Martex Dr., Forest City, moved into an Altamonte Springs motel and were planning to move into a rented Altamonte Springs house this week.

According to Eckloff and the Canatellas, after the cracks appeared in the pool hairline cracks also showed up in the patio concrete and rear of the house, suggesting the ground was settling. Engineers took their first samples in November.

The homeowners made their move after their insurer declared the $70,000 concrete-block home was unsafe. An 8-foot wide depression formed in the home's front yard while the engineers were drilling for a sample.

An Orlando company, Henderson Wilder Contractors, may try to fill the watery pocket with concrete grout. It is estimated it would cost about $19,000 and might only be a temporary measure.

"We are trying to fix what Mother Nature has made a mess of. Sometimes you can, sometime you can't," Shestak said. "It can be fixed. It depends on how deep your pocket is," he said.

Shestak said the bore samples, from the front and back yard, were almost identical to each other and a "textbook" example of soil involving a potential sink.

Shestak said the problem is a pocket of watery soil about 60 feet below the house. The pocket is below 15 feet of top soil, 15 feet of hard-pressed sand and 20 feet of other soil.

"Then the bottom drops out," said Shestak. He said when the drilling equipment hit the pocket it dropped on its own weight without pressure. The slurry was about 20-feet thick with some hard soil starting on the bottom of that.

The slurry does not support weight as well as hard-packed soil, he said, so the upper soil layers could collapse into the watery mess. "It could go on for a million years or it could go tomorrow," he said.

He said a hint of how big slurry pocket will come when the contractor tries to fill the pocket with a concrete mixture.

The mixture is pumped in under pressure and as a section fills it should create backpressure that can be measured. It could take a little grout to fill the pocket or a person could pump in material as long as they had money to pay for it, Shestak said.

He said his company may be asked to take other soil samples in the area to determine how large the soft section is.

County Hopes As State Lags

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County remains confident that it will net an estimated $13.7 million in state sales tax for county jail and courthouse projects, despite a five-month lag by the Florida Department of Revenue in distributing the proceeds.

To date, the county has received $7,804,000 from the one-cent tax county voters approved by referendum in 1984, said County Management and Budget Director Eleanor Anderson.

The one-year tax levy, which began Jan. 1, 1985, expired Dec. 31. During the referendum voters approved the criminal justice facilities tax to be spent on the $13,189,000 jail expansion and $1.5 million courthouse renovation.

The county has received more than one-half of the proceeds, and the state expects to complete the distribution by the end of January, Anderson said.

Computer and staffing problems have caused the state to be almost six months behind in doling out the sales tax revenues, she said.

"The state says this ($13.7 million) estimate is still good and we still feel comfortable with it," Anderson said. In fact, the bulk of the proceeds should be from the last month of 1985 with Christmas holiday sales, Anderson said.

The county is investing the sales tax revenue it has received and has earned $200,000 in interest income to date, she said.

As an extra cushion, the county has set aside $700,000 in a general fund reserve account "in case there are any problems" gaining the needed amount of sales tax revenue.

Anderson said. The jail project is about 20 percent complete, she said.

The county would like to see the proceeds go higher than $13.7 million, which was a "very conservative" estimate, Anderson said.

"The state is doing catchup now. It was not ready for the criminal justice tax," she said.

Wife Files For Divorce From Inmate Husband

A Sanford woman has filed for divorce from her husband who's serving 10 years at the Lake Correctional Institute for the shooting death of a Sanford man.

Linda Jean Conquest filed suit against Freddie Lee Conquest, of 107 McKay Blvd., Sanford.

Conquest, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter, was sentenced in June, 1984, to 10 years for the death of Michael McCloud, 22, of 29 William Clark Court. A codefendant, Carly Presley, of 114 E. 11th St., Sanford, was sentenced the same month to 10 1/2 years for second-degree murder. The murder occurred when a drug deal soured.

According to the suit, the Conquests were married May 13, 1983, and lived together until January, 1984, the month Conquest was arrested on the murder charge.

According to court records, police officers were dispatched to William Clark Circle the afternoon of Jan. 10, 1984, after the report of a shooting.

After the shooting, Conquest, Presley and a juvenile fled. Conquest was arrested within a few minutes. Presley and the juvenile surrendered the next day.

The divorce case, filed Wednesday, has been assigned to Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. —Deane Jordan

Armed Robbery Nets Cash, Plus A 6-Pack

A bandit who robbed a Tennessee store at gunpoint at about 11 p.m. Saturday, got away with about $120 cash from the register and a six pack of beer.

The clerk who reported the robbery of the store at 300 E. Altamonte Drive, Altamonte Springs, said the man put a six pack of beer on the counter and then pulled a handgun from his waistband, pointed it at her and demanded cash.

She handed over the money and he left taking the beer with him, a sheriff's report said.

Two witnesses followed the suspect's old, white and gray Ford van from the scene, but lost sight of him near Mattland Boulevard, the report said.

STABBING RELEASE

A 44-year-old Altamonte Springs woman who allegedly stabbed a male companion in the back when she was distraught over a criminal case in which she had been victimized, has been released from jail without posting bond.

Although the woman was charged by Altamonte Springs police with aggravated battery, the Orlando man, Salvatore James Bendolt, 28, who was injured at about 12:30 a.m. Saturday, reportedly told police that although he was wounded he didn't want anything to happen to the woman, a police report said.

The woman had been upset earlier in the evening and Bendolt told police he slapped her to calm her down. She went to a neighbors' house and told them he had slapped her and then returned home and allegedly stabbed him, the report said.

When police arrived at about 12:45 a.m. the woman, who was dressed in a nightgown and had blood on her clothing and body, appeared upset and she asked police to hurry into her home where the man lay bleeding, the report said.

Bendolt who had been stabbed in the center of his back, was transported to Florida Hospital-Altamonte, where he was treated for a wound that was about three-inches long and three-inches deep, the report said.

A bloody steak knife was found on the dining room floor of the woman's home, Maureen Mancieri of 304 A. Cherokee St., was arrested at her home at about 1:16 a.m. Saturday. She was released without posting bond and is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 27.

SOCKED AWAY COKE

A man allegedly hid a small plastic bag of cocaine in his sock when he was confronted by Altamonte Springs police in his car in the parking lot of the Hotline Bottle Club, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs. He has been charged with possession of cocaine.

Police questioned the man and his female companion after they were spotted in the car. When getting out of the car the man appeared to hide something in his sock, a police report said.

Police reported finding the stash and arresting the man at about 4:50 a.m. Saturday. The woman, who said she had just met the man and knew nothing about the cocaine, was not charged, the report said.

George Arthur Anchia, 34, of Ft. Lauderdale, has been released on $2,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 27.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Harold Edward Walter, 27, who refused to list an address, was arrested at 6 p.m. Saturday, after his car was stopped for following too closely on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. He was also charged with battery to a police officer after allegedly spitting on a policeman. Bond was set at $1,000.

—Thomas Louis Wright, 34, of 2320 Randall St., Sanford, at 2:21 a.m. Sunday, after he was seen driving and parking erratically along 20th Street and French Avenue in Sanford.

—Georgette Edrington, 26, of 375 Palm Springs Road, Altamonte Springs, at 7 a.m. Saturday after her car was in an accident. She was arrested at Florida Hospital-Altamonte.

—Charlie W. Canada, 45, of Snow Hill, at 7:43 p.m. Saturday after his car was in an accident on State Road 426, Oviedo. He was also charged with failure to use due care.

—Gary Driber, 21, of 726 Riverbend Road, Longwood, at 10:50 a.m. Saturday after his car was clocked speeding on Interstate 4 near Longwood. He was also charged with speeding and driving with a suspended license.

—Curley Barber, 42, of 1600 W. Eighth St., Sanford, was arrested at 4 a.m. Sunday at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, after his car was in an accident on Southwest Road, Sanford. He was also charged with careless driving.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Marguerite F. Nordmann, 61, of DeLand, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies her 1985 Plymouth van worth $12,000 and containing $10,000 worth of locksmith tools was stolen from Flea World, U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford on Saturday.

Almost $5,000 worth of building materials were stolen from the home of Robert C. Goff, 38, of 413 Prairie Lake Drive, Fern Park, at 1331 Canal Point Road, Longwood, on Friday or Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

A suitcase with clothing was stolen along with a jacket, a raincoat and umbrella with a total value of $450 from the home of Edith F. Edwards, 41, of 170 Hoyses Road, Winter Park, on Friday or Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

Henry Pearson, 35, of Route 4, Box 67, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies a pickup truck tool box and tools worth $1,100 were stolen along with a 150 gallon fuel tank with pump, from his backyard between Dec. 29 and Saturday.

The 1981 Dodge van of Hendrick Marion Ara, 66, of 123 Sheridan Court, Longwood, was stolen from a service stall at Export Auto Sales, 1710 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, on Friday or Saturday. A sheriff's report said the vehicle is valued at about $4,500.

A burglar who threw a cement block through a window of Dino's Pizza, 900 Fox Valley Drive, Longwood, stole about $900 in cash between 11 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday. Owner Jeannie F. Bravo, 37, of Longwood, reported her loss to sheriff's deputies.

Dennis Dreggors, 26, of Route 1, Oviedo, reported to the Seminole County Sheriff's Department that two rifles with a combined value of $800 were stolen from his unlocked home on Friday or Saturday.

A television worth $950 was stolen along with an $83 shotgun from the home of Alex L. Bradley, 26, of 2159 Center St., Sanford, on Friday or Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

Clarification

In Sunday's Evening Herald a report on the Seminole County jail expansion said the expanded jail would house 480 inmates, up from 236. Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said 480 beds will be added to the existing 236, bringing the total of bunks to 716.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Strong winds blasted cold air across the Northeast today while more than a half foot of snow blown by gusty winds plagued travelers in Ohio and residents in the Pacific Northwest braced for gale-force winds. Temperatures were mostly in the single digits and teens from Minnesota across the Great Lakes and the Appalachians to New England. "It's particularly cold in northern New England and parts of New York state," said Pete Reynolds, a forecaster for the National Weather Service. In New York, Watertown and Messina reported temperatures of 17 below early today. Northwesterly winds of 15 to 30 mph made conditions even more uncomfortable near the New England coast.

Wind chill temperatures down to 30 below numbed residents from New England across eastern sections of New York state to Pennsylvania. The cold air also dipped into the South. Tri-City, Tenn., reported 14 degrees and temperatures were in the 20s in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi.

Attorneys Get One-Third Of Awards

FMA President Warns Of Crisis

Dr. Luis M. Perez, Sanford, president of the Florida Medical Association, told the Florida Senate Commerce Committee that the exorbitant claims of medical malpractice has created a crisis that exists in Florida and throughout the nation and is a significant part of today's escalating business liability insurance crisis.

"It is essential that we find a permanent solution to this crisis and permit Florida physicians to deliver quality health care at a reasonable cost to their patients," Dr. Perez told the committee.

According to information gathered by the State Department of Insurance, Dr. Perez said the number of medical malpractice claims in Florida has increased from 970 in 1975, to 2,755 in 1984. The average paid claims in 1975 was $32,266, compared to the average claims size in 1983 of $125,151 and rising to $140,025.

Department of Insurance figures also indicate that total malpractice payment claims have risen at an annual rate of 26 percent over the past ten years, from $12.6 million in 1975 to $95.6 million in 1984, Dr. Perez said.

Other information presented to the committee included:

— Under the recently announced 35 percent rate increase for physicians in all areas of the state except Dade and Broward counties by Florida Physicians' Insurance Reciprocal (FPPI), an orthopedic surgeon in Jacksonville must pay $68,842 annually for $1.5 million of coverage. An anesthesiologist in Orlando would pay $41,306 for the same amount of coverage.

— In Dade and Broward, an obstetrician-gynecologist would pay $137,683 annually for $1.5 million limit in coverage by FPPI.

Physician fee increases to cover the escalating cost of malpractice insurance cited by Dr. Perez include:

- Operation by a general surgeon in Dade County, $102 increase; for surgery for a neurosurgeon in Seminole or Volusia Counties, $837, and for an office visit to an obstetrician-gynecologist or a neurosurgeon, a $20 increase per visit.

The state's largest medical malpractice insurer, St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Company, announced that it would impose a moratorium effective Jan. 1, on most new classes of health care provider medical liability. Dr. Perez said,

"Insurance coverage in the state-operated Florida Medical Joint Underwriting Association is exorbitant and beyond the reach of many physicians," Dr. Perez said. As examples, he cited: Orthopedic surgeon, Jacksonville, $250,000 limits, $91,294. OB/GYN, Miami, $1 million limits, $195,340.

Florida physicians are faced with mandatory insurance coverage as a condition of licensure, effective Jan. 1, 1987, as a result of the 1985 Medical Malpractice Act.

Dr. Perez said FMA is deeply concerned that vast numbers of physicians will be unable to purchase coverage due to exorbitant costs, or that coverage will be unavailable. The result could be many physicians being unable to practice, he said.

"This is not a viable action by the Legislature and only further exacerbates the problem," Dr. Perez told the committee. FMA will seek repeal of the provision in the 1986 Legislature.

He also commended the 1985 Legislature for its attempt to address the medical crisis, but said it fell short in dealing with the underlying causes.

"Until the Legislature comes to grips with the driving force behind the exorbitant awards — which is the excessive dollars paid in all tort cases for non-economic damages (i.e., pain and suffering) — the liability crisis will not abate," he said.

Tort reform across the board must be addressed until an alternative resolution system can be devised, Dr. Perez said. The legislative solution recommended by FMA is a cap on non-economic or general damages. The FMA also will support efforts to abolish the doctrine of joint and several liability, which can unfairly force a lone plaintiff to pay all damages assessed by a jury regardless of the plaintiffs' degree of responsibility.

He said actuarial studies show that a cap on damages could reduce premiums for doctors in New York by 20 percent and in Pennsylvania by 11 percent. An American Medical Association study, which included Florida, showed savings of approximately 12 percent for a typical state if a $250,000 non-economic cap was in effect nationwide.

A study by the Florida's Insurance Department shows that of the $95.6 million paid in medical malpractice awards in Florida in 1984, approximately 54 percent of these awards, amounting to $51.6 million, went to non-economic damages, Dr. Perez said.

The contingency fee portion of these 1984 awards for plaintiff attorneys totaled $38.2 million, assuming conservatively that attorneys received a fee of 40 percent, not including costs, Dr. Perez said.

Dr. Perez told the committee, "It becomes apparent from this analysis that the plaintiff's bar has carefully crafted non-economic damages as an element of damages to pay their contingent fees."

Limitations on non-economic damages are a reasonable reform that would have a significant effect on the exorbitant and unnecessary awards for non-economic damages that are occurring in Florida, he said.

"This proposal in no way limits the amount of economic losses that claimants are entitled to, or awards for criminal negligence."

Be Optimistic, But Be Careful

Predictions of imminent recession, widely forecast for the last three years, are conspicuously absent in nearly all economic projections for 1986. A booming stock market, falling interest rates, lower oil prices and the possibility of deficit reduction because of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings bill could make the coming year a good one.

While certain sectors of the economy — farming, selected areas of heavy manufacturing and industries particularly savaged by imports — will remain virtually in recession, the overall economy should register modest gains. The common guess is growth between 2.5 and 3.5 percent, not much different from 1985 (probably around 2.5 percent when the final figures are in). This is good news because both the U.S. and the world economy can't live with much less. The dangers of no growth or outright recession would be unacceptable.

Slumping commodity prices and rising indebtedness in the Third World, more than $2 trillion in U.S. government debt and an enormous trade deficit could transform a minor slump into a disaster. Many still believe this is ultimately inevitable — but not, apparently, in 1986.

Despite the good news, several serious problems exist in 1986. Modest growth will aggravate the U.S. deficit by $11 billion for each percentage point in lost government revenues. Unemployment remains stuck around 7 percent. An overvalued dollar, one of the major causes of the trade deficit, has been only partially relieved by the currency's moderate drop in 1985's fourth quarter. Perhaps most disturbing is the fact that an economy stimulated by both supply-side tax cuts and heavy government spending refuses to grow more vigorously.

Further, Japan's economy is slowing, pressing it to compensate by exporting more aggressively, and Europe continues to grow sluggishly, limiting a valuable market for U.S. exports. More serious, the faltering Third World economies will be hurt by modest growth in the industrial countries, magnifying their debt problem. Even without a U.S. recession, their difficulties require a fundamental solution that may not wait another year.

Finally, there is the wild card of falling oil prices. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries has chosen to compete for market share by cutting the price of oil. This will help contain inflation in the West, creating a painless opportunity for the U.S. to impose an import fee to trim the deficit. But sharply lower oil prices reduce the revenues of those oil-producing companies that are heavily indebted, making their economic situation even more precarious.

Thus, while the outlook for the U.S. seems promising, events abroad remind us we are living on borrowed time: the year's best good news is that we have more of it than we thought. But the dangers of a fragile world economy remain. This, then, is the year to address those dangers, while the opportunity still exists.

Third World debt should be restructured, the U.S. deficit trimmed by a major tax hike, commodity prices stabilized by joint action and both world trade and currency rules reformed by international agreement. These steps will help make the next downward swing in the business cycle survivable, instead of devastating — which it would be if it occurs in 1986.

Hart Is The Front-Runner, Like It Or Not

By Arnold Sawilak
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gary Hart says he doesn't want to be regarded as the front-runner for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination. Lots of luck, senator.

The Colorado Democrat would like to be thought of as just another member of Congress who has decided not to run for another term, a decision he recently announced. He won't say he decided to retire from the Senate in 1986 after 12 years to prepare for the next presidential election, but he won't say he didn't either. He did make clear he isn't going to vanish from public life.

So it is assumed he is running. If he isn't, it would be as big or bigger shock than Sen. Edward Kennedy's declaration that he is out of the 1988 picture.

Hart is a smart enough politician to know why he will be regarded as the leading candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Most simply stated, it is because he made a credible run for the nomination in 1984. The Almanac of American Politics says with a few more votes in the Illinois and Georgia presidential primaries, Hart, not Walter Mondale, might have had the nomination.

He is a proven national vote-getter, which is more than can be said for such other possible contenders as New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, New Jersey Sen. Bill Bradley or Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt, to mention only a few. He has a national organization, which the others don't. He still has debts to pay from 1984, but in the process of raising money to pay them off, he can keep himself in the public eye.

It also is obvious why Hart doesn't want to be considered the front-runner, let alone a certain candidate. The political graveyard is littered with the bones of candidates who became the center of attention so early in the game that they became everybody's target.

Remember George Romney and Ed Muskie? Both got knocked off almost before there were any other candidates in the field to compare them with. They got heat from rivals in their own parties, from the political opposition and from the media and sure enough stumbled. Both probably got something of a raw deal, but politics ranks high among the pursuits in life in which there is no guarantee of fair play.

Hart does not have the advantage in this regard enjoyed, if that is the right word, by former Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee. When Baker retired from Congress in 1984, it was assumed that he would be in the 1988 Republican picture.

But in his case, he didn't have to worry about premature front-runner status because Vice President George Bush has that designation sewed up. Baker's problem may be that he got out of the spotlight so early that he won't be able to find his way back.

For a year, at least, Hart can use his present job as a kind of beard. He can speak and vote as one of 100 senators called upon to make public policy decisions as part of their jobs.

But even so, he will be watched and listened to not as the senior senator from Colorado but as a potential presidential candidate. And he shouldn't expect the benefit of the doubt from fellow senators when he gets out front on some subject. The question will be asked, "What's in it for him in 1988?"

Wherever, Whenever, Whichever

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among the corrections published in the Federal Register this month are two that substitute "wherever" for "whenever."

It is difficult to understand how the author of an official government document could have confused those two words in the original copy.

One clearly refers to "whatever time"; the other to "whatever place." There is no excuse for getting them mixed up as long as you keep in mind that "whatever," in this context, means "no matter."

Those mistakes become more unbearable in light of the Register's publication of a presidential proclamation two days after the date it was commemorating.

It does no good to pretend the Wright Brothers' flight was done on a "wherever" and "whenever" basis. The proclamation itself points out, the event took place "on a sandy strip of the North Carolina coast on the morning of Dec. 17, 1903."

Observing "Wright Brothers Day, 1985" on Dec. 19, 1985, might, as one faithful Register reader points out, have been "good thinking" in that modern-day pilots were less likely to "get drunk celebrating."

This belated tribute to mankind's "first piloted power-ditch, but like the Paris-bound passengers, it had a European destination. The Wright Brothers changed all that.

There is, however, no mention of that accomplishment in the proclamation. Instead, it cites the 12-horsepower aircraft as the precursor of supersonic jet planes flying around the world.

Although the two brothers "made a living manufacturing bicycles (in Dayton, Ohio), all their spare time was devoted to the conquest of the skies," the proclamation tells us.

I am wondering what might have happened if they had devoted their spare time to the conquest of bicycles.

Although today we might be traveling through the skies on flying velocipedes, it is a good bet we would land in the same place as the cargo rack over the back wheel. Stranger things have happened, not all of it in the Federal Register.

Food Rules Said Hard To Swallow

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Elderly renters in several states have complained that the federal government is helping their landlords force unwanted food down their throats.

The unhappy tenants live in federally subsidized apartments. They pay 30 percent of their incomes in rent, and the feds pick up the balance. Fair enough. What some tenants object to, though, is the landlords who insist on a mandatory additional charge for a meal a day, whether the tenants want it or can even eat it.

Most federal-subsidized tenants are free to choose what they want to eat and where they want to eat it. Hundreds of housing projects have cafeterias where low-cost meals are served.

But in 98 subsidized projects with almost 7,000 elderly, low-income residents, the tenants are required to buy one meal per day provided by the landlords, according to a recent congressional survey. Dozens of

Falwell Tries Revival

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Who's the least-liked U.S. public figure? Ted Kennedy? Jane Fonda? George Wallace? No. According to a recent national poll, it's the Rev. Jerry Falwell.

The poll wasn't an act of liberal propaganda — it was conducted by Robert Teeter, who only works for Republicans and conservatives.

Teeter asked a national sample of respondents to rate 21 public figures from 100 (totally favorable) to zero (totally unfavorable). President Reagan received a very favorable 68.3, Ted Kennedy a surprisingly high 54, and Jane Fonda an expected low of 43. Falwell scored last, rating 33.1.

Falwell and his organization, the Moral Majority, have been having a hard time recently. Falwell paid a brief visit to South Africa, then held a press conference praising his host, the South African government — and the public reaction was unexpectedly severe.

Insiders add that, according to some private polls commissioned by Falwell, the name "Moral Majority" evokes a negative response from an increasingly large share of the population.

The Moral Majority won numerous political victories in 1980 and 1982. However, its influence slipped badly by 1984 — and its support sometimes hurt candidates it was trying to help. It's said that Falwell has told some candidates they feel it's necessary to publicly denounce his support.

Recently Ronald Goodwin, longtime executive vice president of the Moral Majority, left the organization. Goodwin is credited with running the Moral Majority's highly successful fund raising programs. Although Falwell denies it, insiders say that fund raising has dropped sharply in recent months in response to a spate of negative publicity.

To stem the decline, Falwell announced that he's changing the Moral Majority's name and overall direction. He isn't, he says, just dropping the name. Rather, he says that the Moral Majority is being "expanded" and "merged" into a new organization: the Liberty Federation.

The Liberty Foundation will launch its program with a "national summit" in Washington on Jan. 23-24, featuring Vice President George Bush, and it will then open a Washington lobbying office.

Falwell says the Liberty Federation will have a $12 million annual budget, up from the Moral Majority's $7 million, and will be much more frankly political in outlook.

It will still fight for the social agenda of the "religious right" — issues like commitment to "traditional values," religious freedom and voluntary school prayer, and opposition to pornography, abortion, homosexuality, infanticide, sex education, child sexual abuse and the Equal Rights Amendment. But it will also campaign for and against political issues — backing support of Israel, a strong national defense, budget-balancing plans and Reagan's space-defense proposal, and opposing an unverified test ban treaty and what Falwell calls "the international fight against communism, including aid for the freedom fighters in Nicaragua."

Patches For Birth Control

By Jan Ziegler
UPI Science Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As the millions of women who use them know, birth control pills have disadvantages, not the least of which is the need to remember to take one every day.

But researchers at Rutgers University are testing an adhesive skin patch that would only have to be changed once a week, providing the correct dosage directly to the bloodstream.

"If we do it this way, we are able to optimize the therapeutic efficacy and also we are able to prolong the duration of the treatment," said Dr. Yie W. Chien, chairman of the Rutgers College of Pharmacy Department of Pharmacuetics.

"Instead of a woman taking one pill a day, she would need only to use one [a patch] once every week. It would also minimize the side effects because the concentration of drug in the body is maintained at a constant level (with) no fluctuation."

Chien, a professor of industrial pharmacy, also heads Rutgers' Controlled Drug Delivery Researcher Center, which he established. He and colleagues are working on novel drug delivery systems.

Research on transdermal delivery of other drugs led them to investigate the possibility of using a skin patch for contraception. They are also testing patches for liver and heart disease and cancer.

"This is very, very new," he said. Patches containing an anti-motion sickness drug and patches with nitroglycerin, used to treat angina pectoris or chest pain, are already on the market.

A patch delivers controlled doses of drugs — in the case of contraception, estrogen and progesterin, varying according to which week of the cycle the woman is on. However, much lower doses would be required. This, theoretically, would reduce side effects.

"If you take a drug orally, based on biomedical knowledge, about 90 percent or more will be metabolized by enzymes in the liver. So actually only 5 to 10 percent is effective," Chien said. "If you deliver through skin, you can reduce the dose by tenfold."

has changed since then.

In one New York City housing project, Randall Smith and 19 other tenants have refused to pay the $110 a month demanded for the one daily meal, which they don't eat. The landlord, a non-profit corporation founded by the Episcopal Trinity Church on Wall Street, responded with eviction notices. A court order has blocked the evictions temporarily.

The meals are terrible," the 70-year-old Smith told our reporter Vic Kolenc. Even assuming he could stomach the chow, Smith said, he prefers to cook his own meals, which "most of us" have been doing for many years.

The project manager said most tenants were satisfied with the meals, and many wouldn't be able to eat properly without the program. The tenants have filed a lawsuit against the landlord and the Housing and Urban Development Department seeking an end to the mandatory meals. They argue that since meal charges are included in the leases, the total cost must be considered rent — and thus cannot exceed 30 percent of their incomes.

Landlords and the federal government have already won cases in California, Colorado and Minnesota, where judges ruled that mandatory meal charges are not part of the rent. But a California judge last summer ruled that the government must publish guidelines for mandatory meal programs.

HUD officials said they have been using unwritten guidelines, which will soon be published. They are also working on new rules that are unlikely to exempt tenants on grounds of financial hardship. It is precisely those tenants the mandatory meal programs are intended to help, one official said.

Legislation before Congress would allow exemptions for financial hardship, and would require landlords to accept food stamps for meal charges, among other things. House and Senate conferees are expected to consider the matter soon.

Buckholtz, FJC Blitz Raiders

JACKSONVILLE — Verdy Buckholtz is listed as a point guard. When he pulls on his Florida Junior College uniform against Seminole Community College, however, he makes his points at the bottom of the net.

Buckholtz, who tormented the Raiders at home last year with some torrid outside shooting, did it again Monday night. The 6-0 sophomore popped home 10 of 11 floor shots and one free throw en route to 21 points as the Stars dealt the Raiders a 101-90 Mid-Florida Conference setback at Florida Junior College.

"Buckholtz killed us from the outside," SCC assistant Dean Smith said of the Jacksonville guard's 91 percent shooting. "He and Dwayne Taylor hurt us from the perimeter and Derrick Mitchell beat us inside."

Mitchell, a bruising 6-4½ forward, converted 8 of 12 field goals and finished with 18 points. Taylor and 6-5 all-state prospect John Crawford chipped in 13 each. The Stars found the range on 40 of 71 attempts for a fine 56 percent.

The Raiders received a strong game from 6-8 Vance Hall, who hit 8 of 14 shots and 7 of 11 free throws for a game-high 23 points. Hall also had a game-high 15 rebounds. Claude Jackson followed with 17 points while Tony Roberts added 15 and David Gallagher 10.

The Raiders, though, couldn't match FJC's sharpshooting. They connected on just 32 of 77 attempts for 42 percent and needed 26 of 37 free throws to stay close. FJC converted 21 of 34 from the charity stripe.

The setback was the first for SCC in M-FC play after two wins. Coach Bill Payne's squad, ranked No. 3 in the state, is 16-4 overall. And SCC has no time to lick its wounds. It jumps back into conference play Wednesday at home against Daytona Beach. The "Sanford Connection" — Willie Mitchell, Fred Miller and Darryl Merthle — all start for the Scots. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the SCC Health Center. There is no charge for admission.

Florida Junior and coach Buster Harvey, meanwhile, continued their ascent toward the top of the rankings. The Stars, 14-3 and 3-0, are ranked No. 7 this week and are definitely on the rise. FJC hosts Valencia Wednesday.

Seminole dominated the first half until the final two minutes. Hall jumped off to a good start, scoring inside as he dropped in 17 points and yanked down eight boards as SCC held small leads most of the half. Sophomore Greg "Slim" Johnson helped out with six points and four boards.

The Raiders rode eight points by Gallagher to a 45-39 edge with just two minutes to go before the Stars jelled. They ran off the last six points to secure a 46-45 intermission edge and with it the momentum.

Crawford, the player Payne called "the best in the division," did most of the damage. Although he hit just 6 of 16 shots for the night, he funnelled in 13 points and snared 10 rebounds in the first half as FJC turned it around in the closing minutes.

Buckholtz, Taylor and Mitchell took over in the second half as FJC zoomed to a 72-59 advantage with a perfect complement from its inside and outside attack. Buckholtz' lone miss was a free throw line jumper.

James Morris popped off the bench to hit his only bucket at 10:20 to pull SCC within 72-63 but another spurt by the Stars upped the lead to 12 points.

Seminole's last grasp came when Hall dropped in two free throws with 2:56 to play which cut the deficit to 88-83. The Stars, however, weren't about to fall and they pushed the margin back to 10 and eased out with a big conference victory.

Mitchell applied the capper as he beat SCC's press for three consecutive dunks to close out the scoring, sending the Stars over the 100-mark with an 11-point victory.

SCC stayed with FJC on the boards with just one less, 41-40. The stat was somewhat misleading since SCC had six more offensive boards than defensive. Nine of Johnson's 10 caroms came off his own glass. The Raiders also had less turnovers, 22-16, and fewer fouls, 29-27. But the almost 15 percentage point difference in the field goal prowess was too much to overcome. — Sam Cook

Basketball: Sanford Style

Sanford is the basketball mecca of Seminole County. If you need any proof of that declaration, you'll get it this week. No less than 18 Sanford products will display their talents on the hardwood locally in the next four days. And most of them are stars already or will be some day.

Here's a look at this week's slate:

●Mona Benton, two-time Evening Herald Player of the Year while at Seminole High, returns to Sanford tonight with the Florida Junior College women. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. at the SCC Health Center.

Benton, a freshman, was heavily recruited by Sanford's Ken Patrick, FJC's chief talent scout. Benton and Patterson, who prepped at Lake Mary, figure to renew their past battles tonight.

FJC brings with it a national ranking and is touted as the top JUCO in the state. The Lady Stars have drawn rave reviews at every stop. And Patrick's recruiting prowess is one of the major reasons.

"They can beat a lot of four-year schools," SCC men's coach Bill Payne said.

"FJC has got an All-American and she doesn't even start," Kim Lemon, one of SCC's best players and a high school opponent of Benton's, said in awe.

●Dieldre Hillery, a sophomore starter for the Stetson Lady Hatters, was one of the top centers in Florida her senior year at Seminole High. Now, the 6-2 Hillery plays a dominant role in the middle for the Lady Hats. Stetson hosts Virginia Commonwealth Wednesday at 5 p.m.

●Willie Mitchell, Fred Miller and Darryl Merthle. The "Sanford Connection" returns home Wednesday night. All three are starting for Daytona Beach Community College. The Scots invade the SCC Health Center for a blockbuster Mid-Florida Conference clash with Coach Bill Payne's Raiders.

Mitchell, sophomore, played for Payne as a 10th grader at Seminole High. Miller, a sophomore, played for coach Willie Richardson at Lake Mary. Merthle, a freshman, also played at Lake Mary and was runner-up to Lake Howell's Elren Brooks as Evening Herald Player of the Year last year. Brooks will suit up for the Raiders Wednesday.

●Catherine "Kitty" Anderson and Leticia Strickland along with Cynthia Patterson and Teri Whyte. These four young ladies represent the present and the future. Anderson, a three-year starter, is the senior leader for coach Charles Steele's Lady Seminoles. Patterson, sister to Aileen, is an aggressive 5-4 junior rebounder for coach Bill Moore and Lake Mary. Whyte is a 6-4 sophomore with unlimited potential. Strickland has an excellent outside shot and has made her presence felt despite her tender (freshman) age.

The Lady Seminoles and Lady Rams collide Thursday night at Seminole High's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium. Tipoff is 8 p.m.

●Mike Wright, Rod Henderson, Craig Walker and Andre Whitney along with Chris Jackson, Ray Hartsfield, Oscar "Big O" Merthle and Terry "The Cat" Miller. Senior Wright represents the present while junior Henderson along with sophomores Walker and Whitney represent the present and the future for coach Bill Klein's Fighting Seminoles.

Seniors Jackson and Hartsfield are the present while junior Merthle and sophomore Miller are the future for Richardson and Lake Mary. Terry is Fred's brother and Oscar is Darryl's brother.

Seminole invades Lake Mary Friday at 8 p.m.

Yes, all 18 hail from Sanford. Now, that's basketball — Sanford Style.

Benton, Potent Stars Battle SCC's Women

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Mona Benton, a four-year starter in high school, is in an unfamiliar position with the Florida Junior College Lady Stars in Jacksonville. Benton, a 1985 Seminole High graduate and two-time Evening Herald Player of the Year, is making her contribution to FJC coming off the bench.

Benton will be back in Sanford tonight at 7 when FJC invades Seminole Community College for a Mid-Florida Conference game.

Benton, who averaged 20 points or better in two of her four seasons at Seminole, has had a high game this season of 10 points on two occasions. Present Seminole High coach Charles Steele, who followed Benton's progress from the sixth grade at Lakeview Middle School, said he spoke with the 5-6 guard during the Christmas holidays.

"She (Benton) said she wasn't real happy with her playing time," Steele said. "She likes it up there but wants to play more. She said the coach (Lyndal Worth) is on her about losing weight."

Anyone who saw Benton play in high school, knows she can handle herself no matter what her weight is but she has much more competition within the team at FJC.

The Lady Stars come in with a record of 11-0 and are ranked 11th in the National Junior College poll. FJC averages over 90 points per game while holding opponents to just 52.

Leading the way for FJC is 5-7 guard Valerie Avant who was an All-American in high school in Boston and signed a scholarship to play for

Basketball

Division I national power Old Dominion before transferring to the Junior College level.

The Lady Stars also rely heavily on sophomore guards Lisa Platt and Tonla Dixon and sophomore forward Paula Holland. Freshman forward Betty Fishmon, an All-America last season at Titusville Astronaut, and Benton are the Central Florida representatives.

SCC, which has a record of 10-6, is a decisive underdog that has plenty of talent but very little depth. The Lady Raiders' ability to keep FJC from running wild will be the key for SCC staying in the game.

Leading the Lady Raiders are point guard Carol King, guard-forward Rene Ivey, forwards Aileen Patterson and Elizabeth Dietrich and center Kim Lemon.

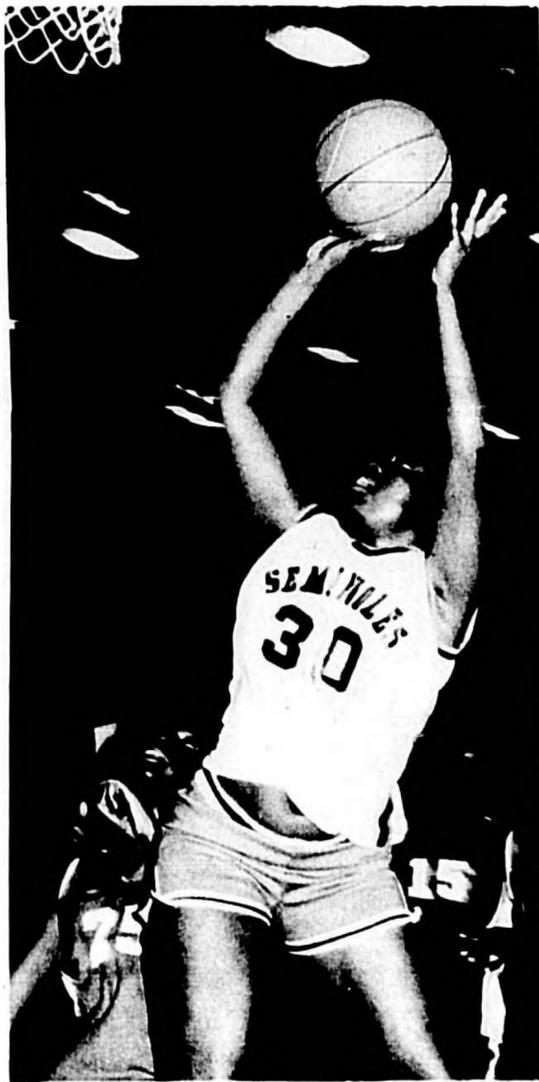

King is a freshman from Miami who has taken over the point guard position for Tammy Johnson who did not return to the team this season. Ivey, a transfer from Santa Fe Community College, just became eligible after Christmas.

Patterson is the Sanford representative for the Lady Raiders and has contributed on both ends of the floor her freshman season. Patterson and Benton dueling a number of times during their prep careers.

Benton also dueling a few times with sophomore's Lemon (Lyman High graduate) and Dietrich (Lake Howell High).

Dietrich hit 7 of 8 field goals in SCC's win Friday night over Chipola.

Hospital Releases Newiman

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

When Karren Newman learned Lyman High School's faculty was having a benefit basketball game for her tonight at 7 o'clock, she was surprised. "That's really nice of them," the 37-year-old Lyman volleyball coach said. "I wish I could go."

Although she can't attend tonight's benefit, Karren has a bigger surprise for the faculty on Wednesday.

After three months in the hospital following an automobile accident which paralyzed her from the waist down, Karren Newman will be discharged from Orlando's Humana Lucerne and come home to Sanford Wednesday.

"They're letting me out and I'm so glad," Karren said Monday afternoon. "I'm going to come home and rest. Rest is something I haven't gotten much of around here lately."

Karren, who underwent an operation to further correct damage in her little finger Monday, said she will move back to her mother's house in Ravina Park near Idylwild Elementary School for the time being. She is also looking for a house to buy in the Altamonte Springs or Longwood area.

While she is happy to leave the hospital and rehabilitation ward environment, she said she is doing so with some uneasiness. "I have to get used to getting out and living in the real world again," Karren said. "But it will be at least three months until my doctor will release me to go back to work. I will be on

Question: Do Patriots Have A Chance?

By Mike Rabun
UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — The New England Patriots were obviously having such a joyous time early last Sunday evening that it was really a shame to even think of such a question.

But in the two weeks that will lead to the 20th Super Bowl, it is the only question that really need be asked.

Do the Patriots really have a chance to beat the Chicago Bears? Honestly, now, does this season's surprise team stand any chance at all?

Well, anything is possible. Villanova beat Georgetown. North Carolina State beat Houston. The Kansas City Royals beat the St. Louis Cardinals. And the Patriots have beaten the Jets, Raiders and Dolphins on the road.

So, sure, the Patriots can beat the Bears. They probably won't, but they might. And for those who are looking for hints of comfort in hopes the Pats can pull off the upset, here are a few tidbits to chew over.

The first has to do with the Bears' defense, which is being called the most overwhelming since Attila made the Huns such a hit with the really heavy bettors.

The New York Giants did not score against the Bears and had just one decent chance to do so. The Los Angeles Rams did not score against the Bears and they, too, had only one decent opportunity.

So what gives the Patriots hope that they can win, much less score at all?

Well, they have a better offense than the Giants and Rams for one thing. There is balance to the Patriots. They can attack in different directions.

The Bears wanted to make sure they stopped New York's Joe Morris and Los Angeles' Eric Dickerson on the assumption quarterbacks Phil Simms and Dieter Brock could not beat them through the air.

Such total concentration in one area will not be as possible against the Patriots.

As well as the Bears played on defense Sunday against the Rams, there were opportunities for Los Angeles. The Rams were just incapable of pulling them off.

There were receivers open for Brock, but he would either throw to the left or the right or into the ground and miss his receiver by an almost unthinkable distance.

And, early in the game, when something big from the Rams might have made things at least a little more interesting, Ron Brown dropped a sure touchdown pass.

The Patriots, in short, will probably execute better than the Rams and Giants and thus stand more of a chance to move the ball.

Then we have the home-field advantage, or lack of it.

The Bears' two playoff shutouts, of course, came in forbidding Soldier Field — where Chicago was unbeaten this season.

No snow will fall in the Superdome. The chill factor will not be below zero and the wind will not cause the Patriots punter to miss the ball at this own goal line or cause their quarterback's passes to flutter away from receivers. New England is used to such conditions, of course, but in a game as important as this one the players need to be worried about things other than what pair of gloves to wear.

It will be a neutral field and that is the best thing the Patriots

Irish Expose Ills, Fall In OT To BYU

United Press International
No. 13 Notre Dame, a team that in recent weeks has nearly exited the ranks of the ranked, did little Monday night to strengthen its position in the top 20, falling to Brigham Young 73-69 in overtime.

Although the Fighting Irish maintain their preseason rank, they have plummeted as low as 19th in the top 20.

Tom Gnetting had 7 points in overtime, including a crucial 3-point play, to pace unranked BYU and expose the Irish weaknesses.

Gnetting hit from underneath the basket with 1:33 remaining and sank a free throw to give BYU a 73-69 lead. With Notre Dame, 9-2, fouling, the Cougars, 6-9, were able to hit their free throws to seal the victory.

BYU led 57-48 with 10:02 remaining in regulation, but Notre Dame went on an 11-4 run as the Cougars failed to sink 5 straight free throws.

David Rivers' free throws tied score 61-61. BYU's Jeff Chapman hit a baseline jumper before Tim Kempton's field goal tied the score 63-63 and forced the extra period.

In another top 20 game, Johnny Dawkins scored 21 points and sparked a 9-0 run by third-ranked Duke that lifted the Blue Devils to an 87-66 victory over St. Joseph's at Philadelphia.

Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski, who upped his record at Duke to 100-65, said, "I just think we played great in the second half. It's our best half. We played poised and we played hard. It was beautiful basketball."

"I told the team after the game that I just sat back and watched them. They were terrific."

Duke, 15-0, led 41-39 at the half, but got 5 points from Dawkins in the 9-0 run over the first 2:33 of the second half.

St. Joseph's, 9-3, which had an eight-game winning streak broken, closed within 63-57 on a basket by Wayne Williams. The Blue Devils then ran off a 10-0 spurt to take a 73-57 lead.

"We played very hard against a team I am sure will be in the Final Four," said St. Joseph's coach Jim Boyle. "That's one of the best college basketball teams I've seen in years. Our kids gave a good account of themselves for as long as they could. We just wore down with tremendous pressure."

Basketball

Mark Alarie scored 22 points and David Henderson 18 for Duke. St. Joseph's was paced by Rodney Blake's 19 points, 18 from Maurice Martin and 14 from Wayne Williams.

Duke jumped to a 16-6 lead with 8 points coming from Dawkins. St. Joseph's closed within 22-19 on a jumper by Williams.

A follow shot by Alarie, who had 14 points in the first half, put Duke in front 30-22 with six minutes left in the half. St. Joseph's closed to 41-39 on a Martin jumper. In other games No. 14 Louisiana State beat Mississippi 86-68, No. 19 Bradley edged Dayton 79-77 in overtime and No. 17 Louisville topped Southern Mississippi 59-54.

At Baton Rouge, La., John Williams scored 21 points and pulled down 10 rebounds to lift 14th-ranked Louisiana State to a Southeastern Conference victory over Mississippi. Ricky Blanton added 17 points and 9 rebounds for the Tigers. 15-2 and 3-2 in the SEC.

LSU, ILLINI PLUMMET

NEW YORK (UPI) — After two months of teams padding their records with cream puff opponents, conference play has begun to reveal the pretenders. Louisiana State and Illinois were involved in the first expose.

LSU started the week ranked No. 7 and undefeated but dropped two Southeast Conference games, losing to Alabama 83-67 and Tennessee 88-77. The Tigers, 14-2, plummeted to No. 14 in UPI's weekly college basketball ratings.

Illinois was tied at No. 19 but with losses to Big Ten rivals Michigan and Michigan State slipped to 10-5 and out of the Top 20.

Of the 40 members of the UPI Board of Coaches who participated in this week's voting, 34 named North Carolina the No. 1 team.

have seen in a month. The crowd noise in the Superdome can be as overwhelming as any stadium in the country. And although there will be a huge number of Chicago fans in attendance Jan. 26, all the world likes the underdog. So if the Patriots are able to do some good things during the course of the game they can probably get the arena rocking.

There is also the psychological factor. If Chicago had faced Miami in Super Bowl XX the Bears would have had twice the reason to work up a good case of fanaticism. To have won the NFL title by beating the only team that had beaten you during the season would have been a fine goal.

But on the second week of the season the Bears cuffed the Patriots 20-7. Of course, Chicago is going to be ready to play the Super Bowl. But they might have been even more ready against Miami.

Finally, we have the "it's about time" way of thinking.

The Chicago Bears have felt little pressure during the season — at least very little on the field. And they have had little adversity.

They rolled along during the season, mashing opponents with relative ease, and clinched their division title before it got cold.

Then, once the playoffs began, they never gave their opponents a chance. The breaks have gone their way, too.

What would happen if the Bears found themselves behind at the half of the Super Bowl? What if they had to drive the field for a winning field goal in the final minutes?

The Patriots, of course, hope to find out. The odds seem to indicate they will not, but, then, that is what a lot of people thought about Villanova, too.

Technical Foul Not On Radzak

In Sunday's Evening Herald, it was incorrectly reported that Craig Radzak, a basketball player for Lyman High School, was assessed a technical foul. The technical foul was on teammate Ralph Philpott. Radzak was also reported as having missed two games last week. He only missed one game.

Martina Masters Shriver

Tennis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nobody needs to ask Pam Shriver about the old saying, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em."

Shriver lost her 13th straight match to her doubles partner and close friend Martina Navratilova, 6-1, 6-4, Monday night in the final of a $150,000 women's tennis tournament. The victory gave Navratilova her eighth championship at the tournament.

Shriver, the world's No. 4 player and the tournament's second seed, has failed to produce a victory in 3 1/2 years over the woman with whom she has won 42 doubles titles.

But little more than half an hour after concluding their championship match, Shriver and Navratilova joined forces to win the doubles title, downing the combination of Claudia Kohde-Kilsch and Helena Sukova, 6-3, 6-4.

Navratilova prevailed in a 66-minute slugfest between the two serve-and-volleyers who know each other's styles as well as they know their own. She charged the net on virtually every point in putting Shriver, 23, of Lutherville, Md., on the defensive.

"She's so powerful, but still I feel if I take advantage of my opportunities I can stay in the match," Shriver said.

Unfortunately for Shriver, she did not.

In fact, Navratilova broke Shriver's very first serve and delivered four of her six aces in her own opening two service games to grab a 3-0 first set lead.

"I've seen her start quickly, but this was ridiculous," Shriver said. "She was serving well and cracking her backhand returns."

Shriver jumped ahead 2-0 in the second set when she broke Navratilova in the second game after staying off a break point of her own in the first. But Navratilova broke back in the third and seventh games and won the match on a typically powerful forehand smash.

Navratilova, 29, the world's No. 1 player and the dominant figure in women's tennis in the 1980's, has won 112 tournaments since turning professional in 1975. She adds the $27,000 in prize money to her record career earnings of more than $9.2 million.

Navratilova, of Fort Worth, Texas, is 23-3 in career singles matches against Shriver, with Shriver's last singles triumph coming in a three-set match in the 1982 U.S. Open.

"I was loose throughout the match," Navratilova said. "I didn't play as well in the second set, but it is different playing your doubles partner."

Navratilova said her doubles mate is at the threshold of emerging as one of the tennis elite.

Mixed Rah-Rahs

Lake Brantley's cheerleaders didn't have a lot to rah-rah about last Friday night's basketball game against Seminole but these five Lady Patriots find mixed emotions as they watch the action on the floor. Seminole won, 71-53. The Tribe returns to action Friday at Lake Mary while Lake Brantley invades Lyman. Both are Seminole Athletic Conference games. Osceola is at Oviedo in the only other boys' game. Lake Brantley's girls also play Lyman.

Overshadowed VanVoorhis, Roy Propel Lyman's Win Streak To 37

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

With the group of all-stars on the Lyman High squad, it's not hard for a player who doesn't score a lot of goals or dominate on defense to get overshadowed. However, when a team has a winning streak of 37 games going, everyone on the team at some point is going to be a major factor.

Monday night, the play of Nancy VanVoorhis on offense and Stacey Roy on defense paved the way as the Lady Greyhounds blanked Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks, 6-0, in a makeup game at Lake Howell High.

Lyman, 13-0 overall, closed out its Seminole Athletic Conference single round robin play with a 5-0 record and the league title. The Lady Greyhounds have a pair of games later this week. Lyman travels to Vero Beach Friday night, then takes on Martin County at Stuart on Saturday afternoon.

VanVoorhis, a senior midfielder, dished out two assists Monday, giving her four assists in the past two games. Lyman coach Tom Barnes said VanVoorhis may not get as much recognition as the big goal scorers, but she is an important part of the offense.

"She has always been quite a big part of our offense," Barnes said of VanVoorhis. "With the overlapping of the halfback, she always causes things to happen."

Meanwhile, Roy, a junior outside defender, was a big reason the Lady Greyhounds held Lake

Howell to just three shots on goal Monday.

"Stacey (Roy) is playing really well where we needed help the most," Barnes said. "She makes a real valuable contribution to the success of the team. No team can be successful as far as winning or losing goes until you stop the other team from scoring. She's helping us in that pursuit."

Marien Breaks King's Reign

With the imposing figure of 6-2, 235-pound Gordon King standing in the way, it's pretty tough to score a goal on Oviedo's Lions. Monday night, Lake Brantley's Patriots found the best way to score on King is from close range, when he has little time to react.

It took 35 minutes for Brantley to get that close, but Chad Marien broke the scoreless tie late in the first half and the Patriots added two more scores from up close in the second half en route to a 3-0 victory over the Lions in a makeup game from Friday at Oviedo High.

Lake Brantley, 8-1-4 overall, returns to action tonight at Bishop Moore. Oviedo is at Bishop Moore on Thursday.

"We were shooting from kind of far out and when you shoot from far out King is going to save everything," Lake Brantley coach Jim Brody said. "It has to be a perfect shot or in close to beat him."

After King shut the Patriots out for the first 35 minutes, Marien put in a goal with help from Chris McManus and Greg Marko. McManus served the ball to Marko who headed it across to Marien who put it in the far post for a 1-0 lead.

Brantley added to its lead 19 minutes into the second half when Marko scored on Joe Pledger's assist. With 19 minutes left to play, Brantley added an insurance goal when McManus scored on Dirk Hortian's assist.

Brody said, along with Marko's midfield play, Bobby Skinner and Pablo Garzon played well up front. "It was a real good team effort," Brody said.

Forsyth (31, 17) Dominates Eustis

By Chris Fister

McDonald's claims to have found a way to keep the hot hot and the cold cold but very few teams have found a way to contain Kim Forsyth. Lyman High's senior standout had it her way inside Monday night as she poured in a career-high 31 points and yanked down 17 rebounds to lead Lyman to a 64-44 rout of Eustis' Lady Panthers at Lyman High.

"She (Forsyth) pretty much dominated the boards," Lyman coach Dick Copeland said. "A lot of her points came off offensive rebounds that she put back in."

Basketball

Lyman, which upped its overall record to 7-2, returns to Seminole Athletic Conference play Friday at home against Lake Brantley. Both Brantley and Lyman are 2-1 in the SAC.

"We started out with a six-point lead after one quarter but pulled away gradually the rest of the game," Copeland said. "We did most of the damage inside."

Behind Forsyth for Lyman, LaTonya Johnson tossed in 12 points and Deleonnarda Bouey added eight.

Blindfold? Potent Mandy Boots 13 Goals In 5 Games

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Sheila Mandy has become so familiar with the goal the past few games that she could probably score blindfolded.

Mandy pumped in three more goals Saturday as Lyman's Lady Greyhounds won their 36th consecutive game, 5-1, over Winter Park's Lady Wildcats at Winter Park. Lyman, 12-0 this season, returns to action tonight in a makeup game at Lake Howell. The Lady Greyhounds travel to Vero Beach Friday night, then take on Stuart Martin County Saturday afternoon.

Mandy, who has scored 13 goals in Lyman's last five games, opened the scoring Saturday three minutes into the game when she scored from close range on an assist from Nancy

Soccer

VanVoorhis. Minutes later, the Lady Greyhounds were up 2-0 when Mandy struck again. This time, Mandy took a pass from Kim Mitchell from about 40 yards out, broke into the open and put it past the Winter Park keeper.

Lyman made it 3-0 when Mitchell scored from 12 yards out with Mandy assisting. The Lady Greyhounds made it 4-0 before halftime when Lori Ocasek scored on VanVoorhis' second assist.

Mandy completed her hat trick in the second half and sewed up the win at the same time when she scored on a breakaway for a 5-0 lead. Winter Park avoided the shutout on Courtney Bilotti's second-half goal.

The Lady Greyhounds took 30 shots on goal compared to Winter Park's four. Coach Tom Barnes said the defense of Stacey Roy and Ocasek had a lot to do with Winter Park's low shot total.

Barnes said he expects a tough match from Lake Howell, one of Seminole County's up and coming teams, tonight.

"They're coming off a big win over Seminole and they should give us a tough game," Barnes said. "They have some good young players."

Lake Howell was also in action Saturday and ran its record to 4-5-1 with a 1-0 blanking of Bishop Moore. Kathy DiFonzo scored the goal for the Lady Hawks in the second half and goalkeeper Darcy Mislak came up with 15 saves in preserving the shutout.

In boys action Saturday, Lake Brantley improved to 7-1-4 for the season with a 3-2 win over Gainesville Buchholz at Lake Brantley High. After a 1-1 tie in the first half, the Patriots scored twice in the second while goalkeeper Aaron Kindel and a tough defense held the Bobcats to one score.

Cory Sheffield scored two of the goals for Lake Brantley while Chad Marien scored one. The Patriots return to action Tuesday at Bishop Moore.

Lake Howell's Silver Hawks rallied for two second half goals en route to a 2-1 victory over Boone's Braves Saturday at Orlando.

After being blanked in the first half, Eric Bird and Todd Miller scored in the second half to put the Hawks on top. Lake Howell improved to 6-2-1 with the win while Boone fell to 0-5-1. The Hawks host Trinity Prep Tuesday night.

Also on Saturday, Shan Lee scored two second-half goals as Winter Park's Wildcats came back to tie Lyman's Greyhounds, 2-2, at Winter Park.

Lyman took a 1-0 halftime lead on a goal by Shaler Bowers and Todd Lake scored in the second half but the Greyhounds couldn't come up with the tiebreaking score.

Lyman now stands at 11-2-1 and returns to action Thursday at home against Cocoa Beach.

Elsewhere Saturday, Lake Mary's game at DeLand was rained out. Seminole's soccer game with Jones was postponed Monday until Feb. 7.

IN BRIEF

Seminole Softball Club Sets Up Aretha Riggins Fund At Atlantic

Charlie Simms, spokesman for the Seminole Softball Club, announced Monday that the SSC is setting up the Aretha Riggins Fund at Sanford's downtown Atlantic Bank.

Aretha Riggins

"We proposed it to our coaches meeting last Thursday and everybody thought it was a good idea," Simms, a past president of the club, said. "It's an opportunity for us to do something for Aretha."

Riggins, who played for the Seminole Softball Club last year and was a member of the 15 and under team which finished third in the nation, was stricken with a rare disease (Landry-Guillain-Barre Syndrome) and is presently a patient in Florida South Hospital.

Donations may be dropped or mailed to Aretha Riggins Fund, 101 E. First St., Sanford, FL 32771.

Black Presidents Charge Racism

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The presidents, athletic directors and coaches of America's black colleges and universities knew it was coming. But that didn't mean they had to like it.

And they didn't, letting loose a wave of bitter feelings Monday over a decision many said could only be viewed as racially motivated.

"Misguided and misdirected members of this organization, embarrassed by revelations of academic problems, are reverting to slave days," said the president of the most famous black college in the United States — Grambling's Joseph Johnson.

Bennett: Bo Not Shoo-In No. 1

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Tampa Bay had the NFL's worst record and Auburn's Bo Jackson was picked as college football's best player, but Buccaneer coach Leeman Bennett says that does not mean Jackson is a shoo-in to be the first pick in the college draft.

Bennett, head coach of the South squad in the Jan. 18 Senior Bowl college all-star game in Mobile, said Monday he is getting pressure from some Tampa Bay fans to pick someone other than Heisman Trophy winner Jackson, who is considering trading in his shoulder pads for a baseball bat.

Lyman Moves Wrestling, Soccer

Skipp Pletzer, athletic director at Lyman High School, announced these changes and addition to the Longwood school's sports schedule Monday.

Wednesday's wrestling match with Orlando Evans has been moved to Tuesday, Jan. 21 at 7 p.m. at Lyman.

Thursday's soccer match with Cocoa Beach has been moved to Friday at 7 p.m. at Lyman.

The Lyman girls' junior varsity soccer team will play Trinity Prep Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Trinity.

Porter Regains Touch, Wins Feature

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — On Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway, LeRoy Porter got a ride in one of the Keene Brothers Trucking team cars. Showing that he still knows how to win, LeRoy turned fast time, won the fast heat and went on to notch a victory in the 25-lap feature.

Finishing a strong second was team owner Daniel Keene who was testing a Dennis Boyd-built V-6 engine for the coming World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing scheduled for February 7-15 at New Smyrna.

Third to fifth were Lee Faulk, Joe Middleton in the Finky's Country Showplace machine and Mike Goldberg. Second heat winner was Duke Southard.

The thundercar main turned out into a red hot battle between Pete Starr, the beautiful 1986 Thunderbird of Junior Simmons, Don Roberts and Bill Kinley who finished in that order behind veteran Harry Brazee, who scored yet another win on the high banks of pavement.

In four-cylinder action, Jerry Symons, in the potent Cycle Care Pinto, barely held off Gene Van Alstine for the win. Third to fifth were Guy Lingo, Bobby Sears and Jack Hayes.

Don Ewing Jr. won the roadrunner main. In other news, the New England Mini

Auto Racing

Modifieds will be part of the Feb. 7-15, 20th Annual World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing at New Smyrna Speedway, and NEMMA president Dan Meservey is getting nervous.

"We might have too many cars," he said. Already, more than 50 teams are fully expected to compete on the high banked half-mile of pavement. In addition to the New England States, Kentucky, Ohio, Mississippi, West Virginia, Indiana, Colorado and many Canadian provinces will be represented.

Both closed wheel and open wheel cars are permitted and any tire of any size may be used.

As for the late model portion of the Series, Dick Trickle and Butch Miller, whose fierce American Speed Association National Championship points battle found the pair of superstars in a tie before the last race of the season, are expected to use V-6 power at New Smyrna. A serious Buick V-6 factory effort for the World Series is also rumored.

Most probably, Trickle will also compete in the open-wheel modified division during the $125,000 Series. Respected New England car owner Joe Brady has a new modified ready to go and has contacted Trickle to do the driving chores.

For more info, please contact New Smyrna Speedway at P.O. Box 1097, New Smyrna Beach, Fla. 32069 or call (904) 427-4129.

Youth Deputies Program Topic Of Discussion At Woman's Club Meeting

Deputy John Rankin of the Seminole County Sheriff's Department was the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Sanford Woman's Club. Rankin is an advisor to the Youth Deputies, a career-oriented community program for young people.

Deputy Rankin told club members that the program which began in 1969 has a two fold purpose: to improve relationships between the police department and the young people of the community and to provide an opportunity for them to explore law enforcement as a career option.

"The young people of today," he said, "are the problem solvers of tomorrow. They need to become acquainted as early as possible with the problems."

The Youth Deputies Program is open to boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 21. Currently there are 37 people in the program, seven of them girls. Meetings are held every Tuesday night beginning at 7 p.m. at the sheriff's department. Young people interested in becoming involved in the Youth Deputies Program are invited to attend a meeting. After the meeting they may apply for membership. They are then interviewed orally by a group of their peers. If accepted, they become recruits. To become an active youth deputy, recruits must take a test of the general rules and regulations governing law enforcement and a test of radio codes.

Once full youth deputy status is attained, Rankin noted, there are many privileges to be enjoyed as well as opportunities for service within the department. Youth deputies are allowed to ride on patrol with experienced law officers. Maximum precautions are observed for their safety. Youth deputies also visit places that bear a relationship to law enforcement. They have gone to the Florida State Prison, the Sheriff's Boy's Ranch, the Florida State Capitol, Tallahassee, and the State Supreme Court Chambers, just to mention a few. This summer, a trip to Washington, D.C. is being planned. The aim, Rankin indicated, is to make the program not only educational but recreational as well. Funds to support the program are raised through the efforts of the young people involved in the program.

Sgt. Martin Linnekuigel, who has overall supervision of the Youth Deputies' Program and three of the current group of Youth Deputies, Tom Goring, Kim Baxter and JoAnn Jackson were also present to answer questions from the audience about the program. Deputy Rankin expressed the hope that young people in the community between the ages of 14 and 21, who would like to know more about the program would call him personally at the sheriff's department.

The regular business meeting was conducted by president Ann Brisson. Peggy Deere, District 7 Chairman for the Hacienda Girl's Ranch, reminded members to bring to meetings suitable clothing and incidentals such as toothpaste, soap etc., for the girls living at the ranch.

will be held Feb. 13, at 1 p.m. at Seminole Community College.

Members voted to continue renting the clubhouse for social and community events.

Mayor Bettye Smith, Chairman of the Italian Dinner, to be held Fri., Feb. 21 at the clubhouse, announced that the meal would be served buffet-style with a salad bar. Tickets are on sale from members of the club. Serving time will be from 5 to 8 p.m. Adult tickets are $4 and children's are $3.

Woman Turns Down Invitation To Stay Home With Her Pride

DEAR ABBY: I'm a divorced woman who knows what it feels like to be overlooked, forgotten, or just plain excluded on special holidays. So I round up all the "strays" I know and invite them over for a Christmas Eve meal. It's not a formal sit-down dinner; it's a casual, serve-yourself buffet sort of party, and all seem to enjoy themselves.

Well, how is this for a slap in the face? About 10 a.m., I phoned someone I thought would appreciate the invitation and said, "Hi, if you're not doing anything special tonight, come on over for dinner about 6 p.m."

This friend said, "Thank you, but I have plans." (I could tell the way she said it that she didn't have any plans, but I wasn't going to beg her.) I learned later that she sat home alone, but had too much pride to admit it. My question: Don't you think a person who has no plans is foolish to turn down an invitation for this reason? Also, is there something wrong with the way I worded my invitation? ALSO HURT

Dear Abby

DEAR MEMBER: Thank her for the gift, then tell her that since you have no intention of becoming active in the organization, you must decline the membership. I can't guarantee that you won't offend her, but it beats being a member of an organization you would not care to join.

DEAR ABBY: I was married last October in a very elaborate wedding. I am just finishing up my thank-you notes to all the wonderful people who shared in our day and gave us such lovely gifts.

My problem is that well over 200 people attended our wedding, and three of them gave us no gift. Two of them are co-workers who brought their husbands.

Do I send these people thank-you notes for coming to my wedding? How do I know their gifts were not lost? It really is an awkward situation. I certainly didn't invite people to get a gift, but what do you do when you don't get one?

PERPLEXED BRIDE

DEAR PERPLEXED: You need not write to thank the guests for attending your wedding. If you did not receive a gift, it's safe to assume that none was sent.

Wait a while. If perchance some gifts were lost, in due time the senders will probably drop a subtle hint to let you know they are still waiting for their thank-you note. Then you may let them know that their gift was not received.

Chiliheads To Compete

Chiliheads across Florida will unite on Sat., Feb. 1 for the first Central Florida Zoo Chili Cook-Off.

Chili chefs will concoct a wide variety of hot and spicy chili delights from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., the hours in which the Central Florida Zoo is open.

This an Open Cook-Off, which means that anyone can enter. The entry fee is $20 per team, with proceeds to benefit the Central Florida Zoo.

Each team decorates their own booth and are judged on booth decoration and showmanship.

The chili is judged by Florida Chili Historian Glen Graves, who along with several judges, will conduct judging under Sunshine State Society of Chiliheads rules.

Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded to the winning chili teams.

Anyone interested in entering the cook-off, or needing additional information, should contact the Central Florida Zoo at 834-2341 or 323-4450.

DEAR HURT: Not everyone is comfortable admitting that he or she has nowhere to go. Since it's become a tradition to "round up strays" at holiday time (and I hope you don't use that expression publicly), why not invite them a week or so ahead of time? Their pride would be salvaged, and a good time could be had by all.

DEAR ABBY: As a Christmas gift, a co-worker gave me a membership to an organization she is very much devoted to.

I have never attended a meeting or expressed any interest in joining the organization. In fact, I would prefer not to have my name listed as a member.

Can I be made a member of an organization without my permission? I don't want to insult this woman, nor do I want to sour our relationship because we have to work together, so please tell me how I can cancel my membership without offending her.

Tony Hunt, the son of owner, Gaynelle Hendrick, is new manager of Flowers by Gaynelle

Flowers By Gaynelle For Valentine Roses

Styles of courting may change from generation to generation, but romance and roses remain synonymous with Valentine's Day. When you think of roses, think of Flowers by Gaynelle at 818 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford.

With roses in so much demand for the upcoming holiday, which is only four weeks away, Tony Hunt, new manager at Gaynelle's, reminds you to get your orders in early.

Gaynelle's also has other romantic floral arrangements available for local delivery or to wire anywhere via the various wire services. Ask about the FTD Valentine arrangements in your choice of the lead crystal bowl, a durable red acrylic keepsake caddy, or the porcelain bud vase.

Just call 322-5066 to order flowers by phone and you can charge them on your Master Charge or Visa card.

Don't forget that Flowers by Gaynelle now has for the convenience of customers a second office at Oaklawn Funeral Home in Lake Mary for placing orders for all occasions.

Gaynelle's will also have a selection of Valentine novelties. There is a large selection of beautiful potted plants and dish gardens now in stock.

Tony is the son of owner Gaynelle Hendrick. Another new addition to Gaynelle's staff is Frances Galloway, receptionist. Experienced floral designer Elyse Ison is also on staff.

Whether the flowers you order are for a wedding, funeral or to cheer up a sick friend, you can be assured your flowers will be fresh when you order from Flowers by Gaynelle.

Gaynelle's specializes in fresh or silk flower arrangements for weddings at reasonable prices. They also have traditional wedding equipment for rent, such as the kneeling bench, flower stands, arches, aisle cloth and tree candleabra.

Creative Cuts Offers Full-Service For Family

Lois Sandner and Betty Edwards invite everyone to the grand opening of their new full-service family salon, Creative Cuts, at 2666 Hlawatha St. (between 27th St. and Highway 17-92) in Sanford.

They opened their new shop on Nov. 1. Betty has 20 years experience as a hairdresser — six of which were in Sanford. This is the first business venture for Lois, whose experience is in book-keeping.

Staff members, Diane Johnson, Annette Peralta and Brenda Howard have each been hairstylists in Sanford for 15 years.

They all especially invite all their former customers to come by and get acquainted with the new shop.

They offer the latest cuts and hair design for men, women, and children.

Creative Cuts has Helene Curtis, Redken, Realistic and Tressa perms and Redken, Clairol and Wella brand colors.

In addition to all types of hair care, they also give manicures.

Walk-ins are welcome. The shop is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Monday when it closes at 2 p.m. and Thursday when they are open late by appointments. Call 323-8929 for an appointment.

Alcohol Tax Jump Proposed By Groups

By Joseph Mianoway
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two dozen economists and an anti-alcoholism organization called Monday for massive increases in the federal alcohol tax that would raise the price of a six-pack of beer by $1.32 and the cost of a normal bottle of liquor by $2.78.

At a news conference, representatives of the National Council on Alcoholism and the economists said the tax on hard liquor should be doubled to $25 per proof gallon and the tax rates on beer and wine should be raised to bring them into line with the rates charged for hard liquor. Currently, the alcohol in liquor is charged at a higher rate than the alcohol in beer and wine.

The group contended that the new taxes would not only bring the government up to $12 billion in new revenue, but would also cut down on the number of alcohol-related problems and costs facing the nation.

"For the consumer, the proposed increases would amount to $1.32 for a six-pack of beer, $1.35 for a 750 milliliter bottle of wine and $2.78 for a 750 milliliter bottle of 80-proof liquor," the group said in a statement.

However, there has been no major move in Congress to increase the alcohol tax, especially considering the fact that a hike went into effect on Oct. 1.

That increase was passed as part of the 1984 Deficit Reduction Act and increased the distilled spirits tax by $2 per proof gallon from $10.50 to $12.50. Previous to that, the last change was in 1951.

In a statement, the economists said the new increases were justified because "in real terms, existing taxes have declined dramatically in the past 30 years and those on wine and beer were not increased even in nominal terms between 1951 and 1985."

"Further, we see no justification for the differential between the excise tax, per unit of alcoholic content, on beer and wine, on the one hand, and hard liquors on the other," they added. "Indeed, in light of the fact that beer is the standard introduction to alcohol for youth, favored tax treatment for it appears to be socially highly undesirable."

Court To Permit Discount Brokerage By National Banks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday opened the way for more national banks to offer discount brokerage services to the public.

The justices, without comment, let stand a ruling by the U.S. comptroller of the currency that allowed two national banks to operate brokerage subsidiaries.

The ruling was appealed by the Securities Industry Association, a trade group representing more than 500 securities brokers, dealers and underwriters.

Since the comptroller's ruling in 1983, more than 2,000 banks have set up discount brokerage services, the association said in its brief.

Under the Glass-Steagall Act, the banks cannot offer investment advice or analysis like stockbrokers, but can merely purchase and sell stocks and bonds for their customers.

The association argued that Congress, in passing the law, only intended for banks to handle securities transactions for existing customers — not offer a general service.

"Over the last several terms, Congress has enacted major reforms to the federal banking laws, but has repeatedly declined to modify existing restrictions on bank securities activities," the group said in a legal brief.

"Indeed, the one clear message to have emerged from these congressional actions is that the plain terms of the Glass-Steagall Act are not to be changed administratively," the brief said.

The case involved Security Pacific National Bank of Los Angeles and Union Planters National Bank of Memphis, which filed applications to operate brokerage subsidiaries in the summer of 1982.

The comptroller, in granting the applications, said banks may serve the general public by dealing directly in stock exchanges and in the over-the-counter market.

The federal government, which opposed the appeal, said the comptroller's decision was supported by a Supreme Court ruling in 1984, which held that bank holding companies may acquire discount brokerage firms.

Florida Power & Light Earned Too Much in '85 Customers Due A Refund

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida Power and Light Co. must return about $35 million to its electric customers because it earned too much money last year.

The utility said 2.6 million retail customers will share in the refunds, which must be made because customers' electricity consumption during 1985 was higher than forecast.

"When the PSC (Public Service Commission) set our electric rates for 1985, no one could predict the weather would be so hot," FPL said in a statement. The utility's rates were set with a provision that if electricity usage exceeded a certain level, refunds would be made.

The Public Service Commission will decide next month how the refunds are to be issued.

Lord's Airline Hopes To Get Off The Ground By Easter

MIAMI (UPI) — Lord's Airline did not get its flights to the Holy Land off the ground in time for Christmas, but now the airline hopes to get airborne by Easter.

The airline must still get economic clearance from the Department of Transportation and safety approval from the FAA before it can start its planned three-day-a-week service from Miami to Israel.

Britain And France May Be Linked By Chunnel

By Gregory Jensen
UPI Senior Editor

LONDON (UPI) — For the first time since the melting of prehistoric ice ages split them apart, the islands of Britain may now be linked again to mainland Europe.

The decision to do it has been taken. Now Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and President Francois Mitterrand are meeting Monday (Jan. 20) in Lille, France, to choose the method of spanning the 23-mile English Channel with roads, railroads or both.

It is a dream nearly two centuries old. Napoleon first proposed it in 1802. With hardly a break since then, a Channel tunnel or "chunnel" has been a possibility hovering just out of reach.

For all those years, millions of seafaring passengers ached for some smoother way to cross the notoriously tempestuous Channel than a plunging car ferry. Now the dream is to be made real.

Yet generations of defensive-minded kings and generals would lie appalled at this breach of the sea strait which even Shakespeare called "a most defensive ... against the envy of less happier lands."

Thatcher and Mitterrand realize the era of defensive moats is over. They look not so much to the comfort of tourists as to the economic transformation a Channel tunnel or bridge could bring both their countries.

So the two prime ministers are picking one of four multi-billion-dollar Channel crossing proposals, none of which can be operating before about 1993.

— Twin railway tunnels. For trains only, with cars driving onto two-level trains and passengers staying in their cars for the 30-minute crossing. Shuttle trains at three-minute intervals could carry up to 4,000 vehicles an hour in each direction.

— A huge suspension bridge from coast to coast inside its giant oval tube would be a two-level superhighway with six lanes on each level. Bridge spans would be three times longer than the current world's longest. In addition, a one-track undersea tunnel would handle trains.

— A "brunnel," combining bridge and tunnel. Suspension bridges roughly 5 miles long would stretch from each coast to man-made islands. There corkscrew roads would spiral traffic down to a 13-mile (21 km) tunnel under, and avoiding the crowded shipping lanes. Again, a separate coast-to-coast tunnel for trains.

— A quadruple tunnel, two carrying roads and two for trains. The road tunnels would be 31 miles long, and the business combine proposing one commissioned a psychologist to study whether drivers might be "mesmerized" in a tunnel of such length.

Ironically, in 184 years of dreams and schemes for a "chunnel," this is not the first time Britain and France have decided to act.

The two governments formally agreed in the mid-1960s to dig a Channel tunnel. Amid momentous fanfare, digging actually began.

Even today on a beach near Dover, England, rusting corrugated-iron doors close off a slanting shaft still bearing an optimist's graffiti: "Calais, here we come." The tunnelers got exactly 853 feet.

Diggers on the French side got slightly less far. Then Britain panicked over the projected cost — tiny compared with today's plans — and on Jan. 20, 1975, canceled everything.

But that was only the latest of many tries. At Napoleon's command, French engineers in 1802 designed a gas-lit undersea tunnel for four-horse coaches. The original Channel Tunnel Co. was set up in 1872. A tunnel actually was dug 2,026 yards from the English coast toward France more than a century ago, in 1881.

This time, however, there seems to be a new determination by both Britain and France.

"I am very anxious to get the Channel link going," Thatcher said recently. "I think that our generation needs to do something exciting."

This time, apart from selecting and legalizing one cross-Channel method, governments are not directly involved.

"The key to the development is that it must be financed entirely by the private sector," said chunnel expert Andrew Taylor. "No government financial guarantees will be given by either country."

So four combines embracing some of Europe's biggest companies have spent months arranging finance for projects which will cost anything from $4.5 billion to $13.5 billion.

Behind the four-tunnel train-car proposal is perhaps the most interesting personality involved. He's an American.

James B. Sherwood is a container shipping magnate who has been flamboyantly spreading his wings. He revived the luxurious Venice-Simpson Orient Express. He owns luxury hotels from Aspen, Colo., to Stratford-upon-Avon to Florence and Venice, Italy.

Last year he took over Sealink, which operates car and passenger ferries in all Britain's seas — including the lucrative cross-Channel routes. This puts Sherwood in a curious position.

He is pushing his own Channel tunnel proposal. He's also opposed to any Channel link of any kind.

"I would prefer it if no fixed link were built," Sherwood told a House of Commons committee. But he added that if there is going to be one, he wants it to be his.

He insists his ferries will close the day the link opens. To a suggestion that the ferries could survive with only 30 percent of present loads he snapped: "This is rubbish."

Even while promoting his chunnel plan, Sherwood is a spokesman for Flexlink, a pressure group which opposes all fixed cross-Channel links.

For opposition comes from many quarters and on many grounds.

The most forlorn opponents are people who live in "the garden of England," the county of Kent, where a cross-Channel link would terminate. They say their wishes and lifestyles are being overridden needlessly.

"Everybody here — well, 98 percent of the population is very, very much against it," says Dover newspaper editor Terry Sutton.

"Any of the schemes will eat up great swathes of land, and that means peoples' homes will go, their farms will go. Everybody hates the idea of the extra traffic it will generate."

"And besides, it's completely unnecessary. There's a ferry leaving Dover alone every 15 minutes."

"There is a very strong feeling that we don't want it," said Kent Messenger reporter Alan Bignall, who has covered the "chunnel" since 1964. "That's pretty well universal. The feeling is it's going to come whatever we say or do, but why?"

Compared with 1964, however, opposition is muted and began very late.

Only days ago the Countryside Commission, semi-official advisor to the government or the rural environment, weighed in with objections to all four plans. It says Channel bridges would bite into the famed white cliffs of Dover, tunnels would mean dumping "up to 10 million cubic meters of spoil" onto the land, that terminals would despoil an officially designated "area of outstanding natural beauty."

Those backing a tunnel or bridge, said member of parliament Jonathan Aitken, "do not understand what the destruction of a small community's principal employer and central industry will mean in terms of economic and human misery and despair."

The Flexlink pressure group says any link will be horrendously expensive, is not needed, will destroy cross-Channel ferries and throw 40,000 people out of work in the two countries. Of these, 11,000 jobs would vanish in the port and ferries of Dover alone.

"The great Channel con trick," one London columnist calls it. "Is Maggie selling us down the Channel?" asked another, and answered with a resounding "yes."

"On the other hand, "the environmental effects, except during construction, are easily exaggerated," said Alec Cairncross, a former government adviser on the tunnel project. He said even the most-feared blow to the environment, from vastly increased traffic, is a red herring. A superhighway extension already planned would handle most traffic increases.

Almost unmentioned is the profound effect a Channel link would have on other areas of Britain.

"What we are afraid of," said M.J. Kent, chairman of joint chambers of commerce in the north of England, "is the lack of infrastructure facilities associated with the tunnel."

"(This) would deny the areas north of London of much of the benefit of the project, and allow the already prosperous southeast to 'scoop the pool' as far as the United Kingdom is concerned," Kent said.

Ironies abound in this climax to 184 years of talk and thwarted action about a cross-Channel link.

An Open Beer Policy Is Unconscionable

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Last year my husband, 40, was terminated from a brewery, which at that time still carried on the traditional open-beer policy, allowing employees to consume beer on the premises. The company itself diagnosed him as an alcoholic, yet afforded him no rehabilitation for his disease. Next year the open-beer policy will be dropped, but not without a sacrificial lamb. During the eight-hour arbitration hearing, the corporate attorney requested "no publicity, please." I know that you can't name names in your column, but maybe you can wake up others to the hypocrisy and dangers of employers encouraging their workers to drink.

DEAR READER — You've said it all. Alcoholism is a major epidemic in this country. An open-beer policy is unconscionable. In my opinion, brewers and distillers who endorse this policy ought to be cited for corporate irresponsibility. So should brewery unions that insist on including such policies in their labor agreements. It is inconceivable that a commercial brewing company does not have rehabilitation resources available to alcoholics. The breweries are part of the problem, and the least they could do is to acknowledge their role and provide help for employees who need it. Thank you for writing.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 51 years old. I had a radical mastectomy 14 years ago due to breast cancer. There has always been one mystery connected with the situation: Once a year, usually in May, the affected arm swells even more than it normally does, gets very sore and hot, and breaks out with red spots, like hives. Is there any connection to the surgery? What causes this, and can I take anything to relieve it?

DEAR READER — At the time of your surgery, many of the lymph channels leading from your arm were unavoidably destroyed. In the spring, when your blood volume adjusts to warmer weather, there is more fluid — hence, more lymph — in your system. This can cause swelling and irritation. Ask your surgeon about treatment; often the temporary use of a diuretic (kidney stimulant) can reduce symptoms.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had an operation in both knees and have new kneecaps. I go for a walk every day. Is that good for my knees?

DEAR READER — As long as they give you no discomfort, I assume it is. What advice does your surgeon give you?

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

My late friend Jerry Jacobs, of Indianapolis and Miami, once said that he would win every tournament he played in if he could always make the right opening lead. Opening leads that turn out badly usually result from unlucky guesswork. Here is an example from last November's North American Swiss Team Championship.

When North bid two diamonds on his second turn, he meant to show a minimum opening hand with a long diamond suit. South felt he could count on six or seven diamond tricks, liked his certain double stopper in hearts, so bid all the way to three-no-trump. Sure enough, West made the normal lead of his long suit, and declarer had time to lead a club or a second heart, wrapping up nine tricks easily. As dummy, I congratulated my partner on a nice bid, little knowing that the real congratulations were due my teammate on opening lead at the other table.

On the replay, with the bidding identical, West reasoned that South had hearts well under control for the jump to three-no-trump. Accordingly, he led the six of clubs to East's ace. East continued clubs and declarer did not have time to force out the heart ace before the defenders had taken enough tricks to set the contract. West's choice of opening lead at this table was well thought out. I'm not sure I would have made that lead, and I wish Jerry Jacobs was still with us so I could tell him about it.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JANUARY 15, 1986

The secret to your success in the year ahead is to want to do more for those you love. In situations where you are motivated by unselfishness, the reward will be substantial.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're likely to treat matters that affect your self-interests indifferently today. But this won't be true in situations where you are looking out for another. Major changes are ahead for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Before passing on to others a bit of juicy gossip you heard about a mutual friend, make certain the facts can be verified. Better yet, say nothing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Early on, you may be a bit of a daydreamer and get off to a slow start, but once you get zeroed in on a goal, there will be no deterring you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Associates might not be interested in the same objective as you today. Don't put spurs to a dead horse.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Negative financial conditions can be overcome today if you are motivated strongly enough to do so. Why accept defeat?

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A direct and firm approach with a friend will be required today to resolve a delicate matter that you are anxious to resolve. Get to the point.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you are too indecisive in career situations today, it will work to your detriment. Once you set your course, proceed forward.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't yield to tendencies to put things off until the last minute today. This will increase the pressure, not only on you, but someone else as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be careful when talking to a friend today that you don't probe too deeply into areas about which he is sensitive. Keep your curiosity in check.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In your dealings with family members today you will accomplish more if you set the proper example, instead of admonishing them about things you fail to do yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not be bashful about speaking up today if you are owed money for work or service you perform for another. Your chances for collecting are good.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Take pains to be a comparison shopper today. Don't buy merchandise without first looking around to see if you can get the same item at a better price.
