Complaints Against Firms Reported

County Eyes Garbage Firm Regulations

By MICHEAL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

An effort is under way to establish penalties for Seminole County refuse collection companies who fail to deliver good service to their customers.

Ken Hooper, director of environmental services, said the county currently has no mechanism to regulate the performance of refuse collection firms.

"We don't have any leverage with them," he said. "There is no deposit, no bond."

Hooper told county commissioners the county's current refuse ordinance contains no penalties for poor service. The ordinance only permits the county to issue or deny a certificate of convenience, that is, to grant or deny the firm a franchise.

Commissioners have said repeatedly over the past few months that one firm, Danjohn Services Inc., has had numerous complaints filed by customers and competitors.

Danjohn has an exclusive franchise for garbage collection in Casselberry and has several thousand customers in the unincorporated portions of Seminole County.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said this week he has received complaints about the company's personnel "smashing garbage cans, leaving garbage and if it falls out, not picking it up. They've been a complete nuisance."

"I'm not interested in getting into franchising or rate structures," he said. "I'm interested in performance bonds. If they can't perform, let them perform someplace else."

Commissioners have sent a letter to Danjohn officials telling them of complaints against the firm and setting a meeting with the firm within 30 days to discuss the problems.

Meanwhile, Hooper is working to put teeth into the county's refuse ordinance. He wants to amend the ordinance to require companies to post a bond based on the number of customers they have. If the firms don't perform well, they will lose the bond or a portion of it.

Jeff O'Connor, manager of Danjohn, said today he shares Kirchhoff's support for performance bonds.

"Every garbage company in Seminole County should have a $100,000 performance bond," he said. "But the next question is who judges the forfeiture of the bond?"

O'Connor takes issue with the number of complaints claimed by the county. He said the firm has been documenting complaints since problems first surfaced in September.

Since October, the firm has received 19 complaints, O'Connor said. The firm makes 22,000 stops a week. "Nineteen complaints in 4½ months from 22,000 stops a week, that's not a bad ratio."

He said county officials have not given the firm a list of the complaints despite repeated requests over the past few months. The firm's attorney recently sent a letter to county commissioners asking for a list of the complaints and to set up a meeting between company and county officials.

Kirchhoff also said he has received numerous complaints from garbage collection firms in the county over an apparent price war.

He said companies should have the same rates for all of their customers.

O'Connor confirmed that some companies are charging reduced rates to entice new customers to take their service. He denied that Danjohn is undercutting prices but said "I don't have any problem with that. It's a legitimate business practice. It's the American way."

O'Connor said Refuse Management Corp., a firm Danjohn manages, is offering customers east of Oviedo a reduced rate to begin service. But he added the rate, two months service for the price of one, is being offered only in a new area not currently serviced by any collection firm.

3 Rivers' Protection Unopposed

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

None of the 80 persons attending the public workshop held by the Department of Environmental Regulation Thursday night spoke out against the proposed designation of "Outstanding Florida Waters" for portions of Rock Springs Run, the Little Wekiva and Wekiva Rivers.

The hearing was held in Altamonte Spring's Westmonte Center.

Jim Hulbert of the local DER office said the designation would give the river more protection, but it wouldn't retard development. Dredge and fill projects would be denied, no new sewage plants would be allowed to discharge into the waters in the area and existing ones would not be allowed to increase their load or deteriorate the water quality. The designation would set the quality standard of the river for the future, he said.

Most of the Wekiva (25 miles) and some of the Little Wekiva are already designated "Outstanding Florida Waters" and this proposal merely extends the protection further. The petition asks that the designation be extended for the Little Wekiva to Sanlando Springs on State Road 434. It now only goes as far as the Deik Road DER sampling station to the Wekiva.

"We are trying to piece together out of the area to include most of the basin," said Hulbert.

The local DER office is sponsoring the proposal, which is not affected by whether or not the state purchases land owned by Deltona Corp. known as Wekiva Consolidated Ranch. Because of its high priority Hulbert said he believes the state will eventually negotiate the purchase.

Charles Lee, vice president of the Florida Audubon Society, expressed concern at the Thursday night workshop that the purchase of the Wekiva tract might be hindered because of criticism by Herb Morgan, chairman of the House Appropriation Committee, of state purchases under the "Save our Coasts" program. The property lies in Orange, Seminole and Lake counties.

Hulbert said if the designation didn't go through but the purchase did go through the fact that it would be state land would provide some protection.

A final decision by the Environmental Regulation Commission on the request made by the Friends of the Wekiva in September will be made at its April 20-21 meeting.

The protective status sought by the organization for about 11 miles of the river system has been endorsed by the League of Women Voters in both Orange and Seminole Counties and conservation groups.

357 Join Chamber

By DONNA ESTES

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce three-day membership drive ended Thursday with a total of 357 new or renewed memberships for a total chamber membership of 920 businesses or individuals.

Jack Horner, chamber president, said while the 920 memberships are slightly below the goal of 1,000 members, it is expected that additional memberships will come in to meet the goal within the next few weeks as a follow-up is done.

Craig Orseno of Orseno Advertising was declared top salesman with a total of $1,437 in memberships while the team headed by John Mercer of Southeast Bank was overall champion with $2,645 in memberships. Mercer also came in second in individual sales with $900.

Orseno was presented with a $100 gift certificate while each member of Mercer's team received two tickets for a moonlight cruise on the Bay Queen.

Second in team standings was the team of Seminole Community College president, Earl Weldon, whose team each received dinner for two at the Holiday Inn. Weldon's team sold $2,120 in memberships.

Taking third place was the team led by William P. "Bud" Layer which sold $1,927 in memberships. Members of this team each won dinner for two at Mr. Cap's.

Martha Yancey, also of Mercer's team, won two tickets to Sea World for selling the most memberships on the first day of the drive — Tuesday — with $450.

In the three-day drive, some $15,500 was raised in membership dues for the chamber. Of the 357 memberships sold, 167 were from new businesses.

Mercer was awarded dinner for two at Molly Magee's for selling the most memberships.

In a personal challenge between Larry Strickler's team and that headed by Jerry Poppell of Tropic Bank, Poppell won. Strickler of Southern Bell said if he lost he would grow a beard while Poppell said if he lost he would shave off his beard.

Fifteen teams of six members each participated in the drive headed by Bruce Berger of Florida Power and Light Co.

The person on each team who brought in the most membership renewals received tickets for dinner for two at The Barn.

John Mercer delights that his team won the championship for the highest sales of membership in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce drive. Mercer, individually, came in second in personal sales of memberships.

Miss Florida Pitman Asks Judge To Okay 54 Hours Of Community Service

A total of 54 hours of community service work has been submitted by Miss Florida Deanna Pitman's attorney to meet the requirements of her careless driving conviction.

Sanford Attorney Jack Bridges today filed 14 hours of community service which Miss Pitman performed in November, along with 40 hours previously submitted.

The latest appearances include 2½ hours at a local junior high school economics class fashion show, a 3½-hour speaking engagement at an elementary school on growth and accomplishments in Apopka and eight hours for an arthritis foundation fund-raiser in Fort Myers, Bridges said today.

"I don't consider these things she would have done in the guise of Miss Florida," Bridges said.

She spent a day at the arthritis foundation fund-raiser.

"She was involved with the arthritis foundation as a victim long before she became Miss Florida," Bridges said.

The appearance at the Seminole County school fashion show "was at the request of an old teacher or an old friend" and the Apopka school appearance was "because she's from Apopka," he said.

Bridges said he will meet with County Court Judge Alan Dickey to discuss the acceptability of the appearances "at the convenience of the court."

Dickey had previously objected to a portion of the 40 hours submitted by Bridges, claiming that they were duties which she would perform as Miss Florida.

Three of the appearances included in the first list were ones for which she received free lodging or reimbursement or was contractually obligated to attend as Miss Florida.

Also on the original list was an appearance at a benefit for the Florida Symphony at the home of her boyfriend, 47-year-old businessman Kenneth Kirchman. These six hours were rejected by the judge and will be withdrawn, Bridges said.

Attorney and judge to discuss acceptability of appearances.

Miss Pitman was arrested on July 16 after knocking over a mailbox with her car in Altamonte Springs near Kirchman's home. She pleaded guilty to careless driving, driving without a valid driver's license and improper display of a license tag. She registered a .124 percent blood alcohol level on a blood test administered several hours after the accident.

But the driving under the influence of alcohol charge was dropped after assistant county medical examiner Dr. Sara Irrgang testified that Miss Pitman could not have been legally drunk even though her blood test revealed that she had a level of alcohol in the blood stream higher than the .10 percent defined by the state as legally drunk.

Altamonte Man Dies After Epileptic Attack

The body of a 24-year-old Altamonte Springs man who had an epileptic fit was found lying in a rain-filled ditch early Thursday.

Michael James Wells of 415 Basewood Lane was found by an unidentified passer-by in the ditch on State Road 436 in the Jackson Street area of Altamonte Springs at about 8:50 p.m.

The passer-by notified Sylvia Kennedy, manager of the nearby Super Value store on State Road 436, and she called Altamonte Springs police.

"He was a fairly regular customer," Ms. Kennedy said today. "He would bring in soda bottles to exchange, nothing big." It had been raining heavily in the area Thursday and the dead man's body was found lying face up in the ditch.

An autopsy performed this morning by Seminole County medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay revealed that the dead man had suffered an epileptic fit before falling into the ditch.

"He had a seizure. There is no evidence of foul play. We haven't been able to find out yet whether he drowned and we are making further examinations," Garay said. "It is a natural death."

Results Could Be Far-Reaching

Judge Throws Out DUI Breathalyzer Tests

A decision made by Seminole County Judge Alan Dickey could have far-reaching results on prosecutions under Florida's new tough drunk driving law.

Dickey Thursday threw out results of breathalyzer and intoxilizer tests in two separate cases, citing the failure of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services to set rules on the tests as mandated by the Legislature.

While the tough driving under the influence law went into effect July 1, 1982, HRS did not set rules as mandated until Dec. 15 and then adopted rules on an emergency basis.

At that time the state agency merely adopted on an emergency basis rules used by the state Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles under a previous drunk driving law.

In his ruling which court officials said he spent two weeks writing, Dickey slapped at the "lack of legislative foresight... exacerbated by bureaucratic blundering which has resulted in what may be metaphorically described as a cross between a tortoise and an ostrich."

"In typical legislative fashion," Dickey said the Legislature deleted certain words and added others but failed to authorize the admissibility of test results under the existing regulations at the time the law passed.

In addition, Dickey hinted that a recent Florida Supreme Court opinion has cast doubt upon whether a person who refused to take the breathalyzer or intoxilizer tests could have their licenses suspended.

He pointed particularly to a section of a Florida high court opinion where the words "refusal of an approved test" are used. Dickey said the Supreme Court opinion "casts doubt upon implementation of the entire legislative scheme of implied consent and blood alcohol content presumption of impairment so integral to our state's efforts to combat drunk drivers and the resulting horrors visited by some of them upon innocent drivers."

"Luckily," Dickey said, "this absurd situation will last only until one state agency complies with a clear legislative mandate, unless the emergency rule has already solved the problem — a matter upon which there is some considerable doubt."

Dickey in his decision Thursday threw out breathalyzer and intoxilizer tests specifically against Phillip Williams Odham and Sandy John Balingier since they were taken between July 1, 1982, and Dec. 15, 1982, before the HRS emergency rules were adopted.

State Attorney Douglas Cheshire has said he will appeal the decision to higher courts. If the issues get to the Florida Supreme Court it could affect all similar cases involving those two tests statewide.

Meanwhile, court officers said today that it is likely that other cases hinging on breathalyzer or intoxilizer tests taken between July 1 and Dec. 15, 1982, will also be thrown out of Dickey's court.

In addition, Dickey's decision can be used as persuasive arguments in similar cases brought before County Judges Wallace Hall and Harold Johnson.

NATION IN BRIEF

Compromise Sought On Toxic Waste Documents

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House is trying to work out a compromise between Congress and the Environmental Protection Agency which has been warned against shredding documents on toxic waste cleanup sought by Congress.

A meeting of White House aides and other administration officials was held Thursday to draft a compromise on documents subpoenaed by Congress for an investigation of the agency's toxic waste cleanup program. EPA Administrator Anne Gorsuch is facing a contempt of Congress citation for refusing, on President Reagan's orders, to provide the documents.

The House clerk's office, meanwhile, warned the agency not to use newly acquired paper shredders to destroy subpoenaed documents. It cited "disturbing information" shredders were moved into the agency office since the Dec. 16 House vote to cite Mrs. Gorsuch for contempt.

Missile Target Hits Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI)—A civilian died from injuries he received aboard a Navy frigate whose hull was smashed by an unmanned missile target that bounced off the water, punching an 8-foot hole into the ship. Navy officials said.

Lt. Cmdr. Kay Brookshaw said James Goldsmith, 39, of West Palm Beach died at 9:15 p.m. Thursday in the burn unit of Norfolk General Hospital where he was taken after the accident early Thursday morning aboard the USS Antrim.

Ms. Brookshaw said Goldsmith, under contract with Florida Junior College in Jacksonville, was on the ship as an instructor with the Program for Afloat College Education.

Milwee 'Fun And Run' Set For Feb. 18, 19

The Milwee Middle School Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a two-day "Fun and Run" Feb. 18 and 19 to raise funds for beautifying the school. Students will be let out for the last two periods Friday to participate in the jogathon, running laps around the school track for a certain amount of money per lap as pledged by sponsors.

On Saturday, there will be a carnival on the school grounds from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with food, games and a laser show. There will be an auction from 2 to 3 p.m. featuring such items as a television set, theater tickets, household goods and health club memberships.

1 Percent Drop Largest On Record

Falling Fuel Costs Depress Wholesale Prices

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Wholesale prices dropped a full 1 percent in January, the biggest decline on record as a result of steep drops in fuel prices, the Labor Department said today. It was the largest decrease in wholesale prices since the government began keeping the index in 1947, 36 years ago.

The large decline in the department's Producer Price Index last month, a surprise to leading analysts, would amount to an annual rate of decrease of 11.9 percent if sustained for 12 months, described as "double digit deflation" by one department economist.

The index for all energy prices for dealers was down 4.2 percent with home heating oil prices dropping an enormous 9.7 percent in the single month.

Food prices dropped 0.2 percent for the month. The latest figure showed that the new year was already improving on 1982's deceleration in price increases. Last year the inflation rate at the wholesale level was only 3.5 percent. The disappearance of inflation in January can be expected to continue to moderate price increases for consumers in the months ahead.

The index for January, before seasonal adjustment, was 283.6, the department said, equivalent to a price of $2,836 for goods that cost businesses $1,000 in 1967.

The January decrease followed a revised 0.2 percent increase for the month of December and a 0.6 percent increase in November, modest changes that failed to spoil 1982's record as the best year since 1971 for holding down business inflation.

The index also is closely watched for its measure of the state of the economy. Wholesale prices, particularly at the raw materials stage, usually start to go up when demand picks up. According to that measure, the overall steep decline, and the 0.3 percent drop for raw materials prices showed clearly that business was still feeling the damaging effects of recession in January, analysts said.

Even without the declines in energy prices and food prices, the index for everything else at the last stage of processing before retail sale was also down 1 percent, the department said.

But fuel price declines were the most dramatic in the report, a single category that contributed slightly more than 13 percent of the monthly change in the finished goods index.

Gasoline prices were down 3.3 percent, although most of the change was for December, not January.

Even natural gas prices were down 2.7 percent and lubricating oil dropped 0.1 percent in price.

Among the foods, vegetables were down in price by 20.8 percent in January and fish prices were down 4 percent.

Cosmetic prices for dealers were off 0.7 percent, small arms and ammunition dropped 10.2 percent in price with all sporting and athletic goods down 2.2 percent.

Prices for capital goods, from factory machinery to construction equipment, dropped 0.1 percent.

The government's Producer Price Index measures a different set of goods than the department's Consumer Price Index. It does not measure most of the service products nor the rents and housing costs that have no wholesale equivalent.

Nevertheless, the wholesale index is an important guide to the future course of the consumer inflation rate that last year reached only 3.9 percent.

Georgia State University's price forecasting project, one of the most elaborate attempts to track price changes independent of the government, forecasts a 1983 rate of increase for the wholesale index of 3.5 percent, the same as last year. But the steep January drop is expected to force downward revisions for all major forecasters.

School Food Sparks Debate Over Kitchen At Rosenwald Center

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Parents of Seminole County school children, you can start planning your vacations for next year.

The 1983-84 school calendar has been set and it features two weeks off for Christmas and one week off prior to Easter.

School will start on Aug. 29 and end June 8, 1984. Schools will be closed Sept. 5 for Labor Day, Oct. 14, Nov. 4, Nov. 24 and 25 for Thanksgiving. The Christmas break will run from Dec. 19 to Dec. 30. Other holidays will be Jan. 23, Feb. 20, March 23, April 16-20 for Spring break April 27 and May 28 for Memorial Day.

School board member Nancy Warren voted against the proposal. She suggested changing the spring break until after Easter giving students April 20-27 off rather than a whole week off followed by four days of school and another day off.

School board members also voted Wednesday to spend $5,000 to install a finishing kitchen at Eastbrook Elementary School near Casselberry.

One finishing kitchen has been installed at Jackson Heights Middle School near Oviedo as part of a pilot project to determine student reaction to changes in the school lunch program.

Most of the county's schools do not have kitchen facilities. Nine kitchens prepare food for the other schools, and the food is transported to the schools where it is served.

Dan Pelham, principal at Sanford Middle School and head of the district's food service committee, said the finishing kitchens are the best way to eliminate the complaints about the district's food service.

Menu changes instituted this year have already increased students purchasing school lunches by more than 2,800 each day, he said.

Pelham said there are long-range plans to phase out the satellite kitchen concept as money becomes available. All new schools will have full kitchens and older schools will have finishing kitchens installed.

But Pelham said there are no plans to construct a kitchen at Rosenwald Exceptional Child Center. The school, which serves almost 200 retarded students, currently has food prepared at Lyman High School.

"We thought the best and cheapest way was to continue the satellite program," he said.

But board member Jean Bryant said parents and school officials want the kitchen restored.

Assistant Food Services Manager D.F. Kirkpatrick said many of the students at Rosenwald cannot eat the general menu prepared for the schools. They must have specially prepared food.

But there is no room at Rosenwald for such food preparation facilities, he said, adding that Lyman High School has plenty of room.

Board members directed administrators to look at Rosenwald as a possible site for a full or finishing kitchen.

Meanwhile, the school board learned Wednesday that work on the Keeth School is about two weeks behind the contractor's timetable. However, Graham Construction has established its own expedited schedule and the project should still be completed on time and ready for school in September, Robert Pierce, architect on the project said.

Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Benny Arnold said Wednesday a proposed move of a transformer pad by Florida Power at a cost of $4,000 to the district, had been avoided by moving a covered physical education area.

But that move will require some additional costs for additional sidewalks and conduit for the electrical work, Arnold said.

It was the first school in the county to receive one of the kitchens, part of the county's commitment to improve the food served to students. ## In Exchange For Congressional Aid

Independent Truckers Strike Is Called Off

United Press International

The head of the independent truckers organization called off a violent strike in exchange for promises from 35 congressmen to study truckers' problems — an agreement termed a "sellout" and a "farce" by steel haulers who vowed to stay off the roads for a 12th day today.

Mike Parkhurst, president of the Independent Truckers Association, said Thursday his group had "been able to accomplish, for the entire industry, more than we have ever been able to in the past."

But critics outside the trucking industry accused Parkhurst of ending the violence-marred truckers strike to save face in the midst of failure, while industry opponents blasted him for stopping the strike just when it was doing some good.

"We are officially asking independent truckers and small-fleet owners who have joined the shutdown to get back to work as soon as possible," Parkhurst said.

But Paul Dietsch, a representative of the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers, responded, "We're advising everyone to stay on strike."

"A lot of truckers are very angry about Mr. Parkhurst because he ended the protest just about when we were on the verge of getting something," said William Kusley, spokesman for the Fraternal Order of National Truckers Organization Inc. in Indiana. "The majority of the major truckers want to stay down and we'll do what the truckers want."

Rumors of an end to the strike had been circulating for two days and truck traffic was reported returning to normal on the nation's highways.

Parkhurst lobbied Congress for special hearings to consider legislative reforms to the 1982 Highway Revenue Act, which the truckers said imposed inequitable fuel taxes and highway-user fees on the industry.

But a letter from four congressmen — Reps. Peter Kostmayer, D-Pa., Ed Jenkins, D-Ga., Douglas Applegate, D-Ohio, and Carroll Campbell Jr., R-Sc. — did not say Congress would reopen hearings on the fuel tax bill. Kostmayer aide John Seager said 35 of the 435 members of Congress had agreed to sign the letter, although Parkhurst said he expected 100 congressmen to do so.

Dietsch said the steel haulers association was not happy about the announced end to the strike.

"They've (Congress) studied us to death. Millions of dollars have been spent on it. They know what our problems are, and it's a farce to study them further."

ITA reaction was generally favorable, however.

Illinois ITA representative Craig Robertson said, "We don't think it (the tax bill) will be repealed in total. The fuel tax of 5 cents will stay, but other aspects of the bill will be amended."

Robertson said truckers' response was generally "mixed but overall favorable to the results" of negotiations.

Violence in the shutdown dropped dramatically Thursday. Kentucky officials called off National Guard air patrols over the state's highways and officials in the Ohio-Pennsylvania "combat zone" reported only a few shootings and rock throwings.

More than 650 shootings and almost 2,000 other acts of vandalism have been reported, with one driver killed, since the strike began Jan. 31. At least 97 people were injured. —

Cocaine Dealer Won't Cooperate, Gets 15 Years

By VICTOR ASSERSON
Herald Staff Writer

A drug dealer arrested in Sanford and sentenced to five years by a federal judge in Orlando was brought back to Seminole County Thursday and given an additional 15 years in jail and fined $250,000.

Jair Alvarez-Ceballos of Miami was arrested at the Holiday Inn, Lake Monroe, Sanford, on July 14 when he offered to sell a kilo of near pure cocaine for $65,000 to federal drug agents. He was arrested along with Carlos Herman Montoya Robledo who has since disappeared.

According to Assistant State Attorney Alan Robinson, Alvarez agreed to help drug enforcement officers in their investigation in return for a minimum sentence.

Two charges of conspiracy to possess cocaine with intent to distribute and possession of cocaine were dismissed but Alvarez, according to court records, was tried on the charges in federal court in Orlando and received a five-year sentence.

But Alvarez, according to Robinson, later changed his mind and refused to help police in their narcotics investigation. Shortly afterwards, Robledo disappeared. No charges were brought against him because there was insufficient evidence to prosecute him without Alvarez's testimony, Robinson said.

"We brought him (Alvarez) here and prosecuted him for trafficking in cocaine, the same offense that he was tried for previously," Robinson said. "You have here two separate entities, the federal court and this circuit court. This is the first time that this has been done here and we anticipate it will be done again if people refuse to cooperate when they say they will and get a reduced sentence."

"Originally, Alvarez agreed to tell all," Robinson said. "Then he refused. He was given the same sentence as if he had cooperated."

"It was because he was evasive and gave us false information and because he got the benefit as if he had cooperated we felt the system had been compromised."

"We decided to prosecute him as a message to others not to play fast and loose with the system," Robinson said. "The fine and the 15-year sentence which Alvarez will serve

WINDOW SMASHED

Someone hurled a lump of concrete through the store front window of Video Spot 1418 Montgomery Road, Springs Plaza, Longwood, between 6 p.m. Sunday and 8:21 a.m. Monday. It is not known what was stolen from the shop.

WIRE WHEEL COVERS STOLEN

Three wire wheel covers worth $450 were stolen from a car belonging to J.R. Dunaway of Sanford while it was parked at the Seaboard Coastline passenger depot between 6 p.m. on Monday and 2:30 p.m. Tuesday.

CAMERA STOLEN

A camera and cases worth $340 were stolen from the home of David Spriggs at 234 League Crescent, Deer Run, Casselberry, sometime between Jan. 27 and 4 p.m. Monday. There were no signs of forced entry.

CON MAN WALKS OUT WITH VIDEO TERMINAL

A smooth talking con man walked out of Stromberg-Carlson with a $1,000 video terminal after telling staff members it had to be taken to Lake Mary for testing.

The man walked into the firm's main building at 1291 N. U.S. Highway 17-92 at about 7:45 p.m. Sunday, signed in at the security gate and once inside the building showed what appeared to be the correct authorization to remove the video terminal from the building. He left the building a few minutes later with the video terminal. The man gave his name as Bob Thomson.

SAW STOLEN

A Black and Decker saw worth $370 owned by George Peatross of Orlando was stolen from a house under construction on Lot 29 Birdsong Court, Sabal Palm, Longwood, between 7:45 and 8 a.m. Saturday, police reported.

RADAR DETECTOR STOLEN

A radar detector worth $120 and tools and a light were stolen from the home of Scott Alan Smith, 210 Grace Boulevard, Altamonte Springs between 11:30 a.m. February 5 and 1:30 a.m. Tuesday. The total value of the property stolen was $213.

TRAIN HITS TRUCK

A 1970 Datsun pickup truck driven by John Grady of 202 Hays Drive, Sanford, was wrecked early this morning when a train smashed into it at Airport Boulevard, Sanford.

The Florida Highway Patrol said Grady was driving across the tracks at 4:30 a.m. when he saw a train coming and abandoned the truck which sustained $500 damage.

There were no further details on the incident early today.

DUI ARREST

Gertrude B. Mathews, 50, of 2418 S. Cedar Avenue, Sanford, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol after she was seen crossing the center line several times while driving on County Road 427 at about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

According to an arrest report, Mathews staggered when she got out of her car and smelled strongly of alcohol and while she was being arrested she kicked a deputy sheriff, the report said. She was also charged with resisting arrest without violence and battery on a police officer.

Home-Sharing Program Is Good For Retirees

NEW YORK (UPI) — Henry Taylor, 83, moved about for eight years after his wife died, praying for a good home. Now he's found it with George Young, another retired widower on a fixed income.

The void in the lives of Taylor and Young, 70, was filled through a city homesharing program for the elderly. "I found myself moving from one place to another," Taylor said of the time after his wife, Itaska, died. "It's not so easy to find a place to stay. I prayed for eight years to find a place I'd be accepted."

"And he finally found it," said Young, who owns the 6-room, A-frame house in South Jamaica, Queens, where Taylor now rents a room.

"Now I'm most satisfied, we get along all right," said Taylor.

Taylor said he had lived in several different places, some of them with "mean" conditions, or if he found the conditions acceptable, he didn't get along with the landlord.

Then, in December, Taylor met Young through the Jamaica Service Program for Older Adults, which has a $25,000 city grant to bring together elderly homeowners with space to rent and elderly renters looking for decent housing.

"Now I'm living all right, sleep good at night without being bawled out," Taylor said.

City officials hope the Home Sharing program will help seniors of low and moderate incomes to find homes, without depending on public housing or institutions. At the same time it would prevent homes from falling behind in tax payments and being forfeited to the city.

"The program is for elderly people looking for companionship and safety. In addition to being financially helpful, it provides emotional support," said Janet Langsam, assistant commissioner of the city's Department of Housing Preservation and Development.

Taylor and Young were the first successful match in the city's 2-month old project.

When Taylor moved in for the trial weekend with Young he returned to his previous home only to get his belongings. "I call it a pretty good spot," Taylor said of his new home.

Jordan Warns 1984 Demo Candidates Need South

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The architect of Jimmy Carter's 1976 presidential campaign warned 1984 Democratic hopefuls Thursday they will not be able to win the election without carrying most of the South.

Hamilton Jordan, writing an open letter to Democratic presidential candidates in the Washington Post, predicted it will be difficult for a Democrat to carry the South in 1984.

"While the presumption 30 years ago was that the South would vote Democratic in presidential elections, current trends, issues and voting behavior strongly suggest that the South is likely to vote Republican in the next national election," said Jordan, who wrote Carter's winning strategy for 1976.

The former Carter administration chief of staff urged the candidates to spread out a map that shows each state's electoral votes.

"Since the end of Reconstruction, the only way that any Democrat has been elected president has been by carrying some combination of northeastern, midwestern and southern states," he wrote.

"It is not my premise that the southern states are more important ... It is my premise that the South will be more difficult for any Democrat to carry in 1984," said Jordan.

He cautioned the Democrats that there is no other plan that will work.

"Unless you can figure out some way to carry ... a host of other very conservative, very Republican western and Rocky Mountain states, you are left to come to grips with the South politically," he said.

The South will carry 26 percent of the total delegates to the 1984 Democratic convention — half the winning margin.

"The South also has a prominent, early position in the nomination process," he said.

'Crib Death' Hereditary Possible Evidence Studied

DALTON, Ga. (UPI) — An investigation into the deaths over three generations of about 20 babies — all from the same family — could uncover the first evidence that sudden infant death syndrome is hereditary, doctors say.

Health officials, who called the possibility "frightening," began trying to determine how many of the infants were killed by the syndrome, commonly known as "crib death."

"This is unheard of," said Dr. Richard Naeye, chairman of the pathology department at Penn State Medical College and an expert on sudden infant death syndrome.

"The big studies that have been done nationwide suggest heredity has nothing to do with sudden infant deaths. We need to try to find out exactly what happened to these children."

Officials said they learned of the deaths after questioning Lloyd and Terrie Lee Greeson, whose 3-week-old boy died Monday of SIDS — the third baby the Greesons have lost to the syndrome in the past two years.

"We investigated the death to make sure there was no foul play involved. The parents said they knew of about 20 deaths on the wife's side of the family from mysterious causes," Dalton Police Capt. Morris McDonald said.

Officials said an autopsy will be conducted on the body of the Greeson's baby, Johnathan Allen, to try to determine whether his breathing mechanisms were impaired.

Whitfield County Coroner Leon Helton said health department officials confirmed many of the deaths in a check of death certificates and began questioning more family members to try to determine the exact causes.

Helton said the certificates listed the deaths as unexplained or from natural causes.

"It was such a shock to us because we were not aware of this many deaths," Helton said. "The family members we discussed it with seemed to have accepted the deaths. We think the family needs some help to try to find out what caused it. It's frightening."

Naeye said SIDS is considered caused by environmental factors during pregnancy that damage the infant's brain mechanisms to control breathing.

"Mothers can have problems in successive pregnancies that damage more than one child. There have been several families in the United States that have lost three children. But this family has supposedly lost 20 children over three generations. That's completely outside my experience," said Naeye, who was notified of the deaths by the Whitfield County Health Department.

The Greeson's first child was 12 months old when it died in May 1981. The second baby died one month after birth in March 1981. The Greesons, who are in their late 20s, used a special device to monitor the breathing of their third infant after he was brought home from the hospital, McDonald said.

"The system indicated the baby had stopped breathing and they called the medics, but the baby died at the hospital 30 minutes later," McDonald said.

Painted Babies Outrage Chief

GRANTS, N.M. (UPI) — Reports that some people in the western New Mexico community of Grants may have been painting their infants gold and silver and passing them around to be sniffed at parties have provoked anger from officials.

"I think it's something that we all look at with our paternal instincts. But in this particular case, people are outraged about it," Jerry Thurber, police chief of the town of 10,000 people, said.

Thurber said, during recent drug raids his men got word "on the street" of the practice of painting babies and passing them around to be sniffed to get high.

He said two children who had been examined by police earlier this year had metallic-colored spray paint on their faces and limbs, but it was unclear to officers how the paint got there.

Those children now have been turned over to the state Department of Human Resources, he said.

Thurber said if the practice is occurring as some people have told police, it amounts to a new form of child abuse that must be stopped.

Police have appealed to residents to come forward if they have information of such incidents.

Yes, Recovery Is At Hand...

Watchman, what of the night?—Isaiah XXI:11

If, as it is said, ours is an economic civilization, a large measure of societal vigor must be ascertained from the sometimes tedious indicators. A paramount concern for Americans and millions more around the globe now is what to expect amidst the worst economic recession in some 40 years. Are there signs of recovery or must hard times lie ahead into the indefinite future?

"Watchman, what of the night?"

The word coming in is good, uncommonly good. After several tremulous, sporadic upturns in recent months, the long-awaited recovery appears to be at hand, solid and broad-based. There have not been so many good signs in several years.

The ordinarily dull economic indicators make fascinating reading these days:

Real sales during the fourth quarter rose at a 3.2 percent annual rate, the best performance since the first quarter of 1981. The Wharton Baseline projects a surge in durable-goods purchases and residential investment and a sharp increase in inventory investment. Wharton expects the gross national product to rise at a healthy 4.1 percent annual rate during the second half of the year.

Automobile sales and home-building, which triggered the economic slide during 1981-82, are rebounding strongly thanks in large part to lowering interest rates. Auto sales increased 15.5 percent during the final half of last year and housing starts skyrocketed 41.7 percent. The physical inventory of unsold new single-family homes is at its lowest level since 1971.

Not all indicators are positive, to be sure, and the recovery will have some bumps. Although new unemployment insurance claims have dropped to their lowest level since August 1981, the jobless rate is more than 10 percent and expected to remain there for most of this year and the next. Moreover, working Americans are pressed by weak income growth. The wage and salary component of personal income increased only 2.8 percent last year. And excise tax increases agreed to in 1982 by the Reagan administration will reduce discretionary consumer purchasing power by about $4 billion.

Still, the optimism we voice is being substantiated in an unusually convincing way. Alice Rivlin, director of the Congressional Budget Office announced a few days ago without equivocation that "the recession is ending."

With the inflation rate down to 3.9 percent, the lowest in a decade, and the prime rate down to 11 percent and continuing to decline, the economic pieces are in place for economic growth, which can reduce the federal deficit more effectively than any combination of new taxes and spending cuts.

Nevertheless, Washington's peculiar time warp has Republicans as well as Democrats lagging behind these affirmative developments. For example, a $1 billion federal jobs program that House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill trumpeted last year has jumped already to about $7 billion and is still growing.

Strangely, only days after President Reagan submitted his budget to Congress, administration spokesmen were dropping hints on Capitol Hill that they would consider cuts in defense spending, might go along for the first time with the Democrats' jobs program, and might compromise further after the Democrats present their spending and taxation plans.

Incredibly, the administration appears to be conceding defeat to the discredited spending panaceas of the Democrats at the very brink of a spectacular victory, having conquered inflation and high interest rates, and pulled the country through a hard time. Instead of retreating from a battlefield that is his, President Reagan ought to sound a loud bugle call to rally his dispirited and compromising forces. He should charge ahead under his proud conservative banner.

BERRY'S WORLD

County Commissioner Barbara Christensen came up with the quip of the week.

At a recent meeting, Commissioner Robert Sturm noted that it was refreshing to see a swamp labeled on a site plan as a swamp rather than lowlands, wetlands or the ever popular passive recreation area.

But Mrs. Christensen found an easy answer for Sturm. "That's because they don't own it," she said.

This coming week is School Volunteer Week in Seminole County. Dede Schaffner, coordinator of the county's Dividends volunteer program is preparing plans for district activities in observance of volunteer week. The district also will be taking stock of itself this week. A population count to be used to calculate the amount of state aid for full-time students in the coming school year will be made.

The count is particularly important since this year's count was overestimated, causing the district to receive less state aid than anticipated.

Brandt Magic, an award winning Central Florida photographer is the winner of this year's Winter Park Sidewalk Art Festival poster competition.

For his design, chosen from 36 entries, Magic will receive $300.

Magic's poster design is a full-color photographic montage featuring a tall cypress tree on which a delicate peacock feather has been imposed. The festival will be held March 18-20.

The Asolo Touring Teeater Company of Sarasota will be at Forest City Elementary School on Thursday and Friday for presentations of their plays, "Peter and the Hungry Wolf" and "Hercules and Friends."

"Peter and the Hungry Wolf" is an audience participation play designed for pre-school children through third graders. "Hercules and Friends" is for fourth through eighth grade students and is based upon the famous mythological hero.

The Asolo Touring Theater Company is sponsored by Florida State University, The Ringling Museums, the state Theater Board and Division of Cultural Affairs.

Relief From Tinnitus

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of Americans suffer from persistent sounds in the head and a National Academy of Sciences panel says ear-worn devices to mask this ringing and buzzing may be the best available way to deal with the problem.

The committee reached this conclusion cautiously because many questions remain. But it said there are no other, equally effective treatments for the disorder called tinnitus.

The big concern is the safety of the masking devices which emit steady sounds to drown out the head noises. The committee said in a report that nearly all currently available maskers have the potential to produce hearing loss when used for long periods.

The nine-person committee, headed by Dennis McFadden of the University of Texas, said a recent British survey, if extrapolated to the U.S. population, would indicate 2.5 million Americans are afflicted with severe tinnitus.

There is no known cause for most cases of tinnitus. The panel report said the problem arises from abnormalities in the auditory nervous system.

"It is important to emphasize at the outset that tinnitus is itself not a disease, but a symptom that is common to many maladies that afflict different structures within and without the auditory system," the report said.

"Given the multiple origins of tinnitus, it should be expected that no single treatment for tinnitus is likely to be found."

The panel said that in addition to masking devices, several drugs have been found to be effective against some forms of tinnitus. But the report said each drug has drawbacks of one sort or another "that prevent its immediate widespread use."

The masking devices were developed by researchers at the University of Oregon Medical School. Two types are used. One is just a sound emitter mounted in a hearing aid chassis, and the other is a combination hearing aid and masker.

Dr. Jack Vernon, one of the Oregon researchers, has said the sound emitted by the masking devices is usually more psychologically acceptable than the tinnitus and can be ignored like most people disregard background noises.

The committee report said nearly all information on the effectiveness of the maskers comes from the Oregon center — "a situation that makes any cautious scientist uneasy."

"If we accept their data, it appears that when reasonable care is taken in the choice and fitting of an aid, masker or instrument, about 83 percent of tinnitus sufferers who actually purchase the recommended device will appreciate partial or total relief from their symptoms," the report said.

The committee said such success rates are encouraging.

"Masking of tinnitus is not a panacea, but from these statistics, and from the absence of other equally effective treatments, masking must now be regarded as the treatment of first choice," the committee report said.

Senate Shrugs At ABSCAM Abuses

WASHINGTON—The Senate investigation of the Justice Department's misconduct in the ABSCAM case has produced some wild contradictions.

The Senate select committee concluded that the remorseless ABSCAM pursuers and prosecutors had committed serious abuses, including outright perjury and tampering with evidence. Yet the committee insisted that the defendants' rights had not been trampled on.

In other words, the senators decided that the government's hands weren't clean but that it really didn't matter. Their findings of government misconduct are scattered helterskelter throughout their report—in other words, buried.

Here are just a few of the more flagrant abuses they found had been committed by ABSCAM's investigative and prosecutorial team:

—Convicted swindler Mel Weinberg was the master planner, stage manager and star witness of the sting operation. Yet he shared in the ABSCAM bribes, lied to FBI agents, systematically perjured himself, coached targets and staged taped conversations for the FBI's benefit.

—Weinberg's ABSCAM conversations were supposed to be taped and monitored. Yet he made countless approaches and contacts that he didn't want the FBI to know about. He made sure these phone conversations were not recorded or preserved. By one estimate, as many as 1,000 conversations were not recorded by the FBI's free-wheeling con man. Furthermore, he deliberately created gaps in conversations that he did record.

—Weinberg solicited and received valuable gifts from ABSCAM victims, including gold watches, television sets, electronic equipment, a microwave oven and a video recorder. Then he not only lied to the FBI about his skim-scams but perjured himself in court.

—Weinberg distributed valuables—some as gifts, some as bargains—to agents and prosecutors who were supervising him. They, in turn, let him off the hook when he was accused of fleeing ABSCAM victims.

—Justice Department and FBI officials swore to the Senate committee that ABSCAM was the most closely supervised and monitored investigation in the FBI's history. Yet the evidence is abundant that the officials didn't know what was going on and then tried to cover up the abuses when they found out about them. The cover up is still continuing.

—Chief prosecutor Thomas Puccio and FBI agents Anthony Amoroso and John Good withheld information and submitted false reports to their superiors in Washington. They failed to investigate charges of wrongdoing against Weinberg and were less than candid in their testimony both in court and before Congress.

—The select committee also found that Puccio "was able to hinder the efforts of other prosecutors" involved in the ABSCAM prosecution.

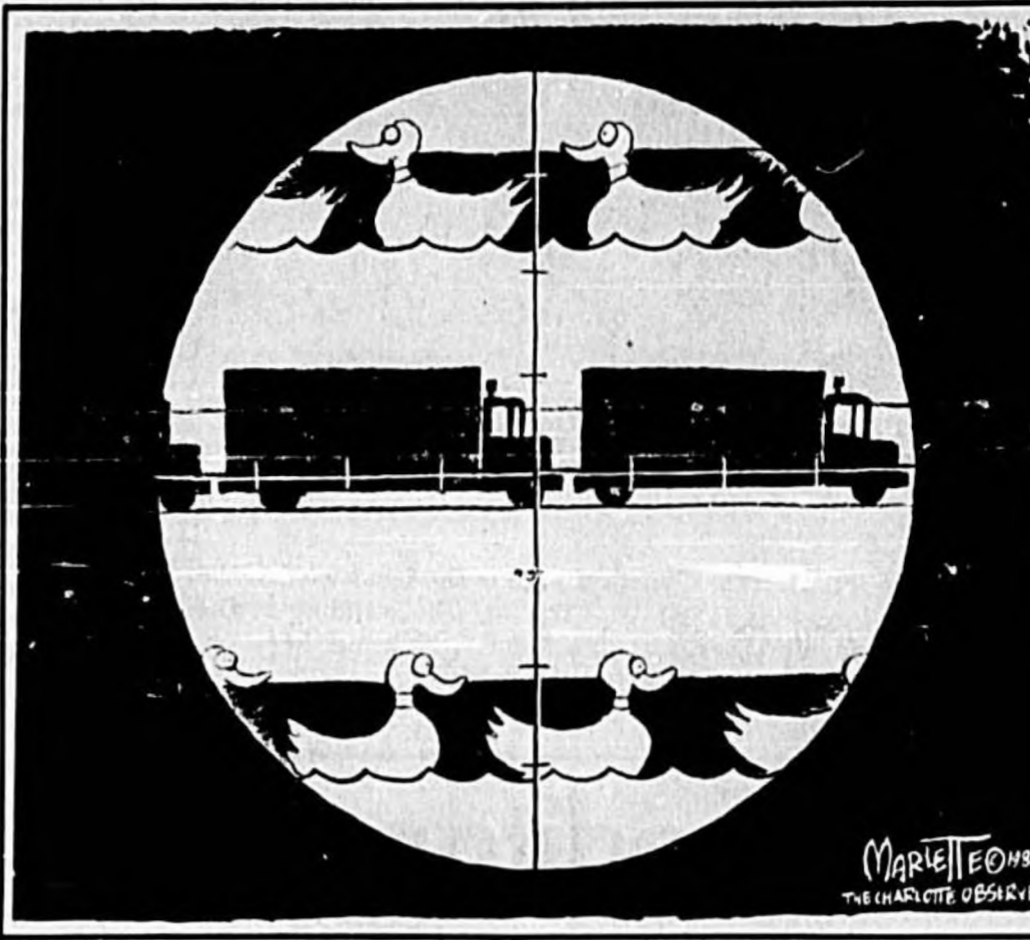

—The committee characterized various explanations of Puccio, Amoroso and Good as "wholly unpersuasive." And FBI spokesman Buck Ravelle's testimony was called "far from accurate."

These findings completely confirm my own investigation of the ABSCAM abuses. My associate Indy Badwar spent several months digging out the details. He taped hours of conversations with Mel Weinberg's tragic wife, Marie, who had watched the ABSCAM sting operation from the inside.

She described skulduggeries that Badwar checked out and the Senate committee has now confirmed. For telling the truth, she was hounded by her husband and the FBI until she took her own life.

Why did the senators later issue statements that ignored their own evidence? They tend to be a duplicitous but rather timid lot. That is to say, they are ambivalent toward objective truth, but cautious in their deliberations.

Most senators did not want to appear to be defending the ABSCAM culprits, who were caught on camera accepting briefcases stuffed with $100 bills. So the nervous senators focused not on the government misconduct that they were mandated to investigate, but on the guilt or innocence of the defendants.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

Whoops To You, Madame

NEW YORK (NEA)—My attention has been called to a reference to me, by somebody named Joan Hanauer, that provides grist for an instructive discussion.

I hadn't heard of Ms. Hanauer previously, but apparently she does a little column for UPI called "About People," consisting of short paragraphs based on press releases, tips from press agents and the like. The sample I saw contained, for instance, a breathless report that Hallmark Greeting Cards had donated a collection of presidential Christmas cards to the Smithsonian. Another item quoted one Shelley Duvall and her theory of the significance of fairy tales, as set forth "in the issue of Glamour Magazine that comes out Tuesday." You get the idea.

Apparently some faceless flack for CBS's Channel 2 in New York City managed to persuade Ms. Hanauer that there was occasion for hollow laughter, of the sort liberals like to enjoy at conservatives' expense, in a remark of mine on a local WCBS-TV program. The show, Ms. Hanauer gently omitted to add, was called "Daybreak," and was to be broadcast at that macabre time of day; but in fact it had been taped several days earlier at a far more civilized hour.

Ms. Hanauer's (inaccurate) version of the remark of mine that gave her such a belly laugh was as follows:

"WHOOPS! In the heat of political battle, some odd statements are made. Consider William A. Rusher, publisher of the National Review and an advocate of Republican economics. He was debating Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., a foe of Reaganomics, on a WCBS-TV New York show to air Monday. In sincere indignation, Rusher said: 'We have more people employed in this country than ever before. Sure unemployment is up, but more people are looking for work than ever before!'"

Haw, haw. Whoops! Get it?

Don't worry if you don't. Before wasting any ink on textual exposition, however, let's disentangle what I really said from what WCBS-TV's anonymous tub-thumper told the gullible Ms. Hanauer I said. Rep. Rangel had worked himself up to the point of declaring that, under President Reagan, business had come to a halt. I promptly moved to contradict that false assertion:

"The congressman talks about business having come to a dead halt and so on. It isn't in his interest to point out that we actually have, I believe, more people employed in this country than ever before. It is true that 'unemployment' is up. What is happening is that more people are looking for work. But, far from business having come to a dead halt, we have more people employed in America than have ever been employed before."

Precisely why that paragraph should be so side-splittingly hilarious is unclear. So far as concerned unemployment, my point was that there is not, as so many people imagine, an inelastic work force in this country. With two sub-categories called the "employed" and the "unemployed" that fluctuate in strict reciprocity. It is quite possible for both employment and unemployment to rise at the same time (as they have been doing) or even to fall at the same time. This is because employment is a quantifiable fact, whereas unemployment begins with a state of mind.

Nobody, incidentally, is more acutely aware of this than the liberals—when it suits them. Recently, for example, they have been souping up the official unemployment figures by alleging that, on top of these, there are another couple of million people who "are so discouraged that they have given up looking for work." Insofar as these supposedly desperate wretches actually exist, however, they consist largely of housewives who don't mind taking a job, full-time or part-time, in years when jobs are plentiful and pay well, but who understandably choose not to pound the pavement or work for a pittance when the going gets rougher.

One reason why the official unemployment figure is so high, as I told Rep. Rangel, is that in counting the potential work force today, the government includes a large number of people who, as a result of social changes, (such as the expanding activities of women) are in the job market for the first time. But it is also—and strikingly—true that employment is higher than ever before. Understand now, Ms. Hanauer?

What Force, Peace?

The thing to remember about "peacekeeping forces," as these have evolved in the post-World War II decades, is that they are misnamed. They do not possess the force to keep a peace that is in any way seriously threatened.

They are symbolic, evidence that the world, or at least some meaningful portion of it, has taken cognizance of a crisis situation and assumed some degree of collective responsibility for preventing the development or continuation of hostilities.

They depend for their effectiveness on the willingness of the actual, or potentially, hostile parties to accept them and respect their function. They are a way of saving face for both parties, permitting them to disengage without either appearing to back down.

The variously constituted international contingents interposed between Egyptians and Israelis in the Sinai, for examples.

If they aren't mutually accepted and respected, their presence not only does nothing for peace but can be an added irritant. Example, the U.N. units in southern Lebanon which the Israelis regarded, with considerable justification, as having been co-opted for PLO purposes and rolled over with undisguised contempt.

And if by some chance the would-be peacekeepers do possess adequate force to keep things quiet — and use it — they are in effect something else again. Final example, the Syrians who moved into Lebanon in 1976 initially to halt a three-sided civil war and have stayed on as an army of partial occupation.

The point of all this, of course, is the Beirut confrontation between Israeli tanks and a pistol-wielding U.S. Marine. The incident is being downplayed, at least officially, in Washington and Jerusalem. But it should be read as a clear signal of much greater unpleasantness that could lie ahead.

The Marines, and their French and Italian associates, were not sent into Beirut as a full-fledged peacekeeping force, let alone a fighting one. The three-nation representation was introduced initially for a limited time and strictly defined purpose — simply as a symbolic presence during the withdrawal of the PLO's combat forces.

That purpose suited everyone's interests at the time and once it had been accomplished, the token Western troops were withdrawn on schedule. They were reintroduced, after the slaughter in the Palestinian refugee camps, under very different circumstances. They are not there with the agreement of all the hostile parties in Lebanon, their purpose is not defined and the duration of their stay is indefinite.

It is a situation with a disastrous potential for incidents, and not only in Beirut.

In Jerusalem and Washington, Israeli and U.S. interests in the Mideast have been seen as essentially compatible.

With American and Israeli troops facing each other and a clear divergence developing between at least short-term national interests in Lebanon, that choice may no longer exist. The alliance could be under its most severe strain yet.

Washington is faced with a further problem. The Marines landed in Lebanon under terms of the 1973 War Powers Resolution under which congressional approval is required for deployment of U.S. forces overseas for more than 90 days where "imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances."

Pernfors Attains No. 1 On The JUCO Circuit

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

It's hard to imagine a top notch tennis player coming out of Sweden. After all, youngsters go to school from eight in the morning until four in the afternoon and the schools, being strict academically, have no athletic programs. Making it harder on tennis players is the fact that from the months of August until May, it's so cold you can only practice two hours a week if you're lucky.

And then, there's the army. All young men must serve at least one year in the Swedish army.

Still, there have been great tennis players out of Sweden in the past. Of course, the great Bjorn Borg is the best known, and one young player from Malmo, Sweden is making quite an impression in the national Junior College ranks here in the United States.

That player is 19-year-old Mike Pernfors, Seminole Community College's outstanding sophomore. Last year, Pernfors helped the Raiders to the National Junior College Championship and now he is considered the best junior college player in the nation.

"I never dreamed he would get as good as he did," SCC coach Larry Castle said. "He won nationals at number two singles last year and this year he is even better."

A couple of weeks ago Pernfors added to his list of accomplishments by winning the Sunshine State Tennis Classic over Florida's No. 1 ranking junior player, Orlando's Bobby Blair. "He's won seven tournaments this year, every one he's played in except two. There's no doubt he's the best player in Florida and that includes the No. 1 players for Florida, Miami and Florida State."

It took a lot of hard work and patience for Pernfors to merit playing in the U.S. "You can't play every day in Sweden," Pernfors said. "Two hours a week was a lot between August and May and the schools didn't have athletics so we had to join clubs to be able to play. I love playing here (SCC), you can play every day because the weather is perfect."

This season, Pernfors was joined at

J.C. Tennis

SCC by his doubles partner from Sweden, Tobias Svantesson. "We've known each other since we were seven-years-old," Pernfors said. "We played in the same club the last three years and we play together in the tournaments around the state."

The Pernfors-Svantesson doubles combination has won all but one doubles championship they have entered.

With Pernfors at No. 1 singles for SCC, plus the return of All-Americans Ake Svensson and Greg Miller, the steady play of Dan Merritt and the addition of four newcomers, SCC has its eyes on a second straight national title.

"My goal this year is to help the team win nationals and to win the No. 1 singles at nationals," Pernfors said.

By this time next year, Pernfors will be a member of the Georgia Bulldogs tennis team. He was granted a full athletic scholarship so he will be playing his last two years of college tennis for one of the nation's best. Georgia consistently ranks in the top five in the nation.

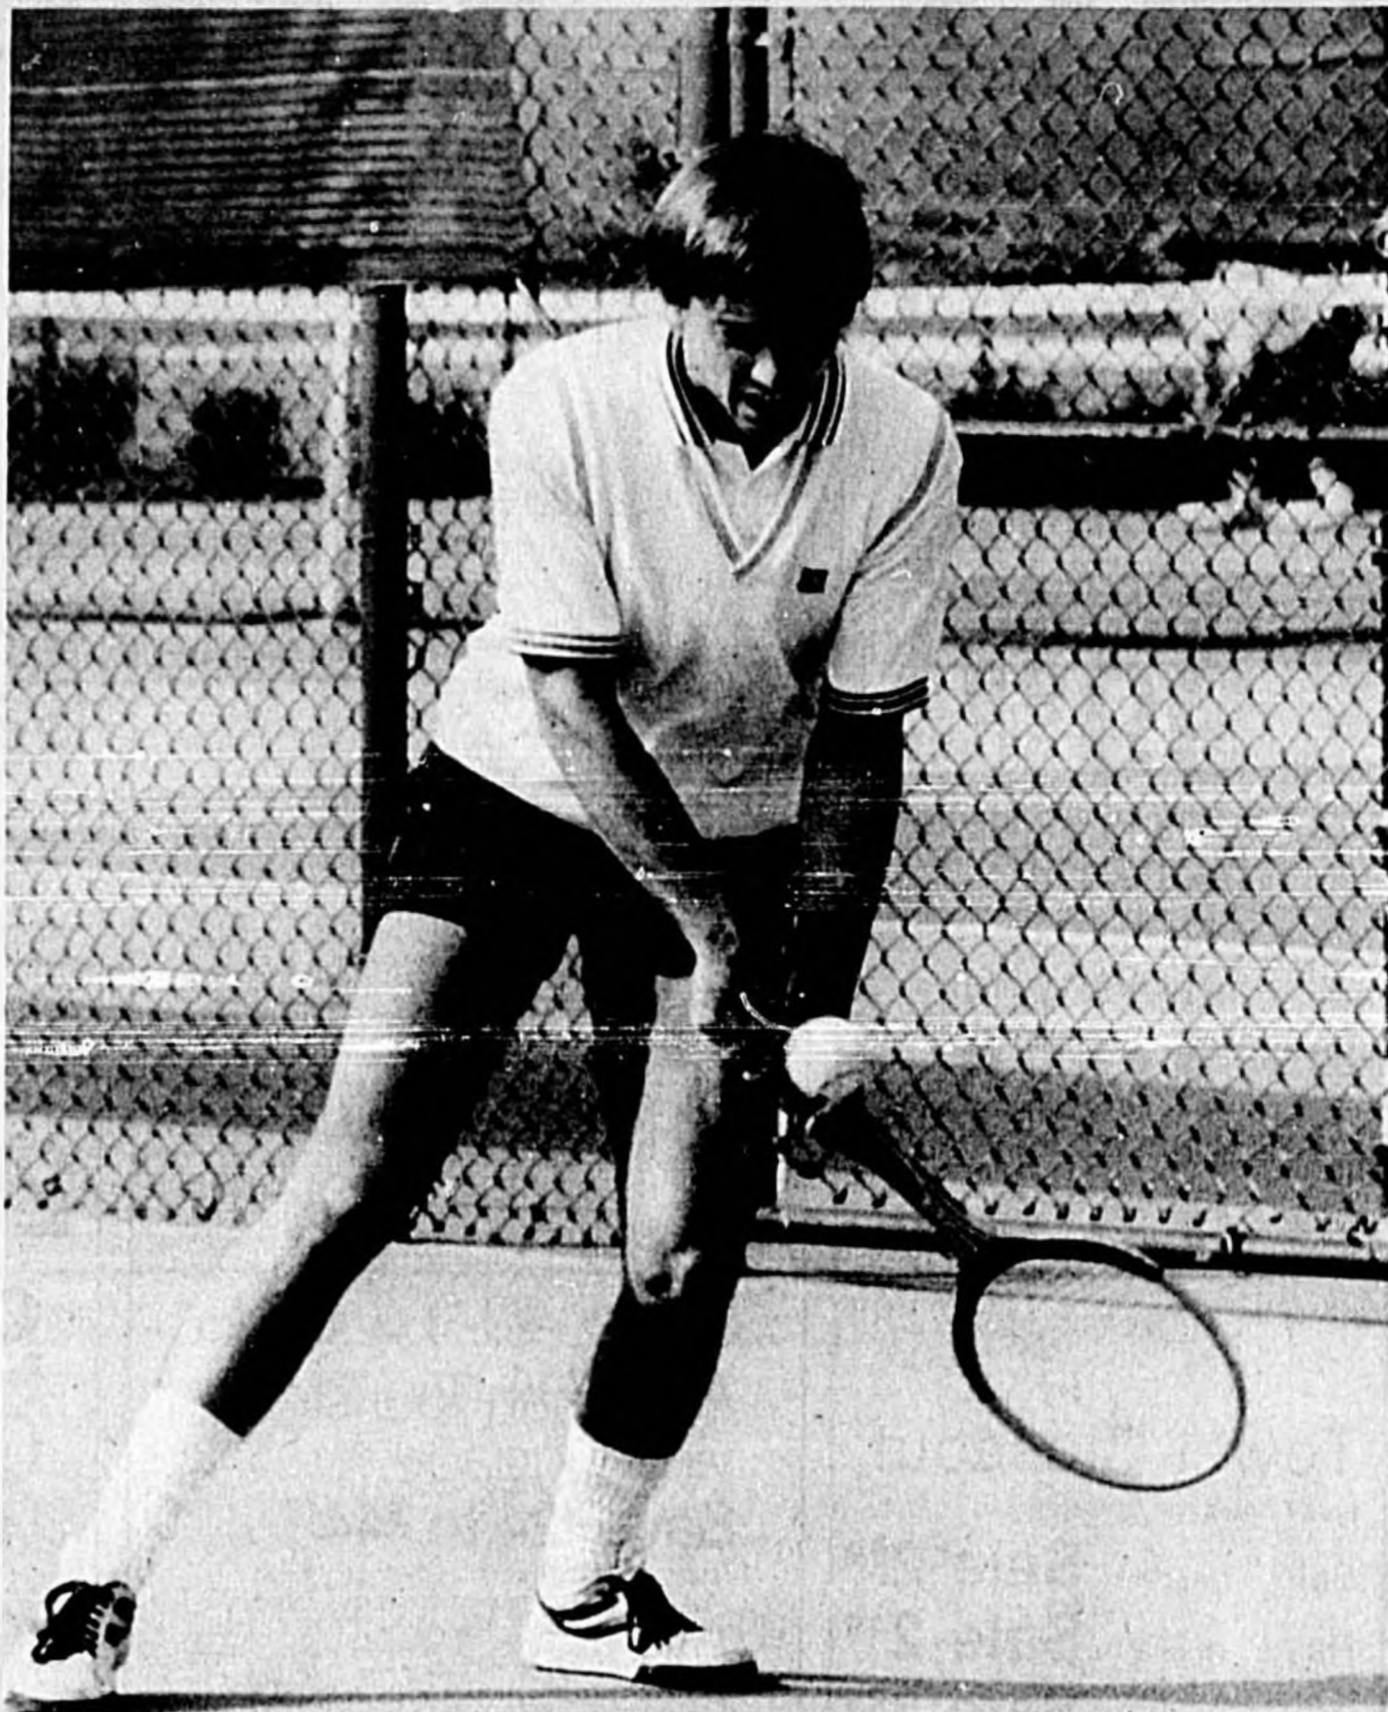

"It's going to take a heck of a player to beat Mike in nationals this year," Castle said. "He could make it into the top 50 players in the world over the next two years."

Not only does Pernfors excel on the tennis courts, he is also a top student at SCC with grade point average of 2.8 on a 3.0 scale. Last year, Pernfors was selected to Who's Who in American Junior Colleges for his academic excellence.

"He's the most coachable player I've ever been associated with in my 20 years of coaching," Castle said. "He sets a good example for the other players too."

But, what about the army? Pernfors said, a Swede's stint in the army can be postponed if he has a good reason. "They will keep asking me until I'm 28-years-old," Pernfors said. "I'll probably go in before then."

If the game of tennis will let him do it, that is.

6:30 p.m. District Tournament at Seminole High

Coach Skip Pfetzer's Lyman Greyhounds attempt to defend their district championship tonight. The 'Hounds took the Five Star title earlier this year and with the same teams competing, minus JA Seebreeze, seem a good pick to win it all.

The Greyhounds are led by super 189 pounder Dirk Smith who has captured two championships already — the Lyman Christmas Tournament and the conference. Smith is 700.

Smith is joined by Mike Hill (224), Robert "Tootle" Quesinberry (159), Joey Lockwood (129), Shane Harwell (171), Pat Bell (109) and Jewan Lee (115) to make up the potent Lyman lineup.

Lake Howell, Lake Brantley and Seminole should make a run at the 'Hounds.

The Silver Hawks have a tough lineup with Scott Hutchins (122), Paul Knoblauch (149), Dan Rae (224) and Jeff Bryant (111) who give Lake Mary's Robert Rawls all he could handle before losing, 3-4, last Friday. Hutchins and Bryant are Five Star champs.

Lake Brantley has one of the top grapplers in Central Florida in conference champion Billy Brucato (149). Jamie Ottenberger (116) and Scott Roth (109) are two more tough Patriots.

Seminole, meanwhile, is looking to surprise a few people. The Tribe has won four of its last five matches. Senior Vince Clark (142) who won the conference, continues to lead the way. He is joined by Ronnie Watson (109), Kevin Tapscott (133), Tony Brown (109) and Gary Gottsman (171) as quality performers for Scott Sherman's squad.

DeLand, Spruce Creek, Maitland and Apopka are the other competing schools. The regional is Feb. 18 at Jacksonville Orange Park while the state meet returns to Lyman after a year's absence (Feb. 25).

The second round, wrestle backs, consolation and finals begin Saturday morning at 10 for this weekend's district.

Regional Tournament at Lake Mary

Coach Randy Jessee's Bishop Moore Hornets will again be the team to beat after their convincing win in the district last week at St. Cloud. Osceola will also be a contender along with defending champion Suwannee, Ocala Forest and Crystal River.

Lake Mary, hosting the tournament for the second year, is led by three district champions. Jack Likens (109) has not lost in his weight class all year and has three championship belts — Lyman Christmas, Sebring and district. Robert Rawls (UNL) has lost just once — Colonial's Tom Blanchard — and has two titles. Bob Olson (142) has lost just twice.

The Rams have good depth with Ned Kotter (159), Ivan Green (124), Ivan Carbia (102), Willie Green (171) and Scott Farmer (129).

Regional action continues all day Saturday.

Basketball

8 p.m. Seminole at Lake Brantley

An important game for Seminole High as the Tribe is trying to hold on to second place in the Five Star Conference. Coach Chris Marlette's squad took over sole possession of second place after Willie Mitchell's shot at the buzzer carried the Seminoles over Spruce Creek.

Seminole, 17-9 overall and 10-3 in the Five Star, goes with Vernon Law, Calvin "Kiki" Bryant, William Wynn, Mitchell and Jimmy Gilchrist in the starting lineup with bench strength coming from Bruce Alexander, Stephen Grey and Steve Franklin.

Lake Brantley, 5-16 overall and 3-10 in the conference, is led by 4 center Paul Hoffman who averages over 20 points per game. Mike Garriques, Dennis Graeclose, Eric Trombo and Rick Zullo bolster the Patriots' lineup.

8 p.m. Lyman at DeLand
The Greyhounds could play giant killer for the second time. Lyman upset Seminole two weeks ago and the 'Hounds will go after conference leading DeLand tonight.

DeLand, 17-7 overall and 11-2 in the Five Star, is led by Chase Brown and Derek Watson. Lyman's top scorers are Alexis Cleveland, Rod Hillman and Greg and James Pilot.

7 p.m. Lake Mary girls at Apopka
The last regular season game for the Lady Rams who stand 17-5 for the year. One of those losses was to Apopka at Lake Mary. The Rams are looking to redeem themselves tonight.

Laura and Peggy Glass are Lake Mary's top two scorers and rebounders.

Soccer

4 p.m. Seminole at New Smyrna Beach
The last regular season game for coach Howard Hawkins' Seminoles. The Tribe has won two straight games and three of its last four including victories over Daytona Beach Mainland, Trinity Prep and Lake Howell.

Seminole, 6-10, is led by top scorer Ricky Nooney, Scott Meck, Paul Griffin and Juan Falcon. Districts start next Tuesday and run through Friday.

7 p.m. Lake Mary at Lake Brantley
Coach Larry McCorkle's Rams enter their last regular season game with a 9-9 record and hope to come away with a win going into next week's district tourney. Leading the way for the Rams are Andre Sanders and Mark Volchko.

Baseball

5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Lyman Invitational at Longwood

Afternoon showers washed away the first round of the First Lyman Baseball Invitational Tournament Thursday. Lyman coach Bob McCullough said the format will be switched from double-elimination to round robin in order to complete the tournament in two days.

Lake Brantley takes on Titusville at 5 p.m. while Greyhounds play Leesburg at 8 p.m. Games Saturday will pit Lake Brantley-Leesburg (11 a.m.), Lyman-Titusville (2 p.m.), Leesburg-Titusville (5 p.m.) and Lyman-Lake Brantley (8 p.m.)

1 p.m. Seminole Community College at Indian River

The Raiders, 1-2, go up against Indian River in a doubleheader at Fort Pierce. SCC's only victory was a 10 shutout over Manatee in which Alan Sover hurled a three hitter. Top hitters for the Raiders include Mike Sims, Bryan Holzworth and Bobby Thigpen.

SATURDAY

1 p.m. Alumni vs. Seminole
Coach Bobby Lundquist gets a sneak preview of his 1983 squad when the Alumni return to play the Seminole Saturday at 1 p.m. at Sanford Memorial Stadium.
Montreal Expo outfielder Tim Raines, as well as all the former Tribe standouts, are expected to play.

Oh Girl!

Jones' Lone Basket Lifts Lady Seminoles Past Patriots, 50-48

Seminole's Arlene Jones scored just one field goal Thursday night against Lake Brantley. But, Oh girl, was it a big one.

Jones tossed in a missed shot by Maxine Campbell with five seconds to play to give the Lady Seminoles an exciting 50-48 victory over the Patriots in the Five Star Conference final at Seminole High.

"It was quite a way to end the regular season," said Seminole coach Ron Merthie. The Tribe, 16-8, now gets ready for the district tournament next week at Daytona Beach Mainland.

Jones, a 5-7 junior, had her winning effort set up by guards Mona Benton and Campbell. The quick juniors double-teamed a Patriot guard causing a turnover. Benton slapped the ball away and Campbell headed for the other end.

Her shot misfired but Jones was there to put it back in and was fouled on the play. She missed the subsequent free

The game started slowly with the Patriots holding the ball, trying to draw Seminole from its zone defense. "They wanted us to play man (defense), so we came out and played it," said Merthie.

The Tribe used five points by Benton, along with four each by Campbell and Tammy Pringle to seize a 15-8 first-quarter edge. Seminole outscored the Patriots, 13-12, in the second eight minutes to forge a 28-20 halftime bulge. Lake Brantley, which clipped the 'Noles in an earlier meeting, however, bounced back behind senior Rhonda Vazquez and sophomore Michelle Brown. Vazquez and Brown spearhead 18-12 third-period surge which brought the Patriots within 40-38 after three quarters.

Lake Brantley pulled within two on a dramatic 45-foot shot at the buzzer from just inside halfcourt from Brown.

The Patriots went ahead midway through the fourth quarter, but Seminole retaliated on some excellent inside play from 6-1 Dieder Hillery and the outside snipping of Benton to pull even with 3:00 to go.

"I think we underestimated Brantley again," said Merthie. "We were still tired from Wednesday's win (over Lake Mary) and weren't mentally into tonight's game."

Benton led the 'Noles with 15 points while Campbell added 12 as did Hillery. Hillery and Genese Stallworth each had 10 rebounds while Campbell had eight and five assists.

Vazquez had 18 points for Brantley and Brown had 10.

Big Mat Tournaments At Lake Mary, Sanford

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Some of the best wrestling action in the state will be on display today and tonight—and you don't have to travel past Lake Mary or Sanford to see it.

For the second straight year, Lake Mary will be the site of the Region 3A-2 Wrestling Tournament which should be a three-way showdown among defending champion Suwannee, Bishop Moore and Ocala Forest.

"The region at Lake Mary was the best-run tournament we competed in last year," said Bishop Moore coach Randy Jessee. The Hornets won the district last week at St. Cloud and with two region third-place finishers — Dennis McKechnie (130) and Shawn Smith (136)—returning, Jessee's crew is again the favorite.

Bishop Moore received some bad news this week, however, when talented James Syvertson (108) caught the chicken pox and won't be able to wrestle. Syvertson has three narrow losses this year to undefeated Lake Mary kingpin Jack Likens. Sanford's Kevin Huaman (118) is 8-1 at his weight class for the Hornets this year.

Suwannee, which edged Bishop Moore by 5½ points last year in the region, returns state champion Larry Hart (149) who is 20-1 this year.

At Sanford, coach Scott Sherman and his Seminoles will host the District 4A-9 Tournament for the first time. First Round wrestling action begins at 6:30 p.m.

Prep Wrestling

"I guess Lyman would have to be the favorite," said Sherman Thursday. "They won the conference and its about the same teams (Seabreeze is missing). Lake Howell should give them a battle, though, and we should be a close third."

First round action began at 1 p.m. The second round gets underway at 7 p.m.

Here's the projected first seeds as seen by Sherman:

- 103—Spruce Creek's Jeff Stierler (conference champion)
- 114—Lake Brantley's Scott Roth (conference champion)
- 116—Lake Brantley's Jamie Ottenberger (conference champion)
- 123—Lake Howell's Roger Hutchins (conference champion)
- 130—Seminole's Tony Brown
- 136—Spruce Creek's Ted Bliski (conference champion)
- 142—Seminole's Vince Clark (conference champion)
- 149—Lake Brantley's Billy Brucato (conference champion)
- 157—Lyman's Robert Quesinberry (conference champion)
- 171—Lyman's Shane Harwell
- 181—Lyman's Dirk Smith (conference champion)
- 214—Lake Howell's Dan Rae (conference champion)
- UNL—Lake Howell's Jeff Bryant (conference champion)

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Erving Takes Control, Turns Out Lights On Bulls, 116-110

United Press International
As only he can, Julius Erving took control of the game and it was lights out for the Chicago Bulls. With Erving admittedly "really tired" from the previous night's victory over Atlanta, he had 10 points Thursday night as the Philadelphia 76ers clung to a slim 53-52 halftime lead over the Bulls at Chicago. But in the second half he came up with a burst of energy to score 24 points and lead the 76ers to a 116-110 victory. Going into the break before Sunday's All-Star Game, Philadelphia has the best record in the NBA at 43-7. "I started out a little sluggish and was slow, but I got it together in the second half and just concentrated more," Erving said. His coach, Billy Cunningham, added: "In the second half, the doctor lifted us and he showed us why he is the player he is."
Before Erving's surge, Maurice Cheeks kept the 76ers in the game in the first half by scoring 15 of his 17 points. He had 11 in the first quarter as the 76ers shot 68 percent to take a 30-22 lead. In the third quarter, Philadelphia shot 17-for-22 from the field, with Erving getting 12 points and Moses Malone adding 10, to expand the lead to 89-77.
The Bulls sliced the margin to 101-93 with 6:09 left, when Orlando Woolridge scored, but that was the closest the Bulls came until Rod Higgins hit a three-point field goal with seven seconds left for the game's final points.
Keggie Theus led Chicago with 30 points while Woolridge added 25. Malone had 26 points, 17 coming in the second half.
In other games, Cleveland downed Indiana, 99-95, Milwaukee topped Portland, 102-92, Washington defeated Houston, 104-100, San Antonio ripped Golden State, 128-109, Seattle beat Utah, 105-99, and San Diego edged Phoenix, 101-100.

Lyman, Lake Mary Ousted

It was a short district tournament for local girls soccer teams Thursday at Lake Mary High School. Vero Beach St. Edwards upset heavily favored Lyman, 2-1, while Vero Beach High blanked Lake Mary, 6-0, in the first district soccer tournament at Lake Mary.
The two Vero Beach schools meet Saturday for the title at 8 p.m.
Anybody want to change the playing site?

Islanders Drill Capitals

United Press International
Washington coach Bryan Murray hopes the next time the New York Islanders have something to say, they write a letter.
"The Islanders delivered us a message and that message is, we still have a way to go to catch up to them," Murray said Thursday night, after watching his Capitals get drilled, 8-3, by the three-time Stanley Cup champions.
Mike Bossy scored three goals to raise his season total to 37 and goaltender Hollie Melanson cruised to his fourth straight triumph.
In other games, Boston routed Pittsburgh, 7-3, Philadelphia ripped St. Louis, 5-2, Montreal edged Winnipeg, 5-3, Minnesota beat the New York Rangers, 7-5, Calgary knotted Quebec, 3-3, and Los Angeles whipped Buffalo, 7-2.

Walton Grateful For Snub

United Press International
HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — Looking back, Joe Walton is grateful he wasn't hired to coach the Atlanta Falcons or Kansas City Chiefs.
Little did Walton know when he interviewed for those vacant NFL head coaching positions the New York Jets job would soon be open. Walton, the Jets' offensive coordinator the past two seasons, was named head coach by the Jets Thursday — just one day after Walt Michaels resigned unexpectedly.
"I was disappointed that I didn't get the Kansas City and Atlanta jobs," said the 47-year-old Walton. "Now, I'm kind of glad it didn't happen."

Stieb Joins Toronto Fold

TORONTO (UPI) — The Toronto Blue Jays finally convinced Dave Stieb to stick with the club which for years had drawn his scorn — and all it took was a couple of sharp trades and a few million dollars.
Stieb, the ace of the Blue Jays' developing pitching staff, signed a six-year, multimillion-dollar pact with the Blue Jays, the club announced Thursday.
"I was ready to make a commitment and felt this was the best time in my career to do it," the 25-year-old righthander said from his home in Morgan Hill, Calif. "I'm looking forward to the competition in 1983. I think we will be a contender and that also is why I decided to commit to the Blue Jays."

Three Tied For Hawaiian

HONOLULU (UPI) — With most of the PGA Tour's glamor names missing, the $325,000 Hawaiian Open has turned into a wide-open affair with three non-winners — Japan's Isao Aoki, Vance Heafner and Dan Pohl — leading a tightly packed field going into today's second round.
The trio posted 6-under-par 66s Thursday for a one-stroke lead over the quartet of defending champion Wayne Levi, making his 1983 debut, Pat Lindsey, Leonard Thompson and Hawaii-born David Lahli.
Of the top 30 players after the first round, only three others besides Levi have won Tour events. They are Ben Crenshaw, Ed Fiori and Scott Simpson, all of whom had 68s.

Washam Takes 3-Shot Lead

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Veteran Jo Ann Washam started the day with a three-shot lead in the first round of the $175,000 Sarasota Classic, but what her position would be when the second round began later in the day was in question.
Washam fired an opening-round, 5-under-par 67 Friday in the rain-delayed game.

Tarheels Steal It

Jordan's Theft, Dunk Bewilders Cavaliers

United Press International
Virginia seemed well on its way to knocking off North Carolina until Michael Jordan forced a bitter pill down the Cavaliers' throats.

In the battle of the nation's top two ranked teams, No. 1 North Carolina used a furious rally to come back from a 16-point second-half deficit and nip the Cavaliers, 64-63, Thursday night at Chapel Hill, N.C.

"That was a good confidence-builder for us," said Jordan, who climaxed the Tar Heels' late surge by scoring two baskets in the final minute. He tipped in an offensive rebound to make it 63-62 and 10 seconds later he stripped Rick Carlisle of the ball and dunked in the winning points.

Virginia Coach Terry Holland called it "a very disappointing loss for our kids. Let's give North Carolina the credit for playing like the No. 1 team in the nation."

Simpson, Cannon, Butkus Join College Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (UPI) — O.J. Simpson and Billy Cannon, former Heisman Trophy winners, have been elected to the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame.

The two running backs were among 11 players named Thursday to the Kings Island, Ohio, shrine. Others elected were Illinois center-linebacker Dick Butkus, Notre Dame guard Bill "Moose" Fischer, Alabama center-linebacker Lee Roy Jordan, Texas A&M tackle Charles Krueger, Syracuse halfback Floyd Little, Texas guard Lewis "Bud" McFadin, Harvard halfback George Owen Jr., Maryland quarterback Jack Scarbath and UCLA guard Al Sparlis.

The electees will be formally inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame on Dec. 6, 1983, at the Foundation's annual dinner in New York.

Simpson, who starred at the University of Southern California in 1967-68, finished second in the Heisman voting in his junior year and won the Heisman and Maxwell Trophies in his senior year. He later starred with the Buffalo Bills in the National Football League and currently is an actor and commentator in the television and motion picture industry.

College Basketball

The narrow win was North Carolina's 18th straight, giving the Tar Heels a 21-3 overall record and making them the only undefeated team in the Atlantic Coast Conference with an 8-0 mark. Virginia dropped to 19-3 on the season and 7-2 in the league.

Jordan paced the Tar Heels with 16 points, Jim Braddock finished with 14, Malt Doherty had 11 and Sam Perkins added 10. Virginia's Ralph Sampson was limited to 15 points.

In other games, No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas routed Pacific, 79-62, fourth-ranked Indiana topped No. 15 Minnesota, 63-59, fifth-rated UCLA downed Oregon, 67-56, Creighton upset No. 16 Illinois State, 53-41, and Iowa topped No. 18 Purdue, 55-46.
At Stockton, Calif., Sidney Green shot 13-for-23 from the field for a career-high 34 points as Nevada-Las Vegas remained the nation's only unbeaten team at 21-0.

At Minneapolis, Ted Kitchel scored 26 points, including eight in the last six minutes, to help Indiana come back and take a two-game lead atop the Big Ten. Indiana improved to 8-2 in the conference, 18-2 overall.

At Eugene, Ore., Kenny Fields scored 15 points as UCLA came on strong late in the game to run its Pacific-10 record to 9-0 and 17-2 overall.

At Omaha, Neb., Benoit Benjamin and Gregory Brandon each scored 14 points to pace Creighton, to its surprise in a Missouri Valley Conference game.

At Iowa City, Iowa, Greg Stokes scored 18 points and Bobby Hansen 14 as Iowa gained revenge for a loss to Purdue last Saturday. The Bollermakers were led by center Russell Cross with 13 points.

College Football

University from 1967-69, was a two-time All-America. He also won both the Heisman and Maxwell Trophies in his senior season, then went to a successful pro football career as a tight end with the Oakland Raiders. He is now a dentist in Baton Rouge, La.

Butkus played center and linebacker for Illinois from 1962-64 and set all-time Illinois single game, single season and career tackle records. A two-time All-America, he had an outstanding pro football career with the Chicago Bears and is a member of the NFL's Hall of Fame. He currently is an actor-commentator for Nautilus Sports Medical Industries.

Fischer played for Notre Dame from 1945-48 and won All-America honors during his final two seasons. He also won the Outland Trophy as the nation's best interior lineman in 1948. As a pro, he spent five seasons with the Chicago Cardinals and now owns an automobile agency in Ishpeming, Mich.

Jordan played for the late Paul "Bear" Bryant at Alabama from 1960-62 and made All-America his senior year. Jordan also enjoyed all-pro success as a linebacker with the Dallas Cowboys and is now a businessman in Dallas.

Krueger played at Texas A&M from 1955-57 and captained the Aggies in his senior year. He played 16 seasons of pro football with the San Francisco 49ers. He currently owns a retail store in Clayton, Calif.

Little was one of the nation's most exciting runners during his three seasons (1964-66) at Syracuse. He was named to the All-America team in his senior year and went on to a standout pro career with the Denver Broncos. He now owns an automobile dealership in Santa Barbara, Calif.

McFadin played at Texas from 1948-50 and is regarded as one of the Longhorns' all-time great linemen. Named to the All-America team in his senior season, McFadin also named the Most Valuable Player in the College All-Star Game in 1951. He played pro football for the Los Angeles Rams, Houston Oilers and Denver Broncos and is a rancher in Del Rio, Texas.

Owen was a three-sport star at Harvard from 1920-22. A 60-minute player in the old-fashioned tradition, Owen was outstanding on both offense and defense. He also captained the baseball and hockey teams. Owen is now retired after many years as an investment broker.

MARVIN HAGLER...has won last 30 fights

Hagler Puts Title On Line Tonight

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Marvin Hagler feels he is the best boxer active in the world and tonight he'll try to make a believer out of Tony Sibson.

Hagler, who has won his last 30 fights, puts his world middleweight title on the line for the sixth time when he takes on Sibson, the No. 1 contender from England. The fight, scheduled for 15 rounds before a sellout crowd of 13,577 at the new Centrum Arena, will be televised on cable by Home Box Office (HBO) starting at about 10:30 p.m. EST.

Hagler now is the only champion recognized by both the World Boxing Council and the World Boxing Association. As champion of both groups, Hagler also must make mandatory defenses against the No. 1 ranked contenders from each organization. Sibson is ranked No. 1 by the WBC.

"Tony Sibson hasn't had a shot yet, so I'm giving him his chance. After that, it'll be Frank 'the Animal' Fletcher and after I take care of him, I'll just keep taking out whoever they put in front of me."

"I honestly feel I am the best fighter in the world. Look at my record. I haven't lost a fight in six years. I lost twice in my entire career and I knocked out both guys in rematches. Nobody's ever gone the distance with me in a title fight."

Sibson, a 24-year-old native of Leicester, England, is 47-3-1 with 27 knockouts. He earned the No. 1 ranking with a knockout of former champion Alan Minter.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL For Saturday, February 12, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY February 12, 1983 Important new interests will take you off in fresh directions this coming year. You could be extremely lucky in situations which advance your personal ambitions.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should have chances at this time to disengage from an unproductive situation...
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Joint ventures hold possibilities for you in this cycle. Listen carefully to any proposition where you could play a participating role.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something you've been negotiating could be close to an agreement today because fresh terms will be more acceptable to everyone involved.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The odds are better than average at this time that you'll stick to a diet or exercise program if you inaugurate it now. Don't delay any longer.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If there is an important matter you've been wanting to take more of a direct hand in managing, this is the day to grab the tiller.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You may want to effect some changes today which you feel will be of benefit to you and your family. Even if they aren't quite ready, get them rolling.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Concentrate now on what you hope to accomplish over the next few weeks, then begin to make concise plans to take you to your objective step by step.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be alert for signals today which could open new financial opportunities for you. Your luck will be improving in this area. Breaks could develop fast.

Bad Foot Mechanics Causes Heel Spurs

DEAR DR. LAMB—After reading your column about heel spurs I wanted to tell you my experience. Years ago I developed heel spurs on both feet. It was extremely painful to walk. I tried all sorts of bandages and pads.

My doctor sent me to a shoe store and had them cut a plug of leather out of the heel just under where the spurs were. They filled the hole with sponge rubber and reglued the inner sole. I've used that method since and have never had any problems.

You suggested pads on the inner surface of the foot to tilt the foot or to tape the heel. Wouldn't that unbalance the leg and affect the knee and hip?

DEAR READER—Thank you for sharing your experience. Removing pressure directly under a spur does help in some cases. A heel pad with a hole in it also helps relieve pressure.

But often the pain is not because of a heel spur at all but because of the inflammation and tenderness of muscles and tendons that stretch across the arch and insert at the heel. That is why some people with heel pain have no spur at all and other people with spurs have no pain at all. It is not as simple as you might think.

The spur is often the result of poor foot mechanics that place a strain on the arch muscles and tendons that insert into the heel. Tilted foot can be a problem if overdone. But many people have poor foot balance and put too much strain across the inner foot and across the arch. A pad or other device that shifts more of the weight to the outer edge of the foot creates a more normal position and relieves the strain. Simply rebalancing the weight on the foot properly does not disturb the knee or hip. Many runners have devices put in their shoes for such corrections to avoid jogging and running induced injuries.

I know you will be interested in reading The Health Letter 11-10, Common Foot Problems: What to Do

About Them, which I'm sending you. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me. In care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am 14 years old and I think I have syphilis. I have never had sexual intercourse but I don't think it is hereditary because I just got the symptoms about two years ago. I don't know whether it has something to do with adolescence or not.

I have about 20 little white pimple-like bumps on my penis that are all on the bottom and some on the top near the scrotum. I'm scared to go to a doctor so if you can tell me if this is syphilis it would be greatly appreciated.

If I have to see a doctor will it be all right if I told her I just wanted a blood test? Then if she tells me I have syphilis I could just say, "Oh."

DEAR READER—I feel for you, knowing how much unnecessary anguish you must have experienced. Your story points out that "ignorance is not bliss," particularly as related to sex.

You do not have syphilis. And your description suggests you don't have any disease. Those little bumps are normally developing skin glands that are more prominent at puberty or, at the most, sebaceous glands. You don't get venereal disease without contact, except for the few instances transmitted to a newborn baby from the mother.

possible by taking North out of three no-trump for the reason that he, South, had 100 honors in hearts.

Of course, South explained that his hand had appeared to be of little value at no-trump, but North pointed out in a few hastily chosen words that North's jump to three no-trump had taken full responsibility for making three no-trump and contained no suggestion that South should go to four hearts.

We have some sympathy for South. He did have those honors. He did have an apparently unsatisfactory hand for no-trump and he had run into some mighty fine defense by East.

East's jack of diamonds held the first trick. Then East led back the deuce of trumps. South mullied things over for a while but could find no way to avoid the loss of three diamonds and the trump ace.

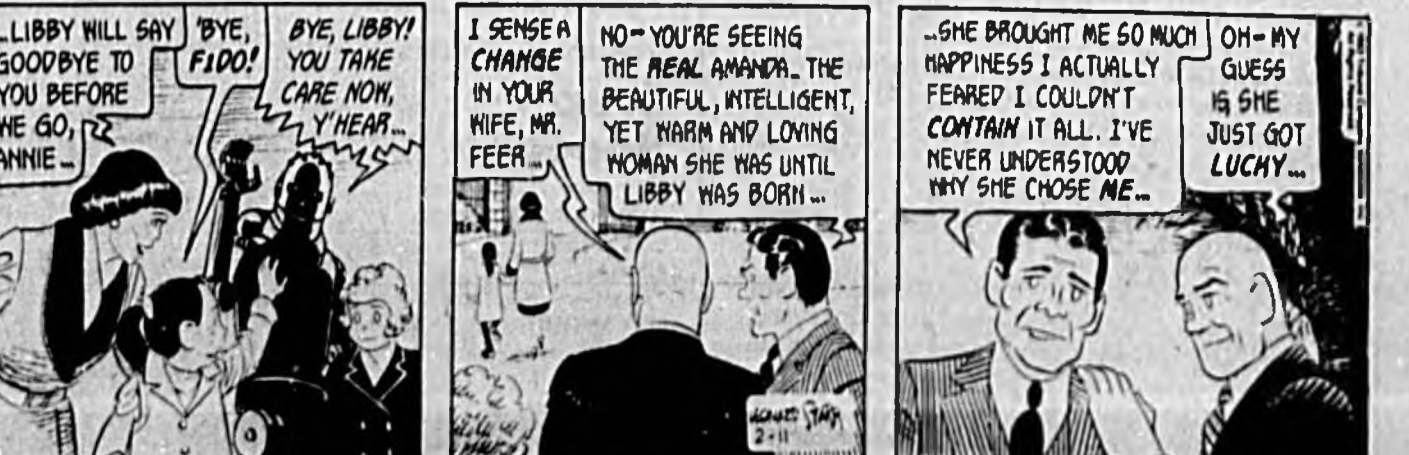

It was fine defense, but nothing sensational. Any fine defensive player looking at the dummy would have found it or at least should have found it. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Gardening

Planting Trees And Shrubs Helps Reduce Pollution

The home gardener can make more of a contribution than he thinks to the fight against pollution.

Planting of trees and shrubs contribute to reducing pollution around the home.

When plantings are properly used as screens and ground covers, they significantly reduce noise pollution and air pollution since they control dust by limiting wind erosion. Plants also help purify the air by producing oxygen.

Flowers, woody ornamentals, trees and turfgrasses have been used for years to improve and beautify unattractive surroundings, thus reducing visual pollution.

The home gardener can also make his contribution by following these guidelines:

Don't over irrigate. Too much water floods an area and promotes run-off of soil minerals and top soil. Apply water at a rate that can be absorbed by the soil. Watering with a garden hose is one of the poorest methods of supplying water to plants. The fast flowing water from a hose runs off quickly carrying soil and exposing roots. Sprinklers and soaker hoses apply water at a slow rate and therefore more water is absorbed and very little soil is lost by run-off.

Don't over fertilize. A soil sampling of yard and garden soils should be a guide to how much fertilizer to add. Excessive applications are wasteful and usually end up in the storm drain and adds to stream pollution. Avoid throwing fertilizer on walks and driveways. That's money down the drain, too.

Use mulches. Mulches of all types maintain soil moisture and prevent soil erosion. Mulches protect the soil from the pounding of rain droplets which loosen soil particles and promotes their loss in run-off water. Mulches also prevent crusting of soil which increases the absorptive capacity of soils resulting in less soil loss in run-off water. Good mulching materials include lawn clippings, leaves, pine bark, pine needles and others.

Cover bare spots of soil. This prevents erosion by wind and water. In areas where growing grass is difficult, try growing various ground covers. Some of the more popular ground covers are: lilyturf, mondo grass, dichondra and wedelia. In areas where even ground covers will not survive use some inert materials such as gravel or marble chips.

Use garden chemicals only as directed on the label and don't add more than recommended, even for "good measure". Excess chemicals may injure plants and cause unnecessary pollution. Do not spray pesticides on windy days. It is very likely that spray droplets will be carried to your neighbor's yard by high winds. Be extremely careful when applying herbicides (weedkillers) along fence rows. Many of these herbicides can be carried in surface run-off water to your neighbor's trees and shrubs.

Utilize plant residues. Grass clippings, leaves and other dead plant materials make good mulches. Composted for awhile, they return nutrients to the soil and add to the overall quality of the growing medium.

Home gardeners should continually strive to improve environmental quality by the use of plants and sound horticultural practices.

A proclamation submitted by the Kidney Foundation and signed by Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore in the presence of Nancy Crawford, right, project chairman of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, Inc., and Joanne Van Looven, organ transplant nurse, Florida Hospital, declares Feb. 13-20, as Organ Donor Week.

Give A Life, Save A Life

The Junior Woman's Club of Sanford, Inc. is supporting the "Organ Donor Awareness Campaign" and will be kicking off the week by distributing literature in front of Publix in Sanford Plaza and in front of Winn Dixie on 25th Street from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 12.

This project, "Give a Life, Save a Life" is being done by the Home Life Department in conjunction with the Conservation Department who will be giving away slash pine seedlings (first come) at the same time in those locations.

A live tree will be given to citizens of the community to thank them for their continued support. Organ Donor literature and information will be given to encourage everyone to be aware of their opportunity to possibly save another's life.

The club has been working with the Kidney Foundation, Florida Hospital Transplant Team and the local Dialysis Center to promote awareness, according to Nancy Crawford.

Miss Boston, Lt. Brundidge Repeat Vows

Debra Ann Boston and Clennie Lee Brundidge, first lieutenant, United States Army, were united in Holy Matrimony Jan. 8, at 1 p.m. at Antioch Missionary Baptist Church, Oviedo. The Rev. James Hagin performed the double ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Boston, Oviedo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Brundidge, Oviedo.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride chose for her vows a formal white organza gown of Venise and Alencon lace. The gown fashioned along slim lines with a fitted bodice, tapered sleeves and a square neckline. A tiara of Venise lace secured her veil of imported illusion with lace enhancing the lush cathedral train.

Wanda Meyers served the bride as maid of honor. She wore a pink formal-length gown and carried a bouquet of roses with matching streamers.

Bridesmaids were: Leslie Brewington, Earline Carwise and Jackie Allen. They wore identical formal length green gowns with gold slim belts and carried bouquets of pink roses.

Leon Cobb served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Angelo Boston, brother of the bride, Larry Jackson and Berry Williams.

Groomsmen were Edward Whipper, William Jackson and Fred Moore. Gnara Allen and Shyonna Tossie were the flower girls. The ringbearer was Edward Boston.

The reception was held at the Oviedo Women's Club. Following a wedding trip to Nassau, Bahamas, the

LT. AND MRS. CLENNIE LEE BRUNDIGE bridegroom returned to Fort Bragg, N.C., where he is stationed.

In And Around Geneva

Barbara Johnson Honored At Pre-Nuptial Parties

Barbara Johnson was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Saturday at the Aloma Baptist Church.

Co-hostesses Norma Wagner, Ginny Wirebaugh, Ruth Adkins and Jean Kasell, served a luncheon of Chicken Divan, homemade cheese bread, iced tea and a traditional wedding shower cake decorated with pink bells and bluebirds to match the napkins. Several floral arrangements graced the room and guest book table.

About 40 of the bride-elect's friends attended the shower and she received many lovely gifts for her kitchen and bath.

A second shower will be given for Barbara on Tuesday, Feb. 15 at 7:30 p.m. downstairs at the First Baptist Church of Oviedo. Geneva and Oviedo friends of the bride are invited to attend this shower co-hosted by Maxine Platt, Charolett O'Daniel, Mae King and Carolyn Hayman.

When Barbara's bridal showers are memories, she will still have a bridesmaid's luncheon to look forward to at noon on the day of her wedding Feb. 26. This luncheon will be at the home of Judy Stamps in Geneva.

Barbara will become the bride of Lane Jenkins of Mississippi Saturday, Feb. 26 at 8 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Oviedo.

Next week, the fifth grade class at Geneva Elementary School will be having two fun-packed days of learning when they board the Environmental Center bus bound for the facility.

Hopefully, they will be able to see an osprey nest or two and no doubt the highlight of each day will be when the brown bag lunches are served.

Mrs. Charmane Brooks will be accompanying her science students on the field trips Feb. 15 and 16.

Also, according to Mrs. Yelley, fifth grade math and social studies teacher at the elementary school, Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. McNamara along with a few parents and students accomplished a plumbing feat this past weekend. They put in a water line from the school to the garden and greenhouse.

No more carrying pails of water to make sure the turnips live!

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Adams and daughter, Miranda, have moved into their new home at the corner of Tropical and Seventh in Chuluota, the town where he pastors First Assembly of God Church.

Lou Childers

The Rev. Adams assumed the pastorate in Chuluota last September and moved here from Goldenrod.

Glen and Mickey Childers are back in Geneva for the Winter. They thought they were here to stay when they first arrived in January but had a quick trip back to West Virginia last week.

This time when they came down Mickey's son, Tommy, came with them.

Noticed a sign at the Geneva Grocery that said the Pioneer House Restaurant will be reopening Feb. 21 and that they plan to be open seven days a week.

Mod Granny's 'Lady' Status Sets Off 'Wondering' Mind

DEAR ABBY: Here's the situation: The woman is 53. She's also a grandmother who dyes her hair jet black, used too much makeup and wears skirts with big slits up the sides because her hairdresser, Bruce, told her she had nice legs. Anyway, according to her, she is constantly being approached by strange men trying to pick her up in the street, in stores — everywhere she goes.

She said that at a holiday cocktail party, a very attractive gentleman she had never seen before very politely asked her if she "fooled around." She said she just smiled and pretended not to take him seriously, whereupon he gave her his business card and told her to give him a call if she ever wanted to see his arrowhead collection.

I contend that no real gentleman would ask a lady such a question. And if the lady was really a lady, why did she accept his business card?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: You're right. No "real" gentleman would ask a lady if she fooled around. (That's not a question, it's a proposition.)

And only the lady knows why she accepted his business card. Maybe she's never seen an arrowhead collection.

DEAR ABBY: "One of Six" wrote: "Two married couples and two singles are going in on a gift. The married couples think the cost should be divided four ways. The singles think it should be divided six ways. Which is the fairest way?"

Abby, I couldn't believe your answer: "Married couples are usually considered 'one,' so in my opinion, the cost should be divided four ways."

A married couple is not considered "one." If only one is working, the working spouse should kick in for the mate who isn't.

Everyone, married or single, should carry the same load. If they both attend the wedding reception, they aren't expected to divide refreshments to serve one.

Come on. Be sensible.

Campbell-Walker Wedding Plans

Vertene Campbell and Anthony W. Walker will be married Saturday, Feb. 12, at 3 p.m. at Midway Community Center, Sanford.

The bride elect is the daughter of Tommie Lee and Carrie Campbell, Sanford. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker, 74 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford.

Born in Sanford, Miss Campbell is a

June, 1978 graduate of Seminole High School. Her fiance, who is serving in the military, was born in Gainesville. He is also a 1978 graduate of Seminole High School.

Dear Abby

THREE MARRIED AND ONE SINGLE

DEAR ABBY: As a single person I am tired of being at a financial disadvantage. ("Oh, he's single, he can afford it!") We bachelors get stuck with more than our share all the time.

In my book, two couples and two singles divide by six — not four. When I entertain them in my home, I don't buy groceries for four. I buy for six!

I'll bet you get a ton of mail on this one.

BACHELOR

DEAR ABBY: Boo! Hiss! For shame! Isn't it bad enough that we single people are discriminated against in legal matters (income taxes, etc.)? Why should we be penalized because we're not married?

Bah, humbug! Ten lashes for you with a wet copy of Ms. Magazine.

MAD IN PORTLAND

DEAR MAD: I could fill this page with letters from readers who wrote to disagree with my answer. Score (to date, and they're still coming in): Readers, 226; Abby, 0.

All right, individuals are individuals, married or single, so a couple should spend twice as much on a gift as a single person. But let's face it: They rarely do.

Do you put off writing letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90032.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

2 Gunmen Pull Record $9 Million Gold Heist

NORTH MIAMI (UPI) — Two masked men armed with hand guns burst into a jewelry business, tied up three people, and made off with up to $9 million in gold — the largest heist in south Florida history. The owner and two employees of Golden Door Jewelry Creations were tied with tape and gagged by the men, who fled with 900 pounds of gold bars, spoons, chains and jewelry, said FBI spokesman Chris Mazzella.

The two robbers, their faces covered by nylon stockings, barged into the warehouse of Golden Door by a side entrance about 6:15 p.m. during a severe thunderstorm, said Mazzella.

Hastings Back On Bench

MIAMI (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings, acquitted last week of charges he conspired to accept a $150,000 bribe from two racketeers, will return to the bench Monday and assume a full load of criminal and civil cases.

Chief District Judge Joe Eaton said Thursday that Hastings, an Altamonte Springs native, would be assigned a proportionate share of his fellow judge's pending civil cases.

He also will be given two new criminal cases for each one assigned to the other judges until each of the 12 judges has the same number before him.

Shuttle Leaking Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new engine designed to replace a leaky one in the space shuttle Challenger apparently also has a leak, threatening an additional delay of a month or more in the ship's maiden flight, the space agency says.

If additional testing now under way at the Kennedy Space Center confirms the leak in the replacement engine, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said they would either install another engine now undergoing post-manufacturing testing at Bay St. Louis, Miss. or use one from the veteran shuttle Columbia.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had hoped to launch Challenger March 7 after removing an engine that had a hydrogen leak. That leak forced a delay from the Challenger's original Jan. 20 blastoff date.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Police Hunt For Victims Of Gruesome Mass Murder

LONDON (UPI)—Scotland Yard sealed off two dilapidated rooming houses in north London today in their investigation of the bizarre deaths of 18 young men killed by a mass murderer who chopped up his victims.

Police said a 37-year-old man, identified by sources as a civil servant with police experience, was under arrest and would be charged in court today with murder.

Murder squad detectives said the killer had been picking up young men in pubs over a five-year period, strangling them, then hacking them to pieces to dispose of the bodies. Sometimes the pieces were boiled, they said.

The last killing may have been just three weeks ago, officers said.

Shergar May Be Dead

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Anonymous callers demanding ransom for the stolen racehorse Shergar said they would kill the stallion today if the money was not paid, but another caller said the horse already had died in an "accident."

Police have not been able to confirm the authenticity of a series of anonymous calls concerning the horse, including the one that Shergar would be killed if the ransom was not paid.

A new ransom demand was telephoned to racing reporters acting as go-betweens Thursday. The caller asked for 40,000 pounds—a 98 percent reduction in an original demand of about $3 million.

Sharon Quits Under Pressure

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Defense Minister Ariel Sharon bowed to mounting pressure to resign his post today following the Cabinet's overwhelming adoption of the findings of the Beirut massacre commission and an outburst of civil violence.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin's office said Sharon, 54, would leave his Cabinet post effective Monday. However, there were indications he could remain in the government in another, as-yet undefined, capacity.

Sharon, a national hero praised for reversing the tide of the 1973 Middle East war by leading Israeli forces across the Suez Canal into Egypt, leaves the Defense Ministry job he coveted amid a storm of controversy.

The Cabinet voted, 16-1, to adopt the recommendations of the commission that investigated the Sept. 16-18 massacre at the Sabra and Chatila refugee camps by Lebanese Christian Phalangite militiamen.

The defense minister stood alone in the Cabinet Thursday against accepting the commission's recommendation he resign or be fired because he bore "personal responsibility" for events leading to the slaughter.

The defense minister made his decision amid a tense atmosphere of violence, sparked by an unprecedented attack at an anti-Sharon rally Thursday in front of Begin's office.

A grenade explosion in a crowd of Peace Now protesters killed a paratrooper who fought in last June's Lebanon invasion and wounded nine others, including the son of a Cabinet minister.

Begin may decide to keep the defense portfolio himself as he did in 1980 when Ezer Weizman quit. Speculation also centered on the appointment to the post of U.S. Ambassador Moshe Arens or Economic Minister "a'acov Meridor.

State-run Israel Radio said Begin's candidate to succeed Sharon would be Israeli Ambassador to the United States Moshe Arens.

Energy Minister Yitzhak Moda'i said he did not rule out Sharon staying on in the Cabinet as minister without portfolio, perhaps in charge of the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

This suggestion had been floated in recent days as a face-saving gesture. But senior officials and friends of Sharon insisted the former battlefield commander would leave the government entirely.

Four School Posts Filled

Four new district-wide positions were filled this week by the Seminole County School Board.

Selected as assistant personnel director was John Reichert, presently assistant principal at Lake Mary High School. Reichert will take over the post, which pays $29,277 to $38,060, on Feb. 23.

Reichert's selection completes the restructuring of the district's personnel department. Assistant director Ann Neiswender was named director following the promotion of Owen McCarron to assistant supervisor for administrative services and the separation of the district negotiator's position from the director of non-instructional personnel job.

The instructional and non-instructional personnel jobs were combined under Mrs. Neiswender.

Gary Becker, coordinator of instructional data processing, has been named director of media services. Becker will begin the new job, which pays $36,011 to $44,794, on Thursday.

Nancy Haigh, consultant-coordinator of printed instructional materials, has been named coordinator of instructional media services. She will begin the $29,277 to $38,060 job on Thursday.

Herbert Muse was named supervisor of operations and vehicles effective March 1. Muse, currently supervisor of maintenance, will be paid $19,616 to $24,007 in his new post.

Teachers Can't Lead Prayer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell today ordered Alabama teachers not to lead praying in classrooms pending a lower court decision on whether the school prayers are unconstitutional.

Declaring there is "little doubt that ... conducting prayers as part of a school program is unconstitutional under this court's decisions," Powell made permanent an order he issued last week temporarily halting the prayers.

The action postpones the effect of a ruling last month by a Mobile, Ala., federal judge who threw out suits challenging classroom prayer in the state.

Ishael Jaffree, an agnostic, had asked for the postponement and an injunction against the school prayers so he could pursue his suit before the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to stop teacher-led praying.

U.S. District Judge W. Brevard Hand of Mobile on Jan. 14 threw out Jaffree's lawsuit, which had challenged two state laws allowing teachers to lead students in prayer or permit silent prayer.

Hand ruled the Supreme Court "has erred" in its rulings since 1962 declaring school prayer unconstitutional for violating the separation of church and state. Hand concluded the Constitution's ban against school prayer does not apply to state laws.

Reacting to that ruling in a three-page explanation of his order, Powell wrote, "There can be little doubt that the district court was correct in finding that conducting prayers as part of a school program is unconstitutional under this court's decisions."

"Unless and until this court reconsiders the foregoing decisions, they appear to control this case. In my view, the district court was obligated to follow them."

The Supreme Court has repeatedly refused to allow teacher-led prayers in public schools.

Last month, it refused to hear a Lubbock, Texas, case, leaving intact a lower court decision barring students from using classrooms to pray after school hours.

For all the Cupids who are wrestling with ideas of what gift to give their lovers, Edna Bowen can be very helpful. Traditionally, Valentine's Day is a big day for candy sales. And Ms. Bowen, a cashier at the Faust Drug Store on East First St. in downtown Sanford, shows there are plenty of "sweet hearts" from which to choose in area stores. Dentists are especially fond of chocolate gifts — for their patients.

Babe, I Love You More Than Ever

By JOE HOEDDINGHAUS
Herald News Editor

"Will you be my Valentine?"

People of all ages, even the toughest or most blase' male, will be asking their sweethearts this romantic question on Valentine's Day.

For those men who do not watch the calendar, the big day for lovers is right around the corner. It'll be Monday, so head for the card counter to look for a valentine that will reveal your inner feelings. But don't wait until the last minute or they will be picked over and the only thing left will be "A Valentine for my aunt" and the card "For someone who is like a mother to me."

It hardly seems possible that the day Cupid made famous is upon us again. Time flies when you're in love.

February 14 is that special day set aside for lovers of every age to forget the work-a-day world and its tendencies to drive couples apart.

Valentine's Day is coupleness day.

But after a few years of faithfully noting the special day for lovers with the same great person, one's romantic, creative ideas can start to fade.

A good lover knows the greatest danger to good coupleness is dullness. The only solution is an occasional crazy fling, a surprise. But a smart lover knows giving what's wanted will be more lasting than a cute surprise gift.

So, while "sharing" a couple hours together in front of the "Winds of War" on the tube, a tenured lover may inquire:

"What do you want for Valentine's?"

"What, oh, I don't know. Let me think a while."

"Would you like a night on the town—dinner, dancing or maybe a show?"

"That sounds nice."

"Or would you like a new dress? You were complaining Sunday you haven't gotten a

Old Movie Photos Are In Demand By Collectors

DEAR DICK: I have in my possession 19 movie marquee photos, dating back to 1928. Would you know where I might write to sell them — a collector, movie museum, etc.? R.B., Springfield, Mo.

There are dozens, maybe hundreds, of people who buy and sell old movie memorabilia, and old photos are in particular demand. Start by sending a query to the Library of the Motion Picture Academy (8949 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, CA). Tell them exactly what you have. If they aren't interested, find a list of Hollywood movie collectors somewhere — a good one is in a book called "The Film Buff's Catalog," published by Arlington House.

DEAR DICK: Can you tell me if the guy who plays Monroe on "Too Close for Comfort" is the same guy who plays Big Bird on "Sesame Street"? Their voices are the same. Are they any relation to each other? T.P., Vancouver, Wash.

Monroe Ficus is played by an actor with the odd name of J.M.J. Bullock. A bullock is an animal, not a bird. No, it's not the same person, and not a relative.

DEAR DICK: Many years ago there was a movie with Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney and Mitzi Gaynor. It was a musical where they went to a mountain resort to help an old colonel who was in financial trouble. Would like the name of the movie and the man who played the colonel. D.McG., Stockton, Mo.

That must be "White Christmas" (1954) and the colonel was played by Dean Jagger.

DEAR DICK: My senior class is looking for an idea for a theme for our prom. On a recent episode of "The Greatest American Hero," there was a song called "Dreams." Can you find out for me who wrote it and if it is available on an album? It may be a possible candidate for our theme. D.K., Lawrenceville, N.J.

Not much help. I'm afraid it was written by Mike Post and Stephen Geyer, just for the show, and is not on any album.

DEAR DICK: I've been wondering if the actress who plays C.G. on "Knots Landing" does her own singing. If not, who does it for her? B.C., Galena, Kan.

Ciji Dunne is how the character's name is spelled, and she's played by Lisa Hartman, who is a singer as well as an actress. She does all her own singing on the show.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me if Suzanne Pleshette of the old "Bob Newhart Show" and John Pleshette of "Knots Landing" are related in any way? E.S., Enid, Okla. No, the Pleshettes are unrelated.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: I've noticed that Adrian Zmed of "T.J. Hooker" has a very unusual last name. Can you tell me what kind of name it is, and give me some information on him, please? K.H., Joplin, Mo.

Adrian's father is the Rev. George Zmed, pastor of the Romanian Eastern Orthodox Church in Chicago. He was one of a very few allowed to enter the United States from a country behind the Iron Curtain. Adrian studied acting at Chicago's Goodman school, then got his stage career started in "Grease," both on Broadway and on tour. He was in the movie "Grease II." He had done a lot of TV before that, notably the series "Goodtime Girls" and "Flatbush."

DEAR DICK: About 15 years ago there was a movie starring Sophia Loren and Omar Sharif. It was a fantasy and she played a witch. Can you tell me the name? M.C., Allegan, Mich.

Sounds like "More Than a Miracle," which dates from '67.

DEAR DICK: Who was the star of the '70s TV series "Then Came Bronson"? A co-worker claims it was Charles Bronson. I say it was Michael Parks. A favorable answer means a free lunch to me. B.P., Watkinville, Ga.

Happy munching — it was Parks.

In 1908, there were about 8,000 movie houses called nickelodeons throughout the U.S. They showed continuous movies with piano accompaniment and cost five cents.

Alexa Hamilton stars as a reporter who visits her biochemist uncle (Bob Denver) and becomes contaminated in the comedy "Portrait of an Invisible Woman," to air Sunday, Feb. 13 on NBC.

GO GUIDE

If you're thinking of getting out of the house and are looking for something to do this weekend, here are a few suggestions:

General Henry S. Sanford Museum and Library, 520 E. First St. Sanford, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday, 2-5 p.m. Open to the public.

Central Florida Zoological Park, open daily 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. U.S. Highway 17-92 between I-4 and Sanford. Picnic facilities.

"Young-at-Heart" Dance, every Sunday at 8 p.m., DeBary Community Center, Shell Road, DeBary. Instruction 7:30 p.m. Open to public.

An afternoon of Modern Music and Dance presented by Altamonte Springs Community Jazz ensemble directed by Mike Arena and featuring The Dance Company, Inc., 3 p.m., Feb. 20, Eola Park Bandshell, Orlando. Free to the public.

new dress in years."

"Sure, great! Let's go shopping this weekend."

"Maybe you'd like a bottle of expensive perfume."

"That would be fine."

"Or how about going to EPCOT Sunday? I've been promising both you and the kids that we'd go soon. That would let the kids be a part of our special day."

"Well, I'd rather we'd do a 'we thing', but a family outing would be okay."

"You know what I bet you'd really love? A dozen roses and a big heart-shaped box of chocolates."

"Yellow, make 'em yellow. I'd love some roses. I love the way they freshen a room.

And you haven't bought me good chocolates for a long time."

"Oh, I got it, the perfect idea. I'll buy you a new wrist watch. You've been without one since your's broke two months ago. Perfect."

"Yea, super. Any of these would be appreciated. But you know what I'd like the most? To sit together more—without the kids and without the TV. I'd like more of your attention, a little of you. That's all I need—a little warmth when I'm acting cold; a little understanding when I'm out of sorts; a little guidance when I'm lost; a shoulder when I'm upset; a hand when I'm tired. That's all I want or desire. I'm already happy, knowing you still care to make me happy. I love you."

Mini-Series To Be On TV

"The File on Jill Hatch" is a three-hour miniseries in three parts that ranges across two continents and several decades.

On "American Playhouse" on PBS Tuesday evenings starting Feb. 15, "The File on Jill Hatch" stars Gloria Foster, Penny Johnson, Joe

Morton, Frances Tomelty and Tim Woodward, the first three Americans and the latter two from England. (Local times may vary; check listings.)

The production is a co-venture between the BBC of England and WNET/Thirteen of New York, with producers and directors from both countries participating.

The story concerns a young black woman named Jill Hatch (Miss Johnson), who is the daughter of a black American GI (Morton) and a white Englishwoman (Miss Tomelty), who fell in love in England during the second world war.

It's Sorry Sitcom Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — The way ABC is serving up turkey, one would think it was Thanksgiving rather than February in the middle of a television season rapidly going to seed where half-time "limited series" are concerned.

So far, most of such series, thrown into the breach by all three networks, have proven "limited" in more ways than merely a commitment for a specific number of episodes, but what ABC hath wrought for Thursday shouldn't happen even to the Nielsen families.

Bea Arthur — brass

polished and siren persona keeping a red alert—is back, this time as a female battle tank named "Amanda" instead of as a female battle tank named "Maude."

As for McLean Stevenson, he should have stayed on "MASH." Even with "MASH" going off the air later this month, he should have stayed. No job at all would be better than the one he landed on "Condo."

Bea Arthur and McLean Stevenson are competent, comedic people who deserve more, but in the world of the prime time sitcom, one takes what one can get.

What Miss Arthur got was "Amanda's by the Sea," an aging California resort hotel that she is condemned to run as though it were "Fawcett Towers" with maximum interference from an idiot son, a vapid daughter-in-law and a Latin stereotype of a hired hand who don't speak so good the English.

Miss Arthur actually manages to wring an occasional chuckle from something other than the giggling laugh track which, given the script, is the show's one small miracle, but even her considerable talents cannot overcome a character so abrasive that it belongs in a tool box.

Stevenson is in even worse shape as James Kirkridge in "Condo," which precedes "Amanda's" Thursday from 8-8:30 p.m., EST.

With an air-headed wife, one reasonably sane son and another whose brains have been turned into lime jello by his ever-present stereo headset, Kirkridge, a WASP bigot, moves to a condominium apartment and winds up with a gringo-hating Latino named Jesse Rodriguez for a next door neighbor.

Production Designer Recreating Alphabet

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Chuck Davis had one of the most intriguing assignments ever handed to a Hollywood production designer. He was asked to design a new alphabet. And he has done just that. It's for a TV miniseries ("by any other name, it's still a pilot," Davis says) called "V," which is a science-fiction story. The gimmick is that a whole slew of huge spaceships descend on us from somewhere out there, hover over our cities and scare the daylight out of everybody.

The spaceship was parked on Stage 25 at Warner Bros. studio. Davis says the spaceships were originally written to be five miles in diameter.

"I think," he says, "that we reduced them to three miles in diameter and a mile high. But you can pick a figure."

All over the interior of this vast spaceship are signs in Davis' new alphabet. He says he didn't try to make words out of the letters, just put up what looked to be interesting combinations. But there is one symbol repeated over and over.

It is one upside down F slapped against a right-side-up F.

"It's as close as I could get to a swastika," Davis says, "without using a swastika. It is a subtlety but if the audience gets it — fine. And we're also trying to get a storm trooper-like quality into the spaceship's troops."

The situation in this miniseries (pilot), and in the subsequent series if it sells (it is being made for NBC), is how we earth people deal with the invaders.

"It's us against them," Davis says. "The V (Visitors) appear good at first, but they aren't."

And you can spell that B-A-D, with any letters you choose.

People go to see the new "Trail of the Pink Panther" expecting to see Peter Sellers, and there are some scenes of Sellers in the beginning. But then he disappears (because they ran out of footage of him, apparently) and the rest of the film has Joanna Lumley, as a French journalist, investigating Inspector Clouseau's past.

So it is pretty much Joanna Lumley's picture. In the next Pink Panther movie, which Blake Edwards has ready — "Curse of the Pink Panther" — you'll be seeing Joanna Lumley, again. In that one, she plays a Yugoslavian countess.

So the English girl has a French accent in one film, a Slavian accent in the other. But, after all, she is an actress.

And a very pretty one. We here in the United States don't know her, but she's a major star to our English cousins. That's because she took over from Diana Rigg and Linda Thorson and became the new woman on "The New Avengers." Her shows were not seen here, but apparently she out-slugged and out-kicked her predecessors.

"I am an actress," Joanna says, "but I knew I could do the stunts and the fights because I've always been very leapy." Whatever "leapy" is — but you can sort of get a mental picture of it.

She thinks that Blake Edwards had seen her being leapy on some of "The New Avengers" episodes, which led to him casting her in the Pink Panthers. She hasn't even got a small leap — at least not in the first one — but she does manage to look gorgeous in the extreme.

"I became an actress in the first place," she says, "mostly because I was too lazy to do anything else."

She's had an interesting life, so far. She was born in Kashmir, since her father, at the time, was an officer in the Indian army, serving with the Gurkhas. Later, he and his family served in Hong Kong and Malaysia.

"One of my claims to fame," she says, "is that I can still sing 'Happy Birthday to You' in Cantonese."

And nobody east of Shanghai can prove her wrong. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

U. S. Films Rate Low At Cannes Festival

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLYWOOD (UPI) — Hollywood films generally get short shrift at the Cannes Film Festival unless the movie is demonstrably anti-United States, made by America haters.

Such was the case last year with "Missing," a story of American diplomats in Chile killing an American newsman. It was flagrantly anti-American and directed by Costa-Gavras, an old anti-American going back to his 1968 film "Z."

By the same token, but for different motives, foreign movies don't overwhelm the motion picture academy at Oscar time.

Indeed, few foreign films have won Oscars. But for a legitimate reason. To qualify for an Oscar, a picture must be exhibited in the United States in the English language.

When such films do meet Oscar qualifications and are worthy, they can win the best picture award, as did "Chariots of Fire" only last year. Others were "Oliver!" "Hamlet" and "Tom Jones."

To accommodate many excellent film imports, the academy has a special category, best foreign language film.

Only one picture may be submitted from each country. Such entries need not necessarily have been shown in the United States. Under those circumstances it is not eligible for any Oscar nomination except best foreign language film.

This year 25 countries submitted entries for consideration.

The foreign language committee of the academy, consisting of 150 voting members, see all 25 films and vote for the final five nominees. The 3,900 academy members are then invited to see the five prospects.

Unless the individual academy member sees all five nominated films he cannot vote for a winner, to be announced at the Oscar presentations April 11 with the other awards.

Almost every year several imports emerge as favorites, inevitably those released in the United States.

The foreign films drawing most notice today are Spain's "Begin the Beguine," France's "Clean Slate," Sweden's "The Flight of the Eagle" and Italy's "The Night of the Shooting Stars."

Other entrees are from Algeria, Argentina, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Israel, Japan, The Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, China (Taiwan), Switzerland, the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia.

One of this year's foreign film mysteries involves "Das Boot," the beautifully made film of a World War II German U-Boat, which was not submitted by Germany. Instead, that country offers "Fitzcarraldo."

"Das Boot," however, is in the running for best picture, dubbed in English. But it doesn't stand much chance against the likes of "E.T., The Extra-Terrestrial" and other Hollywood favorites.

Indeed, "Gandhi," a brilliant English movie based on the life of India's spiritual and political leader, stands an excellent chance of winning the best picture award.

India, which produces more feature films than any nation, does not have an entry this year.

It is to the academy's credit that politics does not play a part in the balloting for best foreign language film. The Russians in recent years usually have an entry. In 1980 the Soviet Union won with "Moscow Does Not Believe in Tears."

Hideaway For Pair

By Nancy M. Reichardt
Stephen Schnetzer (Cass Winthrop on "Another World") and his wife, "One Life to Live" star Nancy Snyder (Katrina Karr), have been spending all their spare time away from their respective soaps remodeling a 100-year-old barn they purchased in upstate New York.

"We hope to turn this old barn into a three-bedroom hideaway," says Stephen.

While Stephen and the contractors are busy with the handiwork, Nancy keeps herself occupied scouring the countryside for the antique furniture the couple plan to furnish their love nest with.

In the midst of sagging Nielsen ratings, ABC has relinquished the head-writing reins of "Ryan's Hope" back to the show's original creators, Claire Labine and Paul Avila Mayer.

The 12-time, Emmy Award-winning writing team left "RH" last year when the web took over the production of the show.

Finding Work Still Actor's Hardest Job

By Ruth Thompson

Earlier generations heard there were hundreds of broken hearts "for every light on Broadway." That, of course, is still true.

Assuming that one of those persons attracted to the foot-light-life has talent, he or she then has to strike the right luck at the right time. And maybe even be one of the rare ones who finds a perfect role and sticks with it.

A century ago, Joseph Jefferson found his personal gold mine in touring for decades as "Rip Van Winkle." Not all that surprising, when you consider that in his time there weren't even movies, much less television.

More surprising today, is the magnetic Yul Brynner, who, though he does movies, too, has found his personal gold mine in stage productions of "The King and I."

Television — widespread gobble of productions that it is — may be even more unpredictable for thespians than the old theater circuits.

One route to career survival — and a rare avis this one is — is to juggle two dissimilar series roles the same season.

Robert Reed pulled it off back when he starred as the family head in "The Brady Bunch" and managed also to report for a running role as a police officer in "Mannix," which starred Mike Connors.

This year, it's been happening to the talented Fern Fitzgerald. She's been the rich Marilee Stone on "Dallas," who dallied with J.R. Ewing now and then for a couple of seasons. Things perked up for her character when her husband died and J.R. (Larry Hagman) went back to his wife, leaving Marilee some dramatic shouting to do as a woman scorned. Fern loved it.

Who Is Captain Freedom Of 'Hill Street?'

By Val Carew

WHO IS HE? — There was a character called Capt. Freedom on "Hill Street Blues." Was he played by one of the actors starring in "Simon and Simon"? — Mrs. R.G., Bridgewater, Va.

No, Dennis Dugan played Capt. Freedom. He had a series that was on briefly called "Richie Brockelman, Private Eye." He also played that character on some segments of "The Rockford Files." The two gentlemen playing "Simon and Simon" are Gerald McRaney, the brother with the moustache, and Jameson Parker.

FALLING FOR A GAL — On "The Fall Guy," there is a character played by Heather Thomas. Could you please tell me where I could write her? — D.L., Heather Thomas' No. 1 Fan, Apple Valley, Minn.

Write Heather, who plays Jody, the aspiring stunt woman, in care of the show at 20th Century-Fox Studios, 10100 Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, CA 90212. Heather Thomas is one of two beautiful, blond actresses named Heather on a TV series this year, and some people confuse them. The other is Heather Locklear of "T.J. Hooker."

Hooker."

HAPPY TIME — I have watched almost all the "Happy Days" shows and I wonder what happened to the oldest Cunningham son. Did more than one actor play him? — L.P., Lawton, Okla.

Chuck, the college-bound son, disappeared after the first season. Presumably he is still studying. Gavan O'Herlihy and Randolph Roberts both played the role.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Avenue, Room 602, New York, NY 10166.)

Titanic Mystery Is Topic Of Documentary

By Debra Morgenstern Katz

Was the sinking of the Titanic an "act of God," as many in 1912 said it was? Or was it "more the result of the foolishness of man"?

Experts and survivors discuss that question in a chilling documentary on PBS' "Enterprise," airing Feb. 16, called "Titanic: A Question of Murder." (Local times may vary; check listings.)

That people are still rehashing the Titanic tragedy 71 years after its sinking is tribute to the fascination and horror that surrounds the event. There is even an organized Titanic fan club, so to speak, called the Titanic Historical Society, comprised mainly of people unrelated to the event who are obsessed with it. When asked why, they come up with vague references to the romance and melodrama surrounding the disaster.

Luxury liners are certainly romantic, and the Titanic, with its notable passenger list of the wealthy and famous, on its heralded maiden voyage, was a glittery setting. And the sinking of a great "unsinkable" ship — the biggest in the world — all ablaze with lights as the band played on, is an image that etches itself on the mind forever.

As for the melodrama — what before was an unfortunate drama indeed becomes even more horrendous with the information in this documentary.

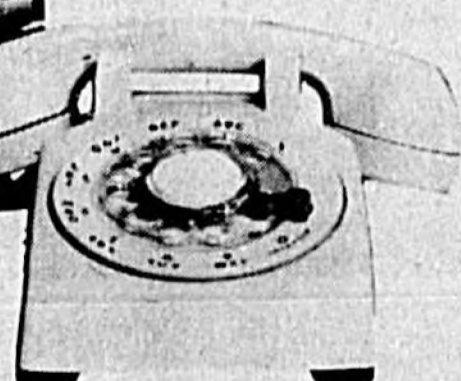

More than 1,500 lives were lost in the Titanic sinking, according to this program, and for one main reason: In a ship that carried more than 3,000 persons, there were only enough lifeboats for a mere third of them.

British journalist Peter Williams presents evidence that the owners of the ship ignored designs by the builders that called for more than three times the amount of lifeboats ultimately used. Blueprints, documents and trial testimony are produced as evidence.

By the end of the film, when one survivor says poignantly, "It was almost like murder, wasn't it?" a viewer is inclined to agree.

We have it all on call.
