

Hospital Status Is Explained In Letter To Clerk

Herdon from the Assistant PWA Administrator is as follows:

"I have your telegram addressed to Hon. Harold L. Ickes on Sept. 29, advising that the hospital project in Sanford, Florida, out Docket No. Fla. 1423, failed to carry because the necessary majority of fresholders failed to participate. You request an extension of time to Nov. 8 in order that a second election may be held.

"There was included in the Public Works Administration Appropriation Act of 1934 a requirement that all projects must be capable of being placed under construction by Jan. 1, 1935. It is the desire of the Congress, as expressed in the Act, that the funds made available to the Public Works Administration should be used as rapidly as possible for the creation of employment. Allotments must be made, therefore, so far as possible, to projects which, without a doubt, can be placed under construction. If funds were allotted to projects which might be rejected by the voters at a time too late to permit a re-allocation of such funds to other communities able and anxious to proceed with worthy projects, the purpose of the Act would be defeated to the extent that the funds would remain unallotted.

"For these reasons, it was necessary to establish a time limit of Oct. 1 for elections, and this application, as a matter of fairness to other applicants, will therefore be precluded from receiving favorable consideration at this time. Of course, if an applicant proceeds to hold an election later than Oct. 1 and there should be, through re-election or abandonment of project for which funds have previously been allotted, available money the applicant along with other similarly situated, could be considered for re-allocation of such funds. However, any expense incurred by the applicant in holding the election will be at its own risk, since no assurance can be given as to an allocation for any project."

Troops Lined Up On Each Side Of Border Awaiting Reply To Ultimatum

KOMARON Mediation Invoked

KOMARON, on the Czechoslovak-Hungarian border, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's mediation has been invoked to untangle deadlocked Czechoslovak-Hungarian border negotiations while troops were massed tensely on either side of the frontier.

The Slovak delegation, representing the Prague Government and Hungarian negotiators still were unable after a three-hour session to agree on Hungary's demands for a slice of Czechoslovak territory.

Source close to the Slovak said that "in this serious hour" Hitler had been asked to mediate since the conference has shown the two nations were still wide apart.

Reliable indications have been that Hungary, spurred by German and Polish success in getting Czechoslovak territory had demanded 8000 square miles of Southern Slovakia. The Slovaks were believed willing to cede only 2,000 square miles.

While the parley remained deadlocked, Czechoslovak nervousness and excitement mounted. Troop stocks rumbled through this city of 24,000 population which straddles the Danube. Gendarmes carrying rifles with fixed bayonets and Czech police forces were re-located.

Both Czechoslovak and Hungarian troops on opposite sides of the Danube seemed prepared for open hostilities if the territorial negotiations fail.

The Slovak minister, Dr. Ferdinand Durichovsky, who is aiding the Czechs, has the Slovak prime minister at the conference, was reported to have flown to Berlin to seek Hitler's mediation.

Czechoslovak circles were optimistic that after Durichovsky's return, expected today, some agreement would be reached with Hungary should the German parley be willing to set.

It was said that only hope was that a further ultimatum would be issued.

LIGHTNING PROTECTOR... One of the strangest superstitions about the evergreen plant, however, is that the laurel, was that it was supposed to protect the owner from being struck by lightning.

JOHNNYCAKE... Commonly thought of as a symbol of victory, the laurel wreath was used by the ancient Greeks as a prize in the Olympic games. Roman emperors wore the laurel wreath to indicate that they were commanders of the Roman army.

One emperor, at least, used the laurel for a different purpose. Tigrinus, a Roman emperor, wore the laurel wreath whenever he went out in a thunderstorm.

STEEL PRICES TO AUTO MAKERS ARE REDUCED... The reduction, which makes a difference of about a dollar in the cost of manufacturing a single automobile, brings Detroit delivered prices to $2,955 a hundredweight for hot rolled sheets, and $3.10 on cold rolled, each down about 20 cents from the old price.

The reduction, these sources explained, was entirely competitive and was not a measure taken in belief that lower prices would lead to larger orders from automobile concerns.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE MAGNET OF UNITY. "Thou wilt all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."
-Eph. 4:13.

THIS THEN IS DEATH

(From The Atlantic Monthly)
They said it was a little thing to die, Dust unto parched dust given,
A sleep with no more waking, but to lie Numb to all hell or heaven.

They said death was a swift, passive thing That sealed the eyes forever;
Never to know the eyes forever; Never to know the spring's white blossoming, Lover by quiet lover.

With such bold things to say, Why did not know When death comes in sleep's likeness It asks for more than human strength to go Alone into the darkness.

Reports persist that Sanford is to have a new tourist camp before the beginning of another winter season.

Hitler has already gained the territories, and exceeded the other demands, which he insisted upon at Godesberg, demands which so shocked Chamberlain that he returned to England and prepared for war. Apparently unable to gain them in one way, Hitler has exceeded them in another.

Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, said the world is headed for anarchy unless an international court with a strong police army is established. Such an army would have to be strong enough to whip Germany and Italy combined; otherwise the international court would be at the mercy of Hitler and Mussolini.

While announcing a new farm plan Secretary of Agriculture Wallace does not admit that the old farm plan is a failure, but the implication is there. There would be no need for a new one, if the old one had worked. However, paying farmers to reduce crops has never seemed a practical experiment. Farmers reduce their acreage, put on a little more fertilizer and raised bigger crops than ever.

The Public Works Administration in Washington advises that it may be too late for Seminole County to secure an allotment of funds for the construction of the proposed hospital out of existing appropriations. However, that it may not be too late was also indicated in the letter. Under the circumstances the thing to do is to vote on the election. Then we will certainly be in a more favorable position to present our case.

Although people in the United States know of the attack in Vienna on Cardinal Haughey before any had been dispersed, the people of Vienna have not been informed of it yet. All we know is what they say, or what they have heard over bank news. No newspaper has been allowed to carry a line of the news. The public communication system is under a strict censorship.

The Growth Of Women

College girls today are not only taller than their mothers, but apparently have gained in height more rapidly than the average American woman, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The average height of girls entering Vassar increased one and one-half inches over a period of 37 years, that of girls entering Stanford, one and one-fifth inches in 30-year and of girls entering Smith, one-half inch in 22 years. The 1935 graduating class of Barnard College averaged eight inches taller than the class of 1925.

The studies of college women, which support the common impression that the typical American woman has been growing taller, are said to differ from life insurance records which indicate that the average height of adult women has changed but little in the last 50 years. The lack of change in the average height of insured women is fairly typical of the population at large, according to the Metropolitan, as due to the rapid increase in population over a period of many years, in the proportion of women of the shorter race stocks from southern and western Europe. This would have tended to bring about an increase in the average height and the fact that there has been little, if any, change may be an indication that the new generation of southern and western European women are taller than their parents.

There is already some evidence of an increase in the average height of American women from the Metropolitan records, which show that the younger women insured by the company in 1932-1934 had a greater average height than those insured in 1922-1923. This is said to be due largely to the fact that the younger women insured in recent years have included a much smaller proportion of foreign born women than did the group ten years ago, because of the sharp curtailment of immigration during and after the war.

It is likely that in the course of a generation the average height for women in the population as a whole will show a substantial increase and may eventually equal that already attained by college women.

Spontaneous Combustion

As this is National Fire Prevention Week, The Herald has the following suggestion to make to Sanford's housewives: gather up all the trash and old junk which you have stored in your attics and take it out and burn it in a grand bonfire out in the back yard under the able and expert supervision of some competent yardman or advocate of your family.

One of the chief causes of fire in this country is just such rubbish that accumulates in attics, cellars, and storerooms of the average household. During the past ten years more than one billion dollars worth of homes have been destroyed by fire, while more than one thousand dwelling fires have occurred daily throughout this country.
The Cincinnati Fire Department reports that during recent fire prevention clean-up campaigns in that city more than five truckloads of combustible rubbish were carted away from one home at one time. In Providence R. I., a similar campaign resulted in the collection of 1,680 tons of burnable trash, or an average of 43 pounds per home.

One of the predominant items of trash reported was Christmas trees. In Providence more than one thousand dried-out, tinder-like trees, over nine months old, were collected in one day. During the same campaign, more than 2,800 old worn out mattresses were removed from attics where they were forming an almost certain source of ultimate conflagration.

The danger of spontaneous combustion in old mattresses is one which cannot be overlooked. Not long ago a Pennsylvania hospital was burned to the ground by a fire known to have started in a pile of mattresses in the basement as a result of spontaneous combustion. Fires have been known to have started inside of mattresses on beds in places inaccessible to matches or cigarettes.

You do not have to pour oil over a rubbish pile in an attic or store room and light it with a match in order to start a fire. Just let enough paper, excelsior, old rags, mattresses, boxes, baskets, paper bags, and other combustible materials accumulate long enough and you will have a fire without any other cause whatever.

Taylor Stresses
Value Of Citrus
Research Work

WINTER HAVEN, Oct. 13.— (AP)—B. J. Taylor, member of the Florida State Citrus Inspection Bureau here, who recently spent three weeks studying California citrus growers' methods, stresses the value of a research laboratory.

Taylor said he was impressed with the efficiency of the research laboratory operated by the California Fruit Growers Exchange wherein all materials used in packing houses and groves must first be submitted for complete research and approval or rejection by the laboratory.

Such methods, he said, eliminate "all danger of materials being used which might either temporarily or permanently injure the fruit or California's reputation."

The laboratory, Taylor continued, also approves the method of giving all California fruit "a bath" in chlorine after being washed in a neutral-citrus liquid, the purpose being to knock out dark scars and thereby increase the volume of higher grade fruit, insure a clean face upon which to apply wax or polish, and reduce mold decay to a minimum.

"A research laboratory of this type in Florida, with the full support of the growers and shippers, would, I am sure, be worth many times its cost every year in money saved that is now wasted through the purchase of every new material under the sun, many of which are either injurious to the fruit or no good at all and in every instance they bear the name and reputation of Florida fruit in the handle their fruit "in a more gentle manner" than Floridians, using a field box holding only 48 pounds at a normal eight.

However, he said, this was very expensive from the standpoint of transportation and that Florida field boxes with their center head exert no more weight pressure than the California box can be hauled at a lower percent cost. Picking is done by expert Mexicans, the rate being on an hourly basis, with a percent bonus to insure good picking and easy handling. The bonus plan was acclaimed the best the industry had ever used, said Taylor.

"If fruit is brought into packing houses when the weather is warm," he said, "it is first run through a spray of cold water in the field box and is then placed in the air-conditioned cellar to cool down to at least 70 degrees F. before being placed in the coloring room.

"The coloring system principally used is the trickle system with ethylene gas. The fruit is aired every six hours with fresh air of the same temperature as the coloring room. This system was worked out by the research laboratory. Picking is very much on the order of ours and, contrary to the belief of many Floridians, every box of wrapped fruit has a nice bulge, 1 to 2 1/2 inches, and every fruit is wrapped, regardless of size. All fruit to insure good quality keeping in transport, is placed immediately after packing in precoolers. Many houses have their own precoolers with capacities of from 25 to 100 cars of fruit.

Taylor commended California houses for running their machinery at a slower speed than is usual in Florida. This, he said, reduces "the element of mechanical injury to fruit" which results in bruises that show up

Colds Are Found Most Prevalent In Fall Months How Safe Are You at Home? Red Cross Warns of Hazards

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. — (AP) — The coryza (say kor-EYE-zai) is here again. It's not a new dance or a drug. It's the old-time "cold" that catches the common cold.

Doctors can't see it even with high powered laboratory microscopes. It slips through pore-lam laboratory filters which hold back other bacteria.

They think it is a minute organism. They KNOW that autumn is one of the high points in the year's coryza cycle and that the common cold is toward the top of the list of diseases disabling people for a week or longer each year.

The U. S. Public Health Service also believes the physically fit succumb to colds almost as readily as the weak, although good physical condition helps modify a cold's effects.

Researchers have discovered that babies are likely to have fewer colds because they are less frequently exposed. Children under five, the Health Service says, are more susceptible than any other age group. Young adults catch colds more often than elderly persons.

While there are no national figures for the common cold, the Health Service offers a sample showing the incidence of the common cold in medical officers' families for two and a half years.

There was a regular decline in colds between April and August, the officers found, but during the months of many colds, September to April, the trend was irregular.

Negroes Pledge Their Support to Roosevelt

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14. — (AP) — Delegates to the eastern regional conference of the national negro congress yesterday pledged support to every progressive measure undertaken by the Roosevelt administration.

The delegates, representing church, civic, fraternal and labor groups in 12 eastern states, closed their three-day conference following discussions of problems of job opportunities for negroes.

Undefeated Fed Eleven Meets Buccaneers Tonight

Game Will Take Loop Spotlight

Illness Of Furguson Weakens Locals But Team Has Improved In Week's Practice

By JULIAN STENSTROM
Herald Sports Editor

Tonight, the night when the Seminole High School's undefeated Celery Fed tackle the visiting, undefeated Daytona Beach Buccaneers, the spotlight of the Southeast Florida conference. The game will be played on high ground at the field beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

Head Coach Leonard L. Lucas of the Celery Fed will send the Fed eleven against the charges of Head Coach Spik Wehinger's Buccaneers when they play for the first of the season at the high school games in the state.

Both teams are members of the Southeast Florida loop and both are leading contenders for the circuit crown. Sanford has two conference wins while the Blues have one.

The Celery Fed delegation is in good physical condition for the tilt with the exception of Darrell Furguson. It has not been definitely decided whether Furguson will play tonight as though Coach McLean intimates that he may.

The Feds will have 20 men of them. He has a man squad in uniform tonight and the Blues will bring the same number to Sanford. The reserve power of the Feds has shown up considerably in the first two games and if the Fed should win tonight the record would be an important factor.

The tilt tonight will be held at 7:30 o'clock and will be broadcast on WFL radio. The game will be the first of the season at the high school games in the state.

The probable Celery Fed line will be: Clark, center; Hill and Warren, tackles; and Furguson, quarterback.

The probable Buccaneers line will be: Clark, center; Hill and Warren, tackles; and Furguson, quarterback.

The probable Buccaneers line will be: Clark, center; Hill and Warren, tackles; and Furguson, quarterback.

ALTHOUGH HE WEIGHS only 150 pounds and plays in a league of giants, Dave O'Brien, Texas Christian quarterback, probably is the most versatile performer in the Southwest Conference. The Horned Frog's triple-threat quarterback will lead his team's attack in the first of the season at the high school games in the state.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

The football season is in full swing and the competition is fierce. The Celery Fed and the Buccaneers are the top teams in the Southeast Florida conference.

Other sports events include basketball games and track meets. The local teams are showing good improvement and are looking forward to the upcoming season.

The basketball season is also getting underway. The local teams are looking for a strong start in the conference. Track meets are also being held throughout the state.

Bankruptcy cases are being filed in court. The courts are handling a large number of cases, including those involving businesses and individuals.

Drilled For Oil But Struck Dry Ice Gas
WALDEN, Colo., Oct. 11. —(AP)—Nature has an excellent dry ice refrigerating plant five miles north of here but unless man can rid it of an oily crust he probably won't be able to use it. An oil company, drilling for oil, struck a carbon dioxide gas field that will flow at the rate of 25,000,000 cubic feet a day. Dry ice is made from the gas. All efforts to rid the well of its oil content have failed and engineers said the oil prevents its use commercially.

THE GREAT WALTZ

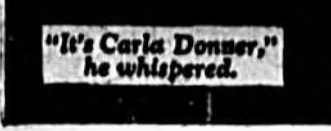

BEATRICE FABER

Byron: In 1844, young Johann Strauss, called Schani, by his friends, took his sweetheart's job in the Commercial Bank of Vienna in spite of his poverty. He determined to follow in the footsteps of his father, Johann Strauss the Elder, and write waltzes. He was considered heretic because of the fashionable crowd. Schani, however, sets about organizing an orchestra that will work free will. He can obtain a trial engagement at one of the cafes.

Chapter Two

Working with his tattered demitasse group of men for a solid month Schani dreamed and hoped. There came the weary business of begging for a chance. It was Dommayr who finally gave him possibly Schani's desperate plea won him over, perhaps it was the effect of Schani's music as he ran through it on the cafe's piano. After all, Dommayr was a true bourgeois and his willing ears caught his easy fancy.

One night a huge poster outside the Casino proclaimed the debut of Johann Strauss, Jr. and his World Famous Orchestra. Carried in an old frock coat of his father's, Schani stood on the conductor's stand and led for all he was worth. One hour passed by, two hours. Then it was midnight. His arms growing heavy with despair, he glanced out from again. Two hundred cables and only five occupied. At ness, set Fold, her parents, and Schani's mother. Dommayr walked up to the stand. "I'm sorry, Schani began miserably. "You am I but don't let it bow you down, young Strauss. Best-wood wasn't a success either the first time he waded his waltzes in the children on your way out." Leaving the bandstand, Dommayr addressed the waiters peremptorily. "Open the windows! Start your cleaning!" he turned and spoke to the patron. "Ladies and gentlemen, the performance is over. He was turning a chair up-side down when a party of newcomers entered. Dommayr saw a handsome, distinguished-looking man of about forty, exclaiming a lovely, blonde girl dressed in hunting costume. And that was all he saw. "I'm sorry, but we're forced to close early today, but I'll call for a concert. Let's have it." Dommayr shook his head. "We shall be glad to refund the money. The performance is over." "What's wrong with the money, we want music. The performance is not over." Dommayr threw out his chest. "I am August Dommayr of Dommayr's Casino and the performance is over."

"It's Carl's Donner," he whispered.

The other bowed. "I am Fritz Schaller, first tenor of the Imperial Opera and this is Carl Donner, the famous soprano and the performance is not over." "I don't care who you are. The performance is over." "Quit casually, Carl flicked the restaurateur on the sleeve with her riding crop. For a steady second, her deep blue eyes held his. "The performance is not over."

Dommayr wailed. "The performance is not over!" Then he snarled at the waiters. "What are you doing there? Leave the windows open! The whole neighborhood might as well hear it too!" Letting on his music stand, Schani had been watching the newcomers. He looked at them bewilderedly. The whims of society were always unorthodox. As the woman approached, he bowed to her. "Madama, if you have a special wish—" "Cran his voice died and he stood there spellbound. That ex-quintessentially modded face! The crown of golden hair! Of course. This was Carl Donner!

"Yes!" she said, glancing at him sidelongly. Schani stammered. "You—you have a special wish, Madama?" "Anything." She stepped her hands nervously and looked around. "Schani turned to his men. A flame had kindled within him. This beautiful creature! What have the best that they could give. They would perform for her alone. "We shall perform 'Carl's Lie'." He lifted his chin.

Gumming, Kissel retained his bow. "Now the goddess will be here." "That's Carl Donner!" Schani whispered hoarsely. The orchestra made an attempt to play, but the conductor's most solemn, he was in the room. Kissel and Perry ran into the room. Kissel was a regular house guest.

England Considers Registration Of All Eligible For Duty

By Associated Press
Hungary, having broken minority negotiations with Czechoslovakia, mobilized 200,000 men as Germany emerged in role of mediator in central Europe's knotty nationalities issue.

Hungary called five classes of soldiers for what officials said was peace time war. They declared that collapse of the negotiations on Budapest's demand for Hungarian populated parts of Czechoslovakia and that continued mobilization of the Czechoslovak army endangered Hungarian security.

The official press declared Hungary had "powerful friends"—referring to Italy and Germany with whose heads two Hungarian envoys conferred yesterday.

Although the Hungarian appeal was sent to the four Munich powers to mediate, Italy, having become mediator without need of help from Great Britain, France or Italy, other members of the Munich accord.

Czechoslovakia continued to move troops closer to the frontier with Hungary on the Danube River and a Czech official declared any attempt to occupy Czechoslovak territory would be resisted under any circumstances.

In Britain national registration of all Britons to give the government an index of force available for service in emergency was considered.

Informed sources said plans for the legislation included a special department of national defense, responsible for all branches of civilian protection.

But despite attempts to convince the great foreign powers that the Hungarian-Czechoslovak dispute should be settled immediately Hungarian state officials yesterday afternoon seemed to have lost their bitterness, which was felt Thursday night throughout the nation.

This was believed to be the result of encouraging news from Rome. (Count Casy, an official of the Hungarian Foreign Office flew to Rome from Budapest to consult with Italian officials.)

The Cabinet called a session last night to discuss the latest reports from Germany and Italy.

According to some reports here, Hitler and Mussolini offered Hungary their personal mediation to end the nationalities deadlock.

Fire Chief Urges Co-Operation In Fire Prevention

Cleveland Says Fire Losses Are Already Triple Last Year's

Fire Chief M. J. Cleveland urged today that citizens co-operate in fire prevention. He said that fire losses in Sanford are already triple last year's.

Chief Cleveland characterized as important steps in fire prevention the adoption by the City Commission of the electrical ordinance and the ordinance prohibiting storage of motor fuels for retail in tanks of larger capacity than 550 gallons. He declared that these laws will work toward a lower fire insurance rating for Sanford when a new rating is made by the underwriters.

A building code, similar to the ordinance adopted governing installation of electrical wiring and appliances, would be another valuable asset, the fire chief asserted, pointing out that these regulations are considered fire preventives by the underwriters and a lower rating would mean a saving of thousands of dollars in insurance premiums to merchants and residents in this city.

On the closing day of the National Fire Prevention Week, Chief Cleveland asked local business men to co-operate in prevention of fires by inspecting their buildings and plants and eliminating possible fire hazards.

"Fires in business firms are wholly unnecessary," the fire chief asserted, "they throw men out of work, cause loss of profits and disruption of business."

Residents were urged also to join in the program and give thought to home conditions and surroundings that might cause fires. Chief Cleveland said that statistics show more than half of all fires are in dwellings.

Working in conjunction with the Ritz Theatre and using the same program adopted by Lions Clubs elsewhere over the state, the Sanford Lions Club is sponsoring a movie at the Ritz Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, Secretary J. L. Galloway announced today, adding that the proceeds from the tickets sold by the members of the club will be used as a scholarship fund to pay expenses for some worthy Seminole county boy at the University of Florida.

The club, Mr. Galloway stated, has already started sale of the tickets, which are no higher than the usual admission price. The Club adopted this program at its regular meeting last Wednesday night and co-operation of the public in making it a success was requested.

Approval Of Hospital Bond Issue On Nov. 8 Is Urged By R. L. Glenn

Declaring that he had learned for this project, he said they would have a place in the hospital building as soon as the bond issue is approved. Mr. Glenn said that the bond issue would be voted on Nov. 8.

Mr. Glenn is editor and manager of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen's magazine and now resides in Cleveland, Ohio. While in Sanford he was chairman of the general grievance committee of the Brotherhood of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. He also served as chairman of the Seminole County Planning Council and was active in securing approval of several WPA projects here.

"It is with a deep sense of regret," he said "that I notice the fall on the hospital bond issue did not carry and I hope that the next election on Nov. 8 will put it over."

"If the folks in Seminole County would take time and visit some of the modern hospitals in that area they would soon vote unhesitatingly."
