Owners of killer dogs jailed

The owners of three mixed-breed bulldogs that mauled an elderly woman to death have been charged with manslaughter. Prosecutors say the arrests mark the first of their kind in the state of Florida. The owners remain jailed today with no bond set. See Page 2A

Disaster aid package approved

Victims of Hurricane Hugo and the killer quake in San Francisco will soon be getting a boost from the federal government. President Bush on Wednesday signed a $2.85 billion disaster aid package which provides for grants, loans and road repairs as well as other measures. See Page 7A

Developers can 'bank' space

LAKE MARY — Commissioners last week agreed to a new concept for open space at the Heathrow International Business Center (HIBC). Strict requirements the city has set for the amount of open space to be developed for each building have been adjusted for HIBC. Instead of providing the previously set amount of open space for each building, HIBC can "bank" some of that required open space to set aside for a recreation area with a retention pond. Last year, the commission set open-space requirements relative to building heights. The tallest 100-foot-high buildings needed to be surrounded by 65 percent open green space. As building heights decrease, so do open-space requirements, with the lowest building of 35 feet requiring 35 percent open space. Last week, however, the commission approved a deviation from these requirements and said it would allow the developer to reserve 30 percent of the required open space for a particular parcel and use it in another area specified for a recreation site with a retention pond.

New judge appointed

TALLAHASSEE — Jere Lober, a Merritt Island attorney, has been appointed by Gov. Bob Martinez to fill the newly created judgeship in Circuit 18, which serves Seminole and Brevard counties. Lober, 48, has been in practice in Merritt Island since 1982, specializing in civil law. Prior to that he practiced in Cocoa and Rockledge. He is a 1963 graduate of the University of Florida and received his law degree from the UF College of Law in 1965.

Man accused of dumping sludge

JAMESTOWN — An Altamonte Springs man is charged with illegally dumping sludge after Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission officers reportedly caught him leaving the dump site at about 1 p.m. Wednesday. Sgt. Louis Robinson reported Louis Wright, 61, 131 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs, allegedly admitted he had no permit to dump about 5,000 gallons of sewage in a pasture off James Drive, Jamestown, outside Oviedo. Wright reportedly has permits to fill his tanker truck with sewage, but no dumping permit. He reportedly told Robinson he had "permission" to dump the sludge in the pasture.

Mugger shoots victim

SANFORD — Sanford police report that Johnny Lee Acree, 34, of Osteen, was shot by a robber at about 9 p.m. Wednesday after he was approached on the corner of Seventh Street and Cypress Avenue. Police said the robber struck Acree in the mouth with a handgun and stole $170 from him. As Acree ran from the robber he was struck by a single bullet that passed through his right arm and entered his chest.

Don't eat the fish

St. Johns River bass contain high levels of mercury

From staff and wire reports

TALLAHASSEE — Eating bass caught in the St. Johns River south of Lake Monroe is hazardous to human health because of high levels of mercury in the fish, the state's chief health officer declared Wednesday. State Health Officer Charles Mahan said largemouth bass from the area south of Lake Monroe should not be eaten more than once a week by healthy adults, or more than one a month by children or pregnant or lactating women. John Cochrane, HRS environmental health director in Seminole County said today that he hadn't received official word of the new warning. He added that if the precautions are followed there should be no adverse health problems related to fish consumption. Sam McKinney of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission said his agency isn't involved in the advisory, but is heavily involved in the evaluation of the fish themselves to determine mercury levels. Mercury levels in fish caught in the middle section of the river were too low to pose a health risk to humans. Officials were still weighing the risk at northern stretches of the river.

Chronic exposure to mercury can damage the central nervous system. Children are considered especially vulnerable. Last March the state issued a similar advisory to limit consumption of largemouth bass caught in portions of the Everglades. Mercury levels averaging between .72 and 1.12 parts per million were found in fish flesh in the St. Johns' southern reaches. Levels averaging .15 to .36 were found in the middle section south of Green Cove Springs. The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services says fish containing more than .5 and less than 1.5 parts per million mercury should be consumed only in limited amounts. Lower levels are considered safe for human consumption; higher levels should not be consumed at all.

School board considers seeking impact fees despite court ruling

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald staff writer

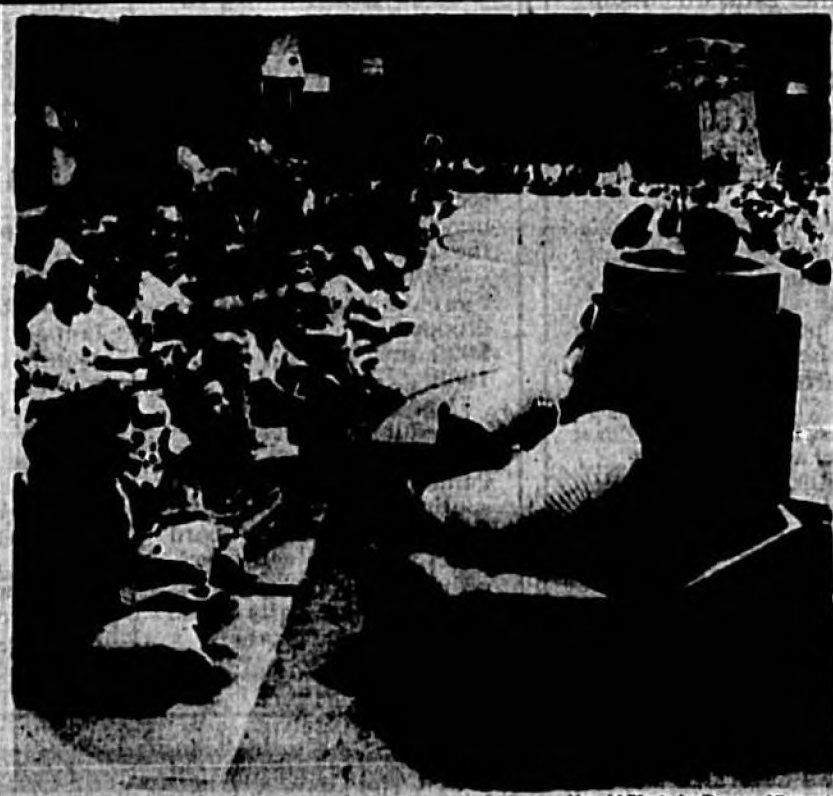

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board is considering asking county and city governments to impose impact fees on new development despite a St. John's County judge's ruling in April that impact fees are illegal. Board chairman Ann Neiswender said at last night's school board meeting that she has been told by John Howe, president of the Homebuilders Association of Florida — which filed the suit in St. John's County — that they will file a similar suit in Seminole County if impact fees are levied. Tallahassee attorney Greg Stewart, who is working with the school board to develop an impact fee plan, said he is sure the HAF will keep that promise. "You're gonna get sued, sure as shootin', if you try to impose impact fees for education," he said. "The main contention of the St. John's County suit is that the imposition of impact fees violates the right to a free education." Stewart said the free education issue is one that will effect any move to levy impact fees. "It's an important issue," he noted. "I'm going to suggest to the board that they not move on the issue until it is resolved in the courts." The St. John's County case is currently before the Fifth District Court of Appeals. According to Stewart, while Seminole County school board officials had planned to go ahead with levying impact fees when the April decision was made, they will probably wait to make a final decision now that the case is in appeals. Regardless of the decision in the appellate court, it is likely that the case will be taken next to the state Supreme Court. The board decided it would be in their best interest to be prepared to levy the fees if the courts give them the go-ahead to proceed with the fees. The maximum school impact fees that could be levied on the construction of a single family home in the unincorporated areas of Seminole County is $2,040. In 1991, the maximum fee rises to $2,808 and in 1993, it increases to $3,778. For multi-family units, the current figure would be $942. That number goes up to $1,331 in 1991 and $1,751 in 1993. They can now levy $1,518 per mobile home. In 1991 that figure rises to $2,118 and in 1993 it will be $2,821. "Of course that would be the maximum figure," said Carey Ferrell, assistant superintendent of business and finance. "The board would need to decide on an appropriate figure and then negotiate with the county commission and city governments." Ferrell said the board needs to get ready, work through the proposals and "put the work in their hip pockets," so they will be ready to present their case to the governing bodies when the court cases are complete. "It will probably be at least two years," Ferrell said. "If they move very quickly, maybe a year and a half." Attorney Ned Julian agreed with that assessment. See Page 5A

Food service workers dislike staffing formula

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — More than 150 food service employees attended last night's Seminole County School Board meeting in an unsuccessful effort to persuade the board to reject a proposed staffing formula the workers believe is unrealistic. The board voted 3-2 to approve the staffing formula. "We have some grave concerns," said Elaine Wick, who represented the food service employees. "We need more people to fill out our staffs than what the current staffing formula calls for." The current staffing formula calls for one hour of work for each 20 meals served at the elementary school level and for each 18 meals served at the secondary level. Wick said 18 meals per work hour at the elementary level and 18 at the secondary level would be "more realistic." She said that, due to the See Workers, Page 5A

Streetman may stay in office

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Commissioner Fred Streetman said today he will remain in office at least until next summer and indicated he might not carry through on his declaration Tuesday to resign after five years as District 3 commissioner. If he does resign, Streetman said he hopes Gov. Bob Martinez would appoint Dick Van Der Weide to replace him. Van Der Weide ran an unsuccessful Republican primary bid against Jennifer Kelley for the District 5 county commission seat. Streetman said he would not resign earlier than June or July 1990 because it would force a special election. "I have always objected to special elections because they invite less public scrutiny and rational consideration of the candidates," Streetman said. See Streetman, Page 5A

Three names mentioned as county chief

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — At least three people have been suggested to Seminole County commissioners as a replacement for County Manager Ken Hooper, officials have confirmed. They are the former county administrator Roger Neiswender, president of Hanson, Neiswender & Taylor Inc. of Orlando and Tampa; Eleanor Anderson, the county's former budget director; and Phyllis Allison, Alcham County assistant county administrator. The County Commission is expected to decide how to go about filling Hooper's position at the next commission meeting, Nov. 14. Neiswender, at this point, is the most-mentioned possibility. He cautioned, however, that county commissioners — now bitterly split over the forced resignation Tuesday of Hooper and the voluntary resignation of his top two aides — need to work together before any highly-qualified executive would be willing to assume the county manager's position. "They should be concerned about how they will look to a quality See Replacement, Page 5A

Seminole High named meritorious school

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole High School was the only high school in the county to be named to the annual Quality Incentive Instruction Program's (QIIP) meritorious school program. As a meritorious school, Seminole High was awarded $23,280 for the current school year. The state Department of Education designed the program to reward schools that show an improvement in yearly standardized test scores and increase participation in extra curricular science activities. The program is voluntary. For the 1988-89 school year, 36 of the district's 44 schools chose to take part. Of the six high schools, only Lyman did not compete.

"I don't know if you could say that Seminole High School is the most improved high school," said Ernest Cowley, the district's chief negotiator, "but they have gone to a higher level than they were before while other district school remained like they were the previous year." Cowley explained that while Seminole had lagged behind other schools in the past, they were catching up in critical academic areas as evidenced by the test results. According to Carma Norman, assistant principal at Seminole High School, the school exceeded the award requirement by increasing their average math score on the SSAT-II test by four percent and their score on the communications portion of the test by six percent. The state DOE requires only a two percent increase on each part of the test. With the award money, Seminole High School has purchased five computers, including a Macintosh with a laser printer for the journalism department, three computers for the business education department and a PC for the faculty-staff professional library. They also added 33 data work tables with electrical and telephone hook-ups for the recently completed computer learning center and a photocopier for the media center. The amount of money earned by winning schools is based on enrollment. The other district schools which were awarded meritorious school status by the QIIP program were: Altamonte Elementary School: $9,038 See Schools, Page 5A

Freighter runs aground

Ship stuck in Key Largo; 10,000 gallons of diesel fuel on board

United Press International

MIAMI — A 185-foot freighter with up to 10,000 gallons of diesel fuel aboard remained grounded in the Key Largo National Marine Sanctuary early Thursday, as Coast Guard officials prepared to try to nudge the ship free.

"The vessel remains aground and a commercial tug has been contracted from Miami to conduct salvage operations," Coast Guard Lt. David Newton said. "They made attempts themselves to refloat with negative results."

The tug was expected to begin efforts to refloat the ship at high tide early Thursday, Newton said.

Newton said none of the fuel had leaked from the ship. The Coast Guard was standing by with clean-up crews in case of a spill in the environmentally sensitive area.

Coast Guard officials said the 244-ton Alec Owen Mattland, owned by Maitland Brothers Co. of Littlestown, Pa., hit a reef about a 1 1/2 miles south of the Caryfort Reef Light Wednesday afternoon.

Newton said the Coast Guard was notified about 4 p.m.

No one was injured in the incident.

The ship, which was en route from Miami to Mobile, Ala., was carrying 8,000 to 10,000 gallons of diesel fuel, the Coast Guard said. Newton said he understood the ship was not carrying cargo.

The master and the ship's mate were taken ashore following the accident for breathalyzer tests. The results of those tests was not known.

Coast Guard officials said they had yet to determine what damage was sustained by the sensitive coral reef, which lies just east of John Pennekamp Coral Reef State Park.

The ship ran aground about 3 miles north of the Molasses Reef, which was damaged in August 1984 when a grain freighter ran aground. The 400-foot ship was refloated after 13 days.

The Coast Guard contracted with a pollution contractor to stand by at the Caryfort Marine with clean-up equipment in case a spill occurred before the ship was refloated.

The Coast Guard also "has responded with a marine inspector and an investigator to ascertain any damages and to investigate the cause of the grounding," said Coast Guard Petty Officer Carl Vitvitch.

Officials tried unsuccessfully to refloat the freighter during high tide at about 6:30 p.m. and were planning to try again at the next high tide at 7 a.m. Thursday, Vitvitch said.

State frees killer in 1974 race plot

JACKSONVILLE — Authorities have paroled one of four members of a so-called Black Liberation Army who hoped to spark a race war by killing two white teenagers and sending a tape recording of one murder to the victim's family.

Brad Evans, 34, who served 14 1/2 years of a 198-year prison term for second degree murder, was freed Tuesday over protests from relatives of the victims, Stephen Orlando and Stephen Lambert Roberts.

The state Parole Commission rejected Evans' last two bids for parole because of opposition from the victims' family members. Last year, his next review date was pushed back to 1989.

But last week the commission decided to release Evans to live with his brother in Illinois, where he has lined up a job as a data processor.

Evans agreed to have no contact with the victims' families, to never return to Florida without permission, and to not seek an early end of his parole, which was scheduled to run until 2173.

Bomb victim claimed police connections

SARASOTA — A Florida man killed by a car bomb in Missouri claimed to have altered his appearance in an effort to elude violent criminals he helped send to jail, a newspaper reported Wednesday.

Sarasota osteopath Jon Stoneburner, who bought the El Bandido Motel on Bradenton Beach from Michael and Donna Coy last year, told The Tampa Tribune that Michael Coy said he performed a hair transplant and face lift on himself to disguise his appearance.

Coy, 46, died and his wife, Donna, lost part of her arm in the blast Sunday.

Three years ago, Michael Coy seemed in a hurry to complete the motel transaction, Stoneburner said. Stoneburner told the newspaper that Coy said, "There are some bad guys looking for me, so I'm moving out of here."

Mem crashes into day-care center

HOLLYWOOD — A mother driving her 3-year-old son to preschool lost control of her car Wednesday and crashed through a plate glass window, injuring five students and a day-care worker, authorities said.

All of the victims suffered cuts and bruises, but none of the injuries were serious, said Lt. Mike Metz of the Florida Highway Patrol.

Four of the children were treated at a hospital and released. The mother, Maria Steinberger, 31, of Hollywood, was issued traffic citations for failing to use due care, failing to use a child restraint and driving without insurance, Metz said.

Neither Steinberger nor her son, Jason, were injured.

Steinberger was pulling into a parking space in front of the Bart-Hill Pre-school about 8:30 a.m. when her car, which was not using a seat belt, opened the passenger door, Metz said.

Routine traffic stop turns up dead man

HALLANDALE — Police who stopped a car for a routine traffic violation early Wednesday found a dead man in the vehicle's back seat, resulting in first-degree murder charges against two others in the car.

Police have charged Pompeyo Flores Huerta, 19, and Tiro Garcia, 17, with first-degree murder and armed robbery. Neither charged with a previous offense.

Broward County Sheriff's Deputy Susan Montgomery said that while the car was being searched, the officers found the body of a 50-year-old man with a jacket draped over the torso and a shirt over the head in the back seat of the car, said George Croft, spokesman for the Broward County Sheriff's Office.

One inmate gets reprieve, another doesn't

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Supreme Court refused Wednesday to block the scheduled execution Friday morning of J.B. Farber for his part in the 1988 murder of Evarado boat between Frances Eiler.

The justices did grant a stay, though, for Gregory Scott Engle, whose execution in the 1979 rape and murder of Duval County convenience store clerk Eleanor Kathy Tulin had been set for Halloween morning.

Farber's lawyers had questioned the prosecution's use of evidence about the effect of the crime on the victim's survivors. Such victim-impact evidence has been barred by the courts in capital cases.

But the justices said Wednesday in a unanimous decision that Farber should have raised the issue in earlier appeals.

It is Farber's first death warrant in the 1988 murder of Eiler. He and three co-defendants abducted and shot her to death following a robbery of the Stuart convenience store where she was working for pocket money.

Owners of killer dogs jailed, facing manslaughter charges

United Press International

JACKSONVILLE — The owners of three mixed-breed dogs that mauled to death an elderly woman Oct. 5 were charged with manslaughter in what prosecutors said was the first case of its kind in Florida.

Stacey L. Bodie, 36, and Sheri Laramore, 28, were arrested and charged Tuesday in the death of Frances Tubbs Fletcher, 73, who was attacked outside her home by the dogs when she went to get her morning newspaper.

If convicted of manslaughter, Bodie and Laramore could face prison sentences of three to seven years. The two remained in jail Wednesday with no bond set.

A witness and investigators said the dogs literally dragged the frail woman out of her slippers. An autopsy showed she had been cut and punctured at least 300 times during the attack, which lasted some 15 minutes.

Doug Hill, the witness who came upon Fletcher's body, said he found the woman bleeding "from head to toe." He had to fight off the dogs with a baseball bat before he was able to assist her.

Fletcher died of her injuries several hours later at a local hospital.

All three dogs, described by authorities as a mix of boxer, English bulldog and pit bull terrier, have been held at an animal shelter since the attack.

Prosecutors said that Bodie and Laramore should have known the dogs were vicious and dangerous, but they took no precautions to keep them locked up.

Emergency room costs in Florida up 26% since '87

UPI report

TALLAHASSEE — The overall cost for a new patient at a hospital emergency room in Florida has gone up nearly 26 percent since 1987, a report released Wednesday.

A survey based on 1988 rates, the Florida Health Care Cost Containment Board says the average physician charge for a new emergency room patient was $65 in 1987, up 25.9 percent from $52 in 1987.

However, the report says physician charges for hypertension, cancer sections and cancer removal have gone down in the same time period.

The average physician cost for a Caesarian dropped 56.8 percent, from $905 in 1987 to $405 in 1988.

Depending on the type of procedure, medical costs tend to be lower in the Panhandle and higher in south Florida. But there are wide variances, the board said, with the same procedure costing twice as much in some parts of the state as they do in others.

NASA: Strike doesn't threaten next month's Discovery launch

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — A threatened illegal strike by Transport Workers Union employees at Cape Canaveral would not affect the scheduled shuttle launch next month, NASA and Pan Am workers said Wednesday.

"No way. Absolutely not. And that's not a whitewash," said Harold Goch, labor relations chief for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at the Kennedy Space Center.

Pan Am union workers providing ground services at Cape Canaveral Air Force Station have threatened to walk off the job

Nov. 17 if no progress is made in replacing the contract that expired in September 1988 for 600 employees.

The workers are electricians, plumbers, firefighters and other ground support staff for Pan Am World Services. The company no longer flies Pan Am.

Chris Hunt, chief steward for union Local 825, said a strike would include those workers who help staff overseas emergency landing sites during shuttle missions.

As a result, the strike could delay the launch of Discovery after Nov. 20 on a classified Defense Department mission, Hunt said Tuesday.

Storms delay shuttle rollout

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL — The shuttle Discovery's rollout to the launch pad for blastoff next month on a classified military mission was delayed a second consecutive day Thursday by stormy weather, but officials said the ship's liftoff was still on schedule for around Nov. 20.

Technicians at the Kennedy Space Center had planned to begin hauling the 4.5-million-pound space shuttle, mounted atop a powerful crawler-transporter, from its banger to launch pad 39B at 12:01 a.m. EDT Thursday, 24 hours later than originally planned because of rainy weather.

But more of the same was on tap early Thursday and shortly after 1:30 a.m., NASA managers reluctantly rescheduled the move for Friday, weather permitting.

Discovery is scheduled to blast off around Nov. 20 on a secret military mission to deploy a Pentagon payload. While the launch time is secret, various sources have said liftoff is planned a few hours after sunset.

Cabinet reviews plan to protect state's beaches

UPI report

TALLAHASSEE — State environmental officials presented to the Cabinet Wednesday a plan that could become the first statewide comprehensive program to protect Florida's eroding beaches into the next century.

The Department of Natural Resources developed the plan, based on legislation created in 1987 that created the Beach Management Act.

The plan would be implemented in phases over a five-year period and would cost about $5 million a year, said Kirby Green, director of the Division of Beaches and Shores for DNR.

"This is unprecedented," Green said. "This is the first attempt to comprehensively manage a single natural resource. It's the first such plan in the U.S."

Even if adopted, the plan would not stop sea level rise from eroding beaches. Green said that a survey of 700 miles of Florida's sandy coastline showed that 217 miles are in a critically eroded state, and a lot of that beach cannot be restored.

So far, beach management has been a piecemeal effort, Green said. The state has spent $108 million restoring 80 miles of coastline, and another 10 miles will be restored this year, he said.

The strategy for beach management is "really a very simple solution," Green said. Florida law, he says, clearly says the state must "address long-term solutions to critically eroding beach problems in the state."

The program's goals are to stop the loss of sand at various inlets, preserve pristine beaches, restore eroding beaches and provide plans for post-storm redevelopment and beach restoration.

POLICE BRIEFS

Stolen items recovered

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — An 18-year-old man accused of stealing a car stereo from a car at 340 Radebaugh Drive on Oct. 10 was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies Wednesday at Lake Brantley High School.

The arrest was made after the stolen stereo equipment was recovered at a shop in Apopka. The person who had the equipment reportedly identified a suspect, Stacey Lee Swain, 133 Alhambra Ave., Altamonte Springs, is charged with burglary and grand theft in the case. Bond is $1,000.

Worker accused of gun theft

OVIDO — When Virginia Whaley, 108 Reserve Circle 100, Oviedo, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies a gun was stolen from her house Oct. 18, she told them she suspected a construction worker who had access to the house the day before might have taken the gun.

Deputies said they arrested James Franklin Kopp III, of Orlando, and recovered of the 20 gauge shotgun. Kopp was charged with theft of a firearm in the case. He was arrested at 9:13 a.m. Wednesday at the county jail.

Man arrested on DUI charge

SANFORD — The following person faces a charge of driving under the influence in Seminole County:

John A. Thomas, 26, 231 Sharon Drive-A, Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 12:56 a.m. Tuesday on Sharon Drive, after her car was seen weaving.

Troopers net four in rest stop sex arrests

By SUSAN LOREN
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — Florida Highway Patrol troopers who reported arresting four men on sex charges Tuesday night, returned to the same Interstate 4 rest stop to arrest four more Wednesday night.

Undercover troopers working Wednesday at the eastbound rest stop near Longwood report that, in one case, a trooper was approached by two men. One man, James Richard Gardner, 38, of Orlando, was charged with solicitation of a lewd act, after offering to perform sex acts with the trooper. A co-defendant, Daniel William Cole, 47, of Winter Park, allegedly touched the trooper and exposed his own sexual organs. Cole is charged with battery, exposure of sexual organs and resisting arrest without violence. He reportedly tried to run when the officer identified himself.

Chester A. Hamilton, 63, of Daytona Beach, was charged with battery after allegedly touching a trooper's groin and offering sexual favors.

Antonio Cahuaya Caceres, 33, of Deltona, was charged with battery after reportedly rubbing a trooper's leg and reaching for his groin.

NAACP demands SHA investigation

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) yesterday asked the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for an investigation of the Sanford Housing Authority and suspension of the five SHA commissioners.

In a letter to a HUD investigator, Seminole County

NAACP president Turner Clayton said the SHA commission's move to contract private management for the authority's 480 low-income housing units is a means to "undermine" SHA staff.

"The housing authority has always been operated in a professional manner under the executive director's position and received outstanding audits. The board itself, however, has always been plagued with controversy and tends to undermine the executive director and HUD policies," Clayton said.

Clayton asked Walter Conway, regional inspector general for investigations, for suspension of SHA commissioners Teri Buratti, J. Wain Cummings, Alberta Detreville, Jim Valerino and Shirley Allen until a full investigation of the housing authority has been completed.

The SHA commission first voted to switch to private management in March. The board entered into negotiations with a Coral Gables firm in August, but HUD rejected the negotiated contract last month.

The Sanford City Commission earlier this month formally endorsed the SHA's board decision to contract private management.

Within two months, the Sanford city commission has received requests to investigate SHA by the NAACP, SHA employees and The Furr Co., whose contract with SHA failed to win HUD approval.

Lyman's expansion OK'd by board

By VICKI DeGORMEN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Last night the Seminole County School Board approved the advertising for bids for the estimated $6 million addition to Lyman High School.

Architects George Ballans and Glenn White of Pierce, Goodwin, Alexander and Linville of Tampa, who have designed the 80,000 square foot project, met with the board and Lyman principal Carlton Henley in an afternoon work session to work out the details of the project. The additions to the school include new art and science labs, a media center, cafeteria and physical education facilities.

The proposal calls for all but the physical education building to be constructed of brick so they blend with the existing structures.

The physical education building may be constructed of a stucco material because existing structures near the building site are made of that material. Because of the site's proximity to the football field, Henley said construction of the new building had to be completed by the beginning of the next school year.

To be eligible for continued PECO (Public Education Capital Outlay trust fund) dollars, all construction on the proposed buildings at Lyman must be completed by June 1991.

The media center will have facilities to accommodate nearly 100 computer terminals and phone hook ups. "You cannot build a traditional media center in a high tech age," Henley said.

Lyman's current media center will be converted into a special education building once the new facility is completed.

Science labs will be constructed in the new building and the old labs, converted from classrooms in the old building, will be returned to their original function.

The architects say the dining facility will be "a bright and welcoming area." Some colorful and open decorative touches will be included.

"These aren't just lunchrooms any more," vice chairman Nancy Warren said, pointing out that dining facilities are often used as dance areas and for other student functions. The lighting in the room will be provided by clear stories, an old idea that is returning to popularity.

Clear stories bear some resemblance to a sawtooth roof with glass. In this case, the glass would be on the northern face to let in the sunlight which would reflect off a metallic surface and light the room. Clear stories were chosen over skylights because the latter is prone to leakage problems.

The facilities are fully wheelchair accessible, including an elevator to the second floor of the art/science lab building.

Eye institute reorganizes from financial, leadership problems

United Press International

TAMPA — The new University of South Florida Eye Institute, faced with financial and leadership problems, is being reorganized in an effort to save it from failure.

Institute officials and supporters hope the changes will attract potential donors and doctors the institute needs to survive. The center has enough money to operate only through November, school officials say.

The institute opened in July and has brought in far fewer patients than anticipated. It also has had problems collecting certain patient charges from insurance companies.

The university and the Foundation for Eye Research, a 32-member private group that built and controls the institute, will create a seven-member governing board under a plan announced Tuesday.

The realignment gives the university greater control of the institute, with the school appointing three of the board's seven members.

Reporter claims discrimination against newspaper, Gannett

United Press International

PENSACOLA — A veteran newspaper reporter, claiming she was denied promotions and given less desirable assignments because of her age and sex, filed a discrimination suit against her newspaper and the Gannett Co.

In a 31-page complaint filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court, Jo Ann Gordon, 43, also said she is paid less than her male counterparts, has a heavier workload and has been harassed.

The suit, which names as defendants the Pensacola News Journal and Gannett Co. Inc., its parent company, claims Gordon "suffered irreparable harm" and seeks unspecified damages and introduction of an affirmative action plan at the newspaper.

The suit said Gordon also filed complaints with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the Florida Commission on Human Relations, alleging discrimination based on sex and age, violations of the Equal Pay Act and unlawful retaliations by her employers.

Since at least Nov. 1, 1987, the suit claims, defendants "have been willfully engaged in unlawful employment practices" in violation of federal statutes.

Krenz, Kohl have first chat

BERLIN — East German leader Egon Krenz and West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl spoke for 20 minutes by telephone today in their first contact since Krenz replaced Erich Honecker eight days ago. Both sides said the talk took place in a constructive and objective atmosphere with Krenz and Kohl stressing their interest in developing East-West German relations and continuing practical cooperation.

Workers' Militia stripped of weapons

BUDAPEST, Hungary — The Hungarian army began hauling away weapons and equipment of the dreaded Workers' Militia, the 62,000-troop private army of the Communist Party that was ordered abolished by Parliament last week. Army trucks were backed up to the steps of the massive light-gray citadel Wednesday atop one of the Buda hills above the Danube that served as the militia's headquarters, as soldiers pushed dollies piled high with ammunition, pistols, machine guns, leather holsters and other equipment.

Polish aid bill debated

WASHINGTON — The Senate is in broad agreement on the principle of supporting economic reforms in Poland, but divided on how generous America can be because of its own serious deficit problems. The Republicans increased Bush's proposal of $455 million to a $665 million package, and said it is unrealistic to expect more money can be provided.

Truce broken in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Christian and Moslem forces battled early today with automatic guns and rockets along the "green line" dividing Lebanon's capital in the first breach of an Arab-mediated cease-fire, police said. A Christian Lebanese army soldier was killed and three people were wounded, police said.

Bush heads for Latin America

Nicaragua's Ortega to be snubbed by U.S.

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush goes to Costa Rica Friday for a two-day, 18-nation meeting where the most telling story may be his plans to snub Nicaragua's Daniel Ortega.

Secretary of State James Baker said that although Bush intends to be civil to Ortega, he has no plans to meet with his adversary or even "extend any particular courtesies."

"We've said for a long time that we think that a prerequisite to meeting with Ortega is seeing Ortega meet with the Nicaraguan resistance," Baker told reporters at the White House Wednesday in giving a preview of the visit. "We think he ought to meet with his own people ... before he meets with us."

President Oscar Arias of Costa Rica invited leaders from the Americas to meet with him to help mark 100 years of Costa Rican democracy. The leaders of Chile, Cuba, Haiti and Panama were not invited.

Although initially billed as a summit, it has since been downgraded to a meeting. And while there will be plenty of social events and discussions about democracy, Latin American debt and the war against drugs, there are no plans to issue joint communiqués or propose any new initiatives.

Baker said that while in San Jose, Bush plans to meet with Nicaraguan publisher Violeta Chamorro, the opposition candidate in the presidential election set for February. There was no indication whether Bush would meet with Panamanian opposition leaders who plan to attend the meeting.

Baker Wednesday issued a new denunciation of Nicaragua's Marxist government and said the United States had protested to the Soviet Union that Managua was continuing to send arms to the leftist guerrilla alliance in El Salvador known as the FMLN.

"We know for a fact that a truck was stopped at the Honduran border a day or so ago that had East Bloc arms in it ... and we know that those arms had come from Nicaragua and were going to FMLN," he said.

In an opening statement, Baker said, "While in Costa Rica, we are going to discuss what we see as challenges" in the region, particularly democratic efforts in Nicaragua and Panama.

As for Panama, he said, "We don't rule out whatever other means that may be appropriate" to get rid of Gen. Manuel Noriega, who survived a Oct. 3 coup attempt.

Earlier Wednesday, Bush notified Congress that would continue "to apply economic sanctions against Nicaragua," first imposed in 1985, "because the policies of its government "continue to pose an unusual and extraordinary threat" to U.S. security.

Earthquake refugees helped

WATSONVILLE, Calif. — Victims of last week's devastating earthquake now living in tent cities and makeshift communities have been grateful for the outpouring of help by other survivors and volunteers.

"We had 80 people come down here from Danville in a bus to help out," Ed Vasquez, a volunteer for the Salvation Army, said Wednesday. "They brought 80 pies from Marie Callender's and baby items — clothing and stuff."

More than 1,300 people have become virtual refugees in Watsonville after the Oct. 17 earthquake left them homeless, said Lorraine Washington, city spokeswoman.

Countywide, more than 8,000 remained homeless, said Dinah Phillips, emergency services spokeswoman.

The Salvation Army has fed about 700 people a day in its Watsonville office and volunteers there have taken hot meals to victims "wherever we can find them, camped in vacant lots and parks," Vasquez said.

At nearby Callaghan Park, 45 tents have been set up on the muddy grass, housing about 350 people left homeless. Much of their assistance has come from people like Jeffrey Azevedo, whose own house in Watsonville was destroyed.

Azevedo, 38, about to relocate to Seattle, Wash., with his wife and baby, stopped at the site Wednesday to hand out soap, dishes, pots, and other items from what had been his home. "I wanted to give it away where it will do some good," he said.

Bush announces pesticide initiative

WASHINGTON — President Bush, the self-proclaimed environmental president, has completed work on a major new initiative on pesticide safety that some critics say will ease federal restrictions.

The guidelines Bush planned to unveil today were designed to direct Congress toward passing what the administration views as acceptable legislation on pesticide safety.

Sources within the environmental community familiar with the White House plan told United Press International it would allow cancer risks from certain pesticides to exceed the EPA's "negligible risk" standard, which the agency put in place only last year.

Under that standard, the EPA bars use of any pesticide that poses a cancer risk greater than one in a million.

EPA officials declined to comment on the substance of the administration's plan.

However, environmentalists said the administration plan envisions allowing cancer risks up to one in 100,000 from any pesticide judged by the government to provide extensive economic benefits to farmers.

One environmentalist said that while Bush's plan was being touted by administration officials as an effort to strengthen pesticide safety laws, "it's really a wolf in sheep's clothing."

"What they are asking for here is carte blanche to say any pesticide, no matter what the risks, can stay in our food supply if they feel the benefits are substantial enough," the source added.

SEC chairman sees volatile market

WASHINGTON — Securities and Exchange Commission Chairman Richard Breeden warned investors to expect more volatility in the stock market, which plunged 180 points two weeks ago and has since weathered a series of aftershocks.

"We must expect and be prepared for occasional substantial market movements," Breeden said Wednesday in testimony before the House Subcommittee on Telecommunications and Finance, which is exploring reforms to boost the stability of the nation's financial markets.

But Breeden said several of the reforms put into place after the October 1987 crash have strengthened the stock market and said he sees no need for the commission to have authority to halt trading. That position had been endorsed by his predecessor, David Ruder.

Such authority is one of the provisions of the proposed Stock Market Reform Act of 1989, which would give the SEC emergency authority to halt trading in markets for up to 24 hours during a crisis. It also would require the reporting of large trader activities, a risk assessment of holding companies of brokerages and coordinated clearing and settlement.

17 still missing in chemical plant blast

PASADENA, Texas — Officials at Phillips Petroleum chemical plant, the site of a deadly explosion, estimated it could take two weeks to clear away dangerous wreckage that continued to hamper the search for 17 people still missing from the blast.

"It's obviously going to take a significant amount of time" to recover all the bodies, "and by that, I mean days," said Bob Benz, manager of the polyethylene plant that went up in flames Monday after the blast. "It's going to be very slow going."

Three more bodies were found Wednesday under the debris and twisted metal at the plant, raising to five the number of dead, Phillips spokesman Patricia Marshall said.

Company officials also located a maintenance worker listed as missing who was not at the plant. They said 17 workers were still unaccounted for and expressed doubt they will find any survivors.

Union officials, meanwhile, called the plant a "time bomb" designed by people more interested in profits than safety.

Richard Young, the plant's technical director, said hydrocarbon vapors, the raw materials used for making plastics, were believed to have caused the explosion.

But Robert Wagon, vice president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union, said at a news conference the company has given inconsistent accounts.

Pennsylvania prisoners riot

CAMP HILL, Pa. — Corrections officials at a medium-security state prison were prepared to meet today with five inmate representatives a day after 1,800 convicts staged a 6 1/2-hour uprising in which eight people were taken hostage and 45 others injured.

The unrest Wednesday apparently began after state prison inmates became angry over changes in medical and visitation policies. After the standoff ended, the eight hostages were released unharmed, officials said.

At least 45 prison guards, staff members and inmates were reported injured in the uprising, two seriously, said Robert Freeman, superintendent of the medium-security State Correctional Institution at Camp Hill, about 20 miles southeast of Harrisburg, the state capital.

Freeman said the uprising was put down "with a very minimal amount of force" after he agreed to meet Thursday with the inmate representatives.

The disturbance began about 3 p.m. when a group of inmates assaulted a prison employee at Catehouse E, said John Palachovich, Freeman's assistant, and the unrest quickly spread until about 1,500 inmates were involved.

The prisoners set fire in the greenhouse, the furniture factory, the commissary and the food service building, Palachovich said. Three fires were quickly extinguished, but the blast in the furniture plant burned into the night, Freeman said.

The inmates took over a part of the prison and held eight staff members hostage, Freeman said. They were released at intervals, the last about 6 p.m., and the rebellious inmates agreed to return to their cells, he said.

An additional 31 guards and staff members were trapped inside the prison, but were not hostages and made their way out of the prison by 9 p.m., the superintendent said.

Aid for disaster victims approved

United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Bush today signed a $2.85 billion disaster aid package to help earthquake-stricken California and areas of the Carolinas and Caribbean devastated by Hurricane Hugo.

The disaster relief measure passed by Congress Wednesday was part of a stop-gap spending bill to keep the federal government functioning while Congress finishes work on several stalled appropriations bills.

A White House spokesman said that although funding for many government workers technically stopped at midnight

Wednesday, "all government employees should report to work in the morning as usual."

The measure sailed through Congress just eight days after northern California was rocked by the Loma Prieta earthquake, which measured 7.1 on the Richter scale and caused extensive damage throughout the San Francisco Bay and Santa Cruz areas.

The aid package adds $3.85 billion for grants, loans, highway repairs and other assistance to roughly $1.3 billion already available through the Small Business Administration for disaster loans.

Bush's abortion veto upheld

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Abortion rights supporters in the House failed to override President Bush's veto of a bill that would liberalize rules for the federal funding of abortions.

The pro-abortion rights forces scored a 231-191 majority vote Wednesday, but fell 51 votes short of the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto.

Despite their defeat, pro-abortion lawmakers predicted momentum is in their favor and the vote — the strongest pro-abortion vote to date — will have political fallout in future elections.

Rep. Bill Green, R-N.Y., said he feared President Bush "may well have stumbled on the one issue that could cost him the election in 1992."

Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., said he was pleased the veto was sustained, but added that "I'd like a bigger vote" for the anti-abortion position. "I regret that we did not have the most votes."

Hyde acknowledged the momentum on the issue has changed. "I do sense that momentum has shifted" to the pro-abortion advocates, he said. But he added that he views that shift as "a call to action" for his side.

The National Right to Life Committee called the vote a "big pro-life win" and said supporters of legal abortion were "seeking to create an impression of momentum" that does not exist.

But a spokeswoman for Planned Parenthood, which supports legal abortion, said, "This battle is not over."

"One stroke of a president's pen is not powerful enough to stop the pro-choice momentum in this country," said Planned Parenthood spokeswoman Lydia Neumann.

Molly Yard, president of the National Organization for Women, said, "We didn't expect to win today, although we would have been thrilled to gain this protection for poor pregnant victims of rape and incest. But we are greatly encouraged by the majority of the House which voted to override."

The liberalized rules, allowing federal funding for abortion in cases of rape or incest, were contained in the 1990 appropriations bill for the Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education departments.

In an unexpected victory for abortion supporters Oct. 11, the House approved the Senate-passed provision on a 218-206 vote. The vote marked the first time since 1981 that the House chose to ease federal law, which allows federal funding for abortions only in cases where the life of the mother is threatened.

That vote, coupled with pro-abortion victories in the Florida Legislature, were hailed by abortion supporters as evidence that national sentiment had turned in their favor after the Supreme Court's ruling in July that the states can further restrict abortions.

In Pennsylvania, however, anti-abortion forces scored a victory Tuesday when the state House of Representatives overwhelmingly passed a sweeping anti-abortion measure that would give Pennsylvania the most restrictive abortion laws in the nation.

The override vote came after one hour of intense but controlled debate.

Rep. Lee AuCoin, D-Ore., said Bush's action was "a political veto, made by a timid president ... a sellout to the extreme right."

AuCoin warned his colleagues of retaliation from the pro-abortion forces in coming elections. "If you support (Bush) over rape victims this may be your last term, because the pro-choice movement in this country is alive and energized and it's going to be voting in the next election."

The truth is, "There's no free lunch."

Have you heard the fable of the four generations of royalty and the world's wisest man? The royal families summoned the wise men to compress all the wisdom of the world into one simple sentence. After 100 years the task was finished. The sentence read:

"There is no such thing as a free lunch."
At your local community bank we've known that since the day we opened our doors. We know we have to earn your confidence, your respect and your trust. We've done that by working hard. By knowing and treating our customers as individuals, not account numbers. By caring about our community. By making the tough decisions. By being competitive. By being a friend.

IN BRIEF

BASKETBALL

Bird returns to Boston

BOSTON — Kevin McHale scored 23 points Wednesday night and the Boston Celtics extended their exhibition season record to 6-0 with a 119-101 victory over the Houston Rockets.

Larry Bird, playing in his first game at Boston Garden since Nov. 11, 1988, scored 18 points and at his introduction the sellout crowd of 14,860 greeted him with a thunderous ovation and loud chant of "Larry, Larry." The three-time MVP missed all but six games last year due to heel surgery for removal of bone spurs.

Bird, who turns 33 in December, showed signs of regaining his old form, hitting a 12-foot lefthanded hook in the first quarter and sparking a 10-0 third quarter run with a pair of long jumpers, two defensive rebounds and a steal.

Houston, which also lost to Boston 109-100 on Sunday, drops to 3-3 in the pre-season with one game left. The Rockets were led by Mitchell Wiggins' 25 points, while Otis Thorpe contributed 20.

BASEBALL

Sanford Stadium site of tourney

The Florida Baseball School will host the Zinn Beck Round Robin Fall Tournament this weekend at Sanford Stadium. Participating in the tournament will be Rollins College, Flagler College, Seminole Community College and the Florida Baseball School Academy (FBESA).

Professional rules will be followed except that the games will be only seven innings long.

Play will begin Friday at 4:30 p.m. when Flagler takes on FBESA. Three games are scheduled for Saturday: Rollins plays SCC at 10 a.m. then, at 12:45 p.m., Rollins will play FBESA with SCC meeting FBESA at 3 p.m.

On Sunday, Rollins will play Flagler at noon with Flagler meeting SCC at 2:45 p.m.

Tyson-Ruddock fight postponed

NEW YORK — Mike Tyson's scheduled Nov. 18 heavyweight title bout against Razor Ruddock in Edmonton, Alberta, has been postponed because the champion has a condition similar to pneumonia, a spokesman for promoter Don King said Wednesday night.

Tyson's trainer Jay Bright said the champion had trouble breathing shortly after they arrived in Edmonton from Albany, N.Y., about a week ago.

"When we came out here he had difficulty breathing," Bright said. "He thought it was bronchitis. He tried to train, but when you're heavyweight champion of the world and you have the best sparring partners in the world, and they're 250 pounds and throwing punches, that's not the place to lose your breath."

"The doctor came out a couple of days ago. It's no big deal — once it's gone, it's gone. The doctor said the virus should be eliminated in three weeks, then Michael will need a certain amount of time to prepare to fight."

Wamsley deals Kings a shutout

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — Rick Wamsley stopped 23 shots to deal Los Angeles its first shutout in 261 games Wednesday night and lift the Calgary Flames to a 5-0 victory over the Kings.

Wamsley, filling in for the injured Mike Vernon, posted his 11th career shutout and first of the season. The Kings had not been blanked since Detroit's Greg Stefan held them without a goal on March 12, 1988.

In the first meeting of the teams since Calgary swept the Kings in the Smythe Division final last year, Theoren Fleury and Joe Mullen each collected a goal and assist for the Flames, who maintained their NHL record streak of 264 games between shutouts.

Elsewhere in the NHL on Wednesday night, Edmonton and the New York Rangers skated to a 3-3 tie; Hartford blanked Quebec 3-0; Toronto got past Pittsburgh 6-6; Winnipeg beat Washington 6-4; and Minnesota defeated Buffalo 4-2.

Rams after second win

Lake Mary travels to Mainland

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Lake Mary's varsity football team will look for its second straight win tonight when they travel to Daytona Beach's Municipal Stadium for a 5A-District 4 meeting with Mainland. Kickoff is set for 7:30.

The Rams, 1-4 overall and 1-4 in the district, are coming off their first win of the season, a 31-12 drubbing of Spruce Creek, Mainland, 0-6 overall and 0-5 in the district, is having a troubled year and lost to Spruce Creek 17-13 earlier in the year.

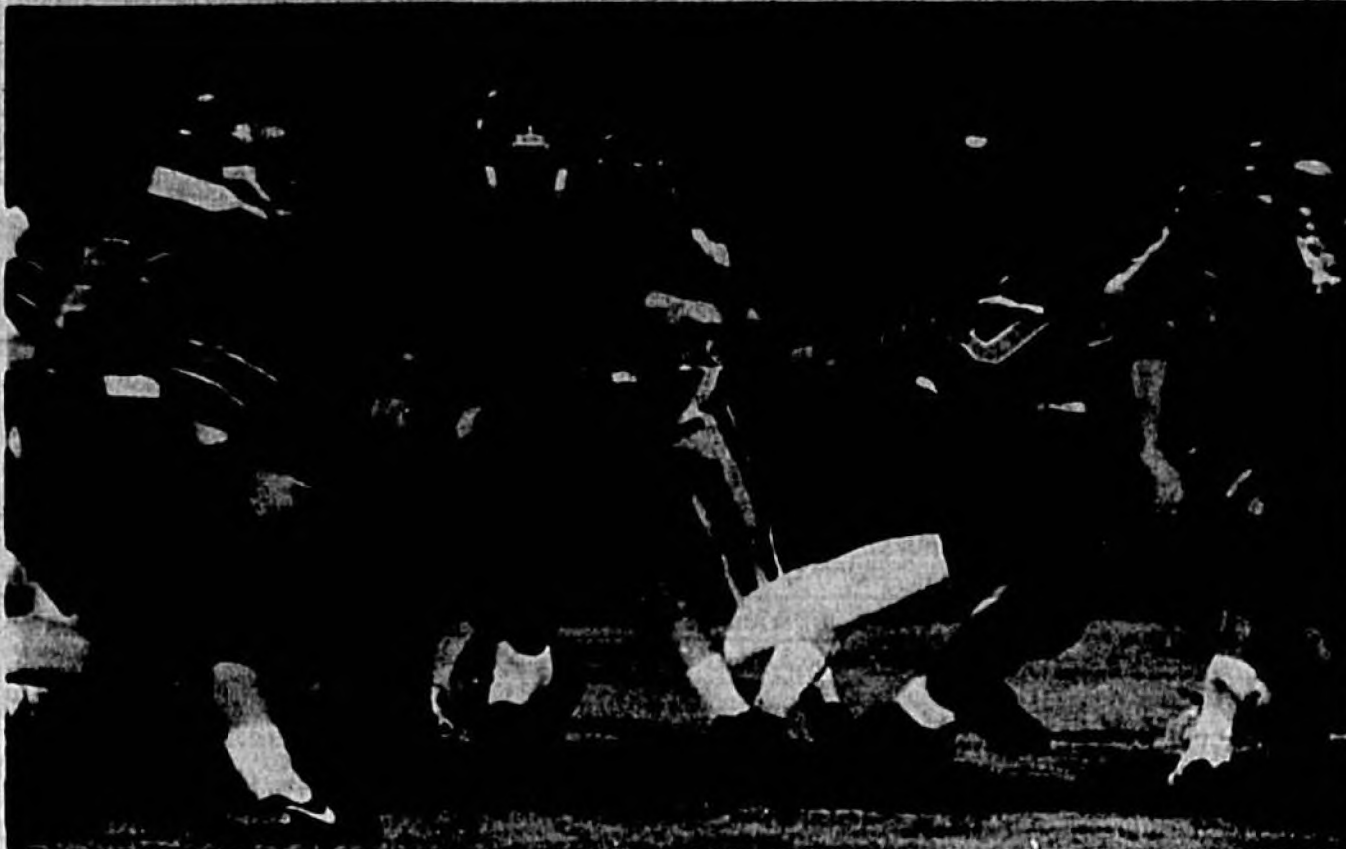

"We're going to stay with our wishbone offense and hope it's a little more polished this time around," Lake Mary coach Doug Peters said. "We're going to keep going to Bob Menello until someone stops him."

Last week Menello established a school record for a fullback as he rushed for 218 yards. Peters will not only be looking for Menello to have a big game, he is anticipating a strong effort from junior quarterback Mike Merthic.

"Mike did everything well last week," Peters said. "He ran the option well and passed real well. He should of had three touchdowns passing, but two balls that were in the hands of the receivers were dropped."

Peters hopes to mix up the offense, an offense that he re-constructed before the Spruce Creek game. The Rams went away from the power I and to the wishbone, to Lake Mary coach Doug Peters is hoping the Rams' new wishbone offense will allow quarterback Mike Merthic (No. 2) the flexibility to do more of the things he does well. Using the wishbone for the first time last Friday, the Rams posted their first win of the 1989 season, beating Spruce Creek 31-12.

Seminoles, Lions seek redemption

By TONY BOGGERMAN
 Herald Sports Editor

Seminole and Oviedo high schools' varsity football teams have something in common.

Both have fallen victim to the Lake Howell juggernaut in recent weeks, having suffered decisive shutout losses at the hands of the Silver Hawks. And both are looking for redemption of sorts.

When the two teams meet tonight at Oviedo's John Courier Field (kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m.), one will have taken a step in that general direction.

Oviedo's Lions, who lost to Lake Howell two weeks ago, got themselves righted with a win over a competitive Lake Brantley squad. But Oviedo coach Jack Blanton feels tonight's game may be a little bit more of a challenge.

Volleyfest to decide boys' title

By TONY BOGGERMAN
 Herald Sports Editor

When you play a sport in high school that isn't recognized by the Florida High School Activities Association and, as a result, doesn't have a state championship tournament, all you can do is have your own.

That in effect is what the boys' volleyball teams of the Seminole Athletic, Metro and Orangebelt conferences have chosen to do as representatives from each conference will convene at Lake Mary High School this weekend for Volleyfest '89.

"We're hoping that by next year or the year after that at the latest, boys' volleyball will be a fully sanctioned varsity sport in the state of Florida," said Lake Mary coach Bill Whalen.

"Right now, we're the only three conferences playing at this time. We've had great support and it seems like once people come and watch it, they get hooked on it. It's a really growing sport in Florida."

Joining the host Rams for the two-day (Thursday and Saturday), double-elimination tournament will be Oviedo and Lake Brantley of the SAC; the Metro Conference's Dr. Phillips, Boone and Winter Park; and Team captain Dave Gould (No. 23) and the Oviedo Lions will participate in Volleyfest '89 today and Saturday at Lake Mary High School. In today's opening round, the Lions are scheduled to play Boone at 7 p.m.

Patriots favored in SAC meet

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Seminole County high school cross country teams will converge on Lake Mary High School to participate in the annual Seminole Athletic Conference championship meet today at 5 p.m.

Lake Howell's girls and Lyman's boys are the meet favorites although the coaches of those teams both point to other teams as the contenders.

"As I see it, Lake Brantley is in the driver's seat," Lake Howell girls coach Tom Hammontree said. "Small meets favor them (Brantley) and they have been progressing as of late."

Lake Brantley won the Postal Run last week, but that was a championship that was scored with the top five times. This week's format will return to the usual scoring of the top five places.

"I'm not sure what we'll look like as of yet," Hammontree said. "We have three girls out sick and I'm not sure who will and who will not run."

The Silver Hawks have been the county's top-ranked team since the opening of the season and will look to extend that streak with a win today.

"You need seven runners and right now, we only have four,"

Ken Kern's Transmissions all alone in first in Class D

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Ken Kern's Transmissions moved back into sole possession of first place with a 13-5 victory over the Sanford Police Benevolence Association in Sanford Men's Class D Slowpitch Softball action at Chase Park Wednesday night.

In other games, The Harrod Group kept Cabinet Aire Inc. on the skids with a 13-4 win and The Wrecking Crew won its second straight with a 14-2 beating of Mobilite.

The standings now have Ken Kern's at 4-1, Aire, Harrod and The Crew all at 3-2, and SPBA and Mobilite at 1-4.

Ken Kern's scored five runs in the first and one in the second to take a 6-1 lead into the fourth. But SPBA mounted a two-out, four-run rally to close to 6-5. The score stayed the same until the seventh, when Kern's scored seven runs to turn the close game into a rout.

Kern's had 12 different players combine for 20 hits in the contest. They were paced by Keith Acree's two doubles, two singles and two runs scored. Other contributors included Greg Hensley (three singles, two runs scored), Tom Kelly (two singles, two runs scored) and Chris Davis (two singles, run scored).

Also chipping in offensively were Craig Appel (two singles), Russell Holloman (triple, run scored), Joe Chris Davis (sliding) had two singles and scored a run for Ken Kern's Transmissions as it defeated the Sanford Police Benevolence Association to take sole possession of first place in the Class D standings. Ned Golden (No. 7) is the SPBA third baseman.

Craig tries light touch to get Giants back on track

SAN FRANCISCO - The signs of last week's devastating earthquake have all but vanished from Candlestick Park, scene of Friday's Game 3 of the World Series.

"Our guys' backs are against the wall," said team president Al Rosen. "They know they can not afford to lose another game. So really there is every indication that they are going to come out and play as hard as they can."

The Giants skipper said, "I was going to do it the other day, but decided that they would probably forget what I said by Friday. I'm going to talk to them right before the game Friday."

While Craig is firmly focused on the Series, his team also is beginning to zone into the game. "I think everybody, the players and the City, can see the light at the end of the tunnel," said reliever Steve Bedrosian.

Cabinet Aire only had six hits in the contest and only three after the first inning as it lost its second straight game. Leading the Aire attack were Brad Kruger, who also had a single and a run scored to go with the homer, Greg Register (two singles), Jeff Kruger (a double), Jim Rhodes (a single and one run scored) and Noy Rivers (one run scored).

For SPBA, Hewitt had a double and two singles and scored one run, Smith doubled and singled, Golden tripled, Kaiser doubled and scored one run, Delrosso singled and scored one run, and Harriet and Shull scored one run each. Brad Kruger had a three-run, inside-the-park home run in the top of the first for Cabinet Aire but the rest of the game belonged to Harrod, which sent 14 men to the plate in the bottom of the first and scored nine runs on 12 hits. Trey Braaser had the big shot of the inning when he matched Kruger with a three-run homer.

Dad won't lighten up on grounding

DEAR ABBY: My husband uses "grounding" for every little infraction our 15-year-old son commits. "Rick" loves sports, and he's very good at basketball and soccer. He's on his high school teams for both sports.

My husband feels that when Rick is grounded he should not be able to go anywhere—including practice for sports or playing in the games. I feel that taking away Rick's TV and telephone privileges and going out in the evening is punishment enough. Besides, if Rick is grounded from practice and playing in sports, he'd be letting his school and teammates down. Being grounded from sports for two weeks could even cause him to lose out playing the whole season.

I think I have a fairly good chance of winning this argument, but I need your help. I hope you're on my side, Abby. Say what?

DEAR MOM: I think the punishment should fit the crime. If Rick's offense is serious—drinking, doing drugs or breaking the law—I'd say ground him all the way, sports included.

But for relatively minor offenses, denying Rick TV and telephone privileges, plus going out—other than for practice and games—is sufficient punishment.

DEAR ABBY: It's been almost nine months since my husband and I got married, and here's my problem. Although my husband is busy with school and a job, we agreed to share the duty of sending out thank-you notes for our wedding gifts.

I went through all our gifts and made a list. I also addressed all the envelopes. Then I did my half of the notes, and my husband was supposed to do the other half—which he told me he had done.

Well, yesterday I found most of his half of the thank-you notes in a box in a spare room. I couldn't believe my eyes!

What should I do now? I know I still need to send them out, but how do I apologize for getting them out so late? Everyone who hasn't received a thank-you note yet must think we are absolutely awful! Please help.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Judging from your husband's track record, in order to avoid further delay, you'd better write the balance of the thank-you notes yourself. Although your husband doesn't deserve to be protected, resist the temptation to "explain" why your acknowledgment is so late. How disappointing for you to learn that your husband is not only irresponsible, he's less than honest.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 6940, Los Angeles, Calif. 90068. All correspondence is confidential.)

Anti-pornography week set

SANFORD — All Souls Council of Catholic Women in Sanford is distributing flyers and instructions for the National White Ribbon Against Pornography Campaign (WRAP), scheduled for Oct. 29 to Nov. 5.

Across the nation, communities are expected to express their opposition to pornography by placing white ribbons around shrubs, trees, porches, in windows, on doors, on car antennas, etc.

An estimated 10 million people will participate this year, said Karen Reilly-Morton, spokesman for the All Souls Council. Some activities planned throughout the nation include White Ribbon Parades, community holding up at a designated time, protest and picketing and prayers at video stores and adult bookstores, she said.

In addition to the All Souls Council, churches in Sanford will be distributing flyers to their congregations, Reilly-Morton said.

For a White Ribbon packet, call All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford, at 323-3795. For more information on the WRAP campaign, call Karen Reilly-Morton at 574-8797.

Golf Fest to benefit families

LAKE MARY — Oct. 30 is the registration deadline for the Second Annual Family Golf Fest, with proceeds going to the Parent Resource Center offices in Sanford and Orlando.

The event will take place on Monday, Nov. 6, at Timucuan County Club in Lake Mary, with registration starting at 10:30 a.m. and a shotgun start at 1 p.m.

The Parent Resource Center is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to strengthening families and preventing child abuse through support, education and outreach. The center offers more than 30 programs for families with newborns through families with teen-age children.

Players will compete in two-person teams. In such possible combinations as mother and son, father and daughter, uncle and nephew, grandfather and grandson. The playing fee of $135 per team include lunch, dinner, golf cart and entertainment. Individuals may play for $65 apiece, and will be matched with a partner for the day.

A children's contest will take place at 4 p.m. Non-playing family members may purchase dinner tickets.

Pat Clarke, sports anchor for Channel 9, and Hug-A-Ling, the center's panda mascot, will be present for the tee-off.

For reservations or more information, call the Seminole County office at 321-4883 or the Orange County office at 435-3663.

Genes not shown to cause homosexuality

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son and his wife are divorced, and they have one child. The reason for the divorce is that she is bisexual and has affairs with other women. I'm very worried my little grandson will take after his mother or that the problem will crop up in future generations. I feel our bloodline has been contaminated. Please give me some information on this subject.

DEAR READER: Many homosexuals believe they were "born that way" because of genetic inheritance. However, reputable studies have failed to show such an inheritance; homosexual behavior in men and women appears to be learned, probably at an early age. Sexual preference is more likely to be determined by environment than by genes. Therefore, your perception of a "contaminated" bloodline is probably unfounded.

From the tone of your question, I assume you do not approve of your former daughter-in-law's behavior. This is OK; it's your right. However, I think that you must be careful to avoid depreciating her as a person. She is, after all, your grandson's mother, and it's important for him to maintain a good relation with her.

I cannot comment on whether your grandson will become homosexual, but I suspect he will have a more traditional sexual orientation if his new family life is stable and balanced. You may wish to discuss this matter with the child's pediatrician and obtain family counseling if needed.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have internal and external hemorrhoids that have been treated in the past by surgery. My current doctor assured me he can remove the internal ones with a rubber-band treatment and the external ones by freezing them. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: Ligating hemorrhoids with rubber bands or freezing them may be appropriate therapy for you. Both techniques are standard; they don't involve surgery and are, therefore, less painful, safer and cheaper.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Most South players arrived in six spades. A diamond was normally led. When declarer played low from dummy, East's jack forced his ace. Dummy's A-K of hearts were cashed so that declarer could throw the 10 of diamonds. Then came ace of clubs, followed by a diamond ruff. The king of clubs was played, and then a club was ruffed as West threw a diamond. Declarer was then able to ruff another diamond low, and ruff his last little club with the nine of spades. That left declarer with A-Q-10 of spades and the good queen of clubs, while dummy was still left with the spade jack. He now had a sure play for his contract. He ruffed a heart with the ace of spades. Then he played the queen of clubs, ruffing with dummy's spade jack.

West could take his spade king any time, but that was the only trick for the defense. One declarer got greedy after winning dummy's queen of diamonds at the first trick. He played A-K of hearts, shedding a club, and then took the ace of clubs. With only one club to ruff, he played the jack of spades and let it ride.

Then he led the nine of spades, playing low when East followed with the eight. West won the king and returned a spade, and declarer was left with a club loser. If this declarer had first led the spade nine from dummy, his second lead would have been the jack. With East playing the eight, declarer could play the 10.

That way, even if West were being clever, the spade seven would be an entry to dummy for the good heart.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Ouel
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Oct. 27, 1989

Knowledge you have acquired through personal experiences will be put to profitable uses in the year ahead, especially where your work or career is concerned. More recognition is in the offing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're not a person who is easily deceived, but today you might be taken in by accepting at face value what is told to you by an individual your instincts warn you not to trust. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's best not to take financial risks today in areas in which you are unfamiliar. You won't like it if you have to pay for someone else's mistakes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Not everyone with whom you'll be involved today will abide by the lofty standards you set for yourself. Keep this in mind if you have to negotiate something with a person you don't know too well.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll have a sharp eye for details today, but your vision could be a bit distorted in seeing the big picture. Be sure to wear your bifocals so you can see both.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Schedule your time today so that your duties are given priority over your pleasurable pursuits. Without an agenda, productive hours may be squandered.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is a danger today that you may base your judgment upon a faulty premise. Instead of making impulsive agreements, go on a fact-finding mission first.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A project in which you're presently interested may not be as easy to execute as it looks on the drawing board. Don't use this as an excuse to call it quits.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Extravagant urges could overwhelm you today if you lack financial discipline. Be prudent in money matters and buy only what you absolutely need.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In order to promote good will among your peers today you might promise or give them more than you should. Be generous, but, by the same token, also be practical.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's imperative today that you are able to distinguish the difference between positive thinking and wishful expectations. The former enhances success, the latter courts failure.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Material trends continue to favor you at this time, but nothing of value is likely to be gained if you take your opportunities for granted. Capitalize on your advantages.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Objectives you are usually able to achieve with relative ease could prove to be rather difficult today, especially those that have competitive elements. Don't underestimate your opposition.
