

At The Capitol

TALLAHASSEE, May 7.—The greatest organization, the finest oratory and the hardest fight of the session occurred today, on the Workman's Compensation Act. After an hour or two of debate, Senate Bill No. 1 was indefinitely postponed.

The Workman's Compensation measure was the main issue before the House today. Pete Robinson, the learned gentleman from Dade, held the House spellbound with a flow of language the equal of Webster or Wilson. Robinson quoted from Shakespeare, Milton, and the Bible and his arguments were forceful, persuasive, convincing and logical and for a lofty idealism and the practice of humanitarian principles in dealing with our laboring brothers.

Mrs. Fuller, the Lady from Orange, also made a stirring appeal in favor of this Act.

Mr. Hagen and I met with the appropriations committee last night, to have them keep the $7500.00 annual appropriation for investigation of diseases and pests in the Sanford-Orlando celery section. We feel that this will be done.

The longest meetings of the session were held Thursday from 10:00 o'clock to 1:40 o'clock, and from three to five and from eight to ten tonight. Seven hours and forty-five minutes of oratory and debate there with the "mighty" hard days like this, so a little training will be good for us.

The college girls from Seminole are reappreciating and have invited Mr. Hagen and daughter and my wife and me to have supper with them next Wednesday. We all look forward to this with pleasure.

The lobbyists are still arriving and they cannot find places to stay. The hotels are full and several have waiting lists of reservations. Almost every private home with spare rooms is entertaining some guests.

A large number of local bills passed tonight. Four relating to the City of Sanford—House Bills numbers 321, 324, 325 and 320. House Bill No. 807 was introduced by Mr. Hagen and me today. It pertains to the city limits of Altamonte Springs.

Russia Puts Cold Water On Planned Around-World Hop

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—(AP)—John Henry Mears, globe-circler, announced yesterday his projected third flight around the world had been postponed because the Soviet government has refused permission to fly over Russia. "It's a mystery to me," he remarked. "Last March the Amtorg Trading Corporation (Soviet business organization in the United States) led me to believe there would be no difficulty in obtaining permission to fly over Russia."

"Today, I have a telegram from Russian government representative in Washington saying permission has been declined. "When I made my second flight around the world in 1923 (since bettered by the Graf Zeppelin), Capt. C. E. D. Collier and I flew over Russia. We were treated wonderfully, had all the co-operation the Russian government could give, and everything went fine. "Mears, disappointed, said his ambition was to lower the Graf Zeppelin record of 21 days. He hopes with favorable weather to cross around the globe in 18 days. He had engaged Vamo Bros. to furnish a plane to fly a new 22,000-horsepower biplane. Mears said he would return to New York next week to plan to see if anything could be done about it.

DANVILLE, N. Y., May 8.—(AP)—Miss Helen Randall, 79, third cousin of President Hoover and a grade teacher here for many years, died yesterday.

EDISON THINKS OIL SUPPLY IS UNDER FLORIDA

Says He Has Followed Drilling Operations In State And Opinion Oil Will Be Struck

FT. MYERS, May 8.—(AP)—Thomas Edison said today that he believes oil will be found beneath Florida's fertile soil. The inventive genius not only believes oil is there but said he is interested in efforts to bring it in and hopes Florida some day will count off among its many rich natural resources.

Pausing in his rubber experiments the inventor indicated he has followed what oil drilling activity has already taken place in the state. "Yes, I think drillers will either find oil or sulphur similar to the Texas field," Edison said, adding that the discovery of oil in Florida will be "a great thing" for the state. Asked why he never invented an apparatus to discover oil without the expense of drilling the inventor chuckled and said "I haven't the time. I never tackle but one job at a time and my rubber experiments are enough to keep me busy right now."

Edison took time off from his rubber experiments here yesterday to brand reports of successful extraction of rubber from crude oil in Russia, as a "fake."

The aged inventor had just read an account of Soviet experiments with crude oil. "I don't think the Moscow report is true," Mr. Edison said. "I don't believe one can get good rubber from oil. I would even go as far as to say oil rubber is a fake."

"The Russians, to my knowledge, are working on extraction of rubber from the guayule plant, which is now being grown successfully in the United States. I think they also are working on other plants but they had better stick to the guayule because it is the best rubber producer outside the tropics."

The inventor declined to discuss his own rubber experiments except to report his progress with guayule as "satisfactory." Further discussing the Russian experiments with plants, Mr. Edison said, "They have five or six rubber producing plants in Russia, while I have discovered 12th plants in America containing rubber. YOUNG GUNMAN IS TAKEN BY POLICE AFTER WILD FRAY

NEW YORK, May 8.—(AP)—Francis Crowley, youthful workman and his pistol pal, Rudolph Durlinger, were indicted for murder today by a grand jury. Crowley is charged with killing Patrolman Frederick Hirsch on Long Island last Monday and Durlinger with the slaying of Virginia Brannen, young taxi dancer from Malibu.

They were captured with a girl companion, Helen Walsh, late yesterday when 200 policemen with guns, axes, and bombs surrounded the apartment used by Crowley as his headquarters. The capture of the trio after exchanges of hundreds of shots and the wounding of Crowley was described of Commissioner Mulvey as "the most thrilling and dramatic experience" he had seen in 30 years as a police officer.

Wounded in the arms, legs and body, and shouting that his best shot had been fired, Crowley gave up the fight. With him were taken Rudolph Durlinger, sought as the slayer of Virginia Brannen, dancer hall hostess, near Yorkville, Apr. 27, and Helen Walsh, Crowley's companion on a motor party which early Wednesday led to the fatal shooting of Patrolman Frederick Hirsch near North Merrick, Long Island.

Durlinger and the Walsh girl bore slight hurts, police said, which might have been from splintered chairs from walls by gun fire. Fully 7000 persons crowded about the battle zone, watching one of the most dramatic captures in local police annals. Reserves of uniformed police held the crowds out of danger while detectives invaded the four-story rooming house, swarmed over adjoining roofs or poured volleys through shattered windows into the three-room hideout of Crowley and his pals.

In the midst of a quiet uptown neighborhood of apartments and old-fashioned homes, the din of the fray could be heard for blocks. Not a pedestrian was hit by the 1000 or more shots exchanged in the long siege. Only one bullet found an officer, and it glanced from his chest. (Continued on Page Six)

SENATE OKEYS BILL PROVIDING TAX ON DEATH

TALLAHASSEE, May 8.—(AP)—The Senate today voted 31 to four in favor of a state inheritance tax law providing that all revenue go to a general state fund. Governor Carlton recently vetoed the inheritance tax bill passed by the Legislature because it would divert revenue to schools. An attempt to insert a similar measure in the bill today was defeated.

The Senate today also adopted a bill returning the control of everglades drainage district to a local board of five members. The bill became entangled in a struggle over the release of Legislative investigations. Representatives voted in favor of a resolution by Dunn, of Pinellas, to investigate reports of lobbying by a school committee of 16, an education survey commission, and representatives of school book publishers. Later action was considered when representatives objected to the investigation of the committee of 16 and the education commission. A second resolution by Dunn, seeking to investigate lobbying by county school superintendents, was voted down.

WILSON TELLS OF TRIP TO CAPITAL ON CITY BUSINESS

WENT TO TALLAHASSEE TO BACK BILL WHICH WOULD AID SANFORD
Sent to Tallahassee by the Sanford City Commission late Wednesday night in order that they might represent Sanford as one of the towns appearing before the Finance and Taxation Committee in support of several proposed taxation measures, principally affecting the distribution of motor vehicle license funds, City Attorney Fred R. Wilson, and City Commissioner H. J. Lehman returned to Sanford last night.

Mr. Wilson declared that the purpose of his visit to Tallahassee was wholly in the interest of a proposed bill prepared by Representative Holmes of Lee county. The Florida League of Municipalities had supported the bill, and had notified every city identified with it to send representatives to Tallahassee. The bill provides that all funds realized on the sale of motor vehicle license tags be turned back to the county and municipalities in proportion to the miles of streets and highways in those counties and towns.

With proper amendments, said Mr. Wilson, "I believe this bill to be one of the most beneficial introduced in the session, but although it received the support of every city represented, it appears to me that it's chances of being reported favorably on by the Finance and Taxation Committee or introduced in the House are somewhat remote."

Mr. Wilson declared that Representative Matthews, of Duval, chairman of the committee, appeared hostile to the bill when it was offered before the group, but after a short discussion he understood his tone was one evincing a more friendly feeling toward the measure.

The Sanford delegation was erroneously reported as having gone to Tallahassee for the purpose of opposing before the committee regarding the matter of Cities being allowed to tax certain businesses that they have not been allowed to tax in the past. "Our visit had nothing to do with a matter of that sort," Mr. Wilson said in concluding the interview, "we were sent to Tallahassee by the City Commission for the purpose of supporting a bill which would benefit the municipalities and counties of this state."

COMPROMISE BILL FOR RACING GETS COMMITTEE OKEY

Final Plans Made For Investigation Of Alleged $50,000 Bribe
TALLAHASSEE, MAY 8.—While the House lobbying committee made final preparations yesterday for its investigation into the reported payment of $50,000 by racing interests to a prominent Florida Democrat, joint committee of the House and Senate voted favorably on a compromise bill to legalize pari-mutuel machines at horse and dog tracks.

The House investigation will open tonight with the examination of J. T. C. Crawford, national Democratic committeeman, and James J. Huskey, St. Petersburg public accountant, and the compromise pari-mutuel bill is expected to be reported in the House and Senate this morning with the joint committee's request that it be made a special and continuing order, probably beginning next Monday.

The joint committee approval of the compromise racing bill was the outstanding development here yesterday. The bill limits the "take" by operators of horse tracks to 10 percent and 15 percent on dog tracks, and they must refund two percent of their share of the aggregate wagers back to the state, plus 15 percent of gross admissions.

Realizing the possibility of track operators evading the admission tax by issuing passes, the House bill inserted a clause to give the state a minimum 15 percent refund from every ticket taken at the gate.

Local option through a county referendum is provided by the section governing the disposition of permits granted by a state racing commission, composed of one member from each congressional district.

Seven Are Indicted On Kidnaping Charge
CLEARWATER, May 8.—(AP)—Seven men were indicted by a grand jury today on charges of kidnaping in connection with the abduction and whipping of R. W. Oxford of St. Petersburg Feb. 23. The kidnaping was charged to an alleged gang of professional fugitives which is said to have been responsible for a series of abductions and whippings in this section for several years. The names of three of those indicted were withheld pending the service of warrants but the others are either under bond in previous flagging cases or have been arrested. They are Wilbur Mills, Tampa; Benny Parks, Sam C. Carrolo, and Mrs. Alice Henderson Woods, Tampa.

OH YEAH?

By PETER SCHAAL

Fans who take their games serious with doubles, triples, and home runs, had their fill yesterday in the big leagues where, in the American loop for instance, 73 hits were made in three games, including seven home runs and 20 doubles. The new ball means little to the junior loop sluggers it seems. Over in the National League, only 47 hits were made in three games, indicating that the hurriers in that baseball belt have the Indian sign on the bats.

The American League games were full of features. The Yanks whipped the Senators 10 to 7, to give them their first series win in two years over that team. Al Simmons, Jimmy Fox, and Mickey Cochrane came out of their batting slump and led the A's to a 10 to 3 win over the Red Sox, getting 18 hits in the matter. Old Ed Bammeled pitched all the way for the Mackmen, allowing 11 hits. Good thing Simmons and Co. had their batting clothes on.

The Red Sox-Athletic game's outstanding point was the fine attack which Connie Mack's boys turned loose for the first time this year. Every player except Miller got one or more hits, with Al Simmons getting three singles and two doubles in five tries, running his consecutive hit total to seven hits in his last seven times up. Fox got a homer and a double, and Cochrane two singles and a homer. In the meantime the Red Sox were doing some batting of their own, led by Sweeney and Oliver. Oliver is the boy who has been going great guns since he's been on the club, leading the entire hose in batting.

The Yanks dealt death and destruction to the Senators in winning 10 to 7. The Babe and Lynn Lary hit homers for the Yanks, while Joe Cronin and Oastle Blundie duplicated those drives for the Senators. Henry Johnson was knocked off the hill in the sixth, after a great start. Walt Johnson had 10 men in trying to win. Joe Cronin kept up his great hitting.

The Tigers made it two out of three from the White Sox in winning by a 9 to 4 score. It was a miniature slugfest, with R. O. Johnson of the Tigers doing most of the damage, driving in four of the Tiger runs. Errors gave them two runs. Fast fielding cut the Sox's chances of scoring, for they had 13 men left on the base.

In the National League, the Cardinals won a great 13-inning battling battle, 6 to 5, to allow them to take firmer hold of first place. Gilbert, who had tripled in the thirteenth, scored on Martin's single. It proved to be the winning run although the Pirates filled the bases in their half of the thirteenth. Grimes, who had pitched all the way for the Cards was taken out at that point, and Lindsay went in. He retired Comorosky with two out, and thus saved the day. Heine Heinie pitched a great game for the Pirates, and deserved the win.

The Robins pulled a surprise by winning a fine pitching duel with only four hits. The score was 3 to 0, and Babe Phelps, the former Jacksonian hurler got credit for the win. Ernest Lombard, pinch-hitting for Phelps in the seventh with Brasler on third, hit a long fly to the outfield, allowing Brasler to come in with the only run of the game. The Giants came close to a score in their half of the same inning. Leach tried to score from first base on Terry's long double, but he failed to make the grade as Picinich tagged him out. The Giants got but five hits off Phelps and Quinn.

Blaze Arlett's fifth home run of the year, with one man on in the seventh gave the Phillies an even break in the Braves series as they won 3 to 1. The Phillies also won on four hits. Collins gave up only seven hits to the Braves, with Washington and Berger getting two of them.

The leaders to date: Rogers, Hornsby, Cohn, St. Louis, Tris Speaker, Phillies, 9 each; Triples, Earl, Phillies, 8 each; Home Runs, 4 each; Doubles, Alexander, Tigers, 10 runs; Batted In, Cronin, Senators, 21; Sluggers, Mickey Cochrane, Pirates, Boston; Braves, George, Chapman, Boston; Claude, White Sox, Johnson, Braves, 7 each; Best Pitcher, Babe Phelps, Boston, 10 hits; Best Batter, Babe Phelps, Boston, 10 hits; Best Team, Boston, 10 hits; Best Game, Boston, 10 hits.

ates, 18 each; most hits, Fonseca, Indians, 22.

Al Simmons, the slugging Athletic outfielder, broke into the select list of 400 hitters yesterday when he got five hits, in five trips. He takes the place of Dale Alexander, the Tiger first sacker, who went hitless for the third straight day, and dropped to an even 400. The Babe kept his place in first position by batting out two hits in three tries, including his fourth home run of the year.

Glancing through the batting records for the season, including yesterday's game we find that the Giants are the only National League players who have gathered more than 200 hits so far. They have exactly 201; they also have the distinction of being the only National players who have scored 100 runs, they have exactly 101. . . . There are only four senior loop pitchers who have won four games so far, Brandt, Braves, Grimes, Cards, Fitzsimmons, and Mitchell, of the Giants. With the exception of Fitzsimmons, they have won four straight games without relief. . . . The American league has but one pitcher who has won more than three straight games, Wes Ferrell. He has won five games, four in a row. . . . The Senators have played 21 games, but in only three of them have starting pitchers finished the game. . . . The Senators lead all clubs in slugging, having garnered 225 hits. The Yanks, with 212 hits, and the Indians with 208, make up the other American League clubs having 200 or more hits. . . . The Yanks have scored more runs than any other team, however, having pushed over 130 of the markers.

teenth District of the United Mine Workers of America.
"It has been a fertile field for communists and reds," said Governor Simpson. "Outsiders from Illinois and other states are responsible for the situation. They have brought in machine guns and high powered rifles. On the other hand, the companies have mine guards who have been deputized as deputy sheriffs or constables. There must be about 200 of them. I am informed they won't let a deputy sheriff stay in Everts. The Everts citizens however, are blameless."
Adj. Gen. W. H. Jones Jr., said Col. Daniel Carrell of the 128th Field Artillery, Louisville, would be in command and that the troops would consist of infantry and cavalry units, medical corps and military police equipped with an armored tank and machine guns. General Jones said Colonel Carrell had instructions to take charge of Everts and adjacent territory and to "take any necessary steps to completely establish law and order."
While troops were en route a special grand jury was empaneled by Circuit Judge Jones at Harlan yesterday and ordered to make a thorough inquiry into the lawlessness.

CURTAILMENT OF NAVAL BUILDING URGED BY WOOD

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—A prediction that failure of the government to reduce expenditures to meet federal revenues would result in an increase in taxes was made yesterday by Chairman Wood of the House appropriations committee.

Urging curtailment of outlays for the naval and military establishments, the Indiana Republican said he would support President Hoover's efforts to prevent an increase in taxes by reducing expenditures wherever possible. Wood has accepted the chief executive's invitation to spend the week-end at the Rapidan camp in Virginia to discuss government finances. The conference will be the first of a series planned by Mr. Hoover to study and expenditures. War Department finances will be examined this week-end.

New Gasoline Will Be Introduced Soon By Big Oil Concern

Of outstanding importance to Florida motorists is the announcement by the Seaboard Oil Company, distributors for Pure Oil Company products in this section, that on May 9, Parol-Ethyl gasoline will be introduced in Florida. It was stated, however, that this does not in any way affect the sale of Woco-Pep, the famous Dixie motor fuel, which for many years has been the outstanding favorite in this section. It will be recalled by Florida motorists that the price of Woco-Pep was reduced throughout this section Apr. 25, thus offering this premium quality motor fuel to local car owners at the regular gasoline price for the first time, it was pointed out.

In introducing Parol-Ethyl gasoline to this state and the recent reduction in the price of Woco-Pep the company officials feel, it was stated, that they are increasing their service opportunities to motorists in now being better able to serve all their gasoline requirements, both as to a quality, premium priced gasoline such as Parol-Ethyl, and the high-grade, powerful Woco-Pep, king of motor fuel, at regular gasoline price.

T. N. Ashbury, vice president of The Seaboard Oil Company, a home company run by home folks, in discussing these important changes in policy, states: "Due to the tremendous popularity of Woco-Pep throughout this section, and increased refinery facilities, we were recently enabled to remove the premium on Woco-Pep and make it available to all motorists. In other words, it is now being sold at prices no higher than users have to pay for ordinary gasoline. This lowering in price is in direct appreciation of the tremendous response of thousands of gasoline users in Florida that have long used Woco-Pep and declared it the perfect motor fuel."

 by the commission, the corporation, willing them must then request boards of county commissioners of the counties wherein the tracks are located to call elections at which qualified voters will vote to either approve or reject the permit. An expense of these elections will be borne by the holders of the permits. The bill provides further that where more than one permit is submitted to the people the election expense shall be divided equally.

Approval of a permit by the voters would enable the holder to operate a track equipped with pari-mutuel machines for a period of this year. Renewal would be only through another referendum although the subsequent elections would be held simultaneously with the general elections in the counties and without cost to the track operators.

The entire proceeds from wagers and admittance refunds to the state would go into the state treasury, for equal distribution to the 67 counties for such use as the county commissioners may determine.

Because the House, under resolutions adopted Tuesday, has set aside two weeks, beginning next Monday, to the exclusive consideration of bills involving finance and taxation, the schools and banks, the compromise pari-mutuel bill will get its first test on the floor of the Senate. The House special order calendar is crowded with revenue, educational and banking measures and a powerful group of representatives is prepared to resist any attempt by the race track committee to file the bill in this select classification. A waiver of the rules requires a three-fourths vote and the race track crowd admits it will be difficult to muster such strength.

THE VERSE FOR TODAY

OF GOD OF THE WORD—For God is quick, and sharper than any sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and mind, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.

Lord God, open Thine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of Thy law.

Today is Mother's Day. Don't forget that.

There are said to be in style today; but not highway.

The High School makes to-day's Herald the best in the city.

A good thing about the present eight cent gasoline tax, it is said by scientists and inventors, is earnest to find a substitute for gasoline.

It is said that radio waves reach the moon are thrown on earth. We consider this as proof of the existence of life on the moon.—Times.

Outcasts in Russia are being sent to work. They are sent into the Arctic forest to dig and play the piano.

What causes hard times? Some say it's Republicans; some say it's a tariff; some say it's a kind of virus. But what most folks are interested in is not what causes it, but what cures 'em.

They observe with interest, on the first page of a recent issue of the newspaper, that Dr. Samuel Johnson, winner of the first prize in the bridge party, was awarded a pair of hocks. All right, boys, together now, hock 'em.

It begins to look as if the Legislature is at last getting into its stride. The bill on the abolition of state and local taxes on homesteads, and the reduction in state salaries are two measures which should see their appearance in the next few days, which look like a foregone conclusion.

There is a difference between deputies and workers in the Kentucky coal fields don't look good as indications of prosperous America. Many who are unemployed are discouraged and dispirited, and naturally riotous. This is not the solution for the coal fields.

An interesting detail in connection with this racetrack investigation is the inference that prominent Democrat was given a thousand dollars to see that a racetrack gambling operation passed. What we would know is this story is well known to who the prominent man is and what he is capable of doing with the money.

Only one member of the General House said Wednesday in Jacksonville, "I don't know what the final decision will be, but there are many who are disappointed. The bill is a disappointment to the majority of the members of the House, and the majority of the people."

Keeping The State In Darkness

Apparently we were not alone in the belief that the legislative inquiry into racetrack operation was dropped, not because there was nothing further to be disclosed but rather because the disclosure would prove unpleasant to some of the leading state officials. The purpose of any investigation is to get at the truth, and when any investigation is concluded immediately before the truth is learned, one can rest assured there's something wrong somewhere.

"By pitiable subterfuge, the house of representatives drops the inquiry into operation of an alleged pari-mutuel system in Florida last winter under the name of a 'stock certificate system,'" says the Miami Daily News. "Representative Mathews, leading the fight to drop the investigation, intimates that this inquiry was to veil a move for impeachment of Governor Carlton. Representative Tomassello, who asked for the investigation, stated at the outset that it was not for the purpose of impeachment and reiterated that statement yesterday."

"Should the basis for impeachment charges develop from findings in the investigation to determine whether the pari-mutuel system now proposed for legalization has been practiced in Florida illegally, then impeachment proceedings should be instituted. The fact that investigation to impeach an official, one of the courses open to this legislature, has not been chosen to date should not, however, be construed as blocking the other course of action, which is to determine facts needed in dealing with legislation now pending."

"The only conclusion the citizen observer of this sudden abandonment of the investigation by the legislators, 24 hours after it was launched, is that someone feared the consequences. Some, it seems, burned their fingers at the first touch."

"The only hope left for legislative inquiry into a subject that goes to the very vitals of law enforcement and respect for law in this state lies with the lobbying committee. There remains the possibility that, attacking the question from the one angle which the majority of legislators deem safe, there may develop a state of facts no legislative body will have the courage to evade."

"Otherwise, the pari-mutuel bills must continue under a cloud of suspicion, with the chances of adoption lying only in the willingness of a majority of our lawmakers to act without the light of truth they refuse to turn on the facts. This, we must conclude from their vote, is the course chosen by Dade county's delegation."

Florida Pickles

While Florida has been in somewhat of a pickle since the prosperous days of the boom, it is planning to lead the nation out of its present depression through the establishment of pickle canneries. While some Floridians have been trying to drown their troubles by getting pickled, others have been busy building pickle factories. This we learn from the Tampa Times which explains the situation as follows:

"A most interesting recent news story out of Lakeland said: 'One of the largest pickle canneries of the country is planning to enter south Florida. It already has 2,200 acres under control in Florida for cucumbers and is seeking further development of the business. The present capacity of the plants is 160,000 barrels of pickles a year.'

"That is good news, if ever there was any. Such a plant will not only call for large acreages in cucumbers but will also take care of many of the cucumbers which now go to waste in the fields, the quantity of which is enormous. In addition, it will provide employment for many and have a worth-while payroll. Further developments and information concerning this enterprise will be awaited with interest. A pickling plant has long been a Florida need."

"Two other industries that might well and profitably be established and operated in Florida are one of the making of sauer kraut and one for the making of tomato catsup. Cabbage and tomatoes are easily and abundantly raised here. At present tons of cabbage are going to rot in the fields. The same will soon be true of tomatoes. Turned into kraut and catsup these could be made a source of profit. Instead of being a dead loss. And as many acres as kraut and catsup plants might need to supply their demands could be put to cabbage and tomatoes."

"The possibilities along these lines are immense for all concerned. It would seem, yet, and despite that thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of kraut and catsup are consumed in Florida every year there is not in the state a plant for manufacture of either of them. It is a condition that demands a change, unless we are confirmed dullards."

TRENDS OF THE TIMES

MIAMI DAILY NEWS

A million more laborers are at work now than had jobs four months ago. The pessimist calls it only a seasonal improvement. No matter what we call it, we have it. United States Steel stock drops to the lowest level since 1915. Bethlehem Steel has cut its dividend, going into its reserve to pay even the lower dividend. Yet there has been an improvement in the steel business since December.

Business had been slowing down for six months before stocks, in 1929, ceased speeding up. Now business will be speeding up long before stocks cease slowing down. Men's minds are built that way.

The next 10 years, says a man who ought to know, will see great changes in industry, than the past 100 years. The past 100 years have produced two or three revolutions in industry.

To equal these changes in the next 10 years would involve such changes in the universal use of the air in passenger travel a five-fold increase in the available power of air's billion of horsepower by the discovery of new types of motors, wireless communication, and the distribution of electric power for agricultural and industrial use.

There is a possibility of a revolution in the next few years in the use of the air in passenger travel. The air is being used in a way that will revolutionize the industry.

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT

BY SAM LOVE

NEW YORK, May 8.—The opening of the Empire State building from which you could look down upon the Eiffel Tower if someone were kind enough to move it over here for you—has provided a new thrill for tourists. From up on top you get a fine view of roofs and rivers and an amazing number of round gas tanks and even a glimpse of Long Island Sound if it is not too hazy. But the thrill is the same old thrill that you used to get when you stood on top of the Woolworth building—and before that on top of the Singer building. It consists of standing on top of the tallest building in the world. If you know that there existed another building, three feet taller, out in Kansas or somewhere, half the fun would be spoiled.

Guides supply you with statistics enough about the structure to reach from mooring mast to basement, should you make a chain out of all the round figures. But one or two little things have been forgotten. For instance, that young man from all over the country begged to be allowed to work upon the steel framework for the adventure of it. And that the most frequent accidents were foot injuries, caused by falling rivets.

For the first time in the building of such a skyscraper, an expert photographer has recorded every stage of the work. Lewis W. Hille took more than a thousand photographs, many of them from half-raising, angles and heights, of beams and men swinging about in space. It is a pity that no one took Mr. Hille at his word, because he swung around in the wind most precariously himself.

The best view of the Empire State building, I think, is from away up the Hudson, off Yonkers or Dobbs Ferry. From there it makes the rest of the town look like a pancake with a salt cellar in the middle of it. As everyone knows, Alfred E. Smith is the presiding genius of the building. Maybe I'm wrong, but I like to think of it as just a little consolation trophy for Mr. Smith, cancelled by his friends to keep him from feeling so badly about the 1928 election.

Unemployed men have hit upon a cheerful racket which is rapidly spreading through the midtown side streets allotted for parking. Equipped with dusters and cloths, they put a shine on the windshields and hoods of any and all cars in the line. The owner usually gives up a dime.

It is pleasant work and you see a lot of the country that you do see, if you are an airplane hostess. The Eastern Air Transport company, which runs a shuttle line between New York and Washington, has three of them now. They ride the planes, stuff cotton in passengers' ears and chewing gum in their mouths, answer questions and stow coats and small parcels in the overhead racks. It seems that travellers who are perfectly accustomed to stowing their luggage in racks on trains hesitate to use the overhead racks on planes. Maybe they are afraid of destroying the center of gravity or something. Anyway, they sit there holding things until the hostess comes along and takes charge.

The three flying hostesses are named Elizabeth Westwood, Magline Moon and Beulah Unruh. All of them look as if they were picked from a beauty contest and passengers say that they are a great comfort in cases of sickness. The Misses Westwood and Moon seemingly just happened into their jobs, but Miss Unruh worked for her. She used to be a waitress in a child's restaurant, where she saved her Russia.

Italy has now granted a credit to Russia. That means that Russia can now buy from Italy on credit such things as Italian industry can supply.

Germany has already made a statement which means that Germany will not only supply such things as raw materials, but also such things as iron and steel.

American manufacturers are getting Russia goods at the rate of more than $100,000,000 a year. This makes work in a line of manufacturing, for several hundred years.

She and paid for flying instruction that qualified her for a pilot's license. There seemed to be no call for lady pilots, aside from trans-Atlantic trips, and so she became the first airplane hostess.

The girls put in two round trips between New York and Washington daily and one round trip between New York and Richmond. They have to stand up practically all the way and the work is so tiring that each gets every third day off.

Even the panhandlers are working the bag. Conversation overheard in 45th street just as theater closing: "Got a dime, mister, for a guy that's been affected by the depression?" "What happened to you?" "I'm an inventor." "What did you ever invent?" "A way to carry a spare Austin on an Austin."

What New York was excited about twenty years ago today: "Dress must be tasteful," said Miss Katherine Groth, who had just returned from Paris. "When you go to visit a dear old lady you must not wear your harem skirt, because that would shock her so."

POETS OF TODAY

THE PUZZLER OF LIFE

Grant, me, O Lord, the strength to do
The tasks the morning brings me to,
But as I walk from dawn to night
Keeping the distant goal in sight
Let me not blindly hurry by
The lesser joys which may be high.

Things seem important here in earth,
But let me rightly judge their worth.

Perhaps 'twere better not to gain
The vain struggle to attain
And quit the hills I would ascend
To step aside and play the friend.

Teach me to reckon time by more
Than gold and silver, struggled for.

Swiftly the hours go by, 'The thought
Persists that hasten on I ought,
And yet perhaps the greater deed
May be to serve another's need.

Lord, as I walk Thy people's way
So many duties crowd the day,
So many simple tasks and small
For strength and precious mo-

AN HONOR JUSTLY BESTOWED

TAMPA TRIBUNE

Congratulations to the old, reliable and ever enterprising Atlanta Constitution on the award of the Pulitzer prize for "the most distinguished and meritorious public service." The Constitution won the award by its campaign last year against municipal graft. It cleared out the Atlanta City Hall, eradicating a nest of corruption that had infested municipal government for a long period. Its success may be measured by the results—11 convictions, with chains, seven sentences and fines, 10 pleas of guilty, 19 awaiting trial, and seven acquittals. In all 83 city officials and beneficiaries were indicted. The Constitution got the evidence and presented it in print.

ments call,
I wonder am I wise when I
Some friendly service hurry by?

Lord, make me wise enough to know
The worth-while labors here below;
Are the far goals I hope to gain
Worth all the selfishness and pain.

Or does true greatness really lie
In friendship and the tasks near by?

By Edgar A. Guest

and in court. After 12 months of the crusade, the Constitution is able to say: "Atlanta is freed of the vampire of graft."

The Constitution is the second Georgia newspaper to win the Pulitzer prize in the past few years. It went to the Columbus Evening Sun for its vigorous campaign against Kluxism and religious intolerance. It is significant and all the more complimentary to the Constitution, that Editor Julian Harris who conducted the Enquirer-Sun campaign, is the son of one of the old-timers of the Constitution, whose fame as an author is inseparably linked with the great Atlanta newspaper, The Chandler Harris.

To Atlanta and to Georgia, go, to the South—the Constitution is more than a newspaper; it is an institution. Since 1868 it has been fighting notable battles for the people, steadfastly pursuing a purposeful policy of civic progress, and purity, and, besides, producing illustrious names in American journalism—Henry Grady, Evan P. Howell, Joel Chandler Harris, Frank Stanton, Clark Howell. The Pulitzer Jury has honored the South, Georgia and itself in bestowing its distinguished award upon the Constitution, its publisher, its staff.

A Tonic for Run-Down Purses

If your pocketbook is thin and run-down, or just suffering from that tired feeling, the chances are it's not getting the right food. For purses, like humans, soon waste away on the wrong diet.

There's no tonic in the world for overworked, debauch pocketbooks like an A & F diet. Try buying your food exclusively at an A & F store for a while and watch your purse start to perk up. Within a week it will be gaining weight, and by the end of the month it will be so fat you will probably have to start reducing it on some other package or something. Millions of purses flourish because their owners trade in A & F stores.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The TWIN COIL AUTOMATIC SOLAR HEATER is being introduced to the Sanford territory.

There has been a great advance made in the type and construction of Solar Heaters. The Twin Coil Heater is the latest development and has a number of great advantages over the old style Heaters.

The new circulation system enables the water to heat quicker and to a greater intensity and also produces a much larger volume. The Twin Coil gives you twice the heating surface and enables the coil box to be much smaller and neater.

The tanks are entirely constructed of metal and are packed with cork inside a metal shell, allowing the water to remain hot for a much longer period than ever before.

With these advantages over the old system we are also glad to announce that the prices on these new Solar Systems are much cheaper than any other solar system on the market today.

Let us give you a demonstration and figure on your home. You will easily see all the advantages in this new Heater. You will also find the prices such that you will save money that you have been spending to heat hot water.

Young Gunman Is Taken By Police After Wild Fray

Soon after Crowley and his companions had been taken out of the house police announced they had confessions from both men of connection with the Branigan and Hirsch slayings.

Crowley, also, it was stated, had admitted shooting and wounding Detective George Schaefer in an office building near Grant Central station more than a month ago.

Police said the Walsh girl had given them information which would aid in conviction of Crowley for the Hirsch shooting.

Crowley was taken to Bellevue Hospital under guard. The girl was held as a material witness and Darlinger on a tentative homicide charge.

In the flat where the battle focused and in a back yard below detectives found five guns, all with their ammunition used up. Strapped to Crowley's legs below the knees were the brace of automatics upon which he boosted the soubriquet of "Two-Gun" Crowley in the Harlem underworld.

Crowley's wounds late last night were said to be serious but not dangerous. Bullets had pierced his arms and legs and one shot had glanced off a rib. When he was carried on a litter from the rickety rooming house building police had mistakenly reported him dead.

The Walsh girl fought her captors; she bore evidence of the strain of the flight from Long Island.

Letters were found in the flat which police said, indicated the girl had not hoped to come out alive. One of these, in girlish handwriting, had this postscript: "Show this to my sister so that she will know I died singing."

Crowley's capture came after a search which had covered the five boroughs of Manhattan and every road and lane of Long Island for miles around North Merrick, the home of Patrolman Hirsch's wife.

Two detectives entered the rooming house and called for reinforcements when Crowley refused to answer their request to admit them.

From vantage points in nearby houses guns were trained on windows of the room. Another order was given the occupants to come out and bullets were the answer.

Then police raked the windows with machine gun fire. Bullets chipped pieces of stone from the face of buildings across the street. The police returned the fire and for nearly an hour the neighborhood rattled with machine gunnery and revolver shots.

After Crowley had been wounded, detectives got close enough to him to warn him that unless he gave up quickly he would be shot to death. He yielded to the last warning, staggering into the hall where he collapsed.

Inspector Henry E. Brunkhart, in charge of Bronx detectives, who found Crowley down, said the young gunman had first shouted that he had no firearms, but the police declined to take the risk of searching in the door.

The police statement said also that Crowley had admitted planning to put another New York detective "on the spot" that Sunday. He named his intended victim as the department official said, Thomas J. Sheehan, Bronx.

Its popularity proves that now it is an extraordinary bargain, and your quick response to our removal of the premium has been statewide.

"TREATED IN FIVE STATES," HE SAYS

"I lived in five states and took all kinds of medicines seeking the health Sargon has brought me. My stomach was so acid that Ilisters would come on my tongue; I had awful bilious attacks; and got to where I could hardly eat a mouthful. Sargon ended every trouble, made me well and strong, and today I feel like a new man. Sargon Pills toned up my liver and soon overcame my chronic constipation. I can't praise the treatment enough!"—Henry Collins, Orange Park, Jacksonville.

BILIOUSNESS

The Rev. J. J. Wisener, of Drake-town, Ga., says he has taken Black-Draught, when needed, since childhood, and he is past fifty years of age. "When I would get bilious," he says, "I would feel like shuffling along instead of walking. My feet felt too heavy to lift. I had such a dull, tired feeling, and I would feel dizzy and nauseated like I couldn't hold my head up. I found how much the Black-Draught helped me, and I took it. I could have these bad spells, and find now I am good as new. I don't have to take much now. My health is good."
