CONSIDER THIS—Any garment with elastic in it ought to be bought two at a time. Like girdles, bras, some socks, what ever. That's the contention of an expert. And the purchaser should alternate the donning of said garments so none is worn two days in a row. "These little amenities need a rest to give them extra life, he says."

EVERYBODY in the world wants a wristwatch. I guess. The makers say they now sell almost six times as many watches as they sold 25 years ago. . . . A TRIAL LAWYER insists his lengthy experience convinces him a man about to commit perjury tends to put his hand to his mouth. . . . TRUE, INFLATION is pushing prices up. But not so bad as one: In California's gold rush days, pork ran $6 a pound and a barrel of flour cost $400.

THE WALL STREET BOYS refer to International Telephone stock as CHA. How inasmuch as its ticker symbol is IT. If you don't savvy this, young fellow, ask your grandad. . . . NOTES GRACE DOWNS, that fashion expert, "where are the days when men used to admire the entire woman? If the current trend continues, we may have to breed women the way they breed chickens—either all boson or all leg."

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q "What's the world's coldest town?" A Oymyakon in Siberia. Temperature there drops to minus 90 degrees F. sometimes. Understand it's not uncommon for a person's eyes to freeze shut. . . . Q "Remember Marie Tinsol, the widow of the Dallas policeman shot by Lee Harvey Oswald? How much did the public donate to her all in all?" A About $750,000, finally.

Kidney Transplants 90% Safe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Kidney transplant techniques have advanced to the point where a surgeon's greatest worry is that a patient may neglect to take the medication after he goes home, a noted transplant surgeon says.

Dr. Samuel Koumiz, speaking recently to about 600 attending physicians at the American Association of Urologists' annual convention, also reported that costs for the life-saving kidney transplant operation have been reduced sharply.

"A kidney transplant now costs less than to have one's stomach fixed," said Koumiz, who has performed 262 such transplants since 1964 with a 90 per cent survival rate.

Koumiz, on the staff of the University of California's San Francisco Medical Center, said the American Association of Urologists' first 30 cost an average of $33,000 each. The next 100 averaged $17,000 and now they are less than $5,000.

Police Pension Fund Questioned

A resigned Sanford policeman has consulted an Orlando attorney about filing a law suit against the Sanford Police Pension Fund.

Daily Smith, who recently resigned the police department, told The Herald that $251.59 deducted from his pay since his employment in July of 1967 was not returned to him on his separation from the police department a month ago.

Smith blamed the legislative act that was first passed in 1943 and amended several times since then for the refusal of city officials to refund his money.

Henry Tamm, city clerk, stated that his office handled the pension fund but that it is not part of the city operation. Tamm showed the legislative act, which disclosed that a rookie policeman could get his deductions returned in the first year of his employment while on probation. If his employment is terminated, Tamm disclosed that after a year, the rookie becomes a regular policeman and any money deducted for the pension fund is not refundable, if he is discharged or leaves of his own accord.

Some five per cent of a policeman's salary is deducted each pay day for the pension fund, Tamm revealed. "The fire department had its pension act amended to allow them to recover whatever amount was deducted from their pay checks before leaving city's employment," Tamm said.

Smith, commenting to The Herald, said he was never given information about the pension fund or whether the act could be amended to give departed employees a refund. "I had the feeling that someone didn't want the act amended," Smith stated.

According to Tamm, the fund is handled by a trustee board made up of the mayor and other city officials.

$285,000 in the fund at last year's accounting but the money is invested to draw dividends and interest.

Respect . . . to esteem; to honor; to refer to; to consider; deference . . . etc.

How in the world can we expect the rest of the world to respect us when we tolerate some of the scum who violate and defile the very nature of this revered word?

It's a very obvious expression, directly through these writings, that I don't always agree with the actions and policies of our President Nixon.

However, that's a responsibility which I accepted . . . as a very controversial one at times . . . when I assumed this editor's chair.

But, never was there any thought on my part to interrupt or eliminate his right to express his opinion (the same as you and I have ours); least of all, to throw any objects or utter obscenities to his position he holds.

The next time, and as far as I'm concerned this will be the only way to prove that we mean business, the very next time some idiot throws an object at the President of the United States . . . HE SHOULD BE SHOT ON THE SPOT!

As harsh as that may sound, let me assure you that I (God forbid, but) in the event a thrown object was to be fatal to our President, you'd see one of the highest civil wars the world has ever seen.

Consider the consequences . . . and while you're thinking . . . wouldn't some other national powers just love to see their ultimate dream come true? Without having fired a shot, or lost one soldier while trying to take over this country?

The Citizens Bank of Oviedo will take on an unusual air Friday night when tellers will be in Halloween costumes and a witch will preside over a pumpkin full of candy until 7 P.M. Although banks are usually a trifle leery about masked individuals who come trick or treating, all the kids are welcome to drop in for candy for this special occasion.

It is wisdom to believe the heart.

Asst. State Atty. Utilized Polk Eyes Warrant Problem

Kirkland Pleads Innocent

Edward Kirkland, Orlando attorney charged on three counts in an incident involving a minor female, entered a plea of innocent at an arraignment yesterday. Kirkland is charged in one count of a crime against nature and two counts of a lewd and lascivious act upon a female child.

Kirkland and Harlan Blackburn (who was acquitted of the charges in June) were arrested early in the morning of Jan. 15. The incident occurred at the Regency Apartments in south Seminole County.

Judge William Akrigg gave Kirkland's attorney, Meredith Cohen, 30 days in which to file motions.

Editor's note: Newspapers are well cognizant of the fact that a certain amount of secrecy must prevail in the preparation of criminal suits for trial—by the prosecution and by the defense, alike. The Sanford Herald has endeavored for weeks to contact State Attorney Robert Herring and his assistant, Thomas Speer, only to be advised they "are not available at this time."

The flamboyant Kirkland, who is noted for his "mood" attire engaged in a number of court appearances yesterday. He wore a slate gray business suit, with the only note of color a flamingo pink shirt.

The arraignment was short and terse and was held in the County Commission chambers (Cont. on Page 1B, Col. 6)

Ambulance Pact Expires But Service Continues

By MARION BETHA

A misconception in the office of the clerk of court will cause some hurried discussions by County Commissioners Tuesday relative to the county's subsidization of ambulance service.

The contract with Herndon Ambulance Service expires Saturday, but the clerk's office was of the opinion that the date was in December or January.

I. E. Willis, vice president of Herndon Ambulance Service, telephoned County Commission Chairman John Alexander following Tuesday's meeting of the commission concerning the matter, and when apprised of the misconception in the date advised that there would be no lapse of service until the matter is reviewed by the commission.

According to Alexander, proposals were made three years ago by other firms and these may be considered, presumably, by the commission before a decision is made. Alexander has consistently remained against the subsidization of the service by the county, since, in his opinion, by using tax funds, the service should be operated by the hospital.

During budget hearings of the commission, discussion was held relative to a reduction in the amount of the contractual service to $20,000 from the present $26,000. Alexander said that he is anticipated that the commission will renew the contract with Herndon at Tuesday's meeting but went on to comment that, "Frankly, I don't know." He explained that there has been a difference of opinion among the commissioners regarding the service with a continual 3-2 vote.

Gene Herndon, when contacted in the matter, said that following expiration of the contract tomorrow, "We will continue operating as we are. We will not pull out of the county. We have not been contacted by the county; we are still waiting for nothing will happen Oct. 31. There is no climax here. We expect to hear something this week."

The contract with the service is on a yearly basis in which bids are submitted.

For The Sake Of Charity Sheriff Polk 'Kidnaped'

The younger generation has responded to needs of the Seminole All Youth Shelter with a dramatic gesture by TKE fraternity of Florida Technological University which "kidnaped" Sheriff John Polk and is holding him for $10,000 ransom—payable in food, clothing or cash for the proposed youth shelter.

The whereabouts of the sheriff remain a secret but reportedly his staff knows where to contact him, if needed. He will be held until 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

A rival fraternity has captured TKE's fraternity bell and is holding it for $1 per member donation toward the ransom. Russ Price, chairman of the benefit project for TKE, has in turn, challenged every fraternity member in the state to respond with $1 per member pledge toward the ransom.

Karl Murphy, director of SAYS, and Rev. Jack Lindsay of Longwood, chairman of the board of directors, were picked up by the sheriff's department for mock interrogation.

The SAYS leadership has issued a plea for all citizens of the county to respond to this project by giving for the ransom of the Sheriff and helping SAYS build the needed youth shelter.

They feel these young people are to be commended for their efforts and constructive imagination in helping meet a critical need in the lives of Seminole County youth by helping provide a home for rehabilitation for those who need it.

Cooperating in the project, Radio Station WFLP has agreed to provide disc jockeys and a band for a dance at the school turning in the most donations toward the ransom.

Christmas Parade Theme

"Christmas in the Sunshine State" has been chosen as the 1970 Christmas parade theme by the Sanford - Seminole Jaycees.

The theme was selected from entries by Seminole County school children in grades 1 through 8.

The writer of the winning theme was a Carol Robinson, 20 North Devon Avenue, North Orlando. Carol is a student at Longwood Elementary.

She will receive a $25 Savings Bond and will ride in a place of honor in the Christmas parade as guest of the Sanford - Seminole Jaycees.

The 1970 Christmas parade has been scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 3, at 7:30 p.m. Jaycees parade chairman Robert Morris stated that letters have been mailed to all organizations wishing to enter floats advising them of the theme. He also said all floats should be decorated appropriately for a night parade.

Ounce Of Prevention

By RICHARD MARSHALL
Sanford Christian Church

It was a lovely, tranquil late summer Sunday evening. We were standing on the front steps of a little country church building, drinking in the peacefulness of the moment waiting for the evening worship service to begin. Then it happened—the tranquility rudely shattered by the high-pitched, sickening wail of a siren. Then they sped by. Police cars; an ambulance; then another. We went in to begin the evening worship, wondering what must have happened just a mile or so down where the state park was located.

We learned later that night. A small boy at a family get-together had wandered into the road. A speeding car had left many feet of tire marks in a squealing, but futile attempt to stop. The child was dead.

His uncle, the host for the family gathering, had gotten a tape measure and while waiting for the police to arrive began to measure the distance the car had skidded. The tragedy was compounded when another car, traveling over one hundred miles per hour, raced upon the scene, and struck and killed the uncle.

Just a couple of hours before it had all happened, this preacher had pulled into the driveway of that home to turn around, and seeing all the family together, had stopped to invite them all to church. The man of the house had said, "We might just come down this evening."

It was my unfortunate lot to meet with the widow of the man, and aunt of the child the next day for the painful process of making funeral arrangements. In the grief of the hour, she said through her tears, "If I had paid any attention to your invitation, yesterday, this would not have happened."

I think I'll remember her words as long as I live.

This is a world filled with tragedy. The heartache caused by drug abuse and addiction is known to everyone. Nearly 30,000 die on our highways every year as a result of alcohol-caused accidents. Lives are ruined and hearts broken daily as humanity revels in its mad pursuit to find its kicks. Real life and purpose seems so elusive. Nothing seems to satisfy, and we go on our way down the path of self-gratification, only to meet up sooner or later with tragedy. The number of addicts and alcoholics grows; the crime rate increases; the tragedy compounds; and we ask almost in desperation, "Is there any cure?" or "Where will it all end?"

Special Bus Transports Religious

By JAMES A. ALTZES
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Getting to church on time is no longer a problem for members of the 11-year-old Bartimaeus Baptist Temple in Dallas—a specially outfitted bus now picks up and delivers them to Sunday church services.

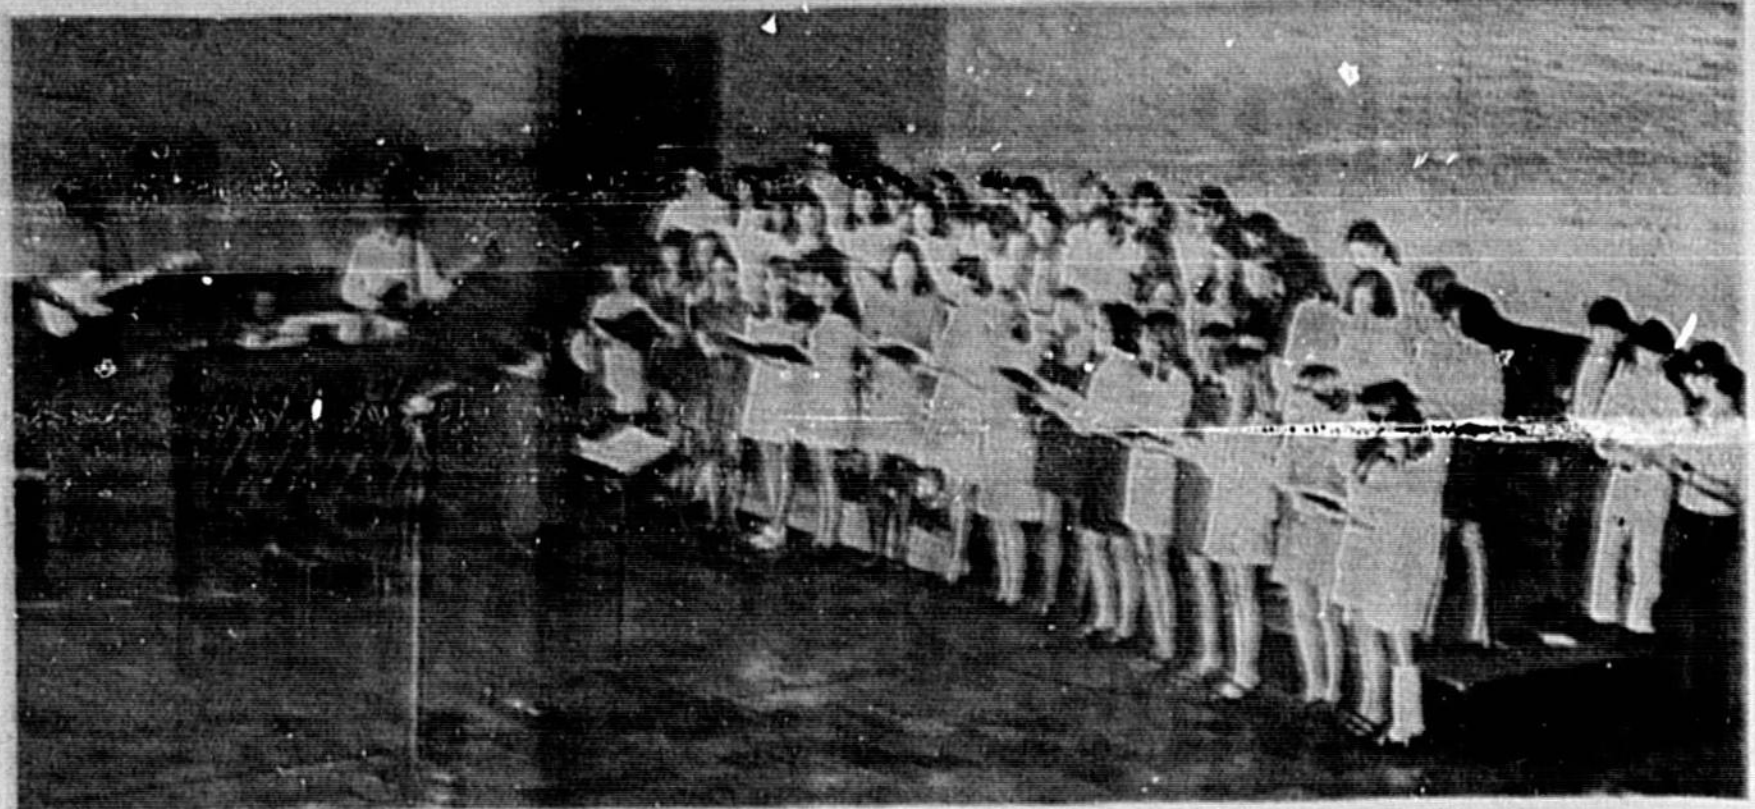

Bartimaeus Baptist Temple is a church operated solely for the handicapped—persons unable to live a normal life. Some members are blind. Others paralyzed. All are handicapped in some way.

The bus, dedicated on Sunday, Sept. 28th, was the goal of the Women's Mission Union—WMI—who started the project in 1967.

An elevator platform lift, at the curb side of the bus is used for wheel chair and disabled passengers. Opposite the elevator, three seats have been reserved and a railing and clamp have been installed to anchor four wheel chairs comfortably with the passengers in them. For those able to move around, there is additional seating space for 20 adults. A normal front outside door is provided for those passengers who can negotiate the steps. The aisle inside the bus is wide and the seats are comfortable.

World Community Day

Program Slated Nov. 6

Church Women United in Sanford will celebrate World Community Day on Friday, Nov. 6, at 10 a.m. at God Shepherd Lutheran Church, joining with church women in 2,300 other communities across the country. The 1970 observance will highlight International Education Year as designated by the United Nations.

In facing the realities of the coming technological age, the need for the masses of people in every nation to cope with the future is seen as imperative as is the theme of the day: "Use a Key For Tomorrow: Education."

Church Women United are joining with others to help improve their neighbors' chances for a quality education.

In Sanford, women are asking what group is not being provided with adequate educational advantages and facilities. Many young people and adults have been "able to continue their education in our public and private schools. The group feels our community is extremely fortunate in having the Semole Junior College in the immediate area. The Extended Services Division at the College offers facilities and opportunities for those who want to further their education. William Gordon, Director of Extended Services, at the College will be guest speaker at the World Community Day program and present those many opportunities. Mrs. Phyllis Trigg, a student from SJC, will be guest soloist.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend this program and the coffee from 9:30 to 10.

Liturgical Experiments Forbidden By Vatican

By BARRY JAMES

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican has forbidden any further experimenting with the Roman Catholic liturgy, such as the holding of Mass in private homes and use of unorthodox garments by priests. Vatican sources said today.

The ban is part of a still unpublished "instruction" on liturgical practice issued by the Congregation for Divine Worship. Advance copies of the document have been sent to the bishops throughout the world.

The document specifically prohibits experimentation with the Mass, the central form of Roman Catholic worship, unless the Congregation gives permission.

It specifies Mass can be celebrated only in a sacred place except by special permission of the local bishop. Thus it forbids masses in private homes, which have become popular in the United States and in some parts of Europe.

Liturgical reforms instituted by the Vatican Ecumenical Council and put into effect by Pope Paul VI have been attacked by traditionalists as too sweeping and by liberals as not going far enough.

"Now comes the necessity for every section of the church's community to deepen its grasp of the renewal of the Mass" while "abandoning individual preferences," the Congregation said.

The reforms have simplified the Roman Catholic Mass and are intended to bring those attending actively into the worship instead of being passive onlookers. The biggest reform was transition from Latin to modern languages. There is also a greater reliance on Biblical texts and freedom to use a large selection of prayers, including many beautiful texts which have been virtually unused for centuries.

However, the new instruction forbids use of any but biblical readings in mass and says fixed prayers already approved by the congregation cannot be replaced, although priests may use other prayers for local needs or special occasions.

NEW YORK (Sp1)—The Christophers today announced publication of "God's Good Earth—And Ours," a 20-page booklet dealing with the environmental crisis.

Written by Dr. James Megiern, formerly chairman of the theology department of St. John's University and currently a consultant with the United Nations, the publication explores the impact of the Judeo-Christian attitude toward creation of the renewal of the Mass and the impact of the Judeo-Christian attitude toward creation of the renewal of the Mass.

A capacity crowd of members and their families and guests from the Father Richard Lyons Council of Knights of Columbus met at the R. C. Hall on Oak Avenue to hear Sheriff John Polk and Deputy Vinton present a program on the narcotics problems in Seminole County. Following a film showing the causes and effects of narcotics on our youth, there was a question and answer period. The Sheriff urged the parents to acquaint themselves with the symptoms of drug abuse or usage and to develop communication lines with their children.

A buffet dinner was served following the program. Chairman of arrangements was John La Brocchini.

HOLY CROSS EPISCOPAL Church will have the Fall Ingathering of the United Thank Offering of the Women of the Church Sunday, Luncheon tickets for the Christmas Bazaar to be held Nov. 12 are now available from the church office or any member of the chapters, as well as Sweeney's Office Supply.

BEAR LAKE BIBLE CHAPEL located on Bear Lake Road and Anna Drive will have dedication services Sunday at 3 p.m. beginning this Sunday, worshiping service will be held at 11 a.m. and Sunday School at 10 a.m. Second Class Pledge Field at Sanford, Florida. Women's Subscription Rate by Carrier: Week 35 Year $16.00.

JEWSH Sabbath Services of the Jewish Community of Deltona will be held on Friday, Nov. 6, at 8 p.m. at the United Church of Deltona, located at Providence Boulevard and Tivoli Drive.

Rabbi Robert P. Franin, of Miami, director of Southeast Council of Union of American Hebrew Congregations, will officiate at this auspicious occasion. Cantor Michael Goodman, formerly of Boston, will be accompanied by his choir. Many local dignitaries have been invited. Refreshments will be served after the service.

REV. J. FRANK McKINNEY, of the Northside Christian Church, Altamonte Springs, will be guest speaker during Revival service to be held at the Plymouth Avenue Christian Church in DeLand, Wednesday, Nov. 4 and his topic is "In This Laidarian Age." (Maryann Miles Photo)

Nixon In Florida Is Presidential Politicking

Editorial Comment

President Nixon is always welcome in the Sunshine State. He usually comes here as a place for relaxation from the combination of cares which always rest on the shoulders of the President of the United States when occupying the White House.

No stranger to the pleasures of Florida living or the responsibilities of Florida taxpayers (of whom he is one), his recent two-day visit added a new facet to his multi-faceted personality.
For he was here as the titular head of the Republican party to bolster the sagging campaign of the GOP candidates for the United States Senate and for governor.
The net result will not be known until the votes are cast on Nov. 3rd. But there is one unhappy aspect of this visit which we would comment upon and condemn as not only an indignity which the President of the United States should never encounter but a horrid example of the malaise which is attacking our society.

This is the small in number but very large in noise made by the fringe of mostly young, mostly violent shouters and brandishers of insulting placards who should always be given the same kind of short shrift they experienced in Tallahassee and were spared in Miami.

Florida is, however, only an important way station in the east-to-coast visits by the most experienced Republican politician and the most powerful Republican and it should be noted, the most precedent breaker of incumbent Presidents.

For the Nixon goal is the election to the Congress and the Senate of GOP candidates who are essentially "me-too-ers." When Mr. Nixon first decided to forego the personal pleasure of such personal swings, it was thought the GOP had a real chance to get those seven seats in the Senate which would give the Republicans strength to support Nixon.

This hope has, according to the best informed sources, now faded to the point where even one or two seats captured from the Democrats would bring smiles to the usually somber Nixon face.

Thus his drive in Florida was primarily centered on providing coattails on which U.S. Representative Bill Cramer of St. Petersburg could ride into the Senate, not least being vacated by Democrat Senator Spessard Jordan.

It certainly did not seem to be focussed on the re-election of the incumbent Gov. Claude R. Kirk, Jr., who - it might be recalled - was in Miami in 1968 as a booster for the GOP Presidential nomination of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and not for the Nixon-Agnew ticket.

Both Cramer and Kirk are in trouble with the voters. The Democratic voters of Florida have sprung into new life with the candidacies of two youthful, vigorous, honest candidates in the persons of Lawson Childs of Lakeland, the "walking senator" as Democratic senatorial standard-bearer and Republican Askew of Pensacola as a believable and attractive gubernatorial standard-bearer.

President Nixon's visit did little to shed light on such issues as the economy, which is getting more and more difficult to overlook. But every mention of the Indochina war brought audience response and showed him that this protracted expensive and casualty-producing fighting is still very much on voters' minds.

They are polite (most of them) and will listen whenever the leaders of the national parties come here to campaign. Yet it is very questionable whether or not appeals from outsiders will outweigh this native inbred capacity to "make up my own mind."

They are polite (most of them) and will listen whenever the leaders of the national parties come here to campaign. Yet it is very questionable whether or not appeals from outsiders will outweigh this native inbred capacity to "make up my own mind."

A remark by Senator Childs, when asked about the Nixon visit and its bearing on the senatorial campaign, is illuminating: "(Cramer) may have walked by the side of the President, but I've been walking by the side and talking to voters."

This Childs approach is the one we believe that fits in with today's needs and is, essentially, the democratic process in action.

The Friendly Season

By: Fred Van Pelt

Any way you look at it Claude Kirk will be a lame-duck governor after Tuesday. With the exception of 23 large districts, almost everyone else in the state appears agreed that Kirk sounded his own death knell when he supported Nelson Rockefeller and the Republican Party in Florida. Even Kirk's own aides admit the Governor is "running scared" in his efforts to be re-elected.

(By the way, whatever happened to that Kirk-Rockefeller program to ease the migrant migration between Sanford and Rochester, N.Y.)

Television viewers watching the news Tuesday evening were given a jolt. At the very same hour, Roger Muld on CBS-TV and Frank McGee on NBC-TV predicted that Kirk will be defeated, on next Tuesday, in fact, theirs were more of a statement than a prediction. (Remember on election night

RUBEN ASKEW ... challenger

1966 when - before any Florida precinct results had been reported - David Brinkley announced that Kirk had been elected, the first Republican governor of Florida in nearly a century? It's done with computers.)

It appears to be certain at this time that Ruben Askew is the next governor. It should be said here that this election will be more of a defeat of Kirk than a victory by Askew. Askew just happened to be in the right spot at the right time.

While the column earlier said that William Cramer would be elected U.S. senator, we're going to have to hedge. It appears that Kirk may take Cramer down to defeat with him. Cramer didn't help himself earlier this week when the TV cameras practically ignored Kirk when President Nixon spoke (on a Cramer-paid program) from Miami.

And we cannot be convinced one speck that President Nixon and Vice President Agnew's whirlwind tours (at the taxpayers' expense - about $11,000 a plane take-off) helped Cramer one iota - and Kirk not that much.

So, it could be that Lawson Childs may just take the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by his fellow Democrat, Spessard Holland.

(We've pointed out Askew's wife is from Sanford. Childs has friends here, too. AP reported this week that T. E. Tucker donated $2,000 to Childs' campaign, while Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard McNulty kicked in $1,000 each. McNulty and Tucker were law partners at one time at Lakeland.)

It tickled our fancy when we heard that W. A. Patrick, one-time Democrat turned Republican, turned up at McNulty's fish fry for Childs.

There are some Republicans and Democrats, alike, who feel that the split in the Republican party will carry all the GOP candidates down to defeat. Thus, the Republicans would lose all the strength and prestige they built up during four years of "Kirk-ism."

No. 1 local Republican candidate on the ticket (not statewide) is Leonard Wood, currently a state representative but running against Democratic incumbent Bill Chappell for Congress.

According to Wood, the Seminole County Republican executive committee has not lifted a hand to help him in his campaign. And despite the local committee's divvy of the approximate $2,125 filing fee Wood had to pay at Tallahassee, Wood says the committee has made no effort to help him, financially or otherwise. He was among all those candidates who were NOT introduced at the GOP rally at Sanlando Springs.

Wood says he is getting "wonderful response" in the other 10 counties of this Congressional district, but it hurt him so much when he was not introduced at the GOP rally at Sanlando Springs, right next door to his own hometown of Altamonte Springs.

By the way, Chappell will be in Sanford tonight to address an open forum of Florida Tech and Seminole Junior College students, sponsored by Kappa Sigma Alpha fraternity of FTU.

In accepting the invitation, Chappell said he is delighted to meet with the students and looked forward to the opportunity of discussing the issues that face Americans today.

Chappell said, "With the unrest on college campuses, the drug problem and the crime problem, it is important that the students of this nation be able to express themselves and their feelings for the opportunity of this forum and hope that the student population is well represented as well as their parents and the rest of the members of the community."

Memo to Gordon Meyer: Recommend you accept Bill Scott's suggestion that you "forgo free boat rides." Your "friends" on the City Commission could make a capital issue of it.

May Be Major Issue In Future

Environment Tested In Politics

By STAN BENJAMIN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - Environment is getting its first, concrete test as a political issue in the election campaign - now drawing to a close.

It's not a priority issue nationwide this year but whether it comes a "lightning" word in future elections may largely depend on its effectiveness at the polls Nov. 3.

While politicians everywhere profess love for environment and hate pollution, promise and performance have become real political factors in at least seven states.

In New York's gubernatorial race Arthur J. Goldberg, former Supreme Court justice, charges that a state Pure Waters Program aimed at ending pollution by 1972 has failed, leaving state waterways dirtier than ever.

Incumbent Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller replies the program has made great parts of the country, in large states and small, and all points of the compass.

In populous California, Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan claims California "has turned the corner on smog" during his administration with auto exhaust, limitations and fines against other pollution sources.

His Democratic challenger, Assemblyman Jess Unruh, charges, however, Reagan has failed on all counts to effectively fight pollution.

Environment is also an issue in another big California battle, the Senate race between Republican incumbent George Murphy and Democratic Rep. John V. Tunney.

At the other end of the nation, in New York's gubernatorial race Arthur J. Goldberg, former Supreme Court justice, charges that a state Pure Waters Program aimed at ending pollution by 1972 has failed, leaving state waterways dirtier than ever.

Incumbent Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller replies the program has made great strides, although it will probably miss its 1972 deadline because of inadequate funding and unforeseen delays. Rockefeller has requested legislation to solve the problem.

Goldberg says Rockefeller doesn't enforce antipollution laws; Rockefeller says he gets results by encouraging voluntary compliance.

Famous names face environmental issues in Delaware and Illinois.

Pierre S. duPont IV, son of a giant chemical firm and the Republican candidate for Delaware's lone House seat, publicly ridiculed two recent pollution fines against his own company as being far too low.

His Democratic opponent, John D. Dentello, emphasizes tax penalties, as well as fines, against industrial polluters; duPont favors tax incentives to encourage industrial pollution abatement.

Sex Superiority

In all the furor over the woman's liberation movement, the Indianapolis Star dug up the words of John Ruskin on the subject some generations ago:

"We are foolish, and without excuse foolish, in speaking of the superiority of one sex to the other, as if they could be compared in similar things! Each has what the other has not; each completes the other; they are in nothing alike; and the happiness and perfection of both depend on each asking and receiving from the other what the other only can give."

Dancing Returns

Could a revival in ballroom dancing be under way? Not so anyone would notice, but a Wall Street Journal survey has found a resurging interest in dance instruction in a number of cities across the country.

The new students preponderantly are in their early twenties. And the shades of the old days - the dance steps they are most requesting are the fox-trot, waltz and tango.
It is not surprising they are not familiar with these steps. The dances of their age are not dance steps but gestures, gyrations and shimmying. One of the first things they will have to learn is how to dance with a partner, an experience they should find most enjoyable.

Sheared Close

Some wise guy in New Zealand advertised a "suntan and grown" way to cut household bills. He'd sell it to all comers for the equivalent of $5.

Bullock looked into it and found that the fellow was sending a pair of scissors to people who responded.

"Green Belt" Preservation

By CHARNER LEONE Herald Staff Writer
There are five bond elections on the Nov. 3 ballot. They have been approved for placement on the ballot by the Seminole County Commission and need the approval-vote of the people of the county before they can be sold.
All of the issues are worthy of your serious consideration. All call attention to situations that have become serious. Included are monies for a juvenile detention facility, a mental health and incompetency facility, an agricultural center, a county branch office, and land acquisition for parks and recreational facilities.

It is this last that has my covered attention.

Much of the land in our county is scenic, rolling, and wooded. But, "Progress" is fast putting her sloppy signature on our lovely countryside. The commercial and residential development that has come here in such abundance in the past few years or so is the main (and perhaps the price) of progress. It is a boast to our economic development that there is no doubt.

But, it is also cutting off vast amounts of land we have used for our recreational needs. Gone are many of the quiet spots that are so pleasant an interlude in our memories.

However, it is not too late to save some of our most beautiful areas for our children, and their children, and even more to come, will have the place to enjoy the trees, and the underbrush, and the green, and even the sight of the soft blue sky through the heavily foliated branches of the trees they rest under.

In short, we need to set aside parklands.
The price is set on these seven areas that are scattered throughout the county by an appraiser is just under $1,700,750. That is on today's market. Obviously, the price on those proposed lands will go up, in time, as all costs are now. If we procrastinate in this pur-

Arabs Leery Of "Buddies"

By RAY CROMLEY NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) - For some months now the White House, the State Department and the Department of Defense, by hints, backgrounders and past statements have been making it clear that this government believes there is danger the Middle East could bring a Soviet-United States confrontation so serious it could end in war.

A major part of the problem is that the Russians are seeking such great headway in the Arab area and have so committed themselves to radical regimes that they lose sight of caution.

It is pointed out that the Russians have not stopped with supplying the Egyptians with modern arms and military advisors. Before the cease-fire Russian pilots were flying fighter planes in Egypt against the Israelis.

The Russian position looks strong on the surface. The Kremlin gains in the Arab area have been dramatic. They have allies where they did not have them before. They have made major strides toward acquiring their own military groups in the Middle East.

In addition, the rivalries among Syria, Egypt, Iraq and Saudi Arabia are so fierce that any nation moving into an intimate relationship with any of them gets caught willfully, sooner or later, in deep and bitter Arab "family" quarrels.

In the end this can make Russia more enemies than friends. The Palestinian commando-guerrilla groups are already bitter against the Russians. While the Palestinians may not yet possess military strength, they exercise a powerful veto in a range of Arab countries. They have, with their violence and their determination, won the admiration of young men throughout the Arab world. So their open suspicion of Russia can translate into a sharp growth in mistrust among the younger elements of Arab society.

If the United States handles this situation with some imagination, the Russians will find it more difficult to convince Arabs that this country is against them and on the side of the Israeli. If Washington can sell Arab public opinion the Russian position in the Middle East is basically so precarious that Moscow is not likely to take a dangerously strong stand in that area. But the Kremlin will surely go as far as Russia's rulers think they can safely go, talking beligerently all the while.

Even more troublesome for the Russians is that they have now entered into such close alliances with some regimes and some factions in Arab countries that they are strongly mistrusted by other groups. The Arabs are well aware that the Russians are not their friends and are not prepared to back either side against the other, this reporter has reason to know that some of the Arabs now making the most beligerent speeches in public, will be more than willing to gradually to loosen their ties with Russia.

For the reasons outlined above this reporter is convinced that the Russian position in the Middle East is basically so precarious that Moscow is not likely to take a dangerously strong stand in that area. But the Kremlin will surely go as far as Russia's rulers think they can safely go, talking beligerently all the while.

Murphy-Tunney: A Tossup

By BRUCE ROSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent

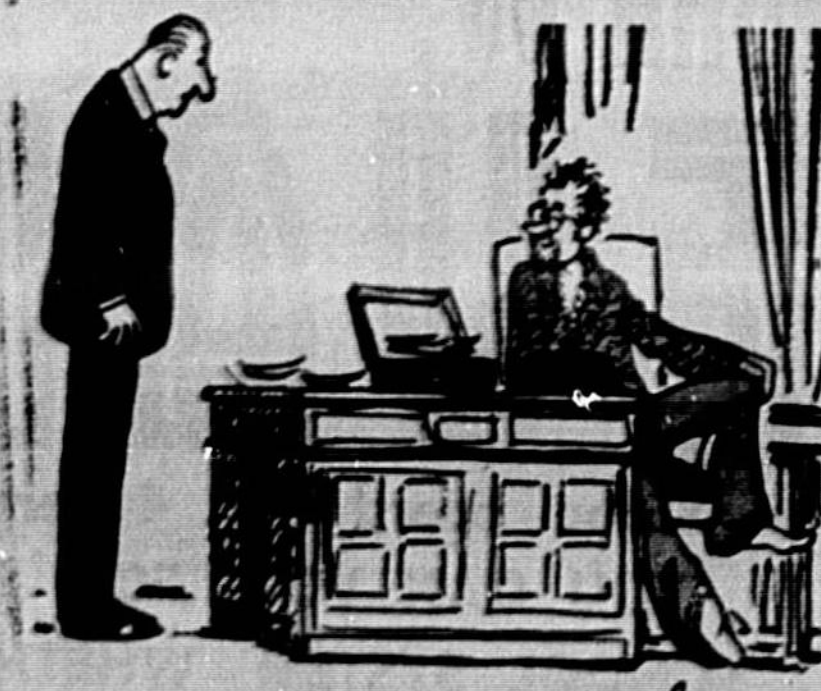

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA) - A full-sized caution flag ought to be flying here against the "conventional wisdom" - that aging, whispier-voiced Sen. George Murphy can't make it this time against the young, Kennedy-like Democrat challenger, Rep. John V. Tunney.

In the first place, though polls give the 36-year-old Tunney a slight edge and he has been a tough campaigner at the finish, everybody with any grasp thinks this California Senate race is one of the nation's closest.

It may be significant that Murphy is getting President Nixon's personal help in the stretch, but he does not know how to help himself. He tells funny stories superbly. He blames a good part of California's 7 per cent unemployment on Democrats who voted to cut aerospace outlays which once provided many jobs here, and fancy shopping centers.

The handsome young man with Kennedy connections and an attractive Dutch wife is a puncher like his famous father, fighter Gene Tunney, there's no doubt of it.

STOCKINGS—That girl who is quickest to wear out her nylon is the file clerk. She goes through one pair on the average every 20 days. This is because she is required to scrub down on her hands to get into the bottom drawers of file cabinets. A detailed study of department store patrons with charge cards revealed the foregoing.

REMEMBER, IT'S STILL illegal in Pennsylvania to kill a snake unless it bites you. . . . AM ADVISED the average man walks the equivalent distance from coast to coast every year.

THAT FLOWER once was called "The Little Folk's Glove," but somehow it got lightened up to "forget-me-not."

SHORT STORY—here's why they don't see each other anymore, that young couple who were about to get married in Cairo, Egypt. He said he would go it alone to fight the Israelis. She laughed at him, saying he was so near-sighted he would be useless. He lost his temper, grabbed a gun, and fired at her twice point blank. He missed.

CUSTOMER SERVICE—Q. "Where you aware every tenth money bee in the United States makes its home in California?" A. Is that a fact? So does every tenth U. S. citizen. . . . Q. "How many Americans are shot to death every day?" A. Maybe 20. . . . Q. "Do the Russians have juke boxes?" A. That they do. First one was installed only five years ago. In Moscow.

PERSONAL NOTE—Geese never fly in V formations on short hops. They just scatter and light out. It's only on those cross-country migrations that they fly high in those V's. This comes to mind because I heard the bankers go over the house the other night. Low down and off course. They must have been weathered in, somehow. That's another bird noise you never forget. That, and the cries of the coast gulls, and the relentless Texas mockingbirds, and the buzz of crowded grouse.

YOU CAN FIGURE almost a third of all the money we owe goes to pay off cars. By "we," I mean individuals, not governments and institutions. . . . THE SAGITTARIUS GIBEL, says our Planet man, tends to be a little reckless in her love life, but fairly logical in everything else. . . . TAKES A WOMAN about an hour and a half to put together three meals on any given day. Thirty years ago it took her about five hours.

ARGUMENT CONTINUES over who first called the Academy Award statuette an Oscar. The actress Bette Davis, once married to Harmon Oscar Nelson, reportedly remarked at the moment she received the award that it reminded her of him. Mr. Nelson possessed a remarkable physique, I understand. Incidentally, she said she gave him permission to divorce her on the grounds "I neglected him for my career and read to bed."

Bears, Wolves Among Species Threatened
Civilization Killing Off Rocky Mountain Wildlife

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Civilization is closing in, even in the high mountain meadows and timbered slopes of the Rocky Mountains are fading away.

The grizzly bear and timber wolf are among the threatened species in the lofty Rocky Mountain ranges of western Montana and in surrounding states of the 29,000,000-acre northern region of the U.S. Forest Service.

This week the Forest Service made public a list of endangered and rare species, saying it's time to begin saving these animals, for there is not much time left.

Included on the list of endangered species, those which face immediate danger of extinction, are the timber wolf, the whooping crane and the Montana westslope cutthroat trout.

Listed as rare are the grizzly bear, Arctic grayling, spotted owl and prairie falcon.

Howard Poulger, 57, chief of the division of range and wildlife for the northern region, which includes Montana, North Dakota, western South Dakota, northern Idaho and eastern Washington, said the grizzly bear population is about 400.

The state was long rich in wildlife, and monuments mark spots where Indian tribes once herded buffalo to the edge of high cliffs, then stampeded them to their deaths.

Now the reminders of the Wild West, the "buffalo drops," have been replaced by modern day killers such as guns and chemicals.

Poulger said the region is too big for maintaining exact counts of species. He said a species is determined to be in danger when sightings are infrequent or few are killed by hunters.

Finding a proper balance between the needs of man and those of wildlife is a perplexing one.

Cattlemen regard the timber wolf as the No. 1 threat to livestock in some Northern Region areas, and fight him with poison.

TV Political Advertising
Rebuked By Candidate

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (UPI) — C. Stanley Blair, the underdog Republican candidate for governor, says "reality is irrelevant" in his campaign because of "subtle and insidious" political advertising.

"Electronic communications is most conducive to propaganda," said Blair. "It's the medium that invites the big lie."

"Within 30 seconds you see the candidate with children, old people, poor people—flash, he's concerned; cut to conversations with hard hats and policemen; he's for law and order," Blair told a Chamber of Commerce meeting in suburban Washington Wednesday night.

"Political advertising has little interest in the candidate and less in the issues," said Blair, former aide to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. "They usually wind up somewhere between the tire ads and the fisherman's forecast."

Blair also complained newspapers in Baltimore and Washington virtually ignored his 35 issue-oriented statements. He said "they usually wind up somewhere between the tire ads and the fisherman's forecast."

Third Store Makes Debut At 10 Sunday

Zayre Ring Around Orlando Step Closer To Completion

ORLANDO (SpI) — Zayre Department Stores appears to be on route to completing a ring around Orlando.

The chain's third Orlando department store makes its debut this Sunday at 10 a.m. The new unit is on East Colonial Drive at Highway 436 and will be the first store in a new shopping center.

The official ribbon-cutting will be presided over by a customer selected from those waiting outside the store shortly before 10 a.m. For actually snipping the ribbon she will receive a $25 gift certificate.

governmental officials also have been invited to join Lynette and executives of Zayre in the ceremonies.

28 Zayre Stores Are In Florida; Chain Made Debut In 1956

Zayre Department Stores made its debut on the American retailing scene in 1956 with a small experimental store in the Cape Cod community of Hyannis, Mass.

as operators of the New England Trading Co., a Boston-based hosiery jobbing firm founded in 1919. From that came the Bell and Nugent's women's specialty stores, two chains which still are growing through out the Northeast.

Young Veterans Head New Zayre's

Two men whose ages belie their combined total of more than 30 years in retailing have been named to head the staff of the new Zayre Department Store opening Sunday, Nov. 1, on East Colonial Drive at Highway 436, in Orlando.

Ernest V. Brandt, 37, and J. Daniel Moss, 39, have been named manager and assistant manager, respectively. In announcing the appointments, George Mover, Zayre vice president and Florida regional manager, said the men "bring to our new Orlando store more than 30 years of retail experience. Both have served in executive capacities for major nationally prominent retailers and have made individual reputations in their chosen careers. We are sure that their merchandising talents and creativity will soon be recognized by their customers."

ERNEST V. BRANDT

J. DANIEL MOSS

Although Brandt is a native of New York City he has spent most of his life in Florida. He is a graduate of Miami Beach Senior High School and the University of Miami. He began his career of serving the public in 1950 after three years with the Air Force. He has operated his own clothing store in Miami Beach and held management posts with two other Miami area retailers before joining Zayre in 1967. Immediately prior to his present assignment he was assistant manager at the Zayre Department Store in Melbourne.

Even more important than efficient distribution is the marketing of first quality merchandise and here Zayre relies upon its corps of experienced buyers, merchandise managers and store management.

The departments within Zayre store in Miami Beach and hold their jurisdiction cover a total of nearly 750,000 square feet in Atlanta, Chicago and Miami.

The company has formal recruitment and training programs to meet personnel needs in these and other key areas.

Students Display Apathy In Political Campaigns

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

The number of students participating in fall election campaigns is not measured up to expectations generated during the campus strikes last spring after U.S. troops entered Cambodia. But that doesn't necessarily mean you're political activity is a flash in the pan.

"The fire burns white hot for short periods," said a Yale history professor whose classes have not been thinned by students departing for campaigns. Others, however, say the flame is intense and enduring but is, and has always been, small.

"It's turned out just about as I expected," said Princeton senior John Shifko, who is writing a book about the strike on his campus. "I don't think that anybody who had a reasonable perspective in May expected any more."

There were some reasons for expecting that the feeling aroused by the U.S. action in Cambodia and the student Jackson at Kent State in Ohio and Jackson State in Mississippi would have an impact on political activity.

Thirty-nine per cent of 620 students questioned in a nationwide poll released in July said they planned to work for peace candidates this fall.

The strike following the Cambodian action spread to some 400 colleges and universities, and dozens considered proposals for a fall recess to accommodate students who wanted to campaign. About 30 ultimately rearranged schedules with plans to make up the lost class time and many more left room for informal arrangements such as moratoriums on quizzes and term papers.

The campus-based Movement for a New Congress, which was born and grew to a nationwide coordinating organization during the spring, claimed an 80 per cent victory rate in primary contests over the summer and hoped for 100,000 student voters this fall.

But MNC has had to cut its estimate of participants by half.

Princeton University, birth place of the MNC and the independently promoted "Princeton Plan" for fall recess, has had only 498 to 500 of its 3,500 students vote in its recent election races.

An Associated Press sampling indicated that the picture is the same at other campuses where recesses of from two days to two weeks are in effect.

The MNC said recessed schools did not seem to be turning out significantly more voters than schools where other arrangements—or "one-were

VA Questionnaires Due Pensioners

The Veterans Administration today alerted 80,000 Florida veterans and dependents who get monthly VA pension checks that they will receive annual income questionnaires with their Nov. 1 checks.

The VA asks these pensioners to do two things:

- 1 — Fill out the questionnaire accurately and completely. The VA, beneficiaries will not only lose next year's benefits, but may also be required to refund payments received during 1970.
- 2 — After signing it, the recipients should return the form promptly to VA—no later than Jan. 15.

VA pointed out that as 1971 pension payments will be based on submitted information, the questionnaires must be returned by the Jan. 15 deadline to insure non-interruption of pension checks.

VA pension is paid to veterans totally and permanently disabled from non-service connected disabilities. Widows and children of deceased veterans may also be eligible for VA pension if they meet certain income limitations.

Parents of deceased veterans who receive dependency and indemnity compensation are also required to fill out and return the questionnaire.

The annual income questionnaire requests information on the amount of income the beneficiary received in 1970, and the amount anticipated in 1971.

It was emphasized that if the

County Offices Turning To Computer Operations

By CHARNER LEONE

Electric data processing, as it will effect Seminole County, was the subject under consideration as the assistant tax assessor for the county attended a school in Los Angeles, Calif., last week.

"They already have had the tremendous growth that we expect," explained Terry Goebel, assistant tax assessor. "They are completely computerized in their county government." He went to learn, from their progress and mistakes, how Seminole County can best adapt to complete computerization.

"Currently we are in the early stages of computerization," he said. "But we expect to be big enough soon to make it feasible to transfer all of the courthouse business to computer."

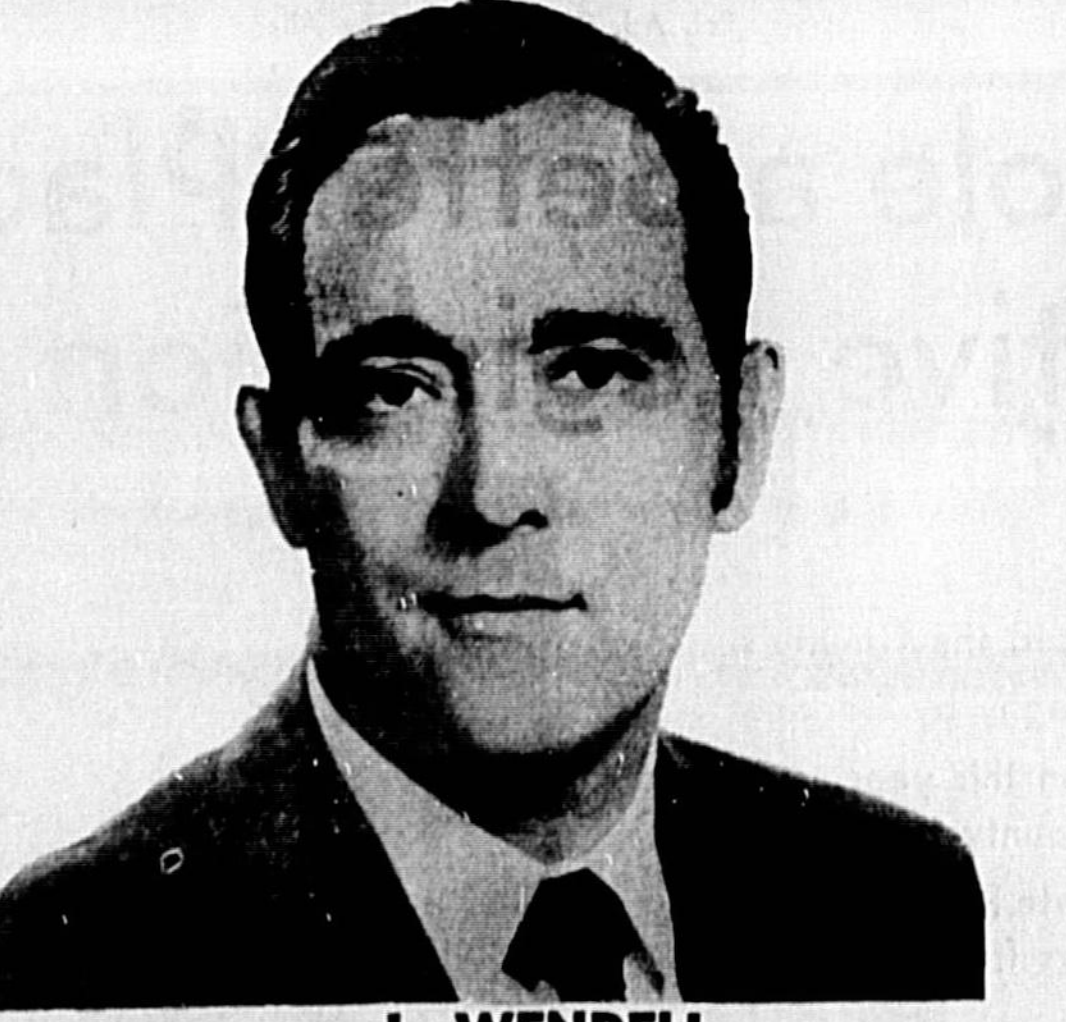

The population should number about 100,000 before complete computerization is feasible. The county is now at 80,000 and growing at a rate of about 15 per cent a year.

The tax assessor's office is the first to go onto a computer operation.

Municipalities Interested In U. S. Economic Grants

Municipalities interested in the designation include Sanford, Altamonte Springs and Oviedo.

The apathy usually existing in commission meetings has been partially attributed to the poor acoustics in the old court house and the inability of the public

Askew 'Sweet Looker' Opines Governor Kirk

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. Claude Kirk called opponent Reubin Askew "a nice, sweet-looking fellow" Thursday and then said the Democrat wouldn't have the courage to stand up under the fire of legislators if he was elected governor.
"My opponent is a nice, sweet-looking fellow—the liberals all ways pick that kind to front on him," said Kirk. "But being governor is a tough job, and just being a 'Momma's Boy' won't get the job done."
Campaigning in Jacksonville, Kirk said his administration has built more roads than any two previous administrations combined and also took credit for pollution control and conservation measures which he said has given Florida recognition as the nation's most conservative-minded state.
Kirk said he has "consistently demanded a balanced budget from the tax-and-spend liberals in the Legislature."
"Time and time, we have vetoed new taxes, taxes which my opponent actually voted for," he said.
In an Ocala appearance Thursday night, Kirk said he favors a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax to finance his proposed multi-million dollar, 16-year road program.
Kirk contended this did not constitute any conflict with his current campaign statements pledging no new taxes if he is elected for another four years.
Askew's campaign slowed down Thursday as he flew from Miami to Lake City for a night rally.
"I'm said Kirk's attempt to pin a "liberal" label on him and the governor's no new tax stand were just a rebalancing of the Republican's past performance.
The Pensacola legislator has noted that Kirk promised no tax increases when he first ran for the statehouse four years ago. Since taking office, Kirk has recommended the highest tax program in the history of the Legislature.
As for the "liberal" labeling attempt by Kirk Askew points to a New York Times story of 1968 in which Kirk is quoted as saying: "I'm not a liberal. I'm a conservative." Kirk said he was delighted with the visit of the President. It shows that Tallahassee has really come of age."
Nixon visited the Florida capitol Wednesday during his two-day political swing through the state.
"I'm flattered he spent 45 hours in Florida... when he's been hitting as many as four states a day," the Lakeland Democrat said.
Chiles said he decided against calling in out-of-state Democratic leaders because "I think we ought to rest our case with the people—I've gone to see them."

It's the RECORD Chappell has VOTED AGAINST 64% of President Nixon's programs.

Cramer Is Confident Of Support Of People

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Republican Senate candidate Bill Cramer said Thursday the radical left wants to defeat me because the enemies know I'm the enemy of the haters, the burners, the bombers and the top killers."
Cramer said that he was confident, however, that "the people will support me."
The Congressman said no one had the right to shout down the President of the United States, referring to Nixon's Tuesday night Miami Beach appearance on behalf of Florida Republican candidates.
"Longhaired hippies and revolutionaries tried to shout down the president, and thousands of women and children were subjected to four-letter obscenities," Cramer said, "but the effort backfired."
Cramer said he has not given up on the radical element of society because "they are badly misled. We must try to communicate with them and interest them in working through democratic process."
Cramer criticized Democratic opponent Lawton Chiles' opposition to the Nixon administration proposal that judges be allowed to hold accused persons in preventive detention without bail.

Nixon Challenges Radical Elements

By EUGENE V. RISHER
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon charged today that mobs such as those which attacked his limousine at a political rally Thursday night were "radical, antidemocratic elements" that threaten freedom of speech and assembly throughout the nation.
He promised to "take off the gloves" and respond to such "viciousness" at a political rally tonight in nearby Anaheim.
The President's glass topped limousine, containing Nixon, Sen. George Murphy and Gov. Ronald Reagan, was hit with rocks. Bottles and eggs were hurled from a crowd of perhaps 800 cursing antiwar demonstrators as the presidential party left a GOP rally in San Jose, the last stop in a 5,500 mile cross-country campaign tour.
The President spent Thursday night in a guest house in his Spanish style villa after a minor fire caused by an overheated fireplace filled the home with smoke. Damage was minor.
Aides compared the protest incident to the attack made by a Communist mob on Nixon in Caracas, Venezuela in 1958 when he was vice president.
"This was no outburst by a single individual," Nixon said in a statement issued on his arrival here at the West-ern White House. "This was the action of an unruly mob that represents the worst in America."
White House aides and guests of the President riding in a bus behind his limousine huddled in seats and aimed as rocks and bottles smashed four windows. Newsmen in another bus were splattered with glass from five smashed windows.

"It was just like Caracas," said Rose Mary Woods, the President's long-time personal secretary, who was sitting next to one of the smashed windows.
Murphy termed the mob "wild eyed, tough, angry revolutionaries" who "should be identified and isolated."
"I have been careful to point out that these are the actions of a violent few. It is important that all Americans keep this perspective," the President said.
"But the time has come to take the gloves off and speak to this kind of behavior in a forthright way. Freedom of speech and freedom of assembly cannot exist when people who peacefully attend rallies are attacked with flying rocks."

"TRICK OR TREAT" will ring out tomorrow evening, Halloween, but parents warned they should be careful where their tots go to begging, that they are not "tricked with treats." Police throughout the United States the last few years have reported of children being given goodies containing razor blades, Ex-Lax, pepper, LSD and other assorted items designed to discourage the tots. Children looking for fun may find trouble from apparently demented householders.

The transaction was apparently supposed to be a secret as officials of the Seminole County Clerk of the Circuit Court's office indicated to the Herald that one or more of the parties involved in the transaction had requested that no information be released to the press, however the Clerk's office officials cooperated completely with The Herald as the recording of deeds in such matters are part of the public record.

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army said today that 80 American soldiers may have died from overdoses of drugs in South Vietnam during the past 10 months.
Expressing "grave concern" about the problem, the Army said 25 drug abuse deaths were confirmed through autopsies and that doctors suspected overdoses caused 64 other fatalities. The Army also disclosed that 746 troops were admitted to medical facilities in September and cases through September compared with 377 cases during all of 1969. Last year, there were 16 confirmed drug deaths, the Army said.
The Army statement came after Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., issued a statement in Washington Thursday saying investigators of his Javotte De-linquency subcommittee had found that GI deaths in Vietnam from overdoses of drugs had skyrocketed and that military leaders had failed to clamp down on drug abuse.
The Army announcement in Saigon acknowledged a "significant increase" in drug deaths, but said also that a new and more accurate reporting procedure went into effect last Aug. 1. Prior to that time, some drug-related cases may have been listed on medical records under other categories of illness, the Army said.

Yates Speaks To County Officials

By BILL SCOTT
One city—Jacksonville, and one county—Dade, did about modernizing their governments via consolidation route was explained yesterday to Sanford-Seminole officials by one of the persons responsible for the change.
Claude Yates, former Southern Bell official until his retirement, was the featured speaker at yesterday's Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce director's board luncheon and briefly disclosed the method followed by Greater Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce in affecting the governmental change by securing a study of governments in the Gate City.
Yates stated that Jacksonville was financially able after two years of consolidation of city county operations to reduce ad-valorem taxes each year and he anticipated another reduction this year.
The official declared that consolidation had made possible a decline of as much as $80 in taxes for a $20,000 home.
Other consolidation effects have been a closer government to the people than before; elimination of duplication of services; better planning and zoning; a uniform traffic and building code; establishment of a consumer's Affairs Division that has saved public $185,000 in refunds from unscrupulous businesses; pollution controls; 16,000 new street lights; established a roads and drainage program; urban renewal, centralized purchasing and data processing; legal services; saved $250,000 on purchase of sheriff's equipment and many other attributes, Yates informed.
Yates emphasized that now the city has been able to improve existing services and still reduce taxes.
Attending the meeting to hear Yates were officials from Longwood, North Orlando, Casselberry, Altamonte Springs and Fern Park as well as Sanford. Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Manager John Kinder several weeks ago spoke to a South Seminole group at Longwood advocating a study to determine the feasibility of consolidating the whole of Seminole County into one large metropolitan area.

WINNERS in the "I Want A Park" Poster Contest sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Seminole County visited Big Tree Park Wednesday afternoon. They will serve as guides and help Sunday during the Safari to two of the proposed park sites to be on the ballot Tuesday. Representing various area elementary schools were Cheryl Brown and Donna Hamner, Monroe-Wilson; Bill Skates, Geneva; Cindy McGarity, Altamonte; Pamela Peeler, Longwood (back); Donna Ward, English Estates; Special Award winner Tom Cole, Altamonte; and Kathy Burkett, Spring Lake. Charlene Stallworth, South Side, was also a winner, as was Tony Hayden, Pine Crest.

Brokerage House Is Purchased

By CAROLE MARTIN
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the nation's largest brokerage house, plans to acquire financially ailing Goodbody & Co., the nation's fifth largest securities firm.
The acquisition would represent the largest consolidation of the New York Stock Exchange in its history of the nation's largest securities firms.
Merrill Lynch entered negotiations with Goodbody on Thursday at the request of the exchange, which proposed to underwrite any losses Merrill Lynch might incur up to $30 million. It proposed that this be done by assessment of member firms.
Goodbody officials were not immediately available for comment. The Big Board had given Goodbody until Nov. 5 to raise additional capital or face suspension.
The Justice Department's antitrust division had hinted in Washington Wednesday that it would not interfere in a takeover if there were no other way to salvage the operation.
James E. Thomson, Merrill Lynch chairman, and Donald T. Regan, president, said their firm entered "into this difficult affair" primarily because of concern for the 225,000 Goodbody customers. Goodbody has 36 branch offices.

County Candidates Express Individual Programs

By ANN RILEY
The Southwest Longwood-Markham Road Association invited all the candidates for the November 3 election to express their views on the issues and answer all or part of a list of questions that were presented to them by the members. For this event, Don Struble, the association's president, presided. The candidates were: Lamar Williams, Lamar Williams of the Longwood-Markham Road; the purpose of this organization is to develop our area into a low density residential district, how would you aid us toward this end? 2. Do you support the present land use plan? What is your plan for the future? 3. Since our primary goal is to develop our area into a low density residential district, how would you aid us toward this end?

OFFICERS and directors of the Southwest Markham Road Association which officially received a charter last month are left to right, Joe Hopkins, director; Lamar Williams, treasurer; Andre Niason, vice president; Hal Connell, director; and (in front) Don Struble, secretary.

1. What steps would you take to maintain the Weiviva River and keep it free from pollution and commercialization? 2. Do you support raising the tax millage in order to build better roads and to maintain roads that they now are? All of the special guests were given five minutes to answer with an introduction between speakers for refreshments. Chance for a short rebuttal was given the candidates at the conclusion of the speeches. Guy Allen, Republican candidate for tax assessor - I pledge to be available to inform the taxpayer how and why we arrived at a just and fair assessment. I will serve the people in the same efficient manner as in the past. My records are open to all the taxpayers of the county. Tom Napier, Democratic candidate for tax assessor, stated "I intend to remove the (Glass Wall) from the tax assessor's office and by so doing I will be available to the taxpayer. I firmly believe in an open door policy concerning all public affairs. When selected, I will be available to my electors and serve to the best of my ability the people of Seminole County." Robert E. Parker stated, "I will continue as I have in the past working as an efficient member of a team, as a member of this team (the Seminole County Commission) will institute programs that are in the best interests of our county, but it will take the whole team working together."

3rd Party Is Role Of Spoiler

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Historically, the most that a third party or independent candidate can expect in an American election is to play the role of a spoiler, but this year two are favored to win. In New York, Conservative party nominee James L. Buckley is leading both Republican Richard Ottinger and Democrat Sen. Charles E. Goodrich in the polls. And in a less dramatic race, Virginia's Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who dropped out of the Democratic party to run for reelection as an independent, is comfortably ahead of Democrat George C. Hawlings Jr., and Republican Roy L. Garland. The impact of third-party or independent candidates is less a factor in other states, but it could influence the outcome of Senate contests in Connecticut, New Mexico, Missouri and Utah, and the gubernatorial races in Arkansas and California. In Connecticut, incumbent Democratic Thomas J. Dodd is running as an independent. Guaranteed by the Senate for receiving campaign funds to his private use, and denied renomination by the Democratic party, Dodd may, in the end, contribute to the election of a liberal Democratic, in the case of Joseph Duffey. Polls show that Duffey, a Unitarian minister and national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, has a better lead over Republican Congressman Lowell P. Weicker Jr. while Dodd is running a narrow race between Democrat Sen. Stuart Symington, John C. Danforth, the state's attorney general, filed as the Republican candidate, with White House blessing, Gene Chapman, who also had filed, promptly withdrew to become the American Party candidate, and he could siphon off some votes from Danforth. There are some 40 minor, or third, parties on the ballots across the country. New York has seven, Colorado, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and New Jersey have five each; California has six.

U. S. Demands Return Of 2 Generals

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The United States, underscoring a deterioration in Soviet-American relations, has demanded in a formal note that Moscow promptly release two U.S. Army generals it has held since Oct. 21. John Irwin, acting secretary of state, handed the note to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin during a 30-minute meeting Thursday at the State Department. The protest accused the Soviets of the first violation of a two-year-old consular agreement between the two countries. It pointed out the past practice that a consul must have access to accused no more than four days after they are detained and that an American representative was not allowed to see the U.S. officers until they had been held five days. The Soviets are holding in Soviet Armenia three American officers and a Turk whose light plane crossed the Turkish border and flew over Soviet territory. The men were inspecting Turkish military installations along the frontier at the time. They said their aircraft was blown off course by a "freak gust of wind." The officers are Maj. Gen. Edward C. D. Scherzer, Maj. Gen. Claude McQuarrie, Maj. James Russell, the pilot of the plane, and Turkish Col. Cevik Danil. The American note expressed amazement at the emphasis the Soviets have placed on the case. Dobrynin said after the State Department meeting the officers "might" be released but that this depended upon the outcome of a Soviet investigation. The Soviets earlier had protested a violation of their airspace, saying the flight of the plane over their territory was a "hostile act" that illustrated increased U.S. activity in the region. Said Keri: "No matter how many health professions, who said that if commission recommendations made public Thursday aren't followed "there will be continuing inflation in health care costs." The commission recommended in its report to the annual meeting of the American Medical College that the number of entering medical students be raised from the present 10,800 to 12,400 by 1970. The 18-member commission also recommended cutting

Two Jailed In Apopka Bribery

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) - A former aide to Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth and an Orlando real estate agent were sentenced Thursday to 18 months in Raiford State Prison for their conviction in the Apopka sewer bribery case. Robert Parker, 36, a former investigator for Faircloth's office, and William Hudson, 44, were sentenced by Criminal Court Judge Rogers Turner. Both men were convicted of attempting to bribe Apopka Mayor Leonard Hurst to influence the city's council purchase of a new prefabricated sewer plant. Councilman James Meeks, David Duncan, a representative of a firm which manufactures sewer treatment plants, and William Bryant, former Jacksonville engineer, also are charged with conspiracy to bribe.

Medical Student Hike By 50% Recommended

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The number of students entering U.S. medical schools must be increased 50 percent by 1978 to avert a "crisis in health care personnel," the chairman of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education says. Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California, said that if commission recommendations made public Thursday aren't followed "there will be continuing inflation in health care costs." The commission recommended in its report to the annual meeting of the American Medical College that the number of entering medical students be raised from the present 10,800 to 12,400 by 1970. The 18-member commission also recommended cutting

Middes In St. Augustine For Game With Knights

By FRANK EDWARDS
Herald Sports Staff
Tomorrow the Middies of Sanford Naval Academy are on the road again as they travel to St. Augustine and meet the St. Joseph Knights at 2 p.m. This is the first time the Middies have had an opportunity to play this team. St. Joseph's offense is a "side saddle" formation. This is where the quarterback stands sideways behind the center, instead of looking forward. This is the first time the Middies have run into this kind of offense, and it should be very interesting to see how the Bluejackets' defense does cope with this. This kind of offense could prove easier to handle for the Middies defense but they won't know this until they are on the field.

Lions Tangle With Ocoee

By LARRY NEELY
Herald Sports Staff

It will be a battle between the downriver tonight in Ocoee as the Cardinals and the Oviedo Lions will both be attempting to even out the season at 3-3. Both of the traditional rivals will be sporting 2-2 records going into tonight's clash. Another similarity between the two Class A teams are their applications to the Orange Belt Conference.

One this week in a freak motorcycle accident. Defensive strategist Willie Brooks is still on the injured list but will be back practicing next week. Even that encouraging word would aid the Lions in tonight's struggle.

'Special' Games On Tap In NFL Weekend Play

Every team has that "special" game, the one it points for all season long. Three such contests are set for Sunday. The Minnesota Vikings journey to Detroit to take the Lions in a battle of "National Football Conference Central Division contenders. The Oakland Raiders play the Kansas City Chiefs in a matchup between the teams that have accounted for the last four American Football League Western Division championships. Last and probably least, the New York Giants face the New York Jets in a prestige match.

LYN BURCH (10) succeeded last week in establishing a badly needed passing game. Burch sees action like this in the defensive secondary for the Oviedo Lions who will travel to Ocoee tonight. (Larry Neely Photo)

Evans Trojans. Last week Lyman was winning their fifth game of the season, defeating DeLand 47-0. Evans was losing their sixth game in a row, 34-8 to Boone. The two teams have met twice in the history of the series, Mainland defeated Evans 22-12, but lost to Lyman 15-0. Evans' other losses have been to Winter Park (25-17), Ocoee (12-0), and Sanford Seminoles (21-14). Evans is probably the best in the state. The Trojans are the only team that has won the Winter Park game, could have just as easily been winning efforts with a couple of weeks in the right places.

Evans started the year as a running team, but after the first two losses, Head Coach Bill Spooner decided that it was time for a change. Spooner had noticed that while their running game had not been working well, their passing attack had been averaging 12 yards per catch.

Spooner told junior quarterback Jeff Sidwell to throw the ball more often. Sidwell quickly responded and has passed for close to 100 yards per game since then. Sidwell's main receiving target has been Willie Jones and Ron Davis. They have accounted for five TDs between them. Both Davis and Jones played the first two games of the season on the JV team, but when Spooner saw their potential he quickly moved them up to the varsity.

Due to a rash of injuries, many of the Trojans will have to play both offensive and defensive positions. Evans started the season off two platooning, but due to the injuries they will not be able to afford that luxury.

Evans isn't the only team that will be throwing the ball tonight. Lyman's passing attack has been getting stronger each week. The Greyhounds scored three TDs with their passing game in last week's contest. Quarterback Bruce Rose has been the star so far. He has been Bill Means and Bill Fader.

8 Classy Damsels Dress Florida Tech U Events

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Staff
Determination, altitude, and ability are vital ingredients when building an organization or team.

And from our vantage point all of the above mentioned ingredients, and then some, are to be found in each and every member of the 1970-71 Florida Technological University Cheerleading Corps.

Eight classy damsels, all of whom have aspirations of providing the best support for FTU athletic teams, were named to lead the FTU cheering section. The "great eight" making up this year's cheerleading crew follows: Donna Johnson, a 5'3" junior, has been named captain of the Black and Gold cheerleaders. Experience is on her side, with four years of leading cheers for Edgewater High. The brown-eyed blonde is majoring in Elementary Education.

Another Elementary Education major, Kathy Lauten, 5-4 junior, was chosen co-captain. This blue-eyed lass is eager to build spirit at FTU. A returnee from last year's team is Wendy Martin, a 5-8 junior with blonde hair and blue eyes. She is majoring in Physical Therapy.

She is familiar with all aspects of cheerleading and has served, with great success as publicity director of Soudra Park in Sioux City last summer.

Recruiting Is Task For 'Torchy' Clark

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Staff

Having just come out of the high school coaching ranks two short years ago Gene "Torchy" Clark was unaccustomed to recruiting.

And since he has the job of head basketball coach at Florida Technological University, a non-scholarship institution, things aren't much different. Or are they?

Recruiting, as it is known in college circles today, doesn't really apply to the non-scholarship schools. Many college coaches resemble high pressure salesmen seemingly capable of giving their "clients" the world.

Does this mean Clark doesn't have to do any "recruiting" or does it mean he can't do any "recruiting"? The answer is, yes and no to both statements.

If indeed he can or does do any "recruiting" it may well resemble that of an Army or Navy recruiter. And everyone knows how popular they are now-a-days.

In fact a coach in Clark's position may be at a disadvantage comparing him to a service recruiter. Who ever heard a service recruiter asking a prospect to pay his own way?

Not every high school football star is offered a scholarship for financial aid to those FTU cagers willing to "switch rather than fight."

Clark did not lose any of his players during the course of last season because of their failure to keep up their grades. But he did lose eight members of last year's team since a 1969-70 season concluded. How? Clark does not know. All he does know is that when he was recruited he failed to show up for this year's tryouts.

While it may not have happened just yet FTU is certain to get hit by a "raiding party" in the next few years. Especially if Clark can continue to win a baseball contract containing the reserve clause.

Those raids will be made by scholarship schools who can afford to pay for their players.

By JOHN VAN GIESON

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — "College football needs to be re-evaluated," people who live off of the Saturday spectacles told a special Board of Regents committee Thursday.

But many defenses were offered by university administrators, coaches, alumni and fans as the committee met to hear a plea for re-evaluation of football by the Council of Student Body Presidents.

A few of the major points made in favor of big-time college football at a four-hour hearing were:

"In my considered judgment, the athletic program at the University of Florida materially assists and in no way impairs or competes with our academic program, and that without our athletic program, our reputation and our progress as a university would be materially hampered." — UF President Stephen O'Connell.

"Athletic scholarships have really brought democracy into our schools. Football scholarships now know no color barrier. They go for the best and the gentle, the black and the white, the rich and the poor." — Florida AM Athletic Director.

Duplicate Club Lists Winners

Duplicate Bridge Club will meet Monday, Nov. 2, instead of their regular Tuesday date due to elections being held at their meeting place, Fireman's Recreation Hall.

At last Tuesday's meeting there were 12 tables in play under the direction of Miss Ethel Johnson.

North-south winners were first, Mrs. W. O. Bennett and Mrs. L. Munson; second, Mrs. Woodlock and C. Schmidt; third, Mr. and Mrs. G. Pearson; fourth, Mrs. B. Nicholls and F. J. Shoemaker; and fifth, Mrs. M. Dugles and Mrs. G. Farr.

East-west winners included first, Mrs. Elva Ukles and C. Horton; second, Mrs. Ruth Gallagher and Mrs. Gladys Wolff; a tie for third between Mrs. Lucille Thompson and C. Dugles and Mrs. Ann Willgoose and Mrs. Marie Accardi; and fifth, Norman Meyer and Mrs. F. J. Shoemaker.

Five Generations Meet For Reunion

Local Groups Add To Concert Attractions

On Nov. 21, Seminole Mutual Concert Association proudly presents the talented Asolo Theatre players in the delightful comedy, "Candida".

Coming up in December as an added attraction for SMCA patrons is the annual champagne ball which, this year, is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mebane Jr.

Also in December, Sanford-Seminole Ballet Guild will present two performances of "The Enchanted Shoes".

Local organizations cooperate with the success of the concerts by providing special features during intermission.

At the most recent concert, featuring Peter Nero, members of Alpha Nu Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa were hostesses to a reception with Miss Ollie Reese Whittle as chairman.

Landra Heath Is 'Sweet 16'

By KATHY NIBLACK
Mr. and Mrs. Julian P. O'Hearn, of Altamonte Springs, honored their daughter, Landra Heath, with a surprise "Sweet 16" birthday party Saturday night.

Over 75 friends were invited to attend the party, which was held at the Altamonte Springs Community House. Entertainment was provided by "Masque", a popular local rock group.

Landra is a junior at Lyman. Three of her classmates helped to secretly make up the guest list and decorate for the party. These were Karen Dera, Janice Hartog, and Billie Cooper.

Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Don Martin and Mr. and Mrs. William Brennan.

Masquerade Gala Reflects Halloween Spirit(s)

Halloween came early to Sanford Friday, Oct. 28, when the Sanford Women's Clubhouse was re-energized with music, talk and laughter.

A heterogeneous group of guests associated with American TV and stage as well as others from far off China, Japan and Thailand "swung" happily to the refreshingly danceable music of The Kingsmen and Peggy.

The Halloween masquerade party and dance, now an annual event, was skillfully planned by the Home Life Department of the Woman's Club. Jerry Kirk, "Miss Kitty of Gunsmoke," as chairman, and her able committee, Gladys Wray, Betty Davis, Dot McReynolds, Nellie Coleman, Dotie Karna, Edna Southward, Mildred Stempert and Annette Wing decorated the clubhouse with fall colors of orange, yellow and scarlet carried out in the arrangement of leaves, vegetables, flowers and fruit.

An intriguing pirate's chest led everyone hopefully to save his ticket stub for the door prize treasure.

After several hours of dancing, which included a fast contest among participants to break the balloons tied to their fellow contestants' ankles, Matt Dillon (Bill Kirk) emerged victorious with his balloon still intact.

A lavish buffet of homemade specialties demonstrated the versatility of the girls—superb cooks as well as dance partners—are you listening out there, you "Women's Libs!"

Of course, the climax of the evening came when the prizes were awarded. Lily and John Green completely outginted in the grape paint and trappings of clowns, not only won the best costume award, but also the door prize.

If Laugh-in ever needs stand ins for their prurish old maid and her fumbling aged lover, Sandra and John Wilson ably demonstrated their ability to look the parts. Sandra—Ruth Huxsley, mover over—was judged the best original single costume wearer.

An unrecognizable farm girl from the fields of southern Japan was identified under the black hair and traditional hat as "Ginger" Herndon who rely I refer to our more than tireless Geneva Volunteer Fire Department!

FOREST CITY
By MARYANN MILES

For the past three days these stout-hearted men have been fighting very heavy brush fires which could have gotten out of hand if not attended to immediately—and not one complaint among the lot of them. Not forgetting to give a big thanks to the Forestry Service and the Midway Cannon Volunteer Fire Department let me repeat I am very proud to live in Geneva where a cry for help does not go unheeded.

My new found friend, Mrs. Ann Mitchell, is home from Winter Park Memorial Hospital and doing nicely, thank-you.

Seminole Braced For Hippie Trek

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole County and Sanford authorities braced Sunday for a possible invasion of hippies from Orange County. County deputies and reserves were stationed at entrances to Sandalwood Springs, Big Tree and Mullet Lake parks to discourage a reported migration of long-haired young people who were prevented by Orange County authorities from entering their traditional haunts at Rock Springs and Wekiva Springs Parks.

Chief Deputy Duane Harrell said, "We have nothing for them here," when questioned today concerning the expected hippie onslaught. The deputy further said he did not expect the displaced throng to move into Seminole County but after an alert from Orange County authorities both Seminole and Volusia County deputies were ready to handle the expected gatherings in the respective counties.

Sanford police were reported to be keeping watch over the city marina after receiving a report that an advance hippie van or car would be used to check the municipal facilities before giving word to the main bands of young people to move into the area.

A large group of young people was arrested yesterday while trying to invade the Casadesa-Lake Helen Cemetery in Volusia County.

The action follows several reported incidents in New Smyrna Beach of desecration of graves but there is no indication the Sunday arrests had anything to do with other Volusia reports of cemetery invasions.

Voters To Decide Issues Tuesday

REUBIN ASKEW

By FRED VAN PELT
Cattle buses, county supervisor of elections, was at a loss for words this morning when requested to make a prediction on the voter turnout in Tuesday's election. "I am no longer making predictions," said Mrs. Bruce. "I have been overshooting the mark in recent years — the voters let me down. I would estimate a figure percentage-wise but the voters just didn't turn out."

In the 1966 election 66.7 per cent of the electorate cast ballots in Seminole County, including 474 absentee ballots. As of early this morning there were 570 absentee ballots returned out of 700 requested.

Mrs. Bruce said there are 28,034 registered voters in the county, of which 19,110 are Democrats, 8,283 are Republicans and the balance in other parties.

The county's 37 polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. There are no changes in the locations of the polling places since the primaries.

Yellow Cabs will carry voters to and from the polling places and free of charge. Civic clubs have banded together and also are providing free transportation.

Alexander Endorses County Aide OKs Five Bond Issues

By MARION BETHA
County Commission Chairman John Alexander strongly endorsed all five of the bond election items on Tuesday's ballot for county capital improvements program.

The bond election items that require the voters' approval are listed on the ballot in the following order:

Juvenile detention facility ($260,000). This is for a separate building to house juveniles in lieu of the jail.

Mental health and incompetency facility ($325,000). This is for construction of facilities to house incompetents pending legal hearings in lieu of detention in the jail, and also will provide clinic space for various mental health needs.

Agricultural center ($170,400). This will replace the present quarters in the run down former county home.

Branches court house ($291,250). This will provide adequate facilities in South Seminole County to conveniently obtain county services.

Land acquisition for park and recreation purpose ($1,050,750). This is for seven park sites totaling 2,122 acres for present and future needs.

It has been estimated that the cost to the taxpayer on this property tax bill would be as follows for each $1,000 of assessed value after homestead exemption for home owners: .081 cents for the juvenile detention facility; .101 cents for the mental health and incompetency facility; .263 cents for the agricultural center; .091 cents for the court house branch office, and .323 cents for the park acquisition. Total is .840 cents.

A further explanation, according to Alexander, is that on a home assessed at $15,000 valuation, after the $5,000 homestead exemption, the owner would pay an $10,000 tax bill of 84 cents on the dollar. This would result in a net increase in his tax bill of 84 cents on the dollar for a total of $8.40 if all the issues pass.

Alexander stated that each bond item can be voted upon separately and will allow the voters to determine which of the capital improvement programs they support.

Double Assaults Probed

A reported rape of an Orlando woman by three men in Seminole County and the attempted attack on a Sanford woman by a masked intruder were listed as occurring during the weekend by county authorities and Sanford police.

Sheriff's department investigators are probing the assault upon an Orlando woman, which occurred in a wooded area near the Longwood-Markham Road, where the woman was left to wander to a nearby house after three men allegedly took turns assaulting her.

The middle-aged woman reported she was "picked up" by the men in a car at the Carter-Jernigan Streets intersection in Orlando and driven to Seminole County where she was raped and finally released, according to a report by Sgt. George Myers, county deputy.

A Sanford woman's scream alerted her husband and daughter elsewhere in the house and prevented the attack on her person by a man who had entered her home wearing a stocking mask.

The woman was reportedly sitting on a couch in the living room when a man suddenly appeared apparently by the front door entrance.

"If I get you," were the words reportedly mumbled by the masked male, before the woman screamed and fainted.

Both the husband and daughter reported seeing a masked figure leaning over the faint woman's body when they reached the living room.

They reported the man appeared to be white, of medium build and wearing a long-sleeved shirt and trousers. He made his escape out the front door, according to the police report.

A guard was placed on the house by police after a second reported incident came to police a short time later. Police were called after someone attempted to open both front and rear doors to the house later Saturday night.

Clifton Overman Rites Wednesday

CASSELBERRY — Funeral services for former Councilman Clifton (Clif) Longworth Overman, 31, of 1026 Crystal Bowl Circle, who died Saturday at Mercy Hospital, Orlando, will be held Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the Fairbaird Northside Chapel.

He suffered a heart attack last week while playing ball in Pine Hills. He also had served, in addition to four years on the council, as city and county building inspector.

A WWII veteran of the 8th Air Force, he was charter member of VFW Post 10060, American Legion Post 356, Land O' Lakes Country Club, Disabled American Veterans and a member of Military Order of the Cooties, Holy Wreath Club, etc.

Born in Grover Hill, Ohio, he came to Casseberry 17 years ago and was a carpenter by trade.

He is survived by his wife, Betty Jane Overman.

Chaplain Robert Dysert, of VFW Post 10060, will conduct the funeral service. The post also will conduct military services at the graveside in Casseberry Cemetery.

The widow requests that in lieu of flowers, donations be made to any charitable organization.

Indignant Calls Are Received

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Tax Assessor Guy Allen said today that he has received several indignant phone calls from taxpayers who had been notified by their mortgage companies that there would not be enough money in their escrow accounts to cover their tax bills this year.

Allen wants it known that county assessments have not gone up, as on this would indicate, but the bills to those living in the municipalities of Sanford, Longwood and Oviedo are higher because they now include the bills for the city ad valorem taxes as well as county.

This is in compliance with Florida House Bill 1082 which requires the billing for cities be done by the county in order to eliminate duplication and save the cities money.

Allen stated "You would think mortgage companies would have made necessary arrangements as we have known since last year that the law would require combining of the bills."

Altamonte Springs will not be included until next year as that city's fiscal year is not concurrent with that of the county. Casseberry and North Orlando residents are luckiest of all — there are no ad valorem taxes imposed by their local governments.
