Army Will Display Big Mobile Exhibit At Fair Next Week

A giant mobile Army exhibit with a specially designed Ordnance Corps theme is being brought here from Headquarters, Third Army, Atlanta, for the Seminole Fair which begins Feb. 13. Arrangements for the exhibit were made by M. Sgt. Henry Jacobson, Station Commander of the recruiting office for this area, who said that the bus was completely outfitted by personnel of the Third Army Ordnance section.

"The overhead of the bus shows in photographs the activities of the Corps, such as the Ordnance School at Aberdeen, Md., the Ordnance Automotive School at the Atlanta (Georgia) General Depot and the Guided Missile School at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala. Also on display are samples of work turned out by the soldiers-students at the automotive school, such as gears, lathe work and milling. An interesting item to be exhibited will be a working model of an automotive oil pump in operation.

Scale models of the famous "Nike" rocket propelled surface to air missile, complete with trailer and elevated firing ramp; the "Corporal", a powerful guided 3.5 bazooka rocket will be displayed," the recruiter explained.

Threat Of Possible Blockade Raised By East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany raised the threat today of a possible blockade of Western air traffic into isolated West Berlin.

The threat came from the President of the Volkskammer—Lower House—in a protest concerning "unfriendly" actions. A statement asserted the Allies would be "well advised" if they remembered that planes flying to West Berlin are traveling through the "sovereign air territory" of East Germany. Berlin is 110 miles inside East Germany.

Western political experts said it was the first time East Germany has ever referred to its air territory in such strong terms.

The President's declaration was reported by the official East German News Agency ADN.

The U. S. mission in Berlin said it would have no comment on the Volkskammer declaration. One top Western official said: "It's a veiled threat, but it's a question whether they will implement it."

Unexpected Meet

An unexpected meeting has been set for the Zoning and Planning Commission of the City of Sanford for tonight at 8:30 p. m. in the commissioners room of the City Hall.

The meeting has been called to consider the rezoning of a section of Sanford area.

May of this year marks the advent of another development to Port Lyautey, French Morocco, Africa of Heavy Attack Squadron F19 and the return to Sanford of VAH-5.

To prepare for the squadron movement and subsequent detachments aboard aircraft carriers of the U. S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean, pilots of VAH-5 must become qualified in landing their aircraft both night and day aboard any U. S. Navy Carrier.

Before a pilot is considered fully carrier qualified he must complete 20 day and eight night landings aboard ship. These exercises are the fleet carrier qualification operations normally conducted aboard available ships along the Atlantic Coast and Cuban waters.

A pilot new to an aircraft such as the AJ "Savage" may not attempt a carrier landing until he has undertaken many hours of practice landings. These FCLP or Field Carrier Landing Practice sessions are conducted aboard the Naval Auxiliary Air Station under the strict supervision of Squadron Landing Signal Officer, Lt. Frank Dauer.

Under Dauer's watchful eye and the guidance of his paddles, the AJ fly a pattern around the air station identical to that flown around a ship. On the final leg of the approach, Dauer determines whether the plane is high, low, fast or slow. Since the AJ, the Navy's largest operational carrier based aircraft, has only limited space to land aboard ship, each landing must be the apex of precision.

A plane flying too high will have to circle the ship; too low and he is in danger of hitting the deck ramp; excess speed multiplies errors in placing the plane on the desired spot; lack of speed can cause a plane to fall in mid-air and plunge into the water like a wounded bird. The combination of "too and slow" has ruined the reputation of many good pilots.

Before Dauer gives a pilot the go-ahead to fly aboard a flat-top, he must execute a minimum of 120 day and 48 night FCLP landings. For the night landings Dauer wears an illuminated suit and uses fluorescent paddles to guide the planes in the deck.

Beginning tonight and continuing through next week flying will be a month-long check operation aboard the Naval Auxiliary Air Station for night Field Carrier Landing exercises have begun for the Savage Sons of Sanford. From Feb. 23-27 the AJ's land aboard the USS Coral Sea to culminate the many day and night hours of flight at Sanford prior to crossing the Atlantic in May.

Man Admits Breaking, Entering Two Firms

A 32-year-old white man who gave his address as 803 West First St. has been lodged in the Seminole County Jail charged with breaking and entering to commit a misdemeanor.

Following the entering of Slime Machine Shop on West Second St., law enforcement officers followed the tracks of John Riley Shirley, an employee of the Florida Power Corporation, to his place of residence.

Sanford Police Department officers John Rumbley, W. R. Cochrane and Herman Harriett, along with Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway, followed footprints of Shirley from the Slime Machine Shop.

They obtained a warrant from Justice of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan for the arrest of the white man who admitted the breaking and entering of Slime Machine Shop and an earlier breaking and entering of Galloway's Service Station at 401 West First St.

Constable Galloway said that a search of the room where Shirley lived revealed all of the cigars and candy that had been taken from the filling station Feb. 3. Value of the stolen goods was placed at $10. There were four partial boxes of cigars and three partial boxes of candy recovered from Shirley's room.

According to the report on the arrest of Shirley, he was employed by Florida Power Corporation as a member of a pole crew.

The three Sanford Police Department officers and Constable Galloway had to wait at Shirley's residence for his return from work.

Board Is Presented Proposals

The possibility of voting machines for a number of Seminole County precincts for the May 8 Democratic Primary and the November elections was revealed at the meeting yesterday of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners.

Two companies manufacturing the complicated machinery presented proposals to the commissioners yesterday. However, representative of the manufacturing concern were not present at the meeting.

Representatives of the two companies will probably attend the meeting of the commissioners on March 6 or possibly later this month to explain their proposals to the commissioners whereby the machines could be used on a loan or trial basis for the two 1956 elections.

However, the possibility of the purchase of the machines was in evidence as commissioners discussed the voting procedure and the length of time that the counting of ballots consumes during heavy elections.

Commissioner John Melich stated that he had received a number of requests from citizens that the voting machines be used in the larger precincts of the county.

It was also revealed that the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee had requested some time back that the machines be installed in the county precincts.

Commissioners stated that the proposal for the purchase or rental of the machines had come before the Board on previous occasions but that the proposal was tabled.

The Group Voting Machine Company offered the use of five machines for the two 1956 elections on a loan basis with the agreement to lend every possible assistance in the use of the machine and in educating the public on the voting procedures and use of the machines.

Commissioners authorized Clerk O. P. Merriam to contact the representatives of two companies requesting that they be present at the next meeting to present their proposals.

$90 Million Gain Is Shown In Report

In his annual report this week, S. Kendrick Gierney, President of the Gulf Life Insurance Co., Jacksonville, formerly of Sanford, said that there was a gain of more than 90-million dollars of insurance in force.

He particularly pointed to the fact that, "the year 1954 was a year of development and that in the one 12-month period were accomplished some of the objectives which customarily extend over a period of many years."

Gierney said, "We sought a goal of $750 million of insurance in 1954 actually in force and in the final moments of that year the ambition was achieved with more than two millions to spare."

"Then came the information that Gulf Life Insurance Company," he said, "had been awarded more than 70-million dollars of insurance in the Federal Government's employee group plan which brought the total insurance in force at that time to $782,900,191, a combined increase for the year of more than 90-million dollars."

Citing the fact that the federal insurance would not be particularly profitable but it is a high compliment that Gulf Life Insurance Company met the very rigid requirements for participation, and because of this participation, Gierney said, "Our field men are afforded entry to all government employees for the sale of additional insurance, a distinct advantage over competitive companies not an honored."

The Gulf Life Insurance Company has an office located in Sanford.

Supreme Court Told Odham Had Right To Make Comment

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Supreme Court was told today that W. L. Odham had every right to comment unfavorably on a political poll which said he was "slipping" as a candidate for governor and that the Florida Times-Union was within its rights in quoting the comment.

The court heard an appeal by Jacksonville political pollster Joe Abraham from a Duval County Circuit Court ruling dismissing a one-million dollar libel suit he brought against Odham and the Times-Union.

No immediate decision was reached by the Supreme Court. Gerald R. Hart of Jacksonville, representing Abraham, said Odham's comment that "Joe Abraham is a phony and his poll is a phony" was malicious and was quoted by the Times-Union "for the purpose of ridiculing the deciding Joe Abraham."

Odham's comment was made during his unsuccessful 1954 campaign for the governorship.

Hart declared Odham's comment and its publication by the Times-Union caused the public to lose confidence in Abraham's poll with a resulting drop-off in support to questionnaires on which the poll was based and subscriptions to poll results.

Hart told of Jacksonville, representing the Times-Union, said the newspaper had reported Odham's comment "in the ordinary course of reporting a political campaign."

Pastor P. Stone To Resume Pulpit Duties Next Sunday

Pastor Perry L. Stone, who underwent surgery a month ago, will resume his pulpit duties Sunday at the First Christian Church. At the morning hour he will begin a series of sermons on "Figures of the Church in Ephesians," using as his first subject "The Church as the Body of Christ." During Mr. Stone's illness the pulpit was supplied by a retired minister, Rev. Lester C. Doerr, Mt. Dora, who was for many years pastor of the Cascade Christian Church, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. John Bair, Park Ave. Trailer Court, transferred their membership from Kingsville, Texas, bringing the total number of additions to the church to 40 since Aug. 21 when Mr. Stone began his ministry here.

Word was received this week that Executive Secretary Wm. T. Pearce, Board of Church Extension, of Disciples of Christ, Indianapolis, Ind., will be here Feb. 24 for a conference with the congregation on a proposed educational building.

On Tuesday afternoon 13 women of Group Two went to the County Home to present a program and non-citrus fruits for the guests there.

The church board Tuesday night appropriated $250.00 from the missionary treasury for several causes at home and abroad.

MR. AND MRS. J. W. MADDOX (Photo by Raymond Studio)

Beautiful Ceremony Unites Shirley Tyre, J. W. Maddox

Sunday, Feb. 8 at 4 p.m. the Rev. Milton H. Wyatt united, Miss Shirley Louise Tyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tyre and John Wallace Maddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Maddox in holy matrimony in the First Methodist Church.

The double-ring ceremony was performed against a simple but beautifully decorated background of palms and baskets of white flowers including gladioli, chrysanthemums and pom-poms. Candelabra were also used and on the piano was a low bowl of white flowers and four point silver candelabra holding burning tapers.

Organist was Roger Harris and soloist, Davis Long, uncle of the bride who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of alencon lace and tulle over satin. The molded bodice featured a round neckline outlined with pleated tulle and long lace sleeves, pointed over the hand. The dress was finished with pleating, and fastened with tiny covered buttons which also fastened the back of the bodice. The voluminous skirt of tulle with lace overskirt and tulle ruffles, extended into a cathedral train with applied lace flowers adorning it. The tiered veil was of imported illusion attached to a bandeau of satin and lace studded with pearls edge into a pleating of tulle. She carried a white orchid topped with a single white orchid centered with valley lilies and satin streamers.

Miss Shirley Wall, maid of honor, was gowned in a regal dress of aqua crystalline styled along the princess lines. It featured a "V" neckline, short sleeves and was of ballerina length. She had matching mitts, headpiece and shoes. Her crest bouquet was of yellow chrysanthemums and croton leaves.

Mrs. A. D. Maddox, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Cate Stubbings were attendants. Their gowns were similar to that of a bronze crystalline with matching mitts, headpieces and shoes. Their flowers were crescent bouquets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums and croton leaves.

Dean Maddox, brother of the groom, was best man and usher. Groomsmen were Jimmy DeBriene, Zedock Baxter, Randall Lavender and Billy Tyre, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Tyre chose for her daughter's wedding a navy silk print street length dress with navy accessories. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and madonna lilies.

Mrs. Maddox wore a navy silk print street dress with light blue accessories. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses and blue orchids.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in McKinley Hall. The bride's table was overlaid with a white linen cutwork cloth and was centered with a four-tiered cake and a crystal punch bowl. Four point silver candelabra with silver appointments were also used. Fern and white camellias were surrounding the punch bowl.

Mrs. W. B. Stanley, the bride's aunt, cut the cake and Mrs. Ted Williams poured punch. Also serving were Linda Knott, Barbara Lowe, Mrs. A. G. Jones and Mrs. Bob Bennett. At the door were Mrs. W. B. Sawyer and Miss Betty Bryan. Mrs. Davis Long, aunt of the bride, kept the Bride's Book.

Boy Fatally Hurt At Ball Practice

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — James Brown, 14, was fatally injured yesterday when he made a tackle during spring football practice at Ray High School.

He walked to the sidelines, mentioned to another player to take his place and collapsed. He died about 30 minutes later in a hospital.

Asst. Coach Charles Haynes said Brown suffered a head injury. The boy was not allowed to play football last fall because he had suffered an injury to his head in junior high school the year before.

Suman Blasts Rules Committee

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Don Suman, coach of the Rice Institute basketball team, today blasted the rules committee of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

In a letter to the monthly Basketball Bulletin Suman said: "I think the 15-foot lane has been the biggest single step in the wrong direction since basketball was first played."

"To me there are two basic factors concerning the game. "1. The players to enjoy participating.

"2. The spectators to enjoy watching.
"The zone has hurt both.
"All I hear is 'stop the big man' — so all I see is a zone, and each team stops any semblance of driving and dribbling.
"They stand and shoot long shots and do the same thing. This has caused more criticism (and I hear it many times each day) than anything. Even more than when you lose a game.
"I cannot help but feel all this has been brought on to legislate against the 'big man'. Why? Is there any legislation in football against sending a 6-6 end down for a 'stop up' pass in front of a 5-9 halfback? No! What about a 200 pound 10-second fullback running over a 165-pound halfback? Is that fair? Just as fair as a 6-3 forward out-rebounding a 6-3 forward, or a 6-10 center outplaying a 6-6 opponent.

"I feel this rule has been brought about because some of our older and more established coaches have been beaten by a big boy. I say, let the rules alone!!!
"Get out of the soft seat in the office and get the material equal to your opponent. Don't change the game. . . ."

Butts said his staff now is set for 1956.

Patterson's Hopes Of Getting Fight Today Going Down

NEW YORK (AP) — While his price goes up, up, up, Floyd Patterson's chances of getting a fight today were going down, down, down.

And that means any kind of a fight—not just with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Patterson's manager (Cus D'Amato, who has been feuding with the International Boxing Club, announced that he wanted $50,000 to match his man against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

Countered Harry Markson, managing director of the IBC: "What promoter can guarantee even a Patterson (admittedly a hot drawing card) $50,000. That amounts to 20 per cent of a $250,000 net gate.

Who is drawing that kind of money for a scintilla fight in these days of television?"

D'Amato, if he is serious about leading Patterson to a title bout with Marciano, is getting himself more and more entangled in the ropes.

He is trying to buck the IBC, which has striven on virtually the entire heavyweight division with the exception of Marciano. The champion's manager, Al Weill, broke with the IBC a couple of months back, but even he doesn't want D'Amato.

"You've got to earn a heavyweight title fight," said Weill. "What has Patterson been doing? If he wants to get a heavyweight title fight, the public must want him. The only way for him to do that is to knock off some names."

"Let him fight Jackson. That would prove something and help clear up the situation."

D'Amato has one ally, Weill. Jack Hurley of Seattle, the sometimes manager, sometimes promoter. He said last night that he would like to handle the promotions of Patterson's future fights and that he'd be interested in lining one up for the crown with Marciano.

Enterprise

By HELEN SNODGRASS
Samuel Slatinsky and Joe Gregory of Philadelphia, Pa. were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ryan, Wednesday enroute to the southern part of the state. Mr. Slatinsky was owner of the Benson Springs Inn, the 100 room hotel formerly located on the corner of Lakeshore Drive, overlooking Lake Monroe. He left Enterprise in late 1928 and moved to Philadelphia where he entered the textile and clothing business in which he is still engaged. He enjoyed his two years here much, the hunting, fishing and everything and he says his one hope is to come back to (Benson Springs) now Enterprise to stay.

DR. PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, principal speaker at the kick-off dinner of the American Heart Association's 1956 fund campaign, awarded the American audience here last night a heart attack, an epidemic of coronary heart disease. The Boston heart specialist, who treated President Eisenhower, said in his Chicago speech that the epidemic broke out after Ernest Dineen, Mrs. Cecil Sellers, Mrs. D. J. Parker, Mrs. J. W. Padgett, and Robert and Stella Pyle, colored sections. Canisters were placed at the post Office, Lee's Grocery, Ryan's Grocery and the power plant.

Ike Reveals What Seems Obvious

WASHINGTON, (AP) — When President Eisenhower pointed out Jim Hagerty as one of his "trusted advisers," the chief executive underscored publicly what has been increasingly obvious since a momentous day last fall.

The White House press secretary, since the time of the...
Hagerty grew up and has lived all his 46 years in an aura of politics, and the President is well aware of his "savvy." But Eisenhower's trust and confidence in his sometimes hot tempered Irish aide are on a much broader base. It's pretty much across the board in government affairs, and it's reflected in companionship in a Colorado trout stream, hunting quail in Georgia and ducks in Ohio, and on the golf course in many places.

It was reflected perhaps most importantly a few hours after Eisenhower's heart attack when Hagerty abruptly ended a vacation and flew from Washington to the President's bedside.

In the chaos of that hour Hagerty was met at the hospital by the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

"I told the President you were on the way from Washington," Snyder informed Hagerty, "and he said: 'That's fine. Tell him to take over.'"

That remark has been interpreted in some quarters to mean that Hagerty had a blank check to "run the government." It has been reported, too, that Hagerty did run the government for a few days.

Hagerty's answer always has been an emphatic no. There is no doubt he did, in the emergency of the situation, exercise far greater authority and make many more decisions than he normally does. Next to the stricken Eisenhower he was the ranking administration official on the scene.

But he doesn't go along with the idea he was running the show. During those first hectic days he was at the long distance telephone to Washington many times—at dawn, at midnight, at all hours—talking to Vice President Nixon, to Cabinet members, to members of the President's family. He gave advice and he sought it.

Perhaps the most ever broadcast a bigger sign of relief than Hagerty did when Eisenhower's chief aide, Sherman Adams, arrived in Denver a few days after the heart attack to take over direction of the temporary White House.

But throughout the President's seven weeks in the hospital few people other than the doctors and Mrs. Eisenhower saw more of "the boss" than Hagerty.

The press secretary—always admired by newsmen for an understanding of their problems—won that everlasting gratitude by proceeding to put out details of the heart attack, and later of the President's recovery progress, with refreshing frankness welcomed by concerned millions all over the world.

Shortly after his arrival in Denver Hagerty pledged at a news conference that reporters, and through them the world, would get a straight count on the President's illness. They believe they got it.

In the news business Hagerty is widely regarded as a crack press secretary—some say the best ever to hold the White House job.

He likes to remark he never has lied to a reporter. But when he wants to he can come up with some classic hair-splitting replies, answers which can throw a man off his target if he isn't watchful.

Ordinarily jovial, Hagerty has a temper which flares at times like Fourth of July fireworks. Once he got angry at reporters over an incident related to coverage of Eisenhower's visitors, and ruled that in the future the reporters would be barred from Eisenhower's office when the photographers went into make pictures of guests.

Next day at his morning news conference Hagerty grinned and remarked:
"I blew my top yesterday. I'm sorry, but I guess I have a right to blow my top once in a while. Let's forget it."

He can stand his ground, too when faced with another man's temper—the one, for example, which occasionally gets away from Eisenhower.

Hagerty was born in Plattsburg, N. Y., May 9, 1909. He grew up on a diet of politics. His father, James A. Hagerty, was a political writer who only recently retired after years on the New York Times.

After graduating from Columbia University in 1934, young Jim went to work for the Times, serving as legislative correspondent in Albany from 1935 to 1943. He got his first taste of national politics in 1940 covering the campaign of Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee.

He joined the staff of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as press secretary and served until Eisenhower was nominated in 1952. He was appointed White House press secretary shortly after the election.

Hagerty is married and lives in northwest Washington with his wife, Marge. They have two sons, one, Bruce, is a freshman at Allegheny College in Pennsylvania. The other, Roger, is a Marine lieutenant whose wedding last fall Hagerty reluctantly passed up because he felt he should not leave the President, still in the hospital in Denver.

A survey shows California has more subcontractors and suppliers for the aircraft industry than any other state—10,314—with Ohio second, 4,487; New York 3,383; Texas 1,615 and Connecticut 1,513.

Findings May Improve Survival

ROCHESTER, Minnesota, (AP) — Heart research is revealing a reason why some children born with deformed hearts manage to live as long as they do.

The finding could improve their chances of life even more and aid in selecting the type of surgery to overcome their defect.

It concerns the pressure under which blood is pumped to the lungs or to the rest of the body.

In healthy people, the heart pumps blood to the whole body at higher pressure than is needed to send it only through the lungs and to the heart.

But some children are born with only one ventricle, or lower chamber of the heart, instead of two. Or there are big holes between the two chambers so blood flows back and forth between them.

These are the pumping chambers. One pumps blood to the lungs for new oxygen. The other pumps it on the much longer route through the body. Yet many children with such defects live for a number of years.

Dr. Jesse E. Edwards, pathologist of the Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research, finds that they live because the artery leading to their lungs is thicker and stronger than normal.

It can stand the higher pressure, or require pressure so that enough blood is routed to the rest of the body.

In effect, he says, these children have a pulmonary or lung artery that never grew up. Before birth, this artery is always narrower and thicker than other arteries. The unborn baby does not need to have blood circulate through his lungs because he gets oxygen from his mother.

At birth, this artery normally changes. Its inner channel widens and its walls become weak so it can take a flow of blood.

In some children with the heart defect, the artery remains thicker and stronger and can take higher pressure.

In time, though, the high pressure leads to trouble and the child dies unless his defect is corrected by surgery. New techniques of surgery are saving numerous such children.

The new pathological finding can be helpful in guiding surgeons, particularly in devising the kind of correction that would restore normal function of the heart to give normal or longer life.

Miss Sylvia Hayman and Lovick Hayman Jr. returned to Tallahassee to resume their studies at F. S. U. after having spent several days with their parents Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hayman.

American Market Leads To Revival Of Worm-Picking

LONDON (U.S. —) The lure of the American market has led to the revival of an ancient craft in Britain—worm picking.

Emil Kekich, commercial attaché at the U. S. Embassy in London, became interested when the Wholesale Bait Co., of Hamilton, Ohio, appealed for 25 million worms.

... decade ago Britain was a big supplier. The industry fell into decay with changing economic conditions and stepped-up labor costs.

Tom Taylor, a fishing tackle dealer in Nottingham, declined the order, explaining:

"Worm picking is a dying art. They stretch them or break them, and then they are no good for keeping."

Conny Scots in Aberdeen, however, heard about the rich American market. Jim Crookshank, long known in the worm picking industry, came out of retirement to accept the challenge.

"We received a letter asking me to pick a hundred or two a night," Crookshank said. "I said, 'I don't intend to pick worms for a living for another 25 years.'"

The night crawlers prized for fishing like to hide in gold courses and Scotland has plenty of these. It takes skill to get the worms, however.

"Cold, moonlight nights are no good," said Crookshank. "The best hunting time is warm damp nights. A lighted candle and tin are the only pieces of equipment you need. The glowing light seems to attract them. A flashlight frightens them."

"Another important thing is to sneak up on them, even barefoot. The least vibration and they slip away."

The highest point in Ohio is 1,350 feet Campbell Hill near Bellefontaine.

Georgette Steals Spotlight In Show

MEMPHIS (U.S. —) Georgette, an alley cat whose name used to be George before she had kittens, did herself and her "owners" proud Sunday.

She stole the spotlight from a mess of orange-eyed white Persians, Abyssinians, Burmese, tailless Manx and other exotic entries at the Memphis and Midsouth Cat Fanciers' Championship Show.

Although expecting a new batch of kittens any minute, Georgette breezed through the show unruffled, emerging with six ribbons.

She was proclaimed best of color, all breeds; best of color, short hair specialty; and won two first-prize championships and two winners' championships in the "working cat" division.

In the maze test, Georgette worked her way around five haffle boards to get four mice in a cage in a minute and 48 seconds.

She had a big advantage over other "working" cats. Accustomed to the rear of the presses at her place of employment, the Memphis Publishing Co., the crowd at the show bothered her not a whit.

It's Georgette's job to catch mice and rats at the publishing plant. She was back at work Monday.

Farmers Fear Future Headaches

WASHINGTON (U.S. —) Many farm leaders fear that the proposed soil bank plan for reducing rice depressing crop surpluses might sow seeds for future farm headaches similar to the one it is designed to cure.

Under the plan, farmers would be paid by the government to reduce plantings until present over-surpluses have been disposed of and farm prices—no longer burdened by surpluses—are free to rise to levels more favorable to farmers.

The general idea is favored by farm leaders in both major parties as well as by most of the major farm organizations. President Eisenhower made it the major point in new farm program recommendations to Congress.

But many of the proposal's backers look ahead and see the possibility of new surpluses developing after the present ones are disposed of. This might lead to farm prices and incomes falling again—unless, of course, markets not now in sight develop.

The administration believes that present over-surpluses of cotton, wheat, corn and other crops could be eliminated within three or four years if farmers went along with the program.

In other words, by the time the 1960 presidential campaign rolls around, everything would be easy from the farmers' standpoint.

This would be so unless there is a complete overhauling of farm programs in the meantime, assuming that no new war breaks out and if the soil bank plan works out as envisioned by its backers.

The year 1960 would be a bright one for farmers for still another reason. Government price supports for the major crops would be back to the 90 per cent of parity level that prevailed during the war and early postwar years under the Truman administration.

Parity is the prior goal of farm programs. It is a "yardstick" for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay for necessities.

The flexible price support system of the Eisenhower administration in effect in 1960—would pull the —assuming, of course, it were still price floors back to the 90 per cent parity level.

Under this system, price supports are lowered in times of surpluses to discourage overproduction and to encourage increased consumption. The minimum level is 75 per cent of parity. Likewise, the floors must be raised as surpluses melt away. The maximum is 90 per cent of parity—a support level which would be in effect if no surpluses existed.

The soil bank program—aside from reducing present surpluses—would help increase farm productivity. Under it farmers would be required to build fertility on soil taken out of production. Once this tired land was allowed to go back into production, it would produce more to the acre than ever before.

Because of this prospect, some farm leaders believe the soil bank program should be accompanied by measures which would take out of crop production on a permanent basis a large part of the less productive land which would be diverted from crops under the program.

Some suggest that such land be bought by the government and put into range and pasture land which would be rented for livestock grazing when needed for that purpose but not allowed to be used for crops. Some want a part of the land put to trees.

Unless something like this is done, it may become necessary to keep production controls in effect until markets catch up with crop productive capacity. Farm experts don't expect this latter possibility to develop in the next 25 years.

Farmers should take a coffee break twice a day, says the Canadian National Safety Council.

WRONG HOLE-IN-ONE

BREMBERTON, Wash. (U.S. —) Andy Johnson learned that a hole-in-one can be a heartbreaker, too.

He shot one on a 261-yard hole during sweepstakes play at the Kiltan Country Club. The trouble was that the winter rules called for play on temporary greens. His ball dropped into the cup on the regular green.

Hundreds Planning To Attend Banquet Set For March 9

Hundreds of Sanford and Seminole County citizens are planning to attend the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce French Avenue Dedication banquet on the evening of March 9th. It was reported this morning by the chairman of the event, James A. Wright.

"Even though we have already exceeded the number of tickets that should be sold for the gigantic banquet destined to be one of the greatest events ever staged here," Wright said, "we would like for those interested in attending the affair to call the Chamber of Commerce office for reservations."

He said, "every attempt will be made to provide additional facilities to take care of the hundreds who want to attend and show their appreciation for the first major highway construction in Seminole County in the past 50 years."

Plans for the event, said James A. Wright, are continuing and we will soon be able to announce the names of dignitaries from all over Florida who will be here in Sanford for the dedication of French Ave. which will take place on March 9.

The dedication is divided into two events. The actual dedication of the brand new highway through Sanford will be held at 4 o'clock, Friday afternoon, March 9th, in front of Seminole High School. It is expected that the ribbon cutting event which will officially open and signify the completion of French Avenue, will draw hundreds of road-minded people from all over Central Florida and from over the entire State.

The Chamber of Commerce French Avenue Dedication Banquet will be held at the Mayfair Inn beginning at 7 o'clock the same evening where Sanford and Seminole County citizens will get together to show their distinct appreciation for the move toward progress starting with the widening, four-laning, and paving of French Ave.

Juvenile Judge Reports 22 Cases Heard Last Month

Revealing the activities of his office for the month of January, Judge Ernest Housholder, of the Seminole County Juvenile Court, reported yesterday that 22 hearings were conducted in his chambers during the first month of 1954.

Two traffic cases were handled, said Judge Housholder, and as an outcome one license was suspended for three months and the other for six months.

As a result of the hearings conducted for juvenile offenders, Judge Housholder said, two white boys involved in the breaking and entering of a sporting goods store were sent to the reform school at Marianna.

One girl, he said, was committed to the industrial school at Ocala due to the fact that she was incorrigible and refused to comply with rules and regulations required by the court and her parents.

The Office of the Juvenile Judge made 13 investigations, said Judge Housholder, covering numerous children involved in the damage of property, shooting of BB guns and 22 rifles on highways, and private property, and the shooting of cats and dogs, as well as the damaging of greens at the Mayfair Country Club and the neglect of children by their parents.

During the month of January, 1954, the Judge said, the Juvenile Court had in place nine children in the county jail to be restrained pending a trial.

Judge Housholder said that he had 23 conferences and consultations involving various juvenile procedure which were handled and disposed of without hearings.

On three hearings before Juvenile Judge Ernest Housholder conducted yesterday in the Judge's Chamber, two boys were committed to the Industrial School at Marianna and two were placed on probation under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Court, providing they adhered to a strenuous schedule.

A 15-year-old negro boy, charged with taking an automobile, wrecking it, and then taking a second car and using it without authority, was committed to the school at Marianna. The youth had been before the Juvenile Judge on previous occasions for minor infractions.

In another hearing, a 15-year-old negro youth was charged with improper and immoral conduct. He had been previously committed to the reform school at Marianna and as a result of the hearing was re-committed.

A hearing for two 16-year-old Ovidio white boys, charged with having taken gasoline, revealed that evidence presented at the hearing had shown that gasoline was taken from a filling station.

The two boys admitted taking 10 gallons of gasoline and a coil from the repair shop of another station. However, it developed in the hearing, that the filling station operator did not know who had been taking the gasoline at various times and stated that he "did not want to press or file charges against anyone."

The court, said Judge Ernest Housholder, judged the two 16-year-old youths to be delinquent and placed them under probation under the following conditions: The boys were committed to their parents under the jurisdiction of the Counselor for an indefinite period and restricted to their homes after 10 p.m.; requiring them to attend school and make passing grades; required the two boys to attend Sunday School; and required not to associate with each other at any time.

One of the boys, whose parents had moved into Orange County, was prohibited from coming into Ovidio at any time and required to report to the Juvenile Court once every two weeks.

Sales Barometer Still Going Up

The barometer indicating the trend of sales in Seminole County continues to rise, according to the latest release from the office of Ray E. Green, State Comptroller.

Based on sales tax reports to the office of the State Comptroller for the month of December 1953, the Christmas-New Year season was the biggest in Florida history.

The report pointed to the sales tax collections in Seminole County which increased nearly 25% over the same month of the previous year. January sales tax collections in Seminole County totaled $7,085.28, an increase of $9,753.72 over December 1953.

Green's report states that "sales tax collections during January on December sales hit a new high for this year all time and exceed last year's January collections on December sales by $1,462,806."

"For the first time," Green said, "sales tax collections exceeded gasoline tax collections, previously considered the state's largest single revenue source."

He said, "It should be evident, from this report, that Florida's economy is sounder than ever and that, based on the December reports, this year's tourist season may well break all previous records. The big tourist months are still ahead, and retail sales during those months will undoubtedly exceed even December's high total."

Proposal Authorized For Board

Getting in readiness for a national major food chain to construct a 20-thousand square foot super market in Sanford, the Zoning and Planning Commission of the City of Sanford last night compiled with a request to recommend the rezoning of an area on Oak Ave., just off South Park Ave., in order to create an area large enough to meet the demand of the builder.

Wellborn Phillips Jr., submitted the request to the Zoning and Planning Commission, which in turn, authorized the recommendation to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners for the rezoning.

Phillips said the Zoning and Planning Board that the national food chain would construct a building of 20-thousand square feet on the 1 1/2-acre tract and provide other buildings for possibly a modern shopping center.

The recommendation will now go to the Board of City Commissioners for approval.

Chairman Robert Brown of the Zoning and Planning Commission brought the question of Laurel Ave. rezoning before the group again for discussion and possible action.

A heated discussion grew out of the question when A. L. Callahan stated that the rezoning of the parcel of 20 acres to benefit one person and one lot.

However, reversing itself on a previous action at a special meeting, and substituting a broader rezoning recommendation, the Zoning and Planning Commission, on a motion by Clifford McKibbin, the Therman-O'Yara Gas and Appliance Company, to purchase the property and building at 9th and Laurel, originally proposed for a Youth Center and purchased by the Seminole Youth Council.

The original request for rezoning the area was made by Rupert Strickland and Homer Osborne at a previous meeting when the action on the east side of Laurel Ave. from 8th to 10th Sts., was proposed for the change from R-1 to C-1.

Additional rezoning was discussed by the Zoning and Planning Commission when the matter of French Ave. came before the group, Katlyie Housholder said, "Our first step should be French Ave. There are lot of people riding up and down the thoroughfare looking for a place to establish a business."
