Money Is Offered For Dropping Suit

ATLANTA (UPI)—A Negro leader reported today that a member of his race has admitted offering Negro parents sums of "from 500 to several thousand dollars" to withdraw their public school integration suit in Atlanta.

Dr. C. Clayton Powell, acting Atlanta chapter president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said there was evidence the man "was representing some interested parties in Georgia who want to see this suit dropped."

Powell said offers were made earlier this week to all 30 plaintiffs in the suit, filed in federal court here a year ago and tentatively scheduled for a hearing early this year. In approaching the parents, the man did not give his true identity, according to Powell.

The plaintiffs reported the offers to the NAACP. Powell said, "and immediately they were instructed to string along with the scheme to the extent that the approach could be proven."

When NAACP investigators confronted the man with their findings, he admitted making the offers "with the idea of making a few easy bucks for himself," Powell said.

"Sufficient evidence has now been secured to show conclusively that he contacted these plaintiffs with offers of some 500 to several thousand dollars to have their names stricken from the suit," Powell said. Investigation is continuing, he added.

More than 5,000 soldiers from foreign countries have attended the U. S. Army's Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., since the training program began in 1950.

Gut, a former mayor of Sanford is operator of an insurance agency bearing his name. Shinholser is an attorney and Touhy is the operating officer of the association.

Howard Faville, president, in his report of the past year's operation said, "Your association may not be the biggest one, but it is among the safest in the nation."

The report revealed over $7 million in savings accounts on Dec. 31, on which a three and one-half per cent a year in dividends had been paid.

Loans exceeding $2 million "represents money poured into the payrolls of builders and books of material suppliers. It represents a substantial boost to the local economy. Money saved and loaned here helps all business in our community," the report read.

Faville complimented the staff on its efforts to be of service to association members and thanked the directors for their interest in establishing sound operating policies.

The comments closed with an expression of confidence in continued growth in 1959.

Truck Tires Blow Vehicle On Road; Crash Kills One

LA BELLE (UPI)—One man was killed and another seriously injured Wednesday night when their car slammed into a tractor trailer parked on the highway.

Alton William Deibert, 21, Muskegon, Mich., was killed when he was thrown against the windshield of the auto driven by James J. Williams of Illinois. Both men were employed by the U. S. Geological Survey. Williams was hospitalized with multiple fractures.

James Andrew Davis of Winter Haven told police his truck, loaded with tomatoes, had two blow-outs of right rear tires on Highway 20 near here. He said he parked the truck on the highway because there was no shoulder along the road.

Davis said he placed one flare each in the rear and front of the truck while he went to get tires. Police said the flare in the rear of the truck apparently went out before the Williams car approached.

Solon Says Reds Lead Arms Race

Little Hope For Miners Trapped By Icy Waters

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) — Hope faded today for 12 miners trapped by icy waters in an anthracite mine after the swollen Susquehanna River breached a hole in a tunnel below the river bed and swirled into the honeycomb of diggings.

Under the unwritten law of the coal mine fields, "never leave a buddy down below," rescuers spared no effort or expense in a frantic effort to reach them. Their only hope was that the men managed to crawl into air pockets above the still rising water level.

The volunteer rescue crews, directed by federal, state and company experts, dug throughout the night in remote shafts and tunnels in efforts to break through to some still dry, underground corridors where the missing may have found refuge.

Forty-four of the miners working deep underground managed to reach safety after the ice-clogged river drained through a hole 20 feet in diameter into the quarter-mile long tunnel like an emptying bathtub Thursday.

They were greeted with whoops of joy by relatives and friends standing vigil around the numerous entrances.

One mine engineer estimated it would take two years to pump out the water if such a huge project could be financed.

"You never saw such a mess as there is down there," veteran miner Anthony Krywicki, 33, said. "Everything is so caved in. It's a terrible mess."

Krywicki was one of a group of men who wandered for hours through the dungeon darkness before finding a light and safety.

"I wouldn't go back down in the mine for a million," he vowed. "I'm finished. I don't want no more of that. Forty-two years of it is enough."

MIAMI (UPI) — Cloudiness threw an unexpected blanket of warmth over much of Florida during the night, taking the worst of the chill from the cold wave.

Temperatures were five to 10 degrees higher than expected in many sections of the state.

Freezing weather was reported only in a few sections of extreme North Florida. Frost and a light freeze had been forecast all the way down into the Central Florida citrus belt.

Marianna and Pensacola were the coldest cities with readings of 29 Jacksonville and Tallahassee reported 31. It was generally in the 40s in Central Florida, and, as usual, Key West was the warmest with a balmy 60.

The Weather Bureau credited an unexpected cloud covering over the southern half of the peninsula with keeping in some of the heat after a cold front passed down the peninsula Thursday.

The Weather Bureau said it would warm up gradually during the next day or so. A shift in winds to northeasterly was expected as the center of the cold front over the Mississippi Valley moves toward the Atlantic.

Lows tonight will range from 32 to 40 in extreme North Florida, in the 40s in Central Florida and in the 50s in South Florida.

Hudson Child Dies In Local Hospital
Valrie Hudson, 2, died in Seminole Memorial Hospital at 2:30 p. m. today after a short illness.

Surviving are her parents, one brother, Richard L. Hudson Jr., Ovid, and her grandfather, Roland Hudson, Camdenton, Mo.

Graveside services will be held 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Chulonia Cemetery. The Rev. Delbert Beasley will officiate. Britton Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Citizens Council Sets Meeting Here
The Citizens Council of Florida has called a meeting of the voters and taxpayers of Seminole County, Jan. 25, at 8 p. m. in the courthouse.

States rights and racial integrity, which the council endorses, will be discussed. The council is against centralization of power and law-making by court decrees and executive orders.

Good Points Needed

What's right with Sanford? We've had quite a bit of comment from shoppers about our local stores.

Now, it's time to turn the coin. The other side of the issue needs discussion, Mr. Merchant. The Herald requests your letters. You have seen and heard suggestions, comments and "gripes" from the public.

Now is the time to tell the world about the "extras" that Sanford merchants give their customers. Sanford offers many advantages to consumers in Seminole County, and the surrounding area.

As a starter, how about the lack of that "big city" traffic problem absent in Sanford? Or the municipal parking lot?

The public has become interested in Sanford as a shopping center. This interest is genuine. Otherwise, the people would not have taken the time to write to The Herald and to the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

While interest is high, Mr. Merchant, Sanford should capitalize on it.

Naturally, most of the letters cited what shoppers believe to be shortcomings. They were asked to tell why they shopped outside Sanford. The satisfied customer, of course, had no "gripes," no reason to write.

As in the case of the public, The Herald will withhold names, if this is desired. However, letters must be signed. Permission also must be given The Herald to supply the name of the author if such is requested.

Now is the time.

Officers Get Call, Suspect Gets Jail

Senior Lydic, 31, was in jail within 30 minutes after Birmingham police notified Sanford that he had stolen two suits in the Alabama city a couple of months ago.

Birmingham police put the finger on Lydic when he tried to collect the suits from a pawn shop by mail. Detective L. H. Kirk, Birmingham, said that Lydic mailed the pawn ticket and money order from Sanford, telling the shop operator to ship the suits to him at a Sanford address.

The suits were valued at $160. Constable Sims Galloway apprehended the suspect, since his address was outside city limits, and brought him to the county jail. Kirk is coming to Sanford to ask for Lydic's extradition on a grand larceny charge.

Lydic came to Sanford with a carnival which has been operating in Goldsboro. His address was listed as the Southwest Road.

Party Is Planned For New Squadron
Odham and Taylor will stage a giant "welcome aboard" party tomorrow for V-11-1 at the Sunland Estates park.

Invited are all V-11-1 squadron personnel, their families and residents of Sunland Estates. County and city officials and representatives from the Chamber of Commerce also will be present.

The celebration will start at 5 p. m. in weather sponsored by the Navy, featuring 45-degree temperatures. Hamburgers, baked beans, potato chips and cold drinks comprise a portion of the menu.

A country music band is coming, and when corn meal is poured on the basketball court, the guests will enjoy square dancing. While the construction firm has the utmost confidence in Navy reports, it is not taking any chances. Ten grove heaters are lined up around the tennis courts, where dinner will be served. If the weather turns cold, the heaters will be fired up, and the celebration continued.

V-11-1 was transferred recently to the Sanford Naval Air Station from Jacksonville, thus completing the family of Heavy Attack Squadrons on the east coast.

Seven Party Tonight
Heavy Attack Squadron Seven will hold an "All Hands" party tonight in the N. A. S. ballroom.

The evening includes dinner, dancing and entertainment.

Symington Claims U. S. Far Behind On 'Honest Count'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said today "an honest count" will show Russia with a four-to-one lead over the United States in long range, military missiles by 1961.

Symington, Air Force secretary in the Truman administration, spoke out after Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy told reporters he does not believe Russia has an intercontinental ballistic missile ready for operation against this country "at this time."

Symington charged that the Eisenhower administration instead of closing the missile gap is "actually allowing it to widen."

He said in a Senate speech that a Senate investigation of the whole missile situation is in the offing. But he said this country's intercontinental missile inventory will be "less than 25 per cent" of Russia's in 1961.

"I personally have studied this matter for many months, and believe that these figures actually much underestimate the Soviet long range missile now and over the next few years," he said.

McElroy told reporters late Thursday there is "no positive evidence" that the Soviets can put intercontinental ballistic missiles into combat units ahead of the United States. He said this country's first long range Atlas ICBM's will be installed at launching sites by next July.

Symington said U.S. production lines could make "many more" missiles during the next two years if money was appropriated and allocated now.

"But our government does not plan to run these lines on a full production basis," he added.

Final Plans Made For Band Barbecue

The Seminole Band Association, composed of parents of band members, met last night to work out final details for its Saturday barbecue.

The chicken barbecue will be held at the Elks grounds, with supper available to take out. Lines will form at 5:30. The meals will be prepared under the supervision of Cotton Brown.

The association is sponsoring the supper to raise funds for the purchase of band instruments. Tickets are available through members of the band association or at the barbecue.

The Seminole High School band will be in a concert from 6:15-6:45 p. m. at the Elks grounds.

In action taken at the meeting, parents decided to make milk available for children at the barbecue. In the past, coffee was the only beverage served. The association also okayed the purchase of a bass clarinet for the band.

'Seal' Again Asked For All Cigarettes

PIERRE, S.D. (UPI) — A South Dakota Senate committee has again urged legislators to put a seal of "bad health keeping" on all packs of cigarettes.

The seal: A skull and crossbones.

Legislators failed in their first try to have the skull and crossbones stamped on every pack of cigarettes sold in the state, along with the inscription: "The use thereof may cause death from heart disease or cancer."

The reference to heart disease and cancer was deleted from the current proposal which still calls for the "death's head" stamp and the words: "the use of this product is not recommended by the state of South Dakota."

Borge Show Sure Audience-Pleaser

When Victor Borge brings his "Comedy in Music" to Sanford Jan. 31, Heart Fund supporters will see a man who has known unparalleled success in one-man shows.

Some might consider the "one-man" term unfair. Borge seems to be two—an excellent pianist and a hilarious comic. So far, the airlines, which have carried him thousands of miles in less than ten years, have never charged him double for his talents.

COURTESY WEEK PROCLAIMED — Mayor Al Wilson signs the proclamation for Courtesey Week, which begins Sunday in Sanford. Chairman Dave Thrasher of the Jaycees offers polite encouragement. The state-wide promotion will run Jan. 25-31. (Herald Staff Photo)

Sanford Gets Set For Courtesey Week

On Sunday, Courtesey Week begins officially throughout Florida, and especially in Sanford, the state's most courteous city.

'Broke, Scorned,' Hedy's Had Enough

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Hedy Lamarr, claiming she is "broke" and has been scorned by the only man she ever loved, says she now will fight like a tiger to straighten out her life.

"I gave myself to Howard [100 per cent, but everything I did for him was taken for granted]," the beautiful Vienna-born actress said at her rented home here where she lives with her son, Tony, 10, and daughter, Denise, 14, and a servant.

Her attorney filed a $61,000 suit in federal court at Houston, Tex., Thursday against her estranged husband, oilman W. Howard Lee.

"There comes a moment when you say enough is enough," said the 42-year-old actress who was once the glamour queen of Hollywood. She charged Lee is $6,000 behind in support payments, money she needs to live on.

"I have been quite ill," she said. "Then Tony was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle. He almost died. I just haven't been able to accept any film or television offers made to me."

The raven-haired beauty said her fifth husband, Lee, was the "one man I loved—loved more than anyone in the world. But I can see no chance of a reconciliation."

He paid absolutely no attention to me or the children, except when someone else was present," she said. "Then he was attentive and wonderful—until we were alone again."

Librarian Thinks 'Rags To Riches' Books Should Go

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The story of Horatio Alger's rise from rags to riches may be denied to Florida youngsters if the state librarian has her way.

Such classic as the Horatio Alger series, the Bobbsey Twins, the Wizard of Oz, Tom Swift and the Rover Boys, among others, would disappear from Florida library shelves.

State Librarian Dorothy Dudd has advised county librarians in the state that "there are plenty of other books which give background and wider backgrounds for children to read."

She said "the libraries should stock better books" but emphasized her views are strictly a matter of personal preference and she has no power of control over the county libraries.

She added there is a "trend in good library practice that these books are not desirable."

The state librarian admitted she read most of the books as a youngster.

Buck Is Drugged, Taken To Forest

The buck at the zoo was captured this morning and taken to the Game Reserve in the Farmington area.

State wildlife officials shot him with a dart full of sleeping potion. When the six-point buck awakens, he will be safe in the Florida forest.

It was a quiet night in Sanford, Fla., when a person who broke a window at Chapman Concrete Co. was not seen on destruction. He entered the office and helped himself to one item only: a blank check from the firm's numbered check book.

Seamstress Sews Finger To Machine

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — A professional seamstress accidentally sewed her finger to an electric sewing machine, then had to drag the 60-pound object twice across a room to get help.

"I just kept gasping from pain," Mrs. Alexander Adamiak, 50, said Thursday after her ordeal. "I used the sheet as a towel and kept wiping my face and my eyes."

The woman was trapped for 40 agonizing minutes, the electric needle and thread pinning her finger fast to the machine cabinet.

She dragged the entire machine across the room to reach a telephone and call police. When they arrived she had to pull the heavy object to the other side of the room to press a buzzer releasing the door lock. She had been sewing a sheet when the accident happened and her family was not home.

The needle passed through the nail and forefinger of her left hand. Police Nurse Richard J. Hebert removed the needle from the machine and then attempted to take the needle from her finger.

The needle broke, however, and had to be taken out later by a physician.

THE CATHEDRAL WE LIVE IN

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Homemakers Earn Extra Pocket Money

By GAY PAULEY UPI Woman's Editor NEW YORK (UPI)—The homemaker with time on her hands can put money in her pocket by selling door-to-door.

She may not make a million, but one expert says he knows women who earn from $20,000 to $30,000 a year in direct sales. "Those figures are for full time," said Roy Alexander. "But $5,000 a year from part-time isn't too unusual."

Demand For Homes

By MARGUERITE DAVIS CHICAGO (UPI)—The demand for new homes is so widespread here that a builder offered one-bedroom homes for sale at $20,900.

Irvin A. Blitzer, who has developed residential areas along Chicago's fashionable North Shore for more than 30 years, believes his one-bedroom homes are the only housing of their type in the country.

The market is limited but constant, he said, and every community in the country could use such homes.

Each dwelling was built on a lot 25 feet wide and 118 feet deep. The homes are 19 feet wide and 31 feet long, with a patio in the rear and with a front yard.

The builder believes the homes are ideally suited for their owners—widows and widowers, bachelors, career women, and elderly couples.

The single bedroom, 12 by 13 feet, has a closet across the width of the room and opens on to a small bathroom. A hallway along the side of the house leads to an L-shaped living room, with a thermopaneled sliding window wall opening onto a miniature back yard.

Louvered doors open on a table-high counter separating the living room from the rectangular kitchen.

Blitzer said the houses are not expensive. Most often they are bought by persons who have sold larger, hard-to-maintain homes but who do not want to live in apartments. For persons who can afford a down payment of about $5,000, the monthly payments would amount to approximately $50 to $75.

Blitzer estimated that a $20,000 home in this area could be duplicated for $18,000 at San Antonio, Tex., and said that even around New York and Cleveland, O., once considered expensive, homes are not so high.

But the workmanship is superior, he said, even in the lowest priced homes, and owners have been forced to sell at a loss.

Speaker Scheduled

The Rev. Hugh F. Ash, D. D. of Charleston, W. Va., will give the sermon at the 11 a. m. service Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Ash is pastor of the Village Chapel Presbyterian Church in Charleston.

Bid On Bonds Equals Vote Of Confidence

Bond investment firms in Florida yesterday gave the Seminole County road program a healthy vote of confidence. Members of the County Commission and Mack Cleveland Jr., county attorney and members of the State Legislature, had expected bids on the bonds to carry a "substantially higher" interest rate than the 8.24 per cent bid by the Florida National group of banks.

Cleveland and the five board members were "very happy" at the outcome. Commissioners recommended that the Florida Development Commission, meeting in Gainesville today, accept the bid.

By comparison, Seminole did very well on its bonds. Three other counties, Putnam, Hendry and Taylor, also offered bonds. Only Taylor had a lower interest rate, 3.09 per cent. Putnam's low bid was 3.75 and Hendry's 4.08 per cent.

Sale of the bonds, scheduled yesterday, was delayed until today when weather cancelled out planes scheduled to transport investment officials to the meeting in Tallahassee.

Seminole County can be proud of the confidence expressed in the bids by all four of the firms. In many cases, interest rates in such bids are much higher; in some cases, bonds are difficult to sell because bidders are reluctant to offer their money for long-term investments.

These bonds are made possible by the secondary gasoline tax, collected from Seminole County by the state. They are not an indebtedness of the county; no local taxes are pledged to retire them.

It is too early to announce projects made possible by sale of the bonds. However, it is safe to assume that some of the money will be used to purchase rights-of-way for the interstate highway system through Seminole County.

Comparison is the only method of evaluation we have in Seminole County. We think we have a good county. It is encouraging to find that outsiders concur in this opinion.

Progress In Baseball

The man who will serve as manager of the Sanford baseball team has been chosen. His identity will be revealed in the near future.

W. K. McRoberts, after a meeting with Sherry Robertson, farm team director for the Washington Senators, said that everything is progressing "very nicely" toward the signing of the agreement between Sanford and Washington.

A corporation, to be known as the Sanford Baseball Club, now is being formed. Corporation funds should be posted by Jan. 30. Persons interested in becoming stockholders have been asked to contact McRoberts.

The corporation will be limited to as few stockholders as possible to assure maximum working efficiency.

Although the weather belies it, the baseball season isn't far away. The plans of Sanford for a return to organized baseball should be climaxed soon.

This progress report by McRoberts is good news for local baseball fans.

Officer Promoted On First Day Here

The executive officer of Heavy Attack Squadron One was promoted to the rank of commander the first day of the squadron's operations in its new quarters at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Cdr. Alvin Thomas received his new stripes, hat and collar insignia from Cdr. Eld Boney, commanding officer of the "Tigers".

'IF I HAD THE WINGS OF AN ANGEL—'

Washington Calling

WASHINGTON — What the visit of Anastas Mikoyan means for the future depends on decisions still to be taken in Washington and Moscow.

It has been an extraordinary exercise in atmospherics. The very fact that the No. 2 Russian Communist sat down in the White House for nearly two hours with President Eisenhower was in itself evidence of a change that no one would have believed possible six weeks ago.

For the time just ahead, two major qualifiers must be borne in mind if the visit is to be put in proper perspective. First, there are those both in Washington and in Moscow deeply opposed to any relaxation of tensions, and their influence should not be discounted.

So far as Moscow is concerned, Nikita Khrushchev's report to the 22nd Congress of the Communist party will almost certainly tell the tale. If on the basis of what Mikoyan reports to him he comes down hard for negotiation with the West on the broad issues of the cold war, then he will have cast the die against the so-called anti-party group and their hard line.

In Washington the situation is more complex, and it is here that the second qualifier must be raised. To have real meaning, any future negotiation must be prepared for with great thoroughness and exactitude. To go to a meeting merely with good will, relying on the sudden improvisation of something like the "open skies" proposal is to risk another far more dangerous disillusionment.

Take as an example the conference in Geneva aimed at reducing the danger from surprise attack. From the Russian side, pressure is coming to resume the meetings which were suspended just before Christmas. The same desire was expressed in an American note.

But to formulate a sound position in the immensely complicated field of modern weaponry would, in the opinion of those who should know, take from three to four months. It would have to be done by the same team of experts put together by William C. Foster.

Letters To The Editor

The Herald.

By reading The Herald, I find that our local merchants want constructive criticism.

I herewith submit: We need larger stores, better stores, better stock at better prices, better choices in merchandise and good country friendliness on the part of everybody.

Most of our salespeople are courteous. With few exceptions, I have found them most helpful, even when seeking an item they didn't stock.

Why does anyone go out of Sanford to shop? If merchants ask themselves, their friends and acquaintances, I think they could get all the answers. These answers could have been had years ago.

Parking lots nearer the stores would be helpful. Wouldn't it be nice if the city should buy up that whole block bounded by Park, Commercial, First St. and Railroad Ave.? Would make a grand pay parking lot and remove some of the older buildings. Would pay for itself, too. And goodness would it encourage more First St. shopping!

Another thing, some of the old buildings need to be torn down and rebuilt. What better time to do this than when we have unprecedented prosperity?

Strictly a personal note does any store in Sanford carry size 40 dresses? It's my size—not too unusual one of Sanford's strongest competing towns doesn't carry the size either, so I have to order my dresses or make them myself. You can buy lots of patterns that size. Why no dresses? Can't blame Sanford entirely on this one, though, because hardly any store carries them any more.

Oh, I know, I could think of a misses' size by doing, maybe, but I haven't been able to do this so far, and I can't wear a short-waisted, half-size designed for a woman six inches shorter than I am. I would be happy to buy a dress from local merchants, if I could find my size.

I think it is wonderful that the Sanford merchants finally are willing to do something about Sanford. Thanks to the merchants and The Sanford Herald for the chance to get something off my mind that has been grinding away for years.

ter, America's chief negotiator, for the first series of talks.

To go into a second round without having done this is to invite a repetition of what has happened before. The Russians put forward what are essentially political proposals without real safeguards of inspection and control. The Americans, without a detailed prepared position, are reduced to saying no, and the effect in the world is once more to make us look stubborn and reluctant.

So far as one can discover, no effort is being made to hammer out a new position.

In view of the conflict within the Eisenhower Administration over Soviet policy in almost every phase — nuclear testing, surprise attack, trade — some observers are saying that in the end it will be the U.S. that will have to make the concessions. The divergent views of the Pentagon, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the State Department can be welded together by only one man, and that is the President. He has shown in six years in the White House that it is just this kind of difficult, bruising task he deists most.

Yet it is clear from the Mikoyan visit that it is not possible just to sit still. Khrushchev is moving in a new direction. Short of a direct rebuff to his agent, Mikoyan, he shows every sign of pursuing with full vigor the course of "peaceful coexistence."

We know that Mikoyan was not rebuffed. His extended talks with Secretary of State Dulles, climaxed by his meeting with the President, had the look of negotiation if it were not that both sides so insistently repeated that the discussions were solely to explore each others' viewpoints. It is now time, therefore, in the view of observers who have so long watched the course of one step forward and one step back, for new vigor in the preparation of the American position.

Dulles' knowledge, his skill and the confidence the President reposes in him are an indispensable ingredient of that preparation. But Dulles, who has lived under the haunting fear of a usurper coming between him and the President, is himself today a little slowed by illness, age and the fearful burden he carries.

The time has come, some in the Administration are saying, for the Secretary to put greater reliance on men of ability whom he can trust. New men such as William C. Foster, John J. Metcalf, and Eric Johnston might be brought together in a negotiating council to frame the American position.

Dulles has asked Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to rethink the West German position on reunification. The time is at hand for some hard rethinking everywhere.

Once Put 'Em In, Now Bails 'Em Out

A. W. Ansley, former Florida beverage agent and wildlife officer, has opened a bail bond agency in Sanford.

The veteran law enforcement officer said, in connection with his decision to enter private business here, that "I really bailed people out of jail, more than putting them in jail."

He said "I'm soliciting 'business' from former 'customers,' as well as new ones."

Dear Editor:

I have known Arnold Williams for several years. We met him and his wife accidentally and have become close friends. In eight years things have come up that would make any normal person aggravated, but he is always composed. We might have little disagreements, but he never gets impatient no matter how tired he is or sleepy from working late at night. If anyone has seen him, mad or angry, I'd like to know who.

This to me is the true mark of a courteous person; one that practices courtesy all year, every year, not just one day or week.

We see him on the average of every two weeks all year long. So we know.

Sincerely,
M. Land

Dear Sir:

Not long ago I was a witness to an accident on Mellenville Ave. The officer that investigated it was very busy trying to determine if one of the drivers had been drinking and also getting him off the street. The other driver was a woman who kept coming over to the officer and blurring out questions to him. He very calmly stopped what he was doing and asked her politely to please go in her car and wait until he was finished with the first driver and then he would talk to her.

Every few seconds she would be back interrupting and pestering him again. She did this so many times that even the people watching felt like telling her to shut up and let him alone. The officer remained exceptionally calm and continued to ask her to please go to her car and wait.

It took more than the patience of Job to keep anyone from losing his temper at these annoying interruptions, but we mentioned at that time that this officer is most unusual for being able to hold his temper and still be so courteous.

Oh yes, I almost forgot to mention his name. I am speaking of Captain Arnold Williams.

Yours very truly,
(Name on Request)

Inez Robb Says

By INEZ ROBB

Americans of every social strata are too smart to be lulled, lulled or bullied by Anastas I. Mikoyan and the sweet-talking claptrap he has been producing on his cross-country tour of the U.S. A. in the salty opinion of a leading American capitalist.

"No American is being taken in by this Russian burlesque show starring Mikoyan," said Gordon W. Reed, board chairman of the Texas Gulf Producing Company and consultant to the U. S. Air Force on its whole missile program.

"It's nonsense to believe the American people and industry are so stupid that Mikoyan can sell us up for another blow at this country," he snorted, when we met the other day.

"At the Economic Club dinner the other night, I sat next to Mikoyan. Or rather, his interpreter, Alex Troyanovsky, sat between us so we could talk to each other."

"Now, that dinner was attended by 1,200 leaders of American finance, business and industry. And everyone was there in the mood of a fella attending a burlesque show. Not one was fooled by Mikoyan. You know as well as I do that if Al Capone came back to life, someone would give a dinner for him!"

"I don't know a single person who went to that dinner last week who didn't exit laughing at Mikoyan and his show. Do you think that crowd was fooled when Mikoyan told it that Russia had freedom of the press until we—

we, mind you!—started the cold war?"

"If I were writing a definitive headline to cover this whole Mikoyan tour, I'd just say: 'The Clown Takes the Bow.' You can't believe a word the Russians say, and Mikoyan's visit hasn't altered that fact in the American mind."

"You never know how much of what you're saying to a Russian really gets through to him. But I told Mikoyan that it was we Americans, not the Communists, who had solved the problem of how to take money away from the rich and share it with the poor without bloodshed. We do it via the income tax. I pointed out to him that the highest income tax in the U.S.S.R. is 15 percent versus our 82 percent."

"I also pointed out to him that our inheritance tax ranges up to 80 percent, while the U.S.S.R. has neither an inheritance nor a gift tax. I told him that what Russia really has is state capitalism with inherited jobs."

"But I don't kid myself that Mikoyan isn't a brilliant man and very well-informed. And he made at least one surprising admission. When a friend of mine told Mikoyan that I had been the assistant director of the aluminum magnesium division of the War Production Board and had been responsible for expediting aluminum to Russia, Mikoyan got up and shook my hand. Then he said that without American aluminum shipments 'Russia would have been in a bad plight.' You know, they don't usually make those confessions."

"There can be no doubt but that what is eating the Russians is the German question. They are terrified of another Hitler who would unify and militarize the Germans, the most powerful nation in Western Europe. They want to get our armed forces out of Germany. But they'd probably probably keep there a uniformed police of their own, that could be expanded, and we'd be dead."

"I talked with Mikoyan about the oil business and Arab turmoil, but how much got over to him I'll never know. I made the point that if the Arab countries collapse into such turmoil that oil production comes to a halt, Russia could and would take over the Arab oil market."

"Russia has enormous oil potentials. She couldn't take over the Arab markets immediately, but she could eventually. And don't think she wouldn't double-cross her 'Arab friends' if she got the chance in the oil market."

"No, Americans haven't been lulled. I think Mikoyan has learned considerable. I think he's discovered that the American capitalist is an alert, steady guy. Mikoyan went home, I'm sure, with a wholesome respect for the U.S.A."

League Expansion Under Discussion By Pro Basketball

DETROIT (UPI)—National Basketball Association club owners, having disposed of several weighty problems, including the Elgin Baylor incident, resumed discussions today regarding possible expansion of the circuit.

League President Maurice Podoloff said the owners were confronted by numerous problems in their efforts to expand to the West Coast. Those problems included transportation, the obtaining of players to staff the new teams and the arrangement of a schedule "on a reasonably sound economic basis."

"If it were a question of such cities as Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh or Baltimore, there would be no such problems involved," Podoloff said. "But the West Coast is a different matter. We would have to add two teams at the same time and that complicates matters."

The league's referees also were represented at Thursday's session and they told the owners they felt they would be better "protected" if they worked under contract rather than on a game-to-game basis as they do now.

The owners promised to "explore the problem" at the end of this season and said that a system of contracts probably would be put into effect next year.

President Bob Short of the Minneapolis Lakers said that henceforth he will insist that a non-segregation clause be included in all games played by his team in non-league cities.

Short's announcement was prompted by last Friday night's incident at Charleston, W. Va., involving Baylor, the Lakers' rookie Negro star. Baylor sat out a game between the Lakers and Cincinnati Royals in protest when he was not allowed to register in a Charleston hotel.

Seminoles Favored To Defeat Knights

By JERRY COVINGTON

The Sanford Seminoles host the FMS Black Knights here tonight in a doubleheader. The tip-off for the JV game will be at 7 p.m., the varsity contest will begin at 8:15 in the Seminole gym.

Coach Bud Lyster's small but fast squad will be seeking its ninth win of the season. The record now stands at 8-5. In the Orange Belt Conference the record is 2-2. Tuesday night, the speedsters played their best game of the season in the 49-33 victory over Lakeview in a conference tilt.

Coach Dick Silver's JV's suffered their second defeat of the season against Lakeview and their record now stands at 9-2. In the first meeting against FMS the youngsters scored an easy 28-26 win.

In the first meeting of the varsity and FMS, high-scoring Jimmy Gracy dumped in 22 points to pace his squad to an easy 41-43 victory. The Knights have a sharp shooter in Steve Evans who scored 28 points against the Seminoles in the first meeting.

At the halfway mark of the season, with district and OBC tournaments yet to come, Gracy has taken a commanding lead in the string department. The six-foot-11 Gracy has 219 points in 13 games and is well on his way to a new scoring record. Last week against Leesburg he set a new school record in a single game with 31 points.

He has hit in double figures in every contest except against Lakeview, where he was held scoreless. All-conference guard Ray Lundquist, although he missed the first several games because of football, is hot on his trail with 174 points.

In the JV scoring department, little George Perides has shown great shooting ability and has dumped in 123 points in 12 games. All-conference guard Ray Lundquist, although he missed the first several games because of football, is hot on his trail with 174 points.

The best overall time in the Gymkhana was credited to Clay Smith and his Porsche, with Phil Bell just one second behind. In third place was H. W. Byrne and his MG. Fourth was Gene Pennington in a Morris Minor, fifth went to Norman Wilbur in a TR-3, sixth, Ray Johnson and his Vauxhall, seventh, James Sigman in a Volvo, eighth, Ed Hoffman in a Zodiak, and in ninth place was John Frick in his Studeraker Hawk.

Trophies for winners will be presented at the next club meeting, at the Seminole Raceway Turf Club in Casselberry, Feb. 12, at 8 p. m.

Clay Smith Wins Latest Gymkhana

The Gymkhana held Sunday by the Seminole Sports Car Club, was termed a complete success.

In addition to giving the contestants opportunities to test their driving skill, the event provided entertainment for spectators.

There were four events that required more than just ordinary driving accuracy, three of them combined athletic skill with navigation, and one event required two cars to be tied together with a string 12 inches long for a straightaway drive, then around a bend.

Promoter Seeking Sugar For Archie Bout For Stadium

NEW YORK (UPI)—Promoter Teddy Brenner sought the lush Archie Moore-Ray Robinson title fight today because of a threat to the stadium. Moore and Robinson are scheduled to fight at the International Boxing Club, Brenner, promoter of the Monday night fight at St. Nicholas Arena, said "I want that match. It'll draw a million dollars at Yankee Stadium. I'll talk to Robinson today. Jack Kearns and Moore are all for it."

Middleweight champion Robinson angrily disclosed Thursday night that he is battling the IBC over movie money from his last two title bouts with ex-champion Carmen Basilio.

He said the IBC figures for his next bout were "ridiculous," and that he didn't get his proper share. He would bring suit against the IBC and United Artists, the distributor.

"The IBC was supposed to be protecting me and Basilio in this movie matter," he explained tartly. "And now, if I find for sure they haven't protected us, I'll never fight for Truman Gibson and the IBC again."

'Hard Luck' Kline Needs 'Good Luck' Charms Of Public

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now is the time for all Pittsburgh boosters to gather up their favorite good luck charms and mail them post-haste to pitcher Ronnie Kline.

A streak of good luck for "hard luck" Ronnie is about all those optimistic Pirates need to become a red-hot contender for the National League pennant.

On most days, most seasons, Ronnie is the niftiest-looking right-hander you ever could hope to see. He was everything including speed, skill, and savvy but when the final averages are posted he invariably has lost more than he has won.

Last year, only nine National League pitchers had better earned run averages than Kline. But last year nobody had more earned runs in the league than Ronnie's 16, against 13 victories.

Gets No Run

Now when a pitcher looks like a million but loses like a bum the first factor questioned is his courage but never in his five seasons with the Bucs has there been a hint that Ronnie lacks heart.

What he lacks most is runs by his teammates," according to the National League's statistician.

"The Pirates don't give him anything to work on."

A recheck of last season shows Ronnie lost four games by one run, three by two runs and one pitched strong games in which the Pirates were shut out.

And tops in the hard luck department was a 3-1 defeat by the Braves in September the only Pittsburgh defeat in a four-game series against the champs. It was the most feverish series the city of Pittsburgh has seen in many a year. Some 30,000 turned out for a Friday night game won by the Pirates. There were 23,000 for a Saturday afternoon game Pittsburgh also won.

Kline Loses Tough One

On Sunday, before 37,000, Kline pitched the first game of a doubleheader and—naturally—drew Milwaukee Ace Warren Spahn as his foe.

Spahn put the tying runs on base in the ninth but got out of the jam for a 3-1 victory. Ronnie had a 1-1 tie in the eighth until a Pirate missed a pop foul by Wes Covington for what would have been a third out. Covington blasted a two-run double on his "second life."

Officers Probing Champ Death Car

GUILDFORD, England (UPI)—Police investigating teams today sought an answer to how world racing champion Mike Hawthorn lost control of his sedan on a highway here Thursday and died.

Hawthorn's Jaguar car, capable of over 100 mph, skidded on a wet asphalt surface, brushed an oncoming truck, and crashed into a tree on the opposite side of the road, midday, Thursday.

He was dead on arrival at Guildford Hospital.

The 29-year-old driver gave up Grand Prix racing at the end of his championship season last year to devote his time to his garage business near here.

Hawthorn's friend, Bob Walker, whom Hawthorn passed just before the crash, denied that he had been racing on the road. He suggested to investigators Thursday night that the strong gusts of wind that had moved his Mercedes sports car two yards sideways shortly before Hawthorn crashed were the cause of the fatal die.

Walker, heir to a Scotch whisky fortune, said that he and Hawthorn met on the road by coincidence. He said he was going about 40 mph when Hawthorn passed him just before he lost control.

Hunt Keeps Lead In City Cage Loop

Hunt Lincoln Mercury continues to lead the independent city basketball league race with a perfect 2-0 record.

Hunt kept its winning streak unbroken with a 49-17 rout of Pinecrest Baptist this week. McRoberts Tire, loser of only one game, continued to put the pressure on the leaders by taking a 45-35 decision over the Rebels. McRoberts now has a 1-1 record.

In the other game of the week, Navy took a 53-30 win over Free Methodist. Going into games next week, Pinecrest Baptist, Free Methodist, Navy and the Rebels all are tied with 2-5 records.

The schedule for next week matches the Rebels and Pinecrest, Hunt and Navy and McRoberts against Free Methodist.

Senators Seek To Quit Cellar

EDITORS NOTE: This is the 10th of 16 dispatches by the major league managers giving mid-winter appraisals of their teams.

ORINDA, Calif. (UPI)—Our goal is to get out of the cellar next season and play .500 ball. I think we have a chance to do both if some of our players reach their potential.

I'm talking about guys like Ron Bertorio, whom we acquired in that six-player deal which sent Ed Voss to Detroit. J.W. Porter and pitchers Camilo Pascual and Bill Fischer.

Bertorio probably will get the first shot at third base. I think he has the ability to become a good ballplayer but never had a chance to settle down and work at it. Porter also is a player with a lot of talent who can become a real big leaguer. Pascual has the ability to win 15 games a year. And Fischer pitched good ball for us toward the end of the season.

Two Jobs Assured

Positions are up for grabs all around the club, however. Outfielders Roy Sievers and Albie Pearson, our American League Rookie of the Year, are the only two who seem positive of being in the regular lineup.

It's up to Norm Zauchin to hang onto that first base job. He had a bad season last year and I'm looking for him to bounce back. If he doesn't, I could put Sievers at first base and send Porter into Roy's left field spot.

I'm also looking for better things from Ken Aspromonte at second. He's a better hitter than

Lonely End Got Signals By Foot, Blaik Reveals

NEW YORK (UPI)—College football's best kept secret—how Army's "lonely end" receives his signals—was divulged for the first time Thursday night by its creator, Earl (Red) Blaik.

The Cadets' outgoing head coach left the cat out of the bag during an off-the-cuff speech before members of the Touchdown Club of New York, who honored him "for his long and meritorious service to college football" at their silver anniversary dinner.

"I have been asked many times to explain the secret of the lonely end formation," said Blaik, who surprised rival coaches last season by stationing one end, Bill Carpenter, far out on the flank and never permitting him to enter the huddle.

Decides To Tell

"I always declined to discuss how he received his signals, but now I think it might be a nice idea to tell you how simple it is," he added.

The 61-year-old coach, who will leave West Point next month to accept an executive position in the business world, then went on to explain how Carpenter always knew what play quarterback Joe Caldwell had called.

"If you recall, Caldwell always had a towel attached to his pants," Blaik said. "He would take the towel and massage it before each play. All he was doing was wiping his hands. His hands perspired a lot."

"But if you watched Caldwell closely—and a lot of people did—you noticed for example when he lined up facing the huddle, his two feet were in a different position. If his feet were parallel in a closed stance—it meant a run. If his left foot was forward, it also meant a run. But if his right foot was forward, it meant a pass."

"All you had was a pass or run, and there you have it."

Blaik then went on to explain that additional information was transmitted to the lonely end by another man, advising the end which route to take downfield on each play. These signals were transmitted by a player touching his helmet, rubbing his nose or grabbing his jersey.

Although he used the dinner to get a few things off his chest, Blaik still declined to reveal what business he plans to enter when his resignation becomes effective on his 62nd birthday, Feb. 15. However, it is believed he will accept a position with an aircraft firm or enter the television field.

Grid Owners Study Plans For Pension

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The National Football League took another look at the pension plan proposed by the Players Association today after a forceful presentation of the pro gridder's case put on the owner's thinking cap.

Bill Dudley, an all-star during his many years in the league and now an insurance consultant, outlined the players' hopes for a minimum $100 a month pension at the age of 65 years.

The plan handed the owners caused Commissioner Bert Bell, who long held a pension wasn't feasible, to state he now had an open mind and that he was "perfectly willing to listen, discuss and study it."

Players, League Contribute

Dudley's outline, presented with Association President Billy Horton of Green Bay, asked that $300,000 be set aside annually for the old age benefits, with both the league and players contributing to the treasury.

He estimated $120,000 was needed from the league, and $125,000 from the players, with each participating player among the 400 old gridder in the league paying $200 a year.

A majority of the owners agreed that the plan was presented forcefully and intelligently. What probably helped sell the owner consideration was the emphasis of the players looking to sources which wouldn't cost the clubs anything.

"They know the labor clubs couldn't afford it," Bell said.

Suggest Income Sources

The players recommended as possible income sources for the league's share the playing of an additional exhibition game by each team, a possible cut into the proceeds from the pro bowl and college allstar games, and perhaps a "two out of three" game series for the league championship.

The owners let the game rules alone, thus providing for the age game next season as drew the record crowd last year. Eleven rules changes were proposed, and all were defeated or withdrawn.

More than a quarter of all fires in the U. S. are caused by smoking and matches.

Baron Rupp Nixes Bids For Services

NEW YORK (UPI)—Only some "utterly fantastic" offer could lure Adolph Rupp, college basketball's winningest coach, to leave the Kentucky Wildcats.

That's what "the man in the brown suit" said when asked about the various offers and offers from professional clubs reportedly being made to him as he approaches his 60th birthday.

At 57, the baron of the found hall will have his magic 600 when his Wildcats—the nation's top-ranked team—register two more victories—possibly against Georgia Tech next Monday and Georgia, the following Thursday. They have won 14 of their last 15 games.

"They've amazed me this season," said the tutor of tall towers, who has the highest long-stretch winning average in hard-work coaching history. When he started the current season, his 584 wins and 103 losses gave him an 850 for his 28 years as keeper of the Cats.

"I didn't expect much from this sophomore team," he explained, "and neither did anyone else. But the youngsters came through in a big way."

Cousy Is Injured; To Miss All-Star

DETROIT (UPI)—Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, who has broken up more than one National Basketball Association All-Star game during his glamorous career, undoubtedly will be on the sidelines with a leg injury when the East pros meet the West tonight.

Although the announcement of Cousy's status was couched in confusion and a touch of controversy, it was plain that Coach Red Auerbach and owner Walter Brown of the Celtics had no intention of risking a prolonged injury by playing their brilliant backcourt man tonight.

Two other east stars, Bill Russell of the Celtics and Ken Sears of the Knickerbockers, also were hobbled by injuries. The odds, which previously favored the east by 2 1/2 points, were expected to drop to even money by game time.

The second half of the All-Star game will be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company, starting at 10 p. m. east, the time customarily occupied by the Friday night boxing matches.

Edge Of Night Favorite At Kennel Club Tonight

Edge of Nile is expected to knife his way to victory through the eight greyhound pack in the grade-A feature tonight at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The black 52-pound miss is the lightest in the field, but quick maneuvering and speed on the turns has established her as one of the kennel club's best hounds. She'll be galloping in quest of her third triumph in nine stags. She has placed twice and ran third once earlier in the season.

But the small greyhound will be running from the most unpopular spot at the starting gate, the sixth post position. Dogs with six position's yellow jacket have won less than half than the greyhounds in the first and second positions.

In the coveted one spot will be Rusty Deag, a 52-pound red brindle dog who moved up to the A ranks in his last race and rumped to second place behind Shoes. Up the track's longest champ who paid $283.80 for a $2 was ticket.

Frisco Buck, in the third box, is another one to watch in the ninth race. Frisco has lucked his way to race three times this season, and has been a stalwart of the top-fifth ranks.

Others in the feature are Barbara Marie, Song Time, Dark Hill, Rural Cries and White Haired Boy. Post time: 8:10.

Navy To Mix Norfolk Students

U. S. To Finance Special Classes; Ruling Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy will set up an integrated school at its Norfolk, Va., base for the children of military personnel who live on the base if six Norfolk public schools are not opened shortly.

This was announced today by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare.

He told a news conference the Navy intends to seek funds from the Office of Education to run the school. He said it will take care of only 500 students and "definitely will be integrated."

Flemming said funds for the school will be available in time for the start of the February term.

Several Norfolk public schools, as well as those in two other Virginia communities, have been shut down under the state's massive resistance laws. The Virginia Supreme Court and a three-judge federal court recently struck down the laws designed to avoid desegregation.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond has called a special session of the General Assembly to meet Wednesday to try further to prevent integration in Virginia.

"Of the four communities which called a special session of the desegregation issue," Flemming said, "Norfolk presents the most acute problem to the government in terms of numbers of students."

The three other communities Flemming referred to are Little Rock, Ark., Charlottesville, Va., and Warren County, Va.

Flemming also revealed that the administration is drafting legislation to enable the government to set up schools for children of military personnel who live off military bases as well as for those who live on bases. This would be done when the schools these children usually attend have been closed.

Mrs. Bruce Chosen Organization Head

Mrs. Camilla Bruce returned to Sanford Saturday as the president of a new organization.

Mrs. Bruce, supervisor of county registration, left here Friday as president of the Florida Association of Superintendents of Registration. The Association changed its name during the mid-winter meeting in Orlando. She now heads the Florida Association of Superintendents of Elections Inc.

The two-day session included hearing proposed legislation for the state legislature and nomination of officers, who will be elected next summer.

The group adopted a plan submitted by Mrs. Bruce to help the handicapped in elections. Special cards will be issued to the permanently blind permitting them to vote without constantly filling out a long form. The long form primarily is for the illiterate. The new ruling will avoid embarrassment and discomfort for the handicapped.

Two Children Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

Nine-year-old Terry Lamb was released from Seminole Memorial Hospital this morning and returned to his family home at the bandshell. Terry was hit by a truck Saturday morning as he rode his bicycle down Lakeshore Blvd.

John Thomas Fortier Jr., 37, driver of the truck, told police officers that the boy swerved his bicycle in front of his pickup as both traveled west between Hood and Park Ave.

Terry was taken to the Sanford Clinic, where Dr. Ed Lindsey examined him for a possible skull fracture. He was released this morning still suffering abrasions.

The child ran into the right front fender of the truck, and was dragged 25 feet as the driver attempted to avoid hitting him. The bicycle was knocked to one side. Fortier, who lives on the Lake

Shoppers, Merchants Desire Same Things

Local shoppers and local merchants want the same thing. This is established by letters from the public and answers from Sanford business establishments.

The shopping public wants bigger stores, better stores, a wider selection of merchandise, bigger and better sales, a more attractive town.

Sanford merchants want the same thing. They would like to have a new store, remodel the building in which their merchandise now is located, add more merchandise, stage bigger and more frequent promotions.

Local merchants are aware of customer wishes; Seminole County shoppers realize that merchants would like to make improvements.

The key is the consumer. The average man and woman in Sanford and Seminole County can help make the town what they want it to be.

This cannot be accomplished by wishing, however. Just as the local merchant cannot achieve his goals by wishing for more customers, the consumer cannot make Sanford what it should be by wishing things were different.

The merchant, to provide newer and bigger stores and other things that shoppers want, must have money. And where will he get this money? The only source is the local consumer.

Economic surveys have proved that 30 cents of every dollar remains in the city where it is spent. It is used to support schools, pave streets, invest in new merchandise and to support all of the other things that promote prosperity, growth and better living in a community.

Therefore, one-third of the consumer dollars helps make some community more prosperous. Dollars spent here help Sanford. More local trade means more and better stores, better selection of merchandise and other things that customers have said they want.

To give local consumers more, the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce is being reorganized. The goal of this group is very simple: more happy customers. Achievement of this goal will bring all of the other things that customers, and merchants, desire.

Retail Merchants are planning for the next six months, buying stock, giving sales personnel training, etc.

While this group is getting everything in order, local consumers can give Sanford a vote of confidence. For reasons cited above, it pays to buy where you live; it pays to build your community, not the other fellows'. If you help him to get the finer things of life, who will build your community?

'Blank' Harrison Had Bleached Hair

M. I. (Sonny) Harrison Jr. received the Distinguished Service Award from the Junior Chamber of Commerce Saturday night.

Presentation of the bronze plaque was made by Mayor Al Wilson at the annual Jaycee banquet climaxed National Jaycee Week.

The 31-year-old past president of the Jaycees was cited for his community service in 1958. During the year he served as senior warden at his church (Holy Cross Episcopal), was a member of the board of directors of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, and active on the Armed Forces Committee. Harrison also led the fight for passing school bonds as chairman of a Jaycee committee, and is immediately past president of the organization.

Mayor Wilson presented the coveted award "for outstanding community service through loyal, faithful and unselfish efforts resulting in lasting contribution to 'community and nation'."

Harrison received the Jaycee award while he was president of his senior class at Seminole High School. In accepting the plaque Saturday night, Harrison told Jaycees that the amount of service dedicated to the community depended on the individual.

3 Fires Reported By Forest Rangers

Seminole forest rangers today reported three weekend fires, one of which was brought under control by Boy Scouts and volunteers.

Rangers said a blaze two miles south of Geneva would have consumed some 200 acres of timber except for quick action by Scout Troop 39 of Winter Park.

Scouts working under the supervision of Ed Grandberry, Scoutmaster, Jim Robinson, Tom Clarke and Fleet Peoples, Winter Park, had the fire under control when rangers arrived. The blaze burned about a half acre of scrub timber.

Rangers said this blaze would have been "out of control" by the time they arrived.

The Longwood Fire Department was credited with stopping a blaze at Sandalwood Trailer Park, which was started by burning trash. It was contained, to some degree, by the Little Wekiva River and canal. Approximately 50 acres were burned.

Two acres were burned about three miles south of Oveland before rangers could extinguish a blaze whipped through woodlands by high winds. Rangers said a quick call by Mrs. Adele Parsons prevented greater damage.

Concert To Lure Heart Officials

Thomas Phillips, president of the Florida Heart Association, will attend the Victor Borge concert Saturday night.

Phillips is from St. Petersburg. Also attending will be Douglas DeNeen, president of the state Heart Association Medical Advisory Committee, and Dr. Simon Hoff, of Jacksonville.

Tickets still are available for the concert. Only 53 seats are left, but Jaycees, who are promoting the concert, say that acoustics are excellent in this section of the Civic Center.

The final list of Heart Fund Concert sponsors includes Mr. and Mrs. George Harden Jr., Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Rosemond, Dr. and Mrs. W. W. White, Mrs. Herman Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hauman, Dr. and Mrs. Simon Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Phillips, and Douglas DeNeen.

PTA Will Meet To Pick Officers

The Seminole High PTA will meet at 7:30 tomorrow night for election of officers and amendment of by-laws.

The session will be held in the music room of the high school, and will adjourn at 8 when members will hear a lecture by Charles S. High, consultant for exceptional children for the State Board of Education.

Group To Meet

The first meeting of the new year for the Mental Health Association of Seminole County will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at the office of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 110 West First St.

Navy Man Drowns While Fishing In Lake; Body Found

A Navy man with 28 years of service and five children drowned accidentally in Lake Emma Saturday afternoon.

Coroner Hugh Duncan said that Joseph John Kucharsky, 47, apparently was thrown overboard when he started the outboard motor on his fishing boat. A fishing line was still tangled in his hands when the body was recovered.

A friend who had been fishing in another boat returned to the lake and found the empty boat caught in the weeds at the shore. E. J. Lachter, VAH-3, followed the fishing line which led from the boat to the body of the drowned man.

The discovery was made about 4 p. m. Saturday. Investigating with Duncan were Constable Slim Galloway and Sheriff's Deputies L. J. Kruz and Vern Brewster.

Kucharsky was a Vital Class Boatman, attached to NAS, Sanford. He reported here for duty Jan. 1 from the USS Fortuitous. This was his second tour at the Naval Air Station. Judge Tries Judge In Contempt Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — An Alabama judge was tried today before an old college classmate on charges of being in contempt for refusing to turn Negro voting records over to the Federal Civil Rights Commission.

In a non-jury trial that lasted not much more than an hour, the chief investigator for the commission testified that former Circuit Judge George Wallace refused four times to produce the registration records in defiance of a federal court order.

The Wallace side did not put a witness on the stand. If convicted of contempt as charged by the government, the jurist could be sent to jail for up to 45 days.

Federal Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. recessed the case until 2 p. m. c. s. t. when he is expected to hand down his decision.

The heart of the defense side in today's deliberations was a statement submitted at the opening of court by Wallace. In it he pleaded guilty to failing to deliver voting records to agents of the Civil Rights Commission, but he pleaded not guilty to contempt.

In previous hearings, however, Johnson had already ruled that Wallace's judicial position in a state court did not give him immunity from compliance with acts and regulations of the federal government.

Hawaii Statehood Asked Of Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Eisenhower administration asked Congress today for immediate action to make Hawaii the 50th state.

Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton laid down the administration's position in testimony before the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee. He said Hawaii has met every test for statehood and "earned the right to fair and equal treatment" with the other 49 states.

Seaton flatly rejected an argument that "prevents in some quarters that Hawaii is susceptible to control by Communists."

The fact is that the people of Hawaii, time after time, have utterly rejected the Communist philosophy and every attempt of Communists to influence their government," he said.

Seminole Citrus Growers Make Lake Alfred Tour

Seminole County citrus growers journeyed to Lake Alfred last week to be brought up to date on the latest developments in research being conducted on growers' ailments at the Citrus Experiment Station.

This was the third annual joint tour taken by Orange, Osceola and Seminole County growers to the station. About 70 citrus growers, caretakers and others braved wind and rain to attend the open house meeting, more than 175 attended the tour last January, following the freeze.

In a discussion of current problems in scale control, W. L. Thompson warned growers to "expect heavy carry-over of scale this spring since unusually heavy carry-overs were noted after the 1949-51 and 1957-58 freezes." His suggestion was for growers to include a scaleicide in the post-bloom spray.

The tour this year was aimed at more coverage of tangerine production problems—a subject not covered in previous tours. The various factors involved in the lowering of grade in tangerines was discussed. A tour of the tangerine plots also was scheduled, but was not made because of rain.

It was pointed out that one of the greatest causes of peel break-down of shipped tangerines is due to heavy rain or irrigation within three or four days of fruit harvest.

Other topics—including fertilization—were discussed by research workers. It is expected that new and different recommendations for fertilizing young citrus trees will be made public this year.

Some of the Seminole County people attending were Abe Beer, Mrs. R. L. Croon, Goldenrod; N. Cross, Tom Ferrell and Carl Galloway, Jr., Maitland; Bob Ward, C. C. Henderson, Sanford; Ed Parker and Dick Parker, Goldentop; Frank Russell, Fern Park; Jim Nouermon and Merritt Staley, Oviedo; Jack Sime, Goldenrod; Ben Ward, Bob Ward and Frank Wheeler, Jr., Oviedo.
