SANFORD BALL TEAM WILL START SEASON WITH GREAT TEAM

Manager Jimmy Burns Is Here To Get All Ready IS SOME MANAGER

AND HAS GREAT BUNCH THAT WILL WIN THE 1920 PENNANT.

The Herald recently called on President DeCottes as well as Secretary Britt of the Sanford Base Ball Club to find out the progress that is being made towards making a real first class ball club...

There are many things that we have learned that we are not allowed to talk about here as yet but we can say that prospects are fine for a real pennant winning team...

The manager, Jimmy Burns, has been on the grounds now for more than a week and you have but to look at him once to feel convinced that Sanford will this year have a man who knows base ball and base ball players...

At thirty-three Burns is now in the prime of life. He points with pride to his record on the diamond, particularly to heading Springfield to the championship of the old Connecticut league in 1918...

This grand record speaks eloquently of Burns' wonderful work and stamps him as an ace in baseballdom. The next we will hear of him will be as player-manager and any one of the Eastern League Clubs outside of New Haven and New London, could use him handily...

But he is a scrappy and snappy player when in the game. He liked nothing better than a sling with and umpire, and he has been banished from the game almost as many times as he has hairs on his head...

still going strong, and it is his ambition to be able to round out a quarter century on the diamond. Those who know him best hope his wish will be realized...

"One thing I am grateful for is the large number of friends I have made in baseball in every place I have played. I can always go back to any place where I served as a member of a club and meet someone whom I could hail as a friend and glad to see me...

"I feel proud of my two greatest achievements, coaching Trinity College and Hartford High school. While Trinity did not win a championship, it trimmed all the big colleges in 1914 except Yale and Brown...

To show the esteem in which Burns is held by friends, he was presented with a solid silver bat at Forestville in 1907, and in 1913 at Northampton was given a solid gold watch, chain and society charm by admirers who were elated because he brought the championship of the Twin-State league to that city...

The schedule as adopted by the Florida State League calls for Sanford's first game at home with Orlando May 12th. In this schedule just two Thursdays were given Sanford for the first half of the season while Orlando was to have six...

President Rose's office advises that four first class umpires have been secured for the league this season with a possible fifth. These umpires are Tom McNamara, George Franklin, Richard Monahan and J. H. Schaffer...

McNamara has worked in the following leagues: Inter-State League, The Old-Atlantic, South Atlantic, New York State, Penn State, Western Ass'n, Virginia State, Carolina Ass'n, North Carolina State, Western League, Southern League, Cotton States League, Wisconsin-Minny League, Michigan State, Ohio and Penna, Penna Ohio and Maryland League, Blue Ridge, Georgia State, West Virginia State, Eastern League, West Virginia State, Florida State League...

It looks as if the league has been very careful to select the best umpiring material. It could afford, every man being a professional and an experienced man in his work and we hope they will all live up to their high recommendation.

TO JAIL INSTEAD OF WORK

STRIKING RAILWAY WORKERS WILL TAKE JAIL SENTENCE BEFORE WORK.

Cleveland O. April 24.—Five hundred striking railroad switchmen, at a mass meeting late today agreed unanimously to go to jail rather than to return to work after officials of the department of justice requested the strike leaders to notify the men that all of the approximately 1,500 strikers would be arrested if they did not return to work by tomorrow morning...

PASS BILL ALLOWING TWO AND THREE-FOURTHS PER CENT BEER.

Albany, New York April 24 (By Associated Press) The New York Senate passed the bill last night to legalize the 2-3-4 per cent of beer and the bill was sent to the Assembly for a concurrence. The bill to legalize four per cent beer and twelve per cent wine failed to pass.

Marooned On The River

Dr. J. C. Jessop who claims to be a resident of Kittanning, Pa. (wherever that is) but who really is a citizen of Sanford as he spends the best part of his life here three months in the winter had a most exciting experience a few days before he was called home. In company with some friends from Sanford and in the launch of Bob Walters of DeLand with Bob acting as navigation officer the party went to Blue Springs for the fishing and spent a delightful afternoon catching many fine fish and Dr. Jessop killing a big rattlesnake near the springs...

Key West Factories About To Quit

Key West, April 23.—Although far removed from the scenes of the strikes of railwaymen, this city is in a fair way to suffer severe financial loss. On account of inability to move their product out by rail, due to freight smorgases, the Key West cigar manufacturers declare that they must soon suspend operations unless relief is given.

SUPREME COUNCIL WILL NOT MEET

WANT TO DISCUSS GERMAN QUESTION BEFORE TAKING UP

VISITORS LIKED SANFORD

Attending Presbytery And Enjoyed Their Visit Here

D. J. Parks and Rev. A. R. Larrick returned last night from Sanford, where they attended the meeting of the Presbytery of St. Johns. The meeting was well attended and of unusual interest. Practically all of the churches were represented.

The people of Sanford did themselves proud in the matter of entertaining their guests, nothing being left undone to make the occasion both pleasant and beneficial to all who came.

Mr. Parks was entertained in the hospitable home of "Bob" Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald. Mr. Parks said that if all the men he came in contact with were as congenial and pleasant as the newspaper men he had met, life would indeed be a pathway of pleasure.

BIG LOSS IN TORNADO

MISSISSIPPI ALABAMA AND TENNESSEE HAVE MANY KILLED AND INJURED.

Birmingham April 24 (By Associated Press) The loss of life in Tuesday's tornadoes in Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee stood today at 299 with seven hundred injured and the property loss of several million dollars. The Red Cross is aiding the homeless and the injured.

Think of the Children

How many parents in Sanford have ever stopped to consider that the children are the chief sufferers when the teachers are underpaid? We have already lost some fine teachers because of poor pay—we are going to lose many more, and that soon, if something radical and prompt is not done. Our children for whom we really live and whose welfare is our dearest care, they are in danger of becoming victims of our own carelessness and false economy.

ANOTHER BIG DEAL IN SANFORD PROPERTY DREW INTERESTS SOLD

They will be taught by inexperienced and unequipped teachers, some perhaps careless and indifferent.

In any case our children will be only half taught and poorly prepared for college or for business. Let us see to it that our children have the best teachers that can be supplied—We care do this by seeing that our teachers are paid a living wage—Surely they deserve more than our farm hands.

When you are approached in the coming drive, remember that you are helping to provide for your children, our future citizens and give freely and gladly.

Three New Orleans Firms Charged With Proctereing

New Orleans April 23.—Affidavits were filed here today against three wholesale grocers and three retailers charging proctereing in the sale of sugar. One retailer is alleged to have charged as high as 35 cents a pound for sugar. The warrants have been served and bonds fixed at three thousand.

HITCHCOCK GIVES WAY TO UNDERWOOD

NEBRASKA SENATOR BREAKS DEADLOCK FOR LEADERSHIP BY RETIRING.

Washington April 24.—Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska withdrew last night from the race for Democratic leader of the senate, thus virtually assuring the selection of Senator Underwood of Alabama, at Democratic conference called for Tuesday night.

Senator Hitchcock's announcements was made in a letter to senate Democrats. He said his withdrawal from the fight would conduce to Democratic harmony and would accord with his individual plans, which would not permit him during the remainder of the year to undertake the work of minority leader, which developed upon him with the retirement from the senate of the late Senator Martin of Virginia. The withdrawal of the Nebraska senator breaks the deadlock which developed at the party conference Jan 15, when the first effort was made to select a successor to Senator Martin.

Fine Show Window Displays

One of the neatest window displays of the season is the bathing window of Yowell & Co., in which there is every kind of bathing suit, caps and accessories. The window is dressed to represent the beach and has the natural sand and a glass represents the water and on the beach and in the water are a number of good looking kempies in bathing suits and looking around as regular people do at the beach. The window is a work of art in every particular and is attracting much attention. Another good display is the furniture and rug window at the store of T. J. Miller & Son where George Huff fixed up a nice looking parlor living room and even the dining room and kitchen and the display shows good taste, a good blending of effects and colors and is an all round good furniture window.

John Meisch Buys Bishop Block, City Lots and Celery Lands

MORE IMPROVEMENTS

HAS BEEN A GREAT WEEK IN HISTORY OF SANFORD AND MEANS PROGRESS AND IMPROVEMENT.

The week has been filled with big events in the commercial life of Sanford among them being the deal whereby the Sanford House and holdings changed hands and yesterday another big deal equally as important to Sanford and vicinity was closed in which all the city and country property of Benjamin Drew, was sold to John Meisch of this city.

This property consists of the Bishop Block in this city, situated on First street between Palmetto and Sanford avenue, between 600 and 800 city lots, about 300 acres of celery land near Robinson Springs and several hundred acres of good farming land in Volusia county and several fine tracts of celery land on the west side of this city.

No figures have been made public on the transaction but at the figures rumored Mr. Meisch will make a good profit on his investment and he does not purpose to sit down on his investment and let it hatch but will push the sale, improve many of the city lots, will build some houses, will sell on reasonable terms to stimulate home builders and will in many ways develop and improve this property that has lagged on the market for so long and impeded progress.

The people of Sanford are rejoicing with Mr. Meisch over his acquiring this fine property for they know the progressive spirit of John Meisch and his good business qualities and they know that this sale means another step toward making a greater Sanford.

All hail the day when good, live, progressive home people will purchase and develop the non-resident property in this city and county and develop and improve and sell it and in this improvement not only enrich themselves but enrich the community.

The various sales this week demonstrate that Sanford bids fair to become the greatest city in this part of the state in a few years and Sanford has struck a gait that no misfortune and no calamity can down or retard. We congratulate John Meisch on his fine purchase, for his nerve and for his progressive spirit.

BLAME ON PAPER

Atrocious Wall Coverings Cause of Bad Temper.

In Article on the Subject, English Journal Makes Serious Charges Against Designers Who Give Fancy the Reins.

"It isn't your liver which is wrong, it is your wall paper!" may possibly be the exclamation of the doctor in the near future. Instead of sending round to the chemist for salts and senna, the man who feels his nerves to be jangled, his digestion to be rotten and a taste in his mouth like sucked pennies, will call in the men with the ladders, the paste bucket and the slapsdash brushes.

Many a man thinks he is bad tempered and takes himself seriously to task, as he reads his paper in the train; for having left behind him a family in tears, when really, he is perfectly innocent.

If he did break out and say things and slam doors and throw things about and ask who had been chopping firewood with his best razor and call the breakfast bacon "putrid"—it probably was—it was not that he was "ratty," but that the wallpaper all over his house was enough to give a rhinoceros a third skull, a writer in London Answers asserts.

In the days before wallpapers were invented the world bred quite a large and regular crop of saints. The reason no new saint ever appears on the horizon is due to wallpapers. Who could be a saint and live with the atrocious convolutions, evolutions and pyrotechnics of the modern wallpaper?

The thing is impossible. A wall covered with a fruit salad of cherries, with leaves to match, may be borne with for a day, or even a week, but when it comes to living with it a whole year and often much more, it gets on the nerves and frays the edges of the nervous system.

Then there is the flower paper, a few degrees worse than the fruit salad contraption. A little red rose or two scattered broadcast on a nice, creamy background may be all right, but when it comes to what the Covent garden porter calls "a market bunch" repeated all over the wall 520 times it is calculated to send a Galapagos tortoise into hopping madness.

Then it is a funny thing how wallpaper designers love big flowers. They wouldn't be seen looking at a daisy or a primrose, but put a sunflower or a chrysanthemum or some mixture of all these which makes a dower no one ever saw outside an opium dream and they go for it with avidity and reproduce it by the hundred gross! Paperhangers would be well advised to change their method of advertising their craft. It is no use to put up a sign simply saying that you are a house decorator, "estimates free," and that sort of rot. Say, rather: "N. O. Arsnik, Professor of Rest Cure. Are you jumpy? Do you tremble when you see a job of work? Are you given to language? Do you assault the gas meter man and set the dog on the tax gatherer? What you want is a new wallpaper or two—something in low tones, restful and soothing."

"Giddap!"

The Stars and Stripes prophesies that long after the last of the American forces have left France, echoes of Yankee vernacular will linger among the French peasantry, and to bear out its prophecy it tells the following story of a good woman at Yonvray, a suburb of Tours, who bought at a sale, conducted by our remount service, a horse with which on the whole she was well pleased. When, however, she had it only a short time a private from the Tours barracks came upon the worried old lady, circling horse and cart in a vain effort to get the beast to start.

"How goes it, madame?" he inquired. "Ah, monsieur, he is a bon cheval, but he understands not the French. How is it you say 'allez! monsieur?'" "Volla, madame," he replied, and took the reins and with a single "giddap!" urged the horse into action. "Ah, merci, monsieur, merci!" exclaimed the amazed and delighted woman.

If ten years from now she remembers no more than "giddap!"—well, that's something.

Secretary Baker a "Bartender."

"I might have a chance to get a job after March 4, 1921," said Secretary of War Baker the other day, "if it had not been for the prohibition business."

"Once when I was mayor of Cleveland I had a hand in settling a labor row. When it was all over one of the men asked me if I carried a union card. I replied that I did not, but would be very glad to have the chance to do so. In the next day's mail I got a card entitling me to life membership in the bartenders' union."

"I carry the card to this day, but now I am afraid it will not do me much good."—New York Sun.

Desperate Chances to Escapes

Even When Almost Certain Death is

 Their Efforts.

Pepper got his cognomen from his method of highway robbery. Walking along the street in the evening, he carried an unlighted pipe between his teeth. When, in some lonesome spot, he saw a pedestrian stop to light a cigar, Pepper would accost him, asking him to "hold the match." When the fellow traveler obliged, Pepper, instead of lighting his innocent-looking pipe, turned it toward the eyes of his victim, and blew hard. The pipe was of special construction and filled with red pepper. The victim, blinded by this horrible assault, could do nothing to defend himself until relieved of his valuables.

With two terms already behind him, Pepper was sent to Clinton. There he immediately began to plan an escape, and in his plans exhibited great cleverness.

He worked in the clothing shop of the prison. One piece at a time, working over a period of eight months, Pepper stole a complete civilian outfit from the shop. The ensemble he hid in his pillow.

Banging his way loudly, Pepper made for the warden's office. Without even knocking he stumbled in. The warden happened to be in the office at the moment, but this did not deter Pepper. "I've come to sell you some meat!" he declared confidentially.

"Sergeant!" bawled the warden, "take this d—d pest and throw him out! He's bothering me!" The sergeant came in and removed the obstreperous meat seller, dumping him outside the gates with force and relish. It was not until Pepper was across the 20 intervening miles to Canada that he really allowed himself a good laugh. Pepper stayed out of the clutches of the law until five years later, when he was foolish enough to return to New York.

At the same prison great courage enabled another break-out.

Near the prison laundry stood an empty barrel. Taking the bottom out of this, four prisoners took turns at tunneling.

After two weeks of intermittent work they reached the wall, and excavated a small chamber there for working purposes.

Finally one of the huge slabs was loosened, and worked forward to a point where it was almost about to topple into the excavation.

Here a terrible difficulty became apparent. It would be perfectly simple to release the slab, but the second it came out it would crush beyond recognition the man working in the excavation. The men talked it over gravely and decided that one of the number must be sacrificed that the other three might escape.

They drew straws. By ironic chance G—, the one of the four with more than an ordinary reason for escape, drew the shortest straw. His was the assignment. One of the others, proclaiming himself unattached, offered to take his place, but G— refused. In the few seconds after his election he had formulated a scheme that might give him something of a chance to escape the slab when it fell.

He took down a short piece of plank. This was insufficient to stop the rush of the big stone, but he thought that, in breaking, the wood probably would delay the fall long enough to permit him to squirm out of the way. Propping it in place, he grimly worked the slab until it gave way.

It struck the plank, breaking it. Jumping back, G— endeavored to get out of the way. He succeeded—except for his right hand. This was mashed until it was scarcely recognizable as a member. Gritting his teeth, he made no outcry, however, but turned to the work that yet remained.—E. T. Bronedon, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Guild Long in Service.

An ancient Irish guild, the Goldsmith's corporation, gave a dinner recently for the first time since before the war, at the Gresham hotel, Dublin. The charter was granted by Charles I in 1637, was originally established for the purpose of hall-marking all articles of gold and silver wares that were brought to their offices for marking. It has zealously discharged its duties for over 250 years and is still vigilant as ever in detecting and punishing fraudulent hall-markers. The original charter and seal, a copy of its roll of members, with the wardens' and members' oath, were exhibited, and on the table were specimens of antique silver bowls, plate rings and other articles.

LAST DAY OF DAILY
The last day of the Daily Herald and we wish to thank all those progressive merchants who advertised every day, those who advertised spasmodically and those who did not advertise but once. The people here subscribed so well that we had a list of which any daily could well feel proud especially when it led such a hazardous life beset every day by the fear that each day, would be its last while the Southern Utilities Co., lurked around the dark corner ready to kill it by taking away the life current of electricity. The Daily paper was a venture pure and simple in many ways. Had the current been steady the Daily Herald would have been an eight page paper filled with news and advertising and would have filled the field here for many miles around. We are well satisfied with the venture for our friends stayed by us through thick and thin and they know we only quit when there was no chance to get by. Next October the Daily Herald will make another start to operate we hope for all the time for Sanford is getting in the big city class and not only demands a daily paper but will demand service from the Southern Utilities Co., ere another winter season is upon us. The people are standing nobly by the Herald and we believe we have stood by the people even when standing by meant a financial loss. For the summer months we will give you a weekly or if the electric service is better we may be able to make it twice a week. But in any event there will be a paper in Sanford called the Herald.

THE UNDERPAID TEACHER
In a large educational institution in the city of Detroit are several young men who have taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the eight-hour day to get an education. They attend the regular class sessions during the school day, then work on the "second shift"—from 3 or 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon to 11 or 11:30 at night—in the large factories of the city. Of these young men, two, who are in the ninth grade in the school are each earning $7 a day; and another, who is in the tenth grade, is earning $8.40 a day. Counting a month as twenty-six working days, these young men are making from $182 to $218 a month. The salaries of the teachers in this school—every one a college man and a specialist in his field—range from $150 a month to $190 a month. They teach six high school classes a day and one class in the evening, three evenings the week, two hours each evening.

One of these students recently said to his English teacher, who receives a salary of $185 a month for his day and evening work, "Mr. Blank, I greatly appreciate the work you're doing, but I think you teachers are the most foolish class of men in the world. Why don't you organize a union? With your training and ability, you ought to be getting $10,000 a year. And with a teachers' union you would get it too."—D. G. Baird, in Christian Herald.

SUGAR GAMBLE HIT THE COUNTRY

The massacre of the goose continues. Profiteers raise prices. Twenty six thousand switchmen strike. Hundreds of thousands of other workers are thrown out of employment. Millions of dollars of wages are lost. And the public and the nation get it going and coming. Everybody is worse instead of better off.

If the law enforcement officers of the government cannot enforce the laws they should let more able men take their places.

We forbid gambling games with cards but do not interfere with gambling in sugar, a much more serious form of gambling, affecting every home in the land.

With wholesale grocers and jobbers and brokers gambling in sugar the price has risen to 23 cents a pound and the people are warned it will soon go to 25. It is the most brazen challenge of the government we have had in a long orgy of profiteering. We are told the refineries are unable to provide for the enormous new stocks of sugar. But a corner in sugar is formed right under the eyes of the department of justice.

The canning season opens in a few weeks, the one chance in the year the American family has of putting up cheap or cheaper food, for winter use. That is something which cannot be done with sugar at present prices.

The food gamblers and profiteers loud-mouthed, self-professed champions of law and order and 100 per cent Americanism are making this contribution to good government and national welfare. These greedy men as spoliators, agitators and trouble makers, are a thousand times more potent for harm here than all the "reds" in or out of Russia. The situation demands sincere activity by this government against its enemies—the profiteers and food gamblers. A government that can lick the Hun 4,000 miles from home should be equal to a few hundred or a few thousand arch-price conspirators here at home. The secret service which during the war ran rings around the German spy system could get these spoliators on short notice. Evidence of their misdeeds is not lacking.

Vocal war against profiteering is unavailing. If the department of justice will come to grips with the gougers, it will do more to stop strikes and restore peace and order and good feeling to the United States than all the speeches and propaganda ever uttered or printed. Let action speak.—Capper's Weekly.

Preserve The Lake Front
We have received the following communication which we believe represents the feeling of so many of our citizens that we gladly give it room.

The change in property ownership along the Lake front, and intimated building, brings to the attention of our people the interests of the city, county, and state in the bit of land which lies between Commercial Street and Lake Monroe.

This frontage is of value untold as Park material, as the special opportunity for beautifying Sanford. It is the first place identified closely with the city that the tourist sees who takes the ever more popular "St. Johns River Trip." The first impressions are strong and lasting.

Time was when the grounds in front of the Sanford House were parked, and postal cards are still for sale which show how attractive it was and might still be.

Shanties, rotten docks, homely buildings of all sorts, a jungle of matted trees and small growth, have characterized the frontage for years. It has been one of the conditions which have led travelers to take dinner here, if necessary, and then hurry through to some other place.

The Ladies' Club made a start in the right direction by planting some palms, and turning attention to the situation with a plea for better conditions.

Now, if Sanford's most valuable strip of land to all its people is to be saved is the time to agitate.

Beauty is a commercial asset in any place. We shall not lose any interest in celery, the city will progress rapidly in business ways, but we must not become ceterized, we must not become so commercialized that future generations will have to do at great cost what might be done now at little cost.

Plans should be made to park the lake front for the benefit of all the people. Plans should be made for making a handsome boulevard entirely around Lake Monroe.

Sanford can be made one of the most attractive places in the state and have a national reputation.

A recent New York Independent has nearly a column of advertising of the beauty advantages of a town not many miles from us.

With all the associations formed in Sanford it is strange that not one club has been organized for something besides amusement or business. But to beautify the city is business. It is good business, and investments in that line pay big profits in more ways than one.

The writer does not know what the recent purchasers of the Sanford House and other property, plan. The plans have not been made known. There is no criticism of anyone in this article except criticism of us all for not long ago having kept the priceless Lake front clear of buildings and having it parked.

Build up First Street, build east and west and south, but PRESERVE THE LAKE FRONT.

The additional expense of the city bonding itself if necessary to the end of making a notable place of beauty for all time would be small, present owners would release their holdings for far less than in the future, and if buildings should be erected on the front, then that ends for all time the possibility of a city beautiful at its most important point, a point which should mean free access of all for all time and the pride of the city. Citizen.

Roll the Table Cloth.
In some of the domestic science schools the pupils are now taught to roll table cloths instead of folding them. Since the folds in the linen are always the first places to show wear. The cloths are ironed flat and rolled while being ironed. Start to roll them as soon as a half a yard is ironed and keep the roll directly in front, turning it as fast as the ironing is done. Thick brown paper may be used if you have no regular roll. One clever woman who procured several mangle tubes placed them end to end and covered them with a fancy wall paper, pasting it on securely. This makes a firm foundation for the roll.

Beautiful Card Party

A charming event in society circles this week was the bridge party at which Mrs. S. O. Chase, Mrs. B. F. Whitner and Mrs. E. D. Mobley were hostesses at the attractive home of Mrs. Chase on Thursday afternoon. A color motif of yellow prevailed in the decorations, tastefully carried out with a profusion of Spring flowers.

Dainty score cards in daffodil design completed the charm of the pretty arrangements. The refreshments were served on flower-decked plates and repeated the party color. There were eleven tables of players Mrs. C. M. Vorce making high score to whom was presented a dresser scarf. To Mrs. L. G. Stringfellow was given a cake plate on low score. To the guest making the highest score at each table was presented a lovely Yama basket. The only tea guests were Mrs. Whitner Sr. and Mrs. Rantoul.

Boys And Girls Enjoy Outing
Chaperoned by their teacher, Miss Clara Millen, a group of Eighth Grade boys and girls enjoyed a happy time at Beeman Springs (Palm) Friday afternoon. All the pleasures of a woodland picnic were numbered in the frolic and a delicious picnic supper was spread beneath the trees in the late afternoon, the party returning to the city about seven-thirty. Those present were Naomi Scoggan, Le Claire Jones, Bernice Austin, Nan Paxton, Robt. Jinkins, Clarence Field and Watson Wallace.

To make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before has always been considered a laudable action.
