

RUTH JUDD IS GIVEN DEATH FOR SLAYING

Counsel For Doomed Woman Declare Appeal Will Be Made;
Suicide Is Feared

PHOENIX, Feb. 9. — (A.P.)—Counsel for Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted late last night of first degree murder of her friend, Mrs. Agnes LeRoi, announced today an appeal will be made soon after sentence of death on the gallows is pronounced Feb. 23. The 27-year-old daughter of a retired minister heard the verdict without emotion.

Day and night guards were stationed in her cell fearing she might attempt suicide. She was the second woman condemned to hang in Arizona. Mrs. Eva Dugan was hanged in 1930 for murder of A. J. Mathis, aged ranchman. Mrs. Judd also is charged with the murder of Miss Helene Samuelson, after the bodies of the two women were found in trunks in a Los Angeles station after they were murdered here.

Mrs. Judd heard the reading of the death verdict without the beating of a drum. She walked unassisted from the courtroom, to her cell staring out of countenance the persons who huddled in her path. Judge Howard C. Speckman set next Monday as the date for sentence.

Although the jury was out three hours and 40 minutes, including an hour for dinner, only two ballots were taken. The first ballot, jurymen said, was unanimous for conviction of murder in the first degree.

The second ballot set the penalty as first degree murder. Jurymen said they were not in a hurry to take the case at 5:12 P. M., after listening 8 hours to arguments and then to instructions. The jury immediately sent for blank paper, indicating a text ballot would be taken forthwith. After a short time, the jury went to dinner.

Judge Speckman instructed the jury they might return any one of 6 verdicts—all but two of which would confine her either in prison or an institution for the insane for from 10 years to life. The state demanded the death penalty to be carried out on the gallows.

"She is not so dumb," said County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews in his argument. "She has a tongue I think is used to lying."

"Gentlemen: If this is not a case that deserves the death penalty, then there never has been such a case in Arizona."

The defense refrained from asking the jury to return Mrs. Judd to normal status in society. Her counsel begged that she be "not sent to the gallows, or to a felon's cell," but "treated as a sick woman," and admitted to an asylum.

Gibson Reveals U. S.
Stand At Arms Meet

GENEVA, Feb. 9. (A.P.)—Ambassador Hugh Gibson, chief of the United States delegation to the world disarmament conference, told the delegates today that the United States prepared to consider budgetary limitations on materials as complementary to a direct limitation of armaments.

The American government joins Great Britain in advocating abolition of submarines. Admiral Gibson said, and agrees with the desire of the French and British to restrict the use of offensive weapons such as gas, which is especially dangerous to civil populations.

Bartow Editor Pays City Visit Monday

O. H. Clements, editor of the Bartow Herald, was in Sanford last night, visiting the Sanford County Chamber of Commerce officers, and Karl Lehmann, an old friend.

Mr. Clements announced that he had been appointed publicity director of the County of Progress Committee, Florida Division, succeeding William Fowles, who has recently resigned.

Elder John D. Says Business Is Better

ORMOND, Feb. 9. (A.P.)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., told the Associated Press today indications are that business conditions throughout the country are showing improvement, and he is greatly encouraged. The philanthropist directed his remarks to a correspondent while posing for photographs for the first time since he was taken slightly ill with a cold two weeks ago. From talks I had with prominent men of the country and reports reaching me from other sources, indications are that business conditions are improving, Rockefeller said. Rockefeller showed no effects from his recent confinement and was the picture of perfect health for a man of his age. "I feel better than ever before," he said.

BRITISH VISITOR SEES WAR DEBTS MENACING WORLD

Says Cancellation Is Thing Which Will Return Prosperity

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 9. — Looking at the European situation with the eyes of a true-blue American but one who has lived abroad for 17 years, J. C. Graham of London, England, the head man there for the Paramount motion pictures interests, believes that only one thing will bring the nations of the world back to a normal basis: The wiping out of the war debts and the reparations.

"That may sound decidedly un-American, but it is the actual situation, and I think the financiers of this country have about become convinced that they can expect no more return from the debts," Mr. Graham said here as he began a motor trip downstate as the guest of Henry H. Swarts of Tidewater, near Danneberg, well known Florida and one of Mr. Graham's close personal friends of many years standing.

On his first visit in Jacksonville since 1925, Mr. Graham's comment concerning the city was one which should interest all lovers of Jacksonville. "Jacksonville always appears as a substantial city, you know," Mr. Graham declared.

Mr. Graham is a great admirer of the English people, for he has found them as a very honorable set. "When they assume anything they carry it through," he said, pointing out that in his own business a loss of less than one-half of 1 per cent annually results from bad debts. He has become particularly impressed with the activity of the courts of England, where, as he sees it, justice is actually in sway. There are no trial delays and no technical loopholes for the guilty to thwart justice. (Continued on Page Two)

Court Is Asked To Reverse Decision Affecting Railway

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 9. — (A.P.)—The state yesterday asked the Florida supreme court to set aside its recent order recalling a peremptory mandamus writ which ordered the Atlantic Coast Line railroad to restore its tracks and service over a branch between Monticello and Yulee in north Florida.

The petition, filed by Attorney General Landis, and Attorney General Turnbull of the Florida railroad commission, marked another step in the long legal battle over abandonment of less than five miles of track and discontinuance of one train a day rail service.

Contending the railroad acted without authority, the railroad commission obtained a peremptory mandamus ordering restoration of rail and service. The railroad took the case before the Interstate Commerce Commission several times, to the United States supreme court once, and before the supreme court here many times.

Recently the state supreme court recalled the final order requiring restoration of track and service, basing its action on a holding of the Interstate Commerce Commission that no showing of need for the service had been made.

KNOX OUTLINES PLAN AIMED TO STOP HOARDING

Quick Campaign Down To "The Grass Roots"
Of Every Town Is Intention Of Chief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. — (A.P.)—An intensive campaign—spread nationwide in bringing hoarded money back into circulation by "restoring the confidence of Americans in America" was outlined yesterday at the White House by the man who will head it, Col. Frank Knox of Chicago.

In an office adjoining that of the Chief Executive, he announced his idea for "a quick campaign done against the clock and going down to the grass roots of every community."

He gave the following diagnosis of present difficulties: "Much of our trouble seems to be a national headache induced by overstrain from looking across the Atlantic. We can't remedy conditions in Europe, but we can remedy them here."

The Chicago publisher estimated that 25 per cent of the articles produced in this country are consumed in the domestic market, with only 75 per cent shipped abroad.

"If necessary," he said, "we could tax this 75 per cent out of the window and still lead the world back to prosperity. If once we re- (Continued on Page Two)

Stage All Set For Woman's Drive To Raise Party Fund

With a goal of $500 to be collected from 4500 Democratic registered voters in Seminole County, an army of women, under the command of Mrs. W. T. Langley, cultural to Mrs. Thomas M. Carson's army of Democratic women, will meet at the Sanford Woman's Club tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

There they will receive last-minute instructions as to the drive which will continue for one week and be given lists of voters whom they feel will respond to an appeal that 10 cents or more be given toward expenses of the presidential campaign of 1932. Each voter will be expected to donate at least 10 cents, Mrs. Langley said, although the women will solicit more, so that this county's quota of $500 may be raised before the week is over.

Major in Mrs. Langley's army are as follows: Mrs. John G. Leonard, and Mrs. R. E. Tolar for the Sanford East Side; Mrs. R. J. Holt and Mrs. J. G. Sharon for Sanford West Side, and Mrs. Charles B. Henry, Longwood, and Mrs. A. G. Wagner, Chuluota, for the county.

Each major may have three or four captains. Captains already announced are Mrs. Vance Douglas, Mrs. D. D. Caldwell, Mrs. E. E. Bludworth, Mrs. C. E. Chorpene, and Mrs. L. C. Leonard under Mrs. J. G. Leonard.

Say It With Printing

A Little Chat With The Secretary Of The Seminole County Chamber Of Commerce

There is a striking slogan "Say it with printing, flowers die." That is thoroughly appropriate to the wide awake, well equipped, reasonably priced printing offices in Seminole County. There is no excuse for a single dollar of Seminole County money to be spent for printing outside this county. Our printing shops range from those with small overhead and limited equipment whose prices are lower than any other in this part of the state, on through to plants that are better equipped, turn out better work, whose standard and quality compares with anything in the State of Florida.

Seminole County has print shops that advertise "Our prices are the lowest" and print shops who say "Quality pays."

The business firm or house that does not have a neat, attractive letterhead, good envelopes, statements and bill heads and other quality printing is injuring itself. A business firm is known to its correspondents by the kind of stationery and printed matter it uses. Poor quality printing is as bad or worse than none.

The print shops of Seminole maintain large pay-rolls are substantial taxpayers and liberal contributors to every worthwhile community enterprise. They deserve the patronage of the business people of this community by right of the quality, price and community co-operation, which they maintain.

CONTINUATION OF TAMPA CARNIVAL CITRUS HOLIDAY IS DECIDED UPON IN GREAT STYLE

Shipments To Continue At 60 Percent Of Average In January

WINTER HAVEN, Feb. 9. — Continuation of the grapefruit shipping "holiday" made effective last Wednesday, and an additional suggestion to shippers that mid-season orange movement be reduced approximately 25 percent, were decided upon here yesterday at a meeting called to follow up the holiday suggestion. The Florida Citrus Exchange, Florida Citrus Growers Clearing House Association and outside shippers were represented.

The Exchange and Clearing House agreed that shipments of grapefruit for the present should be limited to 60 percent of the average weekly volume moved in January and shippers not members of either organization were appealed to for cooperation, in the hope of holding shipments of grapefruit in the next week to not more than 425 cars.

Reports at the meeting indicated that approximately 544 cars of grapefruit had been moved in the last week.

This, in some shippers seemed discouraging, but it was pointed out that shippers outside either the Exchange or the Clearing House had no prior knowledge of the holiday plan and in many instances had shipped in good faith.

Mental Disorder
Is Found In Woman
Annoying John D.

DELAND, Feb. 9. (A.P.)—Alberta Storch, 31, of Newark, N. J., who was reported to have disturbed John D. Rockefeller, Sr., on the Ormond golf course recently, was declared by examining physicians yesterday to be "suffering from hallucinations."

She was brought here for examination on petition of five Ormond citizens, including Police Chief Daniel W. Whitehurst of that city. County Judge John E. Peacock appointed Dr. L. W. Glatzau and Dr. J. K. Taylor to make the examination.

Judge Peacock did not issue a commitment order as the woman is a non-resident of Florida. She has lived in the state only a month.

After the examination, the woman was returned to her Ormond hotel where she is under surveillance.

Chief Whitehurst of Ormond said reports had been made to him she had been "hanging around the Rockefeller premises." The Rockefeller household denied, however, any knowledge of the affair.

She has a brother, Carl B. Storch, living at Irvington, N. J.

NAMED JAP AMBASSADOR

SMITH DENIES HIS CANDIDACY TO LEAD PARTY

Avers His Statement
As To His Candidacy
Was Misinterpreted
By General Public

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. (A.P.)—Alfred E. Smith denied his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. "Nothing in the statement I gave for the papers can be interpreted as an announcement that I am a candidate," he told 20 newsmen in his newspaper office.

"All I said was that I would accept the nomination if the convention should choose me."

Now a candidate is a man who seeks the support of delegates, and makes a campaign tour to the convention. I am not going to do either. I have no headquarters, and I am not spending any money.

"I don't believe anyone was ever nominated who didn't make a personal tour campaign."

He has a cigar from his mouth and pointed at toward a pile of new papers on his mahogany desk.

"With all I interpret the thing in a different way, but this is the one I have said."

Alfred E. Smith stands out as the nearest figure in the Democratic party to an editorial which included.

Tate Throws Hat
In Ring For Office
Of County Sheriff

"Law Enforcement" without fear or favor, is the platform upon which Lewis A. Tate, young Sanford resident, will stand in his race for the office of Sheriff of Seminole County. His announcement was made today, and it is subject to the decision of the voters in the June primaries.

Coupled with a knowledge of conditions and peoples in this section, Mr. Tate believes that a four year period as a special investigator for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of which he is local chairman, finds him well qualified for the office which he now seeks.

He sees the needs of a sheriff as but few, most of them revolving about an efficient, orderly method of disposing of the few criminal or civil cases which arise in this county. He believes that the sheriff's office should be one of the most co-operative in the county, open to the advice and assistance of every department of public government as well as private welfare.

Mr. Tate was born at Osteen, and is one of the youngest men now in the field for a public office in this county. He has lived in Sanford since 1913, and is one of the county's property owners. Since 1916, he has been employed as a trainman by the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, and is widely known in railroad circles in Florida.

He is a member of Sanford Lodge of Elks, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and is active in the Lions Club, and all other civic-spirited enterprises.

Local Group Attends Kissimmee Meeting

H. M. Papworth, B. F. Haines, and Karl Lehmann, president, vice-president and secretary respectively, of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce returned from Kissimmee this morning after having attended an early morning, largely attended breakfast meeting of the Central Florida Council of Chamber of Commerce Secretaries and Presidents.

Featuring the meeting was an address on "Beautification," the subject of practically all talks heard, delivered by A. T. Colth, superintendent of state parks, Deland. During this address, the work done in Seminole County schools toward the reforestation of county groves and forests was highly commended.

It was the fourth of a series of monthly meetings held by the several Central Florida trade bodies, and it was augmented by the presence of a large delegation from Polk County Chamber of Commerce.

Final Papers Are Exchanged In Sale Of Sanford Gas Plant

Representatives of the Sanford Gas Co. met Monday night for the final exchange of papers in the sale of the Sanford Gas Plant. The plant, which was owned by the Sanford Gas Co., was sold to the Sanford Gas Co. for $100,000. The sale was completed Monday night.

Final conveyance was held up for some time as Commissioner W. A. Jeffler and A. A. Speer searched the contract to discover if there was not a clause which provided that, upon transfer of the deed, the gas company must operate the plant in Sanford during the 30-year term of the franchise.

City Attorney Fred R. Wilson expressed the opinion that the city could be forced to give a deed for the property if the company asked for it, and declared that in his opinion the contract is ended when final deed is handed to the company.

Commissioner Jeffler maintained that "it would be a grave mistake to tacitly or in any manner allow the abandonment of this valuable plant for any cause." He finally agreed to the final conveyance when an amendment he offered to Commissioner Jeffler's motion that "the commissioners act upon the advice of their attorneys and give the deed." The amendment, agreed upon by both groups is as follows: "That the giving of the deed shall not abrogate any rights the city has under the contract." Trail Of Vincent
Coll's Killers Is Running Two Ways

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. (A.P.)—The trail of Vincent Coll's killers was forked today, one road led into the secret places of New York's underworld; another pointed toward Chicago.

But wherever detectives went, they were balked by the blind silence of the mobs. Gangland's denials kept in themselves. Meanwhile, the body of Coll, betrayed by his own bodyguard and riddled with machine gun bullets as he stood in a phone booth in Chelsea just after last midnight, was removed from the morgue to an undertaker.

It was followed by his widow, Lottie, a bride of a few weeks and one of the few persons, probably, who was genuinely sorry he died, both the police and the gangs frankly considered his murder a "good riddance."

The police had tried for months to "hang a rap" on Coll. They thought they had him when they indicted him and a henchman for the brutal slaying of five-year-old Michael Vengall in a crowded street of Harlem's Little Italy last summer. But he was turned loose when the state's star witness lied on the witness stand.

As for the gangs, he was a thorn in their sides. Lately, it had been reported, Coll had dastardly his former beer-sipping racket and depended for a livelihood upon tribute exacted from rivals in the business.

No unpopular was Coll with the underworld that within the last few weeks it had been reported a price of $50,000 had been placed on his head, to be paid to the "trigger men" who got him.

Subject Of Britain Is Wounded As Shell
Drops Into International Settlement

Shell from a Japanese destroy-er burst the powder magazine in the fort causing a terrific explosion. Nevertheless, the Chinese held on. Meanwhile the artillery was in action against the Chapel sector and a British woman was wounded when shells dropped across the International Settlement boundary. Her injuries were not serious.

Up on the northern settlement boundary United States infantry took over the patrol from the British detachment. They were close enough to hear shouting but the position was about a mile from the action at Chapel.

Eight shells dropped into the French concession injuring three Chinese women and causing property damage. It is not known whether the projectiles were Chinese or Japanese.

In Tokyo Japanese Foreign Office circles expressed surprise today over accounts of the unfavorable reaction in America to Japan's proposal to remove the Chinese military from important commercial centers in China and place them under international control. "If the world is going to become hysterical every time Japan takes military action in China proper, it is time some permanent remedy is evolved," a spokesman said. He denied the plan interfered with China's administrative integrity.

The Japanese at Geneva and 12 neutral members of the League of Nations council considered the Far East problem at a secret meeting today.

The first phase of Japan's combined blunderbuss and army drive along the 16-mile Shanghai-Woosung line was completed this morning with the Chinese positions still intact, despite direct assault and incessant sniping by field pieces and six-inch naval guns.

Once again the Chinese had demonstrated one of the great military lessons of the World War that machine gunners, hidden in holes in the ground, can take heavy bombardment and then rise up to place streams of bullets between themselves and the assaulting lines of the enemy.

The Japanese failed in their plan to reduce the Woosung fortress and then sweep on toward Shanghai, where they might pinch the Chinese army against the barbed wire boundaries of the International Settlement.

Another attempt was in prospect today.

The major movements of the Japanese attack that got under way yesterday were centered at the village of Woosung and at Chapel in Shanghai.

Great Financier Of Japan Assassinated

TOKYO, Feb. 9. (A.P.)—Junnosuke Inouye, outstanding financier of Japan and leader of the Minseitō party, was killed tonight by a young assassin who fired on him as he arrived at a political meeting. The assassin was arrested but no motive for the crime is known. Inouye, who twice served as finance minister, was regarded the strongest man in the Minseitō party.

He was slated to become the premier should his party win in the general election Feb. 20. The Minseitō party went out of power when recent cabinet reorganization took place. Inouye was a staunch advocate of Japanese American amity and visited America several times. He opposed the Manchurian campaign from the start.

aps Uneasy At Soviet Activity In Vladivostok

...in Vladivostok coincided with the period of the Japanese drive on Harbin. Nevertheless the Japanese were regarded in anti-Communist quarters as not aimed against Japan, but due to the fact that the Japanese advance might encounter the Russians in Manchuria, it was feared that the Japanese might attempt some form of military action in Eastern Siberia.

Attention here was also directed to a reported switch in allegiance by General Mah Chan-Shan, Chinese commander who was taken out of Taitshih by the Japanese in their Manchurian campaign.

Mah Chan-Shan, whose position has been doubtful during the Japanese drive on Harbin—the Chinese claiming he had reaffirmed his loyalty to Nanking (Hunan)—evidently has returned to the Japanese camp following General Hiro Tanaka's occupation of Harbin.

The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency in dispatches from Harbin said the erstwhile Chinese head of the river bridge and Taitshih had gone to Harbin from his base at Halun on Saturday night seeking an interview with Tanaka.

The Japanese agreed and the pair met in the Japanese headquarters for a long conference. It was expected to proceed to Taitshih and pledged loyal cooperation with the Japanese in northern Manchuria. Shortly thereafter General Tanaka entertained his guest at a Sunday luncheon where much champagne flowed.

Shortly after the revelation of the entente-cordiale, General Mah was expected to proceed to Taitshih to assume governorship of Manchukuo Province.

Meanwhile Japanese airplanes were continuing their destructive bombing and machine gun sniping at the retreating forces of General Ting Chao who was driven out of Harbin the last week. The Japanese claimed they had scattered two large enemy groups in the districts north of Harbin.

Opinions Varied Among Solons On Smith Action

Senator Smith is determined to participate in a movement to stop Roosevelt. Beyond accomplishing this result, I am unable to see that the statement is particularly significant.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts: "The members of his party who favor his renomination are now free to work to that end and in the light of his statement that is choice of an overwhelming majority the clearly indicated course. Governor Smith is by long odds the first of Massachusetts democracy today."

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas: "Governor Smith was given full recognition in 1928. I had hoped he would not become a candidate this year and that he would thus aid in securing a united party at a time when Democratic prospects are unusually bright. His nomination would again involve the party in dangerous controversy."

Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama: "I think the Democrats of my state will support some one else."

Senator Gore, Democrat, Oklahoma: "I believe the Democratic candidate this year should have ability and availability. Governor Smith has ability but any Democratic candidate who lost Texas, Florida, Virginia, and North Carolina cannot be said to have availability."

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana: "I supported Governor Smith wholeheartedly in the last campaign. I am convinced, however, that he could not win this year. If nominated, I am convinced Governor Roosevelt, if nominated, can win by an overwhelming majority."

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee: "He had his chance in 1928 and I think it would be unwise for the Democratic party to back the big thing for him to do to stand aside and let the nomination go to another Democrat. I prefer Governor Roosevelt."

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader: "Governor Smith got more votes in 1928 than were polled by any Democratic candidate for president. How many of his supporters have left him in 1932? And how many of those who voted for Hoover for one year or another have since been converted from him is also probable."

Senator Lewis, Democrat, Illinois: "We doubt Governor Smith would be brought to his attention in 1932. Cleveland, nominated in 1920 and beaten that year President Cleveland, nominated in 1892 and on the same issue of 1888 President Cleveland was elected."

Senator King, Democrat, Utah: "His statement will be regarded as equivalent to a wish that he shall not be considered a candidate and that some other person shall be chosen to lead the party."

Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas: "Governor Smith was honored in 1928 and ought now, in the interest of the party, to efface himself from the picture. The times call for new leadership and a new candidate."

Representative Douglass, Democrat, Massachusetts: "His statement enables the Massachusetts delegation to go to the convention pledged to Governor Smith."

Representative Steagall, Democrat, Alabama: "I am not in favor of the nomination of former Governor Smith. He has a great many loyal Democrats supporting him and they are entitled to a candidate as well as anybody else."

CHICAGO, Feb. 8. (A.P.)—Michael I. Igou, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois and candidate for the nomination for governor, last night said: "Al Smith would sweep the state if he were to file in the Illinois preferential primary."

Smith, Igou said, is the outstanding man in America today who speaks the language of the people. "He's always been for the underdog and this campaign is a fight for the underdog. Everywhere I go in the state I find the people interested in John and Al. The other issues aren't considered by them. Long before he was generally mentioned as a candidate I found them talking about him."

Smith Declares He Is Ready If Party Gives Call For Him

Smith's supporters, and others, will seek to set aside a sufficient bloc of delegates to enable the Roosevelt strength definitely to nominate the two-thirds needed to nominate.

What they will do with this vote to power if they get it remains to be developed. Few even in the Smith camp believe he is the man on whom the choice eventually will rest. None of them expect him to develop anything like enough prevention strength to put him within striking distance of renomination.

"The convention will have 1154 delegates. Any bloc of 365 can exercise a veto. It appears now that at least 254 will be definitely in the hands of the favorite sons, with Illinois voting for Lewis, Maryland for Ritchie, Missouri for Reed, Ohio for White, Oklahoma for Murray, Texas for Garner and Virginia for Byrd.

The pro-Smith, pre-veto men now will try to commit to Smith enough more votes to make the veto certain. They will shoot particularly at a bloc of 274 votes, held by the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Rhode Island. In scattered localities elsewhere they will try, too, to pick up what they can.

Whether they will succeed is in open dispute. Some politicians in Washington were convinced today that the Smith announcement was a very serious blow to the hopes of Roosevelt, but others insisted the Roosevelt drive had gone too far to be stopped by such a method now.

Senator Joe E. Robinson of Arkansas, vice presidential nominee with Smith in 1928, said: "Governor Smith's statement is frank and clear. I think he is wise in announcing that he will not campaign for the nomination or support or oppose other candidates for the distinction."

Everywhere was the conviction that no matter what the outcome, "He warned! A spy in love is a fool that has outlived its usefulness!"

Yet, queen of spies, she was also queen of love! For her, men forgot their country... her love meant more to her than life!

a time of bitter dispute and spectacular maneuvering lay just ahead.

(By The Associated Press)

Widespread editorial comment was made yesterday on the announcement of Alfred E. Smith that he would accept the Democratic presidential nomination again.

Macon (Ga.), Telegraph: "Smith's declaration that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency confirms the rumors of his determination to prevent the nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt and dictate the selection of the convention." "He is throwing to the Democrats the bone over which they will snarl and fight from now on until after the November election. If the Democrats lose the presidency this year, they may date the beginning of the end of their hopes for today."

Baltimore Sun: The "Happy Warrior" whom Franklin D. Roosevelt humiliated four years ago in Houston does not appear in the statement that is read today by every American. And the answer is not due solely to the feud between the hero and the eulogist, although cautious consciousness of that detail is written across the document. What is revealed is a revealing and long and the sense of impending frustration. And yet, despite the feud and the fact that this statement from Alfred E. Smith is a thing of health for the Democratic party and for the nation, because it promises a clash of opinion and the purification of fire.

Post Myer (N.Y.) News Press: Al Smith takes four sentences to say what Roosevelt expressed in six words: Al does not choose to run, but will accept the nomination if offered. What American would not?

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Neither friends nor foes of the Roosevelt cause can get much comfort from the Smith statement. "The Smith candidacy is no more a menace to the hopes of Roosevelt than it was before Mr. Smith made his statement." "When the smoke of battle clears both are likely to be on the ground with the prize being carried away by one whose entrance has been less spectacular. We trust he will be Newton D. Baker."

Denver Post: That is the best news the Republicans have had since Hoover polled 111 electoral votes to 87 for Smith in the 1928 campaign. His announcement indicates he is determined to rule or ruin his party.

Albuquerque Journal: We can think of nothing more fortunate for the Republican party. His candidacy will be accepted as an effort to kill off Governor Roosevelt. The voters decided four years ago against the Smith-Raskob leadership.

DIRECT AID FOR JOBLESS WILL BE CONSIDERED

million dollars necessary for balancing the budget by increased taxation. The committee starts that task Tuesday, with a bill expected by March 1.

President Hoover is standing firm against the bill before the Senate for direct appropriations to feed the unemployed. The Democrats also are holding, generally, against this new form of federal aid but compromise negotiations are going on. The result is in doubt.

The children's bureau of the Labor Department issued a report yesterday stating that the average monthly expenditure for families under care in 1930 was $21.83. It reported that eight cities gave their needy families more than $20 a month, while in four cities relief on the average was less than $10 a month.

The people's lobby, of which Professor John Dewey is president, said that "well-known facts about concentration of income show that only federal taxation can equalize the cost of caring for America's unemployed."

"Advocates of local and state relief of the unemployed whether in or out of Congress, are agents or tools of multi-millionaires," the statement said, "whose income is derived largely from property, and who still indulge the delusion that the function of government is to help the rich grow richer, and to tax the poor into destitution."

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

LIFE AND GOOD DAYS.—He that loveth life, let him keep his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile. —1 Peter 3:10.

It goes without saying that the fact of Newton D. Baker has been considerably raised as a result of Smith's announcement.

Then another reason the Japs are kicking up such a fuss around Shanghai may be the hope that the League of Nations will forget all about the Manchurian invasion.

And what a Democratic Convention it will be this June with Al Smith fighting Roosevelt, and Baker, Ritchie and others on the side lines just waiting for a break.

The Miami Post points out that the Japanese evidently believe in the principal of women and children first, judging from the way they've been bombing the civilian population of Shanghai.

A weather beaten old Lincoln was sold the other day for twenty-five dollars, a friend of ours relates, and the purchaser had to pay thirty-five dollars for a license tag. Another case of the fifty dollar saddle on the ten dollar horse.

In reading the Japanese news one should remember that Yoshioka is not Shiohara, and that the Wosung forts on the Whangpoo River are sixteen miles below Hongkong section, the other end of the Japanese line, or words to that effect.

Al Smith says his statement regarding his willingness to accept the nomination has been misinterpreted. At least he was not misquoted, and however the misinterpretation may be, he did not say, "I do not choose to run." There would have been no mistaking that.

Tokyo cabinet approves appropriation of $14,500,000 for military operations around Shanghai. Japan might have found it cheaper to sell its goods to China through the medium of advertising instead of at the point of a gun. And if several other nations become involved, Japan might have found it cheaper not to sell its goods at all.

John Martin, governor of Florida from 1925 to 1929, says: "The trouble with the country today is that it is suffering with poor government, state and national. We have got to get better government at once. That is my platform." That is a splendid platform and unless we have read their platform erratically, one on which all our candidates are running.

Men who frequently make mistakes often apologize freely enough and say "Everybody makes mistakes." Maybe everybody does, but sometimes one never has a chance to make the same mistake again. For instance, the fellow who left the airplane hatch of the M-2 open, and filled the cab with water when it dove off England's Springfield ago, will not leave that hatch open again.

The Sanford Herald would like to see public opinion crystallized against the fifth issue published in the name of humor by some magazine as to make those periodicals unsalable. No magazine can succeed that insults public taste and unless we're busy looking through colored glasses all these years, the publishers of such must be willing their own business as rapidly as possible. The more is the merrier the sharing the likes of this disgusting episode in magazine history. The best way to perpetuate it would be to flatter their insensibility by passing laws against them. Miami Daily News: You seem like the one about sending someone matter through the mails.

Ignorance Is Bliss

Observers watching lines of Chinese troops, recently arrived from northern and southern provinces of China's far-flung country, converge upon Shanghai, have noticed many dogs accompanying the soldiers. These animals, pets of individual troopers or mascots of some squad or company, run beside the advancing columns apparently happy with their lot in life, sharing none of the anxiety or apprehension of approaching battle.

Fed from the scraps of the camp kitchen, petted and played with by the soldiers whom they follow, and suffering no hardships, they scamper along nearer and nearer to the shellfire and havoc of an invading enemy, as if they were on a fox hunt. How fortunate that their canine brains are so constituted they don't know that just ahead of them is a veritable pit of hellfire, with shells of naval guns, field artillery, trench mortars, and machine guns turning the earth upside down. Not that this knowledge would have any effect upon their continuing, for it wouldn't. A dog is brave, and courageous, and loyal, and these Chinese mongrels would probably follow their masters to the end.

On the other hand how fortunate they don't realize the men whom they worship have never given a thought to the safety of their pets. The dogs go along unknowing that death is ahead but ready to sacrifice their lives to be with their masters; the men march along aware of what is to come, but unmindful of their pets.

Unfairness seems to be the keynote of the affairs in the Far East. The Japs are playing a "dirty trick" on the almost defenseless Chinese, and the Chinese soldiers, unwittingly perhaps, are playing a "dirty trick" on the dogs which they lead to death.

The Digest's Poll

Straw votes may not always tell which way the wind blows, but at least they form interesting topics of speculation. The Literary Digest, America's foremost exponent of straw voting, has decided to conduct another experiment with the prohibition amendment. It will attempt to obtain during the next few months a cross sectional view of American sentiment on the liquor question, an undertaking which will prove nothing but which will be watched with interest nevertheless.

"Its method," explains the Miami Herald, "is to send out ballots to hundreds of thousands of people of all classes in every section of the country, asking for a vote on certain candidates, parties or movements. In that way it obtains a cross-section opinion of the whole country, which, in times past, has proven to be accurate foretelling of subsequent events."

"Now, The Digest proposes to sound the opinion of the country on the question of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is sending out 20,000,000 ballots to well-selected lists of persons of every form of political and social belief. These ballots are now being mailed at the rate of 1,600,000 a day, and the returns will be published in The Digest from time to time."

"The ballots will have but two questions to be answered: 'Do you favor the continuance of the Eighteenth Amendment?' and 'Do you favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment?'"

"These ballots will not have to be signed by those who vote, but as they will not be issued on request or indiscriminately, they will form, when the voting is completed, a very fair criterion by which to judge the present sentiment of the people of this country on the question of prohibition."

"The outcome of The Digest's great poll will be awaited with intense interest."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

B. A. Howard is in New York on a business trip.

E. B. Brady, of New York City, is the guest of his brother, O. W. Brady and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chatterton, of Milford, Conn., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Long. Later Mr. and Mrs. Chatterton will spend some time with Mrs. C. S. Cooley at her winter home at Paola.

Car Number Two of the Sanford Traction Company caught fire in some manner Wednesday morning at Cameron City and was entirely consumed before adequate help could arrive to extinguish the blaze. Fortunately the school children had not embarked when the accident happened and none of the passengers was hurt. The loss is a serious one to the company, coming as it does in the midst of the busy season and with one of the other cars in the shop. The service will be crippled for several days but will resume again on Sunday and another car will be ordered at once from the factory.

Mrs. J. E. Pace died at her home on Melville Avenue last night after a lingering illness of several months duration. The funeral will take place today from the Presbyterian Church at 3:00 o'clock. All the business houses will close between the hours of two and three in respect to Mrs. Pace who is universally beloved and respected. The bereaved husband and other relatives have the sympathy of the community in their great affliction.

The members of the Sewing Circle met at the residence of the Misses Whitner Thursday evening. Mrs. J. C. Bennett, Miss Emma and Estelle Beard, Miss Lillian Gibson and the Misses Whitner were the only members of the circle who were present.

FAR EASTERN TRADE

America has a vital business concern in the Far Eastern conflict, for both China and Japan are good customers. While exports to European countries showed a big decline last year under 1930, the shipments to China actually gained, the only country which did take an increased amount of commodities from the United States.

Exports to China last year were valued at $97,888,301 as compared with $89,808,043 for the preceding year. Last December China bought $13,718,301 worth of American goods, or just about double the purchases of December, 1930.

Well, if China is such an excellent customer and our trade is booming, then we ought to place our bets on that country and await her out of the trouble with Japan. But wait! Let's hear about the commerce with Japan first. In December Japan also increased her purchases from America by about $6,000,000, taking a total of $18,415,500, or nearly $3,000,000 more than China bought. While the Japanese importations from America

"That," said the titular head of democracy, "is what I'm trying to do the many thing."

The former governor wore a high silk hat and formal dress as he appeared at his office. He had just come from the funeral of John R. Voorhis, Tammany's 102-year-old grand sachem.

All the leaders of New York democracy had been there. Governor Roosevelt, whose campaign manager claims he will be nominated for the presidency on the first ballot, sat in the front row of the church.

After the funeral he remained seated while one after another of his political friends paraded by him.

Mayor Walker passed without looking at the governor. John J. Curry, leader of Tammany hall, was among those who stopped to shake hands. Then came Smith.

He laid his hand on the governor's arm, bent over and whispered something in Roosevelt's ear.

"He said, 'How do you do?' just as anyone would," the governor explained later.

When Smith appeared at his office for his appointment with newspapermen, he was asked what the governor had said to him.

"Invited me to his town house," Smith replied, and looked at the ceiling.

"Did you go?"

"Yes, I did."

"Did you talk politics?"

"No, it was purely social. We didn't have time to talk politics. He was leaving early and I was in a hurry."

Handing his silk hat to a secretary, the 1928 standard-bearer started turning over a sheaf of telegrams on his desk.

"I suppose I'll have a bunch of this stuff now," he said laughingly. "Here's a good one, from John Durkin, in Scranton, Pa., and it says, 'Atta boy, let's go.' Here's another from the Holly Madison Club of Salem, Mass., saying, 'With you to the end.'"

"Is there one from the governor?" someone asked.

"I didn't see it if there was," Smith replied, and added:

"Of course, I haven't been through them all."

"Are you likely to stick to your declaration that you will accept the nomination?"

"I can only speak as of today," he replied.

He was told his statement had been interpreted in some quarters as a declaration that he wished to "rule or ruin" his party.

"That's senseless," Smith replied indignantly. "Anyone who knows my record of 30 years' square dealing won't believe that."

In stating he was not a candidate, the former governor said:

"In 1924 and 1928 my friends were out working for delegates for me. I was a candidate then. In 1932 there is no such thing."

He was reminded that in some states men pledged to vote for him in the convention were seeking election as delegates.

"I can't help it," Smith said, "if men, to gain leadership for themselves, say they will support me."

"You remember what happened in 1920, I was not a candidate, but the best speech at the convention was the one Bourke Cochran made nominating me."

"What would you have done had you been nominated then?" he was asked.

"I'd have gone and got the brown derby and got busy."

Commenting on reports he was attempting to "line up the field against Roosevelt," Smith said:

"I'm not for or against anyone. That stands until the convention."

He was asked if he thought the attitude toward him in the South had changed in the last four years and he replied:

"I have no opinion on that. I've been down there only once in the two years and that wasn't a political trip."

"I'm going to work and tend to business now," he said in closing. "All you'll get from me after this is a 'good afternoon.'"

Meanwhile, Governor Roosevelt left for Albany without commenting on the Smith statement.

"I'm trying to run the state government," he said, "and that's enough of a job."

beneath 1930.

In economics the world is still well linked, despite tariffs and other trade barriers. War increases the demand for certain lines of products and creates a false sense of temporary prosperity. Whether the war in the Far East will interrupt the growing American trade in that direction remains to be seen, but from the standpoint of our own business it behooves us to move cautiously in that controversy between two nations of another race.

Winning Streak Of Local Quintet Is Ended On Saturday

Coach Leonard McLucas' Seminole High basketball squad had its four-game winning streak snapped Saturday night when it lost a 17-16 game to the speedy Leesburg Yellowjackets under the coaching of Horace Manning. The "B" team of the local school also lost its game with the Leesburg "B" team.

Coach McLucas said that his men seemed to be unable to get together, and appeared slow in beginning an offensive attack. The usually dependable and high scoring Kanner, was ineffective for the first time this season, he said, while Johnnie Courier, who usually scores 10 or more points, was limited to but six points.

The game was closely contested, the score being 5-4 in favor of Leesburg at the end of the first quarter; 9-6 in favor of Leesburg at the half; tied at 14-14 at the end of the third quarter, and ending 17-16 in favor of the visitors.

Sanford plays the Daytona out fit here on Wednesday night at 7:00 o'clock. Both the "A" and "B" teams will play, Coach McLucas said.

The line-up of the "A" team will play, Coach McLucas said.

Campbell's Car To Be On Exhibition At Daytona Beach

ing drawn by gaily caparisoned teams, instead of the usual motors.

At the end of the two and a half mile march, the pageant was reviewed at the South Florida Fair grounds, where it passed before a stand occupied by Governor and Mrs. Doyle E. Carlton, county and city officials and the entire pageant, as well as the street intersections along the line of march was pictured by newsreel and Motion picture organizations from big field apparatus sent here specially to depict the Gasparilla festivities. The day was perfect for the attack and pageant and for the making of excellent newsreel and sound pictures.

An unfortunate incident of the afternoon was the collapse of an 80-foot awning in front of the Warner Building on Lafayette Street, in which several persons were hurt, none seriously. That many others were not hurt was due to the fact that the awning sagged slowly instead of coming down with a crash. A number of men on the sidewalk under the awning managed to hold it up until most of those beneath it escaped and many persons standing on it could slide to the street.

Five of the injured persons were Mrs. Frank Sheen, wife of the press representative of the Johnny Jones shows, Ireland, who suffered bruises and scratches; Mrs. B. J. Sergius, New York, cut on head and back; Mrs. M. Italiano, Tampa, bruises and cuts; Mrs. George Nemo and 10-year-old son, scratches and bruises.

During the Gasparilla pageant city police and detectives rounded up five alleged pickpockets working in the dense crowds along the line of march. One of the men, who was said to have been caught in the act of lifting a billfold from a Tampa man, whose name was not given, told the police he was George Callahan, of Jacksonville, the officers reported. Two men said to have been working with Callahan slipped into the crowd and escaped. The others rounded up gave the names of James Harvey and George Miller, Jacksonville; C. C. Bremmon and D. Franco, Atlanta.

The bluejackets and soldiers totaled about 3000. While no authentic figures on the Chinese strength in that sector have been made public, estimates were that about 1000 were on the line above the settlement.

How Young Lady's Health Improved

Thousands of cases, like described below, have been treated in which better health followed the use of Cardui by women.
"When I was a young girl," writes Mrs. W. H. Vance of Miami, Fla., "I was delicate and in bad health. I was nervous and irritable. I was nervous at times. My mother knew of Cardui and thought it would be a good tonic for me to take. I took three bottles and my health improved a great deal. My mother was pleased. I kept on taking it for a while. I have been in good health ever since."
Many a young lady has been cured of her nervousness and her mother knew about Cardui.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Feb. 7.
The Golden Text was from I Corinthians 2:12, "We have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God."
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one spirit" (I Corinthians 12:13).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We worship spiritually, only as we cease to worship materially. Spiritual devoutness is the soul of Christianity. Worshipping through the medium of matter is paganism. Judais and other rituals are but types and shadows of true worship. 'The true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and in truth' (p. 140)."

2 One-Act Comedies Will Be Presented

By way of developing the theatrical talent of the community, one of the works of the Little Theater, the Sanford group will sponsor two one-act comedies to be given on Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the Woman's Club on Oak Avenue under the direction of Mrs. R. C. Maxwell and Mrs. James A. Wright with casts composed of some of the best talent in Seminole High School.
One of the plays, "The Lady of Pain," will be entered in the state tournament of one-act plays to be held in Deland in the near future. Miss Mary Dighton and Miss Ruth Pearson, who have taken leading parts in other high school plays, will play the leading roles. The other play, "Long Distance," is a bit unusual in the manner of plays and has been published recently for the first time.
It is hoped by members of the Little Theater that the people of the city will encourage these young actors and actresses by attending the performance Friday evening. Patrons will be admitted by showing their membership cards while others will be charged a nominal fee.
