Experiences In Doll Hospital Are Related By Couple

AP Newsfeatures
DENVER—John McCourt and his wife Lucinda opened their doll hospital prior to the advent of the plastic kidney, the magic skin, the lovable skin, and the vulcanized party.

Lucinda recalls that 21 years ago when they started the business in the garage of their Denver home, repair work was simply a matter of installing new arms, legs, and eyes. Occasionally a doll developed a nose or lost a finger, but these were not run-of-the-mill ailments.

That Lucinda, emphasizes, was then.

"This year's Christmas rush has flooded the downtown hospital with 2,600 ailing dolls. Many of them require new plumbing peculiar to the biology of the modern product. Mothers of the dolls not only insist that their 'babies' drink water and milk; they want them equipped to drink 'at the same rate of speed they did before they became ill,'" Lucinda says. She adds:

"The mothers have become as complex as the dolls. They sulk if we don't refer to their 'babies' as 'babies.' They demand we hold the babies properly, bearing the spine with the flat of the hand. 'They phone at all hours with questions and advice: 'Sissie all right now? She eating? That baby wouldn't eat a thing at home. Whatever you do, don't keep her in the dark. She hates the dark.'"

Lucinda has found that the dolls' hair must be combed gently in the parent's presence. And when a new wig is required the mother has been known to instruct: "When you pull the old hair out don't pull it out hard."

John McCourt sniffs audibly when Lucinda goes dreamy over this mother-love business. He says that nowadays many a perfectly good doll is orphaned, replaced by some costlier creature with more advanced bathroom habits.

He says the only time he was ever really impressed by a child's affection for a doll, was when he repaired one for a 12-year-old boy.

"The boy's mother had died," John says. "About the only thing she left behind was a big old doll with a cracked plaster head. He brought it to me and when I told him how much it would cost to fix it the big tears began rolling down his cheeks. He said he only had a dollar, offered to do any kind of work for me if I only please fix it."

"I'll never forget the look on that kid's face when he saw the completed job. He picked it up and danced around the shop with it, hugging it to him. Mind you, he was a big husky boy and not a sissy. He danced around and around and then he held the doll away from him and started bawling real hard. Isn't she beautiful?" he said. "Isn't she beautiful?" Then he sat down on a bench and held the doll on his knee a long time. He just sat there looking out the window and holding the doll."

Taylor (Simon and Schuster, New York, $2.95). The cook book contains very convenient recipe rules. Almost two years of research and testing was done in order to check every single detail, and every recipe was finally passed upon by a fastidious panel for flavor, texture, appearance, and quality. Miss Lowry Asks For Two Gifts

 Dear Santa:

As you know from other years, I'm certainly not a girl who has everything. In fact, I'm one of the women who are NOT Christmas problem children.

I could be made happy if you'd send me a bunch of single earrings to replace the left-eared pieces I leave in coin telephone booths. And stockings that would either match some good singles I have or new nylons that would get runs in both legs at the same time.

I'd adore to have them, Santa, but I'll even forego that if you'll just bring two little items.

In fact, if I can just have these two, I promise not to ask for a single thing — next year, even.

Santa, I want an electric hair dryer and a thing they call a slipper.

per repair tool set. If I have just these two things I'll never need another thing. Between them, they can cope — at least their press agents claim they can cope — with just about every single one of life's problems. Well, maybe I'd still need an alarm clock, but that's all.

Sure, I go to the hairdressers to have my hair done. You missed the point. If I get a hair-dryer I can dry dishes with it in a flash. I can defrost windows and the refrigerator; heat fishbowls in cold weather; blow dust out of the radio and television set; warm adhesive tape; fluff that raccoon coat; solidify frosting on cake; thaw frozen foods; blow foam off beer; warm cold feet, and fill air cushions.

You probably wonder, Santa, how you ever managed to get along without a hair-dryer yourself. You could fluff your beard with it, for goodness' sake, and dry the reindeer after their baths.

Then about the zipper repair tool kit. If I can only have a rotating machet head tool with four prongs, a tool mesh and a tool opener for the slider, there's nothing I can't do because just about everything nowadays zips in and out. But mine seem to slide open and it's horrible. And my psychiatrist said that the inception of my last breakdown dated from the minute I caught that imported tweed skirt in its own zipper — which was quite an achievement.

Dutch Forces Start Mopping Up All Of Java

The Netherlands Also Claim Swift Operation On Neighboring Island Of Sumatra

PARIS, Dec. 27. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council rejected today a Russian demand that Holland be ordered to stop military operations in Indonesia within 24 hours. The vote came after the Dutch delegate, Jan Herman Van Hoven, told the council his country has not yet completed with the council's Christmas eve order for a cease fire in Indonesia.

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 27. (AP)—Dutch forces in a three-day steamroller campaign have driven Indonesian Republicans from all key points on the island of Java, a communique indicated tonight.

"After one week it is possible to start mopping up operations in the whole of Java," the bulletin said. "With very few exceptions resistance was slight."

The Dutch also claimed swift progress on the neighboring island of Sumatra. It reported that even the Republicans' losses were light owing to lack of resistance. In Sumatra are reported hiding in the mountains to prepare for guerrilla war against the Dutch.

The area of Bantam, western Java, was occupied in a few days against slight resistance, the communique said. The marine brigade which was driving south from its landing point on the north coast has linked up with forces moving north from the area of captured Marau, and other May operations are going on at Soerakarta and in the mangleling area of Java. The communique said a large quantity of arms of various types has been seized or handed in and some munitions dumps and army factories have been captured.

There was no mention of Dutch actions in Southern Sumatra near the Diambi oil field, the only economically important Republican area of which the Dutch have not claimed capture.

The Dutch said two of their fighter planes were down in Central Java in an accident. Casualties were not mentioned.

Meanwhile in Paris Dutch delegate Jan Herman Van Hoven told the United Nations Security Council today Holland has not yet completed with the council's Christmas eve order for a cease fire in Indonesia.

John Bills Named Chief Of Atlanta F. B. I. Bureau

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 27. (AP)—John C. Bills, who helped bring a number of German spies to justice during World War II, has begun his duties as special agent in charge of the Atlanta office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He is a son of Mrs. J. C. Bills of Ovid, N. Y.

Mr. Bills replaces Edwin Felts who will take over the FBI office in Little Rock. He has held positions in most of the leading cities along the eastern seaboard.

During World War II, he and other officers reported to day.

They said the Russians promised to return the soldiers tonight. Wisconsin State Police headquarters at Wausau said it had reports the six enlisted men were seized after an exchange of gunfire. The soldiers' commanding officer said he could not confirm the gunfire reports and did not know circumstances of the arrests.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Stock gains were made in the stock market today in very quiet trading.

Prices moved in a narrow range above and below the bid, but the leaders on the top side were in a slight majority.

VIENNA, Dec. 27. (AP)—Herma Goering's brother in law will go on trial tomorrow on charges of high treason.

Dr. Franz Haebler, 54, was Austrian minister of justice in 1930 when he married Goering's sister. After the 1938 Anschluss he was under secretary of justice in the German cabinet in Berlin. In 1943 he was promoted to chief of the German Administration court.

Hungary Arrests Mindszenty For Spying, Treason

Catholic Is Considered Enemy Of Government Of Nation

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 27. (AP)—Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, was arrested today on suspicion of plotting against the government, spying, treason and black market money dealing, the government announced.

The announcement contained no details. A high authority who requested that his name not be used said a detailed statement will be made in 48 hours and "will contain some surprises." He said the government had "irrefutable evidence" against the Cardinal.

(Hungary's government is dominated by the Communists, with whom the Cardinal has been battling for a long time. Sources in Vatican City, saying the arrest of Cardinal Mindszenty would be no surprise, said the Cardinal would be arrested in Hungary.)

Navy Tests New Plane For Carrier

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Navy is testing its big, hard-hitting fighter plane, the Martin "Mauler," in flights from the carrier Keewauque off the east coast.

The single-engine, 22,000-pound "Mauler" is armed with torpedoes, rockets and machine guns and is one of the heaviest planes ever built for carrier operation. It has a range of more than 2,000 miles and a speed faster than 300 miles an hour.

The Navy said the tests are expected to last several weeks.

President To Hold Administration Meet

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Dec. 27. (AP)—President Truman will fly back to Washington Wednesday for a top-level conference Thursday on congressional reorganization and the administration's legislative program.

The President will meet with Vice President-elect Alben Barkley and Rep. Sam Rayburn, who is slated to be speaker of the House again when the 81st Congress organizes in January.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles C. Ross made the announcement after Mr. Truman told reporters his "state of the union message" to Congress was in "fair good shape."

Peace Hopes Dim For China Nationalists

Red's "Criminals" List Closes Door On Means To Halt War By Negotiation

By HAROLD K. MILKS
NANKING, Dec. 27. (AP)—Hopes for peace in China faded today.

Communist radio broadcast of a list of "war criminals" to be punished by a "people's court" sent them shuddering.

Headed by the late Chiang Kai-shek, Madame Chiang, Premier Sun Fo and most of the nation's top military and political leaders, the list means that the Communists would publish such a list at this time, when they seemed a possibility of reaching some sort of agreement was expressed in both foreign and Chinese quarters.

"Communists by their action have definitely closed the door on any hope of ending the war by negotiation," said one official. His statement was echoed by the arrival of more troops in Nanking, indicating that Chiang and his followers have determined to fight on, possibly turning the Capital into the next battleground.

In view of the Communist radio declaration, it seems unlikely that any of the national officials listed would participate in any peace negotiation and the only avenue left to them is to fight on. The Communist publication of the list and subsequent proclamation making frequent references to a "people's government" strengthened the belief the Reds have decided against permitting the present constitutional government to continue in any form even under an unqualified peace which would give the Communists control of China. Instead, it is believed by high command hopes to completely eliminate the National government and substitute its own.

From a study of recent troop movements, it appears that the government is hopeful of holding the Nanking-Shanghai area indefinitely with its west flank being on the Wuhu River, 60 miles southwest of Nanking, and extending southward along the Yangtze River and Hsuehchow rail line. The critical area operates only between Wuhu and Nanking.

Messages reports reaching here late today said that five fighting units were reported north of Kaoyu, 50 miles northeast of Nanking.

There was no mention of the situation of General Fu's troops trapped near Pingpu. The men are without food and had weathered last winter from air raids.

Insurance Company Denies Dewey Rumor

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Rumors that Governor Thomas E. Dewey would become president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company when his term of office expires in 1950 were denied by the company today.

A report to that effect received national circulation recently in a radio broadcast by Walter Winchell.

It apparently was believed by many employees of the firm, a company spokesman said, since President Leroy A. Lincoln will be approaching the retiring age of 70 in 1950.

Mr. Lincoln today circulated the following statement among company employees:

"A rumormongering was expressed over the radio not long ago concerning the presidency of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Everyone concerned with the Metropolitan should know that when an important move is made or in contemplation, the company makes a clear, frank statement on the subject."

City Commission Studies Plan To Employ Separate City Manager

Reorganization of City offices to provide for a separate City manager and City Clerk is being contemplated by the City Commission. Acting Mayor Lee R. Lesher revealed today in a statement in which he pointed out the increase in administrative duties at the City Hall necessitating the employment of a new City manager.

The offices of City Manager, City Clerk and Tax Assessor, which have been filled by H. N. Sayer for the past several years, are to be reorganized to conform more closely to the provisions of the City Charter, said Mr. Lesher. "With the further development of the support properties, the Lake Monroe park facilities and other municipal improvements, the Commission has discovered that no one man can do justice to all three jobs."

Under the plan now being considered, Mr. Sayer will retain the offices of City Clerk and Tax Assessor, which he has so effectively and ably filled for a number of years. In filling the three jobs, he has probably put in more hours of intensive work than any other public official in this area. His thorough and detailed knowledge concerning the operation of the City will be of assistance to the City in the future.

Police Search For Slayer Of Bristol Woman

Warrants Against 2 Men Are Held For Manslaughter, Rape

BRISTOL, Conn., Dec. 27. (AP)—Bristol police today were searching for two men in connection with the rape slaying of Mrs. Judith Ruth Brackett, 42, of Plainville.

Mrs. Brackett's body, clad in another woman's clothes, was found Christmas eve in the yard of a home owned by Mrs. Rose Lombard.

Police Chief Edmund Crowley identified the men being sought as Joseph W. Hering, 22, and George St. James, 18, both hoodlums in Mrs. Lombard's home. Crowley said he held warrants against each man charging manslaughter and aggravated assault.

Crowley quoted Mrs. Lombard as saying that she and St. James told her that they met Mrs. Brackett in a tavern Friday night and took her to a barn behind the Lombard home where, after raping her, they had strangled her. Then they buried her body in a nearby wooded area.

The chief quoted Mrs. Lombard as saying that when she expressed doubt that Mrs. Brackett was dead, the pair threatened to kill her.

Wave Of Frigid Weather Appears To Be Breaking

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—The frigid blast which overtook most of the nation over the weekend appeared to be breaking up today. Although the Middle Atlantic and Ohio Valley states still had stringing subnormal readings, the temperature already had begun to rise in some parts of the Great Lakes region and Central and Eastern states. Skies generally were fair over the Central and Eastern sections of the nation.

The coldest weather appeared to be finally lodged over the Northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest, while a dust storm churned over some Southern California. San Francisco and the bay.

He said that the Soviet Union was "our great ally" but that it was "blocking peace negotiations with the Chinese."

"Contracts are not being signed," he said. "The Soviet Union is blocking peace negotiations with the Chinese."

Mr. Truman's statement came on the "off the cuff" talk at a testimonial luncheon honoring Edna Jacobson, his former partner in a haberdashery store here.

Air Force Reserve Needs More Planes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Air Force says it lacks enough planes to provide the entire Air Force Reserve with first-line aircraft for training purposes.

C. W. Whitney, assistant secretary of air, made this comment in a letter to Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), who had asked information on plans for Air Force Reserve units.

Whitney said the regular Air Force, the Air National Guard and "certain foreign aid programs" all have a higher priority than the Air Force Reserve. The reason he said is that the reserve is not considered a mobilization day force.

TEL AVIV, Israel, Dec. 27. (AP)—The second battle of the Negev swelled today into a full scale fight for the barren southern desert.

A virtual news black-out existed on the Negev front, but it appeared on Monday night as the new fighting there broke out. Commentators there are reckoning that the Egyptians had secured their own frontiers—by being Egyptian political leaders would be arrested talks without further delay.

A Different People

As one result of the wide interest in Socialist and Communist ideas, much attention is being given to the experiment with socialized industry in the British Isles. This interest in what another country is doing is excellent, but we should not make the mistake of concluding that the outcome in England will indicate what would happen if Socialism were tried in this country.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Long the blame for the current Indonesian Republic upheaval against the Dutch, or against it against the Republic, and you still haven't covered the ground. The fact is that the world is paying for the failure for perhaps one should say inability of the United Nations to set up an international police force to handle such situations.

600 Guests Attend Interfraternity Christmas Night Dance At Mayfair Inn

At one of the most brilliant affairs of the holiday season Sanford members of the various college sororities and fraternities gave their first annual Christmas dance on Christmas night at the Mayfair Inn. Dancing was enjoyed by about 600 members and their guests from 9:00 until 1:00 o'clock to the music of Paul Coble and his Mayfair Inn orchestra.

Plans for the dance were under the direction of Joe McCaslin, general chairman, and committee chairmen were Miss Elizabeth Whigham, secretary; George Eck, treasurer; Miss Audrey Bach and Jack Woodruff, decorations; Mrs. Dale Scott, Jr., publicity; Mrs. Edward Higgins, invitations and Edward Higgins, door chairman.

Making up an advisory committee for the occasion were, Mrs. Ben Whitner, Jr. national officer of the Kappa Delta sorority and Ralph Austin Smith, national officer for the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Attractive decorations included a profusion of gaily colored balloons which were effectively used in the ball room, lobby, card room and Bamboo Room. Across the wide balcony in the ballroom the Greek letters of the sororities and fraternities glittered against a red background and on each side of the orchestra stand were large peppermint canes.

Calumet Against Field Is Lineup For Widener Classic At Hialeah

MIAMI, Dec. 27. (Special)—Calumet against the field. That will be the lineup for Hialeah's $50,000 Widener on Saturday, Feb. 26, it was indicated this morning with Racing Secretary Charles J. McLennan's official release of a list of 49 nominations for the mile-and-a-quarter handicap.

The powerful Calumet stable, three-time winner of the stake already, named six racers, including the "varsity team" of Faultless, Fervent, Cooltown and Free America. The Calumet nominees won a total of 10 major stakes in 1948. Beau Dandy and Whirl Blast were the non-stakes winners on the Calumet entry list.

Among them the Calumet aggregation—Beau Dandy and Whirl Blast—were also on the list won 10 stakes in 1948. Cooltown garnered five, Fervent four, and Faultless one—not a bad total for a trio which was overshadowed no little by their famous stablemate, Citation.

More impressive of Calumet's opponents for Widener honors are Andes Stable's Beauchef, a South American invader which won three stakes last summer; A. F. Hammer's Marchon II, another Latin importation which has won all four of his North American starts; Arnold Hanger's Harmonica, surprise winner of the Suburban in which she defeated Styrim; Walter B. Johnson's Royal Legion, a four-stakes victor; and E. F. Voynow's Blue Joker, runner-up in last winter's Widener.

Newly graduated to the handicap ranks are Homer Stable's Piet, conqueror of the speedy Cooltown in the Skokie; Dixiana's Shy Guy, a ball of fire in the closing weeks of the season; Ben Whitaker's My Request, winner of both divisions of the Experimental Free Handicap, and the Wood Memorial; and Mrs. Ben Whitaker's Miss Request, "best three-year-old filly of 1948."

Oldest nominee for the event is George Widener's eight-year-old gelding, Lucky Draw. The veteran is attempting his third racing comeback and will be a threat if he can approximate his 1946 form when he won eight successive races, seven of them stakes, establishing track records in six.

A surprise nominee is Woodford Farm's Delegate, a superior sprinter. His connections are hopeful they can stretch him out for the mile-and-a-quarter event.

An indication of the class of the field is the number of stakes won by the nominees. A check shows that the 22 of those named won a total of 58 stakes among them. Mrs. Helene K. Haggerty's Hammet led the list with seven on her ledger.

Calumet won the Widener in 1939 with Bull Lea, and Armed cord in the 1946 and 1947 seasons.

Miss Swift Enters Women's Golf Meet

ST. AUGUSTINE, Dec. 27.—(AP)—The early list of entrants in the East Coast of Florida Women's Golf Championship includes the name of Miss Roslyn Swift, of the Glen Oaks Country Club, Great Neck, Long Island, the 1947 Junior Metropolitan Champion. It was announced today. The three tournaments which make up the cycle of this competition are the Championship of Palm Beach, Feb. 8 to 12, at Palm Beach; the South Atlantic Championship, Mar. 1 to 5, at Ormond Beach; and the Florida East Coast Championship, Mar. 7 to 11, at St. Augustine.

Miss Swift, who is a freshman at Rollins College in Winter Park and a member of the golf team there, has aroused much enthusiasm among veteran golf observers by her fine potential as a player. Miss Swift started in the game less than two years ago, and her surprising victory in the 1947 Junior Metropolitan Championship came in her first major tournament.

In her Florida tournament debut this season, Miss Swift was runner-up in the Duhadred Golfers' Association Championship at Orlando.

NEW YORK—Mr. James Savo, the celebrated pantomimist, is back in town amusing the cash customers. Mr. Savo has a charming set of bangs and what somebody has called the world's most wistful eyebrows, but his effect on the cash customers is exactly like that of all comedians from the late W. C. Fields down—that is, for every six persons who think he is wonderful, marvelous and A Great Artist in His Own Way, there are a half dozen who sit frozen-faced and say, "This is a comedian!"

The value of comedians is something I gave up arguing about many seasons ago. I once met a man who liked the Ritz brothers and didn't like the Marx brothers, and I figured that if such blasphemy as that goes on in the world, obviously no two persons really see eye to eye on what constitutes high comedy.

However, we digress. Mr. Savo is back in town. Many things have happened to Jimmy since I saw him last. He has, for example, acquired a castle in Italy and an artificial leg.

In spite of the considerable interruption to his career that the loss of his leg caused, he has been inching slowly up the ladder of fame until now he rightfully is allowed in the best saloons to entertain the loftiest Tories.

When I saw him last, it was an historic occasion. It was early in the war and the Office of Defense Transportation, spinning frantically in a yogi-like trance, had decided there were to be no more taxicabs going from one state to another.

It was evidently a question of saving gasoline or rubber, and Mr. Savo and I decided that the sad and memorable moment should be observed fittingly. We took the last taxicab ride to New Jersey.

THIS IS A HAZARDOUS UNDERTAKING AT ANY TIME, so to fortify ourselves, we took along Margie Hart, the strip-tease. Both Miss Hart and Miss Savo were rehearsing at that time for a show called Wine, Women and Song, which, if I recall, got into all kinds of courtroom difficulties later on because it was a outburst of entertainment for children at best. Miss Hart had on red hair, a black dress and a set of silver fox furs. Jimmy and I wore sack suits, white shirts and four-in-hands.

It was 11:32 by the Paramount clock when we left Times Square and the journey itself was a melancholy, almost silent one. It seems peculiar that one should be grief-stricken over not being permitted to take any more cabs to Jersey, but we were.

I remember Margie musing softly that the ODT order would hurt "rich guys who used to take cabs to Jersey or Connecticut to save tires on their own cars," and we all bowed our heads in sympathy for the rich guys.

Down at Hudson and Perry streets, our cab slowed down for a traffic jam and a smoky truck hit his face into the back. "I need two cents for a shot," he said, and Jimmy handed over a buck. "We are taking the Last Cab to New Jersey," he said, the drunk, who frowned. "Jersey," he muttered, and walked away.

WE HIT THE HOLLAND TUNNEL about a minute before midnight, eeled our way through its long, endless, terrifying stretch of white tiled walls, and presently came out in what I always have suspected is Jersey City. There was no ceremony, no planting of flowers, no recitation of Dowson's "They are not long, the days of wine and roses." The cab stopped momentarily, the driver said "Jersey," and snuffed. We looked out.

Jersey, all right. We had taken the last legitimate cab ride there and any further traffic of this kind would be under-the-counter and with the meter stopped.

There being no further reason for remaining in New Jersey, we turned promptly around and went back through the tunnel. Miss Hart left the entourage at Twelfth street, down in the Village; a girl she knew who had just baked a meat loaf that day lived there.

Jimmy and I returned to Times Square and got out and stood in front of the Astor for a little while, morosely. He snuffed a deck of cards and half-heartedly tried out that trick where he throws a lit match around his waist and into his mouth, still lit, but his heart wasn't in it.

Savo looked up at me and there was a hundred years of tragedy and misery in his dark eyes. "Now you can't take a cab there no more," he said. I nodded. Then, as I recall, Life Moved On.

On looking back at it, I suppose the chief value of that journey was that it demonstrated a remarkable lesson in how to waste an hour's time.

Worlds were falling, empires were crumbling and wars were exploding, and we were taking a magnificently unnecessary taxicab to New Jersey. We were three New Yorkers earnestly in search of whiney, and if you cry "Paugh!" and imagine sourly that most New Yorkers are like that, there is more than an outside chance you are right.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—This week should prove whether the means about dropping basketball attendance are justified. It's true that Madison Square Garden, the hot spot of the game, hasn't enjoyed its usual run of sellouts.

It also is true that they've played 11 college doubleheaders as far, plus three nights and three afternoons of pro basketball.

The pro crowds, even allowing for duplications, could easily account for the difference between 15,000 gatherings and sellouts for the college games.

Everybody gets into the act. Besides the usual heavy run of inter-collegiate games, on the double-header circuit, there are the Oklahoma City, Los Angeles and San Francisco tournaments, the Sugar and Orange Bowl attractions and no end of games that are just games.

Ray Elliot, the Illinois grid coach, may be right in defining basketball as "a non-contact sport which occupies time between football and spring football"—but gosh, how much time it occupies!

Not Robin Anybody

One reason the Phillies are so high on Robin Roberts is his pitching record. Another is that he's a young man who knows his own mind—and has a mind worth knowing. It's like this. When a Philly scout got in touch with Roberts after he left Michigan State College, he was scheduled to work out with the Cubs and Yankees. The Cubs even had promised his family a week's visit to Chicago.

But when Robin got a $25,000 bonus offer from the Phils, he immediately telephoned his dad. "I think it's a fair offer and I want to sign," he said, "even though the other clubs may offer me a little more. And if you're worried about that trip to Chicago, come ahead. It's on me."

Monday Matinee

When U. of Mississippi footballers were polled on the free substitution rule, they favored it 29-0. One player explained: "I was a bench-sitter until free substitution." . . . Branch Rickey is reported to have offered Washington $30,000 for John Simmons, the young outfielder who was drafted from Brooklyn's Montreal farm. . . . Line Coach Walt Kiesling, who never is satisfied with less than a perfect team, claims the Green Bay Packers need 11 or 12 good new players to form a winning team. They weren't available on the draft list, either. "We don't even know that Stan Heath is good," means Kiesling. . . . The Little Creek (Va.) Amphibians think they set a record of some sort by sinking 27 out of 28 foul shots in one basketball game.

Home Boy

When Myrtle Greathouse, the Oklahoma U.'s line backer, was asked who was the best blocker he ever had tried to avoid, Myrtle replied: "Dee Andros of Oklahoma. I ought to know because I scrimmaged against him every week." Questioned about the trickiest back, Myrtle named another teammate, Jack Mitchell. "Great-house must think they're great."

Compromise Shaping Up On Civil Rights Legislation | Marshall to Be Switched From State to Defense?

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—A compromise is shaping up on civil rights legislation—a compromise that will have a slight connection with President Truman, and actually take shape in the new 81st Congress.

One of the first moves was a letter from Senator Burnet R. Maybank (D), South Carolina, to the Democratic high command that he will work all-out for the president's economic program when Congress convenes.

Maybank is a key man in that picture, inasmuch as he probably will become chairman of the Senate banking committee, which will write such legislation, in place of the aging and elderly Senator Robert Wagner (D), New York.

Maybank's statement is construed to mean that southern Senate Democrats may be willing to support the Truman economic program in exchange for a "deal" on civil rights. This deal might mean acceptance of anti-poll tax and anti-lynch legislation in exchange for an understanding that FEPC and anti-segregation legislation will not be pressed.

President Truman will not budge from his program, but when the matter is in the hands of his leaders in the House and Senate, the deal might be engineered.

NEW TWIST ON CABINET SHIFTS—Out of the swirl of speculation on possible changes in the Truman cabinet comes a report that the president would like to move State Secretary George C. Marshall into the national defense post and get a new state secretary.

These sources represent the president's line of thinking as follows: Marshall, with his lifetime of military experience, bolstered by two years as secretary of state, would make the most effective defense secretary obtainable.

The shift would remove Marshall from the foreign policy post where he has been subjected to criticism in connection with his handling of several key issues, including aid to China and the Palestine situation. Forrestal has expressed his unwillingness to stay on for four more years as defense secretary.

STATES TO SUPERVISE DP'S—The displaced persons commission is toying with the idea of asking states to set up groups to take a hand in the placement and supervision of newcomers from Europe under the DP act.

Its plan is in a formative stage and will be kept under wraps until Capitol Hill legislators most interested in the program are notified.

It was learned that some commission officials would like to enlist some state and local responsibility to prevent the "exploitation" of DP's who come into the areas and take jobs and to co-ordinate the national and local levels.

In general, the idea apparently would fit into the pattern favored by such Capitol Hill leaders who like to leave as much responsibility and authority as possible with state and local governments.

WELFARE FUND REGULATION—Some government labor officials have been talking about a provision in the new labor law to regulate union welfare funds but there is no sign yet that the administration will adopt the idea.

One proposal would create a new division in the labor department to supervise and control union pension programs such as insurance companies and other regulated.

The division's chief purpose would be to audit the books at regular intervals and check up to see that the union welfare funds are being expended properly. Unions could be expected to kick up a fuss with John L. Lewis in the forefront of the opposition.

The Taft-Hartley Law provides for joint employer-union administration of industry-financed welfare funds and the miners' fund is so supervised. However, Lewis would fight the creation of any new government regulatory bureau.

Orgeon Is Slated To Give SMU Hard Cotton Bowl Tilt

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF, DALLAS, Dec. 27.—The "birds are pretty well convinced that . . .

will have its hands full with Orgeon in the Cotton Bowl, too. . . . They hardly add that this would be nothing new anybody, it seems, can give SMC a tough ball game.

The Methodists were staggering in the final month of the Southwest Conference. . . . Under Texas A. and M. almost beat them. They had to score in the last run from down A-Lan. . . . Baylor was in the ball game until the last and it required a 90-yard drive in the final 10 minutes to win a tie with Texas.

Orgeon's big, tough line has impressed the fans watching the "birds" in their work-outs. They not only are ponderous but fast. The line has been considered SMC's weakest point all season although, as Coach Joe Alken of Orgeon observed, "They must have something up front to win all those ball games. The birds can't do it all."

A comparison of the two lines through the statistics indicates Orgeon has much the better of it. The "birds" line has given up 1,818 yards rushing in 10 games while Orgeon's line allowed 1,490 yards.

1,672 yards rushing while Orgeon has rolled up 2,340 yards.

In passing, where SMC and Methodist's star-studded backfield comes in, SMU made 1,461 yards while Orgeon has 1,034.

In the overall, Orgeon has gained 3,370 yards to 3,133 for Southwestern Methodist.

The offensive power of the two teams indicates a high-scoring game.

Both teams returned to the practice field today after time off for Christmas.

Michigan State College's Gene "Blick" Smith of nine passes against Iowa State for the tremendous total of 241 yards and 10 touchdowns.

MUFFINS FOR BREAKFAST If your family tires of eating cereal "the old" try serving it in different ways. They'll enjoy it in muffins or in "coffee cake" sometimes, or you can use it in bread or in griddle cakes. The following recipe may be varied on occasion with the addition of a half cup of raisins, chopped nuts, figs or nutmeats.

BRAN FLAKE MUFFINS 1 cup sifted flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons baking powder 3 tablespoons shortening 1 egg 1/4 cup finely packed brown sugar 1 cup milk 2 cups ready-to-eat bran flakes

Sift the flour, salt and baking powder into a mixing bowl. Add the shortening and cut into the dry ingredients with a pastry blender or two knives until the fat is entirely worked in. Beat the egg well with an electric or rotary beater until thick and creamy, beat in the brown sugar a table-spoon at a time; add the milk and beat enough to combine. Add the liquid mixture and the bran flakes to the flour mixture and stir quickly and lightly just until all dry ingredients are moistened. Spoon into 16 two-inch muffin pans (measured across the top) filling each about two-thirds full. Bake in a hot (425F.) oven for about 25 minutes. Serve very hot immediately.

Cups can be made of wood, cotton fabrics, leather, plastics and glass.

TYPICAL MEMBERS of an Indonesian Republic army squad are shown here as they marched through the streets of Batavia, Java. That they were no match for well-equipped Dutch forces, which attacked by air, sea and land, is understandable. Some wear old Japanese helmets and uniforms and equipment are varied. Negev Battle

Pasha said the battle had developed into a "general clash." He gave no details of the fighting, but told newsmen Egypt's military position is "good."
Despite the shutdown on official news here, it is known that the battle is being fought on a large scale, in an area just inside Israeli territory from Egypt's Gaza frontier zone and extending northward toward Gaza.
It also is known that the fighting continues unchecked on land and in the air by both sides.
What is not known here, however, are the gains or losses on either side, or from which side came the initial impetus of the offensive, or the specific tactical objectives.
The Negev battle began immediately after recent preliminary maneuvering over an armistice getting the two sides to both sides of the direct frontlines support of some plus attacks on rear front or bases. There did not appear to be any important gains far beyond the lines.
Contrary to previous practices, Israeli communications were not cut on the names of cities or bases either bombed by their planes or captured by Egyptians.
The Israeli spokesman insisted again that there was no fighting and that the Egyptian base at Gaza, which had been captured, had been trapped since the previous Negev operation.
The military spokesman said the Israeli had been to Gaza was somewhere northwest of Nirim, opposite the Egyptian base at Gaza. He declined to say whether the Israeli had been captured or not.
It appears, however, that with the Egyptian position at Gaza, the Israeli had been under direct attack and a small number of Israeli troops had been sent into the night of total blackout. No damage was reported.

Mom Can Give Her Daughter Haircut

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
Little girls who do not enjoy going to the beauty salon, but nevertheless are glamor conscious, can get a super hair shagging from Mom. It's all done with one of those little combination comb and blade gadgets. Most of these work on the same principle, and if directions are followed, excellent results can be obtained.
Usually, it is easier to shape the hair when it is wet or damp. Many of these directions stress that point. To begin with, hair is separated into sections, usually three across the crown, and three across the back of the head from the top of the ears and down. The back sections are tapered by starting about two inches from the scalp and stroking the comb down with just enough pressure so you can feel the hair being shaped. Side sections are cut by holding locks out from the head and forward.
When hair is cut according to directions given, the taperette can be used again to smooth out stray lengths. If a child's hair shows a tendency to wave, the comb might be encouraged by shaping in that direction to encourage the wave.

Stranded Men Are Rescued By Air Force

C-47 With Skis And Jet Takeoff Save 12 Fliers On Ice- cap In Greenland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Twelve men who have been stranded on a tiny Greenland icecap for three weeks were rescued today, the Air Force announced. They were picked up by a C-47 operating from an air base which is 270 miles northwest of the crash scene, the announcement said. The rescue came as the U.S.S. Sagan drove northward through the stormy Atlantic in an effort to reach the men with helicopter. The Navy carrier sailed from Norfolk, Va., on Christmas day. The Air Force said it had been in error in previous announcements that 13 men were stranded on the ice peak. It had assumed, it said, that two men were aboard a glider which made the last previous rescue attempt, when in reality only one man was aboard. Seven men were stranded Dec. 9 when their plane was forced down by ice. The others were rescued from time to time in unsuccessful rescue operations. The rescuing C-47, which had (Continued on Page Six)

3 Cambridge Plants Destroyed By Fire

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 28. (AP)—Flames swept three wooden sheet metal factories in the industrial Kendall Square district today. Damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. An explosion rocked the area just as the day shifts were reporting. Few workers were in the plants and no casualties were reported. The fire spread rapidly through the three two-story buildings—all connected by overhead enclosed passageways but quick work of firemen prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining factories. Housed in the burned buildings were the Waco Flashing Co., Shuck Sheet Metal Co. and the H. U. Gillett Co.

West Sets Up Control System Over Industrial Ruhr Valley

LONDON, Dec. 28. (AP)—The Western Powers set up today a strict international control system for Germany's industrial Ruhr valley from war production. The Ruhr was ordered to produce solely for peace. Their decision was announced in a formal communique as the climax of a six-week conference here by representatives of the United States, Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. It contained an admission of Russia as a partner in the international control board to be known as the "Ruhr Authority." The agreement offered Germany a place on the board as soon as it develops a legal government. The Germans will have three votes, the same as the United States, Britain and France will have two more than each of the Benelux countries, which sit over on World War Two. It set up an international system of inspection—the framework of an industrial police to keep the Ruhr from becoming once again a war-making industrial machine as it did under Hitler and Kaiser Wilhelm. It also settled the dynastic-laden question of ultimate ownership of the Ruhr's industries—a plan concession to France. The French want international ownership. Britain prefers German public ownership. The United States favors private enterprise. The agreement was for an indefinite term, leaving open the possibility the Ruhr might forever continue under international supervision. This, too, was a concession to the French, after the action of German agents who also argued with success that Germany's industrial might was developed in the coal, coke and steel production of the Ruhr's concentrated industries. The communique and the meeting were held in a friendly atmosphere, throughout and that it "carefully examined all aspects of the problem involved." The communique announced the conference's "threefold objective." "To secure the disarmament and demilitarization of Germany." "To further the recovery of the countries of Europe, including (Continued on Page Two)

Council Acts On Res- olution Of China; Jogjakarta Buries 64 Killed In Fight

PARIS, Dec. 28. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council ordered the Netherlands today to release captured leaders of the Indonesian Republic within 24 hours. The Council acted on a resolution of China's delegate, Dr. Hsia Chang-feng, who said there was no reason for the Dutch to delay even for a day the release of Dr. Soerjono, president of the Republic, and members of his cabinet. The leaders were taken when the Dutch seized Jogjakarta in their recent "police action" in Java and Sumatra. Council members were critical of the Dutch for their previous refusal to obey the Council order to halt fighting in Indonesia. Eight council members supported the proposal. Britain, France and Belgium abstained. Russia joined the United States in voting for the resolution, which said: "The Security Council, noting that the Netherlands government has not so far released the president of the Republic of Indonesia and other political prisoners as required by the resolution of Dec. 21, 1948, calls upon the Netherlands government to set free these political prisoners forthwith and to take the necessary steps to ensure the possibility of peace talks with the Indonesian government."
