Internal Probe Launched Into County Parks Division

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

An administrative review of Seminole County's Parks Division is expected to be completed within two weeks, County Administrator Roger Neiswender said Tuesday.

Neiswender said he has received a letter from the state attorney's office indicating the first part of the office's probe into alleged wrongdoing in the parks division has been completed. According to the letter, a follow-up investigation may take up to six months.

Public Services and Development Director John Percy, Personnel Director Lois Martin and Assistant County Administrator Jim Easton will be talking to the employees in the parks division and reviewing management and supervisory practices there, Neiswender said.

They will prepare a report for Neiswender on problems at the office and Neiswender will make recommendations for changes to county commissioners.

He rebuked some employees for "spreading gossip" about the investigation of the division and commented particularly

'There will be no vendetta by anyone out here who's remaining against anyone involved in the investigation.'

about a story that a sprinkler system had been installed at his house illegally by Facilities, Parks and Recreation Division Head Butch Alexander.

"I don't appreciate it. I worked long and hard to get a good reputation," Neiswender said. Another contractor installed the sprinkler system for $12,000, he said.

Allegations that Alexander used county material for a sprinkler system business he operates were reportedly among those investigated by the state attorney and sheriff's department.

Only one arrest has come about from the investigation, although two other parks employees who were touched by the probe have also left the county payroll.

Facilities and Parks Coordinator John Varney was arrested July 16 for alleged misuse of county material and labor.

Varney is charged with, among other things, authorizing the purchase of $200 worth of electrical wiring and the labor of a parks employee to wire the Winter Springs trailer of Johnnie Butler. He also is charged with authorizing the construction of a doll house for Mrs. Butler.

Mrs. Butler's resignation from her job as secretary in the parks division was announced Tuesday by Percy. Mrs. Butler cited personal reasons for the resignation which takes effect today.

Bill Sotho, an air conditioning mechanic who claimed he was instrumental in the Varney probe, was fired Thursday for falsifying his job application.

Neiswender promised there will be no retribution by supervisors against employees who participated in the original probe or who testify in the internal investigation.

"There will be no vendetta by anyone out here who's remaining against anyone involved in the investigation," he said.

He said county officials are looking to figure out what it will

Bryant And Patrick Win School Race

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Jean Bryant and Kenneth Patrick will square off in the Nov. 2 general election to pick a successor to Seminole County School Board member Allan Keeth.

Mrs. Bryant and Patrick handily outpolled the four-term veteran, who did very little campaigning, to set up their November confrontation.

Mrs. Bryant, who served on the school board from 1966 through 1974, received 5,649 votes for 40.4 percent of the total, compared to 5,373 votes for Patrick, who got 38.4 percent of the vote. Keeth received 2,957 votes for 21.1 percent.

Patrick, who works for a school book publishing company, and Mrs. Bryant, who is a volunteer in Seminole County schools, expressed surprise today that the race was not really close.

"I figured it would be a three-person race all the way," Mrs. Bryant said.

Patrick said he was confident he would be in the runoff but expected Keeth to be much closer in the vote total.

"But we kind of figured Al Keeth would finish third because he didn't do any campaigning," Patrick said.

Both Patrick and Mrs. Bryant said they aren't exactly certain what the campaign will hold.

"In a race when you're only expecting 20 percent of the people to come out, you've got to figure out which 20 percent they are," Patrick said.

Mrs. Bryant said she "is pleased it came out as it did."

She wants to study the voting records to figure where her biggest support is located.

For Mrs. Bryant, her campaign will consist of "more of the same people to people contact we've had."

"I hope we have more opportunity to meet with groups like PTAs and homeowner groups, which hadn't really formed yet for the September campaign," she said.

Patrick said all of his campaign spending was concentrated in eight precincts and he wants to check to see what the turnout in those precincts was.

But he was pleased just to make the runoff.

"Sometimes it's psychologically better to come in second," he said. "It might turn out to be an advantage. It might make our people get out and work harder."

Patrick said, "I'm confident we're going to gather a lot more people."

The school board election featured an oddity. At Precinct 18 at Samora clubhouse in Sanford all three candidates received 41 votes.

Supervisor of Elections Camilla Bruce said the runoff for the non-partisan school board election is held in November because of a special law passed by the state legislature. When the school board election was made non-partisan, it was moved to November, she said.

10 YEARS AFTER

It's been a long time in coming. Ten years to be exact. Seminole High's cross country team knocked off Trinity Prep Tuesday to capture its first victory in 10 years. See Sports, Page 10A.

SEMINOLE FIRST IN FLORIDA

Seminole County's Courthouse was calm last night as individual precinct election judges brought in the returns. But it was not from lack of action. Seminole County judges brought in the first returns at 7:25 p.m. and the last at 8:23 p.m. Seminole was the first county in Florida to complete its countywide results and to call them into the Secretary of State's office.

Leffler Beats Gussow

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Kenneth Leffler in his first real election battle swamped his opponent for a 3-to-1 victory not only in his home county of Seminole, but also in Brevard County Tuesday to return to the Seminole-Brevard circuit judgeship post he had held for the last seven years.

And the obviously popular judge grabbed the most votes cast among the races on the Seminole ballot with 10,458 tallies.

Leffler, appointed by then-Gov. Reubin Askew to the bench in 1975, was re-elected to a six-year term in 1976 unopposed.

Noting that he worked hard campaigning in the two-county judicial circuit, his Windsor Avenue home in Knollwood, west of Longwood was filled with celebrating and congratulating well-wishers until the early hours of the morning today.

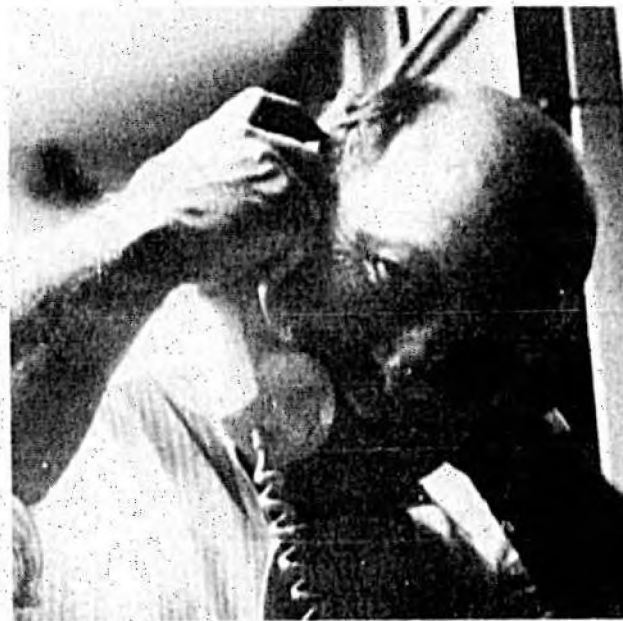

In the non-partisan election, Leffler's support, indicated by the variety of people helping him celebrate, came from persons in all walks of life from working people to professionals.

He said he will work harder than ever to keep the faith of those who voted for him in the election.

Final but unofficial results in Seminole gave the 53-year-old Leffler 10,458 votes to 3,512 for his opponent, Fern Park lawyer, Irving Gussow.

In Brevard, the margin of victory was better than 3-to-1 with 27,355 votes for Leffler to 7,660 for Gussow.

Gussow could not be reached for comment today.

JUDGE KENNETH LEFFLER

Yet to be counted in Brevard County today are some 2,000 absentee ballots.

Leffler's term is six years.

Selph Defeats Lavigne For GOP State House Nod

Carl Selph, Casselberry accountant, won the Republican primary election Tuesday in unofficial returns for the District 34 seat in Florida's House of Representatives.

His margin of victory in the three-county district was 313 votes over Casselberry Councilman Jim Lavigne.

And Brevard County and Christmas voters in Orange County made that decision.

In Seminole County with 25 precincts — the largest number in the district — the two men tied at 1,277 votes each, the first time in Seminole County election such a happening had ever occurred, said Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce.

Mrs. Bruce has held the elections supervisor's office for the past 31 years.

"I have never before seen a tie in a county election," she said today.

The only other time in recent years when a tie election was seen in Seminole was in 1978 when John Zacco and John Yamnitz each received 578 votes for a Casselberry City Council post. Zacco, an incumbent at the time, went on to win.

Voters in only 10 precincts outside Seminole County — nine in Brevard and one in Orange County (the community of Christmas) — cast ballots in contests for the 34th District.

But that was enough. In Christmas with only 37 votes cast, Selph received 22 while Lavigne received 15. In Brevard's nine precincts, however, Selph's vote was 611 to 305 for Lavigne.

Some absentee ballots in Brevard are being counted today.

Selph and his workers celebrated the victory at their campaign headquarters at the old post office building off Triple Drive in Casselberry Tuesday night while Lavigne and his wife, Fern, and their workers gathered at the Lavigne's Camelo home.

Lavigne said an advertisement paid for by Selph in a morning newspaper

Tuesday was misleading and untrue, distorting his position on several issues.

Selph responded he got Lavigne's positions on abortion, contraceptives and sex education from a questionnaire solicited from the candidates by the Florida Catholic Conference and published in the state's Catholic newspaper, the Florida Catholic.

Lavigne, completing his first term on the Casselberry City Council also is undecided whether to seek a new two-year term on the Casselberry Council, he said.

Unless results are changed by the Brevard County absentee votes, Selph will be vying with Winter Springs Mayor Troy Piland, a Democrat, Nov. 2.

The district in addition to the portions of Brevard and Christmas in Orange County, includes Winter Springs, most of Casselberry, and portions of Longwood, Lake Mary, Sanford, Oviedo, Geneva and Chuluota. — DONNA ESTES

Turnout 20%

County Sets Two Records

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County set two records — one good and one bad in Tuesday's primary election.

It was the first county in Florida to call its unofficial results to the Secretary of State George Firestone's Tallahassee office.

And the turnout at 20.2 percent was the worst in the more than 30 years statistics have been kept at the county's election office.

See Election Results

Today On Pages 2,3, 12A

The first precinct to report in with ballots in hand were inspectors from Precinct 20 — Seminole High School — at 7:18

By 7:26 the results of the 356 absentee ballots plus six precincts rolled off the county's computer. And at 8:23 p.m. final results were available from all 72 precincts.

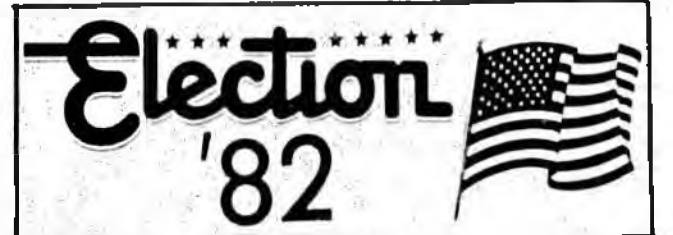

The last precincts to turn in results were three from the Oviedo area. Oviedo had a city election and races for council seats were on the ballots there.

The Oviedo city election registered the highest voter turnout in the county at 32.9 percent.

And for the first time in many years, the Democratic turnout at the primaries exceeded the Republican turnout, slightly.

Some 21.6 percent of the county's 37,003 registered Democrats voted while 20.4 percent of the county's 30,680 registered Republicans voted.

The lowest voter turnout was among voters who are registered non-partisan or other parties. With 6,374 registered in this fashion, only 293 voters or 4.5 percent voted.

Mrs. Bruce said the worst primary turnout in county history previously was seen in February 1967, when the court ordered reapportionment throughout the state.

In that election, the turnout was slightly less. In the second primary in March 1967, the turnout was a "pitiful" 12.2 percent. The general election that year saw a 39.2 percent turnout.

Mrs. Bruce said even though the Carl Selph and Jim Lavigne tied in Seminole in their race for the district 34 seat in the Florida House of Representatives, a tie recount will not be necessary because Seminole is only part of a three-county district.

Carl Selph and his wife, Lilian, celebrate his Tuesday primary election victory over Jim Lavigne for the Republican nomination for the District 34 state House of Representatives seat.

Reagan Anxious To Get On With Mideast Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, anxious to proceed with his Middle East peace initiative, called a meeting today with special U.S. envoy Philip Habib. Habib, in being presented the Medal of Freedom from Reagan Tuesday for negotiating the Palestine Liberation Organization's exodus from Beirut, said he is convinced the peace drive "is going to stay on track."

Habib today was to give Reagan his "personal assessment" of the situation in war-ravaged Lebanon and how the United States should proceed.

Blacks Keep Eye On Klan

ATLANTA (UPI) — Black leaders in Georgia say they will step up their monitoring of Ku Klux Klan activity following the creation last weekend of a Confederation of Klans, joining seven factions of the hooded order.

Georgia NAACP President Robert Flanigan said Tuesday he had directed his organization's 120 chapters to keep a close watch on Klan activity to assess the impact the confederation will have on Klan activity and membership.

"Black folk aren't afraid of the Klan anymore," he said. "On the contrary, the Klan is afraid of the black folk, so their impact is negligible. But we're gonna watch 'em."

Flanigan said all pertinent information would be passed along to the Georgia Bureau of Investigation.

IRS Workers Get Reprieve

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An in-house transfer of funds averted — at least for now — the furlough of 19,000 Internal Revenue Service employees. But a threatening money dispute between the White House and Congress remains unresolved.

Just as nationwide IRS furloughs were to begin at the close of business Tuesday, an agreement was reached with Senate chairmen to allow a bookkeeping switch to meet payrolls despite a lack of funds.

The still precarious situation is the result of President Reagan's Aug. 28 veto of a $14.2 billion supplemental appropriations bill passed by Congress, to keep several agencies funded through Sept. 30, the end of the fiscal year.

Reagan rejected the bill, claiming it contained too much unrequested money for domestic programs. Congressional aides said he also was upset because it cut Pentagon spending.

Turnabout Not Fair Play

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A federal grand jury has indicted a former Internal Revenue Service agent on two counts of willfully failing to file an individual income tax return for 1978 and 1979.

Essie F. Wawrzon, 46, of Colson, a tax return preparer in Letcher County, is a former IRS agent. Tuesday's indictment said Wawrzon received gross income of $30,962 in 1978 and $35,606 in 1979, but did not file a return for either year.

Big GOP Guns Shooting At Graham And Chiles

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida voters set the stage Tuesday for a hot governor's race and bitter U.S. Senate campaign in which Democratic incumbents, Gov. Bob Graham and Sen. Lawton Chiles will face national Republican financing to unseat them.

Both Graham and his GOP challenger, L. A. "Skip" Bafalis, who gave up his seat in Congress at White House urging, easily defeated token opposition in Tuesday's primaries.

Chiles, who won nomination for a third term without opposition, must wait for the Republican runoff Oct. 5 to see whether his opponent will be veteran state Sen. Van Poole of Fort Lauderdale or Palm Beach County State attorney David Bludworth.

Poole, 47, who had the backing of the state's GOP leaders, topped the Republican Senate primary with 42 percent of the vote. Bludworth collected 31 percent to oust Sarasota business consultant George Snyder who finished third with 27 percent.

Reports from Washington have indicated that national Republican strategists plan to pour more than $500,000 each into the races against Graham and Chiles.

Fewer than 25 percent of Florida's 1.49 million Republicans voted and only about 32 percent of the 3.04 million Democrats cast ballots. Heavy rains through populous central Florida in late afternoon, plus a long and confusing ballot helped hold down the turnout, election officials said.

In the only two other statewide races, Comptroller Gerald Lewis beat House Speaker Ralph Haben in a mudslinging contest and Attorney General Jim Smith turned back the token opposition of Fred Goldstein of Lauderdale. The two Democratic Cabinet members thus won reelection because the GOP offered no candidates.

A dozen of 17 congressional races were hotly contested Tuesday, mostly because of the census redistricting that gave Florida an extra four seats for a total of 19.

"It's no secret that the big banks and special interests fought me, but I got my strength from the working people, the little people, the retirees and the people in the condos," Lewis said. "That's where my support has always come from."

Lewis had charged during the campaign that the big banks were bank-rolling Haben's campaign and wanted a comptroller they could control.

"You win with class and you lose with class. We fought a helluva fight," Haben told supporters at his Tallahassee headquarters. "I don't feel bad about losing, but I feel bad for all you people who worked so hard on my campaign."

Neither Lewis nor Smith have opposition in the general election and have thus been reelected.

Only two of the remaining four Cabinet posts are still to be decided. In the general election Nov. 2 Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner faces Republican Barbara Lindsey of Stuart and Secretary of State George Firestone faces state Rep. Jim Smith of Clearwater.

Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington and Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter have no opposition.

Girl Survives Beating; Parents Balk At Surgery

By TENI YARBOROUGH
 Herald Staff Writer

Three hours after a 14-year-old Longwood girl was beaten in the head with a hammer, doctors at Orlando Regional Medical Center got a court order to operate on her after the girl's parents refused to allow blood transfusions needed for surgery because of their religious beliefs.

Katherine Suzanne Greco, 14, of 1685 Glenethel Court, was listed in serious condition today in the Orlando hospital's pediatric intensive care unit, hospital officials said. Officials said Miss Greco was operated on Tuesday night for multiple head injuries at ORMC after being transported from Florida Hospital-Orlando.

"The child was brought into our hospital and was kept stabilized throughout the conversations with her parents," said Jehovah's Witness minister and doctors," said Florida Hospital spokesman Fred Moore. "The parents, because of their religious convictions, did not want their child to be given blood transfusions during surgery."

Seminole County sheriff's deputies, who accompanied the child to the hospital, said a neurosurgeon at Florida Hospital had begun making preparation to obtain synthetic blood which contains only a small portion of whole blood, but family members protested the use of that substance also.

The doctor then told the child's father, Richard Greco, 37, that he would not operate on the girl without their consent to the use of blood because of the threat of a lawsuit. The family declined to give their permission and the doctor contacted Dr. German Montoya at ORMC who agreed to perform the operation under court order and at his hospital, deputies said. The court order was issued by Orange County Judge Michael F. Cymerick who authorized medical personnel to take any necessary measures to treat the child.

"The child's parents signed a release form from our hospital and she was transported to ORMC where Dr. Montoya performed the operation," Moore said.

Deputies discovered the bleeding child after responding to the Greco home at about 6:55 p.m. Tuesday in reference to a disturbance. Deputies said they observed Richard David Greco, 16, lying on the front porch in a state of shock, pointing toward the house and saying, "My sister, my sister."

Deputies entered the house and were met by a neighbor, Michael Weldon Young, 32, of 128 Orange Ridge, Longwood, who directed deputies to the kitchen where the young girl was lying on the floor, bleeding severely from the head. Deputies said a small hammer was lying near the girl and appears to be the weapon used in the incident.

Deputies said they called for help from rescue personnel and then began applying pressure to the wounds to stop the bleeding. The girl was rushed to Florida Hospital-Orlando by ambulance for treatment, deputies said. Deputies added that the girl's parents were not home when they arrived at the scene.

The incident is still under investigation and no arrests have been made, deputies said.

Treatment, But No Cure For Immune-Suppression

MIAMI (UPI) — Medical experts now are able to prolong the lives of people of a puzzling killer disease common among homosexuals and Haitian refugees but know no cure for "immune-suppression syndrome," doctors said.

Most victims of the disease that causes severe diarrhea and a low white blood cell count survive for at least seven months, University of Miami assistant medical professor Margaret Fischl said Tuesday.

A year ago, four-fifths of the people who came down with the disease died within weeks. Today, the same percentage of the victims live seven months or longer, she said.

Researchers still aren't sure how the malady starts or how it is transmitted. But now they are beginning to learn how to treat the victims — mostly men aged 22 to 45 — and they are living longer.

Shuttle Move Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — A break in work over the Labor Day weekend has delayed plans to move the space shuttle Columbia to an assembly hangar for its fifth space voyage, officials said.

Columbia is scheduled to be moved at noon Thursday from a hangar to the towering Vehicle Assembly Building next door, where it will be readied for its Nov. 11 blastoff.

Gunmen Free Hostages; Vow To Blow Up Embassy

SWITZERLAND (UPI) — Gunmen holed up in the Polish Embassy released four hostages early today but still held five people, including the Polish military attaché, and threatened to blow up the building unless Warsaw meets their demands.

However, the gunmen, who seized the building Monday, extended by 48 hours until Friday morning their deadline for Polish authorities to lift martial law.

Ulrich Habacher, spokesman for the 10-member Swiss task force, said the government had made no decision yet on a Warsaw request to send in a Polish team to resolve the crisis. It was not absolutely clear whether the task force suggested by Poland would consist of negotiators or commandos.

Arabs, Jews Talk Peace

United Press International

Arab and Israeli leaders debated long-range Middle East peace plans in separate sessions thousands of miles apart today amid "high tension" in Lebanon following a second clash between Syrian and Israeli forces.

In a 60-minute speech often interrupted by catcalls, Defense Minister Ariel Sharon declared Israel's invasion of Lebanon enabled the Jewish state to reject President Reagan's peace initiative "without terrorist pressure."

Fifteen Arab heads of state and Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat were gathered in Fei, Morocco, on the third and final day of a major summit to develop a unified stand on the Palestinian issue.

Israel accused Syrian troops of firing bazooka shells at its forces in the area around Lake Qaroun in the Bekaa Valley of eastern Lebanon Tuesday. It said the fire was returned but no casualties were reported.

County Facing $2 Million Budget Shortfall

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

More deputies, a new fire station and additional programs for the Seminole County health department could be jeopardized by a shortfall in money left over from the 1981-82 budget.

About $6.6 million was expected to be carried over from this year's budget, but the actual amount carried over will be closer to $4.7 million. County Budget Director Eleanor Anderson has recommended taking $1.5 million from the county's health department trust fund to make up for the shortfall plus making adjustments to various departments' reserve funds.

But commissioners Barbara Christensen and Robert G. "Bud" Feather said Tuesday they want to reexamine some budget decisions made in June rather than transfer the funds.

Those decisions primarily addressed manpower needs in the sheriff's department, new facilities for the county's fire department, and other needs for the Department of Health and Human Services. Those areas have been identified as the prime needs in Seminole by county planners.

Mrs. Christensen objected to the proposal to take money from the health department trust fund because those funds have been earmarked for construction of a new health department office in the Sanford area.

Feather agreed. "We need to build another building like this one (the courthouse) on this site or a block away," he said, adding that other things can wait, such as a new fire station planned for Sabal Point which will cost the county $301,000.

Commission chairman Robert Sturm disagreed, saying that the station is an integral part of the county's planning for fire protection.

"By pushing back program changes, it costs twice as much to do them when we ultimately do them," Sturm said. "That's false economy."

Sturm said at a budget hearing Tuesday night the county was severely limited in what it could fund because of new state laws which went into effect this year.

An increase in the state's homestead exemption, the additional one-cent state sales tax and provisions for a rollback of county tax rates put monetary limitations on the county, County Administrator Roger Neiswender said.

Several county residents appeared at the hearing to complain that their tax bills had increased even though their tax rate had declined.

Richard Gladstone told commissioners the $2.27 million in program "enhancements" could be used to reduce taxes.

"I think maybe you should sharpen your pencil a little and cut taxes," he said.

Sturm said the county's population is growing by about 1,000 people each month. "We can't provide essential services on last year's budget," he said.

Neiswender said inflation has taken a toll on the county's budget but added that stricter standards have been imposed on the county by state and federal governments.

He said the county had sovereign immunity until five years ago when the law severely restricted the number and type of lawsuits that could be filed against a governmental body.

Since then, however, the county's insurance premiums have quadrupled, he said. But failure to pay the higher costs would result in paying, "it out many times over, in claims."

Manpower at the jail has been increased as well, Neiswender said. "Five years ago, we had 12 people working at the jail. We have to have that many people working in the kitchen now."

It's Lober Vs. Jackson

Attorneys Jere Lober and Edward M. Jackson of Cocoa will continue their contest in the Nov. 2 general election for the Group 3 circuit judgeship for Seminole and Brevard counties.

The victory for Lober, the front-runner in a four-man primary contest, was heavily dependent on the Brevard County voters.

Seminole County's favorite was Jackson, who will vie with Lober in the general election for the seat.

The other two men in the contest were Franklin Kelley, former public defender in the circuit, and Eugene "Gene" Collier, a civil and criminal lawyer.

Lober, 42, has practiced law in Brevard County since 1966 while Jackson, 53, a life-long resident of Florida, has practiced law there since 1959.

The winner of this circuit judgeship usually sits in Brevard County, only coming to the circuit court at Sanford for special trials.

Seminole Looking For Space For Probation, Parole Office

Seminole County commissioners hope to have a new home for the county probation and parole office by next Tuesday.

Commissioners asked its space committee to examine available office space in Sanford and bring a lease to Tuesday's commission meeting.

The probation unit is being moved as a solution to the overcrowding at the public defender's office in the old Masonic building on Park Avenue. The probation office will be moved from its current office in the courthouse annex and the public defender's office will take over that space.

The public defender's office has been plagued with problems for months. Several staffers have been forced to share offices. Two attorneys work out of each office and four secretaries share another office.

Commission Chairman Robert Sturm said Tuesday, "the situation for the public defender's office is just about untenable."

Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather said he took a tour of the existing facilities and feels the space problem is "an emergency situation."

And the situation is getting worse. The public defender's office is funded by the state and the number of attorneys is mandated by the county's population. Because of Seminole County's continued growth, the office staff will continue to expand.

Two more attorneys will join the staff later this year, Gene Stevanus, from the public defender's office said, adding that the expansion into new offices should "give us breathing room for three or four months."

John Percy, Director of Public Services and Development said he has visited several of the buildings and will tour others with probation office staff today.

Feather said the committee should have been looking at office space for the past several months. "We haven't made the headway we should have," he said.

Pellarin Wins; Women 'Rule' Oviedo

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Political newcomer Pamela Pellarin, 37, defeated Raymond R. Gates, 23-year-old University of Central Florida student, by garnering 56.5 percent of the votes in the only contested race in Tuesday's Oviedo City Council election.

A homemaker, Mrs. Pellarin received 237 votes to Gates' 180 to win the Group 1 seat left vacant by the resignation of Councilman Ransford Pyle, who had served one year of his two-year term. The UCF instructor resigned effective Oct. 1 as he will be moving out of town.

"I'm happy I won," said the victorious candidate, "and look forward to doing a good job for Oviedo. I have a real interest in the city's progress in the area of recreation and want to see continued quality growth in Oviedo."

Mrs. Pellarin lives at 901 Lake Charm Drive with her husband, Robert, a Winter Park dentist, their daughter, Sunny, a student at Lawton Elementary School and son, R.D., a student at Jackson Heights Middle School. She has been on the board of the Oviedo Little League, and the Lawton Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association and has been active in the Oviedo Woman's Club and the Orange County Dental Auxiliary.

Mrs. Pellarin together with Jane S. Dees, a homemaker who ran unopposed for the Group 3 seat now held by David Brashears, join City Councilwoman Jan Frensch to form a female majority on the council.

Also running unopposed were Gary H. Gotwalt, a retired Navy man working on his master's degree at UCF, and Ralph Neely, the incumbent Group 5 councilman and a bookkeeper for Nelson and Co., Oviedo. Gotwalt was elected to the Group 4 seat held by Steve West a teacher at Valencia Community College, who did not seek re-election.

Of the 1,337 registered voters in the city 440 turned out to vote, or 32.9 percent.

Asbestos Free-For-All

Lawsuits filed on behalf of men and women made ill from working with asbestos have overwhelmed the Manville Corp.

The company, which has been one of the major producers of asbestos, has taken refuge in bankruptcy proceedings.

More to the point, the tragic legacy of the once-casual use of asbestos in industry and construction appears to be overwhelming the machinery for settling claims for occupational injury or disease.

So far some 30,000 claims have been filed against 260 companies which presumably are liable for the illness of asbestos workers.

A study has indicated that more than 50,000 claims eventually may be filed as exposure to asbestos, often many years in the past, takes its toll in lung cancer and other pulmonary disease.

Lawyers representing some of these claimants have complained that Manville Corp. is abusing the bankruptcy laws by its Chapter 11 filing, which effectively freezes litigation against the company.

That may or may not be true, but a temporary hold on the adjudication of asbestos claims might be in order until some difficult questions are answered in court or by legislative bodies. For example:

— Asbestos companies and insurance carriers are quarreling among themselves over liability issues. Manville Corp., for one, has filed a $5 billion suit against a group of insurance carriers, claiming that the insurers are dodging an obligation to pay off claims.

— A question of U.S. government responsibility has been raised, since many ailing workers were exposed to asbestos while building ships for the government during World War II.

— A more equitable settlement of claims might be achieved through an industry-supported administrative process rather than lawsuits and jury trials which run up the cost of litigation.

Settlements can vary widely for the same degree of disability, and awards to workers often are eaten up by attorney fees.

— A Senate Judiciary subcommittee is studying revisions in the bankruptcy laws that might affect the right of companies to use them as a shield against asbestos claims. Sen. Robert Dole, chairman of the subcommittee, says the Manville maneuver was "dubious and unusual at best."

The use of asbestos is now heavily regulated by state and federal law. Many of the claims now coming into court stem from an era when neither employers nor workers had any reason to fear that inhaling asbestos fibers could produce disabling disease or death, although some lawsuits charge that asbestos companies deliberately concealed evidence of the potential health effects of the product.

Neither justice nor the injured worker is being served by this legal free-for-all.

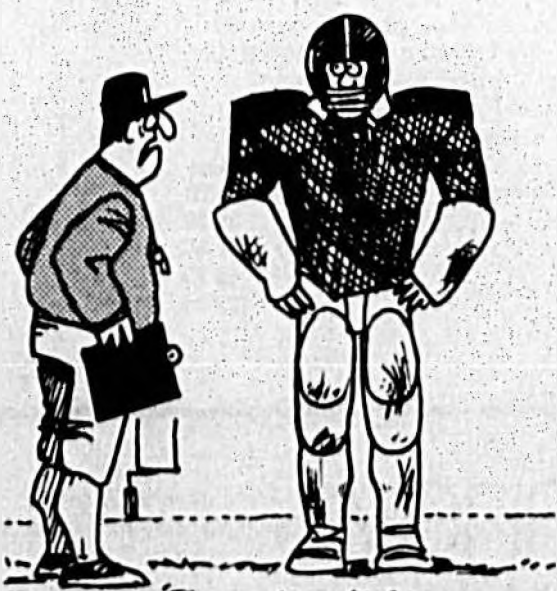

Manufacturers are supposed to be held accountable for the safety of processes and products, and victims of occupational hazards deserve fair and prompt compensation for injury.

The system is not measuring up to the challenge posed by the blizzard of asbestos claims.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I heard a rumor that you think we're out here to build character and have fun!"

If you are retired and looking for something useful to do to enrich your life and help the community the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) may be your answer.

RSVP is looking for a few good men (and women). Seminole County senior citizens interested in learning about the exciting volunteer assignments available are invited to attend one of two scheduled coffees.

Men and women 60 years of age or older are invited to attend the one most convenient to them. The first will be Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, 400 E. First St., Sanford. On Friday, there will be a second coffee at 10:30 a.m. in the community room of Burdines at the Altamonte Mall.

RSVP Director Joan Madison will explain the benefits of participation in the program, accompanied by a slide presentation. A brief movie on senior volunteers will also be shown. For directions or additional information, call the RSVP office at 834-6550.

Luis Jones, president of the local chapter of Action for Former Military Wives, is now president of the national organization. She is pleased with the victory won recently by her organization and other groups of ex-military wives in getting Congress to pass legislation overturning the U.S. Supreme Court decision which had prohibited divorced wives from sharing in the former husband's military pensions.

The law part of a military authorization bill permits divorced wives to ask the Defense Department to pay them their court-ordered share of pension payments directly, provided that they were married at least 10 years while their husbands were on active duty, thereby guaranteeing prompt and certain payments. Presently, many retired military men move out of state or leave the country to avoid paying support payments to the ex-wife or children. The law also provides certain divorced spouses medical benefits and military base privileges if the retired spouse served 20 years on active duty.

"This is a big push forward," said Ms. Jones, "but it only applies to spouses divorced after June of this year. It applies only to those states which have community property laws and protects only those arrangements that are ordered by the courts as part of the divorce settlement."

"We'll go back again next year," she added, "for the betterment and more equal treatment for women already divorced to which they are entitled."

JEFFREY HART South African Novelty

South Africa is attempting something new in politics, and new in political theory. It is very interesting, and it may very well fail.

South Africa could conceivably collapse into civil warfare, or become the theater of a guerrilla insurgency. The moon of its future may be blood-colored, and will be if the Soviet Union has any say in the matter.

Nevertheless, under Prime Minister Pieter Willem Botha, this unusual state is attempting a genuine constitutional novelty.

The newly proposed constitutional arrangements include, for example, a tri-cameral legislature, with white, Asians and Coloreds (people of mixed races) sitting and voting in separate chambers. The proposed system is complex. The three separate houses of parliament would have jurisdiction over matters concerning the three different racial groups, and one can imagine the jurisdictional and procedural battles that could arise in the actual operation of the system.

The large black population is not, for the time being, included in the proposed system, and has political representation only in the emerging system of tribal "homelands." Clearly, if the system is to have any chance at all of creating a stable equilibrium, the black majority of the country will have to be given political representation.

But the proposed model certainly could accommodate black representation, perhaps through a fourth parliamentary chamber.

What South Africa is attempting to create is really a multi-tribal society, not an integrated society. The American ideal has always been one of ethnic integration, and it may be that we temperamentally resist the multi-tribal idea. But the South Africans are at least confronting the realities of their society and, however tardily, trying to accommodate them by creating new political forms.

I had an opportunity to discuss these matters recently with a South African representative in the United States, and he made the interesting point that the world itself is a multi-tribal society, and that the South African experiment might therefore have global application at some distant date in the future. It is a point well taken. It is unlikely that our multi-tribal world will ever be "integrated" on the model of the American ideal, and the South African multi-cameral legislative experiment might well prove to be the more applicable global model.

Of course the looming issue for South Africa remains its black majority. The creation of tribal "homelands" in their present and projected form does not seem particularly promising. Any such "homelands" would have to be much more attractive economically than anything that we see there today; and the "homelands" would certainly have to possess their own deep-water port — the eastern port of Durban, for example. No doubt it is not yet politically possible to move toward so radical — and expensive — a proposal, yet it surely is implicit in the whole notion of a "multi-tribal society."

The South African official made the point that, broadly speaking, there are two black populations in South Africa, urban and rural. The blacks who have moved to the cities have acquired a considerable degree of literacy and political sophistication, while those remaining on the land are relatively primitive and tribal. He insisted that accommodating these realities was a complex matter, and no doubt it is.

Congress' Campaign Funds Misused

WASHINGTON — Congress returns to Washington today from its extended Labor Day recess. Members have been back in their home districts, and presumably they've been getting some heat on the charges of moral turpitude, drug abuse and self-legislated tax breaks that have surfaced in recent months.

It's all been enough to make an incumbent cringe. The American voter can be forgiven if he or she wonders just what our senators and representatives have been doing to justify the compensation that puts them in the top 1 percent of American wage earners.

Despite this generous pay scale, there's a widespread suspicion that members of Congress use campaign contributions for expenses that should properly be paid for out of their own pockets.

House Ethics Committee rules prohibit the use of campaign funds to pay for official expenses — which are supposedly covered adequately already — or for personal expenses that should be paid for personally. Unfortunately, it's left up to the individual member's judgment to decide what's official

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Nader Takes One

NEW YORK (NEA) — One of life's little mysteries to me has long been the continued popularity in certain quarters of Ralph Nader. After bursting onto the national scene in the mid-1960s as a result of General Motors' foolish decision to play Goliath briefly to his David, Nader has parlayed the reputation he thereby acquired as a giant-killer into a career as a national nuisance.

In pure theory there is nothing wrong with a gadfly — not even one who concentrates as relentlessly as Nader does on cultivating a politically exploitable hatred of one particular segment of the community: business. But in ancient Rome such gadflies (called "tribunes of the people") had to be elected; and even today individuals chosen for such watch-dog status — now usually called "ombudsmen" — are ordinarily selected for their special qualities of fairness, experience and judgment.

But nobody ever elected Ralph Nader to anything, and as for fairness, experience and judgment, he wouldn't know any one of the three if it walked in and nested in his nose.

He trained as a lawyer but left his chosen profession early to assume his mantle as self-appointed spokesman for the American people. In that capacity, his central message has at least the virtue of simplicity: The only good corporation is a dead corporation. Every tin-horned front he has ever created — every phony "center," every pre-judged "project," every biased "research group" — and every book he has written is one long, tedious, tendentious assault on the alleged evil of American business. Few men have ever divided this country more bitterly, more diligently or with less cause.

That is why I rejoice to report that, in one important respect, this gold-plated faker has just had his ears pinned back by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit. I hope the details may please you as much as they pleased me.

As you might expect, the compost in which Nader thrives best is America's colleges. There, even at this late date, the winding of his horn can bring out large crowds of clods who wouldn't bother to listen to Lincoln read the Gettysburg Address. Nader has long recognized and duly tapped the financial potential of this undergraduate thirst for his particular brand of snake oil; but some years ago, in the interests of efficiency, he began creating Public Interest Research Groups (PIRGs for short) all around the country.

Suitably stupefied student governments and college administrations in 25 states have been encouraged to collect fees — in many cases mandatory — from every student to be passed along to the appropriate PIRG and used for whatever causes Nader and his cronies chose to support. Nader, in short, had found a way to muscle cash out of potentially every college student in America without going to the trouble of collecting it individually, let alone persuading anyone to contribute it.

Up rose Joseph Galda, a student at the Camden, N.J., campus of Rutgers State University, where "fees" payable to New Jersey PIRG are mandatory. Galda, whose opinion of Nader is almost as low as mine, enlisted the support of Philadelphia's Mid-Atlantic Foundation, a public-interest legal group of conservative bent, and bawled NJPIRG into federal court on the ground that its money-raising technique was unconstitutional. NJPIRG, sensing its peril, hastily offered to refund the "contribution" of any student who objected to the mandatory exaction, and it is a commentary on the quality of the federal bench in southern New Jersey that Judge Stanley S. Brotman accepted this sneaky cop-out and dismissed Galda's complaint.

Not so the U.S. Court of Appeals, however, which on Aug. 4 reversed Judge Brotman and sent the case right back to him for trial. In the words of the Court — and they ought to be inlaid in gold on the rear wall of Brotman's courtroom where he can read them without his glasses — "a fee used to finance political activity cannot be exacted even temporarily from those unwilling to pay."

There is no end to the presumption and persistence of people like Ralph Nader. He thought he had invented a sheep-shearing machine that would finance his political operations till Kingdom Come. But thanks to a brave youngster in New Jersey, a handful of principled conservative lawyers and a federal appeals court that actually reads the Constitution every now and then, the odds are good that Ralph Righteous has lost a big one.

ROBERT WALTERS Rescuing Social Security

WASHINGTON (NEA) — How long must retired workers collect Social Security benefits before they recover the original contributions made to Social Security system in the form of payroll deductions while they were employed?

The answer is not five, 10 or more years, as many people believe. For the average wage earner with a non-working spouse, the payback period is a surprisingly short 11 months.

Recovering accrued interest as well as the original contribution requires slightly more than two years, while recouping employer and employee contributions and interest takes less than 4 and a half years.

Those statistics vividly illustrate two crucial facts about the Social Security system:

— One of the principal reasons the system is financially shaky is the inherent generosity of the formula that provides most individuals with benefits far in excess of their contributions.

— Carefully crafted revisions of that formula to restore fiscal integrity to the system would hardly cheat recipients by depriving them of benefits to which they are entitled by virtue of their earlier contributions.

The Social Security system today represents a "pending calamity," says Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee's Social Security subcommittee and probably Congress' leading expert on the subject.

Pickle, however, has been politically bound and gagged by House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., and other fellow Democrats who place a higher premium on exploiting President Reagan's inept handling of the issue than on stabilizing the retirement system.

Virtually every time Reagan or a Republican candidate for office suggests the need for modifications in the system, the Democrats — in a demagogic approach that borders on irresponsibility — seek to embarrass the GOP by alleging that it is insensitive to the needs of the nation's elderly citizens.

The president, however, is hardly credible on the issue because he has acquired a well-deserved reputation for insensitivity to most problems faced by the country's low-and-middle-income citizens.

To delay full-scale debate on the future of Social Security until after this year's elections have been held, political leaders in both major parties have turned to a time-honored device — referral to a committee.

Thus, the 15-member National Commission on Social Security Reform is preparing yet another report on the issue, which must be submitted to the president by the end of this year. "We do not need another task force," says Pickle. "We know what the problems are, and we've known them for a long time."

One of the most severe problems is the inordinately generous formula for indexing Social Security benefits to the cost of living. During the past three years, for example, wages increased an average of 30 percent while Social Security benefits went up 40 percent.

The cost-of-living increase for those retirement benefits last year totaled 11.2 percent, but cost-of-living escalator clauses included in collective-bargaining agreements between private employers and unions called for far more modest wage increases of 2.8 percent.

— When Rep. Robert Badham, R-Calif., moved his Orange County district office last year, the staff laid out $363 in campaign funds for new wallpaper on the old place "to make the landlord happy," as a spokesman explained.

— Rep. Tom Bevill, D-Ala., spent $489 of his supporters' campaign contributions on framing and matting photographs that hang in his Capitol Hill office. A spokesman said the expenditures were "perfectly legal" under FEC rules, and explained that the House ethics rules are "guidelines to go by — not law."

— Rep. Fernand St. Germain, D-R.I., spent $580 of campaign funds for a parking space near his district office. One of the congressman's aides said the parking space was "a good football kick away" from both the district office and the campaign headquarters, and said that a St. Germain employee "may slip in there, but nobody uses it regularly." What's it for, then?

— Every Christmas, Rep. George O'Brien, R-Ill., throws a party for his Washington

staff. The 1980 shindig cost $1,151.63 — and came out of campaign funds. "I don't regard it as an official expense," he said, explaining that his staff, "spiritually, at least, contributes to my campaign."

— In 1981, Rep. Ken Holland, D-S.C., a member of the Ethics Committee, spent $1,010 in campaign funds for a Betamax video recorder and tapes. "It's a damn effective political tool," he explained. "I don't go out and film the latest episode of 'Dallas.'" The machine is being used to tape lectures, floor debates and speeches for donation to two universities that are collecting Holland's congressional papers.

— Rep. Gillis Long, D-La., dipped into campaign funds for $314 last year to pay the House cabinetmaker to replace a glass partition in Long's Washington office. A spokesman, apprised of the Ethics Committee regulations, said, "I see your point. You might be right there." Long also spent $1,192 in campaign funds last year for Coca-Cola, which was consumed by his staff and visitors to his office.

New Hope Found For Victims Of Leukemia

BOSTON (UPI) — A bonemarrow transplant combined with therapies never used before produced a four-year remission in a man suffering from a rare form of cancer believed to be incurable, medical researchers reported today.

The 47-year-old man suffered hairy-cell leukemia, a disease which strikes only 2 percent, or about 430, of all leukemia victims annually. The cells, which gradually replace blood cell-producing bone marrow, appear hairy.

The doses of chemotherapy and radiation were so high they normally would have inactivated the man's bone marrow, but it was replaced with a marrow transplant from his identical twin brother, the report from the University of Washington said.

"After such therapy the patient rapidly recovered normal marrow function with no evidence of infiltrating hairy cells; he is still in remission four years after transplantation," the report in the New England Journal of Medicine said.

"Thus, high-dose chemoradiotherapy followed by bone-marrow transplantation is an effective and potentially curative therapy for hairy-cell leukemia."

The researchers added, however, "It is still too early to assume he has been cured, since hairy cells proliferate slowly and there is no way to detect small amounts of residual tumor."

The disease is incurable and is believed usually to cause death, although slowly. Its victims sometimes live 10 years or more. Other leukemias progress much more quickly, many times bringing death in a matter of months.

Dr. Martin A. Cheever, who headed the study, agreed it's probably rare for such a leukemia victim to have an identical twin. But he said there's been so much advance in bone-marrow transplant technique a twin might not be needed.

Previously, such chemotherapy was not so concentrated because it would harm the patient and was considered unsuitable because patients live so long without it and because milder treatments sometimes hold off the disease.

When more aggressive treatment has been required, the patient's spleen was usually removed. The spleen destroys blood cells; by removing it, the patient's blood-cell count, lowered by the disease, would rise again.

However, victims usually die of infections that seem to accompany the disease. The University of Washington treatment seemed to eliminate the threat of such infections while wiping out leukemia cells.

Dr. David W. Golde of the UCLA School of Medicine noted in an accompanying editorial some hairy-cell leukemia patients require no therapy. Golde said relatively non-toxic therapies also have given good results.

In bone-marrow transplants, marrow — which resembles thick, dark blood — is extracted by needle from the donor's bones and injected into the patient's bloodstream, where it finds its way into the heart of the bone.

Leukemia strikes about 21,500 people a year and kills 15,000, the American Cancer Society said.

FPL will actually pay you to conserve electricity four ways:

Our Cooling & Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an older, inefficient air conditioning system or heat pump replaced with a qualifying high efficiency system.

Our Ceiling Insulation Incentive. FPL will pay up to $300 towards the cost of having ceiling insulation installed.

Our Water Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an inefficient water heater modified or replaced with a solar water heater, water heating heat pump or heat recovery system.

Our Solar Film Incentive. FPL will pay up to $150 towards the cost of having solar-reflective film installed.

To qualify for the last three incentives, work must first be recommended by an FPL Home Energy Audit.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise incentives? Yes.

These incentives are less costly than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient homes. Every 600 kilowatt-hours of electricity not used is a barrel of oil no one has to pay for. This also helps us postpone the building of expensive power plants. The less oil we use, and the less new building we have to do, the more we can help hold the line on everyone's electric bill.

The Sanford Police Department has reported the following traffic accidents:

- Howard Eugene Werner, 54, of 710 S. Park Ave., Orange City, charged with careless driving after his 1978 Datsun left the roadway at 1510 Mellonville Ave., at about 9:33 p.m. Sunday and crashed into a tree, Werner was treated for injuries and released from the Central Florida Regional Hospital in fair condition. About $3,000 damage was caused to Werner's vehicle, police said.

—William Allen Ward Sr., 82, of Oviedo, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way following an accident involving his 1970 Chevrolet and a 1977 Pontiac driven by Donald Robinson, 32, of Winter Park, at 4:03 p.m. Sunday. Robinson was charged with not carrying or exhibiting a driver's license on demand, police said.

Police said Ward's vehicle incurred about $1,000 damage in the crash along U.S. Highway 17-92 near the Zayre department store and about $1,500 damage was caused to Robinson's car.

—Kevin Telks, 23, of 1403 W. 16th St., Sanford, was charged with careless driving following an accident at 8:20 p.m. Sunday at 16th St. and Olive Ave. which also involved Liza Irving, 18, of 1515 W. 17th St., Sanford.

Police said about $30 damage was caused to Telks' 1981 Sachs moped while $100 damage was caused to Miss Irving's 1982 Chevrolet. No injuries were reported.

—Anita Levy, 23, of 321 Hidden Lake Drive, Casselberry, was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way following a two-car accident at U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Street at 5:20 p.m. Saturday.

Ms. Levy's 1982 Renault reportedly collided with a 1964 Ford driven by Gretta Mae Heis, 23, of 706 Laurel Ave., Sanford. About $1,000 damage was caused to Ms. Levy's car while $500 damage was incurred by Ms. Heis' vehicle. No injuries were reported.

—Rose Jacobson, 68, of 218 E. First St., Sanford, was charged with violation of the right-of-way at 8:09 p.m. Friday following a two-car accident at 25th St. and U.S. Highway 17-92 involving a car driven by Linda R. Bowling, 36, of 530 Nolan Road, Sanford.

Both women were treated for injuries at the scene. About $1,600 damage was caused to Ms. Jacobson's 1978 Cadillac while $1,600 damage was caused to Ms. Bowling's 1970 Mercury.

—Brian Jay Berk, of Lake Mary, was treated for cuts and bruises at the Central Florida Regional Hospital and released after he lost control of his 1975 motorcycle along Larkwood Drive and State Road 46A at about 6 p.m. Thursday.

Police said no charges were filed against Berk in the accident, adding that about $500 damage was done to the motorcycle.

Florida Union Organizers Singing The Blues

United Press International

Although the recession has resulted in the slowest recruiting year ever for union organizers in Florida, they still think the long-range future for the labor movement in the sunshine state is bright.

"It's a matter of time before Florida is the fourth most populous state in the country and labor can't afford to ignore that any more than business can," says Danny Miller, president of the Florida AFL-CIO.

"The big international unions are beginning to recognize the potential for organizing workers in the service and retail industries," Miller said.

In the meantime, says William Tegue, president of the Florida-Georgia Conference of Teamsters, his and other unions "will continue to go where our help is requested."

"We're not targeting any industries; we just keep educating people and go where we're asked. In the long run, that will pay off."

But the state's youthful labor movement is having labor pains in 1982, a year when unemployment is skyrocketing and fear is the rule among Florida's 3.6 million workers.

"Usually, during a recession, employees are afraid to speak out, afraid of losing their jobs," says Harold Boire, chief administrator of the National Labor Relations Board's Tampa office. The agency monitors unionizing efforts in private industry.

"You can see it," he said. "Our union certification elections have been cut in half."

Examples of troubled times are everywhere in the state. In Miami, clerical workers at Eastern Airlines who are openly concerned about working conditions and salary givebacks still rejected a call for unionization.

In Tallahassee, Florida's largest public employees union won the right to represent 120,000 state, county and municipal workers, but has so far only signed up 23,000 members who pay dues.

During the late 1960s and early 1970s, Florida unions petitioned the NLRB for an average of 211 certification elections a year. They won the right to represent workers in half those contests.

In more recent years, labor leaders have been both more selective in organizing efforts and less successful. Last year, unions in the state sought collective-bargaining rights in 184 certification elections. They lost in two out of three contests.

This year hasn't been any better, says Andy Banks, assistant director of Florida International University's Center for Labor Research. In fact, it is projected that by the end of the year, less than 100 certification elections will have been held in Florida.

"There's no doubt it's been a tough year for organizing," Banks said. "Unemployment is running high and the knowledge that employers can replace labor easily and cheaply has had a chilling effect on union activity."

Union spokespeople say that the recession is hurting organizing efforts — but it isn't the only factor. Other factors cited include:

- The proliferation of legal consultants who advise employers how to thwart unionization efforts.
- Florida's right-to-work law, which forbids compulsory union membership.
- An image problem, aggravated by the air traffic controllers' unpopular strike last year.
- Exploitation of illegal immigrants who turn away from unions because they fear deportation.
- The southern worker's traditional aversion to unions.

Lead Levels High In Children's Blood

BOSTON (UPI) — More pre-school children have health-threatening levels of lead in their blood than previously thought, with black youngsters at a far greater risk than others, a national survey showed today.

While blood lead levels were higher among blacks than whites of all ages, the study in the New England Journal of Medicine found 18.6 percent of black, inner-city and low-income children with concentrations six times greater than their white counterparts.

The four-year study of nearly 28,000 Americans provides the first information on blood lead levels in the nation's population, doctors said.

"These new findings come as an agonizing confirmation of the fears of many concerned with the health impact of continued lead pollution," said an accompanying Journal editorial, noting that 600,000 tons of lead are added annually to the environment.

While acknowledging most children in the study were not suffering from lead poisoning, the editorial said there was a danger the high levels could disturb the metabolism of vitamin D and cause psychological and behavioral disorders.

"How could a nation with such remarkable achievements in preventive medicine allow this preventable condition to afflict 4 percent of its preschool children — or worse, 18.6 percent of its poor black children?" it asked.

The National Health and Nutrition Examination survey showed 4 percent of children 6 months through 5 years old have levels exceeding the accepted limit.

Overall, it said 12.2 percent of blacks compared with 2 percent of whites had blood lead levels that could threaten physical or mental health.

"Blood lead levels were consistently higher among blacks than among whites," the report said, with the "difference found in children and adults, in rural residents and urban dwellers, and in families with low, moderate, and high incomes."

However, concentrations increased as family income decreased among both blacks and whites.

Lead levels in young children also increased with the degree of urbanization.

Cindy Stephens, a Girl Scout Cadet, gives a carnation to Josephine Donaghy at Lakeview Nursing Home in recognition of the upcoming Grandparents' Day on Sept. 12.

Grandparents' Day To Be Sunday

There are 47 million grandparents in America. And one day — Sunday — is the date set aside for Grandparents' Day.

Collins Florist in Sanford reports after only four years of existence, Grandparents' Day is becoming more popular. Shop owner Jacky Bunting said Grandparents' Day is fast becoming one of the nation's most popular holidays and most popular floral gift-giving days. She said Collins Florist, 2682 Fairway Plaza, expects a large amount of floral orders this week in preparation for Sunday's recognition of grandparents.

Several guests recently visited Lakeview Nursing Home in Sanford to honor residents with flowers for Grandparents' Day.

The flowers were donated by Collins Florist and were distributed by Girl Scouts Cindy Stephens, Tracy Owen and Tracey Farrelly of Cadette Troop 1; Gina LaPeters and Susan Flake from a Sanford area Senior Troop. Ruth Leggere, a service unit coordinator for Sanford, also helped.

Operating Room Gowns, Drapes May Be Hazardous

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some surgical gowns and patient drapes may allow bacteria to get through under some conditions, according to a report by the past chairman of the American College of Surgeons Committee on Operating Room Environment.

The problem, said Dr. Harold Laufman, has to do with "the risk of moist bacterial strike-through." That is, bacteria getting through the sterile gowns and drapes and possibly infecting the patient.

"With the advent of an increasing number of lengthy ... operations in which drapes and gowns become wet with blood or fluids, the risk of moist bacterial strike-through has become greater than it had been prior to the widespread use of these operations," said Laufman, director emeritus, Institute for Surgical Studies, Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center in New York.

"Ironically, lengthy wet operations are often ... the ones most likely to be performed on relatively poor-risk patients whose lowered resistance renders them the most vulnerable to developing wound infection.

"This is the patient in whom large foreign bodies are likely to be implanted — joint replacements, cardiac valves, and vascular prostheses."

Laufman said during these long operations material used for drapes and gowns is more likely to be stressed by stretching, shearing, and pressure than during less physically demanding procedures.

"These needs exist regardless of whether the material is reusable or disposable," he said.

"Therefore the prime performance characteristic sought for in surgical gowns and drapes for today's extensive ... operations is impermeability under the conditions of use."

Laufman said performance standards are not yet available regarding the impermeability of surgical materials to moist bacterial strike-through.

"As a result, surgeons must rely on promotional claims of manufacturers, not all of which are accurate."

Laufman wants a warning printed on all 140-thread cotton and unreinforced non-woven materials being sold for surgical use.

"Every gown and drape made of these materials should be imprinted with: WARNING: This material is not impermeable to bacterial strike-through, especially when wet."

Laufman said gowns and drapes made of more tightly woven and specially treated material are more resistant to strike-through.

"Every gown and drape of tightly woven, Quarrel-treated material should be imprinted with an indelible grid for recording the number of uses, or the number of wash and sterilizing cycles should be recorded in some way.

"The gown or drape can then be relegated to nonsurgical or less exacting use after it has been recycled 75 times and is no longer dependably impermeable to moist bacterial strike-through during lengthy wet operations."

Surgeons, hospital administrators and nurses were urged to become better informed about the safety, efficacy and economy of non-woven disposables versus woven reusables.

"The issue of surgical barrier materials is not one of reusable woven versus disposable nonwoven materials," Laufman said.

"Instead, it is one of impermeable versus permeable materials, whether reusable or disposable, under conditions of use."

Jazz Looks To Firms

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Jazz impresario George Wein says arts organizations stung by federal financial cutbacks may find new bucks waiting in corporate board rooms.

Full sponsorship by a major tobacco company (Brown & Williamson's Kool cigarettes division) has allowed Wein to expand his Kool Jazz Festival series to 20 U.S. cities this summer, including this weekend's (Aug. 21-22) Newport event.

Wein, whose festival promotions began with the first Newport Jazz Festival in 1954, says without the firm's estimated $125 million in jazz-oriented advertising, festival promotion and financial support, he would not be expanding the number of events staged around the world.

"The cost of jazz festivals is so high and the risks are so great, I'd retire," he said in a recent interview.

"You can't fight. Opera can't make it at the gate. We can't make it at the gate without a cash involvement. Even in Europe, the city of Nice contributes a lot to our event."

He says there is no way ticket sales can cover the cost of site rental, talent a transportation for major artists playing to an average of 3,000 seats per day.

Still Faces Lawsuit From Girl's Parents

Man, 66, Pleads No Contest To Molesting Child, 10

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A Winter Park man has pleaded no contest to a charge that he committed a lewd and lascivious act on a 10-year-old south Seminole County girl. He is expected to be sentenced Nov. 2.

Richard Roland Rodgers, 66, of 3470 Arnel Drive, could face up to 15 years in prison on the charge. Rodgers, who was arrested July 6, entered his plea of no contest before Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor Tuesday.

"By entering a plea of no contest, Rodgers could face a prison term for the crime, but he could avoid additional problems with a civil suit filed against him by the child's parents," prosecutor Steve Brady said. "If he had pleaded guilty to the charge, he would almost automatically lose the civil suit and have to pay the damages sought."

The parents, whose names are not released in order to protect the molested child's identity, filed suit in Seminole Circuit court last month on behalf of their daughter who suffers with cerebral palsy.

The lawsuit claims that as a result of the sexual assault, their daughter now suffers from nervousness, loss of sleep and appetite, insecurity, inability to concentrate, distrust of adult males, problems the girl's parents claim will require extensive medical and psychiatric care for which they say Rodgers should be forced to pay.

MAN CHARGED WITH GRAND THEFT

A Longwood man is free from the Orange County jail today after posting $1,000 bond following his arrest Thursday on a grand theft charge.

Richard Hayes Varney, 32, of 813 Raven Ave., was arrested by Orlando police after a Jefferson Wards department store security guard told police he saw a man, described as Varney, remove a store display tent, obtain a refund for the tent then attempt to purchase a television with the refunded money. The guard, James Lusink, said he stopped the man carrying the TV outside the store at 2500 W. Colonial Drive at 1:15 p.m.

Lusink told police he observed the man take the tent, valued at $169.99, from the store display, approach a store clerk and ask where he could get a refund. He was given a refund credit slip for the tent and, in turn, purchased a TV, valued at $279, with the credit slip and cash, police said.

MOPED MISSING

Thieves stole a moped from a Casselberry man's garage between 9:30 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

John Bernier, 43, of 636 Swallow Drive, told deputies the moped is a light green 1977 Puch Maxi-S valued at $450.

MAN HELD FOR GRAND THEFT

A 28-year-old Sanford man was being held in the Seminole County jail on a charge of grand theft after deputies stopped him for a traffic violation and discovered he is wanted by police for stealing a car.

Michael Cannon, of 1096 Mangoustine Ave., was arrested along U.S. Highway 17-92 near Florida Avenue after deputies noticed he was operating a vehicle with an expired license plate, deputies said.

DUI ARRESTS

The following people were arrested in Seminole County on the charge of driving under the influence (DUI) of alcoholic beverages:

— Russell Terrence Bush, 28, of Sanford, arrested 11:30 a.m., Saturday, charged with DUI and failure to maintain a single lane. Bush was arrested by troopers at County Road 427 near Laurel Ave. Bond was set at $500.

— Antonio Manuel Vargas Jr., 18, of Orlando, arrested 11:58 p.m., Saturday, charged with DUI and resisting arrest with violence. Vargas was arrested by Longwood police along Loch Lomand Ave. at E.E. Williamson Road. Bond was set at $5,000.

— Kim Breskow, 25, of 451 Spanish Trace Drive, Altamonte Springs, arrested 10:21 p.m. Saturday, charged with DUI and careless driving. Ms. Breskow was arrested by Altamonte Springs police along Wymore Road at Spanish Trace Drive. Bond was set at $500.

— Michael McGoldrick, 32, of Fern Park, arrested 10:36 p.m., Saturday, charged with DUI, careless driving and resisting arrest without violence. McGoldrick was arrested by Casselberry police along U.S. Highway 17-92. Bond was set at $500.

GIRL SEXUALLY ASSAULTED

A 9-year-old Sanford girl told police she was sexually assaulted by a man who also told her he would beat her if she reported the incident to anyone.

Police said the incident was reported to them by the young girl's mother and that their investigation into the matter is continuing.

COSTLY FIRE

Fire investigators have determined that smoldering metal pipes, heated by a plumber, caused a fire which destroyed a newly-constructed house belonging to the sister and brother-in-law of Sanford multi-millionaire Jeno Paulucci.

Investigators said the fire, which smoldered for three to four hours before creating the blaze, destroyed the partially-furnished $250,000 home along Lake Mary Boulevard, just west of Interstate 4, Saturday. The home was complete except for the installation of carpet and some furniture and appliances.

The owners, Leo and Florence Trepanier, were out of state at the time of the blaze, investigators said. No injuries were reported.

FIRE BOMB INJURES YOUTH

An 18-year-old Longwood boy was listed in fair condition today at Florida Hospital-Altamonte after he was burned when a fire bomb exploded in a car in which he was a passenger.

Steve Robert Thomas, of 104 Knoll Crest Drive, was being treated for burns on his face and neck which he suffered in the incident at about 10:52 p.m. Monday, deputies said.

Deputies said they are continuing their investigation of the incident. A 16-year-old Longwood youth told deputies a fire bomb was thrown into his car at North and Jackson streets, at the Granada South housing development, near Altamonte Springs.

The youth said while he tried to put out the fire, his friends fled.

Thomas was admitted to the hospital for treatment of burns shortly after the incident, deputies said.

RESTAURANT ROBBED

About $750 cash was stolen from a Longwood restaurant between 1:30 and 7:45 a.m. Tuesday.

Deputies said someone broke into the White Marlin restaurant, 1187 State Road 434, and stole a night deposit bank bag containing the money.

According to Gene Gerry, the restaurant's kitchen manager who discovered the burglary, the doors of the restaurant were forced open as well as cabinets in the restaurant. Gerry told deputies the money was to be deposited Monday, but that it was left overnight in the restaurant because of the holiday weekend and was to be deposited Tuesday.

FBI Enters Ex-Cop Brooks' Kickback Charge Case

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) confirmed Tuesday it is probing allegations made by a former Sanford police officer that Seminole County law-enforcement officials have been involved in taking kickbacks from drug dealers.

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) had begun investigating the charges in June at the request of Gov. Bob Graham but has now dropped its probe to avoid duplicating investigative efforts.

Perry Doran, spokesman for the FBI's Orlando office, said his office is investigating the allegations made by ex-Sanford police Officer Tony Brooks but that "because the investigation is on-going, I am not at liberty to disclose any information about the case."

Brooks, now a road patrolman with the Monroe County Sheriff's Department in the Florida Keys, has accused Sheriff John Polk, Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler and Longwood Police Chief Greg Manning of possible criminal activities, including a charge against Polk that he tampered with evidence in a January drug-trafficking case.

Polk, Butler and Manning have repeatedly denied Brooks' charges and in a joint letter to Graham requested an investigation be conducted into the matter "to put this thing to rest once and for all," Polk said previously.

As a result of that letter to Graham, the FDLE was ordered to begin its investigation into the matter. However, during the investigation, FDLE officials said they learned of the FBI's ongoing probe prompted by Brooks, and decided to drop their investigation.

"There's just no sense in two federal agencies looking into the same matter," said Bernadette Phillips of Graham's public relations staff. "With both agencies looking into the allegations, there would be much duplicity and a lot of wasted efforts. They would be following each other through the case."

In addition, the nine-year veteran of the Sanford police force and former member of a countywide drug task force notified the city in late March that he plans to seek $150,000 in damages on grounds of alleged civil-rights violations.

Another former member of the drug task force, Daniele Dow, who resigned from the Longwood police force in March, reportedly notified the agencies that she also intends to seek $150,000 in a similar suit.

3rd Suspect Captured In Professor's Murder

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police searching the "meat rack" area frequented by male prostitutes arrested a teenager today in the slaying of the University of Florida's "junk food professor" and said two young men already charged in the killing were prostitutes.

The suspects were held pending a hearing, expected today, on whether they should be extradited to Florida. Police said one of the suspects was cooperating with their investigation and had agreed to return.

The three were believed to be the same suspects charged two weeks ago in Gainesville, Fla., with forging checks in the name of Professor Howard Appledorf, 41, who was found suffocated in his apartment in what police called a ritualistic, possibly revenge killing.

Food was smeared on walls, spelling out the word "redrum" — murder spelled backward — in a scene similar to the horror movie "The Shining."

Police said the suspects were released from jail last Thursday when Appledorf — without explanation — dropped the charges.

The popular professor slowly suffocated last Friday in his apartment while his killers munched on submarine sandwiches, police said.

Grayson — Seminole In Rams' Clothing

DONALD GRAYSON
...next Tim Raines?

hear is secondhand." One secondhand source said Grayson's parents thought Seminole was putting too much emphasis on athletics. "Donny is only 14 years old," pointed out Mrs. Grayson. "The coaches were trying to push the child into being an adult." One day last spring, Grayson attended spring football practice, played in a 2-on-2 basketball tournament and participated in Junior League baseball that same evening.
See GRAYSON, Page 11A

There are those among us who believe Donald Grayson is a Seminole in Rams' clothing. Others, nevertheless, believe last year he was a Ram in Seminole attire.

Confused? So are a lot of people. Grayson, a muscular 14-year-old sophomore, was a three-sport most valuable player at Crooms High last year. The 5-11, 188-pounder is very fast and could be the best all-around athlete in this area since Tim Raines.

"Donald is the best athlete I've ever coached," said former Crooms football coach Bill Klein.

"I can't ever remember any athlete winning three MVP's," said Crooms Principal Ed Blackshear. "Not even Tim Raines."

While Seminole is crying, Lake Mary is rejoicing. Grayson, after two years at Seminole feeder schools — Sanford Middle and Crooms — has decided to attend Lake Mary.

Grayson lives at 1801 Lincoln Ave., Sanford. This address is in the Lake Mary school zone. This address is the home of his parents, Donald and Janie Grayson. Then how did he attend Crooms last year and Sanford Middle the previous year? Simple. Grayson listed his grandmother's address — 1515 16th St., Sanford — when he registered for school. This address is in the Seminole school zone.

It's unclear whether Grayson lived at his grandmother's or his parents' home. He probably did a little of both. Chris Marlette, his basketball coach at Crooms, said he took Grayson home after practice to the grandmother's house.

Grayson's mother, however, maintains he lived at the parents' address. According to Lake Mary athletic director Ron Safford, Grayson's parents signed affidavits to this effect, trying to ensure his attendance at Lake Mary.

There was some question as to where Grayson should attend school until Lake Mary Principal Don Reynolds called Fred Rozelle, executive secretary of the Florida High School Activities Association, who clarified the issue. Rozelle said, "A student at anytime residing with his parents can attend that school which serves his zone."

Sam Cook
Sports Editor

Seminole Principal Wayne Epps agrees with the ruling, but was somewhat leery because he believes Grayson may have established his residence since he used the grandmother's address for Crooms and Sanford Middle.

Reynolds says he knew of Grayson attending the wrong school last year, but kept mum. "I knew where his parents lived and I didn't say anything because that's the way Donald wanted to go."

"And, if he wanted to go to Seminole this year...that would have been fine with me too," said Reynolds.

Reynolds said he feels if no recruiting is going on he will sign a blue waiver form for wherever a student wishes to go. The waiver form allows a student to participate in athletics despite attending a school out of his zone.

"You have to keep the best interests of the student at heart," says Reynolds. "Each individual case must be judged by itself."

Reynolds told of several instances where a student was too small to compete in athletics at a 4A school (Seminole) and he signed a waiver for the student to go to a smaller school.

What is unique about the Grayson situation, however, is he is not leaving his school zone, but returning to the zone where he is supposed to be.

In most cases in Seminole County, athletes jump around from campus to campus like frogs on lily pads.

If an athlete is dissatisfied with his school's coach or program, he finds a subject which is not offered in his school's curriculum. He then must convince the principal that his intentions are academic. If he does, the principal that signs the waiver form and he is eligible for sports. If not, he must sit out one year.

Most principals sign the waiver because they feel it's in the best interest of the athlete. Also, they don't want to hassle with the parents. In the end, the athlete usually gets his way.

One of the most atrocious cases came in 1977-78 involving Donny Andriano. Andriano was a good running back at Lake Howell but fell out of favor with coach Curtis Keen halfway through the season.

Andriano transferred to Lyman and Lake Howell principal Dick Evans signed the waiver form. Andriano then played against his former teammates and helped Lyman to a victory.

Grayson's case, though, remains different and unusual because he goes back to where he should have been all the time.

Why did Grayson change his mind and enroll at Lake Mary?

"It's one of those peculiar situations where you may never find out the reason," offered Epps. "Everything I

Splash Surf's Up For County Swimmers

By CHRIS FISTER

When a team of 13 has only three seniors the season ahead is usually dubbed a rebuilding one. But, when that squad has seven returnees and an abundance of determination, it might be in store for a banner year.

The team in question is coach Donalyn Knight's Seminole High girls swimming team. Knight's is a youthful group that nevertheless has experience, too.

"We're young, but very spirited and hard working," said Knight of the 1982 'Noles. "We could surprise a lot of teams this year."

The top returnee to the Tribe is senior Lisa Polgar. In 1981, Polgar qualified for the district meet in five events, but back injuries have hampered the Seminole standout in '82. Polgar should be at 100 percent when the season opens and she should anchor the team this season.

Bridget Deere and Lori Eckler are the only other seniors returning to the Tribe. Both are talented and will be relied on to strengthen the squad. Eckler also runs cross country at Seminole.

Juniors make up the bulk of the Lady Seminoles, four of which are returning after showing promise as sophomores a year ago. Jill Janak, Alison McCall, Susie Porter and Elizabeth Prior are the four returnees who will be counted on for key performances in '82.

Prep Swimming

First-year swimmers with potential include juniors Susan Mann, Sheryl Carpenter and Dee Goebelbecker, sophomores Dana Ray and Gigi Hunt and freshman Michelle Bennett.

Seminole's first two meets will be hosted by the Tribe at the Sanford Bath & Tennis Club. The season begins with a meet against Spruce Creek on Sept. 16 and Seminole hosts DeLand on Sept. 21. Both meets include the boys and girls teams and will begin at 4 p.m.

"I'm really impressed with the attitudes shown and the potential there is," Knight said. "It will be a rewarding year."

The Seminole boys swimming team has seven less returnees than the girls squad—none. So it looks as if the boys team is in for a rebuilding year.

As far as experience goes, sophomore Chuck Burgess has the most. "He has been swimming competitively in the AAU and should have an excellent season," Knight said.

The 'Noles consist of seniors Ken Tice, Robert Rutherford, Bill Rivers, Scott Murphy, Vince Montes, Howard Harrison and Phil Fausnight, juniors are Tim Dycus and Jessie Rutherford, sophomores Chris Megill and Bruce Montes and freshman John DuBois.

For both Lyman's boys and girls teams, and coach Bob Goff, 1982 will be a year of uncertainty. "We're not as strong as we have been in the past, it looks like a rebuilding year," Goff said.

The younger of the two teams is the girls squad which is dominated by freshmen and sophomores. "The girls team is very young and inexperienced, based on the number of 9-10th graders we are building for the future," Goff said.

Louise Pulley is the only junior on the team, there are no seniors. Sophomores are Susan Saintheart, Diana Lunsford and Kim Souder while the fine crop of freshmen consists of Marie Van Hissenhoven, Sharon Larson, Sharon Lewis, Christie Macleod, Shannon Tschieder, Judith Tatahoude, Kelly Tobin, Michelle Mosher, Wendy Susie Porter, Seminole swimmer, doesn't have to watch where she's going, she knows where she's going, to the finish line. Seminole's Splashers open the season on Sept. 16 against Spruce Creek at the Sanford Bath and Tennis Club beginning at 4 p.m.

Tribe Runners Capture First Meet In 10 Years

It's been a long time between cross country victories at Seminole High School. Just how long isn't quite sure. Some "experts" estimate 10 years. Some longer.

All the years of frustration came to an end Tuesday afternoon at Trinity Prep when senior Mike Wooten blazed across the finish line to lead the Tribe past the Saints, 24-36, in a dual meet.

"I'm very, very satisfied," said an exuberant coach Ted Tombrós Wednesday. "Especially for Michael (Wooten) who beat Tommy Matthews on his own course. Matthews was one of the top runners in 2A last year."

Wooten's time was 17:45 while Matthews clocked in at 17:51. Trinity's Brandon Peters was third in 18:17. Then came the Seminole cluster of Chris Collopy (18:27), Scott Meck (18:43) and Kent Troutman (19:17) which made the difference.

After Troutman, the Saints' Jamie Vierling (19:20) was seventh, Seminole's William Boyd (19:33) was eighth followed by the Saints' David Green (19:38) in ninth place and Mike McLohon (19:54) in 10th.

For the girls, Alice Reen raced home in 15:20 to lead the Lady Saints to a 16-45 victory over Seminole.

Trinity's Beth Shelly (15:29), Linda Willis (15:47) and Punkie Lingle (15:57) followed Reen's lead over the two-mile course.

Lori Eckler was fifth in 16:02 to lead Seminole. "Lori's really coming along," said Tombrós. "We've got basically a young girls' team and she's our leader."

Other Seminole finishes included Lisa Grant (seventh, 17:33), Crooms' freshmen Vera Ramimassar (10th, 20:16) and Sophia Chung (11th, 20:21).

In junior varsity action, Seminole placed five runners in the top seven but Trinity didn't have enough competitors for a team score.

Andre Jackson (21:50), Mike Wohlgermuth (22:08) and Eric Jackson (23:28) were first, second and fourth respectively for the Tribe.—SAM COOK

Thompson, Whelchel Lead Seminoles' Attack

By GEOFFREY GIORDANO
Herald Sports Writer

Last year's Seminole junior varsity football team, under coach Bill McDaniel, racked up its first winning season in five years, 4-3. This year, while McDaniel is giving his guidance to Lake Mary's JV Rams, former Lake Howell coach Mike Ferrell will take control of the Tribe.

Ferrell has some extremely talented players in an attempt to make his first year at Seminole a good one.

Ferrell's team will consist mostly of kids who played on last year's 4-2 Crooms freshman team, and, most of them can really get the job done.

For instance, one of the Tribe's running backs will be Deron Thompson, who can finish 100 yards in 9.9 seconds. One of his coaches at Crooms acknowledged that Thompson was faster than Tim Raines when he played football there. Clifton Campbell will be the other runner, while Victor Blue will also be used occasionally in the backfield.

"They are all looking really good for us. They give us a lot of speed, but they are also strong enough to run over you pretty good," commented Ferrell. Seminole will be trying to build up a solid running game behind a strong offensive line.

Mike Whelchel will most likely be Seminole's quarterback, while Reginald Robinson will be assigned the back up signal calling position. Ferrell praised Whelchel as being, "A real National Honor Society type student. He picks things up real fast and he's an accurate passer."

Receiving for the junior Tribe will be tight end Robbie Brumley and split end Mike Cushing. "Both are doing a good job," said Ferrell.

Ferrell is particularly looking towards his offensive line to aid his speedy backs. Playing center will be stocky Jerry Walsh, who's, "A real strong player. He's a hand player who makes a difference. I'd hate to go without him," Ferrell stated. Also looking good are guards Strickland Smith and Scott Larson. The two tackle positions have yet to be decided on.

Frank Brumley will return to his familiar defensive line position. He's a large end who, according to Ferrell "can really plug some holes. He's back in shape and not doing badly at all." Charles Thomas will play the opposite end, while Darryl Edgemon will be the sole tackle.

Assistant coach in charge of the defense, Howard Hawkins, thinks his strength will be in the linebacker positions. Four will be used, including Richard Roberts, Brian DeBose, and Tim Hall. Surprisingly, Thompson may also do some 'backing. Walter Lowrey will probably fill the middle linebacker spot.

The only two people playing the secondary so far are cornerbacks James Hershey and Eddie Holly. Hawkins said that, "The safety position is our weakest area right now. We'll probably have to take someone from the offensive side and put them in."

Ferrell, a former freshman coach, said "I don't think anyone will win all of their games because all the teams are too good. An outstanding season will take hard work, and, on top of it, we lost four or five good players to varsity, including a couple of good running backs. But, even if only two came back, it would really help us."

"I'd like to say we have good depth, but we don't. We're trying to get backups, but there are just too many two-way players. If we have some injuries, we'll be in big trouble. Some of last year's kids just didn't come out."

Shriver, Cat Too Much For Martina

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's beginning to look as though tennis players are what they eat.

At the U.S. Open thus far, three players have complained of problems relating to food poisoning. Two of them are winning anyway — Chris Evert Lloyd, who advanced to the quarter-finals Tuesday, and upstart Rodney Harmon of Richmond, Va., who ousted eighth-seed Eliot Teltscher, then revealed he had been in the hospital two days last week.

The third isn't playing anymore. Martina Navratilova, the women's top seed, had her dreams of a U.S. title shattered again, this time by her close friend and doubles partner Pam Shriver, 1-6, 7-6 (7-5), 6-2. Even though that score followed her pattern of starting fast and folding, Navratilova attributed part of her failure to a mysterious illness.

"I know this is going to sound like sour grapes," she said. "But ... (in California in July) I was visiting some friends who have a cat, and the cat apparently polluted the food I was eating and from that I got a disease called toxoplasmosis.

"It stays with you about two or three months and although this is the tail end of it, it is still in my system. My strength was just seeping ... In the second set, in the third set I just couldn't run."

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Autumn Season Returns To Sanford's Bowl America

Go to your closet and dig out that dusty old bowling ball, the fall season has returned to Sanford's Bowl America. There are still some openings in several leagues for both day and night bowling.

Starting Sunday, Sept. 12 Bowl America will hold a "vacation league" at the price of $6 per night, per player. Everyone in the league will win a four-day stay at the Islander Beach Lodge in New Smyrna Beach.

Bowl America's Thursday night scratch league is still looking for a few bowlers. The league brackets its bowlers by average so each bowler has a chance at the prize money each week.

Almost all 9 p.m. leagues are looking for more bowlers. The "Unprofessionals" men's league, which meets Tuesday nights at 9, is trying for 32 teams and will have an added prize fund.

Senior citizens are invited to join the Monday "Washday Dropouts" the Tuesday "Hurricanes," the Thursday "Sunbirds" and the Friday "Pinbusters" all of which bowl at 1 p.m.

Free bowling classes for beginners will be conducted in late September or early October. These include classroom instruction, film and on-the-lane instruction.

NFL Negotiations Continue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiators for the NFL were expected to present a revised financial package to the players union today at the first meeting between the two sides since Aug. 25, a newspaper reported.

Ed Garvey, the executive director of the NFL Players Association, said several players had been told by their general managers the offer will include a 20 to 30 percent pay increase for every player, The Washington Post reported this morning.

Jack Donlan, the executive director of the NFL's Management Council, denied the figures stated by Garvey. He said the offer he described as substantial, was formed in recent meetings among team owners.

Soccer Jamboree Saturday

The Seminole Soccer Club, founded in 1974, has grown from one team of 15 players to 100 teams and 1,500 players. For the third straight year the soccer club will open its season with a jamboree scheduled for Saturday, at 8 a.m. at Lyman High School.

The day's events include a stadium parade with all the players, coaches and referees participating, a recognition ceremony for officers and honored guests, a full day of "mini" soccer games involving all players ages four to 19.

Zorn Ousted, Sims Signs

In the quarterback lotteries in Chicago and Seattle, Bob Avellini and Dave Krieg drew winning tickets Tuesday.

Avellini, relegated to backup duty after losing his job to Vince Evans after the 1978 season, and Krieg, who spent three years as Jim Zorn's understudy in Seattle, were named starters when the NFL season is scheduled to open Sunday.

"We felt Dave was more consistent overall," Patara said, in announcing Krieg's promotion for the season-opener against Cleveland in the Kingdome.

In other news:

—Detroit running back Billy Sims said he has ended his contract holdout after meeting with owner William Clay Ford. The Detroit Free Press said Sims and Ford met Tuesday for about 45 minutes. "It's my future, and I'm well satisfied with what took place," the paper quoted Sims.

Dodgers Regain Lead; Sutton Lifts Brewers, 4-0

United Press International

While the Los Angeles Dodgers and Atlanta Braves battle for center stage the San Francisco Giants wait in the wings ready to steal the show.

The Dodgers regained first place by a half game in the National League West Tuesday night by beating the Cincinnati Reds, 8-4, while the Braves were losing, 3-2, to the Giants.

Los Angeles and Atlanta begin a two-game series tonight at Atlanta and while those two clubs continue their fight for first place the Giants hope to sneak into the pennant picture before the week is out.

"I definitely think we can still win this thing," said Giants' pitcher Jim Barr, who held the Braves to six hits over 7 1/3 innings Tuesday night.

The Giants, in fourth place, are 5 1/2 games behind the Dodgers but have won five in a row.

"We may not be in striking distance yet, but we are still there and we are moving up," said Giants' Manager Frank Robinson.

Reggie Smith hit a two-run homer and rookie Chili Davis added a solo shot to help the Giants hand the Braves their fourth straight loss.

Dusty Baker drove in four runs with a double and his 21st homer in helping the Dodgers defeat the Reds.

A five-run third put the Dodgers ahead to stay, 5-3. Ken Landreaux had an RBI single, Steve Garvey an RBI double and Mike Scioscia a run-scoring single in the inning in addition to Baker's two-run double.

"We're going into Atlanta with the lead and that makes a difference," said Dodgers' Manager Tom Lasorda. "But we still have to win."

Dave Stewart, 8-7, pitched 5 2/3 innings of four-hit relief for the victory.

Elsewhere in the NL, Philadelphia downed Chicago, 7-3, Montreal trimmed St. Louis, 7-4, Pittsburgh beat New York, 9-5, and Houston edged San Diego, 4-3.

In American League games, Milwaukee blanked Detroit, 4-0, Baltimore beat New York, 7-2, Cleveland edged Boston, 5-4, in 10 innings, Minnesota whipped Texas, 8-1, Seattle defeated Kansas City, 5-2, Chicago downed California, 7-4, and Toronto nipped Oakland, 2-1.

At Chicago, Garry Maddox delivered a two-run pop fly single with two out in the ninth inning to help the Phillies win for the first time at Wrigley Field this season.

At St. Louis, Bryn Smith scored on a wild pitch to break a 3-3 tie and pitched four innings of three-hit relief to lead the Expos.

At Pittsburgh, the Pirates got home runs from Richie Hebner, Jason Thompson and Mike Easler to defeat the Mets.

At Houston, Frank DiPino struck out 10 batters in five innings in his major-league debut and Dickie Thon had two hits and two RBI in leading the Astros, 4-1.

Brewers Blank Tigers

Ted Simmons brought the blueprints Tuesday night and Don Sutton provided the tools to get the job done.

"I just followed Ted Simmons," Sutton said, after pitching a seven-inning victory in the Milwaukee Brewers' 4-0 shutout of the Detroit Tigers. "I know he knows the hitters. I gave him what he wanted."

Cecil Cooper's three-run homer in the eighth inning was the key blow as the Brewers maintained their three-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East.

A run-scoring single by Robin Yount snapped a scoreless duel between Sutton, 1-1, and Dan Petry, 14-8, before Cooper delivered his 28th home run.

Petry had been working on a three-hitter through seven innings before Ed Romero beat out a grounder to deep short and moved to third on Paul Molitor's bloop single to right. Yount singled home the tiebreaking run and Cooper followed with his homer.

In other games, Cleveland edged Boston, 5-4, in 10 innings, Baltimore downed New York, 7-2, Minnesota bombed Texas, 8-1, Toronto edged Oakland, 2-1, Seattle got by Kansas City, 5-2, and Chicago stopped California, 7-4.

In the NL, it was Philadelphia 7, Chicago 5, Pittsburgh 9, New York 5, San Francisco 3, Atlanta 2, Los Angeles 8, Cincinnati 4, Montreal 7, St. Louis 4, and Houston 4, San Diego 3.

At Cleveland, Alan Bannister's two-out, bases-loaded single in the bottom of the 10th scored Rick Manning with the run that gave the Indians a victory.

At New York, John Lowenstein had three hits, including his 22nd homer, to lead a 14-hit attack that carried the Orioles to their 10th consecutive victory.

Twins 8, Rangers 1

At Arlington, Texas, rookies Randy Bush, Kent Hrbek and Tom Brunansky drove in two runs each to back the six-hit pitching of Al Williams and Ron Davis.

At Oakland, Calif., Lloyd Moseby's one-out, eighth-inning single scored pinch runner Damaso Garcia and gave the Blue Jays a victory over the A's.

At Seattle, Royce Bochte and Richie Zisk belted two-run homers as the Mariners handed the Royals their fourth straight loss.

At Anaheim, Calif., Tony Bernazard collected three hits, including a solo homer, and drove in two runs and Aurelio Rodriguez slapped a pair of RBI doubles, to lift the White Sox.

Neverka, Shelley Parker, Lori Jacobs and Claudia Hoyt.

The boys squad lost its top five performers from last year's outstanding team. But the Greyhounds have two foreign transfer students who Goff said will do well once they adjust.

Johan Nicholson is a senior exchange student out of Sweden and Hannu Doren comes to Lyman High out of Finland and is a junior. "The two exchange students should do very well. Our main goal is to replace the five guys that we lost."

The 'Hounds roster includes seniors Gary Hellender, Tim Fullmer and Chris McClelland, juniors Tony Plachno, Steve Metzford and Dan Lindenfield, sophomores Marty Fields, Randy Heberl, Larry Hickman, Brian Tahyer and Wayne Neverka and freshmen Dennis Dermudez.

Lyman High will be the site of a 100 mile relay fund raiser beginning Friday and running through Saturday. Most Seminole County schools will take part in the marathon event.

The swimming season starts today for Lake Mary and Lake Howell. Coach Wayne Morgan's Rams and the Silver Hawks meet at 5 p.m. at the Trinity Prep pool.

Amy Maher will lead the way for the Lake Mary Girls as a sophomore. Last year Maher set almost all of the Lake Mary school swimming records. Maher, Kelly McKel (a freshman) and sophomore Sherry Parkerson will be the strongest swimmers for the Lady Rams in 1982.

"We're looking forward to a good year for both teams," Morgan said. "We're in the second phase of building the program and I've been really impressed with the swimmers, they are dedicated athletes."

Heading up the boys squad are a pair of sophomores and a freshman Todd Stebbins and Brian Cook are the sophomores and the frosh is Trey Siebold, those three will anchor the Rams in '82.

Probably the most talented team that has a lot of potential is the Lake Howell girls squad. Coach Dwain Picou's roster is loaded with talented performers returning from last year's team that won the conference, tied for the district crown and finished 12th in the state meet.

"We look about the same as last year, except a little bit stronger," Picou said.

The Silver Hawks will be the favorite tonight against Lake Mary and are anchored by senior swimmers Karen Arce and junior Nina Aspinwall. Both placed third in the state in two events a year ago and were members of the 400 freestyle relay team that took third in the state.

Adding to the depth of the Lady Hawks are senior Gail Mark, junior Karen Write and sophomores Debby McDyer and Dawn Maaks (a transfer out of Illinois).

"Donald told me, 'his mother was really upset about that and I can't blame her,'" said Marlette, who was hired to coach the Seminole High varsity after Bill Payne opted for Seminole Community College. "But this was just a one-time thing."

After the three practices, Mrs. Grayson told Donald he had to decide between football and baseball. He chose baseball and stopped going to spring football.

He still seemed set for Seminole until just before football practice opened on Aug. 16, however.

During the summer, Grayson played in an AAU-Junior Olympics basketball tournament for players 15 years old and under. His team, made up of Croons teammates and a couple Lakeview Middle students, finished fifth. Grayson, though, made the all-state team.

Apparently one of his teammates took exception to the recognition Grayson had received and made some disparaging remarks to him.

The sensitive youngster apparently took them to heart and was visibly upset by the remarks. Some people theorize that Grayson thought he could solve the conflict by "just going to another school."

Grayson, a polite youngster with an excellent attitude, admitted the remarks from his teammates had an effect on his decision, although he wasn't sure whether Seminole coaches were emphasizing athletics too much.

Regardless of whether he's a Seminole in Rams' clothing or a Ram in Seminole attire, one thing is for certain — he's going to be a great one.

Arson Trial Of Walter Jones, Ex-Sanford Policeman, To Begin

By TONI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

The trial of an ex-Sanford police officer accused of soliciting three people to burn his home to collect on an insurance policy is expected to begin today or Thursday before Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi.

Jury selection for the trial of Walter Lee Jones was completed Tuesday afternoon and Prosecutor Steve Brady said "the case could go at 2 p.m. today or 9 a.m. Thursday depending on the judge's schedule."

Jones, who was fired in February following 13 years on the Sanford police force, is on trial for charges of solicitation to commit arson, second-degree arson and burning to defraud an insurance company. If convicted on all three charges, he could face up to 35 years in prison.

The state contends that Jones asked former Sanford resident Sharon Lee Meeker, who is currently serving a 10-year probation sentence after entering a plea of guilty to second-degree arson, to torch his vacant home at 1839 Jerry St., in the Goldsboro section near Sanford, between Nov. 1 and Dec. 30, 1980.

Ms. Meeker maintains that she committed the crime out of love for Jones and not for money which he is alleged to have paid her for the illegal act.

Ms. Meeker said she, with the help of Patricia Williams and James Michael Williams, set fire to the home on Dec. 30, 1980. Mrs. Williams later contacted police and told them what she, her ex-husband and Ms. Meeker had done. Ms. Williams is currently serving a 10-year probation sentence while Williams is serving a one-year jail term in the county jail.

WALTER JONES

Williams admitted to splashing fuel on the walls of the house and setting the fire.

Ms. Meeker, Ms. Williams and Williams are expected to testify as state's witnesses in the case. The state also lists about 34 other potential witnesses to support their contentions in the trial, Brady said.

Jones, who is being represented by lawyer Jack Bridges, is also scheduled for trial in Orange County next week on two counts of defrauding an insurance company, the insurer of the burned Goldsboro home. Jones collected between $30,000 and $40,000 in damages because of the fire.

Pitman 'Out Front'

By DORIS DIETRICH
PEOPLE Editor

Miss Florida Deanna Pitman is off and dancing—out front—in the Miss America Pageant Saturday night when she and 49 beauty queens will be stepping high in the production number to be televised nationally.

They're all pretty, talented and the cream of America's crop of "Who's Who Among the Ideal American Young Women." Critics speculate that although only one will be the official winner, they're all winners during the hectic and chaotic week when painful stress is the name of the Miss America game.

According to a telephone conversation Tuesday with Kenneth P. Kirchman, Deanna's boyfriend from Altamonte Springs, Deanna has phoned him daily since her arrival in Atlantic City. Earlier that day, between 6 and 7 a.m., Deanna phoned, sounding depressed, he said. But several hours later she phoned "excited that she was selected to dance center front in the production number," he related enthusiastically.

"Hey, enjoy yourself. Don't work so hard. This is once in a lifetime," Kirchman said he told Deanna. "She is already a winner," he said, "even though she may not ever get to wear the Miss America crown."

When Deanna left the Orlando International Airport Saturday, she was hand-carrying the three elegant, expensive gowns she is wearing in pre-pageant festivities this week and which The Herald featured exclusively last Friday.

The gown designer, Steve Earick of Columbia, S.C., said all the silver platinum silk chiffon competition gown needs is the Miss America crown, according to Deanna's mother, Hilda Pitman of Apopka.

Other items Deanna carried on the plane included a foil-wrapped loaf of banana bread, freshly baked by her great-aunt for pageant host Gary Collins. An ivory-colored decoupage handbag held her Miss Florida banner and the sparkling Miss Florida crown. She also carried two American Beauty roses.

"Certainly, I'm going to win (the Miss America title)," Deanna confirmed with the assurance of a seasoned trooper. "That's why I'm going up there, isn't it?"

Miss Florida has lots of company from her home state in Atlantic City this week, including her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Pitman III, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Pitman Jr., who left following the Miami-Gator game in Gainesville Saturday.

Flo Hunter Nips Gary Barnhart

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A 69-year-old former school teacher and women's rights advocate has apparently won the Democratic nomination in the District 11 state Senate race. The five-county district includes 29 Seminole County precincts.

Seminole County's unofficial returns gave Mrs. Florence Hunter, a widow, mother and grandmother, a victory here by 1,245 to 1,134 for Gary Barnhart, a Vietnam veteran and Tampa construction coordinator.

The district also includes all of Lake County and parts of Marion, Volusia and Sumter.

In addition to Seminole County, Mrs. Hunter won in Marion, Lake and Volusia counties, but she lost Sumter in unofficial returns.

Unofficial results gave her a 263 margin in the district. She received 7,797 tallies to 7,534 for Barnhart.

The Hunter-Barnhart contest in Seminole was somewhat different than other races on the Democratic and Republican ballots.

While other candidates were campaigning hard here, neither she nor her opponent made any public appearances locally.

Workers at her campaign office in Tavares said today that Mrs. Hunter held a quiet celebration with close friends at the Sundown Motel headquarters to watch returns come in Tuesday night.

Early this morning, however, she was off to Gainesville for a conference.

Her campaign aide said Mrs. Hunter is delighted with her win and her campaign is gearing up for her race against Sen. Richard Langley, R-Clermont, in the Nov. 2 general election.

take to restore a good working relationship in the division. "We're going to have to put back together a top flight operation," Neiswender told the employees who were assembled at the parks division offices at the county's Five Points complex.

"We will resolve personal conflicts. We will resolve the difference in standards," Neiswender promised. "But we will stop in its tracks the rumor mill that has slowed progress out here. A rumor mill flourishes where it's tolerated. I won't tolerate it."

He explained to the employees that malicious gossip is covered in the county's personnel policy and is grounds for dismissal.

"We want your suggestions. We can't do anything if we don't get your suggestions," Neiswender said. "But this is right at the heart of making your job a lot harder than it has to be."

Cooks Of The Week

Friends Prepare Snacks 'Excellent To The Max'

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Happiness is cooking with a friend. Although Jamie Venson and Laura Whiddon have known each other over five years, and their rich friendship has included going to the same church, the same school, and enjoying summer camp together, these young women have quite different outlooks on cooking.

Jamie, a sophomore at Oviedo High School, says she "likes to experiment" a little when she is in the kitchen, thinking of new spices and ingredients to try in recipes.

Laura, on the other hand, says she strictly follows the recipe in the cookbook in order to achieve success. Laura, now a junior at Oviedo High, attributes her "following the recipe" to her eighth grade home economics class where the importance of sticking to the instructions was stressed.

The girls both agree that even though they can put an entire meal together, it is more fun to make "munchies." Another common denominator they possess is cookbooks. Laura has six cookbooks in her "hope chest" already, Jamie owns five. When they get together to compare notes, they come up with what they refer to as "excellent to the max snacks."

Laura, convinced that all young people are hooked on chocolate and peanut butter, has discovered an after school cooler called Choco-Peanut Float. Another calorie-filled treat of Laura's fancy is Chocolate Filled BonBons. She says, "they are quick and easy to make."

Jamie's contributions to the snack-craze the two gals are on include a hot drink "for a change of pace", Hot Time Punch, Nutty Crunchers and a side dish to serve with chips, Bean 'n Bacon Dip.

Claim Of Dental Fraud Draws Biting Rebuttal

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "On to Him in St. Louis," who accused the dental profession of fraud due to the advent of dental insurance. Perhaps this uninformed reader, as well as a large segment of the population, will be enlightened by the following:

No dentist in the course of an examination can willfully crack, break or dislodge a good filling unless he uses tools designed for archeological expeditions!

It is necessary for the dentist to check all fillings carefully to be sure there is no unsealed or cracked surface through which bacteria could enter and cause decay under the fillings, leading to toothaches, lost fillings and the need for root canal work or extraction of the tooth. Unfortunately, even the best of fillings may eventually require replacement due to the stresses of chewing, poor oral hygiene, improper diet, a bad bite or grinding one's teeth.

About dental insurance: It benefits the patient — not the dentist. I cannot keep track of the number of patients who have suggested that I "pad" the bill and falsify dates of services in order for them to obtain greater financial benefits than deserved. People who have neglected their teeth for years suddenly want "everything" done if their dental insurance covers it.

Also, I have never known a dentist who would participate in a "kickback" arrangement with a root canal (or any other kind of) dental specialist.

The overwhelming majority of dentists are hard-working, ethical, conscientious individuals who are interested in providing the best possible treatment for their patients — and only that treatment which is necessary, regardless of insurance coverage or not!

A DENTIST FROM THE ETHICAL MAJORITY, WEST ISLIP, N.Y.

Dear Abby

DEAR ETHICAL: I heard from hundreds of irate dentists chewing me out for printing a letter from an obviously uninformed reader. They said that by giving that "nut" space in my column, I validated her paranoid accusations. Not so! Be assured that dentists are the last group of professionals I would intentionally alienate. I need them often to remove my foot from my mouth.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is a very good Catholic. I'm a Catholic, too, but Theresa knows more about Catholicism than I do. Theresa says that if a Catholic gets divorced he is automatically excommunicated. (That applied only in the U.S.) However, that ruling was changed in 1977, and it no longer applies.

DEAR KATHY: No, Theresa needs to update her information. At one time the divorced Catholic who remarried was automatically excommunicated. (That applied only in the U.S.) However, that ruling was changed in 1977, and it no longer applies.

DEAR ABBY: Somebody wanted to know the difference between "having sex" and "making love." Your explanation was very good. Here's mine:

"Having sex" is stopping in the middle of a passionate moment to change the TV channel.

"Making love" is turning the TV off. Thank you very much.

JUST HAD SEX IN WINTERVILLE, N.C.

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh when I read about the "cruel" husband who gave his wife $50 and told her to go buy what she wanted for Mother's Day. What is she complaining about? My husband once gave me a wheelbarrow for Mother's Day so I could clean the garden better.

Another Mother's Day he gave me a ladder so I could shovel the snow off the roof.

I'm 73 years old and I'm not complaining. I'm still using both the wheelbarrow and the ladder.

Open House For Disabled

The Central Florida Sheltered Workshop invites the public to celebrate its 20th anniversary at Open House Sunday, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The CFSW is a non-profit, work-oriented rehabilitation facility serving 180 disabled adults daily. It is located near the 33rd Street exit off Interstate 4 at 1600 Aaron Avenue in Orlando.

Newly completed at the workshop is a 6,000 square foot skills training complex. Also at the workshop are a two-acre plant nursery, woodshop and other departments where contract work is done for various area businesses. Recently the facility built the first of three adult congregate living homes at their 24 acre site in Oviedo. The CFSW Board of Trustees, staff, and clients encourage the public to attend the open house in a spirit of recognition of the abilities of their disabled clients-workers, who are the inspiration for the facility's continued growth during the past twenty years.

Camping is a seasonless activity and can be fun any time of the year. Here are a few tips to make that get-away-from-it-all weekend a success. Plan the menus in advance. Menus that require minimum utensils, cooking fuel and ingredients, and non-perishable foods that are easily transported.

Remember knives, can openers, matches, multiple-use light-weight cooking utensils, fuel for camp stove, plates, cups, silverware.

This single saucepan meal can be made in less than 20 minutes. The secret of its quick cooking and satisfying flavor is chunky old fashioned vegetable beef soup.

SUNDOWN SKILLET

- 1 can (19 ounces) chunky old fashioned vegetable beef soup
 - 2 c. cooked elbow macaroni
 - 1 c. shredded Cheddar cheese
 - 1 pkg. (3 1/2 oz.) sliced pepperoni (about 1 cup), cut in half
 - Generous dash pepper
- In saucepan, combine ingredients. Heat; stir occasionally. Makes about 4 cups.

APPLE DAPPLE CAKE

- Sift together:
- 3 cups all purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 1 teaspoon salt
- Mix together:
- 1 1/2 cups oil
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 cups sugar
 - 2 teaspoons vanilla
- Combine all ingredients, blending well with electric mixer. Fold in 1 cup pecans and 3 cups chopped apples. Pour into a tube pan and bake for 1 hour at 350 degrees. While cake is hot, make the following glaze:
- 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1/4 cup milk
 - 1 stick margarine
- Mix and cook brown sugar, milk and margarine about 3 minutes. Pour hot glaze over cake and allow cake to remain in pan for 2 hours. Turn cake out on a cake plate — glaze will be partly absorbed into cake, making it moist, but some will remain to drizzle itself over cake.

SPAGHETTISALAD ITALIANO

- 8 ounces spaghetti, broken into pieces
 - 1/2 cup diced green pepper
 - 1 medium onion, finely chopped
 - 1/2 cup sliced olives
 - 1 cup mayonnaise
 - 1/2 cup old world style spaghetti sauce, traditional style
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon celery seed
 - Dash pepper
- Cook spaghetti al dente for 6 to 8 minutes; rinse in cold water and drain. Combine spaghetti and remaining ingredients and toss well. Chill.
- Garnish with sliced hardboiled egg before serving, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 5 to 6 servings.

ZESTY BARBECUED STEAK

- 1 cup finely chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup prepared horseradish
 - 1/3 cup dark corn syrup
 - 1/2 cup vinegar
 - 1/4 cup corn oil
 - 1/4 cup ketchup
 - 2 cloves garlic, minced or pressed
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- (1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pound) boneless beef chuck roast or steak, cut 2 inches thick
- In small bowl mix together onion, horseradish, corn syrup, vinegar, corn oil, ketchup, garlic, salt and pepper. Place steak in shallow dish. Pour marinade over steak. Cover; refrigerate several hours or overnight, turning occasionally.
- Drain excess marinade from steak. Grill 6 inches from source of heat, turning as needed and basting frequently with marinade, 40 to 50 minutes or until desired doneness. Cut diagonally across grain into thin slices. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

SWEET-SOUR CHICKEN KABOBS

- 2 whole chicken breasts, skinned, boned, and cut into 1 1/2-inch pieces
 - 1 can (16 1/2 oz.) pineapple chunks, drained (reserve juice)
 - 2 green peppers, cut into eighths
 - 16 Water Chestnuts (1-8 oz. can)
 - 8 cherry tomatoes
 - 8 large mushroom caps
- Marinade:
- 1/2 cup soy sauce
 - 1/2 cup reserved pineapple juice
 - 1/4 cup cooking oil
 - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 - 2 teaspoons ground ginger
 - 1 teaspoon garlic salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
- Combine marinade ingredients in a small saucepan; simmer 5 minutes. Cool. Marinate chicken pieces for one hour, stirring occasionally. Drain, reserving marinade. Thread chicken pieces, pineapple chunks, green pepper pieces, water chestnuts, cherry tomatoes, and mushroom caps on metal skewers. Grill for 20 minutes basting with reserved marinade. Serves 4.

TUNA CORN PUDDING

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 3 eggs
 - 2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna, drained
 - 1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
 - 1 medium tomato, sliced
- In medium skillet, melt butter, add onion and green pepper and cook until tender. In 1 1/2-quart baking dish, beat eggs; add onion mixture and rest of ingredients except cheese and tomato; mix well.
- Bake in 350-degree oven 35 minutes. Sprinkle cheese over top, add tomato slices and bake 5 to 10 minutes longer, until tip of knife inserted in center comes out clean. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.

GINGER CREAM DIP

- 1 cup sour cream
 - 2 tablespoons honey
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind
 - 1/8 teaspoon ground ginger
- Combine ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with fruit. 1 cup.

COTTAGE CHEESE DIP

- 1 cup smooth and creamy style cottage cheese
 - 1/4 cup creamy cucumber dressing
 - 2 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
 - 1 tablespoon green onion slices
- Combine ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with vegetable dippers. 1 1/4 cups.

Best Ever Meat Loaf a favorite for decades.

Recipes Handed Down From Moms To Daughters

Thrift and ingenuity have played important roles in American domestic life since early Colonial times. Eighteenth century housewives made use of even the tiniest scraps of fabric in patchwork quilts that were both beautiful and warm. Their walls were stenciled with decorative patterns as an alternative to expensive imported wallpapers.

Because few cookbooks were available, they recorded their recipes in notebooks which were handed down from mother to daughter for generations.

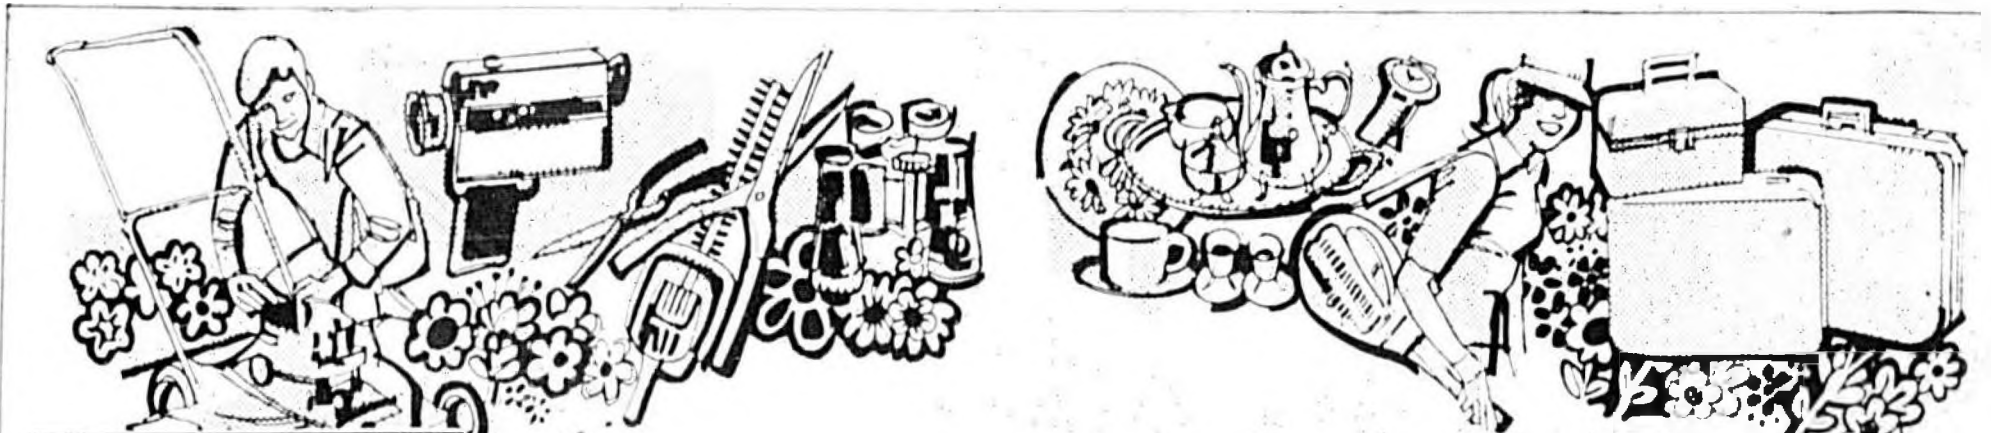

Today there is renewed interest in the merits of conservation and thrift. Among the favorite recipes that twentieth century mothers have passed along to their children — and to each other — is the one for Best Ever Meat Loaf.

Condensed soup, for example, adds lively flavor and moistness as it helps to bind the meat mixture together. Part of the soup also becomes a savory pour-over sauce when blended into the pan drippings. Depending on your taste buds and the contents of your cupboard, you can choose cream of mushroom, golden mushroom or tomato soup to achieve these great results.

BEST EVER MEAT LOAF

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed Cream of Mushroom, Golden Mushroom or Tomato Soup
 - 2 pounds ground beef
 - 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
 - 1-3/4 cup finely chopped onion
 - 1 egg, slightly beaten
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1-3/4 cup water
- Mix thoroughly 1/2 cup soup, beef, bread crumbs, onion, egg and salt. Shape firmly into loaf (8 x 4 inches); place in shallow baking pan. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 1 hour 15 minutes. In saucepan, blend remaining soup, water and 2 to 3 tablespoons dripping. Heat; stir occasionally. Serve with loaf. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

For a Meat Loaf Wellington, prepare loaf as above. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 1 hour. Spoon off fat. Separate 1 package (8 ounces) refrigerated crescent dinner rolls; place crosswise over top and down sides of meat loaf, overlapping slightly. Bake 15 minutes more.

Microwave Magic Sugarless Desserts For Dieters

Special diets are concern for many of us. We frequently need to limit salt and sugar. Several sugar replacements are on the market today to sweeten sugar restricted diets. This week a new sweetener appeared that contains a sweetener other than saccharine.

The following recipes are intended to familiarize you with ways to sweeten microwave products without using sugar. Small amounts are preferred to avoid a bitter aftertaste. Add the sugar replacement toward the end of cooking, or after the product is cooked. The sweetness can cook away.

Natural fruit juices and dried fruits such as raisins or apricots when added to a dish may make additional sweetener unnecessary.

Keep this in mind when preparing some of your favorite desserts. You may be able to reduce or substitute for the sugar, thereby reducing the calories and carbohydrates in your diet.

Cranberries Make Bread Super Moist

How long has it been since you had a freshly baked English scone dripping with jelly or honey? Now you can make your own for those special weekend brunches.

Another bread treat with a South American background is a sweet potato bread. This version includes cranberries for added moisture and a sweet-tart flavor.

ENGLISH ORANGE SCONES WITH CRANBERRY JELLY

- JELLY:
- 1 cup cranberry apple drink
 - 1 1/4 cups sugar
 - 1-3 cup (one 3-ounce pouch) liquid pectin
- SCONES
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 4 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - Grated rind of 1 large orange
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1-3 cup butter or margarine
 - 1 egg
 - about 1/2 cup milk

FOR JELLY: In large saucepan, combine drink and sugar. Bring mixture to a boil. Stir in pectin and bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from heat and skim any foam from surface. Pour mixture hot into sterilized jelly glasses. Seal and cool. Makes 1 pint jelly.

FOR SCONES: In a bowl, mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in orange rind and nutmeg. Cut in butter until particles are very fine, like cornmeal. Beat egg and add enough milk to make 3/4 cup. Pour over flour and mix. Turn dough out on a heavily floured surface and knead a few times until a smooth ball. Pat out dough into an 8-inch round. Cut round into 10 wedges, about 1/2 inch thick. Preheat a griddle on top of range and place wedges on top over low heat. Cook for 8 to 10 minutes on each side or until puffed and golden brown. Split warm scones and spread with butter and cranberry jelly. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 10 scones.

CRANBERRY SWEET POTATO BREAD

- 1-3 cup soft butter or margarine
- 2 1/2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup lukewarm milk
- 2 eggs
- 1 envelope active dry yeast
- 1/4 cup lukewarm water
- 3 1/2 to 4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup cranberry orange sauce
- 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts

GLAZE:

1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
1/4 cup cranberry orange sauce

In bowl, mix butter, potatoes, sugar, salt, milk and eggs. Dissolve yeast in water and then stir into potato mixture. Stir in flour and beat until well blended. Brush top of dough lightly with oil, cover and let rise until double in bulk in a warm place, about 1 to 1 1/2 hours. Turn dough out on a floured surface and knead until a smooth ball. Roll out dough to a 10-by-14 inch oblong. Spread sauce and nuts on dough. Roll up dough, starting at the 14-inch side, like a jelly roll. Place dough seam side down with ends joining in a ring into a greased, bundt pan. Let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 40 to 45 minutes. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until loaf sounds hollow when thumped. Unmold.

FOR GLAZE: Mix sugar with enough sauce to make a thick mixture. Spoon glaze over hot bread and allow to drip over sides. Cool thoroughly before cutting into slices. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 ring bread.

Variety Of Recipes In Cookbooklet

The American Dairy Association has compiled a cookbooklet containing elegant recipes using dairy products — from exciting appetizers through luscious desserts.
 For a copy of "The Wonderful World of Real Dairy Foods," send 35 cents per booklet for postage and handling to American Dairy Association, Dept. RB-RDF, Box 721, 6300 North River Road, Rosemont, Ill. 60018.

Several kitchen-tested recipes from the booklet are as follows:

- GRASSHOPPER (One 9-inch pie)
CRUST:
 24 chocolate wafer cookies
 1/4 cup 1/2 stick butter, melted
 2 tablespoons sugar
FILLING:
 one-third cup milk
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 4 egg yolks, beaten
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup white creme de cacao
 1/4 cup green creme de menthe
 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
 Sweetened whipped cream, if desired
 Chocolate curls, if desired

For crust, reserve 11 to 12 perfect wafers; trim 1/4 inch from bottom of each wafer. Save wafers and trimmings. Crush remaining wafers and trimmings. Combine crumbs, butter and sugar. Press crumb mixture onto bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Stand trimmed wafers (rounded edge on top) upright around edge of pie plate. Chill crust while preparing filling.

For filling, sprinkle gelatin over milk to soften. Combine egg yolks and sugar in a small saucepan; stir in gelatin mixture.

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat, stir in creme de cacao and creme de menthe. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream. Pour into chilled crust.

Chill until firm, several hours or overnight. Garnish with whipped cream and chocolate curls before serving.

- OH BOY CASSEROLE (6 servings)
 6 tablespoons butter
 1/2 cup chopped onion
 1 pound ground chuck
 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 1/2 cups light cream OR half and half
 1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 1 package (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables, cooked and drained
 1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
 Packaged instant mashed potatoes (enough for 4 servings) OR 2 cups regular mashed potatoes

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a large skillet. Add onion and beef; saute until beef is brown and crumbly. Drain off drippings; set beef mixture aside. Preheat oven to 375 degrees F.

Melt remaining butter in a 2-quart saucepan. Stir in flour and seasonings until smooth. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in cream. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir in 1 cup of the cheese until melted if necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheese. Stir in Worcestershire. Stir in mixed vegetables, beef mixture and mushrooms. Spoon into 1 1/2-quart shallow casserole. Bake 20 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Meanwhile, prepare mashed potatoes according to package directions.

Pipe potatoes through a fluted pastry tube around edges of casserole (or spoon around). Top with remaining cheese. Broil 3 to 5 minutes about 6 inches from source of heat until cheese just begins to melt.

- SOLE BROCCOLI BAKE (6 servings)
 2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen broccoli spears
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 pounds sole fillets
 1 cup chicken broth
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 tablespoons flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 cup light cream OR half and half
 1/2 cup chicken broth
 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
 1/4 cup toasted sliced almonds

Cook broccoli according to package directions; drain well. Saute in 2 tablespoons butter until butter is absorbed; set aside. Roll fish fillets jelly-roll fashion; secure with wooden picks. Place fillets in large skillet with cover. Pour 1 cup chicken broth over fillets. Heat to boiling. Reduce heat; simmer, covered, until fish flakes easily with a fork.

There's Nothing Like Fresh Bread In The Kitchen

No less than Shakespeare, Lord Byron, the Bible and various scribes have cited bread as a central force of life. And James Beard, in "Bread on Bread," said, "Good bread is the most fundamentally satisfying of all foods."

There's nothing like the heavenly scent of freshly baked bread to cheer up the kitchen. So roll up your sleeves and get ready for some good old-fashioned kneading and baking. It's fall!

You'll have the most irresistible toast and sandwiches you can ever imagine when you prepare two luscious loaves of cheese bread for instance. Cheese gives the bread an intriguing bouquet, while red pepper sauce adds a subtle piquant flavor to the rich, yeasty taste of the loaves.

An attractive centerpiece for any meal, Savory Bubble Cheese Bread boasts a crown of golden globes lightly studded with caraway seeds. Under the golden crust you find a satisfying blend of Cheddar cheese, Tabasco pepper sauce and a hint of onion.

Don't let Parmesan Pepper Bread's conventional loaf shape fool you into thinking it's ordinary—far from it! Along with such hearty herbs as oregano and basil, the bread bears the rich flavors of tangy Parmesan cheese and perky Tabasco pepper sauce, which gives the loaf character.

Now here are some yeast bread-baking tips culled from the experts:

To test the dough's second rising, push two fingers 1/2-inch down in the dough; if the dent remains, it's doubled. You can test for doneness after baking by tapping the top of the loaf; if crust sounds hollow and is evenly browned, it's ready.

Breads will stay fresher longer if they're wrapped in airtight plastic wrap, aluminum foil or a plastic bag. Then seal them with tape.

Slice a hard-crusted bread from the side and not from the top. A serrated, long-bladed bread-slicing knife or an electric knife is excellent for this purpose.

SAVORY BUBBLE CHEESE BREAD

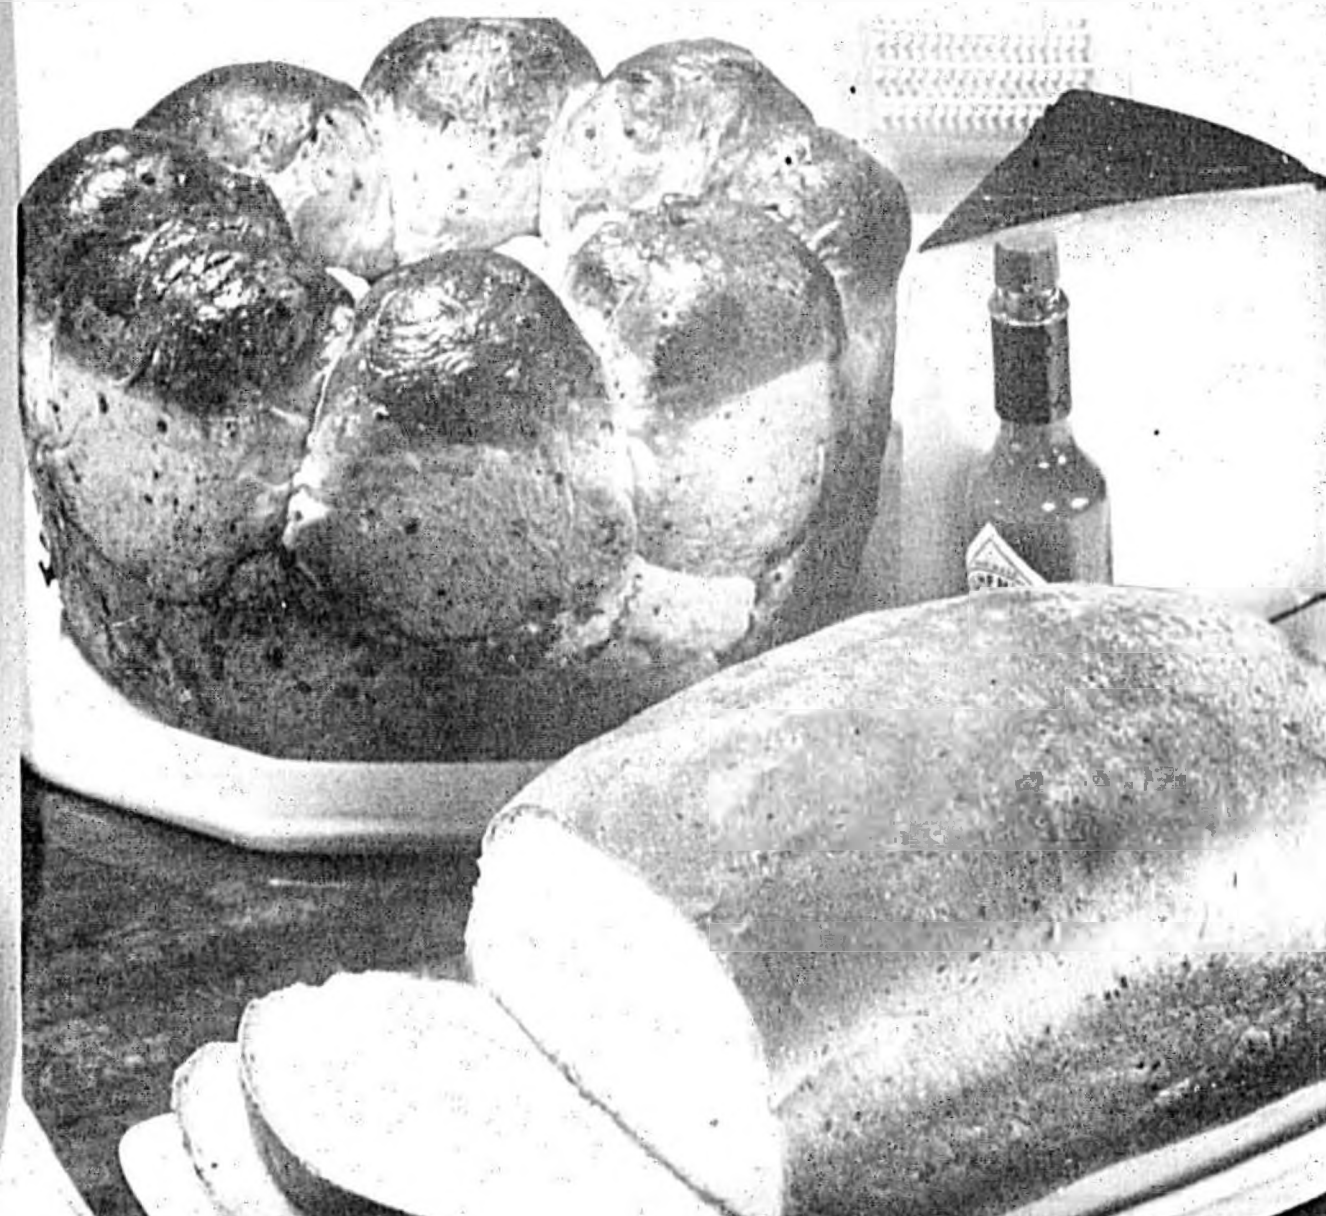

- 4 1/2 cups unsifted flour, divided
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 teaspoons instant minced onion
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1 teaspoon caraway seeds
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
- 2 cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese, divided

1 egg, lightly beaten
In large bowl of electric mixer combine 2 1/2 cups flour, sugar, onion, salt, yeast and caraway seeds. In small saucepan combine milk, water and butter. Heat mixture until very warm (120 degrees-130 degrees F). Stir in Tabasco sauce. Gradually add milk mixture to dry ingredients; beat 2 minutes at medium speed. Add 1 cup flour. Beat at high speed 2 minutes. With a wooden spoon stir in 1/2 cup cheese and enough flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, until doubled in bulk, about 50 minutes. Punch dough down. Knead 1 to 2 minutes. Divide dough into 16 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a smooth ball. Place half the balls in a well-greased 10-inch tube pan. Sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cup cheese. Arrange remaining balls on top. Cover; let rise in warm place, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Brush with egg. Bake in a 375 degree F oven 40 to 50 minutes, or until golden. Remove from pan. Cool on wire rack. YIELD: 10-inch loaf, 18 to 20 slices.

PARMESAN PEPPER BREAD

- 1 1/2 cups warm water (105 degrees to 115 degrees F)
- 2 envelopes active dry yeast
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
1/2 teaspoon dried leaf oregano, crumbled
1/4 teaspoon dried leaf basil, crumbled
4 to 5 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
Measure water into large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir to dissolve. Add butter, egg, sugar, salt, cheese, Tabasco sauce, oregano and basil. Add about 4 cups flour beat with a wooden spoon until mixture forms a ball and leaves sides of the bowl. Dough will be soft. Turn dough out onto floured board. Work in just enough additional flour to make dough easy to handle. Knead about 5 minutes, or until dough is smooth and elastic. Place dough in large, greased bowl; turn over to bring greased side up; cover with damp towel. Let rise in warm place (85 degrees F) free from draft, about 1 hour or until doubled in bulk. Punch dough down; knead a few minutes on lightly floured board. Shape into 2 loaves; place in greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans; cover with damp towel. Let rise in warm place 45 to 50 minutes or until doubled in bulk. Bake in a 400 degree F oven 30 minutes. Turn out onto racks to cool. YIELD: Two 9 x 5-inch loaves.

Two unusual cheese breads, kissed with pepper sauce, make for heavenly baking this fall.

Dessert To Dazzle

Looking for a dessert that takes company in its stride—and very little effort from you? Search no more! The answer is our Ambrosia Parfait, a fabulous, fancy, fluffy concoction of fresh fruit, yogurt and Oreo chocolate sandwich cookies. Fixed in a jiffy but looking like hours of painstaking preparation, it is truly a Dessert to Dazzle.

AMBROSIA PARFAITS

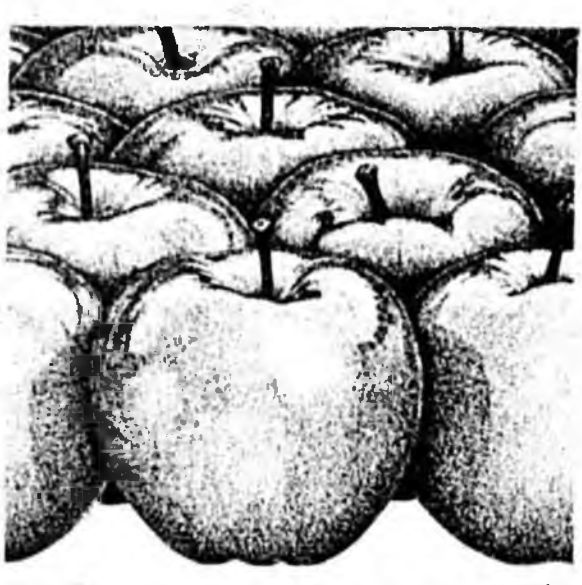

- 20 Oreo chocolate sandwich cookies, finely rolled (about 2 cups crumbs)
- 2 (8-ounce) cartons low-fat, vanilla-flavored yogurt
- 2 1/4 cups fresh pineapple chunks (about half medium-size fresh)
- 1 (3 1/2-ounce) can flaked coconut (about 1 1/3 cups)
- 3 medium oranges

2. In medium bowl, combine yogurt, pineapple chunks and coconut; stir until well blended. Spread about 1/3 cup evenly over crumbs in each glass to form a layer.

3. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons cookie crumbs over each yogurt layer to cover. Peel and section 3 oranges; arrange segments evenly in each glass on top of cookie crumb layer.

4. Reserving 3 teaspoons cookie crumbs for garnish, top orange layers with remaining crumbs; cover with remaining yogurt mixture, using approximately 1/4 cup per glass. Sprinkle top of each lightly with 1/2 teaspoon cookie crumbs. Chill at least 30 to 60 minutes before serving. Garnish with orange peel curl. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: If fresh fruit is out-of-season or unavailable, use 1 (20-ounce) can pineapple chunks in natural juice, drained, and 1 (16-ounce) can mandarin orange segments, drained.

Many are picked. Few are chosen.

At Tree Top, we start with the very best. And that's where we stop. You see, nature makes the juice. We just make the package.

Washington Is No Longer Recession Free

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A sign of the recession in a company town where the federal government is the factory: the unemployment line starts at 3:30 a.m. along the sidewalks in front of the neat red-brick rowhouses in the working-class neighborhood of Petworth.

By the time the doors open at 7:30 a.m. there will be more than 100 people — some who bring lawn chairs to make the wait easier — in a line that snakes down the block and around the corner. And by 8 a.m. new arrivals are being told to go home and come back another day.

"It's simple — if you don't get here early you don't get anything accomplished," said Ronald Richburg, 24, who last worked as a courier.

The Petworth Employment Services Center is one of five unemployment centers in the District of Columbia.

"The lines are long because of people who have been 'rifled' (laid off because of a reduction in force)," said Robert Locke, who has been an employment counselor at the center for 13 years.

"The clients are more hostile now, especially people who had been working for the government 20 years."

The June unemployment rate in the city hit 11.3 percent, the highest in decades, higher than the July national average of 9.8 percent. In the city, 35,600 were out of work; there were 109,100 out of work across the metropolitan area.

In the Washington area — once thought recession-proof because of government jobs — unemployment hit a record 6.3 percent in June.

Former government employees are hostile and dispirited. Long-term unemployed are discouraged by a market crowded with victims of government reductions.

Recession in the nation's capital is a paradox. The downtown area rattles with the noise of an office construction boom while miles of streets remain charred and hollow, scarred from the 1968 riots following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Jobs go to the skilled, like clerical workers, medical technicians and heavy equipment operators. The unskilled wait.

"I've been out of work six months," said Curtis Wilkins, 31, a laborer laid off after the government shut down most Comprehensive Employment and Training Act programs.

"My friends were in CETA. We all got laid off," said Wilkins, who said he would take any job.

Federal job reductions have cut only about 2,800 real jobs since President Reagan took office, Causey said. But the ripple effect causes panic and job dislocation.

"For every job abolished, up to 15 people are hit by the shock waves. If you have an agency with 500 people and 50 are rifled, you will scare the liver out of 450 people," Causey said.

Because of the role government plays in Washington, layoffs affect the private sector, shrinking the market for retail goods, printers and an extra arm of the government, consultants.

Although Causey says only 2,800 jobs were cut in the Washington area, job expansion slowed with up to 30,000 replacement positions lost to attrition.

PSC To Hold Hearing On FP&L Rate Request

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Public Service Commission will begin nine days of hearings Monday on Florida Power and Light Company's (FP&L) request for a $281 million rate increase request.

FP&L requested the rate increase in April, contending that inflation, increased operating expenses, and a sharp increase in construction costs make a rate increase necessary. Hearings were held in Miami, West Palm Beach, Ft. Lauderdale, Sarasota, Ft. Myers and Daytona Beach in July to receive comments from customers of the company regarding the rate increase request.

The commission will conclude the Tallahassee hearings on September 24 and a final decision in the case is expected in November.

Red Cross Class At All Souls School

All Souls School, 810 Oak Ave., Sanford, will host a Red Cross course in emergency first aid procedures in mid-September.

Cost is $8 for workbooks. To register, call Fran Jones at 323-0829 or 322-7090. Deadline to sign up is Sept. 15.

Favorite Recipes From Chicken Cooking Contest

The seemingly endless variety of ways to prepare chicken are apparent in the newest edition of "The Chicken Cookbook," which made its debut at the 1982 National Chicken Cooking Contest on Aug. 18 in Dallas, Texas.

Included in the handy paperback book, published by the National Broiler Council, are all 51 recipes prepared at the 34th annual chicken Cook-Off, including the $10,000 top prize winner selected as the year's best chicken recipe. All of the $10,000 chicken recipes from past contests are also included.

The Chicken Cookbook may be ordered for $1.25 (including postage) by sending a check or money order (no cash) to: Chicken Cookbook, Department NBC, Box 307, Coventry, Conn. 06238.

A color photograph of Chicken Paella is on the cover. This recipe is included in a special section called "Chicken Instead," which features chicken in recipes traditionally using other meats. Among these are scallopi, tacos, lasagna and kabobs.

Another section is devoted to "Chicken Texas Style," with recipes from all parts of the national Cook-Off's host state.

The book contains a wealth of information for easy reference, including step-by-step diagrams for boning and cutting up chicken, serving tips and nutritional information.

For those who would like to take part in the 1983 National Chicken Cooking Contest, the cookbook also contains an entry blank and rules for entering next year's competition.

Some of the recipes in the cookbook areas follows:

CRAZY CARIBBEAN CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
 1/2 cup peppered cola drink
 1 stick cinnamon
 4 whole cloves
 3 whole allspice
 3 tablespoons dark rum
 2 tablespoons molasses
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon bottled hot sauce

1 garlic clove, minced
 1 can (16 oz.) frozen limeade concentrate, thawed

In small saucepan, make marinade by mixing together peppered cola, cinnamon, cloves and allspice. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Remove from heat and cool. Add rum, molasses, salt, hot sauce and garlic; stir to mix. In large bowl, place chicken. Pour marinade mixture over chicken, turning to coat. Cover and marinate at room temperature for at least 1 hour. Remove chicken from marinade. Place on prepared grill, skin side up, about 8 inches from heat. Cook, turning and basting with marinade about 1 hour or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease. About 5 minutes before chicken is done, spoon 1 tablespoon limeade on each chicken piece and continue cooking until glazed. Serve with rice and grilled pineapple and banana. Makes 4 servings.

Dianna M. Winsor, Arlington, VA

SUMMER CHICKEN

1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in parts
 6 tablespoons butter
 1 pound small new potatoes, stipe peeled around center
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, divided
 1/2 teaspoon pepper, divided
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 3 green onions, white and green parts included, thinly sliced
 1 pound fresh peas, shelled (about 1 cup)
 1/4 cup chopped parsley
 1 1/2 cups sour cream
 1 teaspoon thyme leaves

In large frypan, place butter and melt over medium heat. Add chicken and potatoes and cook, turning, about 10 minutes or until brown on all sides. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon of the salt and 1/4 teaspoon of the pepper. Add lemon juice. Cover and simmer over low heat for 30 minutes. Place green onion around chicken and potatoes in frypan. Add peas; sprinkle with parsley. Cover and cook about 10 minutes longer or until fork can be inserted in chicken with ease and potatoes are tender. Remove from heat. Place chicken, potatoes and peas on serving platter and keep warm. To remaining contents of frypan, add sour cream, thyme, remaining 1/2 teaspoon salt and remaining 1/4 teaspoon pepper; stir to mix. Cook, stirring occasionally, over low heat about 5 minutes or until sauce is hot. Do not boil.

Pour sauce over chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Helpful Tips For Ragweed Sufferers

DEAR DR. LAMB — Do you have any suggestions for hay fever victims? The ragweed season is upon us and my nose runs constantly when that happens. I've had the problem for years but I am fortunate that it's just ragweed I'm allergic to. I understand you can also have this reaction to grass and trees.

Do you think it would do any good for me to take the series of shots some people take to prevent hay fever? I take antihistamines, sometimes one after another but they just don't do the trick. I understand there is no ragweed in Europe and have suggested to my husband that we take a trip but it is a little too rich for our finances.

effects if you use it for a period of time.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 8-4, Hay Fever (Allergic Rhinitis) for more details. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR READER — You could visit the Northwest United States as there is little ragweed pollen there. And you might enjoy it that time of year.

If you can't escape you can close up the house. That means you will want to use air-conditioning. The thin filters in window units are not thick enough to filter out pollen, so be sure to close the fresh air vent if you use them. If you have a central unit an electrostatic precipitator may help. Room electrostatic filter units are not nearly so effective.

Desensitization shots are often very effective for hay fever (allergic rhinitis) but it is a little late to expect much help from that for this year's ragweed season. It is best to start six to nine months before the season for best results.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like some information about margarine, as compared to butter. Is it possible to use margarine to excess, as one can butter? Does it make any difference which margarine you use? Do margarines contain cholesterol?

DEAR READER — There are many different brands of margarine. You need to look on the label. Most of them today list the amount of saturated fat, mono-unsaturated fat and polyunsaturated fat. You should look for one that contains the least amount of saturated fat and the most polyunsaturated fat.

Since margarines are made from vegetable products they do not contain cholesterol. That is one of the big advantages they have if you need to limit cholesterol intake.

Of course the type of fat the margarine contains, saturated or polyunsaturated, is important but don't forget that the total fat intake in your diet is important too. If your goal is to restrict calories you should know that you will get the same number of calories in an ounce of margarine as you will in an ounce of butter. If you need to restrict your total fat you may wish to limit margarine just as you would butter.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
September 9, 1982
Goals which you initially set for this coming year might not stand the test of time, and be erased from the slate. However, they'll be replaced by objectives which are more realistic and rewarding.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
This is one of those days where all your actions are likely to be closely scrutinized. Don't make any moves which could be detrimental to your image. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You are, innately, a very kind person. This is an admirable quality, but today you may overlook the deserving while rewarding those who should be ignored.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Look gift horses in the mouth today. You could have things offered to you which appear nifty on the surface, but which have hidden strings attached.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Important decisions should not be made for the sake of expediency today. What may look like easy-outs could offer greater problems in the long run.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Be sensible about health habits today. If there are things you know that you shouldn't eat or drink, don't touch them with a 10-foot-pole.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Do not seek favors today from persons you've recently met and with whom you haven't established strong bonds of friendship. It won't help your cause.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Be wary of inviting others to drop in some time unless you really mean it. They'll take your invitation to heart, even though you are just being polite.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Don't foist ideas on others today which you have never tested. They may look good on paper, but fall short in execution.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Avoid taking any gambles today which could affect your resources or those of someone else. Lady Luck is very fickle and may ignore your spin of the wheel.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
A member of the opposite sex may come on rather strong today and although you could be flattered, it could spell trouble if you let this go too far.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Don't depend too heavily on our charm and wit to get you by today. They may work up to a point, but they'll lose their luster when the going gets tough.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Your hopes could be dashed today if they are built upon unrealistic foundations. Erect your castles on bedrock, not shifting sands.

Opening lead ♥K

'You had nothing to do with setting me, other than to get off to your normal opening lead. It was East who put his hand in my pocket.'

East had made a mighty good defensive play. It was one that any expert would feel rather proud of, not that an expert would think he had done anything sensational. It was merely that he had played well as experts are supposed to and usually do.

East carefully played his ace of hearts on his partner's king and returned his singleton club. South won in dummy and led the deuce of trumps. However, East hopped up with his ace and was now ready to return a heart. West was in with the jack and led a club for East to ruff for the setting trick.

It's nothing to ring bells about or to put East in the hall of fame, but the sort of fine defensive play that saves many a game for the players good enough to make it.

For those readers who think that four spades was a poor bid, we must point out that only super defense plus the 3-1 club break led to its defeat. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
